"Crane Was Jollied"

Mayor Thompson Has Promised No Relief From Existing Conditions.

To the Editor of the Ledger:

Crane was jollied.

The committee of the Citizens' Association has answered the conundrum.

Its report on the Mayoralty candidates says relative to Mayor Thompson: "It appears that the Mayor has not made or authorized any pledge or promise in his behalf to be made concerning whom he would or would not appoint to office if reelected Mayor.

The impression prevailing previous to the announcement in today's Ledger was that Mr. Emery Crane had withdrawn from the Mayoralty contest with the understanding that Mayor Thompson, if re-elected would not reappoint certain officials. If the general impression regarding Mr. Crane's position is correct, then he has been monstrosly hoodwinked by the agents of the Mayor

Although much of that conference is yet in the shadow, still the clear light has been cast on the most important question, namely: That Mayor Thompson is non-committal on the personnel of the city adminstration should it be in his power to name it again.

While men assuming to act as agents of the Mayor might not hesitate to juggle with the facts, it is inconceivable that he would deviate from the truth in dealing with the Citizens Committee. Hence when he informs them that he has not made or authorized any pledge or promise in his behalf to be made concerning whom he would or would not appoint to office, he is stating facts and in this statement he is telling the voters that there is no surety of the city's being rid of the incubus of incompetent officialdom if he is reelected. No hope is held out for the institution of those reforms of which there is a crying need. For all any one knows of Mayor Thompson's intentions he may reappoint to office those men of whom criticism is general.

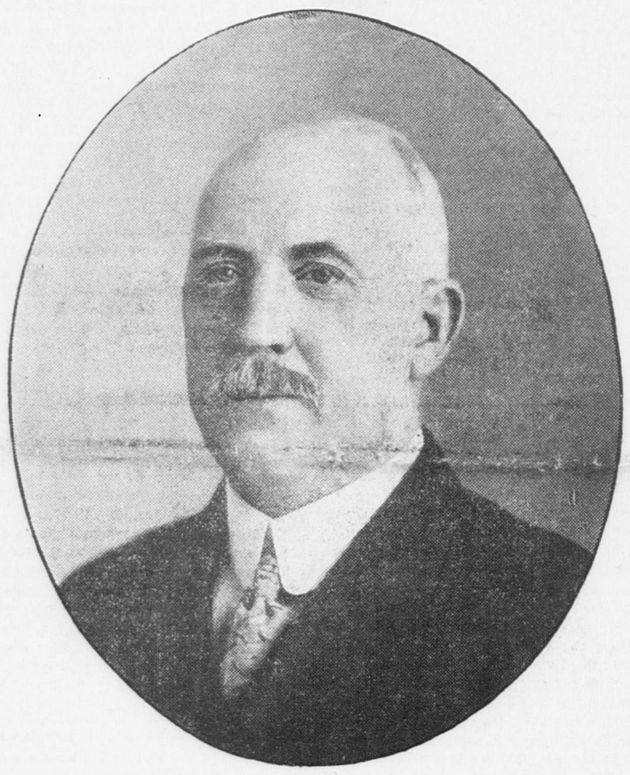

The issue relative to officials is paramount in Quincy, and on it Mayor Thompson has nothing to say. What is the interpretation of such silence? Can anyone see in it any assurance that Mayor Thompson intends to make amends for his mistakes in the selections of his subordinates? No. 2.

PROMISE vs. PERFORMANCE.

"A divorcement of pernicious political methods from the business conduct of election affairs, and a change for the public good in those officers who have neglected their duty to become active politicians."—Extract from Mayor Thompson's declaration of principles, Dec. 3, 1904.

Mayor Thompson did you not break faith with the people who elected you when you made the following appointments.

Commissioner of Public Works, Thomas F. Burke.
Overseer of the Poor, Frederick F. Green.

Why did you allow the Commissioner of Public Works to use the city employees of his department, and city teams, to drive voters to and from the polls on the last city election day while he personally superintended the work

Why did you permit one or more drivers of city teams to work from the opening to the close of the polls on the day of the recent municipal caucus, Nov. 13, in the interest of your candidacy instead of at their regular city work?

Won't you kindly enlighten the taxpayers whether the men so employed were paid by the City of Quincy from the Public treasury?

What changes have you made since your first year in office for pernicious political activity?

TAXPAYER WARD 1.

CITY ORDINANCES VIOLATED.

Overseer of the Poor Acting Contrary To Its Provisions.

Much Assistance Required by City Solicitor in His Department.

To the Editor of the Ledger:

"Intrusted by the people with the transaction of the business affairs of the city for the ensuing year, it becomes us to give to the same the best consideration and effort of which we are capable, that we conduct along safe and conservative lines its best interests, thereby obtaining in full measure the greatest results compatible with our resources." —Extract from Mayor Thompson's last inaugural address.

Let the intelligent voter, irrespective of party affiliations, and with only the best interest of the city at heart, examine the "safe and conservative lines" followed by Mayor Thompson since the delivery of his inaugural address. We shall allege no deviation from these lines, but as concisely as possible show how His Honor has violated the city ordinances and acted in direct contrast to his inaugural utterances.

Fred F. Green the editor of the Advertiser, a paper with a political mission and without a circulation, was appointed Overseer of the Poor. In ordinance 18 on page 69 of the city charter, concerning salaries, we read:

"Overseer of the Poor $800, and his expenses incurred in visiting the poor outside the city. HE SHALL DEVOTE HIS ENTIRE TIME TO THE DUTIES OF HIS OFFICE.

Yet in the City Report of 1905 we find under various headings that Fred F. Green did the bulk of the city printing and drew nearly $2000 for same from the city treasury.

We quote one item on page 49 of the report, dealing with the Poor department: "Fred F. Green, $7.75," showapproval by the head of the department his own bill for printing. Was Mayor Thompson unconscious of Green's double role, and was he deviating unknowingly from "the safe and conservative lines" as set forth in hs inaugural.

Are such actions by the city's chief executive to be countenanced by the safe and sane voter. Some there are who will excuse the Mayor saying "he was playing politics," but Mr. Thompson in his first inaugural said, "he would further in all ways the welfare and prosperity of our city. Does not these actions savor of his being the prime mover on the present political chess board?

Let us refer to another department: we read on page 82 of the Charter, defining the duties of the City Solicitor:

"He shall appear in defense in any action, suit or proceeding which may be brought against said city or any of its officers, or any administrative board in their official capacity, or where in any right, privilege, property estate, act or franchise of said city may be effected or brought into question before any court, board of commissioners, a committee of the General ourt of the Commonwealth * * *"

"He shall upon request of the Mayor, City Council or any administrative board of the city having the matter in charge, examine the title of any real estate in which the city has or is proposing to acquire an interest."

But the city report of 1905, pages 108 and 109 says and figures do not lie:

George E. Adams, legal services $45.

George E. Adams, legal services $305.

Again on pages 60 and 89, of the same report.

The above are only two instances of how the citizens money has been dispensed to pay political favors. Wm. R. Thomas, City Solicitor, according to the 1905 report, received his salary amounting to $1,400 annually. Yet, Mr. Mayor, why did you stand idly by during your first year of office and allow George E. Adams to dip into the public treasury and draw therefrom nearly $500 of the taxpayers' money.

What was City Solicitor Thomas doing to earn his salary of $1,400? Is it not a fact that during your first year of office George E. Adams was allowed to do some of the City Solicitor's work, as a soothing balm to a political hurt administered by you, when you appointed William R. Thomas to the office of City Solicitorship?

This is no eleventh hour harangue but simply a bold expression of fact and figure. Mayor Thompson has through the mouthpiece of his political organ, the Advertiser, an ample opportunity to make reply. The Advertiser's Here and There Lawyer may also tell why he is championing so industriously the cause of the administration. Does he too expect some legal crumbs to fall from the City Solicitor's table? The rank and file of the voters anxiously await a reply.

Citizen.

WRONG DONE TO PUPILS.

Those Attending High School are Deprived of Full Benefits of Their Course.

To the Editor of the Ledger:

There are several kinds of evil in the High school situation, but the paramount one is that inflicted on the pupils Pedagogical authorities all agree that early and continous sessions of study and recitation are productive of the best results in High school pupils. Early in the day the pupil's mental and physical conditions are in a harmony which does not obtain later. The morning finds the brain alert and active ready to deal with the problems connected with the day's work, but these powers diminish as the day progresses and are not renewed until the quiet of evening. For these reasons the rule throughout the educational world is to have the High school sessions begin at earliest hours of convenience in the morning, and end early in afternoon. Then comes the period of relaxation, when in play or in other form of diversion the brain receives the stimulus necessary for the evening study.

Do the Quincy High school pupils have the benefit of this ideal arrangement? Are they obtaining the best results from the hours devoted to their lessons? Are they and their parents, to whom their children's educational uplift is one of the objects nearest their hearts, receiving a square deal? It is not too strong to term as criminal the neglect which has permitted the development of the present conditions. The pupils have been deprived of the mental advancement which is their due, and have been subjected to an inconvenience the only bright side of which is the toleration shown them and their parents.

Carried Into Trial of Members of Teamsters' Union

FOUR MEN PLEAD GUILTY

Cause Consternation to Counsel For the Defense by Declaring Intention to Turn State's Evidence In Conspiracy Case

Chicago, Dec. 1.—Secrets of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters of the United States are to be given to the public in a Chicago court as a result of the confessions of guilt by four co-defendants of Cornelius P. Shea, president of the organization, who, together with 16 other members of the union, were placed on trial for conspiracy to perpetuate riotous acts during a teamsters' strike in Chicago a year ago.

Preceding the taking of the testimony in the case, four of the defendants, led by Albert Young, formerly president of the International Brotherhood and now the head of a rival organization of teamsters, pleaded guilty and declared they would turn state's evidence.

The surrender of four of the defendants caused a stampede among the attorneys for the union, and a delay was asked for on the ground that the blow given the defense was too serious to overcome in a short time. The motion was overruled by the court, however, and the trial was begun during the afternoon.

The incident caused intense excitement and took the other defendants completely by surprise. Shea and Young had for years been close friends. Since the last convention of the Teamsters' union, however, they have been bitterly opposed to each other.

Late in the afternoon the defense renewed its efforts to obtain a delay. It was declared by the attorneys for the defendants that the action of Young, Kelly, Murphy and Schulz in changing their pleas had so taken the defense by surprise that it was impossible for the defense to proceed. It was declared by the attorneys for the defense that they had examined 250 witnesses, and that as a result of the day's developments the defense, as it had been prepared, was entirely worthless. The attorneys declared that it would be necessary for them to find and examine an entirely new set of witnesses.

After Judge Ball declined to grant an indefinite continuance the defense asked a postponement until Monday morning next. The court said that he would grant this continuance if the state attorney would consent. The state attorney insisted upon immediate trial.

After Albert Young, William Kelly and Michael Murphy had entered pleas of guilty it was announced that Joseph Schultz, who is said to have been one of the "body guard" of President Shea during the strike, will also turn state's evidence.

Shea came here from Boston to conduct the teamsters' strike, which was waning through police activity and non-support by the press and public because the men had gone on strike in violation of contracts and out of sympathy with some garment workers who had lost their strike months before.

With the arrival of Shea the strike was renewed, and it was marked by much violence. A number of murders resulted, and the streets were the daily scenes of fighting. Ugly stories began to circulate regarding offers by the strike leaders to call the movement off for a certain sum of money, and the grand jury finally found broad evidences of conspiracy to ruin the business of Montgomery, Ward & Co.

Warrant Out For Promoter

Goldfield, Nev., Dec. 1.—J. G. Lyman, a promoter, lately operating under the name of the Union Securities company of Goldfield in Chicago, New York and elsewhere, is sought by the sheriff of Esmeralda county because of charges of fraud brought against him. Lyman's office is in the possession of the authorities, and his secretary, F. H. Lattimer, is under arrest. Lyman is now supposed to be in Pasadena, Cal., and a warrant has been sent there for service.

Cardinal Kopp as Intermediary

Rome, Dec. 1.—Cardinal Kopp, the bishop of Breslau, has had a number of interviews with the papal secretary of state concerning the question of the religious instructions in German of Polish children in German Poland. The bishop has induced the Vatican not to pursue an anti-German course and he has proved to it that religious teaching in the German language is compulsory only for such Polish children as know that tongue.

Public Ownership Undesirable

New York, Dec. 1.—The Tribune says: The public ownership commission of the National Civic Federation, after an exhaustive investigation of public ownership both in Europe and America, is understood to be unanimously opposed to public ownership on the grounds that it is unscientific, wasteful and morally undesirable.

Storm Ties Up Shipping

St. Johns, Dec. 1.—A severe snowstorm is raging here and the entire seaboard of the island is affected. Steamship traffic has been stopped and a number of freighters are detained in this port. Vessels arriving here during the past two days report Atlantic gales of exceptional severity.

"TIME FOR PARTNERSHIP"

Canadian Should Represent Great Britain at Washington

London, Dec. 1.—The Daily Mail takes up the agitation for the appointment of a Canadian as ambassador at Washington in succession to Sir Mortimer Durand. In an editorial, the paper says:

"It would be a wise course if the government is anxious to consolidate the empire. Canada has suffered in the past through the ignorance or shortcomings of British diplomatists. Witness the Ashburton treaty of 1842 (as to the boundary line between Maine and Canada), the Oregon agreement of 1846 (a territorial dispute between Great Britain and the United States, which was settled by treaty,) and the Alaska boundary arbitration.

"Never was there such an opportunity for repairing these mistakes. It cannot be alleged that a Canadian as ambassador would be likely to take up an extravagant or dangerous position in his treatment of questions between the United States and Canada. The Canadian frontier is 3000 miles long and it could be defended only with difficulty. Canada is so much weaker than the United States that she never will provoke a quarrel. Her enormous and rapid expansion justifies her claim to a larger share in the conduct of the imperial policy and the time has arrived to take her into partnership with the mother country."

Alleged Illegal Use of $1,000,000

New York, Dec. 1.—Illegal use of $1,000,000 or more belonging to stockholders and several other charges appear in an application for the appointment of a receiver for the United National bank. Last summer the institution was converted into the Hudson Trust company. The complainants charge that the directors created capital for the trust company by lending themselves $1,000,000 out of the assets of the bank instead of paying it out as dividends under the liquidation plan. Justice O'Gorman reserved decision.

A San Francisco Scandal

San Francisco, Dec. 1.—Abraham Reuf and Chief of Police Dinan were jointly indicted by the grand jury on a charge of conspiracy in connection with the alleged protection of a house of ill fame. Dinan was also separately indicted on a charge of perjury in his testimony before the jury. Bonds were fixed at $5000 in each case. No attempt will be made to displace Dinan pending the trial of the case.

Will Submit to the Law

Paris, Dec. 1.—During a meeting of the church wardens of Paris, under the presidency of Cardinal Richard, archbishop of Paris, it was decided to adopt, after Dec. 11, a purely passive attitude in the matter of the application of the law of separation, and to hand over the church property of clergymen who protest against sequestration and endeavor to retain possession of the sacred vessels.

A Record Mercantile Year

New York, Dec. 1.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says: Business was interrupted by the Thanksgiving holiday, but conditions warranted more than ever before a day devoted to grateful recognition. In all departments of agricultural, industrial and mercantile activity the current year is surpassing even the phenomenal record of 1905, which in turn eclipsed all preceding years.

Banking Concerns Close Doors

Peoria, Ills., Dec. 1.—Three banking institutions, conducted by C. V. Chandler, closed yesterday. Notices to the effect that the banks were short of ready cash were posted on the doors. The banks are: The Bank of Macomb, with deposits of $450,000; the Chandler & Imes bank at Colchester, with deposits of $200,000, and the Chandler & Smith bank of Bardolph, with $60,000 in deposits.

Railroaders Want More Pay

Digby, N. S., Dec. 1.—The section foremen and men employed along the line of the Dominion Atlantic railway between Windsor and Yarmouth have made a demand for an increase in their wages, and unless their request is granted, they threaten to go on strike and tie up traffic on that section of the road. They demand an increase of 25 cents a day all around.

Rioters Looted a Granary

St. Petersburg, Dec. 1.—An agrarian riot broke out in the village of Vetroff. The rioters looted the communal granary. The police guard were summoned and fired a volley, killing and wounding many of the peasants.

Trial For Ice Trust

Columbus, O., Dec. 1.—Judge Bigger has held valid the indictments against the Columbus ice trust, so called, and the icemen as individuals. The case will now go to trial.

Mr. Arfur's Christmas Gift

By INA WRIGHT HANSON

[Copyright, 1905, by McClure, Phillips & Co.]

HENRIETTA, on the rug by the fireplace, was absorbed in her occupation, which was putting off all of Ariminta Eudella's articles of wearing apparel and putting them on again. When the last tiny garment had been adjusted to her satisfaction she found time to look at Mr. Arfur, who sat by the window, a picture of doldrums. With a regretful glance at Evangeline Bell, who was yet to be attended to, the small mother arose and went over to Mr. Arfur. Resting one hand on his knee, she gazed anxiously into his face.

The young man roused himself and smiled down at the squarely cut locks, the great brown eyes and dimples.

"Have you been bad, Mr. Arfur?" she inquired solicitously.

"I don't think I have been so bad as—the—bad man, Henrietta," he answered, squeezing her small hand.

"I've been good as an angel," she remarked modestly, "so Santa Claus is going to bwing me anuver dolly in a tooing cah."

"In a what, Henrietta?"

"A tooing cah," she repeated; then, as Arthur failed to grasp her meaning, she exemplified patiently, "like Sister Wose's what she takes you widing in."

"Oh, I see! A touring car, you aristocratic baby. No more doll wagons and go-carts for you, eh?" he chuckled, then grew gloomy again.

"What do you want foh Kwismas?"

"Something I am afraid I can never have in all this wide world, Henrietta." He drew a long breath.

"If you are good, Santa Claus"—

"It's entirely out of the old fellow's jurisdiction, my pet."

The child gazed at him curiously.

"It's a heart of fine gold that I want, Henrietta, and only one person can give it to me, and if she won't, girlie"—

"Is she a faiwy?" Henrietta's tone was reverential, her eyes full of excitement.

"The queen of them all."

"And has a crown on?"

"Yes, a crown of her own golden hair, and her eyes are like brown velvet pansies, and she has the sweetest red lips, Henrietta. But yesterday I met her, and she hurried by, scarcely speaking, and this morning on the street she pretended not to see me, though I know she did, and all because—you wouldn't have believed such a queen of a girl would care so much because she didn't get the prize at the masquerade, would you, now?"

"My!" ejaculated Henrietta. But her next eager question was cut short by Mr. Arfur's springing to his feet. "Sister Wose" had entered the room, and Henrietta, knowing from much experience that she was decidedly de trop when they two were together, went reluctantly back to Evangeline Bell and the fireplace.

"Good morning," said Sister Rose, her tone suggestive of a glare of ice and a flurry of snow. "I have an engagement." But she sat down.

"Oh, I am sorry. Then I will go," he said gently, but he also sat down.

In his eyes, honest and gray, was a complexity of expressions as he watched her trying desperately to appear very much at her ease. Love looked from his eyes—there was no doubt of that—and admiration and approval, and yet a growing wonder that, after all, his idol could be so human.

"I am sorry that you are angry," he began when the silence was getting tense. "Try to realize my position, Rose. I sat there, an unwilling judge—my duty awarding prizes to the best sustained characters in the masquerade. Among the maskers was one to whom my heart went out—a slender little figure whose white satin gown, caught loosely around the waist with a silken girdle, fell in straight folds to her tiny feet. Crowning her small head were chrysanthemums, maroon and gold, and a line of the royal flowers reached from one sweet, bare shoulder to the hem of her gown. The chrysanthemum girl was the loveliest sight in the room, but she was not the best sustained character, so"—

"I hope you don't think I care because you awarded the prize to Grace Hereford," interposed the girl scornfully, "and please don't for a minute think I am angry at anything. I am only disappointed in you." Her voice quivered a little.

"I have suspected the chrysanthemum girl of having moods," Arthur observed, looking at her reflectively. "A fellow I know has different names for her—Moonlight, White Rose, Laughing Water, Gentleness, Beauty, Wisdom. The fellow has admired her when she was gay and when she was serious, but never before has he seen her when she was unreasonable."

The chrysanthemum girl sniffed.

"Will you kindly explain?" added Arthur.

"I had always been so proud of your strength of character," she began. "The first time I ever saw you was in a trolley car. You sat opposite me, and when the car turned the sun shone into your eyes. There was plenty of room on my side, where the sun wouldn't have annoyed you, but instead of changing your seat you got up and pulled down the curtain. I thought to myself, 'There is a man who will be master of circumstances, no matter what they are,' and"—

Rose stopped in confusion as she remembered other things she had thought about this finely formed, handsome young man.

"Go on," he said, leaning forward with great interest. "What else did you think?"

"And now to find out that you are nothing but a chameleon after all," she wailed.

"A what?" Arthur exclaimed in amazement.

"A chameleon," she repeated tearfully. "If you are on a brown leaf you're brown; if on a green tree then you're green."

"Well, green I acknowledge I am, for bless me if I can see what you are driving at."

"The other day when auntie was talking about the sin of wasting your time in dancing you said that you agreed with her that when there was work to do folks ought to do it. You said you were not going to the masquerade for that very reason."

"Well, I didn't intend"—

"You said you had several hours' work at the office that night. Then Grace Hereford came along and asked you to go, and you went!"

There was a flicker of amusement on Arthur's face which Rose did not see, being too busy winking back unwelcome tears.

"Miss Hereford had nothing to do with it, Rose," he said gently. "I went to work, as I said. About 9 o'clock Mr. Jones, the president, came in and said that if I could find Hasson and get his signature to a certain paper and get back by 11 o'clock he would make it worth my while. I had an idea that Hasson was managing that masquerade, and that's where I found him. He buttonholed me at once to be judge of the concern and wouldn't sign the paper unless I agreed. I saw I could get back by 11, so I stayed."

"And had plenty of time to dance with Miss Hereford," supplemented Rose sweetly, but unjudicially.

This time Arthur's smile was certain. "I looked for the chrysanthemum girl first and couldn't find her," he said truthfully. "I danced only once. But what made you think Miss Hereford asked me to go?"

"She said she would wager she could get you to go and that you would dance with her first, so I went to see if—I didn't think you would when you said you wouldn't, but"—

"I see," said the young man quietly. An inborn loyalty to womankind kept him from telling Rose that just as he had started away Miss Hereford had run to him, exclaiming that as he was so kind to award her the prize she certainly must reward him with the first dance, etc. With a sudden impulse he took Rose's little hand in his.

She sprang up and started for the fireplace, but he held her gently back. "Listen," he whispered.

On the glowing coals smoked Evangeline Bell, and on the rug, with eyes turned to the ceiling, knelt Henrietta.

"O God," she was saying, "now I lay me down to sleep. I give my precious dolly, so you will make the faiwy queen wiv the cwown of her golden haih to bwing Mr. Arfur the little heaht he wants for Kwismas. That's all, God, only please let me see her when she comes. Amen."

"Amen!" echoed Arthur fervently.

"Grace Hereford has black hair," observed Rose inconsequently.

"She may have green hair for all it matters to me," said Arthur, with impoliteness. "Rose, darling"—

"I wonder if God will," Henrietta was murmuring, with sad eyes fixed on the mound of ashes which was once Evangeline Bell.

Rose went over to the fireplace and kissed her small sister. "I think God will," she said reverently; then she went back to radiant Mr. Arfur.

Christmas For the Birds.

A traveler in Sweden tells of a beautiful Christmas custom in that land which may well be imitated in many lands. He says: "One wintry afternoon at Christmastide I had been skating on a pretty lake three miles from Gothenburg. On my way home I noticed that at every farmer's house there was erected in the middle of the dooryard a pole, to the top of which was bound a large full sheaf of grain. In answer to my question as to the meaning of it my companion replied: 'Oh, that is for the birds—for the little wild birds. They must have a merry Christmas, too, you know.'"—Selected.

Kind Old Man.

Ascum—What did that rich old uncle of yours give you for Christmas? Something useful, I'll bet.

Hauskeep—Yes, a little device for saving coal bills.

Ascum—Ah, an arrangement to attach to the heater?

Hauskeep—No, to keep on my desk. It's a bill file.

Present Location Is All Right

It is probable that the movement on the part of the Board of Trade to change the location of the proposed Federal building in Quincy will be abandoned.

Some time ago, upon the request of the Board of Trade, a special committee was appointed by the City Council to confer with a like committee of the Board of Trade, to consider the changing the location of the proposed building.

A meeting of the two committees was held Wednesday evening at the rooms of the Board of Trade. It was expected that Congressman McNary would be present, but at the last moment he found it impossible to attend.

He sent a letter to the committee, however in which he stated that Quincy stood sixth on the list for a Federal building. Should an attempt be made to change the location it would mean that Quincy would drop to the bottom of the list, and it would probably be several years before another public building bill will be passed.

The only way in which it would be possible to change the location and not lose its position on the list, would be for some citizen or citizens to present the government with a new site.

As this is very improbable the chances are that the movement will drop.

Mrs. Sarah Nash of 84 Washington street died last night in her 88th year. She lived with her son, ex-Councilman John W. Nash, and is a sister of Mrs. Mary Pollock of Bigelow street.

Mayor Thompson Speaks on Issues

An enthusiastic rally in the interest of Mayor Thompson and the Republican candidates for the City Council was held last evening at Doble's hall. Ex-representative H. S. Nicol presided, and addresses were made by Mayor Thompson, Councilmen Piper, Deacon and Hunter, also Alex. Falconer and J. W. Pratt.

Mayor Thompson said that no man or body of men had tried to dictate to him as to who he should appoint. He had never made any pledge or promises, and would not now. He had rather go down to defeat with honor than to be elected with dishoner. He spoke of the Trolley Freight order and said that his apponant, Mr. Shea, had advocated the passage of a bill without restrictions upon the floor of the Council chamber, and intimated that he had lobbied with councilmen to vote for a bill without restrictions.

He also spoke of the High school question and said there was no truth in the statement that the administration had used influence in favor of any contractor. He had simply asked that preference be given to Quincy labor all things being equal.

A rally in the interest of Mayor Thompson was also held by the Scandinavian Republican club at Plumers hall.

Candidate Shea Before Wage Earners

The Wage Earners' Club held a rally at Wilson's hall last night. The speakers were Candidate Shea, Alfred LaCroix, Democratic candidate for the Council from Ward One; William Cunniff, independent candidate for the Council from Ward Three and James E. Corprew, independent candidate for Councilman-at-large.

Other rallies in the interest of W. T. Shea for Mayor were held in Cahill's hall, South Quincy and at Yule's hall, Quincy Point.

At the Quincy Point rally, in addition so Candidate Shea, addresses were made by Dr. John Ash, candidate for School Committee.

At South Quincy, in addition to Mr. Shea, the speakers were Robert Smith, Michael Burns, and Candidates Cunniff and McConarty.

A Sunlight party was held at the Wollaston Yacht club house Thanksgiving day. There were a great many there, more than there has been yet this season. Perhaps they all thought they needed more exercise than usual after their Thanksgiving dinner. Dancing was enjoyed from 5 until 10.30, to the music of Cuff's orchestra.

Why Mr. Crane Is Satisfied

Editors Quincy Ledger:

In view of the fact that you have published in today's Ledger two letters from correspondents who are not men enough to sign their own names, and whose statements are false and misleading, I ask you to print tomorrow the following statement:

Neither Mayor Thompson nor anyone else has ever made or communicated to me a pledge or promise that he will or will not appoint or reappoint anyone to office. I have been assured, however, that if Mayor Thompson should be re-elected and that if a representative body of citizens should then go to him and advise that for good and sufficient reasons, and for the best interests of the city, certain heads of departments should not be reappointed, that such advice would receive more than ordinary consideration. That satisfies me.

Emery L. Crane.

Yesterday was the last Friday of November.

Specimen ballots for the election of next Tuesday have been posted,

The annual memorial service of the Elks will be held Sunday afternoon at Greenleaf hall.

There was a slight fall of snow last night, but hardly enough to cover the ground.

The Committee on Legislative Matters of the City Council meet Monday evening before the Council meeting.

Bill boards all over the city are covered with striking announcements of the grand No-License rally at Quincy Music Hall tomorrow evening.

A male quartette is a new feature at the Music hall rally and with such a one as the Orpheus Quartette of Boston, it will add greatly to the meeting.

Everybody is invited to the grand No-License rally at Quincy Music hall except those under 16 years. For them, the boys prize speaking contest is especially planned.

The big rally at Quincy Music hall begins at 7.30 P. M. Doors open at 6.45. As the program is an unusually strong one, those who want a seat are advised to come early.

The will of John B. Rhines, late of Weymouth, which was admitted to probate at Dedham this week, leaves $1,000 to the Roxbury home for children and aged women.

A rally in the interest of Peter Mc Conarty, Democratic candidate for Councilman from Ward Three will be held tonight at Cahill's hall.

City Messenger Tirrell is busy with a gang of men getting the polling places in the several precincts ready for the election next Tuesday.

Allen E. Johnson of Atlantic and Warren D. Owen, formerly of Quincy, were interested in the dance of the Lonsdale tennis club at Whiton hall, Dorchester, on Thanksgiving eve, which was a pretty party.

James B. B. Smith of Hancock street, Wollaston, who has been in the hospital for a month was able to return home in time to enjoy the holiday with his family.

The Central station combination was called out on a still alarm at 2.10 this afternoon to extinguish a fire in an old tree on the Dorothy Q estate caused by a bonfire.

The contractors at the High school do not intend that there shall be any more fires in the rubbish about the building, for yesterday the remaining crates of straw was removed.

Gilbert Forgays, the genial manager of the local branch of the Singer Sewing Machine Co., returned this morning after spending Thanksgiving beneath the paternal roof at Plattsburg, New York.

The Women's Guild of Christ church is to hold its annual fair on Tuesday and Wednesday of next week afternoon and evening, in the Parish house. They have made a specialty of handkerchiefs, fancy articles, children's table, etc. Also on Wednesday afternoon from four until six there is to be a special entertainment for the children.

Friends learned with regret of the death of Mrs. Edward Mansfield, after a long illness. She passed away Wednesday night at at twelve o'clock at her home on Davis street. Funeral services will be held this afternoon, after which the remains will be carried to Concord. She leaves a husband and two children. The neighborhood extends its sympathy to the family in their bereavement.

Represented in Quincy by Mr. Otho A. Hayward.

City Election

TUESDAY, DEC. 4th 1906.

POLLS OPEN 6 A. M. to 4 P. M.

Vote for the Republican Candidate for Mayor

JAMES THOMPSON

At the Republican Caucus held on November 13th I was again named as the candidate for Mayor. I wish to thank the citizens for their continued confidence and to state that if again elected I shall give my best efforts to meet the requirements of the office.

I wish to caution the public against the many rumors and denials of rumors now being circulated, for they have no sanction of mine. I have always been ready and willing to listen to the advice and suggestions of the citizens of Quincy and shall continue to invite the expression of public opinion and honest criticism by the citizens in the administration of our municipal affairs to the end that the public good may be best served and promoted.

JAMES THOMPSON.

We, the undersigned, citizens and taxpayers of the city of Quincy, endorse the candidacy of JAMES THOMPSON, the Republican nominee for Mayor at the City Election to be held on TUESDAY, Dec. 4th, believing the best interests of the city will be advanced by his election:

Death of Rev. M. J. Duffy

Rev. Michael J. Duffy, son of Mr. and Mrs. John O. Duffy of Beacon street, Quincy Point, died this morning, after a long illness. He was born in West Brookfield, but came to Quincy at 14, and was educated at Adams Academy, Thayer Academy, Alleghany college in Pennsylvania, and Brighton Seminary. He was ordained to the priesthood on Dec. 22 last, and held his first mass at St. Johns church on Christmas day. In January he was transferred to the Providence diocese, and was stationed at Valley Falls, R. I.

Critically Ill.

Junior Vice Commander Charles A. Newcomb of Paul Revere Post, 88, G. A. R., and one of the popular motormen of the street railway, is seriously ill at the City Hospital and but slight hopes are entertained for his recovery. Mr. Newcomb suffered a shock of paralysis a week ago and was taken to the City Hospital last Monday. This morning he had another shock and is now in a critical state.

Would Give Quincy Twenty Year Boost

Editor Daily Ledger:—

I have closely followed the work of the City Council in regard to the proposed building laws, and am encouraged to hope that soon it may be impossible for anyone so inclined to disfigure our principal streets with such mushroom growths as now offend the eye on every business thoroughfare.

South Quincy is practically ruined by such freaks of stores, Quincy Point is rapidly becoming so, and City Square is not entirely free from them.

I have been informed on good authority, that a brick building cost only from ten to twenty per cent more than a frame structure, and will anyone contend that is not more than offset by the subsequent cost of painting and keeping the latter in repair, to say nothing of the difference insurance rates.

To prove that this building ordinance will be no hardship to prospective builders it is only necessary to remember that all the brick buildings that we already have, were built, not under compulsion, but because the owners evidently thought that it was for their best interests to construct them of that material; and those who did not wish to expend a great amount of money have built them of one story, to be added to later, if required.

Then, too, I think tenants prefer brick buildings. They make a more imposing appearance and lessen the insurance rates on the merchandise. What merchant in City Square would not willingly pay ten or twenty per cent on the extra cost of a building that would display his goods to advantage and better accommodate, what should be in these live times, an ever increasing patronage?

I think the Ledger, which, by the way I have always found to be on the side of justice, is unnecessarily alarmed for, instead of lessening the chances of activity in building operations, in my opinion, it would greatly tend to increase it, as real estate owners would then feel that, if they erected good buildiugs, they would be protected from the close proximity of the "shack" nuisance, and their tenants likewise, who pay good rent for good looking stores, would not be subjected to the competetive methods of the ten-dollar-a month proprietor of a "shack."

Merchants, real estate men and builders have repeatedly, through the Quincy Board of Trade, sent petitions to the City Council asking for an ordinance similar to this, and I for one, sincerely thank the Council for their prompt action on this one, and trust that the Mayor will feel that he can conscientiously sign it, and thus give Quincy a twenty year "boost" ahead.

Your for advancement,

T. L. WILLIAMS.

Quincy, Nov. 30, 1906.

Would Be Loss For Ward One

Councilman Gelette has received the following letter from Councilman Sawyer, which is a good endorsement.

Friend Otto:

Had the voters of Ward One known as well as I of the hard and earnest work you have done for the interests of your ward the past year, you would have been renominated by a large vote.

I think you have done a great deal this year toward getting a new Coddington school next year, and if you are returned to the Council, think you can do more in completing the task than any new man possibly can.

The people of Whitwell street owe to you the credit of the improvement of that street, the order for which passed the Council at the last meeting, and has since been signed by the Mayor.

With no Councilman at large from Ward One the next year it seems to me it is very necessary that Ward One be represented by one who is familiar with the needs of the ward now being considered by the Council. It takes any new man a year to learn the ropes, and I trust for the sake of your ward you will be returned.

Yours sincerely,

Geo. F. Sawyer, Jr.

OUR HOSPITAL

(Legal Title: City Hospital of Quincy)
INCORPORATED 1889

The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earnestly appeal for donations and bequests for the Endowment fund. This now amounts to over $60,000, but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed.

Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need, will be most gratefully received.

The Secretary, TIMOTHY REED, Adams St., Quincy, or the Treasurer, RICHARD D. CHASE, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad to confer with any one or to answer any inquiries.

THE
Young Men's Christian Association
OF QUINCY, MASS.
(Legal Title – Incorporated 1892.)

The Directors of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.

Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.

The Treasurer, WILLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, ERNEST G. GAY, will be happy to answer inquiries.

BLAME IS PLACED

Operator Responsible For Southern Railway Disaster

SOON FLED FROM SCENE

Telegraph Sheets Show That He Allowed Two Trains In Same Block at Same Time--Police Are Searching For Him

Lynchburg, Va., Dec. 1.—The cause of the wreck near Lawyers Depot, 10 miles south of this city, in which President Spencer of the Southern railway and his party of prominent New York and Baltimore men lost their lives, is laid absolutely at the door of C. D. Mattaox, the operator who was in charge of the block telegraph station at Rangoon. Mattoax, who disappeared after being relieved less than an hour after the accident, has not been found, despite the fact that railway detectives scoured the country around the wreck and about his home at Sandy Level, 40 miles from the scene of the accident.

An official of the Southern railway states that the company is desirous of apprehending Mattoax in order to secure a statement from him that may throw some light on the causes that led him to allow two trains in the same block at the same time. This official is not prepared to state whether or not the company will take steps to prosecute the missing operator, and he does not then know if he could be prosecuted under the laws of the state of Virginia.

An examination of the telegraph sheets kept at the Rangoon and Lawyers block offices shows that Mattoax allowed train No. 33, the Jacksonville express, upon the block, the train passing his station getting a clear track from him at 6:06 o'clock Thursday morning. The operator at Lawyers, the next station ahead, claimed that Mattoax did not ask him for a "clear track" for No. 33, and he therefore did not know this train had passed Rangoon.

The block sheet at Lawyers bears out this claim. The sheets at both offices show that the operator at Rangoon asked Lawyers for a clear track for No. 37, the Washington and Southwestern vestibuled limited, and the Lawyers operator, not knowing 33 was in the block, gave 37 the right of way at 6:14 o'clock, and No. 37 passed Rangoon at that time. If Mattoax had reported train No. 33 on the block to Lawyers there would have been no accident, because the operator at Lawyers would have held the Southwestern limited at Rangoon until the Jacksonville train had cleared the block at Lawyers.

Superintendent Andrews of the Danville division explains that the report that the engine of the forward train had gone some distance ahead of its train when it became detached is erroneous, and the fact is that the engine did not leave the train more than 20 feet, the airbrakes applying immediately on the engine as well as the train. The trouble was the breaking of a knuckle on the draw-head on the front end of the forward car. The trainmen were repairing this when the collision occurred.

Assistant General Superintendent Coapman states that there is not the slightest doubt but the flagman made every possible effort to protect the rear of the train, but he could not get around a sharp curve in time to prevent the collision. As soon as Engineer Kenny saw the signal he applied the emergency brakes and stayed at his post to the last.

Old Cattle Dealer a Suicide

Bangor, Me., Dec. 1.—James Babb, aged 82, committed suicide at the home of his son in Old Town by hanging while despondent. Many years ago, when the driving of cattle from this state to the Brighton (Mass.) market was a thriving industry, Babb was known throughout this part of the country as one of the most prominent drovers and cattle dealers.

Schooner Struck and Filled

St. John, Dec. 1.—N. C. Scott of this city, owner of the schooner Alice Maud, has received word from Captain Gale that the schooner went ashore at West Quoddy and filled. Full particulars are not known. The Alice Maud left here for Boston with a full cargo of deals.

Thirteen Cases of Yellow Fever

Havana, Dec. 1.—A slight increase of yellow fever has been recorded. There are four new cases, one at Havana, one at Sagua la Grande, one at Cruces and one at Union de Los Reyes. The total number of cases on the island is now 13.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Matthew E. O'Brien, candidate for governor of Connecticut on the Prohibition ticket in the last state election, has filed notice that he intends to make application for admission to the bar of Connecticut and desires to be examined at the December examination. This will make the third time that O'Brien has applied for admission to the bar.

Public bequests amounting to $24,000 are made in the will of George D. Edmands of Boston.

Professor Henry E. Strobel, Bemis professor of international law at the Harvard law school, has tendered his resignation from that chair and will assume a position permanently with the government of Siam as general advisor.

PIERS WERE UNSAFE

Faulty Concrete the Cause of South Framingham Disaster

South Framingham, Mass., Dec. 1.—That the giving way of the concrete foundation piers was the cause of the collapse of the Amsden building in this town on July 23, when 12 persons were either killed outright or fatally injured, is the conclusion in a report just submitted by George A. Winsor, a civil engineer engaged by the town's special investigating committee.

The report says the concrete of these piers was fairly hard for about a foot in depth below the footing plates of the iron columns supporting the first floor, and that below this "it was nearly as loose in some of the foundations as when placed in the box forms made to enclose the piers. The concrete in the bottom of piers 4, 7 and 8 could be readily crumbled with the fingers, as could portions of the other piers.

"The appearance of some of this concrete indicated that it had been cast from some height into the water which stood in the box forms. This would cause a separation of the cement from the sand and gravel. The concrete, falling through the water, the ingredients would be separated, the gravel and sand falling in the bottom and the cement on top, and the strength of the work would be seriously impaired."

The report adds that each of the cross columns, if placed on good piers, should have been able to sustain a weight of 57 tons, and that the loads on each of the two piers which were first crushed were about 40 tons.

Thurston Wants a Recount

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 1.—Mayor Thurston of this city has filed a demand in the supreme court for a recount of the votes cast in the Democratic primaries in Cambridge on Nov. 20, by which the registrars have decided that his opponent, J. F. Aylward, was given the nomination by a plurality of one vote. The supreme court announced that it will hear the arguments on a writ of certiorari for and against a recount on Tuesday next. The petition asks that the supreme court conduct the recount.

Little One Abandoned

Boston, Dec. 1.—Four letters, once printed in ink and which have soaked through the outer lining of an infant's garment, but still plainly spelling M-a-r-y, leave a faint clue to the whole name of a baby girl whose absolute identity and that of its mother is scheduled to give the police another bit of hard work. The babe was deserted in the ladies' room of the North station at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and is the second girl baby to be abandoned there within a few weeks.

Blackmailers Sent to Prison

Boston, Dec. 1.—For impersonating agents of the Watch and Ward society and attempting to extort money from Ainsworth Mansion, on the strength of blackmailing threats, Charles O. Woodman was sentenced to a term of five to seven years in the state prison, and Harry A. Marden was given a sentence of three years in the house of correction. They made frequent demands on Mansion for money and threatened to expose him for an alleged indiscretion.

Has Recovered Her Reason

Middletown, Conn., Dec. 1.—Mrs. Bertha Magersuppe of Danbury, who was acquitted two months ago on the charge of murdering her infant on the ground that she was insane, was released from the state asylum for the insane yesterday by order of Judge Wheeler of the superior court. Asylum officials testified that the woman had recovered her reason. Mrs. Magersuppe chloroformed her child and attempted later to take her own life.

Engineer Held For Wreck

New Haven, Dec. 1.—As the result of his investigation into the railroad wreck at Yalesville, in which Conductor Leahy was killed and two trainmen severely hurt, Coroner Mix ordered the arrest of Harry W. Easton, the engineer running the light "moguls" which crashed into the freight train. Easton is held in bonds of $1000 as being suspected of criminal negligence in causing the wreck.

Sudden Death of Old Merchant

Boston, Dec. 1.—Leander Beal, one of the best known men engaged in the wholesale clothing trade, died suddenly of heart disease while negotiating for a family lot in Forest Hills cemetery at the office of the superintendent. Beal was vice president of the Five Cents savings bank and was identified with many charitable institutions. He was 72 years of age.

Boy Gets Heavy Damages

Attleboro, Mass., Dec. 1.—The supreme court has rendered a verdict in the case of John Hodde, a boy, vs. S. M. Einstein of the Attleboro Manufacturing company, for the recovery of damages alleged to have been caused by an accident in the factory of the company. The court confirmed the decision of the jury in the sum of $16,000.

Conspiracy Indictment Stands

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 1.—In the Middlesex superior court, Judge Bell denied a motion to quash the indictment against the Harvard Brewing company, charged with conspiring with certain members of the police commission of Lowell to restrain trade. The case will be heard at the December term of the grand jury.

Strikers' Demands Granted

Lynn, Mass., Dec. 1.—The lasting machine operators' strike at the Hennessy & Thompson shoe factory at Lynn was ended when 25 men returned to work. The firm granted the strikers' demand for a new schedule of wages for the operation of "pulling-over machines."

Public Interest

IS NOW CENTERED ON

The Pure Food Law.

WE Have Always Maintained that the best that money could buy was always the cheapest in the end, because it is always the bargain hunters that have to pay the DOCTOR, buying as they do IMPURE foods of all kinds, FOODS that are UNFIT for ANY PERSON'S STOMACH, being mixed as they are with different kinds of PRESERVATIVES and SECRET PREPARATIONS to take the place of GOOD PURE FOODS. And some dealers selling these goods at a GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICE over the pure kind, GUARANTEE you NOTHING, but—"Poor Health to You and Your Family," and although you can buy the "just as good kind," you can save nothing as that kind is unhealthy and dangerous to the whole human family. Now our standard is to always sell the best of everything and the steady increase of our business year after year proves to us that we have the right idea, and we know it must be very satisfactory to our many customers to feel that what they buy at our store is ABSOLUTELY PURE and HEALTHFUL and the Food Laws are being strictly enforced by us. Our Goods are all GOVERNMENT INSPECTED and also carefully inspected by us before they are put on sale or sent to your homes, and although you pay perhaps a few cents more to us than some dealers charge, don't you think it is money well spent, considering all things?—YOUR HEALTH, which is the greatest blessing we can have,—think well about this and we know you will agree with us and do your trading where you know the goods can be depended upon to be absolutely Pure.

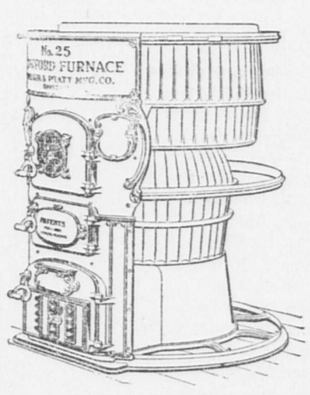

We have just received our season's pack of choice canned and bottled goods, FRESH and DRIED FRUITS, all kinds of Cereals, Ketchup, Pickles, Jams, Jellies, Prunes, Figs, Nuts, Dates, Table Raisins, Citron, Lemon and Orange Peel, Olives, Sardines,—in fact everything for your tastes and fancies. All the leading brands of FLOUR. Fancy New Orleans Molasses.

OUR MARKET is complete, AND REMEMBER, we sell nothing that has been doctored or filled with Preservatives to keep it. TO the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of late of Wollaston, Quincy, in said County, deceased.

Whereas, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court for Probate, by Charles A. Price of Quincy, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named, without giving a surety on his official bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy, in said County of Norfolk, on the twelfth day of December, A. D. 1906, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once in each week for three successive weeks in the Quincy Daily Ledger, a newspaper published in Quincy, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing, postpaid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said Court.

Gillette Unruffled During His Cross Examination

THE EVIDENCE IS ALL IN

One Witness Called by the Defense Gives Testimony Favorable to Prosecution--Defendant's Character Declared Good

Herkimer, N. Y., Dec. 1.—The trial of Chester Gillette for the alleged murder of his sweetheart, Grace Brown, has practically come to a close, so far as the taking of evidence is concerned. The defense, while reserving the right to swear one witness today if it sees fit, rested at 4:30 o'clock yesterday. The remainder of the afternoon was spent by the district attorney in calling several witnesses back to the stand in rebuttal.

The defense swore several witnesses, but so little was expected of each one of them that it was less than two hours after Gillette himself stepped down from the stand that Attorney Thomas announced that the defense rested.

There were no really striking features of interest in the case outside of those furnished by the defendant's own testimony. Gillette went through the ordeal of cross-examination without wavering in his testimony as to the actual death scene on Big Moose lake. When he finally stepped down from the box he was calm and unruffled.

Gillette swore that many of the things he said and wrote, and which the prosecution took as links in its chain of evidence, were simply falsehoods concocted for one reason or another, and that many of the things he had done, and that the prosecution took as indications of guilt, were merely acts of cowardice.

Gillette still insisted that the girl committed suicide, but he cheerfully admitted that he let her die practically without putting forth a hand to save her. Though admitting that he was a good swimmer, he said he made no effort to rescue the girl, and he sneaked away through the woods and joined in the amusements of the people, knowing that the body of the girl lay at the bottom of the lake.

Gillette left the stand at 3:20 and then the defense called several witnesses in quick succession. One of them was a tennis player who simply gave the weight of Gillette's tennis racquet as 13 ounces. He proved a witness for the prosecution instead of the defense, because he afterward swore that it would be possible to break the strings in the racquet by striking hard with it.

Other witnesses for the defense were called to give their opinions of Gillette's character and reputation. Most of them testified that his character was good, but the district attorney compelled all to admit that they were not then aware of Gillette's relations with Miss Brown.

A few persons employed in the skirt factory at Cortland, where Grace Brown and Gillette worked, testified that they heard the girl say that she did not want to live and that she was going to leave Cortland, perhaps forever. To these District Attorney Ward said: "You didn't see Gillette trying to comfort her, did you?" And they replied in the negative.

There was some surprise among the spectators when the district attorney allowed Gillette to leave the witness box without a more minute description of the incidents immediately preceding the girl's fatal plunge into the lake.

One feature of Gillette's testimony was his swearing that a certain roll of camera film found in a suit case had never been exposed. The district attorney then showed Gillette a picture made from the roll. It was a picture of Hattie Benedict, the Cortland girl who was alleged to be Grace Brown's rival.

Would-Be Robber Killed Himself

Bendena, Kan., Dec. 1.—J. W. Harris, a farmer, entered the state bank here and commanded Cashier Gillen and Clerk Sells to throw up their hands. He then ordered them to pull down the window blinds and lock the doors. Sells went behind the counter, ostensibly to pull down a window curtain, and escaped through a back door. Fearing capture, Harris calmly stared at Gillen a moment and then killed himself by shooting.

Five Men Killed by Explosion

Clinchport, Va., Dec. 1.—Five men were killed by an explosion of dynamite in a cut in which blasting was being done on railroad construction work several miles from Clinchport. Several blasts had been fired when the men, thinking all had exploded, returned to the cut. Immediately afterward two blasts exploded, resulting in the death of all the men in the cut.

Gasoline Fumes Caused Death

Philadelphia, Dec. 1.—Gustave Soeding, aged 58, who was known as a promoter of amusement enterprises, was found dead in his automobile in a garage late last night. He had been asphyxiated by gasoline fumes while leaning over the tank of the machine making repairs. Soeding had been dead for several hours when his body was found.

Knockout In First Round

San Francisco, Dec. 1.—Joe Thomas, welterweight champion, last night knocked out Frank McConnell in the first round, after a minute and a half of fighting.

STANDARD OIL'S THREAT

It Pushed to the Wall Industrial Disaster Will Follow

New York, Dec. 1.—In what is characterized as the most remarkable document in the history of Standard Oil, the great monopoly threatened the nation with industrial disaster if the campaign against its policy and methods is pushed, as now threatened. In many quarters it is regarded as much of a "squeal" as a threat. It is in this respect looked upon as a weakening of the big combine. It says in effect:

"If the prosecutions now threatened against us are persisted in we cannot hold our own with the great combinations which are competing with us in the foreign markets. These combinations, so far from being harassed as we are, are receiving the heartiest support of their governments.

"If we do have to lose these foreign markets and are forced to the wall, the result will be disastrous to a host of industries and avocations dependent on the Standard Oil company and its ramified operations throughout the country."

The document is in the form of a "statement by the foreign department of the Standard Oil company."

Railroaders Loyal to Engineer

Tucson, Ariz., Dec. 1.—The Sonora railroad is tied up by a strike which was called to procure the release of Engineer Reitz, now held at Hermosillo for manslaughter. Reitz ran over and killed a Yaqui Indian who was walking on the tracks near Hermosillo. He was arrested and held in jail in default of $5000 bail. By preconcerted arrangements, all trains on the road were taken to Hermosillo and abandoned by the crews, who refuse to move the trains until Reitz shall be released.

Lipton's Estimate of America

London, Dec. 1.—Sir Thomas Lipton has contributed to The Weekly Dispatch an article describing the amazing prosperity in America in every department of trade and commerce. He says it is no exaggeration to declare that at no previous period of human industry has such prosperity been known in any country. Everybody in America is making money and in such piles that the ordinary standards of comfort nd luxury are being replaced by new ideals.

Strike Settled by Arbitration

Hamilton, Ont., Dec. 1.—The Ontario railway board, acting as arbitrators in the street railway strike, has ordered all the strikers back to work and ordered the company to restore the service in force previous to the strike. President Gibson of the street railway company strenuously objected to taking back all the men, but the board remained firm and Gibson finally consented to allow the old men to run the cars pending final settlement.

Heinze Helps Unfortunate Creditors

Butte, Mont., Dec. 1.—Receiver Wilson of the wrecked Aetna bank of Butte has received a check from Augustus Heinze for $100,000. Heinze formerly was president of the bank, but withdrew in 1903. Believing, however, that many depositors had not known of his withdrawal and that through confidence in his reputation many of his friends may have lost their money, Heinze contributes $100,000 towards the bank's assets.

Roosevelt's Course Commended

Washington, Dec. 1.—Scores of telegrams and letters have been received by President Roosevelt, commending his course in dismissing without honor the members of the three companies of the Twenty-fifth infantry, some of whom were engaged in the trouble at Brownsville, Tex. Any further statement from the president on the subject is said to be very unlikely.

Ethel Smith Held In $4000

Thornton, R. I., Dec. 1.—"He deserved all he got," said 15-year-old Ethel Smith with an air of cheerfulness, as she left the courthouse at Knightsville, under $4000 bonds, on the charge of slaying Emory Briggs. With his life, the latter paid the penalty of trying to force an entrance to the Smith household, where his neglected wife and children had secured shelter.

Could Not Stand Disgrace

New York, Dec. 1.—Felice Bellone, a tailor, is dying from a wound self-inflicted, after he had murdered his wife because the two had been disgraced. The police quote Bellone as having said that he had shot his wife and himself after reading letters from Italy in which the name of his wife was frequently mentioned to his mortification and shame.

Record Collection of Revenue

Peoria, Ills., Dec. 1.—The fifth internal revenue district, with headquarters in Peoria, has set a new record for the nation in the amount of collections for a single day. The receipts yesterday were $250,367.86. The previous high record was $231,858.42.

Engaged In Bad Business

Washington, Dec. 1.—The commissioners of the District of Columbia have revoked the licenses of 18 of the 24 employment agencies in Washington. The agents were charged with securing girls for immoral purposes.

Passenger Train Derailed

Enid, Okla., Dec. 1.—A passenger train was derailed near Waukomis and 10 passengers were injured, several severely, but none fatally. Spreading rails caused the accident.

A Dead Easy Thing

[Copyright, 1906, by C. H. Sutcliffe.]

Mr. Adelbert Yonge, as we will call him, had been voyaging in eastern seas with his yacht. He was a young man of twenty-four and a resident of New York, and while he was known among his set as a good fellow he was also known as a conservative.

When the yacht got around to a certain port in Spain the owner went off one day to view the leading cathedral by himself. As a matter of fact, the other three had said that they would rather see one bullfight than ten cathedrals, and they were left to enjoy themselves in their own way. Mr. Yonge saw the cathedral from the outside and from the in. While he was visiting the interior two ladies passed him, and one deftly slipped a note into his hand. He made out that the note slipper was a girl and the other her duenna. His heart gave several jumps ere he got outdoors and found opportunity to read the note.

"You are an American," read the note, "and I appeal to you as an American. Five years ago an uncle of mine who desired to get possession of my fortune had me shut up in the convent called the Sacred Heart. I have been a prisoner ever since, and it has been given out in America that I am dead. Once a week I am allowed to visit the cathedral, but am always closely watched. I saw you a week ago and determined to appeal to you. For heaven's sake, rescue me from this living death. If you can place a ladder against the northwest corner of the wall surrounding the convent at 10 o'clock on the night of the 14th, I can persuade Sister Mary to permit me to pass into the grounds and thus escape. Bring a rope twenty feet long with you. Bring horses or a carriage. There is no way you can answer this except in person.

Some conservatives would have stopped to analyze a bit, but Mr. Yonge didn't. There was an American girl in distress, and it was his duty to rescue her. He would mount the wall, pull her up with a rope and then take her aboard his yacht. He would then steam away, and who was to catch him? He had it all planned out before his impulsive companions got back from the bullfight. They did not see the matter as he did.

When Mr. Yonge had announced in cast iron tones that he intended to rescue the girl single handed if his friends were afraid to tackle the job with him they could do no less than offer their services. One of them was sent to buy a rope, another to look for a ladder and the third to survey the wall. Yonge himself saw to the provisioning of the yacht and the overhauling of her machinery. He would steam out of port the minute the damsel was aboard. When the night of the 14th came all was in readiness. A vehicle was purchased outright instead of hired. Nothing had transpired to arouse the suspicions of the people in the convent, and it was looked upon as a dead easy thing to make the rescue.

The night was dark and rainy. It was the night of all nights to rescue an American damsel from a Spanish convent. Yonge had only two companions. One drove and was to act as lookout, and the other was to hold the foot of the ladder and help the rescued girl to descend without breaking her neck. Not a dog bayed or a cat meowed as the angle of the wall was reached. If Sister Mary had done her part and if Miss Britomarte had not fainted away while waiting, then five minutes would see her out of that and laying plans to give her uncle a surprise party. There was a feeling of the heroic about him as Yonge mounted the wall. The water ran down the back of his neck and filled his side pockets, but he was not discouraged. He was on top of the wall fishing with a rope and trying to locate the damsel when half a dozen dark lanterns flashed at the foot of the ladder and six strange men appeared. They had not come to assist in the rescue of Miss Keith, but were in the uniform of the police and spoke with commendable frankness.

Mr. Yonge was ordered to descend or take a bullet from a revolver, and a minute later the handcuffs were slipped on the trio. There were two other carriages close by, and presently the three vehicles set out and made a drive of six or seven miles to a stone barn in the suburbs of the city. Here the prisoners were put through the third degree in great shape. When the sergeant of police got through detailing the enormity of the offense they were white as milk and thin as water. The least that any of them might expect was an hour on the rack and twenty years in a dungeon. The average American has a commercial mind. These three men had. They began to dicker for their lives. To their great joy the sergeant was willing to listen. He finally admitted that if the convent were heavily reimbursed, the police paid for their time and if the yacht would put to sea instanter the ends of justice would be subserved. It must be cash on the nail, though, and no shaving down.

As Mr. Yonge had got his friends into trouble, it was up to him to get them out. He made a draft on his Spanish banker for $6,000 and handed it over, and as soon as it was cashed the prisoners were turned loose and told to "git." They got. The yacht was a thousand miles away when they heard some news. They heard it from two other owners of American yachts. Miss Britomarte Keith was an English girl who was in with a gang of blacklegs. She was not an inmate of the convent. She had no uncle. She was not watched. She simply marked down her victims, and the gang arrived in time to catch them redhanded. M. QUAD.

Latest News About the City

The Fragment Society will hold a meeting in the Unitarian chapel next Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The "Duty of the Hour," issued by the Citizens' No-License League has been mailed to every voter. It makes a strong appeal for a big "No" vote.

The Whatsoever circle of King's daughters will meet with Mrs. Jesse Litchfield, 50 Brook street next Monday.

Members of the Woman's Guild of St. Chrysostom's church have their plans well arranged for a supper and sale of aprons, fancy goods and candy to be held in the parish rooms on Thursday evening, Dec. 6.

The Quincy Historical society is to have two entertainments, one of music under the direction of Mrs. George W. Morton and the other, historical pictures arranged by Mr. Emery L. Crane.

The Citizens' No-License League is indeed to be congratulated on getting Father Roche as the principal speaker for the Music hall rally tomorrow.

Frank E. Parlin, the Superintendent of our schools, who will be heard tomorrow at Quincy Music hall, is a very convincing speaker. He knows what a curse the saloon is to the children.

The will of Dr. James L. Simonds of Dorchester and Braintree, which left $50,000 for an orphan's home, will be contested by his sister Mary A. Shattuck of Everett, who was left nothing.

Mrs. Richard Newcomb of Newcomb street, has the sympathy of her many friends and acquaintances in the loss of her sister, whose death occurred at Weymouth on Wednesday, after several weeks' illness.

Capt. John B. Carter, who died at the Massachusetts General Hospital last Saturday was father of Mrs. H. H. Hill of this city. He was for twelve years keeper of the Long Island light in Boston harbor.

The second of the vesper lectures by Rev. E. W. Hunt of the Wollaston Unitarian church will be given on Sunday at 4 o'clock, when the subject is "Guilt and Remorse," the tragety of Macbeth. Mrs. Frank Page will be the soloist.

Members of the Shakespeare club feel much pleased at the transformation of Atlantic Music hall, the improvements, being entirely due to their efforts. The electric lights are a great improvement over the old kerosene lamps, both as to light and up-to-dateness. The hall has been entirely repainted and done over, has new window curtains, etc., presenting a freshness that is most attractive.

The Thanksgiving festival at the the Swedish Lutheran church was very largely attended. The program included an address by the pastor, Rev. S. N. Elvin, songs by the congregation, and a quarte, solos by M. John Uppling, piano duetts by Messrs. Villing and Vivden, and a dialogue by Maria Walin and Mrs. Esther Viden. That it was more blessed to give than to receive was shown by the large offering. Refreshments were served at the close.

Polands hall was inadequate on Wednesday evening for the large crowd that assembled to enjoy whist for two hours, followed by dancing and a light lunch. Forty-one tables were in play and Frank Ogle of West Quincy was the winner of the diamond ring with a score of 49. Others receiving souvenirs were Miss Mabel Cody, Mrs. E. P. Denn, Mrs. B. M. McLeod, Miss Catherine Priest Mrs. W. F. Carmen, Miss C. M. Cates, Mrs. H. W. Tirrell, Mrs. C. P. Gould and Messrs. C. Newcomb, Owen Davis, Arthur C. Cook, Fred G. Schaefer, R. P. Coombs, C. C. Several Weddings At Thanksgiving

One of November's most charming brides was Miss Fredricka L. Bauereis, whose marriage to Mr. Frederick N. Koster of Elizabeth, N. J., took place on the holiday at the parsonage of the First Presbyterian church, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. N. J. Spoul.

The bride was gowned in a robe of white lace over white silk, and carried brides roses; her only ornament was a diamond sunburst, the gift of the groom. Miss Bauerreis was attended by Miss Elizabeth Henderson of Brooklyn, N. Y. who was attired in blue crepe de chine; while Mr. W. R. Fee of Elizabeth served in the capacity of best man.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mr. Geo. Quigley, of 128 Arnold street, where the young couple received their numerous friends under a bell of white roses. The parlors were tastefully decorated in green and white.

After an elaborate repast the newly married pair left at midnight amidst a shower of congratulations and rice from the guests assembled, on a wedding trip through the New England states.

Mr. and Mrs. Koster start on life's journey under the most pleasant circumstances and carry with them the heartiest good wishes of their many friends.

A number of costly and beautiful gifts were received from their many friends. Guests were present from Baltimore, Boston, Elizabeth, Philadelphia and Brooklyn.

Mr. and Mrs. Koster will be at home to their Elizabeth friends after Dec. 5.

Cryan—Swain

On Thanksgiving eve, Nov. 28, were united in marriage at the St. John's parochial house by the Rev. Fr. John J. Coan pastor of the church, Mr. Joseph Henry Cryan of Hancock street and Miss Mary Eleanor Swain, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen N. Swain of Phipps street. The ceremony was solemnized at quarter to eight, the groom being attended by Edward F. Swain a brother of the bride, and the bride by Miss Charlotte C. Sweeney.

The bride wore a beautiful gown of white silk net over white peau de cynge, with a white lace hat trimmed with chiffon and white plumes. The bouquet was of bride roses and her only ornament was a pearl necklace with diamond pendant.

The bridesmaid was also in white, wearing white point d' esprit and white picture hat.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride from eight until eleven o'clock. Assisting the couple in receiving were the parents of the bride, Miss Bessie Cryan of Newton, Mrs. Allen of Brockton, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Richard McCarthy of Quincy.

The ushers were: Alexis Sorel, Arthur McCarthy, Daniel Ahearn, Fred Clague, William Cullen and James Faircloth.

Mrs. Alanson Shuman Grant of Medford had charge of the floral decorations; evergreens, ferns, pinks and roses being artistically combined.

As souvenirs of the happy occasion, the bride presented her bridesmaid with an ivory covered prayer book, and the groom gave his best man a gold nugget scarf pin set with a diamond.

During the reception songs were rendered by Alexis Sorel of Woonsocket, Fred Clague of Quincy, Mrs. John J. Murphy of Brockton, Miss Nonie O'Connor, Miss Genevieve Tate, Arthur McCarthy of Milford, and songs and recitations by Patrick J. Barry.

Mr. and Mrs. Cryan have gone to New York and Washington, on a wedding trip, and on their return are to reside at 236 Franklin street, South Quincy where they will receive their friends after January first.

Blunt—Thayer.

Although no invitations had been sent out, about three hundred friends of Miss Sophie Gifford Thayer and Mr. Arthur Albert Blunt assembled to see them married on Thanksgiving afternoon. The ceremony was solemnized at half after four in the Braintree First church by Rev. Granville Yager, of Rindge, N. H., assisted by Rev. Thomas Simms, pastor of the church.

The bride was attended by Miss Gertrude Weeks of Riverbank court, Cambridge, as maid of honor, and the best man was Mr. Edward L. Shinn of Medford Hillside. Mr. Elisha Nye Thayer, brother of the bride, Mr. Prentice Shaw, cousin of the bride, Mr. George Lowe of Boston and Mr. George Sampson of Braintree ushered the guests. Mrs. Jennie Hocking Hunt of Quincy, organist at All Souls church, presided at the organ.

The ceremony was most impressive the bride being given in marriage b Mr. Henry A. Thayer of Cherryfield. After the ceremony the bride and groom received their friends informally.

The bride wore her traveling suit and the maid ofhonor a gown of a pale blue pongee silk with plumed hat. Chrysanthemums, autumn foliage and evergreen beautified the church.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Henry Strong Thayer of 306 Washington street, and has always resided in Braintree. Mr. Blunt has been a resident of the town for a few years, residing with his mother, Mrs. Harvey Blunt, on Elm street. He was interested in All Souls church, singing in the choir.

After a trip of two weeks through northern New Hampshire and Vermont, Mr. and Mrs. Blunt will reside at St. Johnsbury, Vermont. Friends are sorry to have them leave Braintree permanently, but best wishes follow them to their new home.

O'Hara—McNamara.

Mr. Michael J. O'Hara son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael O'Hara of Newcomb place, was united in marriage at 2 o'clock on the holiday to Miss Josephine A. McNamara of South Boston. The ceremony took place at St. Augustine's church and was performed by Mgr. Dennis O'Callaghan, D. D.

Miss Margaret E. O'Hara, a sister of the groom, was bridesmaid, and Mr. John J. O'Hara, a brother of the groom was best man.

After a wedding trip to Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, they will make their home at 117 Elm street, Quincy.

Petterson—Pitts.

Miss Annie J. Pitts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Pitts of Shaw street and Mr. Alfred H. Peterson of Weymouth were married Wednesday evening, at the parochial residence by Rev. J. B. Holland. Miss Minnie Rogers of Boston was bridesmaid and Mr. Arthur Pope of Weymouth was best man.

The wedding was a very quiet affair on account of the recent death of the mother of the groom. Mr. and Mrs. Peterson will reside on Shaw street.

Curran—O'Brien.

Miss Katie O'Brien of East Braintree and Mr. William J. Curran, a popular young man of Weymouth, were married Wednesday evening by Rev. Fr. McDonnell. Miss May Galvin of Boston was bridesmaid and Mr. John Curran of Weymouth was best man. Mr. and Mrs. Curran will reside in Weymouth.

Birthday Party.

Miss Irma W. Douglas of Old Colony terrace was given a complete and pleasant surprise by a number of her friends on Wednesday evening, in honor of her 16th birthday. Miss Douglas had been invited to her friends, Mrs. William Loud for supper, and on returning home soon after eight o'clock, was astonished to find such a party awaiting her.

Miss Gertrude Sass, in a few well chosen words, presented Miss Douglas in behalf of those present, with a gold chain and locket engraved with her monogram. Miss Douglas thanked them all for their beautiful remembrance. She also received from her father and mother a gold pin with pearl setting. The color scheme of the decorations were pink and white, and in the centre of the table a cake with the dates 1890 1906 and candles were placed. Caterer William Adams served a collation of ice cream, cake, candy and fruit.

At the party were Misses Gertrude Sass, Erma Hodkins, Eleanor Roberts, Ruth Page, Angie Rose, Lena McDonald, Gladys Howe, Martina Thompson, Marion Smith, Hazel Jones, Bessie Lavery, Harriet Ruggles, Geraldine Scott, Beatrice Given, Messrs. Clarence Loud, Harold Ruggles, Myron Stebbens, Fred Davis, Guy Sass, Clifton Sass, Winfred Kittredge, Ruel Jefferson, Carl Clifford and Willard Wallace.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

W. T. Shea's Qualifications

Record in Business and Private Life Show Him Well Fitted for Mayoralty.

WILLIAM T. SHEA,
Democratic Candidate for Mayor.

In these closing hours of an exciting campaign, it is quite likely that the public may be asked to believe this or that statement concerning Mr. Shea without that gentleman having an opportunity to reply to the 11th-hour accusations. Unscrupulous politicians do not hesitate to stoop to this method and something of this nature was threatened in the last issue of the administration organ. It is well for the citizens of Quincy to remember then:

That William T. Shea is a life-long resident of Quincy.

That he is a successful business man who dispenses about $50,000 each year among Quincy workmen.

That he is mentally capable of filling the executive chair of the city, as is attested by his success in business, having begun in life as a poor boy and having reached a position of prominence by his own sheer worth.

That he has been a total abstainer from intoxicating drink all his life, having publicly recorded himself as a No-License advocate when he was 18 years old, long before Quincy began to vote on the question.

That he is a member of the advisory committee of the Citizens No-License League.

That he is a trustee of our Quincy City Hospital.

That he is a member of the Granite Manufacturers' Association, the Citizens' Association, and many organizations of a social nature in our city.

That his home is in Quincy and will continue to be.

That his business interests are in Quincy and will remain here so long as granite is in the hills of our city.

That he has served the city before in public office, both as a member of the City Council and a member of the Sewer Board, always with credit to himself and the citizens he represented.

Does any reasoning voter think that a man with such a record will be anything but an honest, upright, conscientious and efficient Mayor?

Is it probable that Mr. Shea will risk his own reputation as a citizen and businessman by committing any official act that would tend to lower him in the estimation of his fellow citizens?

The voters may rest assured that if Mr. Shea is elected Mayor he will appoint to office only such men as heads of departments as are capable and efficient, and who shall be held responsible for the conduct and well-being of their offices. The past year has witnessed too much of a policy that tries to escape responsibilty. Under Mr. Shea public officials will be appointed, first, with an aim to their ability to fill the office and, secondly, with the desire that there shall be no shirking of responsibilty when the citizens demand an accounting.

When you enter the booth tomorrow think these things over and cast your ballot for the man who has lived here nearly 50 years and, having lived here, is known and known most favorably; the man who is pledged to a No License administration by his own private life and convictions; the man against whom not one valid argument has been advanced in this campaign. THAT MAN IS

WILLIAM T. SHEA.

RESPONSIBILITY AND THE LAW

Facts Show Shortcomings of Administration in the High School Construction.

In an article in Tuesday's Advertiser, the official organ of City Hall, appears an item which attempts a feeble criticism of the High school advertisement.

There is no unfairness in the advertisement referred to. There is nothing in it but FACTS. If the writer of the Advertiser article who prates so much about "evidence" and "allegations," legal phrases which seem to fit the profession of the writer of the article to a nicety, wants the EVIDENCE badly, let him take a walk as far as the High School and inspect the building which was to have been finished at the opening of the school year on Sept. 10.

The advertisement does not imply that the Mayor "connived at or approved of the delay." The advertisement said, does say, and will continue to say, that the administration of Mayor Thompson was responsible for the delay. Any administration, be it Mayor Thompson's or any other Mayor, is and ought to be responsible for the shortcomings of its city government, the same as it is entitled to be credited with the honor of any meritorious effort accomplished by it. The writer of the Advertiser article "ought to have some regard for truth and fairness" himself before trying to twist some statement that hurts his political feelings.

But as to responsibility, the writer, by reading Title IV of the City Charter, our code of laws, will learn that "The executive powers of the city shall be vested SOLELY in the Mayor, and may be exercised by him, either personally or through the several officers and boards of the city in their departments, UNDER HIS GENERAL SUPERVISION AND CONTROL."

In Title VI of the same charter the writer will find that the Commissioner of Public Works "shall have cognizance, direction and control of the CONSTRUCTION, ALTERATION, REPAIR AND CARE OF PUBLIC BUILDINGS; except that the CARE of all school buildings shall remain under the control of the School Committee."

Those paragraphs of the City Charter were inserted to place responsibility, and now, the responsibility having been placed, the citizens are asked to believe that the High school problem has become a question of circumstances over which nobody had any control. It is all very well for the administration to tell the citizens that there is an indemnity clause in the contract; the administration has never yet said that an attempt will be made to collect any indemnity, and if such collection should be made it cannot pay for the discomfiture, suffering and ill health brought upon the pupils of the High school. B. B. B.

Mothers' Complaint.

To the Editor of the Ledger:

If mothers could vote there would be a housecleaning at City Hall that would be a lasting example to future chief executives not to disregard the rights of parents and pupils. I refer to the outrageous state of affairs in the High school construction, due to the inability of the Mayor to compel warring elements to cease their strife and insist on the carrying out of their contracts.

What are contracts for if they are not to be lived up to? Is there no indemnification for the taxpayers? But money payment cannot atone for the injury done to the children caused by the helter-skelter arrangement of school hours, and now we are told that the delay of opening the building will be continued.

Under normal conditions our children would be safely at home early in the afternoon, but under the present schedule we do not see them until long after dark. Then when they reach home they are too tired to play, study or anything else, and such a condition of mind causes anxiety in more than one home.

It shows that the children are not deriving the benefit which they should; that our money is being wasted, and I call upon every wife to induce her husband to rebuke those who are responsible for the existing evil.

Mother.

Police Court Incident.

Editor of the Ledger:

Public officials are supposed to set a good example for the rest of the citizens of our town. If then, when wrongdoers have been fined heavily by the court for assaulting police officers, the appointed guardians of the law, and a public official comes from City Hall to pay the fine imposed by the court, is that an invitation for all citizens to go out and assault the members of our police force?

Dignity in official life begins at home and for the past two years there has been a sad neglect of this in certain quarters. An official of the court house told me the above incident occurred in our district court; that the officer had been brutally beaten and kicked, his helmet was smashed, his club taken from him to beat him with, and his revolver forced from his possession.

I have no doubt the city official in question just lent the fine money temporarily, but the principle was wrong, all wrong, and if our public officials go hand in hand with this kind of people, the the rest of the citizens want to shoo-fly. Law and Order.

William T. Shea Makes Clear

His Position on Trolley Express.

Would Refuse to Approve Franchise if People's Rights Were Neglected.

To the Citizens of Quincy:

So many misleading statements have been circulated concerning my position in the trolley express matter that I take this opportunity of informing you of my views concerning the same.

I believe that a trolley express between Quincy and Boston would be of decided advantage to our local merchants and the people of Quincy. Not only would it bring about an improvement over the present service and ensure the people prompter and more frequent deliveries of express packages, but it would also result in materially reducing the present prices.

The local express concerns would not be injured by granting such a franchise because the railway company on accepting it would become a common carrier of express packages, and would be obliged to transport and deliver to some central point in Quincy express matter for all local concerns that may wish to avail themselves of its service, thus enabling them to do away with their heavy trucking and long trips, and by employing light delivery wagons they could quickly distribute their customers' goods at a material saving to themselves. Such a change would result in great saving to the city by decreasing the present heavy teaming over its streets.

On the other hand it is not to be forgotten that the franchise the railway company is seeking is a very valuable one and that it now belongs to the people.

If I am elected Mayor, and an order granting such a franchise comes before me for official action, I pledge myself before approving the same to take every reasonable and proper precaution to see to it that all the rights of the city and its citizens connected therewith are properly safeguarded and that proper agreements and stipulations to that end are entered into by the company before the franchise goes into effect, otherwise I should refuse to approve the order.

CUBAN CONGRESS

Members Who Were Elected In 1895 Are to Be Ousted

DECREE OF ROOSEVELT

Salaries to Be Paid to Oct. 12, the Date Fixed by Peace Commission--Riveria Predicts a New Insurrection as a Result

Havana, Dec. 3.—"By a decree to be issued soon under specific authority of the President of the United States, the seats of all members of the second series of the Cuban congress elected in 1905 will be declared vacant."

This was the announcement made by Governor Magoon to 25 senators and members of the house of representatives whom he had invited to attend a conference at the palace. After reviewing all the facts developed by the peace commission sent to Cuba by President Roosevelt in response to President Palma's appeal for intervention, and with special reference to the negotiations relating to the status and final disposition of the Cuban congress, Magoon called the attention of the members to the fact that the determination as to the status of the congress had been reserved by the peace commission for consideration at Washington.

He then communicated to them the final determination of President Roosevelt that the seats of all senators and representatives elected in 1905 shall be considered vacant from Oct. 12, 1906, the vacancies thereby created being filled by an election under the provisional government in accordance with the proclamation of Governor Taft Sept. 29.

The first series of senators and representatives elected in 1904 will be continued in office if moral peace, tranquility and public confidence be restored to such an extent that an election for the vacated seats may be held during 1907, and there may be at the same time an election of the successors of representatives whose terms expire Dec. 31, 1907, without shortening these terms, thus avoiding the necessity for two elections. The salaries of the ousted members will be paid to Oct. 12, the date fixed by the peace commission.

Governor Magoon explained to the members of congress that he considered it only fair and courteous to submit to them the terms of the decree prior to its formal promulgation so that they might decide what attitude they desired to assume. After all the facts had been placed before them, Senators Dolz and Tamayo, on behalf of their colleagues, expressed their appreciation of the courtesy, and the conference then adjourned.

The decree will not declare the last election to have been illegal, but will say that it is annulled in accordance with the terms of compromise arranged by the peace commission under which the rebels were induced to lay down their arms.

After the conference former Minister of the Treasury Sterling, Senator Dolz and other Moderates expressed strong dissatisfaction with the terms of the decree, which they declared was unfair, but said they recognized the futility of any protest..

General Riveira, ex-secretary of the interior, said last night that he realized the decree merely carried out an obligation of interest to the peace commissions, but he greatly deplored it, believing its effects would be disastrous. He said he was firm in the belief that the only means of establishing peaceful conditions consist in the election of an entirely new congress, whereas the proposed election, which would result in turning over the government to Liberal control, would surely result in a new insurrection the moment the American troops were withdrawn from the island..

The fact was, said Riveria, that the United States had ignored this, which was patent to all Cubans, and pointed irresistibly to the conclusion that if the United States withdrew it would be with the full recognition of the necessity for a speedy return and the consequent extinction of Cuban independence.

To Investigate Southern Wreck

Washington, Dec. 3.—The Southern railway will conduct an investigation at its general offices here Wednesday to fix the responsibility for last Thursday's wreck near Lynchburg, Va., in which President Spencer lost his life. Operator Mattox, who has been blamed for the wreck, has promised to be here and the employes at Rangoon and Lawyers, the two ends of the block in which the wreck occurred, have been ordered here.

Schooner Long Overdue

Boston, Dec. 3.—Shipping interests are becoming anxious over the long voyage of schooner William Nottingham, which sailed from Port Townsend for this port with a large cargo of Oregon spars five months ago. The Nottingham was spoken in the north Pacific on July 24, but since then she has not been reported. She had a crew of 11 men on board when she sailed.

Burned to Death In His Home

Brattleboro, Vt., Dec. 3.—George Waterhouse, 65 years of age, a veteran of the Civil war, was burned to death early this morning in a fire which totally destroyed his house. The cause of the fire is unknown. Waterhouse lived alone, having separated from his wife some years ago.

ROOSEVELT IN PANAMA

The President as a Traveler Saw Him.

GREETED ROYALLY EVERYWHERE

Never Was Such Joy Seen on the Isthmus—Natives and Others Went Wild With Excitement—Introduced Himself on Landing as "Mr. Roosevelt of Washington," Says a Panama Railroad Employee.

When the steamer Allianca of the Panama Railroad line arrived at New York recently there was a rush aboard to get first hand news of the president's visit to Panama and photographs thereof.

The Allianca sailed two hours before the president left Colon, which is the other half of Cristobal. When the liner was about twelve nours out the following wireless message was received from the chief executive, who was then on his way to Ponce:

To the Captain, Passengers and Crew of the Panama Railroad Steamship Allianca, at Sea:
My congratulations on the good work you are doing.
THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

Among the passengers arriving on the steamer was S. Leveson-Gower Sutherland, timekeeper of the Panama Railroad company. He is on a vacation. He told a New York Times reporter a few of the things which are not usually reported over the cable about the president's visit to Panama.

"The president's visit," said Mr. Sutherland, "has aroused the enthusiasm of the men employed in the Panama canal. The chief executive found fault severely, but for the most part he seemed proud of the work which had been accomplished in the colony of which we concede him to be the genesis.

"There were, however, many bad breaks in the matter of conventionality. These could not but be expected in a colony where men are working and not holding drawing rooms, and the president came ashore from the Louisiana obviously with that in mind.

"For example, Mr. Roosevelt arrived about eighteen hours ahead of time. He was too considerate to come ashore, especially as it was raining as only Colon can rain. He sent for the reporters, however, and they came on board eagerly enough. They were representatives of the Colon Starlet (the Colon edition of the Panama Star and Herald), the Colon Independent and the Colon Telegram. The president had a long chat with them about local conditions.

"Next morning he got into the tender and came ashore. It was still raining. As a matter of fact, it rained most of the time while he was on the isthmus. The local weather prophets said it was the heaviest rainfall in twenty years. But that didn't bother the president. He wore a mackintosh and, like Professor Blackie, said he 'walked the world a rain tight fellow.'

"When the president landed at Cristobal there was nobody to speak of to meet him. It didn't feaze the president any. He walked up to the nearest man, introduced himself as 'Mr. Roosevelt of Washington' and, while the rain pelted down, kept on asking questions about local conditions.

"By and by W. G. Tubby, chief of division and supplies at Cristobal, came along with his staff and the reception was complete. President Roosevelt had arrived and was about to see things. Later the other high officials of the canal commission came along.

"Only half an hour was wasted. The order had been given the moment the Louisiana arrived for the special train to be in readiness at Cristobal. At 8 a. m. the train started with President Roosevelt, Mrs. Roosevelt, Chairman of the Canal Commission T. P. Shonts, Chief Engineer Stevens, Colonel Gorgas of yellow fever fame, Captain George R. Shanton of the canal zone police and others aboard.

"A straight run was made to La Boca, where they arrived at 10:35 a. m. The intention of the Panama railroad had been to have the whole system double tracked by the time the president arrived. Unfortunately this wanted a few miles of completion, with the result that during the three days in which the president was on the isthmus passenger traffic was tied up along the line while his train passed to and from the various points of canal interest. The engineer of the train bearing the president during his entire stay was J. W. Dean, and proud he was of his job. Not a hitch occurred to mar his glory.

"After the tour of Panama bay, which has already been described in the cable dispatches, the president returned to the Tivoli hotel. The same day he rendered a historic service to a bridge which had already some history attached to it. The Caledonia bridge, at the foot of Ancon hill, was the point at which a president of the United States first crossed into foreign soil. The bridge has already been the scene of many bloody battles in the country's revolutionary troubles.

"The city of Panama was a sight created for a king. Its old Spanish churches, hostelries and dwellings were festooned with flags, flowers and humanity. People were black on the roofs to see the president pass. The Panamans, I might say, worshiped him and hated him in the same breath. The West Indians would have been willing to kiss his big toe, while the Americans from the zone were loyal to their chief.

"Probably the Cathedral plaza never saw such a sight before. The pageant loving Spaniards and half Spaniards went wild with excitement. The only reason there was no bullfight in the Plaza Hererra was because no one would attend one. There were processions galore, school children, societies, citizens in rough rider costumes on horseback and, of course, the teeming mob. President Roosevelt and President Amador shook hands [illegible] of the mass, and that was needed for a climax.

"After a dinner [illegible] the president of Panama [illegible] of the United States [illegible] to the Tivoli, whence he started early on Friday, Nov. 16, on a tour of the canal zone. All along the line he was greeted with the same enthusiasm as in the city of Panama, although on a much smaller scale. He went through Culebra, got out of the train, talked with the men, telling them how things ought to be done, what he thought was good about the way they were doing things and what he thought was bad. He operated steam shovels and was voted a thoroughly good fellow. He left the cut amid cheers.

"At his next stop, Empire, the president got out of the train and looked over the employees' quarters. When he had finished he expressed dissatisfaction with the condition of the single men's quarters, asking what had become of all the fine furniture which had been shipped to the isthmus for these men."

It is understood that this furniture is in the hands of the department of labor and quarters and that it is being doled out very cautiously. The president, it is said, thought it was hardly necessary to be so economical when the men lived in such quarters.

"At this point," said Mr. Sutherland, "representations were made by different employees in personal talks with the executive with regard to their passage home. They said that when sickness or other causes compelled a trip home they were sent second class on the Panama railroad steamships, while their contracts called for first class passages. In his farewell speech at Cristobal the president said that this would be rectified, because upon the environment of the men at work on the canal zone depended the success of the venture.

"The president's next stop was Gatun. Here he saw the lake under strange conditions, it being much swollen by the rains. He was surprised to find that a township called Gatun had sprung up since the announcement that the dam would be built there.

"The president again returned to Tivoli, but on Saturday morning (Nov. 17) he ran right through to Cristobal, off which the Louisiana was making steam. All along the line, in spite of the inclement weather, the president was greeted right royally. The employees of the zone came out to lend a throat in the cheers, and the children of the zone appeared with banners upon which was emblazoned:

CANAL ZONE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

"These schools, twenty-three in number, are under the directorship of Colonel Tom Cooke, a civil war veteran.

"Even after his arrival at Cristobal the president was not satisfied to take half an hour's rest. Horses were called into requisition, and down Front street, Colon, out of the zone and back into Panama territory thundered a group of horsemen at full gallop. Alongside President Roosevelt, who led the band, was Captain Shanton, who was a lieutenant with Colonel Roosevelt in the Rough Riders.

"Colon had had its main street paved. It had had it paved for Secretary Root, but in slipshod fashion. As soon as Mr. Root had gone it had been torn up, to be completed properly before the president came. Every other shop there is a gin mill. The roofs of all were lined with men, women and children, all shrieking themselves hoarse with enthusiasm.

"The president wore white drill, with canvas leggings, and rode a bright bay, with a Mexican saddle. He and his party galloped down Front street, dashed across Fifth street, down Bottle alley, along Beach road and past the Garfield House, before which stands the fine monument to the founders of the Panama railroad—Clay, Alexander and Dupey.

"He visited the Colon hospitals, then the Panama railroad offices and that evening was the guest of W. G. Bird, general manager of the road, who was once assistant general manager of the Rock Island system. Later there was a reception by the Americans on the isthmus at dock 11, Cristobal, and here in a speech the president said:

"'I have seen some good work, and I have seen some bad. The good will be rewarded and continued; the bad will be rectified or stopped.'"

Then the president was whisked off to the tender, and at 11 o'clock at night the Louisiana steamed out of Limon bay for Ponce.

No "Freak" Dinner, but a Surprise.

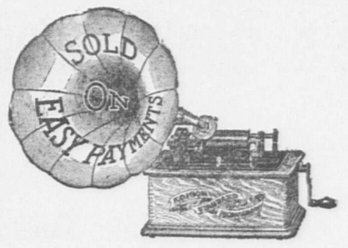

As all possible ideas for freak dinners seem to have been exhausted we are likely to hear of fewer attempts along that line, but a dinner in London a few nights ago had one element of novelty that might excuse the classing of it under that head, though there were no monkeys at table or any other bizarre doings, says a correspondent of the New York Press. The dinner was given in one of the great hotels. The host in sending out his invitations did not let any guest know the names of the others. A group of thirty was marshaled into one of the banquet rooms. When they were seated the sliding doors that formed one complete wall were slid back. Lo, a second dinner party was revealed! Its members had been victims of the host's pleasant fooling, just as the first group had been.

A SOCIETY OF WIDOWS

Chicago Women Unite to Resist Men's Wiles.

COLD SHOULDER FOR TRIFLERS.

Cupid Not to Be Discouraged, but Whirlwind Marriage Panic Will Be Prevented—Adamless Eden to Be Started on Community Plan—Grass Widows and Divorcees Barred. Children Will Be Welcomed.

The widows of Chicago, or, rather, a progressive portion of them, have organized to protect themselves from married men, trifiers and the economic stress due to living the artificial life, says a Chicago dispatch. An application for a charter for the Widows' association has been made.

The object of the association is to provide a sort of a community home for widows, where they can have more freedom than in hotels and boarding houses and more congenial company than they can have in their flats or homes. As many of the widows have children, widows with children will be welcome in the home. Because of the "little encumbrances" they now find themselves boycotted by hotels and flinty landlords. This is one of the crying evils that the association is to remove.

Only real widows are eligible to membership in the organization. Divorcees and grass widows are barred. The candidate for membership, be she young and pretty or old and plain, must produce evidence that "he" is dead for keeps. A death certificate may be required by the bylaws.

The widows have discovered that married men consider widows their prey. The rules governing the home will seek to prevent men from sailing under false colors. No married men will be allowed to make sentimental calls on widows, but married men friends may call if accompanied by their wives.

There is a class of unmarried men whom the widows put down as trifiers who will not be welcome in the home. Experienced widows can always tell a trifler, but real young widows are pie for him. The organization is intended to assist all members, and the experienced widow will see to it that the young and inexperienced are not fooled by the different species of male.

Mrs. Emelia Tenny of 365 Lasalle avenue is president of the Widows' association, Mrs. Emma Field of 1006 North Kedzie avenue is vice president, and Mrs. Emma Wassergard of 1225 Wabansia avenue is the secretary. There are fifty other widows in the combination. The majority of them are under thirty-five. While they will not discourage Cupid, they will see that there is no whirlwind marriage panic.

The moment a member marries she ceases to be a member. The social side of the home will be a special feature. There will be an assembly room for entertainments, reception room, a ballroom, library, play rooms and grounds for the children and everything that modern conditions require in the way of convenience and sanitary regulations.

The money to build will be subscribed by rich widows who have the betterment of their sisters at heart. There will be an initiation fee of $5, but the community of interest plan to pay expenses has not yet been adopted.

"We want the organization to mean something,'" said Mrs. Tenny. "I was left a widow with three children, and I found myself boycotted on every side because of my children. It required a hard struggle outside of the money side of the question to educate them. We propose to have widows educate their children where they will be surrounded by the best influences.

"The members may work outside or inside the home, and there will be a fine nursery where children will be given every attention. Thousands of widows could now earn good livings for themselves if they could only find a place where their children could be properly cared for while they were at work."

Great Boom on In Japan.

In the three largest industrial centers of Japan—Tokyo, Yokohama and Osaka—new industrial companies and franchise using corporations having an aggregate capitalization of 750,000,000 yen, or approximately $375,000,000, have been started since the ceasing of hostilities, writes Henry George in the New York World. Much of this may—probably will—prove to be "wildcat" enterprise and stock jobbing and overconfident inflation and will break like bubbles, but the fact that bad and good companies making such a total can be floated in a country where all productions save rice, silk and tea have been on a small scale proves the great buoyancy of the public mind at this time, while a general rise in wages proves the relatively increased opportunities for employment. Thus a great boom is now on in Japan. Her rice crop this year promises to be very large, her large tea exports are augmenting, while she cannot meet the demands for her silks.

His Only Song.

"Come in here, my honey,
An' I'll sing ter you a song."
An' den he tell me, "Sing de one
'Bout Chris'mus comin' 'long."
'Pears lak' dat's ever'thing dey know—
De chillun love de Chris'mus so!

No matter what I tell 'im,
He say I talkin' wrong;
He tell me now how come an 'how
I sing de Chris'mus song?
An' dat's des all dey wants ter know—
De chillun love de Chris'mus so!

REAL MUCK RAKERS

Declared to Be Certain Pleasure Seekers and Politicians

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 3.—Rev. Henry Van Dyke D. D., of Princeton university, in his sermon at Appleton chapel at Harvard university last evening, dwelt upon the "Muck Raker." He said:

"You are the muck raker, you pleasure seeker, fixing your desires upon sensual ease and luxury, racing to and fro in your costly chase after some new excitement, measuring everything unconsciously by its power to minister to your personal gratification and thinking yourself fortunate according to the quantity of husks, clean or dirty, that you have gathered into your trough.

"You are the muck raker, you lover of place and power, clutching at every petty distinction and paltry office that comes your way, making yourself the most servile kind of a fellow in order to be called a leader, letting yourself be used by everybody for fear that somebody may turn you out. Spending infinite pains to build a platform of dry sticks a little higher, not that you may look up at the stars, but that you may look down upon the rest of the world."

Lay Dead Alone For a Month

Monponsett, Mass., Dec. 3.—Davis W. Coolidge, aged 65, for many years a wholesale flour merchant and prominent Democratic politician of Portland, Me., was found dead here at his home on the old Sturtevant estate, which he purchased eight years ago. Coolidge died alone and uncared for, in spite of the fact that he was a man of means and had many influential friends. He disappeared about a month ago and it was on account of his prominence that the townspeople here refrained from making investigations which, they feared, would be resented. His body lay neglected for a month. The face had been bitten by rats. Coolidge probably died from heart failure.

John Hay's Memory Honored.

Philadelphia, Dec. 3.—Lauded as a diplomat who tempered statecraft with the golden rule, the late John Hay was honored by the Jewish people of this city when a handsome memorial window to him was unveiled at Keneseth Israel temple. Attended by Secretary of State Root and other notables, together with six members of the Hay family, the exercises were among the most striking ever held in a Jewish synagogue.

Three Negroes Fatally Shot

Jacksonville, Fla., Dec. 3.—Seven negroes shot, three of whom will die, is the result of a general row and shooting affray growing out of an old feud near this city. Seven negroes, charged with doing the shooting, have been arrested and are in jail here. The climax came through one negro striking another with a fence picket. Friends of each armed themselves and the war began.

Pope May Go Traveling

Rome, Dec. 3.—The state railroad department has received orders to reconstruct the pope's railroad carriage. This car has not been used since 1870. It is a special carriage with gilded angels at the four corners. Inside there is a portable altar, and the upholsterings are of white velvet. People are wondering if it means that the pope is about to leave the Vatican.

Yale Effigy at Harvard

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 3.—An effigy, with a Yale flag grasped in the hand, was discovered yesterday, dangling from a telegraph wire on Massachusetts avenue opposite Harvard university yard. A red handkerchief was tied about the neck. The effigy withstood a heavy gale during the afternoon and swung from the wire all night.

"Took Panamans by Storm"

New York, Dec. 3.—"President Roosevelt took the Panamans by storm," said Chairman Shonts of the Panama canal commission, who arrived here from Colon. Shonts spoke enthusiastically of the recent visit of the chief executive and declared that work on the canal was progressing under satisfactory conditions.

Lynching Not Unlikely

Valley Park, Miss., Dec. 3.—A. F. Middah, a prominent real estate man of Chicago, was shot and instantly killed by Wes Young, a negro. It is believed Young intended to kill W. G. Grubbs, who was accompanying Middah. Young escaped and is being followed by a mob, determined to lynch him.

Terrorists Fighting Each Other

Warsaw, Dec. 3.—There has come a formal split in the Polish Socialistic party, which has been a most active terrorist agency. A majority of the party has joined the peaceful socialists. The two divisions are now engaged in fighting each other with energy.

New Chwang Under Chinese Rule

Tokio, Dec. 3.—The transferrence of the administration of New Chwang by the Japanese to China was completed yesterday. New Chwang has been administered by Japan since the close of the Russo-Japanese war.

FIVE WRECK VICTIMS

Woman Suffered Awful Agony In Disaster In Vermont

Burlington, Vt., Dec. 3.—The death list of the Vergennes disaster has been increased to five, while three more lie at the point of death at the Mary Fletcher hospital. The two people yesterday added to the death list are an unknown woman and child.

This woman and child occupied a seat to the rear of the three Bristol women who lost their lives. Of the woman no trace has been found, and of the child only a charred foot was found in the ruins yesterday.

The disaster occurred when a heavily loaded gravel train, moving swiftly down grade, crashed into a passenger train from the rear. Flames quickly broke out in the wreckage. The cause of the accident was not determined.

The known dead are Mrs. W. A. Lawrence, 45 years old, of Bristol, Vt.; Miss Corinna Stowe, 25, of Bristol, a school teacher, and Mrs. Nellie Barnard, 45, of Bristol, a widow.

One of the saddest incidents of the affair was the death of Mrs. Lawrence, wife of Deputy Sheriff Lawrence. Today Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence were to leave New England for a winter in California, and Mrs. Lawrence was on her way to this city to make a deposit of $1500 in a local bank and to do some shopping preparatory to her trip.

When the crash came she was hurled through the wreckage, but one foot was pinned under the car just where the fierce fire started.

Above the din of the raging fire the woman could be heard to yell, "I am not injured; my foot is caught. For God's sake help me! For God's sake help me!" While half a dozen strong men stood appalled by the horror and held at bay by the terrific heat, the woman perished before their very eyes.

Lucky to Escape Alive

North Adams, Mass., Dec. 3.—Picked up by the cowcatcher of a locomotive while he was walking on the railroad track just east of Williamstown, Richard Edwards, aged 75, rode five miles clinging to the front of the engine. Pressed against the front of the locomotive by the air resistance, Edwards was nearly breathless and benumbed by cold when the train came to a standstill here, but he managed to step down and refused assistance from the astonished trainhands. His only injury was a slight cut on one leg.

Brake Beam Broke

Exeter, N. H., Dec. 3.—The slowing down of an express train from Portland for Boston for a stop at the local depot prevented what might have been a terrible wreck, for the forward brake beam on the first car broke, throwing the car off the track, but sending the balance of the train, with the exception of the engine, onto a siding. Two tramps who were riding on the front platform of the baggage car were hurled into a ditch beside the track and one of them died yesterday. The track for 200 yards was ripped up.

Woman Returned to Asylum

Westboro, Mass., Dec. 3.—Mrs. Charles Stewart, recently released from the state insane asylum here and who wandered away from her home in Milford Saturday, after attempting to set fire to her house and assaulting her husband, appeared early Sunday at the Grafton almshouse, 14 miles from her home, very much exhausted, having suffered greatly from the cold during the night. She was brought back to the asylum yesterday afternoon for further treatment.

Farmer Seriously Assaulted

New Haven, Dec. 3.—Joseph Corsono, a farmer of Woodbridge, was found lying in a pool of blood in the street early Sunday with a four-inch gash in his scalp, his skull fractured and a slight cut in the back. The police are looking for Joseph Presta, who is alleged to have been Corsono's assailant. Corsono visited Presta at the latter's boarding house here Saturday night. Both had been drinking during the night, it is said, and quarreled.

To Deliver Mail on Sundays

Malden, Mass., Dec. 3.—The consent of Postmaster General Cortelyou has been received to the establishment of a Sunday postal delivery under the conditions that persons receiving their mail shall pay 10 cents for the accommodation. Persons desiring such delivery will be obliged to notify the local postoffice. The plan will be tried as soon as 100 residents sign an agreement to take the service.

Harvard Athletic Finances

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 3.—The annual report of the graduate treasurer of Harvard athletics for the year 1906 shows a profit from all sources of $27,816.12. The football receipts during the past season amounted to $85,335.66, while the expenses of that department of sport were $29,627.87. Baseball showed a profit of $1500, but in nearly all other sports there was a deficit.

Worsted Twisters on Strike

Bristol, R. I., Dec. 3.—Thirty employes of the twisting room of the Cranston worsted mill are out on a strike. Recently larger pulleys than were formerly used have been installed to run several of the twisting frames and the new arrangement causes the frames to turn much faster. Several of the employes claim that they were unable to carry on the work.

Killed by the Cold

Lynn, Mass., Dec. 3.—The body of John Francis, a shoemaker, 60 years of age, who boarded with Hugh Spencer, was found by Spencer Sunday morning, lying in the yard near his house, death having been caused by exposure to the severe cold of Saturday night.

HOT SHOT

At City Council And City Charter At Music Hall No-License Meeting

From every point of view, the grand union meeting for No-License held in Quincy Music hall on Sunday evening was the best for years. The audience filled every seat and many stood, the instrumental and vocal music was a big card, while the speakers were enthusiastic, interesting and convincing.

The hall was festooned with bunting, and decorated with flags, plants, flowers and posters. Over the platform in large letters was the motto—"This is not the cause of faction, nor of party, nor of any individual, but the cause of mankind."

The doors opened at 6.45, and while the audience was gathering an orchestra under the direction of Mr. Noyes rendered good music.

On the platform besides the speakers were the following representative citizens: Mayor Thompson, Candidate Shea, Candidate Axberg, Henry M. Faxon, Rev. Edward Norton, Rev. A. R. Atwood, Charles H. Johnson, Frank E. Parlin, Henry L. Kincaide, D. E. Wadsworth, Thomas Lacy, Alexander Falconer, Councilman McGilvray, ex-Mayor Hall, John R. Richards, L. F. Crowell, E. G. Gay, Dr. C. T. Sherman, and Frank F. Prescott.

After music by the orchestra and the quartet, President Sidelinger thanked the audience for turning out in such large nuubers. He hoped more voters would go to the polls, and that a smaller number would dodge the License question. The No majority should be increased. He said the Mayoralty candidates, by their presence on the platform, endorsed the movement. They would give their views in the Daily Ledger of Monday.

Col. Edward Anderson paid a tribute to the late Henry H. Faxon, and complimented the police. He told reminiseences of John Gough, and was surprised at the indifference of some people. There was need of work not prayers.

J. A. Sedgwick, the treasurer of the Fore River Shipbuilding Co., told why the city could not afford to have saloons and why they were an injury to business men. He criticised the granting of so many express licenses, and wanted to see the laws enforced.

Theophilus King took for his text "No and On." All like to get on in the world, and the way for the city to get on was to vote No. The way for men to get on, is by banishing liquor. He gave examples of downfalls, and urged all to vote No.

The Orpheus Male Quartette rendered selections between the addresses and while the offering was being taken. One of the numbers was entitled "No License forever," sang to the tune of "Rally round the flag." It was encored. Another pleasing selection was "Where is my wandering boy tonight?"

Rev. A. F. Roche was the closing speaker, and spoke plainly. He feared the No-License majority might be reduced because the City Council had granted so many express licenses. Is there any man of sense who believes 30 necessary? But there were 23 members of the Council and perhaps the number is significant. By 2000 majority we say licenses shall not be granted, but they grant 30 to expressmen. The Council should be made to understand that they are servants of the people, not lords of the city. One-third of 30 was enough.

Again, our City Charter is a menace. Relative to approval of plans by the School Committee, he said no one should be elected to the School Committee until he understood plans. He would have Mayor chairman of School Committee to overcome friction.

Relative to department officials, he favored a board of three Commissioners elected by the people, to the present system. A man was worth $5,000 who could fill the bill of Commissioner of Public Works as now constituted.

The Chief of Police was doing a wells as he could under the circumtances, but if he conld be independent. If his reappointment did not depend on the reelection of the Mayor, but was permanent, or he was responsible to the people only for his acts, he would enforce the laws better.

These changes would also free the Mayor, who has trouble enough of his own. This Mayor is a gentleman from the ground up. The same is true of Candidate Shea.

No-License was the most important question which came before the city. Woe to him who by voting Yes puts temptation in the way of others.

With the singing of "America" led by the quartet the meeting closed.

No Assistance Asked or Received

Editors of Quincy Daily Ledger:

In your issue of December 1, 1906, an anonymous article appeared under the scare head "Much Assistance required by City Solicitor in his department."

A more false and malicious statemen it would seem hard to conceive. As the article in question appeared on the first page of your paper, the space in which I am informed has been purchased in the interest of William T. Shea, the Democratic candidate for Mayor, it is a fair inference that the article if not from the pen of Mr. Shea is there at least with his sanction.

As the article is used for campaign purposes, were it not for the fact that my professional reputation is attacked, it might well pass unnoticed.

The writer quotes certain abstracts from the City Ordinances which he refers to as the City Charter, and certain items of charge from the City Report of 1905.

He states first that George E. Adams was paid for legal services items of $45, $305, $25, and $92.50, and then says "the above are only two instances of how the citizens' money has been dispensed to pay political favors."

Now what are the facts?

Two items, $45 and $305 were items from the financial report of the Police department and were paid for services rendered in the prosecution of liquor cases. The prosecution of liquor cases is not and never has been a part of the duties of the City Solicitor, and has been so decided by all my predecessors. A fair reading of the City Ordinances and the use of a little ordinary common sense will show this.

The item of $25 is one from the report of the Board of Assessors, for services authorized by that department and of which I had no knowledge, and consequently could not control, and moreover is for services not included within the definition of the duties of the City Solicitor as ses forth in the ordinance relating tnereto. This service has for several years been performed for the assessors by one of our respected citizens who felt he could no longer give his time to it and the matter was turned over to Mr. Adams by the assessors at the same rate of compensation as had been previously paid.

The last item of $92.50 is for services rendered to the Board of Health, and authorized by them as set forth in the financial report of that department.

As additional proof that the prosecution of criminal cases is not part of the duties of the City Solicitor, and has been so construed by my predecessors, I refer the writer to the City Report for the year 1904, the year prior to my assuming office. On pages 104, 105 and 107 of that report, being a part of the financial report of the Police Department, are the following items:

W. Jenness, legal services, $15.
W. G. A. Pattee, legal services, $5.
J. W. McAnarney, legal services, $131.

And again on page 97 of that report is an item:

Story & Thorndike, legal services, $25.

I call attention to the following paragraph from the report of Mr. Blackmur, the City Solicitor for the year 1904, in commenting on the suit of John Sheehan vs. City of Quincy as follows, "Before I came into the suit, the Sewerage Commission had authorized the employment of Henry F. Hurlburt, one of the leaders of the Essex County bar, to assist counsel for the city in the trial of this case."

This case was on trial before I assumed office and Mr. Hurlburt received for his services the sum of $1,601.07.

In the year 1900 over $750, in addition to the salary of the City Solicitor, was paid by the city for legal services.

In the year 1901 the sum of $247.50 was expended for legal services in addition to the salary paid the Solicitor. I wish it distinctly understood that I am in no manner reflecting upon my predecessors, but when a garbled and misleading statement and article are publishing attacking my department I feel in duty bound to place the true facts before the public.

The only appropriation excepting for the law library against which the Solicitor can make a charge, and then only with the joint approval of the Mayor, is the appropriation for City Miscellaneous.

I challenge the writer of the article or any other person to show one item bearing my approval for services rendered the city by any attorney.

I will further state that I have never incurred a debt against the city for legal services other than my salary since I have been City Solicitor. In the preparation and trial of my cases I have not employed any associate counsel, neither have I called upon others to aid me in the preparing of legal opinions.

Further, I will state that during the past year I have repeatedly appeared as counsel for the Police department in the prosecution of illegal liquor traffic, and I challenge any person to show where I have made an added charge on that account. These services have been rendered gratuitously and in addition to the duties of my office.

It would seem that in the mad scramble for political preferment, the bounds of common decency and truthfulness could be more closely adhered to by some who rush into the public print.

In conclusion, I challenge any one to show one instance where I have been lax or failed in the preformance of my duties.

Yours respectfully,
William R. Thomas,
City Solicitor.

George E. Adams, Esq., has written a similar letter which will appear tomorrow.—Eds.

What is Mr. Shea's Platform?

Editors of Daily Ledger:

In view of the attitude of denunciation of the present administration taken by Mr. Shea and his press agents through the columns of the Daily Ledger, the first page of which is bought up in the interests of Mr. Shea, would it not be well to hear from Mr. Shea as to his attitude on municipal affairs if elected Mayor?

1. Why are not Mr. Shea's friends men enough to stand in the light with signatures to their articles? Is material so scant that vilification and abuse of public officials is all his campaign bureau have to work on? If the conduct of municipal affairs by the present administration is unsatisfactory why not specify in what particular and what are Mr. Shea's remedies?

2. What is Mr. Shea's platform? Has he one? How does he stand on the trolley freight question?

3. Is Mr. Shea in the business of manufacturing water meters or is he the authorized representative of a water meter concern?

Yet it is a known fact that Mr. Shea called upon Commissioner Burke in the interest of a certain water meter, which was not adopted.

Is this the reason of Mr. Shea's hostility to the present incumbent?

Be fair Mr. Shea and let the public known how you stand on these questions.

One who believes in a Square deal.

Man Burned At Morning Fire

Two bell and one still alarm kept the firemen on the jump early this morning. Two of the fires were for grass, and the third for a house in which, Charles Peterson, aged about 40 years and unmarried, was burned to death.

It was 2.30 when in response to a telephone alarm, the relief wagon of the Central station was sent to extinguish a grass fire on Gilmore street near the street railway car barn, that was getting dangerously close to houses.

At 5.30 the grass fire was again burning briskly and some one pulled box 123. This is a danger box, and brought the central and Wollaston station apparatus. In both cases the fires were undoubtedly set.

While box 123 was sounding Oscar Djerf stood at box 441 waiting to pull it in for a fire on Nelson street owned and occupied by John Sonnablakti. Charles Peterson an employe of the Water department occupied one room.

Coming so close to Box 123 it acted as a second alarm, and in addition to the West Quincy apparatus it called out Quincy Point and Atlantic, so that there were enough to cope with the blaze.

The fire was in the room of Peterson, and when the occupants burst open the door they found him lying in the bed enveloped in flames. Just how the fire started is not known, but it is supposed that he fell asleep while smoking in bed and his pipe caused the fire.

The fire was confined to the bed which was ruined.

Vote for the Republican Candidate for Mayor

JAMES THOMPSON

At the Republican Caucus held on November 13th I was again named as the candidate for Mayor. I wish to thank the citizens for their continued confidence and to state that if again elected I shall give my best efforts to meet the requirements of the office.

I wish to caution the public against the many rumors and denials of rumors now being circulated, for they have no sanction of mine. I have always been ready and willing to listen to the advice and suggestions of the citizens of Quincy and shall continue to invite the expression of public opinion and honest criticism by the citizens in the administration of our municipal affairs to the end that the public good may be best served and promoted.

JAMES THOMPSON.

We, the undersigned, citizens and taxpayers of the city of Quincy, endorse the candidacy of JAMES THOMPSON, the Republican nominee for Mayor at the City Election to be held on TUESDAY, Dec. 4th, believing the best interests of the city will be advanced by his election:

In What Meter is Mr. Shea Interested

In your last two issues, under the caption of "Promise vs Performance"—a political advertisement with a Boston Tammany flavor, by William T. Shea—it was asked if Mayor Thompson did not break faith with the people when he appointed me to office.

I had assumed specific and grave charges with a statement of facts, would have been made in support of the claimed violation of faith.

In answer to his innuendoes relative to my using the employees and teams of my department on the last election day, will say I presume the employees in my department voted as they always have, or not, as they personally elected. But as to how they voted under the Australian ballot, I cannot inform the gentleman.

The city teams in my department (with the exception of a buggy, which is my own private property), consist of double and single tip-carts minus cushioned seats. They carried no voters to the polls except in the vivid imagination of my friend, who is grasping at a vanishing will-of-the-wisp.

With regard to these drivers and voters having been paid: As our Democratic friend has been into the Treasurer's office requesting information, why does he not take the public into his confidence and tell what he learned? It is fair to assume, if anything had been wrong, another page of the Daily Ledger would have been paid for by our Democratic friend to inform the public.

In closing, I will ask a question of the Democratic candidate for Mayor, who is engaged in furnishing paving blocks, which he claimed in his political prospectus the other day was his sole business; and which, I think, is so generally understood and believed.

Does he remember coming to me a few months ago and asking that I purchase for the city of Quincy a certain kind of meter? Why did the Democratic candidate wish the city to purchase that particular meter? And what possible connection is there between the paving block business and the particular meter in which the gentleman wished the city to invest? Was Mr. Shea at that time in a position to judge the merits of the different water meters on the market?

Upon investigation by the Mayor, and consultation with those experienced, it was determined that the best interests of the city would be served by buying the best meter in the market from a one-price concern who employed no lobbyist. Thomas F. Burke.

Not Only Resident Of Penn's Hill

Editor Quincy Daily Ledger:

A few days ago an article appeared in your paper signed "Penns Hill," which referred to some political deal made between parties high up in politics, and as my friends seem to think that there is no one living on Penns Hill but me and are therefore insisting that I am the author of that article, I kindly ask you to give me space in your paper for an explanation.

In the first place I will say that there are other people living on Penns Hill beside myself, and second, that I never write a letter, either private or public, without signing my name. That I have no time for hunting up faults and mistakes made by public officers but am trying to mind my own business.

But there are times when a man may make some observations without any special effort and may from them form an opinion.

If I should express mine I should say that human nature remains the same, and that men will make mistakes, and others will turn them to their advantage. That Quincy never has had and never will have a Mayor who will suit everybody and no official appointment will be perfect.

That men seeking an office watch those in office, and that jealousy is a part of the foundation for good government.

That Mayor Thompson is a man of honor and should be elected, and if for the good of the city a change is necessary in any department, I believe he will make it.

That competition is good for the progress of the human race.

Oscar F. Frisk.

Penns Hill, Dec. 3, 1900.

Henry J. Matthews Elected Commander

John A. Boyd Camp, No. 2, Legion of Spanish War Veterans, assembled at their headquarters on Sunday afternoon.

The members responded to the order sent out by headquarters and assembled some 50 strong, and it was a large and enthusiastic body. Several general headquarters officers visited the camp to explain the form of amalgamation with the United Spanish War Veterans recently approved by 51 camps, among them Adjutant General Henry A. Treuthardt of Roger Wolcott Camp, No. 26, of Boston.

The important business of the day was the election for officers of Camp 2 for the ensuing year. For the office of Commander several candidates nominated, and considerable rivalry prevailed. Adjutant Henry J. Matthews was elected by a large majority.

Commander-elect Matthews has been an active member of the camp since its institution on May 9, 1899, and one of its oganizers, rising from the rank of adjutant which he has held for three successive years. At present he is on the National headquarters staff serving in the capacity of assistant inspector general, having received the appointment two successive years.

The officers elected are as follows:

Senior Vice Commander,—John F. Johnson.

Junior Vice Commander,—Herbert F. Tucker.

Officer of the Day,—George A. Wardwell.

Officer of the Guard,—Paul R. Madison.

Delegate to State Convention,—Carl W. Weixler.

Alternate to State Convention,—Thomas C. Brown.

Trustees, — Thompson B. Crane, George F. Phillips, and John R. McGrath.

An adjournment was declared by the camp, when the boys of '98 sat down with the boys of '61 and partook of a pleasing and bountiful collation.

The camp report shows it to be in a prosperous and flourishing condition, and considerable detail for work has been mapped out for the coming winter.

The Meter Question.

Editor of the Daily Ledger:

Will the present city government, seeking endorsement by the people in the coming city etection, please answer the following questions?

Why was the Neptune, a brass water meter, used by the city which stood the test from 5 to 8 years without expense for repairs, discarded and an iron meter bought, costing $2 more each?

Why are meters being installed in small families and large ones passed by?

Why are meters being scattered all over the city, necessitating a large expense for inspectors instead of metering one section at a time where one inspector could attend to the whole?

Why? H. 2 O.

CONGRESS MEETS

May Devote Short Session to Large Supply Measures

IMPORTANT HOUSE BILLS

Immigration and Philippine Tariff Likely to Strike Snags--Currency and the Tariff May Receive Attention In Debate

Washington, Dec. 3.—The passage of the appropriation bills and as little other general legislation as possible. Such in brief is the forecast for the short session of the Fifty-Ninth session of congress which begun at noon today.

There has not yet been time for as general an exchange of views among members as is ordinarily desired by leaders before expressing their views, but all seem to regard the present situation as so simple as to need comparatively little intercourse to arrive at an understanding.

It is evident that for various reasons it will not be possible to do much on the appropriation bills before the holidays, and this circumstance will practically have the effect of condensing the consideration of the 14 large supply measures into two months. Considering that the aggregate of the appropriations to be made will approximate $1,000,000,000, some senators and members express the opinion that congress cannot do better than give all of its time to these measures.

The ship subsidy bill probably will be an exception to the rule for no general legislation. The friends of that measure have never been more insistent than now. Thty are extremely hopeful and yet very apprehensive. The bill has passed the senate and is in committee in the house. One incident that is very materially helping the subsidy is the recent speech of Secretary Root in support of it.

The senate has on its calendar two important house bills, the immigration bill and the Philippine tariff bill, but there are snags in the pathways of both. There is still intense opposition to the Philippine bill especially, and it is not believed that it can possibly receive serious consideration during a short session.

Not a few members of both houses are anxious to meet the demands of the bankers and others for an elastic currency and it is quite certain that there will be efforts to supply this want, but there are so many plans that even the most sincere believers in the necessity almost despair of accomplishing anything during a short session. The recommendations of the president in the interest of a national inheritance tax is awaited with eager interest by many, and there is no doubt that a large following could be secured for a measure of the character he will outline, but as in the matter of currency reform, the few weeks of the session will not suffice for adequate consideration. It is also recognized that the present plethoric condition of the treasury would furnish strong argument against the proposed innovation. Suggestions looking towards amending the railroad rate law are not expected to bear fruit this session. All those matters and many others are certain to receive attention in debate.

Among the questions slated for a liberal share of discussion, the tariff stands at the head of the list, but no one has the least idea that any serious effort will now be made to secure the modifications which even many Republicans think desirable. The president, who himself desires some changes, has recently promised his congressional callers that, he will not ask to have the subject taken up at this time. The Japanese question, the discharge of the negro soldiers, the desirability of any income tax law, the result of the late elections and the trusts are also down for discussion.

The senate will give early attention to the case of Senator Smoot. Senator Burrows will set the ball rolling Dec. 10 in a speech in which he will revive the entire case, and he will doubtless be followed by other members for and against the Utah senator. The resolution before the senate merely declares Smoot to be not entitled to his seat, but unlike a declaration for expulsion in explicit language, it does not require a two-thirds vote to pass it. Smoot's friends will not yield this advantage without a struggle. The question is a privileged one and Senator Burrows, who is chairman of the committee on privileges and elections, has expressed his determination to utilize all his rights in keeping it to the front.

Much interest attaches to the president's forthcoming recommendations concerning the Panama canal. It is not expected that he will ask much legislation beyond the necessary appropriations, and there is a general disposition to grant these. The increase of the navy will receive much consideration, but there is still opposition to the proposed ship of the Dreadnought class.

Railroad Wreck and Fire

Pittsburg, Dec. 3.—In the wreck of a train at Guffey coal mines the engineer and fireman were killed and the baggagemaster was seriously injured. Over a score of passengers were slightly bruised. The mail car and contents, except the registered mail, were burned, as were many valuable packages in the express car. Railroad officers are working on the theory that some person opened the switch purposely.

STRONG POLICE GUARD

Necessary to Protect Newly Installed Priest From Harm

Bridgeport, Conn., Dec. 3.—Masses were said yesterday at St. Michael's Roman Catholic church here under strong police protection and the rectory of the church is guarded by police to forestall a recrudescence of a disturbance which began Saturday, when the former pastor, Rev. Stefan Mircinski, took his departure, and a new priest, Fr. Tunski of Buffalo, was installed.

One thousand Polish men and women who opposed the change were in riot at the rectory, threw Fr. Hyacinth of Buffalo, superior of the Franciscan fathers, to which both priests belong, bodily from the house, and did not disperse until charged by the police, who knocked a dozen senseless. One arrest was made. Tunski was repeatedly hissed during yesterday's service.

Even Took His Overcoat

Medford, Mass., Dec. 3.—Held up by three men armed with revolvers, Wilson Evans of Boston was robbed of his valuables shortly after 7 o'clock last night on Albion street. Threatened with death if he made an outcry, Evans was robbed of a valuable gold watch, a $5 gold piece charm set with a $200 diamond, his $50 paddock qvercoat and $4 in money. After taking all the articles of value, the robbers gave their victim his car fare and at the point of the revolver commanded him to make good his escape and make no outcry, under the penalty of being shot.

Three Murders In Three Days

El Paso, Tex., Dec. 3.—After a desperate fight with officers, during which he was shot several times and several of his pursuers were wounded, A. B. Sibley, a sheep buyer, charged with murdering three ranchers on three successive days, was captured near Sanderson and is now in jail, probably mortally wounded. Sibley purchased large herds from his alleged victims. In each case the rancher delivered the stock at Del Rio, received a check which he promptly cashed and later was found murdered and robbed.

Funeral of President Spencer

Washington, Dec. 3.—All that is mortal of Samuel Spencer, late president of the Southern railway, who was killed on his own railroad on Thanksgiving day, was yesterday afternoon placed in the receiving vault at the Oak Hill cemetery, there to await final disposal. The funeral obsequies, held in St. John's Protestant Episcopal church, were attended by railroad officials, financiers and public men from all parts of the country.

Turtle Weighs 1100 Pounds

San Francisco, Dec. 3.—Naturalists are interested in a mammoth turtle which is at present at the schooner academy, and which was captured near Galapagos island, off the coast of Ecuador. It is what is known as a land turtle, and the scientists who went on the expedition are certain that its age is between 4000 and 5000 years. It is the largest turtle ever captured, the weight being given at 1100 pounds.

To Appeal to Roosevelt

New York, Dec. 3.—Following recent demonstrations by their customers, due to the advance in the retail price of meat, the Hebrew Retail Kosher Butchers' association met yesterday to decide what could be done to appease their patrons. It was finally voted to appeal to President Roosevelt and ask the chief executive, "through the press and the public, to fight the beef trust."

Investigation of Car Shortage

Washington, Dec. 3.—The car shortage throughout the United States will be investigated by the interstate commerce commission. Commissioner Lane says that the commission will take up the situation in the northwest first. Farmers in the northwest complain of delay in getting their grain away in time to take advantage of high prices.

Violation of Law by Railroads

Washington, Dec. 3.—Acting upon reports submitted by the interstate commerce commission, Attorney General Moody has directed that suits be brought against a large number of additional railroad companies to recover penalties for violation of the safety appliance law through failure to keep their equipment in proper condition.

Slugged and Robbed of $1100

City of Mexico, Dec. 3.—G. K. Hamilton, an aeronaut, well known in New York and throughout New England, was sandbagged and robbed of $1100 in cash and valuables by a Mexican at Tivoli, a pleasure resort of this city. He was not fatally injured. No trace of the robber has been found.

French Senator Killed

Sedan, France, Dec. 3.—Charles C. Goutant, a member of the French senate, while on his way to attend the funeral of a friend tried to jump from a moving train, but fell under the wheels and was crushed to death. He was first elected to the French senate in 1898 and re-elected in 1903.

Tramps Perhaps Started Fire

Providence, Dec. 3.—A fire believed to have been started by tramps destroyed the New Haven railroad's coal pocket and sheds on the water front. The railroad ferryboat William T. Hart took fire and was damaged. The total loss is estimated at $25,000.

Public Interest

IS NOW CENTERED ON

The Pure Food Law.

WE Have Always Maintained that the best that money could buy was always the cheapest in the end, because it is always the bargain hunters that have to pay the Doctor, buying as they do IMPURE foods of all kinds, FOODS that are UNFIT for ANY PERSON'S STOMACH, being mixed as they are with different kinds of PRESERVATIVES and SECRET PREPARATIONS to take the place of GOOD PURE FOODS. And some dealers selling these goods at a GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICE over the pure kind, GUARANTEE you NOTHING, but—"Poor Health to You and Your Family," and although you can buy the "just as good kind," you can save nothing as that kind is unhealthy and dangerous to the whole human family. Now our standard is to always sell the best of everything and the steady increase of our business year after year proves to us that we have the right idea, and we know it must be very satisfactory to our many customers to feel that what they buy at our store is ABSOLUTELY PURE and HEALTHFUL and the Food Laws are being strictly enforced by us. Our Goods are all GOVERNMENT INSPECTED and also carefully inspected by us before they are put on sale or sent to your homes, and although you pay perhaps a few cents more to us than some dealers charge, don't you think it is money well spent, considering all things?—YOUR HEALTH, which is the greatest blessing we can have,—think well about this and we know you will agree with us and do your trading where you know the goods can be depended upon to be absolutely Pure.

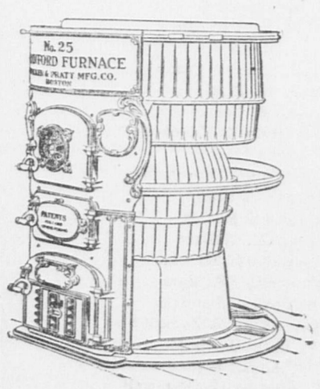

We have just received our season's pack of choice canned and bottled goods, FRESH and DRIED FRUITS, all kinds of Cereals, Ketchup, Pickles, Jams, Jellies, Prunes, Figs, Nuts, Dates, Table Raisins, Citron, Lemon and Orange Peel, Olives, Sardines,—in fact everything for your tastes and fancies. All the leading brands of FLOUR. Fancy New Orleans Molasses.

OUR MARKET is complete, AND REMEMBER, we sell nothing that has been doctored or filled with Preservatives to keep it. ABSOLUTELY NOTHING but Carefully Selected Meats are on sale at OUR STORE. Stamped with the Government Inspection Stamp, that insures to you and to us the point of perfection, which we are always striving to reach for the benefit of our trade. Remember Thanksgiving will be a day of Thanksgiving to you after you have visited our store, for our stock is new, large and wholesome.

We will have a grand display of that great National Bird, THE TURKEY, the same VERMONT KIND we have always sold you,—Chicken, Fowl and Duck, direct from WILLIAM R. DRAKE of Braintree, and he knows how to dress them so as to please the eye as well as the palate. They don't grow nicer than he has. Fruit and vegetables in abundance, and don't forget our famous LA TOURANE COFFEE, no dinner complete without it.

Yours Respectfully,

ANCIENT EMBALMING.

Not Only People but Animals Were Mummified In Egypt.

Myrrh, which was fabulously supposed to be the tears of Myrrha, who was turned into a shrub, was a plant of handsome appearance, with spreading, fernlike foliage and large umbels of white flowers. It was found principally in Arabia and Abyssinia. In early times the perfume distilled from it was greatly in requisition for embalming.

Herodotus gives a detailed account of the ancient mode of embalming, which is perhaps more instructive than pleasing. After the body had undergone much preparation, which, to spare your feelings, will not be described, it was filled with powdered myrrh, cassia and other perfumes. It was then steeped in natron, a strong solution of soda, for seventy days. After this it was wrapped in bands of fine perfumed linen, smeared with aromatic gums.

Not only people were thus embalmed, but the crocodiles of Lake Moeris, which, after their mummification, were decorated with ornaments and jewels and laid in one of the subterranean passages of the great labyrinth with much pomp and display. The sacred cat, ichneumon and other cherished animals devoutly worshiped by the Egyptians were embalmed with scrupulous and fanatical care. On days special to the memory of the dead the mummies were newly sprinkled with perfume, incense was offered before them and their heads anointed with fresh oil—in the same spirit as we lay new blooms upon the graves of our dead.

WHISTLER AS A TEACHER.

A Genius Who Showed Difficulty In Imparting His Knowledge.

Whistler was certainly a genius, but he showed some difficulty in imparting his knowledge. His criticisms were often foggy and uncertain, and he hardly ever found words in which to express himself. It was almost an impossibility to develop without becoming a slave and copying him in every way. With a majority of the students this was a dangerous method. If one came with a spark of originality it was extinguished immediately by the dominating personality of the master. He could see art only from his own standpoint, and he insisted on all of us using the same palette and the same brushes as himself and on our seeing all objects with his eyes. The result to an ordinary outsider was ridiculously monotonous.

I well remember a Frenchman who wanted to join the class coming to view some of the studies and then remarking, with an amused smile, "Vous avez beaucoup des petus Wheestlairs!" This was perfectly true of the majority, but there were a few matured men who hardly carried out Whistler's formulas as regards the palette and method, but who, owing to their more independent attitude, profited much by the criticisms.—Century.

Voting In Paris.

"In Paris only one-fifth of the voters go to the polls and cast their ballots," said an American who has lived in Paris as a business man for several years past. "This is not because they cannot vote, but because they do not care to. Everybody in the city is interested in politics, but when the time to vote comes few care to go to the polls. The man who wins is most often the man who promises everything. For instance, in my district last time a man was elected who promised to put a new shed on the market. I know of another deputy who was kept in office fifteen years because he promised to add an extra sardine to the daily rations of the soldiers. There are so many soldiers that that made a big difference. They did not get the sardine, but he continued to promise and kept office."—Washington Post.

Man and Art.

In ancient times there stood in the citadel of Athens three statues of Minerva. The first was of olive wood and, according to popular tradition, had fallen from heaven. The second was of bronze, commemorating the victory of Marathon, and the third of gold and ivory—a great miracle of art in the days of Pericles. And thus in the citadel of time stands man himself. In childhood, shaped of soft and delicate wood, just fallen from heaven; in manhood a statue of bronze, commemorating struggle and victory, and, lastly, in the maturity of age, perfectly shaped in gold and ivory—a miracle of art!

Temper.

Temper itself is not a bad quality. It is not to be destroyed, as we sometimes say. Without temper a bar of steel becomes like lead. A man without temper is weak and worthless. We are to learn self control. A strong person is one who has a strong temper under perfect mastery. There is a deep truth here—that our mistakes and our sins, if we repent of them, will help in the growth and upbuilding of our character.

Fair Proposition.

"Don't you throw off anything because of the big holes in these doughnuts?" asked the new wife of the baker.

"I'll tell you," he replied, scratching his chin. "Eat the doughnuts, and we'll make a liberal allowance when you return the holes."

A Sleep Inducer.

JESUS NOT A KING

Except In the Might and Majesty of His Soul

SUBDUED ALL PASSIONS

Keeping of His Law Is the Salvation of the World, Though Countless Millions Fail--Farewell Sermon of Dr Crapsey

Rochester, N. Y., Dec. 3.—Dr. Algernon S. Crapsey preached his farewell sermon at St. Andrews church yesterday. His text was taken from Matthew XXI., 5—"Tell ye the daughters of Sion, Behold thy King cometh unto thee, meek, and sitting upon an ass, and a colt the foal of an ass."

Dr. Crapsey said: "To all external appearances Jesus is no more a king than we are. He was just such a man to the outward seeming as are the millions of workingmen who, with dinner pails in hand, go forth every morning to their duty. For 30 years he lived as child and lad and youth and man with others of his age and station, and there was nothing to distinguish him from his neighbors. At the age of 30 he entered upon a public career as a rabbi or teacher in Israel. But still there was nothing to indicate that he was a king.

"And yet men, seeing this life in the perspective of history, agree with the children of Jerusalem and declare it to be the only kingly life ever lived in the world. To account for this strange phenomenon we shall have to divest the kingly conception of every outward symbol by which it has been known and find if we can its inward spiritual meaning."

Continuing, Dr. Crapsey said: "The kingship of Jesus was in Jesus himself in the might and the majesty of his soul. He exercised his royal power in subduing every power of his soul into obedience to his will. He, not his passions, reigned supreme in his nature. He exercised dominion over every foul lust and every base fear. He put to death every unholy desire and every unclean thought. He did what no other king has ever done.

"And then having himself, by experience, mastered the royal law and found it the way of life, he gave the law to the people. He did not hesitate to repeal all ancient law and enact his own. Surely no king of earth has ever put forth such claims as this and had them seriously considered. But the law which Jesus gave has been the law by which countless millions have striven to order their lives, and though countless millions fail they do not cease to see in the keeping of that law the salvation of the world.

"By the simple majesty of his own righteousness, by the simple power of his own law of love, he has subdued countless souls to his will and the world waits for its peace until the kingdom of this world becomes the kingdom of the Lord and his Christ. And, as Jesus reigned and reigns, so must every man. Each man must be a true law unto himself.

"To find Christ is to find salvation for one's self; to follow Jesus is to win salvation for others. Let those who will find Christ, let us follow Jesus. Let us despise any salvation that does not come to us by way of the cross. We will not enter into the kingdom of heaven except we may take it by violence."

Strike of Section Men

Digby, N. S., Dec. 3.—All the section men along the entire line of the Dominion Atlantic railroad are out on strike to enforce a demand for an increase in wages. Unless there should be a big fall of snow the railroad officials say they are certain that the strike will not interfere with traffic. The demand of the men is for a rate of $1.35 a day in summer and $1.25 a day in winter. At present they are paid $1.15 a day in summer and $1 a day in winter.

Boys Had Too Much Money

New Haven, Dec. 3.—A. Schultz and Martin Frank, two Brooklyn boys who were arrested here with large sums of money in their pockets and bankbooks showing deposits of over $12,000, have agreed to return to Brooklyn without the formality of extradition papers. The New York authorities telephoned to the New Haven police last night that they would send for the prisoners today.

Express Train Killed Woman

Durham, N. H., Dec. 3.—Miss Bella Gallant, 23 years old, was instantly killed by an express train at New Durham station. Miss Gallant was intending to take a local train for Newmarket. She evidently mistook the express for the local train and attempted to cross the track ahead of it, thinking it was to stop at the station.

Suspected of Setting Big Fire

Malden, Mass., Dec. 3.—Max Ruderman of this city, 20 years of age, was arrested in Boston on the charge of having set fire to the Malden City Lumber company's yards on the night of Nov. 8, when $95,000 damage was done. He was brought back to this city.

Great Rock Crushed Out a Life

New York, Dec. 3.—Loosened earth permitted a rock weighing several tons to tumble among a gang of laborers in the new Pennsylvania railroad tunnel. John Green, a foreman, was instantly killed, and Robert Tobin, a rock driller, probably fatally crushed.

Temper and Green Tulle

By Sarah McConnell

Copyright, 1906, by Ruby Douglas

He was busy getting the thought of her out of his mind, sore put to it to be free and his own man again. She was capricious, inconstant, vain; she was self willed and full of wiles; she was—oh, she was Alexandra Lee. He would not think of her.

A great deal that had happened that night was blurred to him. But the bang of the carriage door as they started home reverberated in his mind like the crack of doom. It had slipped from his hand and swung to with a crash. Alexandra's laugh mocked him. "With any one else, George, I'd have said the door slammed."

He remembered how she looked as he turned, something strange in her eyes that matched, in impression, the misty multitudinous rufflings and billowings of her gown—that frivolous, fluttering, elusive green tulle he had watched all evening as she danced with every other man in the room—with Herbert Hartley, a dawdling, dangling derelict, a signpost to every path but that of rectitude—of all men in the world, Herbert Hartley!

From her carriage corner Alexandra sighed. "I've had such a good time, and now I suppose there's the piper to pay."

"If you mean there is Hartley to settle for"—

"Herbert? You've a tone that hints at 'thirdly and fourthly, brethren,' and poor Herbert! He's so much more of a song than a sermon."

That began it. He had never meant to quarrel, only to deal with her in a firm, prompt fashion, as a man should. Firm, prompt he had been, with certain ability of exposition that served him well in courts of law, but with Alexandra—

She bent down as he ended. "Are you there, Alexandra?" she asked of the floor. "Poor dear, there is nothing left to pick up. Oh, I'm tired, tired! I'm stifled. I can't breathe. There, take it back!" And she tossed the ring across to him. "Now one can draw a free breath."

"Alexandra!" he begged.

But he had cut, and she meant he should pay. And hers was a pretty gift of table turning.

He held his anger down. No more doors should slam by chance about him, and it was only as they neared the house that he interrupted:

"We haven't gained anything this way. Discuss me again. The point is Herbert Hartley."

"Then I must put on my bonds again? Where is the ring?"

But he hadn't the ring.

"You had it last."

"I laid it in your lap."

But it was not in her lap nor the seat nor the carriage. Alexandra laughed. "Oh, thrifty George, are you sure you've not taken it back for safe keeping?"

He stood a long moment at her door. "And Hartley?" he said.

Insistence was match to her powder. "How can I answer unless we're engaged? And people can't be engaged without rings, can they, George? You seem to think with mine on that I fail to remember. Bring it back to me and—good night!"

After a week of wrath mingled with pain he got himself under control and wrote her. But the answer came back the same absurd, maddening, almost insulting reiteration—the ring, always the ring. A perversity first or a pretext, did she use it now as a weapon? He hadn't the ring, she knew.

Life was turmoil once Alexandra entered, and he remembered with what perverse astuteness she had said herself: "I'm like a mustard plaster on your mind. You'd better take me off before I raise a blister."

But she was in every wind that blew, and without her nothing was worth while that once had been.

So for a fortnight he had gone about his accustomed ways, and, though many a flutter of familiar skirts had set his heart a-jump, yet he never had met Alexa since that night. Then a case of some importance took him out of town with such sharp demand upon all his faculties that he had known a sort of respite.

But back in the town his work was all to do again. He went his way down to his office; he bowed to people who drove past with a swift hope that Alexa would not be with them. And then unexpectedly with a group near the Hurds—there was Alexa!

Yes, it was Alexandra and Evelyn Hurd, and with them Herbert Hartley.

The group stood until he had almost reached them, when Hartley turned, and Evelyn went back to the house, while Alexa stopped by the Hurds' waiting carriage.

He knew she had seen him long before, but—it was one of her insincerities he most disliked—she acted out acute surprise. He put a stiffer guard upon himself.

A stiffer guard! She called it by another name. She hated him when he was like that. How futile he made her feel, how trivial, how vain! Well, at least she would make him feel once more and betray it; she would wring out of him a protest.

And then her mind misgave her. Was she being left with the situation on her hands? Would he accept without protest? Would he never speak? She looked up and then down again to her ungloved hand on which his eyes were fixed. A seal ring of Herbert's took the place of the one that was lost. A joke—a stupid joke—but stupidity lent her a stammering tongue.

"George, George!" she called after him, but she entreated only an inflexible back. With Herbert's name on her lips and Herbert's ring on her finger, she was indeed left committed to the situation the last of her desiring.

* * * * * * * *

Alexandra flaunted Herbert Hartley in Greenfield's face; she waved him abroad like a banner. If the town hummed with rumors of her, she helped the rumor wax, but helped it to no explanation.

But with her family there was one topic that, like the weapon used in committing a crime, seemed always impossible to dispose of. The nile green tulle—why didn't she wear it? And that was the one thing she couldn't do.

It was their house dressmaker that in a measure vanquished her at last. "One, two, three," measured the woman. "That's only once and a quarter, and I'll need as much again. Those ruffles on your nile green underpetticoat—they're a match, Miss Alexandra, and we're in a hurry."

Alexandra went into her room, shutting the door behind. The tulle hung upon the hooks with a kind of defiant grace, as if it still held something of its owner's quality. She took the gown down slowly and spread it gently out upon the bed. How happy she had been when she had worn it—the last time she had been happy!

She had meant they should have a memorable evening, she and George and the gown. And how had it so fallen out? Coquetry? What did it mean except that if it were good to be with George it was a joy still subtler to dance away with some one else knowing his eyes held her, followed her, and that for each the crowded room held only the other? Provocation, alluring, half a mystery to herself, it was like a fold of the silk that shimmered over its silk lining.

She slipped down upon the floor by the bedside and began to rip the flounces. What was it he said that had made her so angry? Her vanity was as endless as her caprice. He shouldn't have said it, and yet—it was true enough. Well, she had warned him. He was well rid of her. He had come out of the matter with a better grace than she had, except about the ring No doubt it had been found long ago It angered her afresh to think how stubborn he had been not to have told her. The way to make her feel how small she was was not to tell her so—that never served—but to take the big way and put her in the wrong by being generous. If he had given her a chance, half a chance—

The scissors snipped, snipped. It was thus she had laid a sharp tool on her happiness. She was cutting the stuff, but what did it matter? She was always cutting and tearing something dear to her.

And the ruffles must come off, they said. She bent nearer. She might as well tear and be done.

What was this hard thing on which the scissors struck and caught? Not surely not— In her hand lay the ring.

* * * * * * * *

"Alexa!" He had come at her urgent summons, but hotly rebellious. And yet Alexa, there before him—a curious figure hung about with green silk ruffles—Alexa, grieved, remorseful, pouring her heart out. How was it possible to withstand her?

"And I suppose," he said, the ring half back in its place again—"I suppose I'll have to marry you to save you from"—

But she would not let him speak the obnoxious name.

"You'll have to marry me to save me from Alexandra Lee."

Refused the Queen's Invitation.

Mme. Antoinette Sterling, the American singer, once unconsciously committed a breach etiquette which is recorded in the son's memoir of his mother Queen Victoria commanded Mme. Sterling to sing before her. Without any thought of offending the singer replied simply that she was sorry, but on the evening designated she was engaged to sing for a charity. She would be pleased to sing for her majesty the next week. The consternation among court officials was great. What would have happened if the singer had not been prevailed upon to break her engagement and comply with the queen's behest only a lord chamberlain knows Even a lord chamberlain could not prevail on her to break her rigid resolution against wearing a low dress at a concert, and court custom had to yield to her. The queen took unconscious revenge on the American by presenting her with a tea service, for Mme. Sterling kept all her life a childish resolution never to drink tea because the spilling of the tea in Boston harbor was the symbol of American defiance of England.

Reed's Retort to Dingley.

When the town of Brunswick, Me., celebrated some years ago the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of its incorporation there was a big dinner, and Tom Reed and Nelson Dingley were present and were, of course, called upon to speak. Dingley spoke first and said in conclusion that he had made no preparation and would make way for a gentleman who had come with a prepared speech, meaning Reed, who got back at Dingley as follows:

"Mr. Toastmaster, I am sorry to begin an apology. Some time ago I attended a celebration like this in Unity, in Waldo county, and there heard Governor Dingley refer touchingly to Unity as his birthplace. I afterward learned that the governor was also born in Durham, in the county of Androscoggin, and I know that nothing but my presence here prevents his claiming he was born in Brunswick too. And I feel like apologizing for being here, for it will hereafter be an honor to have shared in the birthplace of Governor Dingley."—Pittsburg Times.

Miss Lottie Kingman, who has been spending the past few days at her home on Maple street, returns today to her school at Fitchburg.

Mrs. Owen Gibson and daughter Mary, of Granite street, have been the guest of her daughter, Mrs. John E. Lennon of Marlboro, the past week.

Among the new clubs entered Sunday at a meeting of the Massachusetts Football Association Sunday were the Fore Rivers and McGregors of Quincy.

Mr. & Mrs. Charles Bajen returned to their home on Washington street Sunday from Plymouth, where they have been the guest of relatives, the past week.

Capt. and Mrs. Howes of the Sailors' Snug Harbor, Germantown, very pleasantly entertained a company of people from the Point church on Saturday evening.

A largely attended rally in the interest of Peter McConarty for Ward Councilman was held in Cahill's hall Saturday night. Candidate Shea was one of the speakers.

Mr. Thomas Williams of Chicago, will lecture tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock in Colonial hall, Savings Bank building. Subject "The Valley of Dry Bones." The public are cordial invited; special invitation is extended to the clergy.

C. D. Harlow, who has drug stores at South Quincy and Weymouth, advertises a grand voting contest among boys and girls. Dolls are to be given to girls and skates to boys. Those who do not get one of these have an opportunity to get a pound box of fine candy.

NOT YET BUT SOON

A Pos sibil To Open the New High School Building Jan. 1

Fairly good progress has been made this week on the High school. There are now fifteen rooms in the old part that are all completed as far as the carpenters are concerned and all that now remains is for the painters to finish varnishing them. This should be done in a few days so that by Jan. 1, there is no reason why they can not be occupied for school purposes.

The doors the entrances for are on their way and can be readily made ready for use. Doors have been hung on the rooms so that those not yet completed can be shut off from the corridor. This will enable the carpenters to continue their work without interfering with the pupils.

The floors in the corriders are not all down, but can be made ready inside of two weeks.

In the new part the special iron work to hang the gallery of the assembly hall has arrived and is being put into place.

The plasterers have the rooms all plastered aside from the assembly hall and are now applying the skim coating.

Steam is on all over the building so that the plastering is drying as fast as possible.

There is some plumbing work yet to be done, also other work in the basement.

Mr. Thomas, the carpenter says that he is employing all the men he can use, and is keeping his work well along.

Some of the school furnishings have arrived and from the appearances today there seems to be no good reason why fifteen of the rooms can not be occupied for school purposes soon.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucuos surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address.

A Candidate For Reelection

The name of Councilman Otto Gelotte will appear upon the official ballot of Ward One, as Republican Independent, for the office of Councilman from the Ward, and should receive the careful consideration of the voters who believe in looking carefully after the interests of the city. It has long been an established custom to return to office, for a second year, those who have served faithfully and desire to be returned. There seems to be no valid reason why this custom should be deviated from in the case of Councilman Gelotte.

As a member of the City Council of 1906 he has a clean record. He has been faithful and conscientious in all matters. He served upon two of the most important committees of that body, namely the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds and the Committee on Fire Department and Police. It is in the committee room where the worth of a councilman is made manifest and it is here that he has done his best work. All matters that have been referred to the committee of which he is a member have had his careful consideration and if faithfulness to the trust imposed upon him deserves recognition then he should be returned to the City Council of 1907 with a handsome vote.

Many matters of the greatest importance have come before his Committees the present year notably the Building Ordinance, Atlantic school building, etc., necessitating much of his time as frequent meetings have been held. He has given freely of his time for this purpose and there has been no meeting of the City Council or of his Committees at which he was not present.

One of the matters that he has been deeply interested in, is the erection of a new school building to replace the present Coddington building on Coddington street. Early in the present year he introduced an order in the City Council calling for the procuring of plans for a new building for the Coddington district. He worked hard in favor of the order but was overruled in the Committee as the weight of opinion was that Atlantic should be the section provided for this year. His order is still before the City Council however and should be reported favorably upon next year and his presence in the Council would tend to burry this much needed object along.

All of the matters before the City Council the present year have had his careful consideration and his vote has always been as he thought best for the welfare of the city. Councilman Gelotte has always been affiliated with the Republican party and a hard worker for the election of its candidates both as a private citizen and as a member of the ward committee upon which he served a number of years.

KEITH'S THEATRE.

One of the most important announcements ever made by the Keith management is that Arnold Daly, the famous exponent of the much talked about Bernard Shaw plays, is to head the bill the week commencing Monday, Dec. 3d. Mr. Daly is to appear in a playlet that Mr. Shaw wrote especially for him, "How He Lied to Her Husband." Miss Isabelle Urquhart is cast for the female role in the sketch. Mr. Daly's engagement is for one week only. Mrs. Langtry will commence her engagement on Monday, December 10th.

VIEWS OF CANDIDATES

All Believe in No-License And Enforcement Of Liquor Laws.

The Citizens' No-License League forward these replies for publication:

Constant Activity.

Mr. Geo. A. Sidelinger, President No-License League,

Dear sir: In reply to your request of the 28th, I herewith enclose my views on the question of No-License.

"I believe in the enforcement of the No-License laws. The effort has been on the part of the administeration during the present year to minimize the illicit sale and traffic in intoxicating liquors. The records of the court are an indication of the prevalence of the existing evil, as well as the work of the Police department in the endeavor to keep it within bounds and to surpress the same.

I am fully satisfied it is only by constant activity on the part of the No-License League in making the issue, and forcing this question to prominence before the citizens, keeps the city of Quincy in the No-License column. Furthermore an active public interest is necessasy if vigilance is to be continued by the police in the prosecution for its suppression."

Yours respectfully
James Thompson,
Mayor.

Quincy, Nov. 30, 1906.

Remove the Profit.

Secretary Citizens' Temperance League:

In reply to your request that I express myself in a few words on the license issue, I would say that, being personally little known as well as the cause that I as a Socialist represent, it affords me great pleasure to utter my earnest protest, towards anything that would tend to place a bar room with all its attending evils within the borders of our beloved city. As a Christian I pray to God that the day may never come when we shall see a saloon in Quincy. As a father, I wish that temptation be placed as far as possible from my children.

Remove the profit from the liquor traffic and it will die a natural death.

Yours very truly,
Charles J. Axberg.

Quincy, Nov. 30, 1606.

Bogus Expressmen,

To the Citizens' No-License League:

Gentlemen:—In response to your request for my views on the No-License question, they are, in brief as follows:

Being a firm believer in the principles of total abstinence and having consistently practised the same since I was 18 years of age, I am, naturally, a strong advocate of a No-License policy for our city.

I have cast a "No" vote every year that the citizans have been called upon to vote on this question.

I am unqualifiedly in favor of a strict enforcement of the No-License law in our city.

I further believe that great care should be exercised in the granting of licenses for the transportation of liquors into Quincy. I believe that licenses of this nature have been indiscriminately granted this year, and I believe a more rigid examination should be made into this class of licenses.

If elected mayor and such applications for licenses come to me for approval I will require that the applicants shall have been in business as bona fide expressmen for such a period of time preceding the application as will satisfy me that the transportation of liquors is simply an incident to their general express business.

I sincerely trust that our city will, this year, exceed the handsome majority cast for No License at the City election a year ago.

Very respectfully yours,
William T. Shea.

Mean of Him.

"Yes, my friend, at the age of fifteen I was left an orphan."
"And what did you do with it?"

Councilman Stone Candidate-at-Large

Councilman Eugene R. Stone, after three years continual service in the City Council as Councilman from Ward Two, comes before the voters next Tuesday for election as Councilman at large.

From the present outlook it would appear that the Council of 1907 will have a number of new men and it is particularly desirable as well as of the utmost importance that men with previous experience, like Councilman Stone should be returned.

Experience is a very valuable asset for a good Councilman. It enables him to more readily grasp and understand the varried matters that are constantly coming up for consideration. To see and quickly understand the purport of a measure more readily than a new man. During Councilman Stone's service in the City Council he has been a constant attendant at the meetings of that body, as well as of the several standing committees upon which he has served. He is a ready debater and his voice is often heard upon the matters under consideration. He has never been bound by party lines in his actions, but has always spoken and voted as he deemed best for the interest of the city at large.

Being a large taxpayer he has the interest of the city at heart and can be depended upon to give careful consideration of all matters requiring the expenditure of the city's money. He has been a member of the Republican Ward Committee from Ward Two for several years and has served as treasurer of the City Committee.

Contractor Lord Before Committee

The special committee of the City ouncil, who are inquiring into the delay in the completion of the additions and alterations to the High school, were in session Friday until after 11 o'clock. They had before them Mr Fallon, the contractor for the granite work; Mr. Lord, the general contracr tor; and Mr. Thomas, the contracto- for the carpenter work.

There has been more or less criticism at the length of time that it has taken the committee to enquire into the causes of the delay and because the committee has not as yet made its report to the City Council.

In reply to this the committee desire the Daily Ledger to state that they have held altogether six meetings each of which were of several hours' duration. They have had before them everybody whom it was thought could throw any light upon the question of delay. All persons requested to appear before them, have readily complied with the exception of the general contractor, and that the chief cause of the delay in making of its report was the inability to have Mr. Lord appear, and that, it was not until last evening that he did appear.

The committee have now practically completed its inquiry and a report may be expected in a few days.

Gold and Silver Medals Awarded

Gold and silver medals were awarded at Faxon hall Monday evening at a No-License prize speaking contest for boys. There were nine candidates and all acquitted themselves with credit. The program was varied by songs by the contestants and by the chorus of Co. B of the Boys Brigade, Atlantic. Some of the selections of the Brigade boys were: "Christ our mighty captain," "Rock of Ages," "Leader of the German Band" and "Johnny Smoker." Some were encored.

The order of speaking was as follows:

"It is Coming" M. F. Mosher
Roswell Rill
"Water and Rum" J. B. Gough
John E. Mattson
"An Honest Rumseller's Advertisement" A. McWight
William D. Michael
"Appeal for Temperance" H. W. Brady
Henry Trask
"The Drunkard's Dream" C. W. Denison
A. Albert Robertson
"The Curse to Labor" Powderly
Leon H. Brault
"The Two Glasses"
Walter E. Reed
"The Effects of Alcohol" A. A. Phelps
E. Philip Cook
"Rum the Worst Enemy of the Working Classes" T. DeWitt Talmage, D. D.
John MacGregor

The judges were Edward Southworth and Frederick W. Plummer, and they were unanimous in awarding the prizes. The gold medal went to Leon Brault, a pupil of the Lincoln school, and the silver medal to Albert Robertson of the John Hancock school. John MacGregor was honorably mentioned.

The excellence of the speaking was due in a great measure to coaching by Mrs. Isabelle Davis, and Miss Mary E. Young was accompanist for the songs. Theophilus King, Esq., presided. There was a large attendance.

CITY COUNCIL

Turn Down the Trolley Freight And Amend the Building Ordinance

A regular meeting of the City Council was held Monday evening, and as is usual the night before an election it was a busy session. The trolley freight orders came up and were disposed of as far as this year's Council is concerned. The building ordinance was recalled, amended and again passed, and an order of inquiry into the subject of water meters was adopted.

Councilmen Cannon, Deacon, Gross and Nichols were absent.

TRANSFERS.

A communication was received from the School Committee asking for a transfer of unexpended balances of the School appropriation for salaries to miscellaneous, and to transfer the sum of $133 received for tuition to the credit of the appropriation for the School department. Laid on the table until later, when orders making the transfers were adopted.

The Mayor forwarded a communication from the Chief Engineer of the Fire department, asking for a transfer of $100 from the appropriation for hose to the appropriation for lighting engine houses. Laid on the table until later, when an order was offered making the transfer which was adopted.

PETITIONS.

The N. E. T. & T. Co. petitioned for a location for poles on Holmes street. Referred to Committee on Streets.

Several petitions for minor licenses were received and referred.

ORDERS PASSED.

The Committee on Ordinances reported correctly engrossed the following orders which were passed:

Amending the Police ordinance increasing the salaries of the permanent police.

Amending the Police ordinance increasing the number permanent men to 20.

Refunding taxes to B. S. Wallin.

Refunding sewer assessment to the Swedish Congregational Society.

Refunding tax title to Julia E. Fuller.

Substitute loan order for $19,000.

Transferring $300 to miscellaneous of Board of Health.

Transferring $100 to garbage of the Board of Health.

The Committee on Licenses reported an order granting minor licenses which was adopted.

They also reported leave to withdraw on certain applications for minor licenses. Accepted.

NO TROLLEY FREIGHT.

The Committee on Streets reported ought not to pass on the order granting the street railway permission to operate a trolley freight between the Braintree line and Neponset. Accepted.

The Committee on Streets reported ought not to pass on the order granting the street railway permission to operate a trolley freight on certain streets in Quincy. Accepted.

The Committee on Streets reported an amendment to the order granting the street railway permission to operate a trolley freight on Randolph avenue from the Braintree line to the Milton line. The amendments related to the wording of the five year clause and added a new clause providing that closed cars should be used.

Councilman Donavan and Hull offered a minority report that the order ought to not pass.

Moved the substitution of the minority for the majority report.

Councilman Hobbs moved both reports be laid on the table. His reason was that there were absent members and he believed there should be a full meeting when acted upon, also that members might have an opportunity to look into the petition.

Councilman Stone saw no reason why it should not lay on the table.

Councilman Bass thought all were now fully familiar with the order. All the company care for is to get through Quincy.

Councilman Hull—We have been unable to get any facts from the railway company as to rates. Yet he did not care to force the matter on the Council.

Councilman Donovan felt order should not pass. We have been unable to get any light on rates.

Councilman Chase thought the time had come to settle the question.

The motion to lay on the table was lost 6 voting in the affirmative and 11 in the negative.

The question then came on substituting the minority report for the majority report. Councilmen Chase, Hull and Donovan spoke at length in favor of minority report.

The substitute was accepted.

TO MEET NEXT WEEK.

Councilman Hobbs moved, and it was voted, that when the Council adjourn it be until next Monday.

TELEPHONES.

Councilman Hull offered an order requesting the Mayor to confer with the N. E. T. & T. Co. relative to placing slot telephone instruments, without cost to the city, in the several school buildings of the city, the company to receive only such sums as may be deposited in the machines by the users. Adopted.

BUILDING ORDINANCE.

Councilman Chase moved, and it was voted to recall the Building ordinance from the Mayor for further action.

Councilman Bass doubted if it was legal but the City Solicitor ruled that it was.

Mayor Thompson also said it was proper, and added that after consultation with citizens it seemed desirable to change District No. .. He had in a letter to the chairman of the committee outlined changes.

Councilman Chase moved to suspend the rules. Voted. The vote passing, the order was then reconsidered.

Councilman Chase offered several amendments to the ordinance, but as there was some confusion in the matter, it was voted to take a recess of ten minutes.

Councilman Chase then moved to strike out from District No. 1, Hancock street, School street north from Water street, Quincy avenue north from Scammell street, Copeland street, and Newport avenue from South Central avenue to Elmwood avenue and insert in place thereof the following:

Temple street, Maple street, Chestnut street north from Cottage avenue, Saville street from Hancock street to the railroad, Granite street east of the railroad bridge, Franklin street from School street to Pearl street. School street from Hancock street to intersection of west line of Franklin street, Quincy avenue north of Water street, Water street from Franklin to Pleasant street, Copeland street from Miller street to Furnace avenue, Newport avenue from Lincoln to Elmwood avenue, Hancock street from Squantum to School street, Washington from Hancock to Elm street. Motion adopted.

The order was then put on its final passage and was passed to be ordained by unanimous vote.

WATER METERS.

Councilman Polk offered the following order which was adopted:

Ordered: That the Commissioner of Public Works be requested to report at the next meeting of the Council, a detailed statement of the expenditures under the special appropriation of $10,000 for water meters; giving number and kind of meters purchased and the cost of each, number of men employed in installing meters, the amount paid for labor and amount paid for materials used in setting meters; the total amount expended and the average cost per meter installed; the class of services metered and where located. Also state whether in his judgment the number already installed has resulted in decreasing the amount of water consumed in the city.

The order granting the Electric Light Co. a location for poles on various streets took its second reading and was referred to the Committee on Ordinances.

Adjourned at 9.40 until Monday Dec. 10.

SHEA OR THOMPSON

Indications That Election Today Of Mayor Will Be Close

Quincy is holding its annual City election today and Mayor James Thompson is a candidate of the Republicans for a third term. His opponents are William T. Shea, Democrat, and Charles J. Axberg, Socialist. Mr. Shea has conducted an aggressive campaign and there are some doubts about the result.

The voting strength by precincts is as follows, compared with the last two years:

	1904	1905	1906
Ward One, precinct one	468	475	481
Ward One, precinct two	532	540	544
Ward Two, precinct one	335	305	337
Ward Two, precinct two	442	447	473
Ward Three, precinct one	546	549	531
Ward Three, precinct two	441	452	450
Ward Four, precinct one	452	455	465
Ward Four, precinct two	490	481	476
Ward Five	902	904	916
Ward Six, precinct one	360	385	394
Ward Six, precinct two	310	309	320
	5,278	5,302	5,381

Hour.	1906.	1905.	1906.	1905.
At 7,	54	64	52	68
At 8,	114	132	113	118
At 9,	171	172	152	171
At 10,	201	202	173	207
At 11,	239	237	209	250
At 12,	264	250	239	278
At 1,	295	293	280	333
At 2,	337	336	329	364

Although the election officers can not begin to count the votes today until after the polls close, it is probable that the vote for Mayor will be known as early as 5 o'clock, and that at 8 or 9 o'clock all of the official returns will be in.

The plan of the election officers, as soon as the polls close, is to separate the ballots into three piles, namely, Democratic, Republican and Socialist, as far as the head of the ticket is concerned. Then the piles will be counted and the result telephoned to City Hall before counting is commenced.

Thus it will be known early who has been elected Mayor, and it will be necessary to wait patiently for the returns for Councilmen, School Committee, and on the License question.

Inasmuch as the Election Laws have been changed, so that the returns will be two hours later, the publishers of the Daily Ledgar have decided that it is not expedient to print Election Extras this evening. By the new law the election officers cannot begin their count of the ballots until the polls close at 4 P. M. The Daily Ledger of tomorrow will have complete returns with comments.

WARD ONE.

The Quincy ward is falling a little short of its vote last December, but it is wholly in Precinct two on the east side of Hancock street. The large vote in Precinct one is due to the effort of Councilman Gelotte's friends to re-elect him.

It looks as though the pluralities of Mayor Thompson would be considerably reduced today. Last year the vote was 284 to 80 in Precinct one, and 272 to 151 in Precinct two.

At 11 A. M. Precinct one had cast just the same number of votes as last December, but at 1 o'clock was two ahead. In Precinct Two, the total was 41 behind at 11 o'clock and 47 behind at 1 o'clock.

WARD TWO.

Early returns from Quincy Point indicate that this ward will poll about its usual vote. The early morning vote was quite brisk, as many whose business is out of town voted before leaving the city. Carriages are in use at both precincts and they are being kept constantly on the move.

Candidate Shea is making a great effort to carry the ward. For several years past the ward has been hovering on the line between the two parties. One year it goes Republican and the next year it flops to the Democratic side.

Aside from the head of the ticket

"DANDROCIDE"

Dandruff is a scalp disease. "Dandrocide" is its cure. "Dandrocide" is a scalp food, and in ridding the dandruff, gives the hair cells natural life and healthy hair growth. Most hair tonics gloss the hair, but leave the damaging dandruff.

"Dandrocide" removes the dandruff, thereby removing the evil. "Dandrocide" grows a bountiful supply of long and silky hair—a luxuriant growth of hair will come with the use of "Dandrocide."

JAPS TO NVADE HAWAII?

Picked Men With Military Experience Said to Be Arriving at Honolulu In Great Numbers --Paris Has a War Scare

London, Dec. 4.—The Daily Mail publishes an editorial this morning on the difficulties of the United States with Japan over the school question in San Francisco. The paper is of the opinion that in spite of the gravity of the situation, owing to the fact that President Roosevelt has no power to coerce California, it is foolish to suggest that Japan would enforce her rights at the cannon's mouth.

Japan certainly has no intention of picking a quarrel with the United States, the paper says. America has been her firm friend in the past, her rulers will be able to make large allowances for the difficulties of America and, as President Roosevelt is certain to meet Japan's requests in a fair and kindly spirit, the incident will pass and be forgotten.

"Yet, sooner or later," The Daily Mail concludes, "the west will have to reckon with the fact of Asiatic claims to perfect equality with the westerner."

Hawaii Fears Invasion of Japs

Honolulu, Dec. 4.—Indications are cropping out that the Japanese who have been arriving here for some time, as well as those who have been granted passports and who will arrive in the future, are picked men with military experience. In some quarters it is asserted that they plan to seize the Hawaiian islands.

F. Y. Idsuma, representing Saler & Fraser, the amalgamation of the American and the British shipping firms in Yokohama, whose steamship, the Shibata, is now in port, says that there are at least 100,000 Japanese in Japan ready to come to Hawaii.

San Francisco In the Right

San Francisco, Dec. 4.—The Call says: School Director Oliver states that Secretary Metcalf, before his departure for Washington, told the school directors that he believed they were clearly within their rights in establishing a separate school for Japanese pupils. This would tend to correct the impression that Metcalf had decided to favor the Japanese in his report to the president. The secretary's report, it may be assumed, will conform to his assurances to the school board.

Paris Has a War Scare

Paris, Dec. 4.—La Presse devotes two columns to an inquiry into the probabilities of a Japanese-American war, with an interview which is interesting. The writer visited the American embassy, where he found the officials reticent, merely expressing the belief that the actual conditions were greatly exaggerated in the current reports. On leaving the embassy the writer encountered a man whom he describes as a compatriot of President Roosevelt, a well informed diplomat accredited to a neighboring power and a friend of France. This diplomat, according to La Presse, explained that the present situation was as interesting to France as to the United States. He said that Japan had her batteries ready to attack and take Indo-China. This was denied, but it must not be forgotten that the denials were merely diplomatic.

To Collect Leiter Money

Washington, Dec. 4.—Lord Curzon, former viceroy of India, has been appointed ancillary guardian for his three minor children by Justice Gould of the supreme court of the District of Columbia. He is authorized to collect any money due the children from the estate of their grandfather, the late Levi Z. Leiter, and to collect the interest on the marriage settlement deed of trust which was executed at the time of Curzon's marriage to Miss Leiter. Curzon arrived here yesterday.

Railway Must Pave Street

Washington, Dec. 4.—The Fairhaven and Westville Railway company of New Haven was unable to secure relief through the supreme court of the United States from the exaction by that city that the company should pay for the paving of the portion of a street covered by and adjacent to its tracks under a special legislative enactment.

Used Impure Milk

Pittsburg, Dec. 4.—At a hearing at Beaver before Judge Holt, no defense was offered by the Pullman Car company in the case brought against it by the state pure food commission, charging the company with supplying its patrons with adulterated milk. The company entered a plea of nolle contendere and was fined $75 and costs.

Rare Disease Resembles Leprosy

Honolulu, Dec. 4.—Dr. Walter Brinckhoff, who is to have charge of the leprosy investigation station on the Island of Molokai, is now studying a rare disease similar to leprosy. He is seeking to find its relation, if any, to leprosy.

Resignation of Isthmian Engineer

Panama, Dec. 4.—It is reported here that John C. Sullivan, assistant chief engineer of the isthmian canal commission, has resigned. He was appointed in October, 1905.

The Wollaston Car Service

A meeting attended by a delegation representing one hundred or more residents of Wollaston and vicinity who are patrons of the Old Colony Street Railway, was held on Saturday evening, December 1, at the residence of Councilman Wendell H. Hull, to discuss the street car service in that section of the city of Quincy.

The existing conditions relative to this service were considered at length as, also, were suggestions for improvements therein.

The complaints, as stated by the gentlemen present, included: Badly ventilated cars with their attending disagreeable odors; crowded condition of cars running through Wollaston; insufficient number of cars in regular service; inferior quality of equipment; frequent disarrangements in the through service which require changing of cars at Neponset; lack of properly advertised schedules; poor management at Neponset; poor connections and inadquate waiting room facilities at Quincy Square. Letters containing complaints of the same general character from a number of parties who could not be present, were read.

After a discussion extending through a period of two hours, the meeting expressed its sentiments in the following votes:

Voted: That there should be 15 minute passenger service through that part of Wollaston lying west of the steam railroad tracks, the additional cars required over the present 30 minute service to run between Neponset and Weymouth Landing on about the same schedule as formerly existed.

Voted: That Wollaston is entitled to and should have better cars.

Voted: That the Old Colony Street Railway Company should publish schedules giving the time that cars are due at terminals, every turnout on single track and at prominent intermediate points on double track lines.

Voted: That the patrons of the road are entitled to and should have courteous treatment from each and every employe.

Voted: That no franchise over Randolph avenue for trolley freight should be granted until the company will state definitely what its freight rates to Quincy are to be.

Voted: That a copy of these minutes be transmitted to each member of the Quincy City Council, to the Quincy Daily Ledger, and to the president of the Old Colony Street Railway Company. FRED L. EASTMAN, Sec'y.

SADLY STRICKEN TOWN

Over Two Hundred Smallpox Cases and a Coal Famine

Halifax, Dec. 4.—A dispatch from the mining town of Springhill, N. S., says that there is an alarming outbreak of smallpox there, and that the dread disease is spreading rapidly. Over 200 cases exist in the town. All the public schools, churches and places of public amusement have been closed, and a general vaccination ordered.

To add to the troubles of the town, 1500 men and boys employed in the collieries are on strike and a coal famine exists. The coal company has refused to sell coal to the citizens and much suffering has been thereby entailed, as many of the families are entirely destitute of coal. The pit boys went on strike because the management refused to reinstate a boy who had been dismissed. The men went out in sympathy with the boys, thus tying up the collieries. The merchants of the town are endeavoring to bring in coal from outside to relieve the distress.

Boy Shot Two Men

New York, Dec. 4.—John Naparano, 15 years old, is charged with having shot and mortally wounded Francisco Daminio, 26 years old, and Donato Batillo, 33 years old, in an altercation at a saloon in Brooklyn. The police say that Frank Naparano, proprietor of the saloon and father of the boy who was arrested, Daminio and Batillo had a dispute while playing cards with the result that Daminio and Batillo later threatened to kill Naparano and his entire family. John Naparano, the police charge, opened fire on the two men.

"Federation of Labor a Trus"

Chicago, Dec. 4.—At the convention of the Citizens' Industrial Association of America President Post characterized the American Federation of Labor as the "greatest trust in the world." He said: "In the late election, where the labor trust was avowedly arrayed against the common people in an effort to retire congressmen who voted contrary to the dictates of the trust, the discovery was made that the great mass of citizens are not members of the labor trust or of any other trust."

Morgan Still After Cromwell

Washington, Dec. 4.—Senator Morgan is planning to resume his investigation of the action of W. N. Cromwell of New York in connection with isthmian canal and Panama railroad affairs. By an exhaustive investigation of contracts and the minutes of the meetings of the isthmian canal commission, Morgan has fortified himself for a renewal of the controversy which caused a bitter struggle between these men for several weeks during the last session of congress.

Lawson Parts With Horses

New York, Dec. 4.—One hundred and twenty-one horses from Thomas W. Lawson's Dreamwold stud farm were sold at auction here, the lot bringing $64,500, or an average of $533 a head. Dare Devil was bought by W. H. Reid of New York for $9700, the top price of the day's salt. Lawson telegraphed from Boston authorizing the auctioneer to buy the animal back at a reasonable price. The return sale was made by Reid at $11,000.

Must F ce Murder Charge

Washington, Dec. 4.—The supreme court of the United States decided the habeas corpus cases of Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone, the representatives of the Western Federation of Miners, who are held in prison in Idaho on the charge of complicity in the murder of former Governor Steunenberg, adversely to the men. The effect of the decision will be to continue to hold the men in confinement for trial in Idaho.

Resignation of Spanish Cabinet

Madrid, Dec. 4.—The resignation of the ministry yesterday was followed by hostile demonstrations in the chamber of deputies. King Alfonso called on General Rios, who resigned the premiership in 1905, to form a new cabinet, but the general declined to undertake the task because of the divergencies of opinion in the liberal party.

Showmen Beat Train Conductor

Charlotte, N. C., Dec. 4.—The train hauling Sparks' circus was wrecked at Roberdel and one showman was killed and two others badly injured. The cause of the wreck is unknown. Several of the showmen, infuriated by the death of their companion, beat Conductor Slack into insensibility and escaped into the surrounding woods.

Carelessness Caused Explosion

Huntingdon, Pa., Dec. 4.—The oil storage house of the Pennsylvania Railroad company here was completely demolished by a terrific explosion and seven workmen were horribly burned. The explosion was the result of the men entering the building with a lighted torch.

Building Fell on Workmen

Dayton, O., Dec. 4.—Five men employed by the John Rouser company to raze a three-story brick building were buried beneath the debris occasioned by the collapse of the structure. Fred Myers was killed instantly, and four others were seriously injured.

Earthquake Disturbs Fort de France

Fort De France, Martinique, Dec. 4.—An earthquake shock was felt here last evening. No damage was caused. The shock lasted one minute and a half. The oscillations were from north to south.

"SWORE FALSELY"

Attack on Doctors Who Testified Against Gillette

LAWYERS' HOT ORATORY

Sensational Remarks of Counse For Accused Man Replied o by District Attorney, W o Talks of "Rogues" on Jur s

Herkimer, N. Y., Dec. 4.—Never perhaps in the history of Herkimer county justice have the closing scenes of a murder trial been characterized by such bitter attacks of counsel as developed in the summing up of the Gillette case. Replete as the trial has been with surprises and sensations, none was prepared for the sharp exchange with which the day closed.

A. M. Mills, a close personal and political friend of the prosecutor, made the last appeal to the jury to acquit Chester F. Gillette of the murder of Grace Brown, his sweetheart, at Big Moose lake. He had occupied nearly the whole of the session and it was late in the day when he dramatically declared that the five physicians who had sworn that there was a bloodclot on Grace Brown's brain had sworn to a falsehood; that they had gotten together and agreed upon a common story for the witness stand, and deliberately withheld testimony favorable to his client. Intimating that the physicians were improperly influenced, he added:

"If there is an investigation of graft, some of these five doctors may figure in it. They were paid large fees to give evidence which it was thought was so prepared that it would convict this boy. I charge here and now— and I know personally each of the physicians—that they did not bring in all the facts. Each of these doctors knew that a fraud was being perpetrated. You can't pick out five reputable physicians in the country who would do such a thing as these doctors did."

As Mills concluded District Attorney Ward jumped to his feet and, interrupting the judge, who had decided upon an adjournment, launched into a scathing denunciation of Mills and the methods he had taken to sway the jury over to the defense. As he spoke the outstretched and trembling hand of the prosecutor shook in the face of the counsel for the defense.

"When Mr. Mills stands here and tells you as he just has," he said, "that those five doctors, reputable men who enter your homes perhaps every day, are liars and burglars, he says that which is not true. He doesn't expect by that address to reach the intelligent men on this jury. He thinks that there may be a rogue among you. You know sometimes men are on juries who have debts of gratitude to pay from away back years ago and they pay them by violating the rules and rendering a verdict not in accordance with the evidence.

"That is what is called a rogue on a jury, and he hoped there might be a rogue among you. Then they also seek to get a weak and unintelligent man on the jury who won't be able to put an act in one town with an act in another town, and so connect the evidence. They hoped that there might be a man of this kind on this jury and they would try to reach him and thus effect a miscarriage of justice."

In this strain, so excited at times that the big audience fairly gasped, Ward brought to a spectacular close a day of steady speechmaking, with here and there a dramatic period.

Mr. Mills contended that Grace Brown committed suicide and that his client had been unfairly dealt with. Gillette had, he said, been pitted against the united powers of a persistent district attorney's department, an unscrupulous sheriff's department, and a biased and unfair public press. The district attorney had failed to show any plausible motive for the murder laid at Gillette's door.

It is expected that the case will go to the jury this afternoon.

Two Men and Woman Slain

San Diego, Cal., Dec. 4.—Howard Gore and Edward Brady, ranchers, have been at enmity over a claim which Gore is alleged to have jumped. They met yesterday afternoon in what is known as Hell's Hole canon. The dispute was renewed and Gore shot Brady, killing him. Mrs. Brady, who was present, fatally shot Gore, who killed Mrs. Brady before he died.

President Advertises the Navy

Washington, Dec. 4.—The president has written a letter to Secretary Bonaparte telling of his experience aboard the Missouri last summer. He describes the dinner he took with the men, giving the bill of fare in detail to illustrate the point that the sailors are well fed, and makes an argument to show that the navy offers a promising career for young Americans.

Would Knock Out Stock Brokers

Washington, Dec. 4.—A bill striking a death blow at stock brokers was introduced by Representative Macon (Ark). It forbids the dealing in futures of products of the soil, such as cotton, grain and livestock.

Schooner and Cargo Lost

Halifax, Dec. 4.—Schooner Ralph Boudreau, from Halifax for Eastern Harbor, C. B., is ashore and a total wreck at Port Barron, on the Cape Breton coast. The schooner has a full general cargo.

Your Stomach Makes Signs

Do you know them? Hunger and thirst, for example, are the sensations that communicate its need of food and drink. You heed these signs, but there are others, just as important, that you frequently neglect.

When your stomach refuses to digest its food, it is making the unmistakable sign

For

Beecham's Pills and gives you decidedly uncomfortable sensations to make known its need of this old and proven medicine. Dull pain in the pit of the stomach, acute indigestion, sick headache, sluggish bowels are all signs of stomach disorder. A dose or two of Beecham's Pills will quickly set things to rights. They relieve the head pains, sweeten and tone the stomach, promote digestion and establish regular and healthy bowel action.

Good appetite, strong digestion, sound sleep and regular habits are a few of the beneficial effects that follow the use of

URIC-O CURED HIM.

Rheumatism Tortured and Crippled Mr. Theo. D. Hadley of Kennett Square, Pa.

Dear Friend:

You will remember of my writing you some time ago regarding Uric-O for rheumatism. I took your advice and purchased three bottles from my local druggist and began its use at once. Favorable effects were experienced and day by day I improved. I have used the three bottles and can truthfully state that I am a well man.

Uric-O has cured in me as bad a case of rheumatism as ever existed. My suffering for months was intense, some nights not able to get one moment's sleep, could not raise my right hand to my head had to do all with my left. I could not even dress myself for over three months. My trouble being inflammatory rheumatism had settled in my right arm and shoulder, crippling, as I thought, permanently. This is the third letter I have written, a thing I hardly expected to be able to do again, as I did not think I could possibly recover from the terrible effects of the disease, as you know I am past the four score year on the way to the "New Jerusalem." I am happy to state that after suffering so long with the most painful forms of rheumatism, that Uric-O has cured me and nearly normal conditions exist. My former strength is improving, and yet for all I am 85 years old, sleep well again, eat well and as hale and hearty as a man at the age of fifty. I thank you again most heartily for recommending Uric-O to me. I can now recommend it to my friends.

Theo. H. Hadley, Kennett Square, Pa.

This marvelous specific is sold at 75 cents a bottle, two weeks' treatment, a blood cure for all forms of rheumatism, acting alone on the blood, muscles and kidneys. Uric-O is a liquid taken in spoonful doses three times daily and must be used for rheumatism only. Ask your druggist for samples and circulars explaining the treatment.

Public Interest

IS NOW CENTERED ON

The Pure Food Law.

WE Have Always Maintained that the best that money could buy was always the cheapest in the end, because it is always the bargain hunters that have to pay the DOCTOR, buying as they do IMPURE foods of all kinds, FOODS that are UNFIT for ANY PERSON'S STOMACH, being mixed as they are with different kinds of PRESERVATIVES and SECRET PREPARATIONS to take the place of GOOD PURE FOODS. And some dealers selling these goods at a GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICE over the pure kind, GUARANTEE you NOTHING, but—"Poor Health to You and Your Family," and although you can buy the "just as good kind," you can save nothing as that kind is unhealthy and dangerous to the whole human family. Now our standard is to always sell the best of everything and the steady increase of our business year after year proves to us that we have the right idea, and we know it must be very satisfactory to our many customers to feel that what they buy at our store is ABSOLUTELY PURE and HEALTHFUL and the Food Laws are being strictly enforced by us. Our Goods are all GOVERNMENT INSPECTED and also carefully inspected by us before they are put on sale or sent to your homes, and although you pay perhaps a few cents more to us than some dealers charge, don't you think it is money well spent, considering all things?—YOUR HEALTH, which is the greatest blessing we can have,—think well about this and we know you will agree with us and do your trading where you know the goods can be depended upon to be absolutely Pure.

We have just received our season's pack of choice canned and bottled goods, FRESH and DRIED FRUITS, all kinds of Cereals, Ketchup, Pickles, Jams, Jellies, Prunes, Figs, Nuts, Dates, Table Raisins, Citron, Lemon and Orange Peel, Olives, Sardines,—in fact everything for your tastes and fancies. All the leading brands of FLOUR. Fancy New Orleans Molasses.

OUR MARKET is complete, AND REMEMBER, we sell nothing that has been doctored or filled with Preservatives to keep it. ABSOLUTELY NOTHING but Carefully Selected Meats are on sale at OUR STORE. Stamped with the Government Inspection Stamp, that insures to you and to us the point of perfection, which we are always striving to reach for the benefit of our trade. Remember Thanksgiving will be a day of Thanksgiving to you after you have visited our store, for our stock is new, large and wholesome.

We will have a grand display of that great National Bird, THE TURKEY, the same VERMONT KIND we have always sold you,—Chicken, Fowl and Duck, direct from WILLIAM R. DRAKE of Braintree, and he knows how to dress them so as to please the eye as well as the palate. They don't grow nicer than he has. Fruit and vegetables in abundance, and don't forget our famous LA TOURANE COFFEE, no dinner complete without it.

PORTLAND'S LANDSLIDE

City Goes Democratic and For Municipal Water Works

Portland, Me., Dec. 4.—The Democrats have gained control of the Portland city government for the first time since 1892 and the second since 1885. They re-elected Mayor Clifford yesterday for a second term by 422 plurality over F. B. Milliken (Rep). The Democrats elected seven out of nine aldermen and 16 out of 27 councilmen.

Returns on the question of the city owning the water works by means of a water district, or renewing the contract with the Portland Water company for the city supply of water, came in very late. It is estimated, however, that the vote was about five to one in favor of a water district.

The landslide is accounted for by several reasons, the principal one of which seemed to be a desire on the part of a number of Republicans to get a change of administration and a reorganization of the party. Another is that the Democratic party came out in favor of municipal ownership of the water works, which was made a feature of the campaign.

There also was a feeling among the citizens who believe in resubmission of the liquor prohibitory law that if the city should be carried by the Republicans it would be taken as a repudiation of the sentiment expressed in favor of resubmission at the state election in September, when the entire county went Democratic for the first time in years.

Changes In the Cabinet

Washington, Dec. 4.—The first cabinet shift will take place about the first of the year, when Mr. Moody will take his place on the supreme court bench. Mr. Bonaparte will then go to the department of justice, Mr. Strauss will enter the cabinet as secretary of commerce and labor, and Mr. Metcalf will become secretary of the navy. Mr. Shaw will retire March 4 and Mr. Cortelyou will take the treasury portfolio and will be succeeded as postmaster general by George Von L Meyer, the present ambassador to St. Petersburg. Mr. Garfield will succeed Secretary Hitchcock as the head of the interior department at the same time.

Returns Home to Die

Montreal, Dec. 4.—Henry Hirbour of Waterbury, Conn., has received papers which prove his American citizenship and he will return to his home in a few days. Hirbour was returning to his home in Waterbury when United States immigration officials refused to allow him to cross the border on the ground that he was suffering from tuberculosis. At that time he was unable to produce naturalization papers. Hirbour is dying, but he says that he is happy now that he will be permitted to spend his last days at home with his family.

Facing Charges of Extortion

San Francisco, Dec. 4.—Mayor Schmitz and Abraham Ruef appeared before Judge Dunne for arraignment on charges of extortion. When Schmitz took his seat before the bar he exchanged no greeting with Ruef, who had arrived earlier, indicating that the relations between the mayor and Ruef had become strained. At the request of counsel the arraignment of the two men was postponed to next Thursday.

Magistrate Ignored Modus Vivendi

St. Johns, Dec. 4.—The supreme court has fixed upon Jan. 8 for hearing the appeal of the fishermen against the decision of a magistrate fining them $500 each for violating the bait act by fishing for American vessels within territorial waters, in spite of the fact that the modus vivendi between Great Britain and the United Stes guaranteed immunity to fishermen if they shipped outside the three-mile line.

Tunnel Workers Killed

New York, Dec. 4.—A spark from a candle carried by a laborer dropped into a can of giant powder and caused an explosion among a gang of workmen in the Pennsylvania railroad tunnel under the East river last night. Three men were killed outright and a fourth is dying. Of 12 others less seriously hurt, two required hospital treatment. The others suffered chiefly from burns.

Graft Charge Against Councilman

Indianapolis, Dec. 4.—Harry E. Royse, member of the common council, was indicted by the grand jury on the charge of indirectly having an interest in public contracts while serving as a member of the city council. It is claimed that Royse acted as publicity agent for two paving concerns having city contracts. Royse is chairman of the finance committee.

NEWS IN BRIEF

It is announced at Columbia university that funds have been provided by gift sufficient to permit the establishment of the chair of social legislation.

William P. Leeds, president of the cago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad, has purchased the estate of Frederick W. Vanderbilt at Newport, R. I., known as Rough Point. The estate is valued at $333,000.

The announcement was made at the annual meeting at Boston of the Wesleyan Alumni Association of New England that the alumni fund now amounts to $113,000 and it was predicted that the amount will soon reach $200,000.

The Consolidated Gas company of New York has increased the wages of all its employes who are in receipt of salaries of $2000 or less. The total increase will amount to 10 percent.

Captain Samuel Hedge, who for many years commanded steamers on the line between Boston and Savannah, died at the age of 70 at his home at East Dennis, Mass.

TRIED TRIPLE MURDER

Italian Shot His Wife, Father-In-Law and Mother-In-Law

Providence, Dec. 4.—Salvatori Alvergamo, a young Italian, is under arrest here on the charge of having attempted to murder his wife, Josephine, 19 years of age, his father-in-law, Luigi Gautiero, and his mother-in-law, Marie Gautiero, in a house on West Exchange street. Mrs. Alvergamo was shot through the neck and is in a critical condition, while Gautiero and his wife, who received slight wounds, will recover. The cause of the attempted triple murder is not known.

According to the police, Alvergamo arrived in this city from New York yesterday afternoon and immediately went to his father-in-law's house. The shooting happened shortly after his arrival at the house. According to his mother-in-law, Alvergamo has made repeated threats to shoot them all, but she would not state why.

Clear Field For Chapple

Boston, Dec. 4.—Senator Chapple of Salem will be the next president of the Massachusetts senate, according to a statement issued at the conclusion of a meeting of the various candidates for that office. A canvas of the situation showed that Chapple had pledged to him a majority of the Republican votes and it was thereupon agreed by the other candidates to withdraw from the field and to permit Chapple to secure the election without Republican opposition.

To Spend the Winter Afloat

Hyannis, Mass., Dec. 4.—The captains and crews of five of the lightships in this vicinity sailed this morning for the winter's tour of duty afloat. The crews left for the Succonnesset, Cross Rip, Handkerchief, Shovelful and Pollock Rip lightships. The men will not step foot on shore again until March. The crews of the Nantucket, Great Round shoal and Pollock Rip shoal lightships will be taken to their posts the last of the week.

Three Were Killed In Wreck

Burlington, Vt., Dec. 4.—With the exception of Richard H. Brooks, the persons who were injured in the railroad wreck at Vergennes on Saturday and who were brought to the hospital in this city are reported to be comfortable. It is believed that Brooks has an even chance for recovery. A careful canvas of those on board the train resulted in accounting for 38 people, three of whom were killed in the wreck.

Alleged Firebug Held

Malden, Mass., Dec. 4.—Charged with incendiarism in setting a $100,000 fire in this city on the evening of Nov. 8, Max Rudderman, 20, was held in $3000 bonds for trial by Judge Bruce. Previous to rendering his decision there was a lively tilt between Chief Harris and the court, the former desiring to take the case before the grand jury.

Noted Clergyman Dead

Springfield, Mass., Dec. 4.—Rev. Dr. Dewitt C. Durgin, formerly president of Hillsdale college, Michigan, died last night of Bright's disease, aged 76 years. He was one of the leading clergymen of the Free Baptist denomination. Six years ago he retired and has since lived with his daughter in this city. He was born at Thornton, N. H.

Schooner Crippled In Gale

Vineyard Haven, Mass., Dec. 4.—Schooner Miles M. Merry, Norfolk for Portland, was stripped of her head sails while off Absecon, N. J., in a gale. Her crew worked her here without the aid of a single piece of canvas forward of the foremast. She will wait here until other head sails can be sent down from Boston.

Persists In Being a Thief

Boston, Dec. 4.—William H. O'Brien, who has served sentences in several states, was arrested in this city on a charge of stealing an overcoat. Although his picture is in the collection in nearly every police headquarters in the country, he was photographed again and his fingermarks taken.

Was Bound to Kill Himself

Worcester, Mass., Dec. 4.—Meberic Morbeau, 47 years of age, a printer, committed suicide by drinking two ounces of carbolic acid. Despondency over his wife's ill-health is ascribed as the cause of his act. Two previous attempts were made on Sunday by Morbeau to end his life.

Barges Sink In Storm

New Haven, Dec. 4.—Three barges, coal-laden, were lost and two driven ashore during rough weather and a snowstorm along the Connecticut coast. No lives were lost.

To Revise Pines Treaty

Washington, Dec. 4.—There will be a new treaty sent to the senate soon, defining the title of the island of Pines. The present treaty has been pending for nearly three years. It is planned to redraft the treaty in order to incorporate more definite safeguards for the interests of the Americans who had bought lands in the island prior to the negotiation of the pending treaty.

Section Men Will Win Strike

Digby, N. S., Dec. 4.—A settlement of the strike of the section men on the Dominion Atlantic railway is in sight and all hands will probably return to work today. It is likely the management will accede to the men's demands for an increase in wages.

Dynamite Explosion In Colliery

Pottsville, Pa., Dec. 4.—Robert Machetti, Thomas Dolan and Joseph Sanlrock were probably fatally injured last night at the Glendower colliery. While trying to open a case of dynamite it exploded, the concussion shaking the whole mine.

there is a spirited contest for Ward Councilmen. There are eight candidates for the three positions. There are three Republicans, three Democrats and two Socialists.

There is but one candidate seeking reelection from this ward, Councilman Donovan, one of the Democratic nominees. He has a strong following and his election is predicted. It is an open question, however, who the other two men will be.

WARD THREE.

Business in the South Quincy ward is practically suspended today, as it is too cold for the men to work in the granite yards. This means that instead of the voter coming in bunches as in other years, the voting will be steady throughout the day.

The voting during the early morning was not particularly brisk, but was steady. That the ward will get out a large vote there is no question. Neither is there any question but that it will give Mayor Thompson a majority, although this morning no figures were advanced.

There is quite a spirited contest on for Ward Councilmen, ten candidates being in the field for the three positions to be filled.

It is quite generally admitted however that that the three Republican nominees will win out. The votes will be split, however, as each of the candidates has a certain following.

Mayor Thompson feels sure that the Ward will stand by him and give him a good majority. On the other hand Mr. Shea believes that he will carry the ward.

WARD FOUR.

The great battle of the day is being fought in the West Quincy ward. This is the home ward of Candidate Shea. It is also the home ward of Commissioner Burke whose name has figured more or less prominently in the campaign that has just closed.

There was a time when there was no question as to the ward being Democratic by a large majority. Of late years, however, the party has been split up and the Republicans have made great inroads into it, so that today it is a fight to again make it a Democratic stronghold. That the ward will give Mr. Shea a plurality there can not be much question, but the Republicans are working hard to keep it as small as possible.

Mr. Shea has no doubt in his own mind but that the ward will stand by him nobly. Neither has he any doubt but that he will be elected Mayor of the city.

This ward elected a Republican ward Councilman last year and the Republicans claim that they will repeat the trick this year. Of the six candidates for the City Council, Councilman McGilvray is the only one seeking reelection and he will probably win.

WARD FIVE.

The Wollaston ward which it was reported would cast a light vote is polling even a larger vote than last year. As this ward is very largely Republican it looks like a good plurality for Thompson.

The voting during the morning hours was brisk, and at every hour the total vote was ahead of that of December, 1905.

At 12.15 the box registered 501 votes, an increase of 43 over 1905 at the same hour. The total vote of the ward last year was 600, and this noon it looked as though the total would be greatly in excess of a year ago.

There have been many rumors that there was considerable opposition to Mayor Thompson in this ward, but the political literature of Mr. Shea during the past few days has reacted and those that were against Thompson are now for him.

WARD SIX.

Outside of the Mayorality question there is but little interest in Atlantic. This ward has been Republican for some years and there is no question but what it will be again this year.

Last year the ward gave Thompson 400 and Wilson 126. Mr. Shea is a stronger candidate than was Mr. Wilson and will get a larger vote.

A good vote is being polled in both precincts. Fully as large as a year ago, which indicates that the voters are having their little say before going to business.

For Ward Councilmen the general impression seems to be that Councilmen Hobbs, Moir and Sawyer will be returned. There is some opposition to Councilman Moir, but it is not believed that it will be enough to defeat him.

The Daily Ledger will not print election extras tonight but will bulletin in its show window the vote for Mayor and other figures.

Funeral of Rev. Michael J. Duffy

The funeral of Rev. Michael J. Duffy was held this morning at 10 o'clock from St. John's church. The services were very impressive and the edifice was filled with the many friends of the young priest. Seated on the altar were upward of fifty priests from all parts of the state,

The flowers were many and beautiful, almost hiding the casket from view.

A solemn requiem high mass was celebrated with music by an augmented choir.

Thi eulogy was delivered by Rev. William Walsh of the Paulist Fathers, and a classmate of the dead priest, and the blessing was by Bishop Brady. The burial was at St. Mary's cemetery.

Letter from George E. Adams

Editor of the Daily Ledgar:

I desire to reply briefly to the statements made by a writer of a letter in your Saturday's paper relating to legal services rendered by me to the city. And I wish to answer them now while the turmoil is still on, rather than wait until the battle is over in order that the present article cannot be misconstrued as having been affected by the way the election went.

If that writer had had sufficient mental activity or had possessed the necessary diligence he would have found the facts enumerated below which anyone conversant with the situation knows. If he had examined the bills, he would see that his statements were about as accurate as they were perhaps intended to be.

Let us take his remarks in turn:

I.—The "almost $500," which he says was "dipped out of the public treasury," comes in his own figures to $467.51. Out of this amount there were various large disbursements in the civil case which were tried for court costs, printing extended copies of the record for transmission to the Supreme Court, etc., so that I personally did not receive the amount the writer would infer. Other than this the fees received were proportional in amount with those paid outside counsel under previous city solicitors for similar services.

II—With reference to the police cases: —A number of former City Solicitors, while in office, either tried such cases and received extra compensation therefore, or else allowed outside counsel to be employed.

I can readily refer anyone to the year and pages of City Reports containing such items. Those were men who stand well in their profession and in the community, and they would not have thus acted had they not been of the opinion that such work was not a part of their regular duty.

But,—not only is this the situation concerning Police department cases, but previous City Solicitors have called in counsel in other cases, where large remuneration was paid. In fairness to the present City Solicitor I would say that it is my understanding he receives no extra compensation for police cases and he has tried many of them.

III—Take the item for probate work. Each year there is paid to the register of deeds between $200 and $300 for abstracting records of conveyances which involves a large amount of labor. No one would contend that this was a part of the duties of the City Solicitor. Likewise, some one must make abstracts of probate records. For years this has been done by one of our most respected townsmen Mr. Edwin W. Marsh.

The City Reports show that he received $25 and one year $30 for his services. When he gave the work up I was asked to take it, and I receive $25 for the same, although the work is much heavier now than formerly. I guess, therefore, that we can safely set it down that this dream of the writer of Saturday's letter came from the same pipe as his others concerning me.

IV—Regarding the appointment of City Solicitor. When that appointment was being considered and when it was made I was a member of the City Council, and therefore ineligible to that office. When that point was made (and it was brought up quite a while prior to the date of the appointment) I openly and publicly withdrew my name as a candidate and there was nothing further to it. So it would seem that its only "balm" in the case might be some which is reasonably needed to rub on the eyes of the writer so that he might see and know what he is talking and writing about.

V.—About political activity. Ending with December, 1905, I finished five years' service in the City Council, part of which was as Councilman-at-large. Since then I have taken no part whatever in politics with the single exception of allowing the use of my name (with no solicitations from me) as a member of the Republican Ward Committee of Ward One, on which committee I was elected with absolutely no effort on my part, and no efforts requested by me of any one else.

It might be worth adding under this head that I signed no political paper for any Mayoralty candidate, and have attended no political meetings, gatherings, conferences, secret sessions or anything else in that line.

This article is not a political treatise. It is an answer only to an attack directed at me. I do not know that the deluded remarks of the misguided writer of that other article need any reply but a decent regard for the truth and fairer play to the present mayor and city solicitor is reason enough for writing this statement.

Very truly yours,
GEORGE E. ADAMS.

Fractured Leg.

The many friends of James M. McTiernan of West Quincy will be grieved to hear of the sad accident which befell him on Thanksgiving afternoon. While vaulting a fence, in crossing a field adjoining his house, he accidentally slipped and in falling, fractured his right leg just above the ankle, which was also seriously sprained. The accident is especially unfortunate since it may prove a serious setback to the young man, who being in his senior year at Tufts Medical College, was to have been a candidate in June for the degree of M. D.

TODAY'S COURT.

James H. Crook and Timothy M. O'Connell were fined $15 for being idle and disorderly at Braintree.

Edward Brophy was fined $10 for drunkenness at Milton.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

WORMS

Unsuspected worms are the cause of numerous little things that go wrong with children. When a child is sick you rarely think that its sickness is caused by worms, yet worms, either directly or indirectly, are the cause of three quarters of all the ills of childhood. Children, and often-times adults feel out of sorts, are irritable, feel listless and unrefreshed in the morning; suffer with indigestion, have a variable appetite, foul tongue, offensive breath; hard and full belly, with occasional gripings and pains about the navel; eyes heavy, and dull; itching of the nose; short, dry cough; grinding of the teeth; slow fever; and often in children, convulsions—in the majority of cases the cause of all the trouble is worms though you may not suspect their presence.

DR. TRUE'S ELIXIR

a pure vegetable compound, has been the standard household remedy since 1857; it never fails to expel not only worms but all waste matter, leaving the blood rich and pure, the stomach sweet, the bowels regular and the whole system strong and healthy.

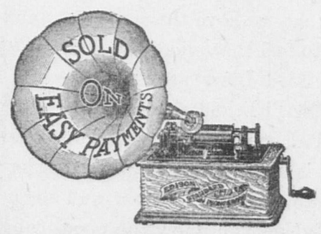

The mother who gives her children Dr. True's Elixir regularly is wise, because it not only increases the appetite, acts as a preventative of coughs, cold, fever and worms but gives rugged, robust health.

MAYOR THOMPSON FOR THIRD TERM

His Plurality Less Than 200 Increased Majority Against License

2,136 to 1,941.

Mayor Thompson is re-elected for a third term.

But the vote of William T. Shea is the largest ever given to a Democratic candidate, not excepting Mayors Hodges, Adams.

Mayor Thompson's vote and also his plurality are the smallest he ever received, as will be seen by these figures:

Year.	Vote.	Plurality.
1904,	2,582	1,064
1905,	2,821	1,644
1906,	2,136	195

The majorities may be seen at a glance in the summary below. Mayor Thompson carried six of the eleven precincts, and four of the six wards. Candidate Shea led in both precincts in Ward Two and both in Ward Four, also precinct one of Ward Three where Mayor Thompson resides. The Republican plurality of 329 in the Wollaston ward was overcome by the Democratic plurality of 332 in the West Quincy ward. But Ward One stood by Mayor Thompson and with Ward Five overcame the Democratic pluralities in the city, so that Wards Three and Six were clean gain:

	Thompson	Shea
Ward One, pre one	91	—
Ward One, pre two	49	—
Ward Two, pre one	—	35
Warp Two, pre two	—	67
Ward Three, pre one	—	12
Ward Three, pre two	100	—
Ward Four, pre one	—	255
Ward Four, pre two	—	77
Ward Five	329	—
Ward Six, pre one	65	—
Ward Six, pre two	27	—
	195

An analysis of the vote of Mayor Thompson for the two years, shows that he lost in every precinct of the city, but especially in Ward Four and the precinct of Ward Three where he resides. In other precincts the loss was very even, in the vicinity of 50 as will be seen:

	Thompson 1905.	Thompson 1906.	Loss in Vote
Ward One, precinct one	284	227	57
Ward One, precinct two	272	232	40
Ward Two, precinct one	154	96	58
Ward Two, precinct two	195	145	50
Ward Three, precinct one	283	203	80
Ward Three, precinct two	255	220	35
Ward Four, precinct one	203	81	122
Ward Four, precinct two	264	161	103
Ward Five	512	472	40
Ward Six, precinct one	231	173	58
Ward Six, precinct two	169	126	43
	2,822	2,136	686

Candidate Shea's gain over Candidate Wilson last year was larger than the loss of Mayor Thompson, showing that the vote was larger. Last year Mayor Thompson carried every precinct, but this year he lost five of them, those in Ward Four by over 100 plurality. Mr. Shea made large gains in all precincts as will be seen.

	Wilson. 1905	Shea. 1906	Gain in Vote
Ward One, precinct one	80	136	56
Ward One, precinct two	151	183	32
Ward Two, precinct one	93	131	38
Ward Two, precinct two	143	212	69
Ward Three, precinct one	150	215	65
Ward Three, precinct two	73	130	57
Ward Four, precinct one	176	336	160
Ward Four, precinct two	123	248	125
Ward Five	63	143	80
Ward Six, precinct one	71	108	37
Ward Six, precinct two	55	99	44
	1,178	1,941	763

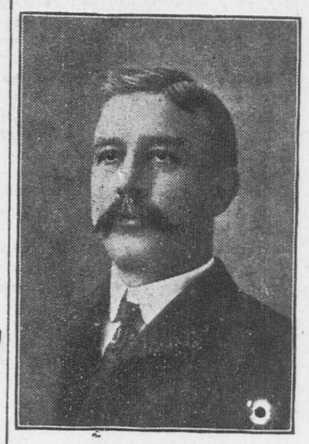

THE CITY COUNCIL.

The five Republican candidates at large for the City Council were elected by practically 1000 plurality. Councilman Ferguson was high man, and ex-Councilman Pinkham the low man of the winners, but Mr. Pinkhams vote was 2164 to 1240 for Mr. Bowditch who lead the defeafed candidates.

There was a surprise in Ward One for Councilmen, one of the three Republican candidates being defeated, and he being Councilman Gilson. The Independent candidate, Councilman Gelotte won, but Mr. Curtis was high man, and Mr. Hayward second.

Ward Two went solidly Democratic, Councilman Donovan being reelected with Messrs. McKinnon and Walsh in the order named.

It was an easy victory for the three Republican candidates for the Council from Ward Three. The new man, Mr.

COUNCILMAN PIPER

Falconer, led, but Councilmen Deacon and Hunter were close running mates. Peter McConarty led the opposition but was over 200 behind.

Ward Four is once again solidly Democratic, the three Democrats being elected by decreased pluralities. Councilman McGilvary was high man. Mr. Farnham led the Republicans.

In Ward Five Councilman Hull was the leading candidate for the Council but Councilman Polk and Mr. Brokaw were close behind.

In Ward Six Councilman Moir was defeated for re-election. Mr. Coombs, the Democrat was high man, with Councilman Hobbs second and Councilman Sawyer third.

FOR SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

Dr. Bushnell, the Republican candidate at large for the School Committee won by over 500 majority. His vote was 2,060 to 1,556 for his Democratic rival Dr. Ash.

For member from Ward One, Dexter E. Wadsworth had no rival and had a walkover, receiving 563 votes.

The same was true of Dr. Curtis in Ward Five, who received 548 votes. This makes three new members on the School Committee of 1907.

LICENSE VOTE,

Every ward and every precinct of the city gave a majority against License, and the total No vote is 55 larger than ever. The Yes vote is 11 larger than last year, and the silent or blank votes smaller.

Ward Five gave the largest No vote, and the smallest Yes vote and hence the largest majority against license.

Wards One, Three and Four, however, cast over 500 No votes, Ward Two over 400, and Ward Six over 350.

The large Yes vote was cast in Ward Four.

Next to Ward Five the largest majority against license was in Ward One and in order the other wards were: Three, Four, Two and Six. In Ward Six however it was decisive 226 majority.

Woman's Health

Every woman may be attractive. Bright eyes, pink cheeks and red lips are her nature-given right. A sallow skin, lack of animation, low spirits and weak nerves may be avoided by the use of Beecham's Pills, a remedy that well deserves the confidence of every woman. Again and again they have proved to be invaluable at those recurring times when so many women feel debilitated and suffer from nervousness, headache and depression. It is wonderful the way these pills assist Nature and relieve the suffering.

Every woman who values health and good looks should become a user of

Local and City Brevities

The Pickwick club has a Shakespeare meeting tonight in charge of Mr. Emery L. Crane.

Mr. and Mrs. Dana Dustin and Miss Viola King of Worcester have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Charles Safford of Clive street for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Donna Casswell and son Teddy of Lawrence, and Mr. Henry Kolb of New York were guests of Mrs. Jacob Kolb of Clive street over the week end.

Mrs. Hollis at the Hancock house is meeting with unusually good success. The house is well filled with guests who appreciate clean sunny rooms and a good table.

The next entertainment in the First Church Social club course on Dec. 14 is to be a dramatic by the Criterion club of Boston, when they will present the four act comedy "A Night Off."

Rev. A. R. Atwood is arranging a Sunday School teacher conference" for the evening of Dec. 14, at the Point church. Rev. Mr. Pickles Ph. D., of Boston, will be the principal speaker. All Sunday schools in Quincy are invited.

Miss Theresa Linburg, who has been studying nursing successfully at Moosehead Lake sanitarium, Maine, the past year, is visiting her parents on Elm street for two weeks and to attend the wedding of her sister, Miss Jennie Linburg.

Bridge Work Delayed.

Holbrook Cabot and Rollins have been so delayed in their contract work on the Neponset bridge, by reason of having received piles too small for use, that it will require some three weeks more, at the present outlook to complete the span of sixty-six feet to the first stone pier and have their part of the bridge-work ready to submit to the N. Y., N. H., & H. R. R. Co. It is now thought that it will be some three months before the Penna Steel Co. will have put the finishing touch upon the steel work of the bridge.

Finnish Club Dedicate Hall

The new hall of the Finnish Workingmen's club on Arthur street was dedicated Saturday evening, There was a very large crowd present, including many from the Socialistic clubs of Boston, Brockton, Maynard, Gardner, Fitchburg and other places. The building was erected entirely by the members of the club who number nearly 200. It has a frontage of 35 feet on Arthur street, and a depth of 85 feet, and is three stories high.

The first floor is devoted to an assembly hall, banquet hall and smoking room.

The second floor is fitted for a theatre with well appointed stage and gallery. The walls are finished in blue decorative work and harmonize with the settings.

The exercises opened with a banquet. This was followed by addresses by John Anderson of Boston, Alex Halonen, editor of the Finnish Socialist of Fitchburg, and Hendrick Ylanen, president of the club.

At 8 o'clock the four-act drama, "Coming Home," was presented by the dramatic society connected with the club. Between the acts there was a concert by the Finnish band and a chorus of 40 voices.

Sunday afternoon there was a dinner, band concert, chorus singing and an address by Miss Lempi Hill of Maynard. Sunday evening there was a party for the children of the members of the club.

It is worthy of note that the club house was built by members of the club, after regular hours of labor or during spare moments.

Memorial Service Of Quincy Elks

The second annual memorial service of Quincy lodge of Elks was held Sunday afternoon at Greenleaf hall and was well attended and very impressive.

Quincy lodge has lost one member during the year, John H. Griffin, who died Sept. 22.

Exalted Ruler, Daniel J. Deasy presided at the exercises, and after opening the lodge called upon Rev. William E. Gardner to make the opening prayer.

The program included singing by a quartette, composed of Miss Josephine McCarty, Miss Angela McCarty, Joseph McLee and Dr. Daniel B. Reardon, who sang "Lead Kindly Light," "Some Blessed Day," and Nearer My God to thee."

Solos by Miss Angela McCarthy, who sang "Realms of Endless Day;" and Mr. Lee, who sang "Beautiful Land on High;" A reading "The Healing of the Lepors;" eulogy by James F. Cavanagh of Everett, and benediction by Rev. Mr. Gardner.

OUR HOSPITAL

INCORPORATED 1889

The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earnestly appeal for donations and bequests for the Endowment fund. This now amounts to over $60,000 but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed.

Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need will be most gratefully received.

The Secretary, TIMOTHY REED, Adams St. Quincy, or the Treasurer, RICHARD D. CHASE, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad to confer with any one or to answer any inquiries.

THE
Young Men's Christian Association
OF QUINCY, MASS.
(Legal Title – Incorporated 1892.)

The Directors of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the morigage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.

Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.

The Treasurer, WILLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, ERNEST G. GAY, will be happy to answer inquiries.

CITY ELECTIONS

Thirteen Mayors Are Chosen In the Bay State

A VICTORY FOR ASHLEY

Will Guide Affairs of New Bedford For the Fourteenth Time --Six Men Wanted to Be Mayor of Haverhill and Wood Wins

Boston, Dec. 5.—The re-election of eight out of 10 chief magistrates and the reduction in the vote favoring the sale of intoxicating liquors were the features of the municipal elections in 13 of the 33 cities in Massachusetts yesterday. Two mayors were defeated, Thompson in New Bedford and Parsons in Marlboro, while three cities chose new men to direct affairs.

While there was no change in the sentiment regarding license in any of the cities, the no license advocates made a gain in eight cities of 3407, while the net gain for license in five cities was 1488.

The Republicans won in nine cities, the Democrats in two, while in the other two national politics did not obtain.

The sensation of the elections was the victory of former Mayor Charles S. Ashley of New Bedford, Mayor Thompson being defeated by 71 votes. The campaign in the "whale city" was a very bitter one, Ashley re-entering the field after a year's voluntary retirement with a record of 13 terms as mayor. So intense was the feeling in New Bedford that when it was learned that the precinct officers in one of the voting places were holding back the returns on which the election depended, many persons thronged to the booth and the police were called to suppress a small sized riot. Ashley was supported by what was known as the Citizens' party, while Thompson was the People's party candidate.

The new magistrates chosen were John S. Kent in Brockton, Egbert I. Clapp in Northampton and William E. Sanderson in Springfield.

In Haverhill, Mayor Roswell L. Wood, although opposed by five other candidates, including Frank E. Watson, formerly chairman of the Republican city committee, was re-elected by a plurality of 591 votes. In Brockton Kent's chief antagonist was W. A. Clifford, the Socialist candidate. The following is a list of the mayors elected:

Brockton—John S. Kent, Rep.
Fitchburg—James H. McMahon, Ind Cit.
Gloucester—George E. MacDonald, Rep. Cit.
Haverhill—Roswell L. Wood, Rep.
Lawrence—John P. Kane, Dem.
Marlboro—Edward F. Brown, Dem.
New Bedford—Charles S. Ashley, Cit.
Northampton—Egbert L. Clapp, Rep.
Pittsfield—Allen H. Bagg, Rep.
Quincy—James Thompson, Rep.
Springfield—William E. Sanderson, Rep.
Taunton—John B. Tracy, Rep.
Waltham—John L. Harvey, Rep.

The vote on license was as follows:

Public Interest

IS NOW CENTERED ON

The Pure Food Law.

We Have Always Maintained that the best that money could buy was always the cheapest in the end, because it is always the bargain hunters that have to pay the Doctor, buying as they do IMPURE foods of all kinds, FOODS that are UNFIT for ANY PERSON'S STOMACH, being mixed as they are with different kinds of PRESERVATIVES and SECRET PREPARATIONS to take the place of GOOD PURE FOODS. And some dealers selling these goods at a GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICE over the pure kind, GUARANTEE you NOTHING, but—"Poor Health to You and Your Family," and although you can buy the "just as good kind," you can save nothing as that kind is unhealthy and dangerous to the whole human family. Now our standard is to always sell the best of everything and the steady increase of our business year after year proves to us that we have the right idea, and we know it must be very satisfactory to our many customers to feel that what they buy at our store is ABSOLUTELY PURE and HEALTHFUL and the Food Laws are being strictly enforced by us. Our Goods are all GOVERNMENT INSPECTED and also carefully inspected by us before they are put on sale or sent to your homes, and although you pay perhaps a few cents more to us than some dealers charge, don't you think it is money well spent, considering all things?—YOUR HEALTH, which is the greatest blessing we can have,—think well about this and we know you will agree with us and do your trading where you know the goods can be depended upon to be absolutely Pure.

We have just received our season's pack of choice canned and bottled goods, FRESH and DRIED FRUITS, all kinds of Cereals, Ketchup, Pickles, Jams, Jellies, Prunes, Figs, Nuts, Dates, Table Raisins, Citron, Lemon and Orange Peel, Olives, Sardines,—in fact everything for your tastes and fancies. All the leading brands of FLOUR. Fancy New Orleans Molasses.

OUR MARKET is complete, AND REMEMBER, we sell nothing that has been doctored or filled with Preservatives to keep it. ABSOLUTELY NOTHING but Carefully Selected Meats are on sale at OUR STORE. Stamped with the Government Inspection Stamp, that insures to you and to us the point of perfection, which we are always striving to reach for the benefit of our trade. Remember Thanksgiving will be a day of Thanksgiving to you after you have visited our store, for our stock is new, large and wholesome.

We will have a grand display of that great National Bird, THE TURKEY, the same VERMONT KIND we have always sold you,—Chicken, Fowl and Duck, direct from WILLIAM R. DRAKE of Braintree, and he knows how to dress them so as to please the eye as well as the palate. They don't grow nicer than he has. Fruit and vegetables in abundance, and don't forget our famous LA TOURANE COFFEE, no dinner complete without it.

Chester Gillette Guilty of Murdering Grace Brown

IS UNMOVED AT VERDICT

New Trial to Be Moved For by His Counsel--Prisoner Broke Down For First Time on the Last Day of Trial

Herkimer, N. Y., Dec. 5.—The jury in the trial of Chester E. Gillette, for the murder of his sweetheart, Grace Brown, at Big Moose lake on July 11 last, last night returned a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree.

Sentence will be pronounced tomorrow, to which time court adjourned after the jury had reported. Gillette's counsel, before adjournment, announced that when court reconvened he would move to have the verdict set aside.

The jury, which had deliberated for five hours, sent word at 11 o'clock that a verdict had been reached. A moment later they filed into the courtroom and at 11:15 o'clock an officer who had been sent for Gillette returned with the prisoner.

Pale and a trifle nervous, apparently, Gillette faced the jury and when Foreman Hatch declared that a verdict of guilty in the first degree had been found the prisoner gave not a sign of emotion. A few moments later, when his counsel had announced his purpose of making a formal motion that the verdict be set aside, and the judge was dismissing the jurors, Gillette bent over a nearby table and, picking up a pencil, wrote something upon a sheet of paper. He then folded the paper carefully and placed it in his pocket. Immediately afterwards he was taken from the courtroom back to his cell in the jail.

It was learned that the jury had some difficulty in reaching an agreement and six ballots were taken before the men agreed. Up to that time the jury had stood 11 for conviction and one for acquittal.

The case was given to the jury at 5:50 o'clock after Judge Devendorf had occupied an hour and a quarter in his charge. He dealt with the points of law involved and instructed the jurors to consider the evidence from a legal standpoint and not to be influenced by sentiment.

The day's session until the judge's charges had been taken up by District Attorney Ward, who described the friendship of Gillette and Grace Brown and their companionship up to the time of the girl's death in Big Moose lake. For the first time during the trial the prisoner broke down as he was mercilessly scored by the prosecution.

For some time he stared defiantly at the district attorney, but when the latter read abstracts from the letters sent Gillette by his sweetheart, the prisoner burst into tears and at times throughout the remainder of the session sobbed convulsively.

When the jury went to its room and Gillette was led back to his cell, he asked the deputy if the doors were locked. He apparently feared violence, but there was no evidence of such intention on the part of the big crowd around the court. After supper the courtroom filled quickly and many remained until the verdict was announced.

Prison For Well Known Men

Chicago, Dec. 5.—Three men well known in Ohio were sentenced by Judge Landis in the United States district court to serve a term of one year each in the house of correction for conspiracy to violate the federal laws governing interstate traffic by manufacturing articles used for immoral purposes. The men sentenced are President Bradley of the Canton Rubber company of Canton, O., Vice President Davis of the same concern, and W. J. Oby.

Moorish Government Wakes Up

Paris, Dec. 5.—A dispatch from Fez says that a Moorish man-of-war, with 150 regulars on board, is approaching Tangier for the purpose of re-establishing order. This step forestalls the collective note by the members of the diplomatic corps sent to the Moroccan minister of foreign affairs yesterday afternoon, in which the attention of the government was called to the existing state of anarchy.

None of Relief Fund Missing

Washington, Dec. 5.—Secretary Taft has received a telegram from J. D. Phelan, president of the San Francisco Relief and Red Cross funds corporation, describing as "entirely groundless" the report that large sums of money subscribed have gone astray. Phelan requests that the widest publicity be given to his statement that no funds are missing.

Porto Rico and Panama

Washington, Dec. 5.—President Roosevelt's special message to congress on Porto Rico will be sent to congress on Dec. 11. The president's views on the island and the legislation he favors are the direct outcome of that visit to Porto Rico. The president's special message on Panama will be laid before congress on Dec. 17.

Woman Jumped From Ferryboat

New York, Dec. 5.—Miss Ruth Miner, aged 40, of Cornwall, Conn., jumped from the Hudson river ferryboat Pittsburg when the boat was in midstream off West Twenty-third street. The boat was stopped and small boats lowered, but the body was not recovered.

STIFF COLD WAVE

Follows a Storm Which May Have Caused Many Deaths

Boston, Dec. 5.—When Monday's storm, which was a comparatively mild affair in New England, reached the provinces yesterday on its way to the northeast, it increased considerably in intensity and dragged after it into this section of the country the stiffest cold wave of the season. The storm reached blizzard proportions in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and the Gulf of St. Lawrence, and the result of its fury became manifest when several accidents and mishaps had been reported. Resultant winds in New England reached nearly a gale. It will probably be some days before the full results of the storm's destruction will be known.

Reports from the provinces indicate that the storm was almost as severe as that four weeks ago, when more than 50 lives were lost. It is feared that the death list as a result of yesterday's storm will again be a long one.

Yesterday was the coldest Dec. 4 in Boston for 35 years, the thermometer dropping to 4 above zero. One man was frozen to death in Winchester and many persons suffered from frostbite. Two other casualties from the cold occurred in New England.

Congress Hears Message Read

Washington, Dec. 5.—President Roosevelt's annual message to congress occupied the atttntion of the senate to the exclusion of nearly all other business. The exception to this was the introduction of a resolution on the Japanese situation by Senator Rayner and the adoption of appropriate resolutions regarding those members of the house of representatives who have died since the last session.

The reading of the president's message in the house was followed closely by a very large number of members, while the crowded galleries gave close consideration. Here and there the reading of the document was punctuated with applause and hearty handclapping.

Deluge on Isthmus of Panama

Colon, Dec. 5.—Ten inches of water has fallen in Colon during 24 hours. The Chagres river has reached the highest point ever known and is still rising fast. Communication and traffic by way of the Panama railroad is interrupted. The inhabitants of the villages north of Bas Obispo will suffer greatly. There has been no telegraphic communication with Panama since Monday. The washouts on the railroad are most severe between Mammei and Gorgona. The Chagres has risen 28 feet. Work on the canal has been suspended on account of the inundation.

Railroad Gives Up a "Subsidy"

Washington, Dec. 5.—The postoffice department has decided to terminate the allowances for fast mail facilities from Washington to New Orleans on Jan. 5. Postmaster General Cortelyou received notice from the Southern railway that it will be unable to continue the operation of train No. 97 after Jan. 5. About $150,000 a year has gone to the Southern to maintain train No. 97. The appropriation has often been the subject of vigorous debate in congress in which opponents of the "special facilities" objected to the appropriation as a "subsidy."

Prince Alleges Swindling

Paris, Dec. 5.—Prince Von Hohenlohe, a son of the former German chancellor, has started proceedings to cause the arrest of Philip Simeoni de Fleres & Dixmer, a firm of so-called bankers, on the allegation of having swindled him out of nearly $100,000 by means of fictitious financial operations. It is said that this firm has succeeded in obtaining about $2,000,000 from other notable persons.

Boston Americans' New Manager

Boston, Dec. 5.—President Taylor of the Boston American Baseball club has arranged with Charles S. Stahl, centre fielder of the team, to be manager and captain next season. Stahl was acting manager during part of last season. The club has now 36 men under contract or reservation.

Ambassadors to Shift About

Washington, Dec. 5.—Henry White, ambassador to Rome, will be transferred in the near future from that post to Paris, where he will succeed Robert S. McCormick as ambassador. White will be succeeded at Rome by Lloyd C. Griscom, now American ambassador to Brazil.

Dr. Everett gave the second in the course of readings at the Tuilleries Tuesday arternoon, substituting readings from "Comus" instead of "King Henry" as announced. He delighted his audience.

Probation Officer Francis A. Spear reports the total number of criminal cases before the district court at Quincy in November to have been 175, against 148 for the corresponding month for 1905. Of the November cases 70 were for drunkenness.

The Fore River team managers have fonnd it is well nigh impossible for a team to do itself justice playing two hard games in one day. Thanksgiving day in the morning they lined up against a Pawtucket aggregation and in the afternoon they took the field against the Pans. The Fore Rivers were in no condition to play the game, as the morning contest bad taken all the play out of the men.—Herald.

George R. Derry, father of Horace A. Derry, superintendent of Glenwood cemetery, Everett, a civil war veteran and member of James A. Perkins post 156, G. A. R. of that city, died Tuesday morning at the family residence, 85 Cottage street, in his 77th year. Mr. Derry was a native of Maine. He went to the front in the company G. 42d Massachusetts regiment, of Quincy. After the close of the war his family moved to Everett. He bad been in ill health for a long time.

A series of important meetings was held in Boston the past week, for the purpose of emphasizing the duties which we owe to those civic and social groups, in which we are to do our work in life. Many Wollaston people attended the meeting Saturday afternoon in Ford hall. They were greatly disappointed not to hear Miss Jane Addams, although Rev. Washington Gladden's speech on the "School and the family" was most entertaining. These meetings were held under the management of the Social Education Congress which represents one of the great constructive movements of the time.

AMONG THE CLUBS.

Miss Edith Randall of Wibird street will be the hostess next week for the meeting of the Friday club on Dec. 14th and Mrs. Zenas Arnold is preparing the program which is to be "An afternoon with Mr. Punch." Members are anticipating a good meeting.

Rev. William H. Lyons, D. D., is to address the Wollaston Women's Alliance at the Unitarian vestry on Wednesday afternoon Dec. 12th, taking as his subject, Unitarians in Hungary.

Mrs. John W. Sanborn has been arranging the Christmas meeting of the Alliance which will be held on Monday afternoon, Dec. 10th, in the parlor of First church. It is understood that Mrs. Sanborn has an especially good program and it will be as usual one of the best attended meetings of the season.

A conference of charity workers will be held at the Women's club house on Tuesday, Dec. 11, at 10.30 A. M. for the purpose of starting some simple form of Associated charities. Representatives of the charitable organizations in our city are urgently requested to be present, and every one interested in philanthrophy is cordially invited.

Miss Edith Randall entertained the Junior Friday club at her home on Monday afternoon, having as guests Mrs. Herbert J. Gurney of Wollaston, and her sister Mrs. Zenas Arnold. Mrs. Alfred Thompson was chairman of the afternoon with James Russell Lowell as the subject. The hostess served refreshments.

The Shakespeare club was entertained on Friday afternoon by Mrs. Elbridge Dunn of Ashmont at the home of the club president, Mrs. Ward Whitcher of Webster street. The play Richard III was begun.

QUINCY WOMEN'S CLUB.

The executive board meets tomorrow morning at ten o'clock at the club house. Members will find the basement door most convenient.

The Hospitality committee is to hold a cake and candy sale Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Emery L. Crane, Whitney road, to which members are asked to contribute and also to attend. Every one welcome. The sale is for the benefit of the tea room furnishings; urns, etc., being very much needed in the serving of the monthly teas.

But one meeting of the club is to be held this month on account of Christmas being on the date of the regular meeting. The meeting next Tuesday afternoon will undoubtedly be one of the most enjoyable of the season, as monologues are always entertaining and Mrs. Belle Temple Priest excels as an entertainer. Besides the readings there will be music and a social tea.

For those interested in the business of the club there will be the monthly business meeting at half past two, when any business may be brought to the club for discussion.

The club is indebted to Mrs. Lucius Lawton of Presidents hill for a statue of Venus of Milo, which will be suitably placed by the House committee.

DAY NURSERY ASSOCIATION.

The Association held its December meeting on Tuesday which was well attended. The matron reported the attendance for November 127, visitors 35, and donation as follows: Apples, mince pie, ketchup, Mrs. Addison; apples, jelly, mince pie, Mrs. Ross; muslin, box of butter, potatoes, clothing, Mrs. Faxon; jelly, piccalilli, Mrs. Wadsworth; clothing, Mrs. Crane; clothing, milk, Mrs. Abele; four chairs, flour scoop, Miss Perkins; mince meat, Mrs. Young; piccalilli, Mrs. Cochrane; malted milk, Dr. Gordon; picture, Mrs. Hunting; groceries, vegetables, Unity circle King's Daughtors; infants clothing, Mrs. Scerles.

The Association is also indebted to Mr. Henry M. Faxon for the use of the store for the Rumage sale, and also to Mr. Frank Patch who has kept the nursery supplied with ice.

ADAMS CHAPTER D. R.

Although yet early in the month Adams Chapter Daughters of the Revolution held a Christmas party on Monday afternoon at the birthplace of President John Adams. Fires in the open fireplaces made the house comfortably warm but the snowstorm prevented a large attendance.

The regular business was transacted including the sad announcement of the death of a beloved member, Miss Mary F. Houghton of Randolph. It was voted to send a letter to her sister, expressing the sympathy and the deep loss felt by the chapter.

The entertainment of the afternoon consisted of readings by Mrs. Isabell Davis. "Penelope's Christmas Dance," was the first selection and was most appropriate and delightfully given. Encores were appreciative and Mrs. Davis responded, giving two more readings.

While tea was being served Mrs. Davis kindly presided at the piano playing a march. Members circulated around the Christmas box several times, finally putting in a hand and drawing out a gift. It was pleasant opening the gifts and seeing what each received.

Each member had been asked to bring a gift costing not more than ten cents, which on arrival was put into the Christmas box, so that in the distribution each received a gift. They were very pretty and members enjoyed this forerunner of the Christmastide.

Tea and crackers were served bringing to an end the first Christmas observance ever held by the chapter.

CLUB NOTES.

The Monday club of Weymouth is to observe its tenth anniversary on Dec. 17th.

On Dec. 13th the Old Colony club of Weymouth is to have a lecture on the "The music of the bible," by Mrs. H. Josephine Hayward, illustrated by songs by Miss Edna Goullaud. A ten minute paper will follow on "What 1906 has given us."

Heptorian club of Somerville has decided to combine gentlemen's night and its annual luncheon. The combination entertainment will probably be held in Boston taking the form of a reception and dinner.

The Norwood Woman's club gave a musicale at their last meeting under the auspices of the household science department, which was open to the public. The proceeds were given to the visiting nurse fund. On Dec. 11th. Mr. Charles M. Thompson is to address the club, giving personal recollections of Eugene Field.

The McGregors Vs. Harvard

The Harvard association football team returned Tuesday from its league games with Columbia and Cornell, and this afternoon will play the McGregors of Quincy in the Merrimac Valley league on Soldier's Field. This game will be called at 3.30 o'clock, and will mark a radical departure, says the Herald, in Harvard association football circles, as in the past no independent teams outside of the college ranks have been able to get on a game with the Harvard men, although many attempts in that direction have been made.

The Herald adds: The McGregors are a very fast organization—one of the strongest in the Merrimac Valley league, of which the team is a member, and the outcome of this contest will be awaited with real interest by both the college men and the league players. Harvard's team looks like a far better playing proposition than before the men left upon their last trip. Harvard made a grand showing in defeating Columbia, and her work against Cornell was also excellent, In practice the Harvard men had shown up rather badly. Especially was this true of the forward five, which had been inclined to show wandering tactics.

To Improve Neponset River

A report on the preliminary survey of Dorchester bay and Neponset river submitted to Congress on Tuesday proposes to provide sufficient depth of channell to accommodate ocean-going barges as far as Neponset bridge.

The report favors a channel 18 feet deep and 175 feet wide, to Commercial Point from the mouth of the river and 15 feet deep and 100 feet wide to Neponset river from Commercial Point to Neponset bridge.

The total cost is estimated at $159,503,19.

The improvement between Neponset bridge and Milton is disapproved.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Burdett of Walker street are preparing to move into the house on Billings street formerly occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Babee.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Quincy Battleships Going South

The battleship Kansas, sister ship to the Vermont, now on the Maine coast for her first official trial tests, was scheduled to sail Tuesday from Camden, N. J., in charge of a crew supplied by the contract builders, en route for the Charlestown Navy Yard, where it is expected she will be floated into the dry dock at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, to have her under water parts scraped preparatory to her first official tests.

The battleships Missouri and Illinois are to sail from the yard, en route to southern waters for the winter evolutions on Dec. 27, the Rhode Island and the Georgia on Jan. 15, and the New Jersey on Feb. 1.

Scow on Fire.

The alarm from Box 62 at 5.45 Tuesday afternoon was for a fire on one of the pile driving scows in Neponset river. In addition to the fire apparatus of Quincy, Boston also responded. The scow was anchored in the stream and it was with difficulty that it was reached. The fire started from some unknown cause in the cabin on the scow.

THE RETURNS.

The returns on the head of the ticket were received very promptly at City Hall so that the unofficial result was known before 5 o'clock, and was bulletined by the Daily Ledger. These figures gave Thompson 2,128 and Shea 1,941, or a plurality of 187 for Thompson.

The official figures changed the totals somewhat and increased Mayor Thompson plurality to 195.

The first returns received were from precinct one of Ward One and they were announced at 4.20. The second precinct and a precinct from Ward Six soon followed.

The Democratic wards were among the first to be heard from, and when Mr. Shea's big vote was seen it looked as though he might pull off the victory. In any event it was certain that the phenominal plurality of Thompson in 1905 would be badly cut.

Then the Republican wards came in and turned the tide.

The first official returns to arrive at City Hall were from the first precinct of Ward One at 6.24. A precinct of Ward Six and Ward Three soon followed and the returns came steadily until 8 o'clock.

Then came a wait of forty minutes for Ward Five, and a precinct of Ward Three. They came in close together at 8.40.

During the late afternoon there was quite a crowd at City Hall to hear the returns but they all left at 5 o'clock, leaving the City Clerk, City Messenger and reporters on guard. Along about 7 o'clock the voters began to return and filled the corridor.

Mayor Thompson received the early returns in his office, but went home before 6 o'clock. He returned about 7.30 and his office was soon filled with friends who called to extend congratulations.

At 9 o'clock City Hall was practically deserted, and at 9.30 the lights were out and the doors closed.

STICKERS.

Ward One cast one more blank on the License question than Ward Four.

The Herald said Tuesday in its comments on the voting in Quincy: "No-License advocates also seemed to be in the majority." Yes, very much so!

Congratulations to the elected and condolences to the defeated.

Had there been a fourth candidate in field it would have probably been all up with Mayor Thompson.

It is plain that Ward Four was not enthusiastic over the Commissioner of Public Works.

The cities which held elections Tuesday were Brockton, Fitchburg, Gloucester, Haverhill, Lawrence, Marlboro, New Bedford, Northampton, Pittsfield, Quincy, Springfield, Taunton and Waltham.

But thirteen of the City Council of 1906 will return next year and there will therefore be ten new members.

The first returns from Ward One gave Councilman Gilson two more votes than Councilman Gelotte, an error of twelve votes was discovered, however, which elected Councilman Gelotte by ten votes.

Every return had been received, the figures tabulated and the lights out in City Hall at 9.30.

It looked rather gloomy for Mayor Thompson until Wollaston was heard from.

Probably carriages were more freely used Tuesday than at any previous election.

The City Council of 1907 will have seven Democrats, an increase of four over this year.

Galen V. Bowditch received a very flattering vote for Councilman at large. If he keeps on he will land some day.

Several of those who called at City Hall to congratulate Mayor Thompson tried the Mayoralty chair just to see how it seemed to sit in the Mayor's chair.

Elections are now over and everybody will settled down to business again.

The Democratic candidate for Ward Councilman from Ward Six received the largest vote of the three elected.

Ward Two gave Councilman Donovan a handsome endorsement.

Ward Four, the West Quincy ward is more back in the Democratic rank good and strong.

Rednor Coombs of Billings street was showered with congratulations Wednesday morning having shown his popularity by a surprisingly large vote for councilman.

There were very few drunks about the city Tuesday, an indication that the day of booze campaigns are a thing of the past.

East Norfolk C. E. Rally

The bi-monthly rally of the East Norfolk C. E. Union was held Monday evening in the East Milton Baptist church. Everyone received a hearty welcome from the enthusiastic reception committee of the entertaining society.

The auditorium of the church was very prettily decorated with colored bunting. Suspended from the ceiling over the pulpit desk was a medium sized paper star with words of welcome printed upon it, reminding one of the decorations of the Worcester C. E. Convention.

The vice-president of the union, E. F. Dyer, conducted the service. The roll call showed that East Milton had the highest percentage of attendance, 64 percent, but as they were the local society, the banner went to the First Presbyterian society of South Quincy, whose percentage was over 37.

Following Rev. Mr. Manwell, the president of the union, Wendall A, Harvey, made a brief, earnest testimony urging studying the bible deeply.

During the evening, the Bethany Society double quartet composed of Isabella Mitchell, Helen Troupe, Mary Murry, Jessie Gardner, E. I. Beale, Matthew Nicol, Robert Mitchell, and Lusie Newcomb, accompanist, sang "March On Ye Soldiers True," and "More Love To Thee, Oh Christ!"

After the regular business of the meeting was discharged, they had the pleasure of listening to the Rev. Augustine P. Manwell of Canton, whose topic was, "The motive and method in C. E." In commencement, he demonstrated by the lives of individuals and organizations that their work would not endure, if they did not have a true motive. He divided motive into two classes—educational and expressional. He said, "I believe that organized Christian Endeavor has a true motive because of the results accomplished by it.

For practical methods in local society work, he suggested three things viz: Having everyone resign at the end of each year and then rejoin at next meeting, saying that this did away with the uninterested person and proved helpful to active endeavorers.

Second, a blackboard system of keeping the attendance high, where each person had a little ribbon which he wore during the meeting and returned to a committee at close. This committee returned badge to board and placed silver star against name, if present only, and a gold one if present and took part.

Third, having committee meeting conference on the same evening but before the regular business meeting of the month.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS.
PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c

Public Interest

IS NOW CENTERED ON

The Pure Food Law.

WE Have Always Maintained that the best that money could buy was always the cheapest in the end, because it is always the bargain hunters that have to pay the DOCTOR, buying as they do IMPURE foods of all kinds, FOODS that are UNFIT for ANY PERSON'S STOMACH, being mixed as they are with different kinds of PRESERVATIVES and SECRET PREPARATIONS to take the place of GOOD PURE FOODS. And some dealers selling these goods at a GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICE over the pure kind, GUARANTEE you NOTHING, but—"Poor Health to You and Your Family," and although you can buy the "just as good kind," you can save nothing as that kind is unhealthy and dangerous to the whole human family. Now our standard is to always sell the best of everything and the steady increase of our business year after year proves to us that we have the right idea, and we know it must be very satisfactory to our many customers to feel that what they buy at our store is ABSOLUTELY PURE and HEALTHFUL and the Food Laws are being strictly enforced by us. Our Goods are all GOVERNMENT INSPECTED and also carefully inspected by us before they are put on sale or sent to your homes, and although you pay perhaps a few cents more to us than some dealers charge, don't you think it is money well spent, considering all things?—YOUR HEALTH, which is the greatest blessing we can have,—think well about this and we know you will agree with us and do your trading where you know the goods can be depended upon to be absolutely Pure.

We have just received our season's pack of choice canned and bottled goods, FRESH and DRIED FRUITS, all kinds of Cereals, Ketchup, Pickles, Jams, Jellies, Prunes, Figs, Nuts, Dates, Table Raisins, Citron, Lemon and Orange Peel, Olives, Sardines,—in fact everything for your tastes and fancies. All the leading brands of FLOUR. Fancy New Orleans Molasses.

OUR MARKET is complete, AND REMEMBER, we sell nothing that has been doctored or filled with Preservatives to keep it. ABSOLUTELY NOTHING but Carefully Selected Meats are on sale at OUR STORE. Stamped with the Government Inspection Stamp, that insures to you and to us the point of perfection, which we are always striving to reach for the benefit of our trade. Remember Thanksgiving will be a day of Thanksgiving to you after you have visited our store, for our stock is new, large and wholesome.

We will have a grand display of that great National Bird, THE TURKEY, the same VERMONT KIND we have always sold you,—Chicken, Fowl and Duck, direct from WILLIAM R. DRAKE of Braintree, and he knows how to dress them so as to please the eye as well as the palate. They don't grow nicer than he has. Fruit and vegetables in abundance, and don't forget our famous LA TOURANE COFFEE, no dinner complete without it.

Yours Respectfully,

WOLLASTON GLEE CLUB

Give a Grand Concert Under Auspices of the King's Daughters

The large audience at the concert at Bethany chapel on Wednesday evening, under the auspices of the King's Daughters, were delighted with the whole program. The Wollaston Glee Club of 26 voices was at its best, and there was a wise selection of songs, so that it was not surprising that nearly every number was encored. Mr. J. A. Crowley is an excellent conductor and the club responded to every call, so that the numbers went off with a snap. The selections were both musical, jovial and entertaining. Mrs. Mira Richards Moulton was accompanist.

The other artists are well known and were greeted with applause when they appeared on the platform, which was redoubled when they finished, so that encores were general. The solos of Mr. E. E. Bullock and Mr. A. L. Hayden were a delight, and they responded to the encores.

Mrs. Frank J. Moore appeared twice on the program but sang five selections in all, and the audience would have liked more.

Mrs. Isabelle Davis, the reader, was even better than usual, and shared the honors of the evening with her clever readings. In fact it was an all-star performance.

The selections by the Glee club were:

O, Who Will O'er the Downs So Free,	DePearsall
Winter Song,	Bullard
Silent Recollection,	Pache
On the Sea,	Buck
The Billy Goat	Gerrish
Soldier's Farewell	Kinkel

The members of the Glee Club taking part were:

1st Tenors,—Messrs Bullock, Moulton, Hopkins, Hussey, Peck, Burke and Thomas.

1st Bass,—Messrs. Bishop, Hayden, Farwell, and Horton.

2d Bass,—Messrs. Linscott, J. Allen, White, Seely, Pollard, Nickerson, Smith, Adams and Jewell.

Quincy Pastors Were Prominent

The ordination of Rev. Edward J. Yaeger, as pastor of First Congregational church, of Weymouth Heights, was held Wednesday. Rev. Edward A. Robinson of Hingham, formerly of Wollaston, was moderator of the council, and Rev. Alfred R. Atwood of Quincy Point as scribe. The sermon was by Rev. Dr. Edwin Hardy of Quincy, and the ordination prayer by Rev. Edward Norton also of Quincy.

At Home Reception

Mr and Mrs. Richard Gordon, who were married Oct. 3 at Dorchester, held their first at home reception Wednesday evening at their beautiful home at 190 Franklin street. The reception was from 8 to 10 o'clock, and during those hours the rooms were thronged with a host of friends. The decorations of the house were chrysanthemums, making a very pretty effect.

Mrs. Gordon received in a handsome gown of pearl gray crepe de chine, trimmed with Irish point lace. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon were assisted in receiving by a sister of Mr. Gordon.

Wilson's orchestra furnished music during the entire evening. A lunch of ices, etc., was served in the large dining room. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon received many wedding gifts which were displayed in one of the side rooms.

Train Wanted.

An outward train from Boston between 9.13 and 10.27 P. M. would be appreciated by a great many, as it would allow them to retire for the night earlier. Now those who attend lectures in Boston or the evening schools, which close a few minutes after 9 o'clock have over an hour's wait. The old train at 9.27 was very convenient, or there might be one at 9.45.

Pastor and Wife Surprised

A very pleasant surprise was given Rev. E. D. Webber, pastor of the Wollaston Baptist church, and his wife, on Wednesday evening, at the monthly social. It being the seventeenth anniversary of their marriage, and the fifth anniversary of Mr. Webber's first sermon in the church. After supper, Mr. A. D. Albee arose, and with a few well chosen remarks, presented Mr. Webber with a beautiful solid gold watch. He also presented Mrs. Webber with a cut glass vase, from their many friends in the church and congregation. Mr. Harris Barbour presented Mr. and Mrs. Webber with a large bunch of Jack roses from the Christian Endeavor Society. All came as a complete surprise to Mr. and Mrs. Webber, but as usual Mr. Webber was equal to the occasion and made a very timely response.

Good News from The Vermont

The battleship Vermont built by the Fore River Shipbuilding Company made a fine showing on Wednesday at her standardization trial off Rockland, Me. On the trip down from Boston she ran into heavy weather and was obliged to come to anchor in midstream. She behaved finely, however, but was late in arriving at Rockland.

The highest speed she made during the trial was 18.78 knots, and the average of the five highest runs was 18.49 knots.

The number of revolutions per minute required to make 18 knots was 114, which is less than usual. As her contract speed is 18 knots, it will be readily seen that she will doubtless develop more than 18 knots in her four-hour run which is being held today.

Guild Fair A Great Success

The annual two days' sale of the Woman's guild of Christ church closed on Wednesday evening. The sale has been a most successful one throughout and a good sum will be netted.

The rooms of the parish house where the sale was held, were very prettily decorated with evergreen and red crepe paper. On the front was a large platform which was decorated to represent a tea room.

The various tables were very tastfully decorated and the articles on sale were of exceptional quality.

These tables were in charge of the following ladies:

Reapers table—Chairman Miss Savill, assisted by Mrs. Deacon, Mrs. Hector, Mrs. Beach, Mrs. Thomas Smith in the afternoon and Miss Brown, Miss Thompson Miss Cannon, Mrs. Case and Miss Morrill in the evening.

Preserve table—Mrs. William McConnell.

Tea table—Mrs. William M. Vermilye.

Candy table—Miss Fannie Wilson.

A pleasing vaudeville entertainment was given each evening under the direction of Leslie Smith.

Wednesday afternoon from 4 to 6 there was a children's entertainment consisting of vocal and instrumental music. Fifty-eight children took part in the program.

The closing feature of the afternoon was a series of tableaux.

Col. Jewell a Director.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the China Manufacturing Co., Webster Manufacturing Co. and Pembroke Mills held last week, Col. David L. Jewell of Wollaston, Mass., was elected a director. Col. Jewell was for many years the efficient agent of these corporations and his election as one of the directors is a well earned compliment in recognition of his long and faithful service. The following comprises the full board of directors elected at this meeting: Charles W. Chamberain, Percy S. Howe, B. R. Weld, Robert Codman, Charles Walcott and David L. Jewell. The directors organized with Charles W. Chamberlain, as president; Charles Walcott, as treasurer, William G. Nichols was chosen agent and clerk.—Suncook, N. H., Press.

Recounts Possible.

It is possible that Councilman Gilson, who was defeated for reelection in Ward One by Councilman Gelotte, by ten votes, and Councilman Moir of Ward Six, who was defeated by forty votes, may ask for recounts.

BOILER EXPLODES

Lynn Almost Repeats the Brockton Horror $300,000 Loss

The boiler in the big shoe factory of P. J. Herney at Lynn blew up with a loud report just before 7 o'clock this morning, and in an instant almost the whole building was a roaring mass of flames.

The first report sent out was 45 had lost their lives in the explosion. Later reports, however, are that the only persons supposed to have perished were two watchmen who were in the building at the time.

The fire spread rapidly to other factories and tenements nearby. The Lynn department was unable to cope with the fire and assistance was asked from adjoining cities.

A large fire fighting force was on hand, and before noon the fire was under control. The property loss is estimated at $300,000.

The cause of the boiler exploding is unknown, as there was no one in the building at the time but the two watchmen, who are supposed to have lost their lives.

The large corps of workmen employed in the factory were on their way to work when the explosion occurred. Had it come a few minutes later a repetition of the Brockton horror must have resulted.

The factory of Harney Bros. was near the West Lynn depot of the Boston & Maine railroad and the depot was among the buildings destroyed. In all there were seven factories, twelve houses, and five barns. The latest reports say that no lives were lost, but 12 persons were injured. The fire raged for two hours, and the loss is now placed at $350,000.

—Arrangements are being made by Col. Thomas Talbot, commanding 1st corp of Cadets, M. V. M., and Lieut. William Hayes, I. S. A. P. of the corps, to enlarge the rifle range at the camp grounds at Hingham.

—Principal Charles A. Jenney of the Hingham high school was taken to the Waltham City Hospital Wednesday and successfully operated on for appendicitis. Charles A. Tucker of Norwich, Ct., is filling Principal Jenney's position.

Snow and rain.

Only twenty days to Christmas.

The afternoons are at their shortest.

Not yet but soon; winter begins Saturday, Dec. 22.

The City Council will meet again next Monday evening.

The time for filing petitions for recounts expires on Friday.

Some of the furnishings are being put into the new High school building.

The fire department can congratulate itself that the season for grass fires is over for a time.

The condition of Dr. Ross K. Whiton of the Board of Health remains about the same. The trouble is with his eyes and he is obliged to remain in a darkened room.

Rev. A. R. Atwood and Deacon Sherburne represented the Point church on Wednesday in Ecclesiastical council at North Weymouth to ordain the pastor, Mr. Yeager, to the gospel ministry.

The fellowship service at the Point church on Friday evening will be in memoriam to the late Mrs. Ana Pollard, whose interest and help was a constant source of instruction and inspiration.

TALK OF A CAUCUS

President Not Blind to Idea of Tariff Revision

AMES IS STILL FIGHTING

Thinks It Time to Overcome "Inertia of Hoary Tradition" and Improve Law Which Is Full of Injustices and Irregularities

Washington, Dec. 6.—Tariff revisionists in both houses, upon rereading the president's message, are endeavoring to extract a ray of hope from the president's reference in his discussion of the income and inheritance tax to the time "when next our system of taxation is revised." They point to this fact as evidencing the president's unwillingness to blind himself to the whole idea of tariff revision.

The coupling of the two indicates to many that the president would make these number of reforms of taxation supplementary to the present system, thus making up for the loss in revenue from a reduction in the Dingley schedules. In spite of the president's failure to make a straight-out recommendation for tariff revision, talk of a Republican caucus on the subject continues.

Representative Ames of Massachusetts is continuing to urge an extra session for revising the tariff. He said: "For two years have I pledged myself and worked for immediate tariff revision; and more firmly and hopefully than ever, I believe that now is the time to revise the tariff. By now I mean that we should at once hold a caucus of the Republicans of congress to give a concerted expression of our determination to immediately revise the inequalities present in our tariff law, to give all possible notice to the country at large by fixing the time of revision, which should be immediately after the fourth of next March, and to determine the best method of procedure, whether under a special rule to treat only those schedules which are manifestly too high, and so a manifest burden on the country generally, or whether it be advisable to open the whole subject.

"The older and consequently the more conservative Republican members of congress are opposed to revision. This inertia of hoary tradition, this disinclination to any change of existing conditions, must be overcome by the energy and the push of the younger and more progressive members of our party.

"It is characteristic of those wedded to tradition to accept without protest what is. It is equally characteristic of progress to push on with the vigor, the hope and the enthusiasm of young blood for better things. The one cries 'let well enough alone' and the other 'make well enough better.' While experience, age and tradition most often go hand in hand, even they admit that sometime the tariff will be revised;' they counsel leaving it alone, until public opinion becomes so outraged that a Democratic house and senate make the revision.

"These short-sighted traditionists admit that under the very best conditions any revision will be accompanied by some financial unrest and suspense. They counsel, not a revision by protection's friends in the hey-day of Republican prosperity with the necessary disturbance to the financial and commercial world will be least appreciable, but counsel a postponement of action until revision is made by the enemies of protection at a time and in a manner such as to induce the wildest fluctuations and disturbances in our prosperity and credit. Traditionists counsel the supine defeat of our party by inaction; progressionists would rather go down in defeat fighting to the end in an endeavor to improve our tariff law which even others admit to be full of injustices and inequalities.

"It is neither logical nor good business judgment to delay the time of making needed changes or improvements in the machinery of a mill until prosperity ceases and hard times commence; nor does the thinking man wait for a thunderstorm to break before patching a leak in the roof of his house. Nor can it be that the lessons of the past election are to be lost or misinterpreted by the former stand-patters of the house."

Congressional Doings

Washington, Dec. 6.—The brief session of the senate resulted in the introduction of many bills, resolutions, petitions and memorials, and the receipt of a number of communications from the executive departments.

The house, waiting on the report of appropriation bills, began its legislative grind by passing three measures: Incorporating the National German American Alliance; authorizing the secretary of the treasury to duplicate gold certificates in lieu of ones lost or destroyed, and the bill amending the national banking laws, permitting national banking associations to make loans on real estate as security and limiting the amount of such loans.

Flint's Modest Request

Washington, Dec. 6.—Senator Flint (Cal.) introduced a bill providing for an exhibition at Los Angeles in 1915 to celebrate the completion of the Panama canal. The bill provides for government aid of $10,000,000, provided the exhibition company furnishes an equal amount.

TIE VOTE FOR MAYOR

Cambridge Democratic Committee Must Name Nominee

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 6.—A quick decision by Judge Morton of the supreme court has thrown the choice of a Democratic candidate for mayor into the hands of the Democratic city committee, the result of the recent caucuses having been found by the court to be a tie between Mayor C. F. Thurson and James L. Aylward.

Since the close of the polls in the primaries each candidate has several times been declared victorious. A few hours after the close of the voting Thurston had apparently won. Then Aylward was declared to be the choice, but finally the night closed with Thurston in the lead. The next day it was announced that a mistake had been made and that Aylward had won by a few votes, but two days later the situation was again reversed and Thurston was declared nominated. Then came a recount and Aylward was judged to be the choice by one vote. This single ballot was questioned by Thurston, because it had two crosses on it, and Judge Morton threw it out and left the result a tie.

Under the law the choice now rests with the Democratic city committee, a meeting of which has been called for tonight. It is said that a majority of the committee favor Thurston. The city election will be held next Tuesday.

Leighton After Senatorship

Concord, N. H., Dec. 6.—George B. Leighton of Dublin has announced his candidacy for United States senator to succeed Henry E. Burnham. Leighton states that if elected he will endeavor to promote four matters of importance to New England: The taking of the White mountains for a national forestry reservation, the development of the Portsmouth navy yard, the making of Boston a seaport of the first grade, and national legislation regulating corporations, especially public service corporations.

A Worthy Project

Greenwich, Conn., Dec. 6.—Mrs. Nathaniel Witherell, widow of the New York multi-millionaire who died recently, has purchased property here on which it is planned to erect a trades school. Recently, as a result, it is said, of the sending of two small boys from the town to the reform school for depredations, a movement was started for a night school, with a gymnasium and other features. It is not known whether Mrs. Witherell's plan has any connection with this movement.

The Vermont's Performance

Rockland, Me., Dec. 6.—Under conditions of weather and sea which might easily have been better, the first-class battleship Vermont had her screw standardization tests over a measured mile of the Rockland course and came fully up to expectations, her fastest speed, with tidal corrections, being at the rate of 18.52 knots an hour. The number of screw revolutions producing that speed was 118.47 per minute.

Weekly Payments at Last

Montpelier, Vt., Dec. 6.—The weekly payment bill was passed to a third reading in the state senate by a vote of 19 to 8. This is believed to insure its final passage in concurrence with the action of the house. The bill is directed especially at large manufacturing corporations. For many years efforts to secure the passage of a similar bill in the legislature have been unsuccessful.

Captain's Clerk an Alleged Deserter

Boston, Dec. 6.—Frederick G. Bennick, clerk to Captain Winslow of the cruiser Charleston, was arrested when he reached this port upon the arrival from South America of the steamship Harmodius on a charge of desertion from the Charleston while in South America. A court martial will sit on the case at the navy yard.

Horses Perished in Fire

Greenwich, Conn., Dec. 6.—Twelve horses perished in the burning of a large barn located in the lumber yard of Joseph Brush. The loss is $3000. In the vicinity of the barn was lumber valued at $50,000 and a tank containing several thousand gallons of gasoline. The origin of the fire is not known.

Children Must Keep Off Stage

Providence, Dec. 6.—Acting Mayor Reynolds has put a ban on the appearance of children under 16 years of age on the stages of the local theatres, refusing permission to allow children under that age to participate in the amateur performances.

Ice Closes Kennebec River

Bath, Me., Dec. 6.—The Kennebec river has closed to navigation above this city. The last vessel to leave was the schooner Emma F. Angell, which was brought through an ice jam three miles long by three tugs.

Bigger Army For Japan

Yokohama, Dec. 6.—Japan is said to have decided to provide, in the next budget, for the recall of the two army divisions now in Manchuria and Korea, and also to create two new divisions in 1907, availing itself of the increase in revenue, without resorting to increased taxation or borrowing. This means a tremendous increase in the strength of the army.

Predictions Were Incorrect

London, Dec. 6.—The Daily Mail comments upon the "tale of amazing prosperity" told in Secretary of the Treasury Shaw's report, which it attributes almost entirely to the system of protection. The paper says the striking fact about this dazzling prosperity is that it prevails in a country which British free-traders, 15 years ago, predicted would be ruined by protection.

CAUGHT IN BOSTON

Police May Have Much-Wanted "Traveling Salesman"

HAD A SMALL ARSENAL

Two Express Wagon Loads of Supposed Stolen Property Recovered--Held on Charge of Robbery of House and Store

Boston, Dec. 6.—In the arrest here of Alexander J. Scheren, claiming to live at 1108 Manhattan avenue, Brooklyn, on a charge of the theft of household property in Newburyport three weeks ago, the local police not only recovered personal property that almost filled Scheren's room in the South End, but captured a man who they believe has been operating successfully throughout New England for many months in the guise of a traveling salesman.

When the two officers stepped up to Scheren as he entered his room on Waltham street there were three loaded revolvers lying on the table within easy reach, and in addition Scheren carried a knife with a six-inch blade.

The police say that Scheren hired a small store in Newburyport last month for the period of one week. Nearby was the house of the late Mrs. Elizabeth C. Frost, and when Scheren went away it was found that the Frost house had been looted of property valued at $1500. Scheren was traced to this city and yesterday afternoon two officers pounced upon him as he entered his room.

It required two express wagons to carry the property to headquarters. In the room was found a heavy pair of tinsmith's shears which had been used to cut up silverware. Nearly a score of silver loving cups were also found in the room, with their inscriptions cut off, while on Scheren was found 17 $20 gold pieces. Scheren will be taken to Newburyport. He claims to be an inventor, and has been engaged in selling a patent gas filter. This is his first experience with police officials in this vicinity.

Wanted at Newburyport

Newburyport, Mass., Dec. 6.—Alexander J. Scheren came to this city three weeks ago and hired a small store at 22 Washington street. The rent was $3.22. The store was empty at the time, but Scheren soon filled it and last Saturday sent away two trunks and two suit cases.

A search of the premises yesterday disclosed a bag in which were several jimmies, a small electric hand light, coats and other clothing and a clock key taken from the Frost house. The clock was found in Boston.

The local police also charge Scheren with entering Hubbard's clothing store and stealing 1000 pairs of gloves, many of which were found in his room in Boston.

Scheren was married about three weeks ago and was living with his wife's parents in Boston.

To Test School Exclusion Law

San Francisco, Dec. 6.—In accordance with instructions received from Attorney General Moody, United States District Attorney Devlin held a conference with President Altmann of the San Francisco board of education and City Attorney Burke to discuss legal proceedings in regard to the exclusion of Japanese from public schools attended by white children. The aim is to test the state statute which requires the segregation of children of Mongolian parents.

Carnegie's Gift to Princeton

Princeton, N. J., Dec. 6.—Carnegie lake, the gift of Andrew Carnegie, was formally presented to Princeton university with simple ceremonies. The lake is 3½ miles long; its width varies from 400 to 1000 feet, and it has an average depth of six feet. There is a driveway around the water and also a fine walk. Whether Princeton will enter boat racing has not yet been determined. The lake is well adapted for all sorts of aquatic sports.

Japan's Estimate of Message

Tokio, Dec. 6.—The message of President Roosevelt is warmly praised here as worthy of a statesman of his character and the ruler of a great nation championing civilization and humanity. The opinion prevails that the authorities of San Francisco, as moral beings, can only yield to the moral weight and the sense of justice advocated in the message.

Bank Wrecker Seeks New Trial

Halifax, Dec. 6.—Senator John Lovitt, president of the Bank of Yarmouth, which failed nearly two years ago, has requested the supreme court to grant him a new trial on charges of making false returns of the bank's condition to the government, on which he was convicted by the Yarmouth county court. Decision was reserved.

Sixteen Men Terribly Burned

Seeleyville, Ind., Dec. 6.—One man was killed and 15 others injured by a dust explosion in the Rosebud mine. The explosion followed a shot and caught 180 miners in the mine. All escaped except the 16 men, who were terribly burned.

Michigan Central Raises Wages

Detroit, Dec. 6.—Several thousand employes of the Michigan Central railway have been granted an increase in wages ranging from 1 cent to 4 cents an hour. A scale for the men on the Canada Southern division has not yet been adjusted.

Substantial Treasury Surplus Reported by Shaw

HE OFFERS SUGGESTIONS

Should Be Elastic Currency and More Pay and Pensions In the Revenue Cutter Service--Gold Holdings Beat All Records

Washington, Dec. 6.—Secretary of the Treasury Shaw, reporting a surplus of $25,663,322.61, recommends the following in his annual review of the treasury department submitted to the speaker of he house:

1. A law giving trust companies of large capitalization in large cities the privilege of incorporating under national law with corresponding supervision.

2. The establishment of a department savings bank in Washington in the hope of encouraging the habit of saving among government clerks.

3. A law licensing customs brokers, or some other provision by which the customs department can protect itself from the few disreputable practitioners before it.

4. A provision for a nominal filing fee for entering protests and appeals in customs cases.

5. The abolition of all fees and perquisites of collectors and other customs officers.

6. A liberalization of our drawback laws.

7. Legislation which will insure a merchant marine.

8. The establishment of a pneumatic tube system between the several executive departments within the District of Columbia.

9. The early erection of a hall of records on the site already purchased.

10. The enactment of a law to supply elasticity to currency system and prevent financial panics.

11. That a sea-going tug be provided for revenue cutter service at New Bedford and for the waters of Vineyard and Nantucket sounds.

12. Increase of pay and more rapid promotion for officers of revenue cutter service.

13. Pension for members of lifesaving service.

The total receipts are reported to be $762,386,904.62. The total expenditures $736,717,682.01.

Compared with the fiscal year 1905, the receipts for 1906 increased $65,285,634.67, and there was an increase of $16,612,083.46 in expenditures for 1906.

The excess of revnues over expenditures and the additions to the national bank note redemption fund in excess of redemptions advanced the available cash balance to $180,689,354.82 at the close of the fiscal year, an increase for the year of $35,211,862.93.

For the first quarter of 1907 the revenues were $5,871,314.27 in excess of the expenditures, while in the first quarter of 1906 the expenditures were $9,574,241.56 in excess of the receipts.

There was an increase of $186,866,727 in the monetary stock of the country during the last fiscal year. The growth in gold was $118,050,777, in silver $5,450,396, and in national bank notes $65,392,554, while treasury notes declined $2,027,000. The money in circulation July 1, 1906, amounted to $2,736,646,628, a percapita circulation of $32.32. By Oct. 1 the total circulation had increased to $2,812,133,694, or $33.08 per capita, 43.6 percent of this amount being gold.

The treasury holdings of gold at the close of the last fiscal year was $807,951,690.30. By Oct. 15 this increased to $871,893,899.77, the largest amount of the precious metal ever held in the treasury. The United States paper currency issued during the fiscal year 1906 amounted to $629,896,000, and the redemptions were $577,445,100; gold certificates increased $42,269,000, silver certificates $12,208,000, while treasury notes decreased $2,027,000.

The receipts of moneys for redemption and exchange during the fiscal year 1906 were $1,104,449,492, as against $1,150,625,763 in 1905. The shipments of silver coin at government expense for transportation during the fiscal year were $41,562,828 in standard silver dollars and $29,378,631.40 in subsidiary coin. The average rate for transportation was $2.15 per $1000.

Three Killed In Elevator Accident

Chambersburg, Pa., Dec. 6.—Three men were killed, one was fatally injured and five others were severely hurt at Waynesboro by the fall of an elevator in the Geiser Manufacturing company's shops. Eleven men were on the lift, together with a five-ton milling machine and heavy truck, when a cable parted. The men were dropped 25 feet with the machinery into a pit.

Six Hundred Cases of Smallpox

Truro, N. S., Dec. 6.—The smallpox situation in Cumberland county has assumed so serious a phase that a special danger order has been issued by the Intercolonial railway. The most accurate estimate of the number of cases of the disease in Cumberland is about 600, of which one-half are in and near Springhill.

Deer Slaughter In Michigan

Marquette, Mich., Dec. 6.—Statistics of the hunting season show that more than 9000 deer were killed in Michigan during the season. Many were killed of which no account was kept.

Dec. 1 tf

DEFENDED BY TAFT

Discharge of Men of Twenty-Fifth Infantry Was Justified

Washington, Dec. 6.—In his annual report, Secretary Taft devotes considerable space to a defense and explanation of the course of the war department in connection with the discharge without honor from the military service of the battalion of the Twenty-fifth infantry, which was stationed at Brownsville, Tex., last summer.

The secretary details the events of the night of Aug. 13, involving the "shoot up" of the town of Brownsville by anywhere from nine to 20 members of this battalion.

He is very severe in his condemnation of the non-commissioned officers of the battalion for failing to discover and report the perpetrators of the outrage and of the enlisted men of the battalion who, by maintaining silence, when, as he says, they must have known the guilty parties, connived at the crime. He insists that no obligation of comradeship should prevent the men from telling the truth, but indicates that such of the men as are guiltless may be re-enlisted.

Gotham Getting After Gamblers

New York, Dec. 6.—Significant action was taken by District Attorney Jerome and Police Commissioner Bingham to further the investigation by Jerome of gambling in this city. After a conference Bingham issued an order immediately withdrawing about 100 policemen who had been stationed in front of houses suspected of being gambling or pool rooms. Besides this the police commissioner turned over to Jerome a list of suspected places complied by the police department.

Cowboys' Dastardly Actions

Topeka, Kan., Dec. 6.—Two Texas cowboys tried to hang John E. Lewis, a negro, on a passenger train between Lawrence and Topeka. Three times they placed a rope around Lewis' neck, but each time he got loose and after the third attempt he jumped from the train and escaped. Lewis wore a Knights of Pythias pin and the cowboys said they did not like to see a negro "putting on airs." There were no arrests.

Protracted Earthquake Shock

Kingstown, B. W. I., Dec. 6.—A prolonged earthquake shock was felt here, lasting 80 seconds. The people of Kingstown were thrown into a panic. No other shock felt here has ever lasted so long. The island of Barbados (about 100 miles to the east) and the island of St. Lucia (about 25 miles to the northwest) also felt the shock. There has been a continuation of earthquake shocks here since last February.

Contest Over Woman's Will

Greensburg, Pa., Dec. 6.—The will of Miss Nancy R. McConnell, an aged woman of Rostraver township, who was run down and killed Nov. 20 by a train, which left her entire fortune of $200,000 to the American Bible society of New York, will be contested by John R. McConnell of Springfield, Mass., a son of Miss McConnell's half-brother. Papers against the probate were filed by McConnell yesterday.

Many Lives Lost In Flood

Clifton, Ariz., Dec. 6.—Flood waters that caused a score of deaths and much property damage are receding rapidly and the 30-hour rain has ceased. No further damage is apprehended. The flood in Chase creek was caused by the breaking of a reservoir. North Clifton was partly wrecked, nearly all of the residences in that part of the town being destroyed or damaged.

Patrick to Ask For Pardon

New York, Dec. 6.—It is said here that Albert T. Patrick, who is under sentence of death in Sing Sing prison for the murder of William M. Rice, the Texas capitalist, has secretly prepared an application to Governor Higgins for a pardon. Patrick himself is said to have drawn up the appeal, which is of considerable length and analyzes his entire case.

Bicycle Racers May Be Deported

New York, Dec. 6.—Leon and Emil Georget, who arrived on the steamer La Lorraine to compete as the French team in the six-day bicycle race at Madison Square Garden next week, are being detained at the immigration station on the suspicion that they have the eye disease trachoma. If it develops that they have it they will be deported.

Collapse of Great Wireless Tower

London, Dec. 6.—A severe gale is raging on the coast. Among the many accidents is the destruction of the wireless telegraph tower at Machrihanish bay, Scotland, which was 450 feet high and weighed 2000 tons. This tower was erected for wireless communication with America. It collapsed and crashed to the ground. No one was injured.

Defective Rail Caused Disaster

Chicago, Dec. 6.—One man was probably fatally injured, five other persons were seriously wounded and 21 more were hurt when a fast train running between Cincinnati and Chicago left the track at Cambria. The accident was caused by a defective rail.

No Injury to Canal Works

Washington, Dec. 6.—Supplementing a cablegram sent from Panama relative to the extraordinary rainfall on the isthmus, a message was received stating that the rain has ceased and except for the delay no harm has resulted to the canal works.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Friday, Dec. 7.
Sun rises—6:59; sets—4:12.
Moon rises—10:22 p. m.
High water—3:15 a. m.; 3:30 p. m.
Rain with high temperature is indicated for New England, the rain turning to snow, with much colder weather.

ACID EGGS FOR HORSES

Slugger Tells of Doings During Strike of Chicago Teamsters

Chicago, Dec. 6.—Exposure of the methods employed by teamsters to try to win a strike in 1905 was given in the trial of President Shea of the Teamsters' union and his fellow labor leaders before Judge Ballin by Joseph Schultz, a slugger, who, with Albert Young, turned state's evidence.

The witness detailed several assaults he said he and Shea and others committed on negroes. Schultz said that during the strike the strikers and the pickets would hurl eggs filled with vitriol and other acids at horses in the streets to make them run away. He said that sometimes syringes were used to squirt the acid.

"They gave us the acid eggs at the picket headquarters," he said. "The eggs had been drained and the shells filled with acid. The hole was covered with court plaster. "Shea came into the room," said the witness, "and said: 'Take these and use them, boys, but be careful not to get caught or you will be hanged.'"

Schultz declared that he saw acid thrown on a horse belonging to Montgomery, Ward & Co. It ran away and was so wild with pain that five policemen could scarcely hold it.

Disasters Off Nova Scotia

Digby, N. S., Dec. 6.—Death by freezing came to Captain Berry after his vessel, the schooner Emma R. Harvey, had gone to pieces, and he and all but one of his crew had forced their way in the foaming breakers to land. One seaman was drowned, but the other members of the crew, only slightly less exhausted than the master of the vessel, found shelter and slowly revived from their enfeebled condition. Eight miles away the crew of the schooner Rebecca W. Huddell also were passing through a terrible experience, but they saved their vessel, although forced to beach her.

Fever Patient Fought Burglars

New York, Dec. 6.—Edward Crowinshield, a Harvard student, now ill with a fever at the home of his father, sprang from his bed last night and despite the protests of his nurse gave battle to two burglars. The patient had gotten the better of one of the intruders when the man's pal came to his rescue and the two overpowered Crowinshield. The struggle aroused the sick man's father, who arrived with a revolver and drove the burglars from the house. The young man, according to physicians who were summoned, experienced no serious results in his midnight encounter.

A New Interpretation

Washington, Dec. 6.—The California delegation in congress has received what they consider satisfactory assurance that the president did not desire to be understood as saying in his message that he would use the military force of the United States in forcing Japanese into the California schools in which white children are taught. It is said to have been his purpose to convey the idea that he would use the military to protect Japanese against mob violence.

Philippine Catholics' Rent Bill

Washington, Dec. 6.—The official report in reference to the claims presented by the representatives of the Roman Catholic church in the Philippine islands was transmitted to congress by President Roosevelt. The claims are for amounts alleged to be due from the United States for the use of churches in the islands by troops of this government. The amounts total $363,000, which the president recommends shall be paid.

Major Delmar Fairly Won Cup

New York, Dec. 6.—The Memphis gold cup dispute was officially ended when the board of review of the National Trotting association decided that the trophy had been won on merit and dismissed the charges against Elmer E. Smathers. The case grew out of the alleged drugging of Lou Dillon at Memphis on Oct. 18, 1904, and the winning of the $5000 gold cup by Major Delmar.

From Lieutenant Governor to Judge

Albany, Dec. 6.—Lieutenant Governor Bruce yesterday resigned his office and was immediately sworn in by Secretary of State O'Brien as a justice of the supreme court in the First judicial district, New York county, to which position he was appointed by Governor Higgins. Senator Raines, as president pro tem of the state senate, becomes lieutenant governor.

Latest News About the City

The School Committe ask for proposals for coal and wood.

Mayor Thompson will now get busy with his inaugural address.

Charles Thayer of Hampden, Maine, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Fred Loud of Beach street.

Mrs. Charles Treadway of Billing road is spending a few days with friends in Dorchester.

Mrs. Ripley of Claremont, N. H., is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Charles Treadway of Billings road.

It is remarkable how quickly the excitement of a hot political campaign dies down after the election.

The Sawin-Bennett Co., the new furniture store at 13 Granite street invite you to see their bargains.

There was a light fall of snow during the night which turned to rain this morning, making the walking awful.

It was a very fine dinner that the landlord of The Greenleaf furnished the election officers of Ward One on Tuesday.

Councilman Gelotte says advertising did it, and gives the Daily Ledger credit. But Mr. Gelotte has a good record and should win.

The cases of Martha E. Pitcher and George A. Pitcher against the Old Colony railway to recover for personal injuries at Quincy, is on trial in the Norfolk Superior court.

Brockton and New Bedford were the only cities voting this week to cast a larger "No" vote on the license question than Quincy, and all cast a larger "Yes" vote. None had a larger majority against license.

Whether the advocacy of water meters had anything to do with the defeat of Councilman Gilson the Daily Ledger does not know, but there are many who do not believe in water meters. Time will show they are an extra burden.

The Pioneer Whist club of Park and Downs met with Mrs. Frank Flanders of Rawson road Wednesday evening. Prizes were awarded Mrs. A. E. Linnell, Mr. Charles Treadway, Mrs. Ripley and Mr. W. B. Grant. Refreshments were served.

Four Mayors were elected on Tuesday by smaller pluralities than were given Mayor Thompson in this city, viz: Brown of Marlboro by 54, Ashley of New Bedford by 71, MacDonald of Gloucester by 72, and Bagg of Pittsfield by 178. None had 1,300.

The next meeting of the Wollaston Unitarian club will be on Tuesday evening, December 11th, at 6.30 P. M. The speaker for the evening will be Hon. John G. Brady, ex-Governor of Alaska; his subject being "Alaska—the country—its people—and its resources."

The Wollaston Unitarian Alliance branch attended a neighborhood meeting in Randolph on Tuesday. The speaker, Rev. James H. Crooker of Roslindale, had for his subject, "Liberal Religion in Holland." It was a very interesting talk and entertainly given.

Dramatics at Hancock Hall

The young people of the First Presbyterian church, presented "Old Acre Folks," a rustic drama in two acts, in an up-to-date manner Wednesday evening in Hancock hall.

The program commenced with pleasing selections rendered by Miss Helen Kennedy, the celebrated juvenile singer. Miss Mary Kennedy presided at the piano. Miss Louise Moyle, Quincy's famous elocutionist gave three very fine selections.

Mr. H. F. Curtis, "the black face comedian" showed his skill in rendering several songs appropriate to his color and race.

Miss Mary Kennedy gave several selection at the piano, in a pleasing manner.

The drama, which was under the management of Mr. John Troupe, was presented by Mr. Irving Kemp, Miss Anna R. Giles, Mr. A. J. M. Cowe, Jr., Miss Margaret A. Craig, Mr. William L. Troupe, Miss Jennie G. Grassick, Miss Georgiana Michael, Mr. John Q. Giles, Mr. J. Ernest Collins and Mr. George T. Craig.

The first scene was the sitting room in the Deacon's house. It was an old-fashioned room but very home-like.

All took their parts exceptionally well and much credit is due to the young people and also Mr. J. Troupe.

A quartet composed of four young men of the farm sang several selections, which were much enjoyed.

A large appreciative audience attended and a goodly sum netted, which will be donated to the "Manse Fund."

The McGregors Vs. Harvard

The McGregor football team were not very well pleased with their game on Wednesday at the Soldiers Field, Cambridge, with the Harvard soccer eleven, but all the McGregors had the honor of playing on the Harvard team, and are somewhat puffed up.

The McGregor forwards played with the Harvard backs, and the McGregor backs played with the Harvard forwards, so that really the McGregor forwards played against the McGregor backs, and the Harvard forwards against the Harvard backs.

The line up of the two teams was as follows, the break in the two teams showing how they were divided.

McGREGOR.	HARVARD.

Two halves were played but neither side scored. The kick-off was by F. F. Prescott, the president of the McGregors. Mr. Lewis of the Fore River team of Quincy was referee, and the linesmen Woodman and Steel.

Quincy Estates At Probate Court

The following business was transacted at the session of Norfolk probate at Dedham on Wednesday before Judge Flint:

Wills allowed—Of Anton Holz of East Dedham; Susan Meadowcroft, of Brookline; Eliza C. Post, of Brookline; and Elizabeth Burke, of Quincy.

Administrations granted — On the estates of Julia Hayes of Brookline; Angelina B. Brooks, of Quincy; Roger W. Bradlee, of Milton; Mary E. McNulty, of Randolph; George H. Metcalf, of Norwood.

Among the accounts allowed were: Lydia A. Bates of Weymouth for $7130.08; Thomas H. Tilden of Milton for $5973.38; Susan E. Godfrey of Milton for $23,195.36; Charles A. Gross of Cohasset for $12,017.28.

The condition of Junior Vice Commander Charles A. Newcomb, who is at the City Hospital, remains unchanged. But slight hopes are entertained for his recovery.

It is thought that Mayor Thompson will see the feasibility of making changes in more than one department official.

Some of the Houghs Neck vacationist are to hold a reunion next Tuesday evening in Union hall, Boston.

CANNOT RECOVER MONEY

Wall Paper Trust Sued to Recover $75,000 From Customer

Cincinnati, Dec. 5.—The Continental Wall Paper company brought suit before Judge Thompson of the district court to recover $57,000 from Louis Voight & Sons of Cincinnati for goods sold to them. Voight & Sons resisted, on the ground that the Continental company was a trust and that it had virtually compelled them to buy all their goods of the so-called trust and to allow the alleged trust to fix prices at which goods must be sold. Judge Thompson found for Voight & Sons, on the ground that the plaintiff was a trust.

The United States court of appeals, to which an appeal was taken, held that the proofs showed one of the most complete, ingeniously organized and exacting instances of a trust as defined in the statutes that has come to the knowledge of the court. It held the trust to be an illegal organization and as such it was not entitled to the aid of the court in support of its claim against Voight & Sons, and the judgment of the district court was affirmed and the appeal was dismissed.

Negro Hanged With Preacher

Valdosta, Ga., Dec. 5.—With a declaration that he had told the truth and that his sons, now in jail, had no connection with the crime, Rev. J. G. Rawlings, a former Baptist minister, was hanged for the murder of Willie and Carrie Carter. A. J. Moore, a negro, whose confession connected Rawlings with the crime, was hanged at the same time. Both men stepped upon the scaffold without a tremor. They stood on the trap together and fell together.

The Virginia's Officers Absolved

Washington, Dec. 5.—The responsibility for the collision in Hampton Roads between the battleship Virginia and the steamer Monroe has finally been determined by the supervising inspector general of the steamboat inspection service, who holds that the Monroe was at fault. The navy department, regarding it as a vindication of the proper management of the Virginia, will take no further action in the case.

Four Children Burned to Death

Westfield, N. J., Dec. 5.—Two boys and two girls, ranging in age from 2 months to 5 years, were burned to death at their home last night. Mrs. W. F. Wezel and Mrs Oscar Felter, who lived together with their two children each, went out to work, leaving their little ones at home alone. During their absence their house caught fire. Firemen found the bodies of the children burned beyond recognition.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

FOREIGN COMMENT

President Roosevelt's Message Is Generally Approved

THE JAPANESE QUESTION

Feature Which Commands Most Attention In London and Paris --One Paper Says United States Has Outgrown Its Cradle

London, Dec. 5.—President Roosevelt's message to the American congress occupies the most prominent place in the leading newspapers this morning and has attracted widespread attention from government officials, diplomats and the public.

The prevailing tone of the comment is favorable, particularly with reference to the president's statements on the Japanese question, the newspapers emphasizing the president's warning of a possible use of the federal forces for the protection of Japanese. This feature of the message has given especial satisfaction in official Japanese quarters, where it is pointed out that Japan is satisfied to await the outcome of the issue between the state and federal authorities.

The Daily Telegraph says the president speaks out resolutely and fearlessly, knowing that the democracy likes a man who is not afraid to be its master.

The Standard says that the most significant feature of the message is that the president is constantly finding himself "up against" the American constitution. Far-sighted observers have long since seen that the United States has outgrown its cradle, yet the conservative sentiment of the most conservative people on earth clusters strongly around the constitution. If there are to be reforms, they can only result from a drastic reconstruction of the political system and the prospect of their realizations appears somewhat remote.

The Daily News says the president seems to be wrestling with forces he can comprehend but cannot control.

The Daily Express finds in the message a striking demonstration of the fact that the main currents of the national life in England and America are sweeping forward in parallel lines, namely, the struggle of nationalism against anti-nationalism and of the state against socialism.

Paris Newspapers' Views

Paris, Dec. 5.—The morning papers generally do not comment upon President Roosevelt's message to congress, but they give to it the most prominent place on their pages and publish dispatches from New York recording the feeling of dissatisfaction over the president's references to the San Francisco situation.

The Petit Parisien says President Roosevelt accentuates his continued efforts for peace and justice by discountenancing the attitude of the people of the Pacific coast.

The Figaro says President Roosevelt does not hesitate to condemn the Californian attitude with his customary frankness and loyalty.

The Eclair says: "President Roosevelt's clear vision and knowledge of the present conditions render him circumspect; he is the only man in the United States capable of causing violent spirits to reflect."

Cuba's Fate Rests With Congress

Havana, Dec. 5.—The message of President Roosevelt to congress was published in the local press yesterday afternoon. Liberal and Moderate leaders are chary of expressing an opinion of the president's declaration regarding a Cuban policy, but the general view is that it does not differ materially from the statements made in the letter to Cuban Miniser Quesada last September, and that the final determination of the policy of the United States rests in the hands of congress.

Good Impression In Rome

Rome, Dec. 5.—President Roosevelt's message to the American congress has produced an excellent impression here. His denunciation of lynching and the paragraphs upon peace and righteousness, and when war is not merely justifiable but imperative, have been received with especial satisfaction.

Californians Are Indignant

Washington, Dec. 5.—California is ablaze with indignant protest over that part of President Roosevelt's message wherein he denounces the attitude of San Franciscans toward the Japanese, declares their exclusion from the public schools "wicked absurdity" and calls for laws allowing naturalization of Japanese.

Word comes to Washington that the message has kindled a veritable fire of resentment in San Francisco and has stirred the state to such a degree that the people are more determined than ever to exclude the Japanese from the public schools.

The California delegation in the house is determined to fight the president's position to the bitter end, and aid came to them in the shape of a resolution offered by Senator Raynor of Maryland—a sharp rap at the president.

A Texas Train Robbery

Dallas, Dec. 5.—Assistant Superintendent Garrison of the Pacific Express company denies that $110,000 was stolen by train robbers who held up an express car near Sulphur Springs. Garrison say's the total loss could not have been more than $5000 in cash.

"HOME WORK" FRAUDS

Police Warn Women of Deception Which They Cannot Stop

Boston, Dec. 5.—Although exposed time and again, the old money-making scheme based on "work at home" inducements continues to attract the consideration of thrifty women and thrives at their expense. Complaints of women who have undergone the experience at the cost of a few hard-earned dollars have been frequent at police headquarters, the tale of rejected, though careful, work, being always the same.

The police have investigated one of the places in Boston that thus thrives and have searched for law which will cover this establishment and others of its kind; but it is found that the business is conducted without a loophole and there is no criminal proceeding by which its managers can be reached. Of course, any victim can resort to civil suit to obtain the refundment of the few dollars squandered in the experience or the acceptance of the rejected work, but this would hardly prove remunerative from a business standpoint.

Police Commissioner O'Meara yesterday sent out a statement to warn the public against the "make-money-at-home-in-your-leisure-time" scheme. He explains the idea is to ask the women to pay for instruction, for the material sent to them, and then to declare the finished product sent back is "not suitable for sale."

Legless Man a Supposed Thief

Danbury, Conn., Dec. 5.—The police arrested here on suspicion a legless man who walks on the stumps of his legs and who gives the name of Burt Miller. He had a horse and new top wagon, both of which he claims to have purchased. The police say the wagon answers the description of one which disappeared from a railroad car last week at Noroton. Miller could not satisfy the police as to his address.

Dyer Boys Are Cut Off

Providence, Dec. 5.—By the will of the late Mayor Dyer, who died suddenly Thanksgiving day, it has been brought to light that the three sons of the chief executive receive but $250 apiece out of an estate valued at $250,000. The widow receives the residue after $5000 has been paid to Frances E. Kinnicut, the late mayor's bookkeeper and private secretary. This sum is for "long and faithful service."

Woman Killed by Automobile

Springfield, Mass., Dec. 5.—Mrs. Eva M. Gray, 54 years old, was struck by an automobile driven by A. A. Geisel and died two hours later. Geisel was arrested on the charge of manslaughter and released in $2000 bonds. Mrs. Gray was about to board a trolley car when she discovered that it was not the car she wanted and stepped back in front of the automobile. Geisel is an automobile dealer.

Engineer Murray Arrested

Rutland, Vt., Dec. 5.—George Murray, engineer of the gravel train which crashed into the rear of a mixed train at Vergennes last Saturday, killing three persons and injuring nearly a score of others, was arrested here and was taken to Middlebury, where he was arraigned on the charge of manslaughter before Judge Foote. He was held for the grand jury and was released on bail of $1500.

Frozen to Death by Roadside

Rutland, Vt., Dec. 5.—With the thermometer at 18 degrees below zero, Robert Prentiss of Bennington, aged 60, is supposed to have stretched himself out by the roadside near Shrewsbury and to have fallen asleep. His body was found frozen stiff. Prentiss was last seen on Monday afternoon, walking along the highway, and seemed to be under the influence of liquor.

Schooner's Back Broken

Portsmouth, N. H., Dec. 5.—Schooner William H. Davenport lies in the river at Newmarket with her back broken, having struck on a ledge when within 50 feet of the dock of the Newmarket mills, for which she had a cargo of coal from South Amboy, N. J. The vessel will probably prove a total loss, although her cargo can be saved.

Safe Robbed While Studen s Slept

Medford, Mass., Dec. 5.—Burglars dynamited the Tufts college postoffice safe while scores of students were asleep in the upper rooms of the building and secured postage and money, leaving the police without clues. The postoffice is located in a two-story building called Curtis hall, the upper apartments being used as dormitories.

No Trace of Missing Bark

Vineyard Haven, Mass., Dec. 5.—The revenue cutters Gresham and Mohawk returned to Woods Hole after a vain effort to locate the derelict British bark White Wing, which was abandoned on Nov. 6 while on her voyage from La Have, N. S., to New York. It is thought that the White Wing has either been blown well off shore or has sunk.

Long Strike Declared Off

New Haven, Dec. 5.—After being idle since July 1, the employes of the New Haven Iron and Steel company have declared the strike off. About 300 men have been affected by the strike, which followed a refusal of a demand for a 10 percent increase in wages. The increase, it is understood, has been granted.

Suit Against Surety Company

Boston, Dec. 5.—The Danvers Saving bank has brought suit against the National Surety company of New York to recover on the bonds of Albion F. Welch, treasurer of the bank, who was short in his accounts $22,921 when he died in 1902. The bank's claim in the suit is for $14,121 and interest.

Public Interest

IS NOW CENTERED ON

The Pure Food Law.

WE Have Always Maintained that the best that money could buy was always the cheapest in the end, because it is always the bargain hunters that have to pay the DOCTOR, buying as they do IMPURE foods of all kinds, FOODS that are UNFIT for ANY PERSON'S STOMACH, being mixed as they are with different kinds of PRESERVATIVES and SECRET PREPARATIONS to take the place of GOOD PURE FOODS. And some dealers selling these goods at a GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICE over the pure kind, GUARANTEE you NOTHING, but—"Poor Health to You and Your Family," and although you can buy the "just as good kind," you can save nothing as that kind is unhealthy and dangerous to the whole human family. Now our standard is to always sell the best of everything and the steady increase of our business year after year proves to us that we have the right idea, and we know it must be very satisfactory to our many customers to feel that what they buy at our store is ABSOLUTELY PURE and HEALTHFUL and the Food Laws are being strictly enforced by us. Our Goods are all GOVERNMENT INSPECTED and also carefully inspected by us before they are put on sale or sent to your homes, and although you pay perhaps a few cents more to us than some dealers charge, don't you think it is money well spent, considering all things?—YOUR HEALTH, which is the greatest blessing we can have,—think well about this and we know you will agree with us and do your trading where you know the goods can be depended upon to be absolutely Pure.

We have just received our season's pack of choice canned and bottled goods, FRESH and DRIED FRUITS, all kinds of Cereals, Ketchup, Pickles, Jams, Jellies, Prunes, Figs, Nuts, Dates, Table Raisins, Citron, Lemon and Orange Peel, Olives, Sardines,—in fact everything for your tastes and fancies. All the leading brands of FLOUR. Fancy New Orleans Molasses.

OUR MARKET is complete, AND REMEMBER, we sell nothing that has been doctored or filled with Preservatives to keep it. ABSOLUTELY NOTHING but Carefully Selected Meats are on sale at OUR STORE. Stamped with the Government Inspection Stamp, that insures to you and to us the point of perfection, which we are always striving to reach for the benefit of our trade.

We will have a grand display of that great National Bird, THE TURKEY, the same VERMONT KIND we have always sold you,—Chicken, Fowl and Duck, direct from WILLIAM R. DRAKE of Braintree, and he knows how to dress them so as to please the eye as well as the palate. They don't grow nicer than he has. Fruit and vegetables in abundance, and don't forget our famous LA TOURANE COFFEE, no dinner complete without it.

Yours Respectfully,

JOHNSON BROS., CITY SQUARE

ANOTHER BATTLESHIP

Secretary Bonaparte Wants a Sister Ship for the Big Battleship

If the recommendation of Secretary of the Navy Bonaparte goes, there will be two big battleships to build instead of one. In his annual report to Congress on Thursday the Secretary said in part:

In my last annual report I stated that "the aggregate of our battleships, armored cruisers and coast defence vessels built, building or authorized, would seem, according to present indications, sufficient to provide for any contingencies within the limits of probability."

It is my duty now to report that, in my judgment, circumstances have so far changed as to make provision for a moderate increase in the effective fighting strength of our navy the part of patriotic foresight at present. I recommend therefore, that Congress authorize the construction of a sister ship to the one already authorized.

Plans for the battleship authorized by the last naval appropriation are transmitted to Congress. The type of vessel selected has a length of 510 feet. The Secretary deprecates the action of Congress in making the public proviso as to the armor and equipment of the vessel. Such action, he says, appears in forcible contrast to the action of at least one foreign government in dealing with the same subject matter. It is the universal desire of the construction departments in navies to keep their designs, as nearly as possible, secret; and, so far as the secretary is aware, this is the only instance in which disapproval of this policy has been apparently indicated by the legislative branch of any government.

In conclusion, the secretary says:

In closing this report, I think it is but right to call attention to certain features of our country's situation. Although a continental power, for practical purposes we share with Great Britain the immense advantages of an insular position. Provided our naval strength be sufficient to retain command of the sea, we are absolutely safe from invasion, and consequently escape the burdens of a vast military establishment: but if we have not a sufficient navy, the oceans to the east and west of us, instead of serving as bulwarks for defence, become highways for invasion. Under these circumstances, unless we are willing to maintain a strong standing army, the maintenance of our naval strength is a matter of supreme moment to the national safety.

The pecuniary burden imposed on each inhabitant of the United States for the maintenance of the navy may be estimated roughly at one-third of that borne by each inhabitant of Great Britain and Ireland, and the burden of personal service to the like end at about one-seventh. Expressed in figures, we many say that the cost of the navy amounts to about $1.33 per annum for each inhabitant of the United States and that about six men out of every 10,000 inhabitants are at present bound by law to naval service.

Basket Ball At Y. M. C. A.

Next Saturday evening in the gymnasium of the local Young Men's Christian Association the home team will play the basket-ball team of the Cambridge Y. M. C. A.

The local team is composed of the following players:—Morris and R. Jones forwards, Tirrell center, and Martell and Taylor, guards,—Dahl and Farquhar substitutes. This team is fast getting together in team work and local lovers of sport may look forward to some good games in the coming months.

The game with Cambridge is the first home game of the present season, and a good crowd should be on hand to root for the home team. Basket-ball has always been a popular sport in Quincy, and the association should receive the hearty support which its clever playing and clean sportsmanship deserve.

The game will be called sharply at eight fifteen o'clock. Admission,—Ladies; fifteen cents; Members; fifteen cents; —General public, twenty-five cents.

As a preliminary contest the Bigelows and Pilgrim Fraternity team will clash.

Mr. Rufus Pierce.

The funeral of Mr. Rufus Pierce, one of the oldest residents of West Quincy, was held from his late home on Wood street, Wednesday, Dec. 5th and was attended by many relatives, neighbors and friends. For several years he has been in failing health, but always bore his sufferings and pain without a murmur. He will be greatly missed by his neighbors and friends. He leaves a widow, one son and a daughter.

The floral offerings were beautiful, the casket being hidden beneath the flowers, among which, were the following tributes of esteem:

Flat spray of white carnations, Immediate family.

Flat spray of Narcissus, Mr. and Mrs. William F. Bassett.

Mound, Mr. and Mrs. I. P. Bent.

Wreath of roses and carnations, Tobias H. Burke and Thomas F. Burke.

RECOUNT FOR MAYOR

A Claim That Defective Ballots Were Counted For Mayor Thompson

No petitions for recount of votes cast at the Municipal election on Tuesday had been filed with the City Clerk up to noon, but it is expected that petitions will be filed this afternoon for Mayor and Ward Councilmen in Wards One and Six.

It was currently reported about City Square that Mr. Shea the Democratic candidate for Mayor would petition for a recount. It is claimed that is some wards that ballots counted for Mayor Thompson were defective.

The claims made is that in several instances the voter marked a cross against the name of Shea and then erased it with a rubber and made a cross against the name of Thompsen. No erasers are provided on the pencils attached to the voting booths and the claim made is that if the voter changed his mind after making a cross against the name of Shea he should have called for a new ballot.

Erasing the cross, it is claimed, makes the ballot defective. On the other hand the law says that the intent of the voter must be taken. It would seem if the cross against the name of Shea was rubbed out and a new cross made against the name of Thompson it was clear that Thompson was the man the voter desired to vote for.

Mayor Thompson's plurality was 195, and there is hardly any possible chance of changing the result.

In Wards One and Six there is very little chance of changing the result by a recount.

The main object seems to be to have a look at the ballots and see how many Republicans voted for the Democratic candidate, and how many bullets were cast.

Death of Officer Of G. A. R. Post

Charles A. Newcomb, junior vice commander of Paul Revere Post 88, G. A. R., died at the City Hospital on Thursday afternoon, after an illness of nearly two weeks' duration, due to a shock of paralysis. Mr. Newcomb was 59 years of age, and for over ten years had been employed as a conductor on the street railway. He entered the employ of the road when it was under the Quincy & Boston management and at different times has run on all the routes.

During the Civil war he served in Co. B of the 60th regiment of Massachusetts Volunteers, and was honorably discharged at the close of the war. He leaves a widow. His funeral will be held Sunday from the residence of Frank C. Packard on Chestnut street.

MILTON.

A special service for men will be held at the Mission of Our Saviour church Sunday evening, Dec. 16.

The next smoke talk of the Thursday Evening club will be held Dec. 27. The speaker is to be John Alden Lee and his subject, "The making and manufacture of paper."

The ladies of the East Milton Congregational church held an entertainment and sale at the church Wednesday evening.

Bishop Lawrence will visit St. Michaels church Dec. 16. Several East Milton people will be confirmed.

The ladies of the Mission of Our Saviour church will hold a sale and entertainment at the church vestry next Wednesday evening.

E. B. Seaver and family of Huntington road have moved to New York where they will make their future home.

—Orders have been placed with the Nikolaieff shipbuilding yards for the construction of four torpedo cruisers on the lines of the most modern vessels of this class in foreign navies. These ships, when completed, will be attached to the Black sea fleet.

Presentation to Thomas Newcombe

A few friends met at the home of Thomas Newcombe at 300 Water street, on Thursday evening to wish him bon voyage on his trip to "ye olde countrye." Mr. Newcombe lately made up his mind to visit his old home in Penryn, County Cornwall, England, where his father, at the age of 78, still resides. For the last eighteen years, the guest of the evening has been an honored citizen of Quincy, during the last six years being a partner of the well known firm of Newcombe & Sullivan, bricklayers and plasterers.

As a token of the regard and good fellowship in which Mr. Newcombe is held, his friends presented him with a beautiful gold watch; the presentation being made in a most appropriate little speech by T. J. Smith. The Sons of St. George, of which order Mr. Newcombe is a past president, were represented by past presidents Charles Jones, Robert Chapple, William Warmington, Thomas J. Smith and President Edward Warmington.

During the evening songs were tastefully rendered by the following: R. Chapple, A. Newcombe, W. Warmington, F. Warmington, T. Collins, H. Collins, J. Wardle, T. Newcombe, W. Martin and W. Richards. After a most enjoyable evening, the company left, wishing Mr. Thomas Newcombe a good time at the other side, and a quick return into the midst of his family and friends.

Vesper Service at Universalist Church

A musical treat is in store for those who attend the special vesper service to be held in the Universalist church on Washington street, corner of Elm, on Sunday evening at 7.30. The pastor, Rev. W. S. Perkins, D. D., will deliver a short address.

Among the musical numbers of the program are several anthems by a chorus choir. This chorus has a membership of nearly forty voices and it is expected that a large majority of them will be present on Sunday. They are studying under one of the best instructors in the state.

By special request, Mr. Frank Varney and Mrs. Blanche Richardson have consented to sing George B. Nevins' "Twilight." They sang this same song at the vesper service in the same church last February, and it is at the request of those who attended that service that it is to be repeated at this time.

The service is free though the usual collection will be taken. The public is cordially invited.

IF MOTHERS ONLY KNEW

When children are cross, irritable and peevish it does not signify that they have bad tempers; it shows that there is something wrong with the child which it is not able to explain, and which the mother—If She Only Knew—could easily and quickly cure. Mothers, study your child's symptoms; if cross, peevish, nervous, grits the teeth, wets the bed, picks the nose, has variable appetite or bowels, suffers with wind-colic or headache, is irritable and restless, has furred tongue or offensive breath, you may be sure that child is troubled with worms, which cause nearly all the ills of childhood.

Don't delay—disease comes suddenly—a few doses of the wonderful old-time remedy—will give your children that vigorous health which is so important to their future happiness.

Dr. True's Elixir expels the worms, if there are any—if not it acts as a gentle laxative and tonic. It cleans out all waste matter from the stomach and bowels, tones and strengthens the entire system of adults as well as children. Dr. True's Elixir is a safe, pure, vegetable tonic and has been the standard household remedy for fifty-five long years.

Sold by all druggists, 35c., 50c., $1.00.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

Tuesday, Dec. 18, is the last date for entering new business by petition in the Legislature of 1907. Should there not be an effort made to amend the Quincy City Charter along some of the lines suggested in the recent City campaign? Quincy should have a continuous board of Commissioners of Public Works, one to be elected each year by the voters, to serve three years.

The positions of Chief of Police and Chief the Fire Department should become pernanent, subject only to removal by the Mayor and a two-thirds vote of the City Council. All other city officials now appointed by the Mayor should require confirmation by the City Council.

Unless there is a Board of Public Works, the construction of schoolhouses, and also repairs and care of the same, should be solely under the direction of the School Committee, the appropriation to be made as at present by the City Council with the approval of the Mayor.

The Daily Ledger would like to hear from the citizens generally who believe in changes, and will be pleased to print all letters received. Such changes would be a great relief to the Mayor of the city. As our City Charter is now constructed it is almost impossible to obtain a man capable of filling the office of Commissioner of Public Works.

"A daily reader of the Ledger" writes "I have seen invitations for people interested in any public question, to send letters for publication." Wonder if he or she ever saw in the Ledger that anonymous letter were consigned to the waste basket. The editor must know the author of everything sent for publication.

DEFECTIVE SEAM

Caused Explosion of Boiler In Lynn Shoe Factory

A GREAT FIRE FOLLOWS

Fourteen Buildings Consumed Before Flames Are Checked--Persons Reported Missing Are All Accounted For

Lynn, Mass., Dec. 7.—An explosion, followed by quickly spreading fire, brought disaster to Lynn, and hard hit the manufacturing district of the city. Eleven persons were injured and the loss of property will exceed a half million of dollars.

The cause of the disaster was the blowing up of an imperfect boiler in the four-story shoe factory building of the E. J. Harney Shoe Manufacturing company. The fire which immediately broke out destroyed the Harney plant and communicated so quickly with the nearby structures that 14 buildings were consumed before the fire was checked by the firemen, who included workers from Lynn and Boston, Salem and Saugus. Of the injured only one is in a dangerous condition.

The people of Lynn, as bad as the fire was, discuss chiefly their escape from a calamity, for had the fire swept through the factory district at an hour when the employes were assembled for work the story of the disaster might have told a terrible loss of life.

The explosion occurred just before the operatives were due at the various factories. In the list of injured are some of those who arrived before the usual hour and who were cut off from escape by the flames. In addition to the Harney company, whose loss is placed at $300,000, the heaviest loss was felt by the Tufts & Friendman Shoe company. The latter company loses about $150,000. Small wooden dwelling houses located near the burning factories were food for the flames and several of them had disappeared before the fire was checked.

Persistent reports reached the police that several persons employed in the factories were missing, but up to this morning all those whose names were reported had been accounted for as alive and uninjured.

It was but a short time after the breaking out of the fire that the state authorities started an investigation of the cause of the explosion. State Building Inspector Cheney expressed his opinion that a defective seam in the boiler of the Harney factory was the actual cause of the trouble, just as it was in the case of the explosion at Brockton in March, 1905, when the blowing up of the boiler at the factory of R. B. Grover resulted in the death of about 60 persons.

The official inquiry brought out the fact that the Harney boiler was insured and therefore not amenable to state inspection. Under the law, however, insured boilers must be regularly examined by the company which takes the risk. The records at the state house at Boston indicate that this law was observed in the case of the Harney boiler.

Snow and sleet made the work of the firemen during the day a hardship and often times imperilled the lives of the fire workers. The insurance is estimated at about $350,000.

During the day a message was received from the trustees of the relief fund of the Grover disaster at Brockton, expressing sympathy to the mayor of the city and stating that Brockton would be found ready to tender assistance if needed.

Lapped Seam Perhaps Cracked

Hartford, Dec. 7.—According to a statement made by Secretary Pierce of the Hartford Steam Boiler Inspection and Insurance company of this city, the cause of the boiler explosion at Lynn will undoubtedly be found to be an invisible crack in the lapped seams of the boiler, similar to that which resulted in the Brockton disaster of 1905.

Mr. Pierce said that his company examined and insured the boiler for the first time about 11 years ago, when it was being built at the Boston factory of the Cunningham Iron works, and that it had been insured for $10,000 ever since. It was last inspected last May and was then apparently in good condition.

A lapped-seam boiler, he said, is apt to be strained on the seams when one plate is forced over the edge of another in order to be riveted, and if a crack appears on the inside of the outside lap or on the outside of the inside lap it is impossible for an inspection, no matter how thorough, to reveal it.

Supervising Agent Blake and Chief Inspector Allen left for Boston and will visit the scene of the explosion today, when definite expert and technical details may be expected.

Two Incendiary Suspects

New York, Dec. 7.—The police late last night arrested John Stace, aged 20, and Joseph Glasser, aged 16, on a charge of being suspicious persons. The police charge that the prisoners set fire to five buildings in the vicinity of Columbus avenue and Amsterdam avenue and 103rd street last night.

Suffocated Under Load of Hay

Rochester, Dec. 7.—Michael Dooley, 35 years old, met death during a heavy windstorm by being buried under a large load of hay and suffocated. He was on top of the load, driving the team, when the load was struck by a violent gust of wind and overturned.

SETTLED FOR $500,000

Glucose Trust Pays For Violation of Pure Food Laws

Philadelphia, Dec. 7.—The Corn Products Refining company of New York, a member of the alleged glucose trust, has made a settlement at a cost of about $500,000 of all cases brought in Pennsylvania by Dr. B. H. Warren, diary and food commissioner, against persons selling candies containing glucose. Action was brought against 450 persons by agents of Warren since August. The use of glucose in candies was held to be illegal, because the glucose contained sulphur dioxide used for bleaching purposes.

A number of cases were settled by payment of fines and costs by the dealers arrested, but President Bedford of the Corn Products company, in a letter sent to Warren, agreed to pay all costs in the remaining cases, with the understanding that they be dismissed. He said that the crusade would cost his company $500,000. The offer to settle was accepted.

Junket Won't Come Off

Washington, Dec. 7.—After a conference with Mayor Behrman and other citizens of New Orleans, who are here attending the rivers and harbors convention, Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston decided that on his return he will veto the bill passed by the city council making an appropriation to defray the expenses of a committee of the city government which the bill authorized should go to New Orleans and return a Confederate flag taken during the war. The flag is without historic value.

Suspension of Police Officers

Jersey City, N. J., Dec. 7.—Mayor Fagan last night brought about the suspension of Chief of Police Murphy, three police captains and several detective sergeants. Policemen chosen by Fagan and his advisors are detailed to take the places of all the suspended men. The suspensions followed the filing of charges based upon raids upon pool rooms and handbook men under the direction of the mayor himself.

Fleeced by Fortune Teller

Chicago, Dec. 7.—The coroner's inquest into the death of Mrs. Rose Vzral, who committed suicide because of a police investigation, developed the fact that she had given to Herman Belsk, a fortune teller under arrest in connection with the case, an aggregate of about $3000. The police will ask that the body of Ella Vzral, the last member of the family to die, be exhumed for further examination.

Not After Street Railways

New Haven, Dec. 7.—At the offices of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company the official statement is made that the New England Investment and Security company has no connection with any negotiations or plans relating to the control of the Rhode Island system of street railways or the Connecticut Railway and Lighting system of Connecticut.

Yankee Fishermen Stole Nets

St. Johns, Dec. 7.—Captain Smith and three other men, comprising the crew of the Gloucester fishing schooner Colonial, were tried at Bay of Islands on a charge of stealing nets belonging to Newfoundland vessels and fined $75 each. One-third of the amount of the fines was turned over the owners of the nets to compensate them for their loss.

Postal Clerk an Alleged Thief

New York, Dec. 7.—George Bunnell, a railway postal clerk, was arraigned before Commissioner Shields and held in $2500 bail for further examination on the charge of taking money from letters. Inspectors say his method of abstracting money was the most novel and the cleverest that has ever come under their observation.

Death Cell Ready For Gillette

Auburn, N. Y., Dec. 7.—Quarters in Auburn prison have been prepared for Chester Gillette, who was convicted at Herkimer for the murder of his sweetheart, Grace Brown. A cot and a chair were placed in cell No. 2 of the corridor set apart exclusively for those condemned to death in the electric chair.

Pope's Physician Laid Up

Rome, Dec. 7.—Dr. Lapponi, physician to the pope, who has been seriously ill for some time, is growing worse. Complications have set in through pneumonia. He has cancer of the stomach and owing to the weakness of the patient the wisdom of performing an operation is doubtful.

Mills Shut Out 7000 Workmen

Lodz, Dec. 7.—The Pozenanski cotton mills, which employ 7000 men, have been closed indefinitely, owing to disputes with the workmen. The owners of the mills are discouraged at the excessive demands of the men and the continued strikes and disturbances.

Carfares In Greater New York

Albany, Dec. 7.—The total number of cash fares collected on the surface, elevated and subway lines of Greater New York for the quarter ending Sept. 30, 1906, was 324,681,124, as against 302,335,510 collected during the same period of 1905.

Deaths In Mine Explosion

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Dec. 7.—An explosion of gas in the Buttonwood colliery, a few miles south of this city, resulted in the death of three men and the serious injury by burning of eight others.

A GENERAL ADVANCE

More Wages For 20,000 Cotton Operatives In Rhode Island

Providence, Dec. 7.—An advance in wages, varying from 5 to 10 percent, will be made in the cotton mills of Rhode Island on Monday next. About 20,000 operatives will be affected, and in addition it is understood the pay of about 5000 mill hands in Massachusetts and Connecticut factories controlled by Providence offices will be raised to correspond with the schedules in this state.

Notices have been posted in all the mills controlled by the Goddard Bros. announcing an advance on Monday. The increase will equal the advance in the New Bedford mills. The notices were posted at the two mills of the Lonsdale company in Lonsdale and in the other plants of the Goddards at Berkeley, Ashton, Phenix and Hope, R. I., and Blackstone, Mass. The Goddard Bros. employ nearly 5000 hands.

The Coventry company of Anthony and Coventry and the Slater Cotton company of Pawtucket also announce an advance, beginning next Monday. The Interlaken company of Harris & Arkwright advanced the wages of its 400 operatives 10 percent.

The Warren company of Warren ordered an advance in its mills, and the Parker mills in the same town, which are a branch of the Parker mills of Fall River, will also join in the movement.

Among other Massachusetts mills which usually follow the New Bedford-Rhode Island schedule are those in North Uxbridge, Linwood, Saundersville, Whitinsville and Rockdale, all in the Blackstone valley.

Want Ten Percent Advance

New Bedford, Mass., Dec. 7.—The New Bedford Textile Council last night voted to recommend to the various unions that the offer of the Cotton Manufacturers' association to advance wages 7½ percent on Monday next be rejected. Special meetings of the unions will be held to act upon the recommendation. Last month the Textile Council requested that an advance of 10 percent be granted in all the cloth mills of the city by Dec. 10. The local cotton mills employ about 17,000 hands.

Given Months to Clean Up

Louisville, Dec. 7.—Aaron Kohn, representing 100 dairymen, against whom charges were brought under the pure food law of feeding swill to cattle, pleaded guilty for his clients and accepted a suspension of sentence of $100 fine and a jail sentence of 50 days against each defendant. The fine and jail sentence will be annulled only on condition that the dairymen clean their premises by April 1 and quit feeding swill to cattle.

Murderers Granted Respite

Jefferson City, Mo., Dec. 7.—Governor Folk has granted a respite until Jan. 10 for Mrs. Aggie Myers and Frank Hottman of Kansas City, who were convicted of having murdered the husband of Mrs. Myers and were sentenced to be hanged. The respite is granted to allow time for the United States supreme court to decide an application for a writ of error from the Missouri supreme court to that court.

Killed Husband by Stabbing

New York, Dec. 7.—Mrs. Grace Cooper was held responsible last night by a coroner's jury at Stapleton, S. I., for the death of her husband, James Cooper, a saloonkeeper, who died as a result of a knife wound. Dr. Lutey testified that before Cooper died he said that he and his wife were struggling over the possession of a carving knife when he was stabbed.

No Dallying With Terrorists

Warsaw, Dec. 7.—The police are showing great activity in the tracing and arresting of political offenders and, during the past week, eight terrorists have been executed and eight others condemned to death. The authorities also are picking out the leaders of the recent strikes in the different trades preparatory to exiling them to northeastern Russia.

Shot Two and Hurt Self

Cedar Springs, S. C., Dec. 7.—Three children are expected to die from injuries sustained by Heintish Coggins, aged 8, picking up his father's shotgun and firing it at his sister and a negro child who was playing with them. The recoil of the explosion caused internal injuries from which the boy will probably die.

Cuban Liberals at Odds

Havana, Dec. 7.—The succession to the governorship of the province of Santa Clara, made vacant by the resignation of General Aleman, threatens to precipitate a serious split in the ranks of the Liberal party. Governor Magoon has referred the matter to the department of law and justice for an opinion.

To Hit Happiness Aim at HEALTH

A soothsayer once told his despondent king that true happiness could be secured by wearing the undershirt of a perfectly happy subject. After diligent search the king met a peasant by the roadside who confessed that he was perfectly happy. Instantly he was commanded to strip. But, alas for kingly expectations. The man wore no undershirt.

Happiness cannot be secured by aiming at it. Nevertheless it is possible to be happy if you go about it in the right way. Be useful, cultivate cheerfulness, live within your means and be careful of your health. Aim at these and happiness follows without any direct pursuit.

On the other hand, the secret of health is simple and can be found at any drug store. Buy a box of Beecham's Pills at the nearest one, read the directions carefully, and take a pill or two whenever the stomach is upset, the liver torpid, the bowels inactive, or when headache interferes with business or sleep.

The well man is usually happy. Good spirits and good health go together. Happiness and health are closely related. Aim at the first and you will hit both with the quick, safe and certain aid of

Senate Acts on the Discharge of Negro Troops

ASKS FOR INFORMATION

Foraker Denies Allegation That Troops In Question Committed Murder In Texas--Questions For Roosevelt and Taft

Washington, Dec. 7.—The senate adopted the Penrose resolution requiring the president to send in information regarding the discharge of the negro troops of the Twenty-fifth infantry and also the Foraker resolution, directing the secretary of war to transmit all information in the possession of his department on the same subject. Both resolutions carry an identical amendment by Mr. Culberson, asking specifically for the order to Major Penrose, commanding the troops, which directed him not to turn over to the Texas authorities certain of the troops' demands.

This action followed a debate of two hours and was taken without a rollcall or opposing vote. The debate developed along two distinct lines, one as to the propriety of asking the president for the information or of directing the secretary of war to furnish it, and the other an indulgence by a few senators in comment on the merits of the case.

Mr. Spooner took the ground that in matters where congress had an absolute right to information in the possession of the execueive, it has always been customary to direct a cabinet officer to furnish it. In matters where it had not this right and in which there was some doubt about the advisability of publicity, congress usually made a request upon the president, if it desired the information, with the understanding that it should be furnished "if not incompatible with the public interest." This view was supported also by Mr. Foraker, while Mr. Lodge quoted precedents to the contrary.

To lay the foundation for a discussion of this point Mr. Carter observed that "it had been alleged and not denied" that the troops in question had committed murder in Texas. This brought Foraker to his feet with an emphatic disclaimer. This allegation had been denied, he said, and much evidence adduced to support the denial.

"Well," continued Carter, "it has been alleged and not denied that there was a disturbance participated in by the troops."

"That, too, has been denied," asserted Foraker.

"Well," again began Carter, "it has been alleged and not denied that there was a disturbance."

Mr. Foraker here produced a printed copy of testimony in the case which he had obtained at the war department, extracts of which he read to show, as he said, that it was "unsatisfactory, incomplete and of a flimsy character," and that no jury "in Christendom" would convict under it.

Mr. Carter finally secured an opportunity to finish the point, which was in support of calling on the president for the information.

Mr. Foraker read at length the testimony furnished by the war department. He did not regard it from the standpoint of race question. The right of the president to dismiss a man from the army was involved. If he could dismiss a man he could dismiss a company, a regiment, a brigade, and in fact, on the same theory, the whole army. Foraker admitted, at the suggestion of Mr. Warren, that the president under the law had the right to increase or decrease the army within certain maximum and minimum limits.

During the debate the report was current among senators that the president felt it would be a matter of courtesy if the resolution should be addressed to himself and so strong, it was said, was this feeling on his part that he had intimated that unless this course was taken there would be no response.

An Amended Ship Subsidy Bill

Washington, Dec. 7.—Compromise on the ship subsidy bill seems to be in sight. At a meeting of the house committee on merchant marine and fisheries Chairman Grosvenor suggested an amendment which will limit subsidies to the South American and Oriental trade. The suggestion was well received. The amended bill will be in harmony with Secretary Root's policy for the extension of trade.

Six-Year Term of Office

Washington, Dec. 7.—A term of six years for the President and Vice President of the United States is proposed by Senator Cullom in a joint resolution introduced providing for an amendment to the constitution. The resolution declares also that the president and vice president shall not be eligible for re-election.

Silver Lower In Price

Washington, Dec. 7.—The government has resumed the purchase of silver, accepting bids for 200,000 ounces at 68.669 cents per fine ounce. This is more than 3½ cents an ounce lower than the offerings which were made at the time purchases were suspended nearly four weeks ago.

"Witch" Stoned to Death

Phoenix, Ariz., Dec. 7.—A letter received here reports the stoning to death of an Apache squaw by the tribesmen one mile from Fort Apache on Nov. 28. The natives charged her with being a witch.

THURSTON FOR MAYOR

Final Decision In Unique Political Muddle at Cambridge

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 7.—Mayor Charles H. Thurston will again head the Democratic ticket at the city election next Tuesday, the tie between him and James L. Aylward, occasioned by the supreme court's decision on the result of the caucuses, being broken last night by the Democratic city committee, which supported Thurston by a vote of 67 to 35.

Thurston and Aylward were rival aspirants for the Democratic nomination for mayor, and after several mistakes had been corrected in the returns of the caucuses and a recount held, Aylward was declared to have won by one vote. That vote was thrown out in the supreme court, which left the result a tie and, according to the caucus law, placed the selection of a candidate for mayor in the hands of the city committee of the party.

The committee held a long session last night, with all but five members present, and at the close Thurston was renominated. He will be opposed next Tuesday by Walter C. Wardwell, who is running on nomination papers.

Two Killed In Train Collision

Rochester, N. H., Dec. 7.—A regular freight train from Nashua, N. H., eastbound, ran into a special freight train last night as the latter was hauling out onto the main track from a siding, killing Engineer Patterson and Brakeman Foster on the special and piling some of the cars upon the track three deep. Patterson was killed instantly, his head being driven through the top of his cab. Foster died within a few minutes after being taken from the wreck. The track was completely blocked for a distance of nearly 1000 feet.

Engineer and Fireman Hurt

Bennington, Vt., Dec. 7.—The dropping of a crown plate in the firebox of a locomotive at Shaftsbury last night caused a steam explosion which severely injured Engineer Murray and Fireman Crovin. The two men were standing in front of the firebox and when the leakage of water from the boiler into the firebox caused the explosion they were blown out of the cab bodily. They were taken to a hospital in Rutland, suffering from burns and shoulder dislocations.

Churchill Opposes Free Passes

Concord, N. H., Dec. 7.—Winston Churchill says he is not a candidate for United States senator, but will spend the winter in forwarding the legislative program of the Lincoln Republican club. He says: "I have heard it said that the Boston and Maine railroad is to send out passes as usual to the legislature. I hope that the members of the legislature will return these passes and adopt legislation to pay their fares backward and forward to their homes once a week."

Passenger Train Struck Freight

Rockingham Junction, N. H., Dec. 7.—A passenger train running from Nashua to Dover crashed into a freight train in the local yards last night. The passenger locomotive was badly damaged and two of the freight cars derailed. No person was injured. The freight train was standing partly on a siding, the middle of the train extending over the main line. The cause of the wreck is not known.

Andover Seminary's Future

Boston, Dec. 7.—The future of the Andover Theological seminary was discussed at length at a meeting of 76 members of the Alumni association, and an informal vote was taken on the proposed merger with Harvard university with the result that 16 favored it, while 62 were opposed. The majority and minority reports of the committee will be sent to all the alumni and a mail vote taken.

Railroad Men Lose Positions

New London, Conn., Dec. 7.—Engineers Badet and Prince of the passenger and freight trains respectively, and Fireman Packard and Conductor Curson of the freight have been discharged by the Central Vermont railroad as responsible for the head-on collision between a passenger and freight train at Montville, as a result of which Fireman Geer died.

Janitor Did Not Steal Letters

Hartford, Dec. 7.—Frank T. Hancock, former janitor of the New Haven postoffice, was acquitted of the charge of theft of letters from the mails in that city by a jury in the United States court. His attorney, in summing up the case, said that "there was a thief in the New Haven postoffice and that Hancock was not the man, but the scapegoat."

Italians Don't Like Consul

Boston, Dec. 7.—A mass meeting of Italian residents in this city will be held on Dec. 17 for the purpose of asking the recall by the home government of Baron Tosti, the Italian consul here, on the ground that he has been accepting railroad transportation and selling it to emigrants. The Italians here also object to Tosti's interest in a newspaper.

Fate of Schooner Unknown

Boston, Dec. 7.—The Boston Chamber of Commerce has posted as several weeks overdue schooner Henry Sutton of New Haven, from Cheverie, N. S., Oct. 31 for Baltimore with 1000 tons of plaster. The owners believe that the vessel was lost in one of the gales of early November.

Indictment In Pension Case

Boston, Dec. 7.—Among 14 indictments reported by the federal grand jury was one against Joseph Martin of Marlboro, who is charged with obtaining $4000 in pensions by personating John Martin of Uxbridge, Mass.

Latest News About the City

Chief of Police Burrell will be 44 years old next Monday.

Frank Badger of Clive street starts Saturday for a trip to Minnesota on business.

Friends of Mrs. Joseph C. Morse, Jr. regret to learn of her continued illness, which is causing anxiety.

Little Helen Cherrington of Clive street, who has been quite ill for the past week, is reported much better.

The Norfolk grand jury will probably report today the results of its findings. There has been several Quincy cases before them.

Quincy Lodge, N. E. O. P. will nominate officers tonight and a full attendance is expected. After the meeting there will be an entertaiument.

L. Warshaw and family are now settled at their home on Beacon street, which was recently purchased. Their many friends wish them joy and happiness in their new home.

The Young People's Christian Endeavor held a social meeting in Memorial church, Atlantic, Wednesday evening. Chocolate and crackers were served. There was a large attendance.

A. R. Baxter of Trenton N. J., has been in town this week, and on his return tonight will be accompanied by his mother, Mrs. James S. Baxter of Pleasant street, who goes to spend the holidays.

The special illustrated article in the Saturday eight-page Daily Ledger will be by Robertus Love on "Busy times ahead of Congress," and in his usual entertaining style there will be much of interest in the Saturday Ledger.

Two Quincy women were granted divorces in the Norfolk superior court on Thursday, both for statutory offences. Decrees were given Helen F. Edwards against Frederick M. Edwards and Annie L. Chamberlain against John C. Chamberlain.

Proffessor Goodell of Wellesley, brother-in-law to Mrs. Harry Read of Squantum street, and a man well known by many Atlantic people, is now improving rapidly from a second attack of typhoid fever. His two little children, who have also been ill with typhoid, are out of danger and fast gaining in health.

Supper and Sale.

A supper and sale was held Thursday evening by members of the Woman's Guild of St. Chrysostoms church, Wollaston, in the parish rooms and was well attended considering the disagreeable weather.

The supper was in charge of Mrs. Daniel C. Miller, the president, assisted by Mrs. Atkins, Mrs. Barham, Mrs. Brokaw, Mrs. Croucher, Mrs. Fowler, Mrs. Hennigar and Mrs. Whiteacre. On the apron table were the Misses Clean; fancy table, Mrs. Edward A. Lyman, Mrs. Alice J. Bainbridge and Mrs. Ama K. Lee; candy table, Mrs. Herbert L. Packard, Mrs. Arthur Stanley and Miss Jennie Flood.

"Our Boys" At Wollaston

The Garrick club presented "Our Boys" by Henry J. Byron Wednesday and Thursday evenings in the Wollaston Unitarian vestry. The time of the play was 1875 and laid in London. It was an interesting sketch in three acts.

Precisely at eight o'clock the orchestra played a novelty two-step "Cane Rush" followed by a valse novellette "Mid-summer's Fancies." Between the first and second acts selections from "Mlle. Modiste" and Nevin's "Love Song," were enjoyed. The waltz "Grubenlieht er," "Salut D'Amour," and the march "Idaho" entertained the audience while the scenery for the third act was being arranged. The music was rendered by Mrs. Chandler W. Smith at the piano, Mr. Osborne P. Stearns flute, Mr. Roy F. Weston violin, and Mr. G. A. Knight bass viol.

All took their parts exceptionally well, carrying the audience with them throughout the play. The climax was reached in the second act, which displayed very strong acting. Messrs. Loring, Arnold, Weston and Hall deserve special mention here. Miss Beulah Hatch represented to the letter the prim old maid sister who "had good sense."

In the last act Miss White convulsed the audience with laughter with her grotesque appearance and at her perfect representation of a lodging-house slavey. Mr. Hall had a very hard part, indeed, but not for a minute did he forget his drawl. Miss Hubbard, as the heiress, and Miss Barnes as the practical poor cousin, were very natural and charming. Much credit is due all the young people in the play. Large and appreciative audiences attended both nights.

The scenery was by Edward R. Hall, and the cast of characters follows:

Sir Geoffrey Champneys—A County Magnate.	Mr. E. W. Arnold
Talbot Champneys—His Son,	Mr. E. R. Hall
Perkyn Middlewick—A retired butterman,	Mr. L. F. Loring
Charles Middlewick—His Son,	Mr. W. E. Weston
Kempster—Sir Geoffrey's Servant,	Mr. H. H. Schumacher
Poddles—Middlewick's butler	Mr. J. H. Hooper
Violet Melrose—An heiress,	Miss E. Hubbard
Mary Melrose—Her poor cousin	Miss M. T. Barnes
Clarissa Champneys—Sir Geoffrey's sister,	Miss B. C. Hatch
Belinda—A Lodging house slavery,	Miss W. E. White

The senic effects were by Edward B. Hall.

Resignation Accepted.

The resignation of Paymaster Dexter Tiffany of the battleship Rhode Island, now at the Charlestown Navy Yard, was officially accepted on Thursday when orders were received from Washington detaching him from duty. Tiffany's retirement is due to the discovery of financial irregularities for which his pay clerk, A. S. Porter, was recently tried by court martial. Last July there was a shortage of several thousand dollars in the paymaster's accounts, which, it is understood, Tiffany has refunded to the government.

An Up-to-Date Daily

The Lynn Item, with commendable enterprise, published a 20-column report of the conflagration in that city on Thursday, only a few hours after the explosion. It had a map of the burned district and other illustrations. No Boston paper could have done better. It was prompt, well covered, and very interesting reading.

The Heart Can't Stand Rheumatic Acid Poisoning

To Free and Correct the Blood a Uric-O Treatment is Advised.

There is great danger in those sharp shooting pains through the chest around the region of the heart. It means that poisonous uric and rheumatic acid are there ready to spring and grip tightly the muscles controlling the heart's action. Don't neglect these warnings, they are the danger signals Nature flashes to you for help. You must neutralize and drive these dangerous poisons from the system, or sooner or later they will overcome you.

The only true way to cure Rheumatism is to get at it from the inside with Uric-O. It acts with marvelous swiftness upon the muscles, kidneys and blood. Clears out the sand-like deposits in the muscles, forces the kidneys to perform those duties for which they were designed and neutralizes the acid within the blood.

Your physician will admit that this is the only true way to cure Rheumatism permanently, and should know that Uric-O is the one remedy that will do it successfully and permanently. Uric-O is a liquid taken internally, 3 times daily and does not contain a drop of alcohol, opium or other dangerous poisons. It is good for Rheumatism in any form. Sciatica, Muscular, Inflamatory and Articular Rheumatism all yield readily to Uric-O. The store of E. J. Murphy is the home of Uric-O in Quincy, and if you call on him, he can tell you of many wonderful cures that Uric-O has made right here in your own home city. He sells it for 75c. and $1.00 the bottle or you can obtain a trial bottle free by writing to the makers of Uric-O, the Smith Drug Co., Syracuse, N. Y.

Sunday School Entertained

Sunday Superintendent Johnson of First Church Sunday school invited all the children to attend an entertainment on Thursday evening in the chapel, when the new lantern will be used for the first time. The stereopticon is a gift from friends and will be used in the work of the Sunday-school.

Thursday evening at half past six the children began to assemble so that at seven there was a room full. The first pictures thrown were of the pastor, teachers and helpers in the school, followed by pictures illustrating stories read by Mr. Johnson, Mr. Crane and Mrs. Wilson Marsh.

These stories and pictures were much enjoyed by the children. The entertainment closed with the singing of America; Mrs. Faxon assisting at the piano.

On Christmas Sunday at a four o'clock service in the chapel the lantern will be used to illustrate the Christmas story.

A Granite Block 120 Feet Long

One of the largest blocks of granite ever quarried in Quincy has just been started at the Hitchcock quarry, of which Councilman George Hunter is foreman. The block is 120 feet long, 14 feet, six inches wide and 9 feet deep, and contains 15,660 cubic feet or 1,305 tons. It will require from three to four months to get the block ready for shipment.

Mrs Mansfield.

Mrs. Ella V. (Scates), wife of Edward A. Mansfield, passed away at her home No. 120 Davis street, Wollaston, Thursday morning, Nov. 29 at 12 o'clock, after a short illness. Mrs. Mansfield had been in poor health for some time, but her sudden death was unexpected.

Mrs. Mansfield was born in Randolph, N. H. in 1866, and had lived in Wollaston thirteen years. She is survived by her husband and two children, Carl E. and Clara F. Mansfield, her father, Geo. Frank Scates of Randolph, N. H., a brother, Ithral S., and two sisters, Mrs. Ora Myers of Gorham and Mrs. Layford Renes of Berlin, N. H.

Funeral services were held at her late home, No. 120 Davis street, Wollaston. Interment in Concord, N. H., Sunday, Dec. 2. Rev. McGathlin pastor of the church where she attended officiated. Two solos, "Homeland" and "Sometime We'll Understand" were effectively rendered by two of the ladies of the choir with whom she had mingled her voice in singing the praise of God.

Mrs. Mansfield had a host of friends who showed their esteem by the lavish display of choice flowers, especially a floral piece of great beauty from neighbors and friends.

Mrs. Mansfield was a devoted wife and mother and her gentle loving disposition will ever remain as a sweet influence to the bereaved family. She was also a ready helper in the church where she worshipped. She will be greatly missed, for none knew her but to love her.

Commander of Vermont.

Battleship Vermont will be commanded by Capt. William P. Potter when she goes into commission. Orders to that effect were received at the Charlestown Navy Yard this week. He is inspecting the battleship on her present trials off Rockland, Me., after which the ship returns to the builder's yard at Quincy. Captain Potter has been assistant to the chief of the Bureau of Navigation since March 1905.

Trial Today Of the Vermont

The battleship Vermont, built by the Fore River Shipbuilding Company, is having her four-hour trial today. This was to have been held Thursday. In the morning she started out from Rockland but soon ran into a thick snow storm, and as the marks could not be seen, she put back.

This morning she left Rockland at 7 o'clock and should be off Boston light early this afternoon. She then turns and runs out to sea.

10,079 Tons of Granite Shipped

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

The Social Realm

'Just being happy is the finest thing to do—
Looking on the bright side rather than the blue;
Sad or sunny musing is largely in choosing,
And just being happy is a brave work and true.

'Just being happy will help other souls along—
With a heavy burden they may not be strong;
If their skies you brighten, your own sky will lighten,
By just being happy with a heart full of song."

The Misses Alice and Mae Thayer of South Braintree entertained the Krow Eldeen club Wednesday night at a chafing dish party, assisted by Mrs. Littlefield. Five chafing dishes with as many busy young ladies prepared an elegant lunch. Music and singing were the features of the evening. A business meeting was then held and plans for a social time and entertainment to be given by the young ladies at the M. E. church. The pleasant evening at the Thayer's will not be forgotton soon. Mrs. Cook, Mrs. Butler and Miss Clara Day were the guests of honor.

Mr. Joseph C. Morse has the sympathy of many friends, his wife passing away Friday night after a few weeks' illness. To Mr. Elihu T. Spear also is extended much sympathy the death of his only daughter being a great blow. May the little daughter so early in life deprived of a mother's love be a consolation to her father and grandfather. Mrs. Morse was a woman of sweet disposition who drew friends to her. The death of one who had so much to live for is particularly sad.

QUINCY GRANITE

Appropriation of $125,000.00 Proposed for P. O. Building

Only meagre information has reached Quincy, but the Daily Ledger learns that plans were reported at Washington yesterday for a $125,000 Federal building in this city.

The plans call for a building of Quincy granite to be erected on Washington street, at the corner of Maple street, opposite the Thomas Crane Public Library.

Such a building is certainly very appropriate for the "Granite City," and will be an ornament to Quincy, particularly on the lot selected. If the lot can be enlarged a little on Washington street, so much the better.

The post office building in Boston is of Quincy granite, and many other Federal buildings and custom houses. Perhaps after the government has erected a building of modern Quincy granite, with polished panels and some carved work, it may decide that more government buildings of Quincy granite are wanted, and the city will be doubly benefited.

Quincy can afford to wait a few years if it is to have a good $125,000 granite building as now proposed.

STRIKE AT HIGH SCHOOL

May Further Delay the Occupancy Of the Building

If any building ever struck hard luck the new High School building is the one.

Now when the end was in sight the carpenters employed on the building strike because non union men were sent out to do some electrical work on the building.

Fairly good progress has been made on the building the past week. The plasterers have practically completed their work, and it is up to the carpenters to finish the rooms.

The question of suspending the gallery in the assembly hall, which has caused a delay of nearly two months in that part of the building, has been solved and the work is progressing.

Quite a number of rooms in the old part are entirely finished and ready for occupancy.

Others are nearly so and but for the strike fifteen of the rooms might have been ready for ocupancy Jan. 1.

The floors in the corridors are not down yet, but work has been commenced laying them.

The non arrival of the material for the interior finish caused some delay, but that is arriving all right now, and Sub Contractor Thomas was using all his energy to hurry the work along.

It is not thought that the strike of the carpenters will be of long duration for rather than have trouble the electrical men will be taken off.

Mayor Thompson does not intend that the strike of the union men at the High school shall interfere with the work of completion even if he has to go to the extreme measure of having the building completed by the city.

The present trouble is due to non union men putting in the electrical work. The sub-contractor for this work has placed his case in the hands of counsel, who will have a conference with the City Solicitor this afternoon.

Mayor Thompson, when seen this noon, said he had no doubt but that work would be resumed on the building on Monday.

The question has been asked by many, if the city occupying a part of the building would not virtually mean an acceptance of the building on the part of the city.

Mayor Thompson, when asked in regard to this, said that it would not, for there was a special clause in the contract that permitted the city to occupy a part of the building before the whole was completed.

PAID EXTRA PRICE

Gas Company Had Big Contract With Standard Oil

KEPT UP PRICE OF GAS

Books Said to Show That It Cost 52.50 Cents a Thousand Instead of 74,81 as Claimed--What Investigation Revealed

New York, Dec. 8.—A contract made by the Consolidated Gas company with the Standard Oil company, calling for the delivery of 255,000,000 gallons of oil to the gas company at 4.25 cents a gallon, has been found by Assistant Corporation Counsel Burr, who has been investigating the cost of manufacturing gas in this city. The price named in the contract is said to be 1 cent more per gallon than is paid to the Standard Oil company by any other corporation.

Mr. Burr said that the difference in the cost of oil of 1 cent per gallon "means a difference of 5 cents on every thousand cubic feet of gas sold. Therefore, it can readily be understood why the price paid for oil is a very important factor in sustaining the legal rate of 80 cents for gas in New York."

The Consolidated Gas company has pleaded in the gas hearings that it was compelled to buy all its oil from the Standard Oil company, because that was the only oil producing corporation that could supply all the oil needed for making gas. In making up its statement of the cost of producing gas the Consolidated Gas company included the cost of oil at the high quoted rate.

Mr. Burr says that the contract was signed by the Consolidated Gas company through W. R. Addicks, the vice president of the company, and for the Standard Oil people by Higgins & Telford. It was to run from Nov. 1, 1905, to June 30, 1908, a term of two years and eight months. By the terms of the contract the Standard Oil company was to furnish the Consolidated Gas company 255,000,000 gallons of oil, 40 percent to be of a grade not lower than 34 degrees beaume, and higher at the option of the gas company; and 60 percent not below 28 degrees beaume. The 40 percent was to cost 4.875 cents per gallon and the remainder 4.29 cents.

Mr. Burr also made public a statement by the accountants who were engaged by him to examine the company's books. The statement purports to show that gas, according to the company's books, cost 52.50 cents per thousand instead of 74.81, as the company claimed; that land the company claims is worth $16,000,000 cost it only $3,000,000, and that the company figures in its cost of gas a number of items that should not be included.

Mr. Burr also finds, he says, that the company has 93 miles less of mains than it claims and that William Rockefeller, James Stillman and other wealthy men are directors in both the Consolidated Gas company and the Standard Oil company.

Marconi's Tactless Words

Vienna, Dec. 8.—A storm of resentment has been aroused here by the speech delivered by William Marconi in Venice, in which he expressed the hope that when war should rage on the Adriatic wireless telegraphy would inform the world with lightning speed of the victory of Italy. Newspapers as well as politicians deplore such reference to possible Austro-Italian conflict as tending to embitter the strained relations between the two countries.

Was Wedded to Society

Philadelphia, Dec. 8.—Miss Adeline Thomson, a belle in the social world of the nation in the early years of the last century, died from old age at her home in this city, aged 103. She was in full possession of her faculties and kept in touch with the doings of exclusive society up to within a few days of her death. Despite her advanced years, winter or summer, she would never appear at dinner unless she was attired in evening dress.

Number of Dead Unknown

Solomonville, Ariz., Dec. 8.—Reports from the flood-stricken town of Clifton indicate that while the water has subsided the town is almost buried under mud and smelter sediment. No definite list of the dead can be obtained. The calamity was principally caused by the breaking of a reservoir up Chase creek. Much suffering among the poor is manifest and business is at a standstill.

Unprofessional Conduct Charged

Winchester, Ky., Dec. 8.—William E. Beckner, former member of congress and at the last state election Republican candidate for attorney general, has been suspended from the practice of law in this state for two years. The decision is based on charges of unprofessional conduct.

Sea Sweeps Barkentine

Chatham, Mass., Dec. 8.—Barkentine Bonny Doon, which is stranded off Harwichport, is on her beam ends. Her hatches have been broken open and a portion of her cargo of laths has been washed out by the furious seas that sweep through her.

To Expend $37,500,000 on Navy

London, Dec. 8.—The Times' Tokio correspondent cables that he understands that the coming Japanese budget will include $37,500,000, to be spread over seven years, for the purpose of increasing the navy.

DEATH LIST OF SEVEN

Heroism Displayed In Fire Which Destroyed Cornell Building

Ithaca, N. Y., Dec. 8.—Smoke is still drifting across Cornell campus from the ruins of the Chi Psi fraternity house, the burning of which at an early hour yesterday was attended with a loss of life that has thrown the whole city in mourning. The dead number seven. Of these four are students and the others prominent townsmen who had responded to the alarm in the capacity of volunteer firemen.

Among the students who escaped death in the flames seven were injured and of these C. J. Pope, it is feared, will not long survive. He was badly burned. It has been decided to dynamite the ruins to facilitate the search for the missing bodies.

The dead are A. S. Robinson, J. C. Rumsey and E. J. Landon, volunteer firemen; F. W. Grelle, class 1910; O. L. Schmuck, class 1907; W. H. Nichols, class 1907, and James McCutcheon, Jr., class 1909.

The heroism of the volunteer firemen who died attacking the fire was matched by that of Schmuck, who reentered the flames in a futile effort to save Nichols, his roommate, and who died later from his injuries, and by the courage of McCutcheon, who remained in the flames until fatally burned to assist his comrades to escape. Pope received his injuries while seeking to rescue other members of the fratruity, and the record of the injured corresponds nearly with that of the men who tried to help their fellows.

The cause of the fire will probably never be discovered. The building was built in 1881 by Jennie McGraw Fiske, at a cost of $130,000. The daughter of John McGraw, who was one of Cornell's great benefactors, never enjoyed her palace, and entered it only after death. Around the house have clustered the memories of the great fight for the Fiske millions waged between Professor Fiske, the husband, and Judge Boardman, as the representative of Cornell, to which Mrs. Fiske had left the bulk of her estate.

Scarcity of German Labor

Berlin, Dec. 8.—A resolution adopted by the West Prussian Agricultural association at Danzig, empowering its executive committee to prepare to import Chinese as farm laborers, has attracted much attention, as characterizing the general scarcity of labor in Germany. The labor situation in the industrial establishments is scarcely any better than in the farm districts. Manufacturing and mining interests are complaining that, owing to the scarcity of labor, they cannot keep up with their orders.

First Honors to Amherst Debaters

Amherst, Mass., Dec. 8.—Honors in the triangular debate between Wesleyan, Williams and Amherst fell to Amherst, whose representatives won in both of their forensic contests. Wesleyan by defeating Williams took second place. Debates were held last night simultaneously by teams from the respective institutions. The subject, which was the same in each debate, was: "Resolved, That the policy embodied in the pending treaty between Santo Domingo and the United States is a desirable departure in American diplomacy."

Maceo's Memory Revered

Havana, Dec. 8.—The anniversary of the death of the Cuban patriot, Antonio Maceo, was observed here by the closing of all government departments, the flying of flags at half-mast, and the suspension of business. Impressive memorial services were held at the Maceo mausoleum at Cacajual. Eloquent tributes to the patriotic services of the Cuban hero were rendered by a number of orators, who also eulogized the present attitude of the United States toward Cuba.

Workmen Killed by Train

New York, Dec. 8.—A theatre train about midnight last nght plowed through a gang of workingmen on the Harlem river bridge of the New York Central and Hudson River railroad, instantly killing one of the men and fatally injuring another. The workmen were installing a signal system on the third-rail system for the Central electric trains. The train that struck the two men did not stop.

Death Rather Than Arrest

Pittsburg, Dec. 8.—Ethel G. Ferver, 25 years old, was known as one of the best handsomest gowned women in the city. Dr. Span, by whom she was employed as cashier, boarded with her mother, and yesterday, when he accused her of forging his name to a check for $1000, she went into an adjoining room, after Span had telephoned for a detective, and shot and killed herself.

Boston Featherweight Knocked Out

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 8.—Abe Attell of Los Angeles knocked out Jimmy Walsh of Boston in the eighth round of a fight for the featherweight championship here last night. The contest was fast, Attell having the advantage from the start.

Public Interest

IS NOW CENTERED ON

The Pure Food Law.

WE Have Always Maintained that the best that money could buy was always the cheapest in the end, because it is always the bargain hunters that have to pay the DOCTOR, buying as they do IMPURE foods of all kinds, FOODS that are UNFIT for ANY PERSON'S STOMACH, being mixed as they are with different kinds of PRESERVATIVES and SECRET PREPARATIONS to take the place of GOOD PURE FOODS. And some dealers selling these goods at a GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICE over the pure kind, GUARANTEE you NOTHING, but—"Poor Health to You and Your Family," and although you can buy the "just as good kind," you can save nothing as that kind is unhealthy and dangerous to the whole human family. Now our standard is to always sell the best of everything and the steady increase of our business year after year proves to us that we have the right idea, and we know it must be very satisfactory to our many customers to feel that what they buy at our store is ABSOLUTELY PURE and HEALTHFUL and the Food Laws are being strictly enforced by us. Our Goods are all GOVERNMENT INSPECTED and also carefully inspected by us before they are put on sale or sent to your homes, and although you pay perhaps a few cents more to us than some dealers charge, don't you think it is money well spent, considering all things?—YOUR HEALTH, which is the greatest blessing we can have,—think well about this and we know you will agree with us and do your trading where you know the goods can be depended upon to be absolutely Pure.

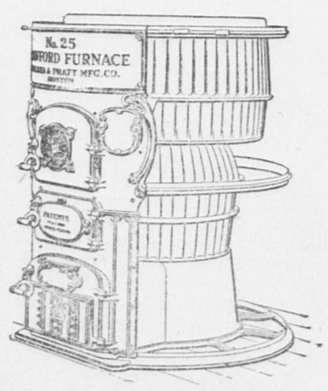

We have just received our season's pack of choice canned and bottled goods, FRESH and DRIED FRUITS, all kinds of Cereals, Ketchup, Pickles, Jams, Jellies, Prunes, Figs, Nuts, Dates, Table Raisins, Citron, Lemon and Orange Peel, Olives, Sardines,—in fact everything for your tastes and fancies. All the leading brands of FLOUR. Fancy New Orleans Molasses.

OUR MARKET is complete, AND REMEMBER, we sell nothing that has been doctored or filled with Preservatives to keep it. ABSOLUTELY NOTHING but Carefully Selected Meats are on sale at OUR STORE. Stamped with the Government Inspection Stamp, that insures to you and to us the point of perfection, which we are always striving to reach for the benefit of our trade.

We will have a grand display of that great National Bird, THE TURKEY, the same VERMONT KIND we have always sold you,—Chicken, Fowl and Duck, direct from WILLIAM R. DRAKE of Braintree, and he knows how to dress them so as to please the eye as well as the palate. They don't grow nicer than he has. Fruit and vegetables in abundance, and don't forget our famous LA TOURANE COFFEE, no dinner complete without it.

A RAISE IN WAGES

Nearly 25,000 More Cotton Operatives to Be Benefited

Providence, Dec. 8.—Notices announcing an advance in wages for nearly 25,000 cotton workers to take effect next Monday have been posted in the B. B. and R. Knight mills and at the Manville company factories controlled by Henry F. Lippitt. The amount of the raise of the rate of increase is not stated in the notices, but it probably will be in accordance with the rate which goes into effect in the New Bedford mills next Monday.

The Knight cotton mills operate nearly 12,000 looms and about 500,000 spindles in their 19 factories. Besides in this state the company controls the factories of the Manchaug company at Manchaug, Mass., the factories at Hebronville and Dodgeville, in the town of Attleboro, and the Readville mills at Readville, Mass.

The mills operated by the Manville company are fewer in number than those of the Knights. Their factories are located at Manville and at Woonsocket.

There are but a few more companies in this state who have not as yet announced an increase in the wages of their employes, but it is stated that these mills will in a measure follow the general tendency to raise wages.

Firemen Kept on the Jump

Boston, Dec. 8.—Intensely cold weather and several small fires, attended by two casualties, kept the local firemen busy last night. John Pearson of Mattapan was crossing Dewey square when he was knocked down and probably fatally injured by a fire engine that was responding to an alarm. At a fire in the West End, an inmate of a tenement house was overcome by smoke and carried to the street by a policeman. All of the fires were unimportant and the aggregate damage will not exceed $5000.

Providence Has $100,000 Fire

Providence, Dec. 8.—Defective electric light wiring is supposed to have caused a fire which burned the old Tillinghast building, occupied by several business concerns in the centre of the mercantile section of the city, last night. The loss is estimated at $100,000. All the occupants of the building escaped in safety, though many of them had to grope their way through smoke to the street. The blaze started in the basement of the store of dealers in men's and women's furnishings.

Bank Loses Stolen Money

Boston, Dec. 8.—The Danvers savings bank, through its counsel, failed to convince a jury that it was entitled to recover on the bond given by the National Surety company of New York for Albion W. Welch, treasurer of the bank. Welch was found to have been a defaulter when an examination of the accounts of the bank was made after his sudden death, the expert's report showing his shortage to have been $22,000.

Died From Ptomaine Poisoning

Springfield, Mass., Dec. 8.—Ptomaine poisoning is now believed to have caused the death of Max Odentz and the illness of 50 other persons who were guests at a Hebrew wedding ceremony here on Nov. 20. A report from the physician who examined the body of Odentz shows that the organs did not reveal the presence of any metallic poisoning. No further action in the matter is expected.

Higher Wages In the Whitins' Mills

North Uxbridge, Mass., Dec. 8.—It is announced that the wages of the operatives in the cotton mills of the North Uxbridge Manufacturing company, the Saunders mills of Saundersville, the Whitinsville Manufacturing company's mills at Whitinsville and the Linwood mills at Linwood village, all controlled by the Whitins, will be advanced on Monday. The increase will affect about 1000 hands.

Maine's New Chief Justice

Augusta, Me., Dec. 8.—Governor Cobb nominated Associate Justice Emory of Ellsworth as chief justice of the supreme judicial court to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Chief Justice Wiswell. C. F. Woodard of Bangor was appointed as associate justice to fill the vacancy caused by Emery's promotion.

Coal Barge Sinks

New Haven, Dec. 8.—Barge Charles Mulford, coal laden, in tow of tug Bully, sank a mile southwest of the breakwater light. A slight mishap to the Bully caused the captain to bring the tug to anchor and soon afterward a stiff breeze tossed the barge about in such a manner that it sprang aleak and went down.

Cold Snap Reaches New England

Boston, Dec. 8.—A severe cold wave reached New England last night, sending the thermometer down to the vicinity of the zero mark. A 30-knot northwest gale tied up shipping to some extent and created heavy seas in the bay. It is probable that the cold will continue until Sunday.

End of Season's Navigation

Bangor, Me., Dec. 8.—The last vessels in the port of Bangor were taken out yesterday by tugs, and, with the river full of three-inch ice and the temperature well below zero, navigation may be considered closed for the season. The ice thus far formed is clear of dirt and grit.

Woman Has Disappeared

Boston, Dec. 8.—The police have been requested to search for Mrs. Mary Bacon, 76 years of age, who came to Boston from Portland, Me., last Wednesday morning on the steamer Calvin Austin. Nothing has been seen of her since by her relatives.

BUSY TIMES AHEAD OF CONGRESS

Many Important Measures to Be Discussed and Only Seventy-seven Days For Work

The Nation's Legislators Will Most Likely Burn Plenty of Midnight Electricity—Stiff Fight Looked For Over the Ship Subsidy Bill—Immigration Bill and Question of Educational Test For Aliens Looming Up Large—Discharge of Negro Soldiers May Cause Animated Discussion

By ROBERTUS LOVE.

PROBABLY no short session of congress ever held in time of peace has had so many important measures for discussion as the present session will have. With only seventy-seven working days, it is a safe prediction that the lawmakers will burn a good deal of midnight electricity. The unfinished business from the long session of the Fifty-ninth congress looks large enough to occupy the time until the 4th of March, and a deluge of new bills is indicated.

If Secretary Root in his recent speech at Kansas City was spokesman for the administration it appears that the ship subsidy bill, already passed by the senate, will be the president's pet measure for the winter session. General Charles H. Grosvenor of Ohio as chairman of the merchant marine committee has charge of this bill. This grizzled congressional veteran, who failed of renomination, retires to private life next March. General Grosvenor is a noted fighter, and as it is but natural that he will want to close his career in congress with a triumph it is safe to assume that he and his friends will put up one of the stiffest fights in parliamentary history for the passage of the ship subsidy bill.

President Roosevelt's well known attitude in favor of maintaining a strong navy as the chief guarantee of our national defense compels his support of this measure, which carries as a highly important feature the creation of a great naval reserve. It is pointed out by supporters of the bill that from a military standpoint aside from its commercial aspect it is a very important measure. With American merchant ships manned by American sailors, they argue, in case of war there would be a substantial reserve from which to draw. This measure, therefore, finds earnest advocates both among those who stand for the world power theory in military and naval strength and for our worldwide commercial expansion.

May Have an Early Hearing.

The immigration bill is another piece of unfinished business which promises to be thrashed out to a finish. Organized labor favors this measure, which provides an educational test for immigrants. The hordes of illiterates who have been dumped upon our shores from European countries are not welcomed as equal competitors by American workingmen nor as proper material for the making of American citizens. Opposition to the educational clause requiring that immigrants admitted to these shores be able to read and write comes chiefly from the large transportation companies, which look upon each immigrant merely as one steerage fare. There are also those who oppose this clause because of the fear that it may shut out Russian Jews and other unfortunates who seek a refuge here from the insufferable persecutions of their governments at home. It is predicted that the immigration bill will have an early hearing, probably before Christmas, and that the fight will be made chiefly on the educational test.

Of legislation immediately concerning labor there is an unusual amount in prospect. The anti-injunction bill and the eight hour bill promise some lively forensic fireworks. Both are strongly urged by organized labor and as strongly opposed by organized lobby. For the renewal of the battle both sides are lined up in solid phalanx. The bill to limit the working hours of railway employees is one of general interest which will come up again. Long hours for railway employees mean in many cases short lives for railway passengers.

One of the minor matters to be considered by congress, but a very interesting one, is that of the proposed new battleship which is to be the biggest and most powerful in the world. Congress is called upon to act on the plans submitted for this ship. Usually the experts of the navy department attend to matters of this kind.

Dental Corps For Fighters.

A bill left over from the long session which is of unique interest is the one designed to create a dental corps for the army and navy. It is proposed by Uncle Sam that the teeth of our soldiers and seamen shall be preserved officially. Just what effect this measure, if passed, will have on the plug tobacco industry or the toothbrush trade is not capable of definite analysis.

"Our outlying possessions," sometimes called our colonial dependencies, have furnished much ground for legislation and still more for peppery debate since we got the Philippines and Porto Rico, not to speak of Guam. Two important bills respecting our island friends are to be taken up again in this session. One of these is the Philippine tariff. Secretary Taft, it is understood, is prepared to force the administration measure for a reduction on Philippine goods. The president is said to favor even free trade for the Philippines.

The other measure mentioned is the bill to make the inhabitants of Porto Rico American citizens. President Roosevelt is heartily in favor of this measure. On his recent visit to Porto Rico he assured the admiring populace that he would do all in his power to make them citizens of the United States.

The supreme court of the United States decided on Dec. 2, 1901, that the Porto Ricans were not ipso facto citizens. This government established about a thousand schools in the island, where six years ago only about 17 per cent of the people could read or write. It is understood that the illiteracy has been greatly decreased. The population of the island in 1899 was 953,343. Of these 589,426 were whites, 304,352 mulattoes, 59,390 full blooded negroes and 75 Chinese. Many of the whites are high class Spaniards, educated in Spain or the United States. Porto Rico is about a thousand miles from the United States mainland. If congress makes United States citizens out of the island people, as indicated at present, the next step must be to create the territory of Porto Rico, with a delegate in congress. Then we shall have a regularly constituted island territory, with possibility of future statehood, on each side of the main country, Hawaii being the western representative of our oceanic twins.

Swamp Reclamation.

One of the bills left over from the long session which is of great importance to the people of many sections is the proposition to reclaim swamp lands. For this purpose it is proposed to appropriate funds somewhat after the manner of the appropriations for irrigation purposes. By that act, passed a few years ago, millions of acres of semiarid land in the great west are being made into fertile farms. Money obtained from the sale of public lands goes into the irrigation fund. There are immense areas of swamp or semi-swamp land in the United States. This land requires only a proper system of drainage to make it the most fertile agricultural soil in America. It is argued by the advocates of the swamp reclamation bill that if Uncle Sam can afford to pour water on the desert he can afford to drain water out of the swamps, the end in view being identical in each case.

As to new legislation, there seems to be some prospect of the introduction of an income tax measure. The president, it is known, favors both an income tax and an inheritance tax. Ten years ago the income tax plank in the Democratic platform and the accompanying remarks concerning the defeat of the income tax law by a majority of one against its constitutionality in the supreme court became something of an issue. Now the administration appears to stand for the enactment of an income tax law, and some legislation along that line may be expected.

It is probable also that at this session the advocates of a federal statute regulating marriage and divorce may succeed in placing this question before congress. Though there is a wide divergence of opinion regarding the stringency or laxity of divorce laws, there seems to be unanimity in favor of a uniform law for all the states and territories. This problem, being a very delicate one, is not to be settled for once and all in a three months' session. The friends of this reform merely hope for a good beginning in this congress. If the problem comes up at all it will be something new under the sun in national legislative councils and cannot fail to arouse wide interest.

May Investigate Brownsville Riot.

There is a prospect for a very animated set-to in congress over the president's recent order discharging without honor a battalion of troops in the Twenty-fifth United States infantry, colored, on account of complications growing out of the riot at Brownsville, Tex., last August. If the expressed purpose of certain individuals and societies be carried out congress will be called upon to investigate the riot and the discharge of the battalion. Those who believe that an injustice has been done in that innocent men seem to have been made to suffer for the guilty have declared their intention of taking the matter to congress, while others who appear to discover in the episode an expression of the prejudice against the negro will bring the eternal race question to the front and thereby evoke some highly interesting if not altogether edifying debates. There seems to be every indication that this ghost will not be allowed to down without congressional attention.

In the senate this session we are promised a final answer to the eternal question, "Shall Smoot remain seated or be scooted?" This question as to the admission of the Mormon senator has run into several editions already. The general public has come to feel that it is about time for the senate to write "Finis" on it. High authorities express the belief that Mr. Smoot will be permitted to retain his seat.

Shortest Congressional Service.

No doubt there will be a sense of great relief in the house because the Twelfth Missouri district at last has a representative with nobody after his scalp. For half a dozen years this district has given the house more bother than all the other districts in the country. It is in the heart of the business district of St. Louis and is said to represent more wealth than any other congressional district in the United States. James J. Butler, son of Boss Ed Butler of St. Louis, was elected to congress from the Twelfth, according to the returns, in 1901. His seat was contested, and the house decided that there was so much fraud on both sides that nobody was elected, so the seat was declared vacant. Mr. Butler ran again at the special election, was again declared elected and again unseated. At this same special election to fill the vacancy caused by his own unseating he was also elected on the face of the returns for another full term, the day being the regular election day. George C. R. Wagoner, a funeral director, was Mr. Butler's opponent at the election to fill the vacancy. On the very last day of the term Wagoner was declared elected, sat one day in congress and drew $10,000 salary. That is said to be the shortest congressional service on record.

"Jim Butler has been kicked out of congress twice in one term," said a St. Louis friend.

"Yes," remarked a man who opposed him, "and he's got another kick coming."

Butler was finally seated, however, and enjoyed a small part of a term unharassed by the ghost of the third kick. He concluded that he had had enough of public life, so for the election of 1904 his friends put up Ernest E. Wood, a young lawyer who was almost a stranger in St. Louis. Wood was elected on the face of the returns, and the Twelfth again caused congress a severe pain. Harry M. Coudrey, the other candidate, contested. A few days before the close of the long session last summer Mr. Coudrey was seated. He sits in the short term without having to bind himself to his seat, and he is sure of another term, for he was re-elected by a safe plurality last November.

Thus, after many spasms, congress is cured of the Twelfth Missouri affliction, for two years and three months at any rate, and can now proceed to get down to business and work without worrying.

Accident at Shipyard.

A riveter employed at the Fore River shipyard, whose name could not be learned, was seriously injured yesterday by falling to the ground from a vessel upon which he was at work. The ambulance was called and he was removed to a Boston hospital.

New Industry.

A new industry is shortly to be located in Quincy. The company has purchased the large lot of land at the junction of School and Granite streets upon which a building will be immediately erected, the contract having been awarded to W. R. Lofgren. The size of the building will be 40 by 80 feet. The name of the firm is not made public as yet but they will manufacture ladies' two-piece garments.

Granite Men's Banquet

The annual banquet of the Granite Manufacturers' Association will be held next Tuesday evening at the Quincy House, Boston, and is one of the great events of the year for our granite men. Special cars will be reserved on the 5.10 train to Boston, and special electrics will be run both to the train in Quincy and to the hotel in Boston.

New Storehouse.

W. R. Lofgren has about completed for H. L. Kincaide & Co. a large storehouse, which is located off Granite street in the rear of the Salvation Army building. It is 56 feet wide, 90 feet long and 35 feet high. It is divided into two floors each of which is about 13 feet high. On each side of the upper floor are two rows of rooms. Each of these rooms is 8 by 15 feet and 12 feet high.

A wide corridor between the two rows of rooms will later be made into rooms. On the lower floor there is but one row of rooms at present. Other rooms will be added as needed. The total number of rooms at present is 37, and when all are in, the number will be 75. The outside of building has galvanized iron clapboards and the building is fireproof from the outside. All of the heavy timbers are hard pine. The windows also are covered with wire netting.

Sans Souci Club.

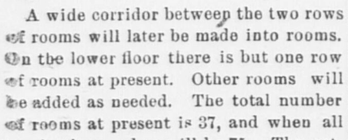

The members of the "Sans Souci" club were tendered a banquet by Miss Margaret and Mr. George Craig at the home of their parents on Independence avenue last evening. The club now in its infancy, was established for the purpose of giving its members an opportuniry to enter into the realms of dramatics.

A business meeting was held between 7.30 and 8.30 at which time the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President,—A. J. M. Cowe, Jr.
Vice President,—Miss Anna R. Giles.
Secretary,—Miss Alice F. Joss.
Treasurer,—William L. Troupe.
Amusement Committee,—Miss Jeanie G. Grassick, George T. Craig, Miss Maragaret A. Craig and J. Ernest Collins, Trustees,—Miss Georgianna Michael, John Q. Giles and Irving L. Kemp.

Promptly at 8.30 the members were shown into the spacious banquet room. A. J. M. Cowe acted as toastmaster, while Miss Alice Joss presided at the coffee urn. Mr. and Miss Craig were admirable hosts, the members being royally entertained with music by the club's quartet and recitations by the different member of the club.

BRAINTREE.

Wednesday evening, Dec. 5, a meeting was held in the lower Town hall for the purpose of organizing a grange, deputy G. F. Richardson of Millis presiding. After a short talk on the advantages of a grange in Braintree a large number of charter members were obligated by Mr. Richardson.

The many friends of Hon. James T. Stevens will be rejoiced to know that he is once more at home. After so many weeks spent at the Massachusetts General hospital, Boston, he is doubtless glad to get back to the best town in the state. May he be speedily restored to full health and strength.

A delegation from No. 9 Court Autumna Loyal Knights and Ladies, attended the anniversary of Court Marlborough at East Weymouth, Wednesday evening. After the exercises, an entertainment was given and a turkey supper was provided. Guests were present from Boston and New Bedford.

The Woman's relief corps, at the meeting Tuesday evening in G. A. R. hall elected the following officers to serve for the ensuring year: Sarah R. Mellen, president; Sarah A. Cuff senior vice president; Alice J. Hill, junior vice president; Sarah J. Anderson, treasurer; Lydia A. Hollis, chaplin; Carrie A. Downey sentry; Ida Dyer guard; Sarah Vining, delegate and Sarah Crosby, alternate.

Rev. Mr. Whitehouse, a former pastor of the Baptist church, made a brief stop in Braintree on Wednesday. Since leaving his pastorate here he has been settled in New Brunswick. He also has taken unto himself a wife, who was with him on his visit among old friends in Braintree.

James H. Bayley, Jr., of Ash street, who has been so ill with typhoid pneumonia the past eight weeks is now able to sit up a while each day.

Odd Fellows' hall was filled with members of Puritan lodge and guests last Tuesday evening, the regular meeting night. The initatory degree was worked in a very creditable manner by the officers of the lodge in the presence of grand lodge officers. At the roll call Friday evening there was another large attendance.

The Braintree High School Alumni association had planned a meeting for Friday evening, Dec. 14th, in Monatiquot hall, but as the hall is engaged for that evening the association has postponed its meeting.

The Braintree high school basket ball team will play the Hyde Park second team at Hyde Park, Wednesday, Dec. 12, at three o'clock and Saturday evening, Dec. 15, the Canton high at Canton.

Mrs. White who has made her home with Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bates of Commercial street for some years to be near her brother Mr. Clinton Nash, has returned to her old home in South Weymouth for an extended visit with Mrs. Thomas Nash and family, at Nash's corner.

The battleship Vermont has had a cold week to take her trial trip along the coast of Maine. Mr. C. B. Edwards of Bellevue road, Mr. F. O. Wellington of Quincy avenue, Mr. Cole of Elm Knoll road and Mr. Rowen of Quincy avenue went on the trial trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Carle Streiford's son was recently christened by the Rev. R. H. Cochrane of the Union church. At the same time Mr. and Mrs. Hans Hagens daughter was christened.

Divorces Granted.

Among the divorce cases before the superior court at Dedham yesterday were the following from Quincy:

Alice Downs from Frank O. Downs, with custody of minor children, for desertion.

Frederick B. Jacobs, from Marguerite C. Jacobs, for adultery.

Jessie M. Snow, from Alvah B. Snow, for desertion.

What promises to be a brilliant season of grand opera began at the Academy of Music, Philadelphia, Tuesday night. The Conried Metropolitan Opera Company, under the directions of Heinrich Conried, introduced Miss Geraldine Farrar to a Philadelphia audience as Juliet in "Romeo and Juliet." and her New York success was duplicated. H. Rousseliere was the Romeo.

RECOUNT ORDERED

The Mayoralty Vote of the Entire City To Be Recounted

The Registrars of Voters met last evening to consider the petitions filed asking for recount.

Petitions were received asking for a recount of votes cast in all wards for Mayor at the election last Tuesday and for the votes cast in Ward One for Councilmen from the ward.

The former was filed by friends of W. T. Shea, and the latter by friends of Councilman Gilson.

The papers of Mr. Gilson were not accepted as they were not in form, failing to give a reason why the recount was desired. No recount therefore will be held on his petition.

The petitions for a recount of the votes for Mayor were accepted, and a time set for the recount.

The Registrars, however, do not make public the hour for the recount, on account of the crowd that would naturally gather. The interested parties, however will be notified, that they may be represented.

Approximate total	$33,080,000

Sherlock Holmes

The greatest theatrical event of the season at the Castle Square theatre will be the production of "Sherlock Holmes" during the week of December 24. Apropos, the following document is an interesting one. Written personally by William Gillette directly to the Castle Square management, it sets at rest all claim in favor of any other authentic "Sherlock Holmes" play. Writes Mr. Gillette: "The play 'Sherlock Holmes' in which I appeared for four years in the United States and England, and which is to be produced at the Castle Square theatre, Boston, on December 24th, is an absolute y original drama and cannot be produced or performed without my permiss on or that of Mr. Charles Frohman. It is also the one and only 'Sherlock Holmes' u thorized by Conan Doyle."

—An unidentified Yale professor is credited with saying that eighty per cent of the marriages contracted today are unhappy. Now how does he know this? Not eighty per cent of the married people proclaim their unhappiness, if it exists, through the courts, and how has this one man got into the inner circle of all the recently established homes in the land? The statement is too sweeping to warrant acceptance. Unfortunately there are too many unhappy people in existence, or people who think they are unhappy, and married or single they would likely be equally unhappy, or equally think they were unhappy. The spirit of contentment seems to have wandered afar and the capacity for enjoyment to have been dulled, in the case of many people. —Milford Gazette.

The Young People's Religious Union of the First church, will meet in the church parlors, Sunday evening, at 7 o'clock. The meeting will be addressed by the Rev. Charles W. Simpson of East Gloucester, his subject being the "Experiences of a young man." Mr. Simpson comes from the West and has seen life in its many phases. His talk is sure to be entertaining and interesting. It is hoped that all the members will be present and all are cordially invited to attend.

ASSOCIATED CHARITIES.

Rev. William E. Gardner will preside at the meeting called to consider federating the various charitable organizations of the city. Some form of associated charities is very much needed as often it is found that several organizations are helping the same families and the dispensation is very unequal. A coming together of the City, Quincy Charitable society, King's Daughters, women's clubs and churches will be a move in the right direction. The meeting is called by the Philanthropic committee of the Quincy Women's club. It will be held at half past ten, Tuesday morning, Dec. 11th at the club house and members of all charitable bodies, and any interested, are urged to attend.

BUILDING RECULATIONS

As Adopted Limit Height Of Buildings and Size of Blocks

It was probably due to the efforts of Councilman Chase more than any one else that a building ordinance has been passed by the City Council and sent to the Mayor for his approval.

The matter came to the present Council from last year and was referred to the joint Committee on Ordinances and Public Buildings. It was taken up early in the year, but it was soon found that such a large committee was an unwieldly one, for there were nearly as many opinions as their were members.

The matter was then placed in the hands of two practical builders to formulate some simple building rules. These two gentlemen spent a good part of the year in getting it together. It was then turned over to the committee who put it in shape and reported the order.

As Councilman Chase retires this year, he was particularly anxious that the order should be passed, for he knew, from frequent trips about the city, of the great need of an ordinance of some kind to stop the erection of unsightly shacks on the main thoroughfares of the city. When the order finally came to the City Council he worked hard for its passage, strenuously opposing an effort to postpone action on the matter. Thus the order was passed and sent to the Mayor.

Mayor Thompson saw some things in original order that should be changed. The lines of the fire district No. 1, were rather too sweeping and at his suggestion the order was withdrawn at the last meeting of the City Council, amended and again passed.

The amendments, in round figures, cut five miles of streets from district No. 1 and added about one mile making a net cut of four miles from the original order. The first amendment proposed to include Hancock street, south of Bridge street, which is near the High school building. Councilman Chase objected to this, however, and the line was extended north to Squantum street.

In brief the cuts made from the original ordinance were as follows: that part of Hancock street between Squantum street and the Neponset bridge; Washington street between Elm street and Quincy Point bridge; Quincy avenue between Water and Scammell streets; School street between Franklin and Granite streets; Water street between Pleasant street and Brewer's corner; Copeland street between Brewer's corner and Miller street, and between Furnace avenue and the West Quincy depot; also Newport avenue between Lincoln and Elmwood avenue.

The additions to the order were Temple street; Maple street; Chestnut street, between Cottage avenue and Hancock street; Saville street, between Hancock street and the railroad; Granite street, between Hancock street and the railroad; and Franklin street, between Water and Pearl streets.

Other than this the order remains the same as originally passed.

To thoroughly understand the rules for buildings it would be necessary to study them carefully for they are composed of 40 sections.

Section one relates to the terms used in the ordinance and regulations. Then follow rules for the thickness of foundation walls of brick mercantile buildings and dwelling houses; thickness of walls; walls for stables; walls of buildings over sixty feet high; fire and party walls, supports, partitions, etc; elevators, hot air shafts, steam pipes; construction of chimneys and fireplaces; bulkheads, fire stops, framing, floors, and similar rules for wooden buildings.

Wooden buildings to be used for tenements or lodging houses shall not exceed 45 feet in height, and the external wall shall not be less than 2 feet 6 inches from the line of the lot, unless the external walls shall be of brick. There shall be a space of 3 feet 6 inches between wooden buildings already erected upon a lot unless a brick external wall separates them. If there is less space between them they shall be separated by a brick wall not less than 8 inches thick.

No bay window or balcony shall be built on the front of a building so as to project over the line of the street. No mercantile building shall be more than fifty feet wide on the street line unless there is a brick partition wall of at least 8 inches thick if building is less than 35 feet high and 12 inches if more than 35 feet high and not exceeding 60 feet. This however does not apply to single rooms, halls, etc.

The appeal clause in the ordinance provides that any person who desires to be relieved from the provisions of the ordinance may make application to the Inspector, giving his reason in detail where exceptions are desired. These must be accompanied by maps and specifications. The Inspector shall submit these to the Mayor, Commissioner of Public Works and Chief Engineer of the Fire Department, and if unanimously approved by them the request shall be granted. If disapproved by any one of the above named officials then the application with the dissenting reason shall be submitted to the City Council, which body by a two-thirds vote of its members present and voting shall approve or disapprove the application.

The penalty for violatinn of the ordinance shall be a fine not exceeding $100.

The Vermont Not Reported

Nothing has been beard from the battleship Vermont, built by the Fore River Shipbuilding Co., since she left Rockland yesterday for her four-hours' trial run.

It is supposed however that after completing her run that she headed for sea on her 24-hour run. She should be heard from tonight.

ODD USE OF ALCOHOL

Collars and Hats to Be Made From Denatured Article.

MAY BE THE STYLE NEXT SEASON

Cuffs, Neckties, Umbrellas and Waterproof Wraps Can Also Be Made From Fluid Obtained From Corncobs—Ton of Them Right Out of the Field Yields Eleven Gallons of the Liquid.

We are slowly but surely nearing the 1st of January, when the internal revenue tax will be removed from denatured alcohol, and as the time draws nigh investigators as well as inventors are busily engaged in the work of determining the many uses to which it may be put, says a dispatch from Chicago to the Columbus (O.) Dispatch.

First, however, the department of agriculture has discovered that eleven gallons of the fluid can be obtained from a ton of green corncobs, and this is only one of the many ways in which it may be produced. There is practically no limit to the means of obtaining it, and there is said to be no limit to its employment.

One of the latest revelations concerning it is that it can be used in the manufacture of hats, and it is predicted that the denatured alcohol hat will be all the style next summer. It may at first look a trifle rakish, but as the denatured alcohol hatters become acquainted with its peculiarities it is hoped that hats which will not have even the appearance of being under the influence of alcohol may be manufactured.

We shall also in good time have denatured alcohol collars and cuffs, neckties, corsets, buttons, fringes, umbrellas and waterproof wraps—all this aside from the thousands of uses to which it can be put in the arts.

But it will be in greatest demand perhaps for fuel and light. The cost is only two-thirds per candlepower the cost of kerosene, and it is much cleaner. It cannot, however, be monopolized by a trust.

It possesses only 50 per cent of the fuel power of kerosene or gasoline, but it has the advantage as a heat and power producer of being safer than either, and its general introduction will reduce the price of both.

Denatured alcohol without the tax will be so cheap that there will be no occasion for the further manufacture of wood alcohol, 12,000,000 gallons of which are now consumed annually in the making of varnishes, shellacs, etc.

It is probable that not all that is expected of denatured alcohol will be immediately realized, but if only a part of the predictions made by its friends shall be fulfilled the 1st of January will mark the beginning of a new era in the history of American industry.

AUTOS TO GATHER MAIL.

Louisville Selected as Place For Experiment to Displace Horses.

Louisville, Ky., will have an automobile mail collection service before long, says a Washington dispatch to the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. The postoffice department has been investigating the feasibility of installing such service in several of the large cities, and Special Agent G. G. Thomas, who recently returned to Washington from a tour through the middle west, has recommended it for Louisville and one or two other places.

First Assistant Postmaster General Hitchcock says that as soon as he found the right kind of vehicles he would send two to the Kentucky metropolis. That will be but the beginning, for eventually it is designed to supplant the wagon service entirely.

It is estimated that the automobile service will be as economical if not more so than the wagon collection and much quicker.

Mr. Hitchcock is now negotiating with automobile manufacturers with a view to getting machines adapted in every way to the best needs of the service.

Censorship of College Pictures.

Ballet dancers—that is, pictures of them—and the sometimes painful efforts of comic artists will be banished from the walls of college youths if an earnest committee can achieve that end, says a correspondent of the New York Press. Similarly the rooms in girls' seats of learning will be shorn of photographs of the favorite young leading man D. Rawlin Poseur and his kind. The committee, which has been formed in Washington and which will have branches in every college town, has for its cry, "Worthless pictures produce worse than useless ideas." Of course the committee has no power of inspection. Simply efforts will be made to persuade the seekers after learning to have only ennobling works of art in their rooms. One prominent woman is encouraging the girls of her acquaintance to select only the most approved works for Christmas and birthday gifts to their brothers and "best fellows."

A Storekeeper's Humor.

The compulsory closing act is developing the Parisians' sense of humor, says the Paris Intransigeant. The other Sunday a famous hosier's shop had its windows beautifully dressed with cravats of every conceivable color and description. "Exceptional opportunity! All these ties only 7½d. each. For today only." The door of the shop, however, was locked. The next morning would be customers flocked to the shop to purchase some of the wonderful ties only to learn, to their intense disgust, that the notice no longer held good.

The Larkin Co. of Buffalo, N. Y., will open a temporary showroom at Hancock hall, Hancock street, Quincy, to run from Dec. 10 to Dec. 15.

This unique exhibit which has attracted crowds wherever it has appeared will continue daily all next week; also, Friday and Saturday evenings. Nothing will be sold at the showroom, the display is brought here for the purpose of giving every lady, especially Larkin customers and their friends in this vicinity, an opportunity to see a complete line of Larkin products and a thousand premiums. Admission will be free and souvenir samples given to visitors.

The Larkin Company sells its products direct from family to family at usual retail store prices and the customer receives the saved middleman's profits and expenses in the form of a premium, thus the cost of living is greatly reduced as each transaction gives the customer $20 worth of retail value of unquestionable excellence for only $10.

During the past thirty-two years this practical co-operative plan of fair and liberal dealing has been in successful operation with some more than three million satisfied customers. Larkin products comprise fine laundry and toilet soaps, perfumes, toilet and pharmacal preparations, coffees, teas, spices, baking powder, extracts, cocoa, in all over 140 home needs of quality. Naturally the moving of this remarkable display from place to place is a huge undertaking, as the premiums consist of many large pieces of furniture and hundreds of small articles. Attendants will be at the showroom to fully explain the advantages of factory to family dealing and to give any desired information.

West Point and Annapolis.

Congressman William S. McNary will hold competitive examinations open to all eligible residents of the Tenth district for the appointments to West Point and Annapolis. The Tenth district is made up of Wards 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 20 and 24 of Boston, the city of Quincy and the town of Milton. The examintaion for the West Point appointment will be held in the South Boston high school, Thursday, Dec. 27, and that for the Annapolis appointment in the South Boston high school on Saturday, Dec. 29. All candidates for these examinations are requested to register their names and addresses with Thomas D. Lavelle, 10 Tremont street, Boston, before December 22.

—The Worcester Consolidated Street Railway passed into the hands of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Company this week when, at the annual meeting, the New Haven interests voted the recently acquired stock of the concern, electing four New Haven road men on the directorate, including President Charles S. Mellen.

—Mayor Clifford of Portlank, Me., on the eve of his re-election, presonally took means to stop the collection of campaign funds from the members of the Fire Department by an Assistant Chief Engineer who was also a member of the Republican Committee. The voters seem to have approved.

No Clam Digging In Quincy Bay

It is probable that the digging of clams will be prohibited along the Quincy shores between Nut Island and Boston that is along the Quincy bay shore, the Squantum shores, and in the Neponset river. The new edict, probably, will not apply to the easterly and southerly side of Houghs Neck and Germantown, or in the Town river or Fore river.

Because of the discussion by the state board of health as to oyster beds down the harbor, word was sent yesterday to Dr. Field of the fish and game commission that the state board had arrived at the conclusion that oyster plants, quahaugs and clams taken from the flats, because of the contamination of the waters of Boston bay by sewage, may become dangerous to public health, and in consquence, the commissioners of fisheries and game are requested to cooperate with the state board in prohibiting the taking of such shellfish from:

"The waters or flats of Boston harbor, including the tributaries of the Charles, Mystic and Neponset rivers, the Chelsea river and Dorchester and Quincy bays, inside or west of a line drawn from Nut island to Prince's Head; thence along the bar from Prince's Head to Peddock's island and through Peddock's island to the northeasterly end thereof; thence to the southeasterly point of Deer island and through Deer island and across Shirley gut to Point Shirley, excepting along the Winthrop shore inside or northeast of a line drawn from the outer end of the steamboat landing of the Point Shirley club at Point Shirley to the outer end of the Cottage Park Yacht club wharf on the southerly shore of Winthrop, between Orlando and Woodside avenues, and about the shores of Lovell's, Gallup's and Georges islands."

Finns Drifting To Anarchy

The Rev. K. F. Henrikson of this city was one of the speakers at the conference on Wednesday in Boston of various evangelistic organizations when the immigrant problem was discussed, and is reported as follows: He spoke of the special difficulties of the Finnish people, principally by reason of the remoteness of the language from usual lingual channels. He announced that there were 700,000 Finns in this country, 35,000 of whom are in New England with a sad lack of religious opportunities. The greater number speak only Finnish, and Mr. Henrikson feared that the most of them were drifting away into anarchistic socialism.

THE
Young Men's Christian Association
OF QUINCY, MASS.
(Legal Title – Incorporated 1892.)

The Directors of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.

Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.

The Treasurer, WILLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, ERNEST G. GAY, will be happy to answer inquiries.

OUR HOSPITAL

(Legal Title: City Hospital of Quincy)
INCORPORATED 1889

The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earnestly appeal for donations and bequests for the Endowment fund. This now amounts to over $60,000, but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed.

Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need, will be most gratefully received.

The Secretary, TIMOTHY REED, Adams St., Quincy, or the Treasurer, RICHARD D. CHASE, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad to confer with any one or to answer any inquiries.

MARK TWAIN'S WIT

Crops Out In a Hearing on the Copyright Bill

HE HAS NO ILL FEELING

Would Like to See All Trades and Industries Incorporated In the Measure, Not Excluding Oyster Culture

Washington, Dec. 8.—Samuel L. Clemens (Mark Twain) brought to a close a day of argumentative strife over the terms of the copyright bill, now the subject of hearings before the senate and house committees on patents. Mr. Clemens was attired in a suit of white flannel. He commented on the impossibility of understanding the legal phraseology of the copyright bill and said he allowed all credit to "the trained legislators" who were wrestling with it.

"I am particularly interested in the portion of the measure which concerns my trade," he continued. "I like that extension from the present limit of the life of copyright from 42 years to the life of the author, and 50 years thereafter. I think that ought to satisfy any reasonable author because it will take care of his children—let the grandchildren take care of themselves. It will satisfy me because it will enable me to take care of my daughters. After that I don't care. I have long been out of the struggle, independent of it and indifferent to it.

"It is not objectionable to me," he continued, "that all the trades and industries of the United States are in the bill and protected by it. I should like to have the oyster culture added, and anything else that might need protection. I have no ill feeling. I think it a just and righteous measure and should like to see it passed."

Mr. Clemens argued that there was really no legitimate ground for making any limitation to the life of a copyright. "But," he added, "I understand it must have a limit because that is required by the Constitution of the United States, which sets aside that prior constitution we call the decalogue. The decalogue says you should not take away from any man his property—I will not use that harsher word. But the laws of England and America do take away the property from the author. They all talk handsomely of the literature of the land, then they turn around to crush and wipe it out of existence."

The expiration of a copyright, he explained, did not benefit the public, but the publisher, "who lives forever and rears families in affluence and enjoys from generation to generation those ill-gotten gains."

Mr. Clemens added: "My copyrights produce me a great deal more money than I can spend. However, if I did not have them I could take care of myself. I know half a dozen trades and if those ran out I would invent a half dozen others. But, for my daughters, I hope congress will extend to them the charity which they have failed to get from me.

"You cannot name 20 persons in the whole United States," he declared, "who in the past 100 years have produced books which have outlived the copyright limit."

Waterways Need Improvement

Washington, Dec. 8.—President Roosevelt told the delegates to the national rivers and harbors convention who called on him at the White House that he would consult with the leaders in congress and expressed the hope that something definite and effective could be done in the way of increased appropriations for the improvement of the nation's waterways.

Simplified Spelling Barred

Washington, Dec. 8.—With an appropriation of over $31,000,000 and a provision barring "simplified spelling" in documents authorized by law or ordered by congress, the legislative, executive and judiciary appropriation bill for 1908 was reported to the house by the appropriations committee and was made a special order for Monday.

Check to Convict Competition

Washington, Dec. 8.—The house passed a bill which has the endorsement of labor, as well as manufacturers generally, repealing that portion of the Wilson interstate commerce bill relating to convict-made goods and permitting the several states to legislate for themmselves as to their competion with "free labor" made goods.

Death Overtakes Twelve Miners

Laredo, Mex., Dec. 8.—News has reached this city from Monterey of a mine accident at the Avino mines which resulted in the death of 12 Mexican miners who were at work in the shaft. The accident was due to the carelessness of some one in letting a big flow of water into the lower level, where the men were.

DEMAND FOR $100,000

Said to Have Been Made Upon Mutual Reserve by Louis Ryan

New York, Dec. 8.—At the trial in the supreme court of George Burnham, Jr., vice president of and counsel to the Mutual Reserve Life Insurance company, on a charge of larceny of $7500 of the company's funds, a photograph of a check for $10,000 was produced by the prosecution in connection with the examination of the defendant, who was being questioned concerning a demand of $100,000 alleged to have been made upon the Mutual Reserve for the suppression of an unfavorable report when Louis F. Payn was New York state superintendent of insurance.

The check was signed by Timothy Donovan and made payable to James Y. Watkins as trustee and by him made payable to Charles and W. W. Bulkley, attorneys, for legal services, and by them endorsed to Payn or order. The check was later endorsed by Payn to the credit of the United States Express company. Burnham said he recognized the photograph as a reproduction of one of the two cancelled checks which the late George D. Patterson, a clerk of the Firemen's Benevolent Fund, had given him for safekeeping and which, he said, he later returned to Patterson.

Early in the session Justice Greenbaum ruled that it was competent for the prosecution to attempt to introduce evidence bearing on he allegation that Payn, while superintendent of insurance, demanded $100,000 from the Mutual Reserve. The prosecution in the present case alleges that President F. A. Burnham of the company satisfied the demand made by Payn by the payment of $40,000.

Doesn't Remember Seeing Check

Washington, Dec. 8.—Senator Platt of New York, president of the United States Express company, was shown the dispatch regarding the $10,000 check which was endorsed to the credit of his company by Louis F. Payn and a photograph of which was produced in the trial of George Burnham, Jr. The senator stated that he had no recollection of ever having seen such a check.

Steamer Quickly Went Down

Victoria, B. C., Dec. 8.—Details concerning the loss of the Russian volunteer steamer Varyagen, which struck a floating mine near Vladivostok and was blown up, causing the drowning of over 200 persons, have been received from Vladivostok. The catastrophe was so sudden that no steps could be taken to save the passengers. From the moment of the explosion until the complete destruction of the vessel not more than 30 seconds elapsed. A number of prominent Russians were among the drowned.

Woman Plans Adamless Eden

Fort Worth, Tex., Dec. 8.—An Adamless Eden in Texas is the dream of Mary F. Haydon, a Chicago novelist, who is arranging to establish a colony of 1000 women in Refugie county. She has acquired title to 5000 acres, and is now at work on the plans for her new and unique colony. Everything that is usually undertaken on Texas farms will be attempted by this Adamless colony, truck farming, fruit raising, bee keeping, dairying, poultry raising and other kindred farm and ranch pursuits.

Shooting on Crowded Street

New York, Dec. 8.—W. R. Hennig, a broker and at one time the proprietor of a number of brokerage offices in the west, was shot in the leg and slightly wounded by Thomas O'Connor, a telegraph operator, in lower Broadway. The street was crowded at the time and the shooting caused excitement. O'Connor was at one time in Hennig's employ in Chicago and the shooting, it is said, grew out of their relations there.

State Prison For Lawyer

New York, Dec. 8.—Martin Conlon, a lawyer, who was convicted of larceny and sent to state prison for not less than 18 months and not more than 30 months, must serve out his time. The judgment in his case was affirmed by the appellate division of the supreme court. Conlon was convicted of having appropriated for his own uses the proceeds of a note for $1800 which had been given him for discount.

The Business World

New York, Dec. 8.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says that lower temperature has stimulated retail trade in seasonable staples, but interest is most conspicuous in holiday goods. Expectations of a record-breaking demand for Christmas specialties are being fully realized.

San Francisco School Board Submits Statement of Facts

SENT ON TO WASHINGTON

Orientals In Segregated Schools Have All Advantages Offered Children In Other Public Schools--The Legal Questions

San Francisco, Dec. 8.—The board of education, through City Attorney Burke, has submitted to United States District Attorney Devlin a statement of facts bearing on the segregation of Japanese in separate schools. It is planned, to make this statement the basis of legal action by which the federal government is to test the constitutionality of the state law under which the board of education will make its ruling. The statement was immediately telegraphed to Washington, where it is expected it will be considered by Attorney General Moody.

The complainant in the case is a Japanese, aged 10 years, who has been barred from the Redding primary school. The document recites that the political code of California gave the board of education authority to establish separate schools for Orientals, and that this was done.

The document then states that a separate school was established for Orientals which is conducted in all respects as are other schools of the same grade; that trustworthy and competent teachers are in charge, and that the same educational privileges, rights and advantages are offered the Oriental children as are offered the children of all other public schools.

The statement sets forth that at the time of the passage of this resolution there were 93 Japanese in all at the public schools, 39 of whom were between the ages of 16 and 21. The admission is made that the children of all other foreign parentage other than Oriental are not segregated. The legal question presented for determination is:

1—Whether the ordinance of the board of education and the statute on which it is based are within themselves, or in their operation, violations of the rights secured to the subjects of Japan by treaty, and whether the defendant has been deprived of the same educational rights and privileges as the children of English, German, French, Italian or other European parentage, and whether the resolution and statute create any discrimination against Chinese, Japanese and Korean children or are violative of the treaty.

2—Whether the treaty, insofar as it relates to the subject matter of this controversy, is valid.

Opposed to Japanese

Boston, Dec. 8.—The Seamen's International union adopted resolutions opposing the admission of large numbers of Japanese to the United States and opposing citizenship being conferred upon them. They further "protest against any admission of Japanese youths or grown men into the public schools in any part of these United States."

Alleged Wholesale Poisoning

Chicago, Dec. 8.—The police investigation into the deaths of six members of the Vzral family has developed the fact that a proposition to secure money by poisoning was entertained between Mrs. Rose Vzral, who is supposed to have committed suicide Tuesday, and Herman Belek, the palmist, suspected of having administered poison to Martin Vzral and the latter's four dead children. A direct charge of murder against Belek and his wife was sworn out last night.

Nucleus For Women's College

Geneva, N. Y., Dec. 8.—William Smith of this city has offered the trustees of Hobart college a sum of money, announced as somewhat more than $500,000, on condition that the money be used to establish a woman's institution that shall bear toward Hobart a relationship similar to that existing between Radcliffe college and Harvard university. The offer will be considered by the trustees.

"Called Down" King Leopold

Brussels, Dec. 8.—M. Van Der Velde, the leader of the Socialist party, delivered a speech in the chamber of deputies in which he violently attacked the administration of the Congo independent state and the maltreatment of the natives thereof. He designated King Leopold as an associate and an emulator of the chiefs of the great American commercial combines.

Emigrants Hurt by Strike

Naples, Dec. 8.—The strike on the part of men employed on trans-Atlantic steamers has resulted in a serious congestion of emigrants here. All sailing dates for America have been cancelled. Thousands of emigrants held in Naples, having sold all they possessed, are practically without resources and are losing opportunities previously secured to go to work in America.

Packers Have a Big Contract

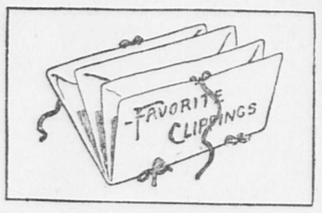

New York, Dec. 8.—Major Berry of the British army service corps, who comes to this country to investigate conditions in the Chicago packing houses, arrived here on the steamer Celtic. Chicago packers have contracts for the delivery of 10,000,000 pounds of canned beef for the British army and Berry will supervise the filling of this contract.

GIFTS FOR COLLEGE MEN.

Christmas Presents That Will Make Their Rooms Attractive.

At Christmas there are many girls who want to give college men something for their rooms, but when it comes to a selection of a suitable gift their troubles begin. A novelty in this line was given a Columbia university man recently—a photograph holder made of the college colors. It was about three feet long and eight inches wide, formed by two long strips of light blue and white (the college colors) brocade overlapping. Across it at intervals of ten inches were pockets three inches deep made of the same brocade. The case was tacked to the wall by a rosette of blue and white. For a Princeton man the colors would be orange and black and a Yale man's blue. Plain satin might be used instead of brocade.

That college men are constantly giving small and select teas is quite well known to every girl, but she does not always remember when selecting something for his room that dishes are necessary for tea. Teacups, plates, quaint spoons and dishes for sandwiches or cakes will never come amiss as a present. Some china should be bought that is decorated with masculine looking designs—nothing that would suggest a pink tea.

Leather Chair Cushion.

A thing which every girl can make herself is a chair cushion—not the embroidered kind at which the masculine mind scoffs, but one of leather. Mission furniture and other heavy types abound in college rooms, and even for "team" backs they may be safely softened. These cushions should be made of ooze or other soft leathers. They are cut almost square and are the size of the chair seat and back. They are stuffed with hair or down to the thickness of not more than two inches. Leather tabs should be put at the corners by which to fasten the cushions.

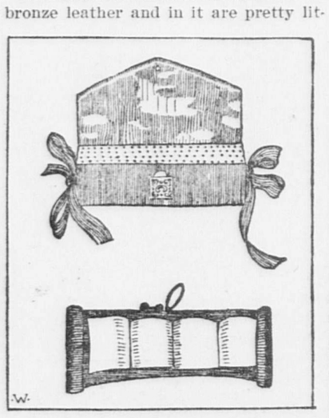

Then there is always a desk to be furnished. If a girl has sufficient sentiment to wish to make something she can keep her gift quite on the masculine order. Letter racks of wood may be bought and covered with fine French tapestry pasted on and finished with a narrow gilt braid. A portfolio cover of soft leather is also serviceable, and a clock case is not as expensive as it sounds. A clock that will keep good time may be bought for $2, and the case may be made of light wood just large enough to admit the face through the front, which should have a hinged door. The case is then covered either with leather or tapestry, a handle of the material being placed across the top.

Envelopes For Clippings.

Every man likes something to hold clippings. Take six large envelopes and put them together so that the flaps all face the same way. Take two pieces of cardboard a little larger than the envelopes, and cover with fancy paper or with cloth. Letter with writing or outline, "Favorite Clippings." Lay covers and envelopes evenly together at the bottom, and with a sharp knife make a gash an inch from each of the two ends and run a ribbon through these with a ribbon needle. Leave it loose, and tie in a knot. Attach ribbon at top for tying.

A Traveling Necessity.

The workbox illustrated is made of bronze leather and in it are pretty little workboxes, needle and spool cases, which combine in a small compass all the sewing necessities. A package of pins, black and white, is fastened securely on the case, which closes with a clasp. The spool cases contain four spools of thread of different numbers. While the workbox is small, there are compartments for buttons and all of the various articles one might need in an emergency when away from home.

WORKBOX AND SPOOL CASE.

For Girls Who Crochet.

For one who crochets and knows the annoyance of having the spool of cotton roll about the floor, where it tangles and becomes soiled, a simple little spool holder as a Christmas present will fill a long felt want.

Procure a strong wire hairpin and pinch it together at the top, making a loop by which the holder is hung from a button on the wearer's shirt waist.

About three-quarters of an inch from the ends bend the points in, and these points can be sprung into the ends of the spool, which hangs in such a way that it unwinds easily with every move of the crochet hook. The hook is wound with baby ribbon.

Loaded For Hawks

By C. B. LEWIS

Copyright, 1906, by C. H. Sutcliffe

There was a great clattering and outcry among the fowls back of the farmhouse, with one long piercing shriek from a single hen, and Aunt Sally Warner dropped the breakfast dish she was wiping and ran out to see a hawk sailing away with a fat pullet in his talons. She waved her hands and cried "Shoo! Shoo!" but there was no salvation for the victim.

"What is it, aunty?" asked her niece, Miss Nettie Ward, from the city, who had come out to the old farm for a vacation.

"Why, another of them hawks has grabbed another of them chickens," was the reply. "I told pa only last night that he ought to git out and load the shotgun for me. I s'pose that hawks have got as much right to live as other folks, but I'll be snummed if"—

"But he did load the gun, and it's there behind the door," interrupted the niece.

"So it is! What an old goose I am getting to be! Nettie, did you ever fire a gun?"

"Never."

"Then I must show you how to do it. You take it in both hands this way. You draw it up to your shoulder this way. Then you shet your eyes and pull on the trigger with your finger, and the hawk drops dead. A hawk may come while I'm down cellar or upstairs and you are out here alone, and you want to be able to shoot him."

There were only uncle, aunt and Nettie at the farm, and the girl from the city soon wore off the newness and the novelty and became a bit lonesome. On account of this lonesomeness she almost bowed to a young man who passed the gate one evening at dusk and almost bowed to her, and when she went in she asked her aunt who it was.

"I hain't seen no strange young men around here myself," was the answer, "but I understand that the Stevenses, half a mile below us, have got a summer boarder. I guess he's the one you saw."

Things happen suddenly out in the country the same as in the city. Two days after seeing the young man Miss Nettie woke up with the toothache.

She had hardly come downstairs and told of it when the rural mail carrier left a letter for the aunt, which stated that a sister living ten miles away was ill and wanted her to drive over at once. She couldn't drive, and so Uncle Joe must go along. There was room for Nettie to go along, but the toothache kept getting worse. It didn't take her long to decide to stay home and doctor it. She could put on a bag of hot ashes, hold hot vinegar in her mouth and now and then press a wad of cotton batting wet with peppermint essence against the offending molar, and there was hope that she would be all right before night came.

During the long day, if the ache permitted, she could swing in her hammock, climb the cherry tree after the ripe fruit, hunt for hens' eggs in the barn and watch the ducks and goslings in the horse pond.

"There is only two things to look out for," said the aunt when she was ready to drive away. "Keep your eyes out for hawks and tramps. As we haven't seen a tramp for six weeks, I guess you won't be bothered, but them hawks are liable to drop down any time. If one comes, you be sure to shoot it. I've heard that shooting a gun has been known to cure the toothache."

Uncle and aunt had been gone an hour when the toothache ceased, and Miss Nettie piled into her hammock under the pear tree with a book. She was just opposite the kitchen door and only thirty feet away, and just inside the door stood the shotgun. The maid had great confidence that if hawk or tramp came along she would play the part of a heroine.

At 11 o'clock, when the young man who boarded down at Stevens' came past the house with his kodak, he was satisfied from the swinging of the hammock that Mrs. Nettie was reading.

Two hours later, when he had snapshotted an old lop horned cow, a crab apple tree and a brook that seemed to be flowing up hill, he returned to find the hammock so still that there was no doubt in his mind that the occupant was asleep. He had not past the house, walking as slowly as possible, when he caught sight of half the body of a man in an open window on the other side. Whoever it was had come sneaking down through the cornfield.

It was up to the young man to investigate. He started out with the impression that the intruder was a tramp, and he picked up a club, scaled the picket fence and gave a shout. The man in the window heard and drew back. He saw and dropped to the ground and ran around the corner of the house. He ran into the hammock and its sleeping occupant and fell over them and bounced said sleeping occupant out on the grass.

At about the same moment the young man from Stevens', who had started to pursue the unknown, caught his foot and took a roll, and he was so slow in picking the currant bushes out of his curly hair when he did get up that he turned the corner just as the bewildered Nettie had dashed into the kitchen, seized the gun and was ready for hawks.

She had been rudely awakened, more rudely dumped on the grass and stepped on, and in her half awake state she didn't know a hawk from a man until it was too late.

In a cool moment she never could have mastered the mechanism of that old shotgun. Under the momentary excitement she not only fired it, but sent a liberal quantity of bird shot into some one's legs.

She had only heard the report of the gun when she became panic stricken and fled into the kitchen and shut and bolted the door, and for the next three or four minutes she was in a half faint. Then she realized that she had shot a man. She remembered that he had cried out; she remembered that he had fallen on the grass. She wasn't overcome with horror at the thought. On the contrary, she had shot a tramp and was entitled to all praise.

Presently, as Miss Nettie listened with her ears against the door, she heard groans. That meant she had only wounded the tramp. Her heart was touched by those groans. She could not see the man after she had opened the door an inch or two, because he was just around the corner of the house, but she called out to him:

"Are you going away before I shoot again?"

"I—I can't say," was the reply. "I'm afraid I can't walk without help."

"Why not?"

"Because you have shot me in the legs."

"But my aunt told me to look out for hawks and tramps."

"But I am neither one nor the other."

Judging from his voice, he was a gentleman instead, and after drawing a long breath and breathing a prayer the girl stepped out and peered around the corner of the house. That young man from Stevens' was lying on his elbow on the grass. His face was very pale, and there were blood spots on the legs of his trousers. At sight of her he smiled faintly and said:

"My name is Arthur Welbourne. I am stopping with my relatives, the Stevenses. I live in the city and am an artist. If you will pardon me, I will say that I have heard you are Miss Ward. In passing the house while you slept in the hammock I saw a tramp climbing into a window. I gave the alarm, and he escaped. He it was who tumbled over your hammock and awoke you."

"And I thought you were a—a hawk or a tramp and shot you!" gasped the girl as she wrung her hands.

"But fortunately without serious results. All the shot struck my legs, but I may need assistance to get down home."

"But I shan't let you get down home. Here, take my hand and see if you can stand on your feet. Now hang on to my arm and let me get you into the house and on to the lounge. How could I have been such a silly girl? Now, then, you lie down here, and I'll run for Dr. James. I know he lives in the first house above here. I'll bring him right back with me."

She was gone before Mr. Welbourne could protest and was back in half an hour with the good natured country doctor. It took about an hour to pick out the score of bird shot that had been fired into the young man's legs, and during this time Miss Nettie walked up and down in the back yard with tears in her eyes and no care if the hawks came down and took every hen on the place.

The doctor assured her that Mr. Welbourne would live. Mr. Welbourne himself assured her that he was bound to live to make her further acquaintance, and he was taken down to the Stevenses in the doctor's buggy. He limped for three or four days, during which time Miss Nettie and her aunt called twice, and then he ceased limping and returned the calls.

Inside of a week he was something more than a caller. It beats all how fast a girl who shoots a man and the man who is shot by her can get acquainted—very well acquainted. Matrimony and hawks are sometimes shot at with a gun.

The Land of Ducks.

There are more ducks in China than in all the rest of the world. China, literally, is white with these birds, and day and night the country resounds with their metallic and scornful voices. Children herd ducks on every road, on every pond, on every farm, on every lake, on every river. There is no back yard without its duck house. There is no boat, little or great, without its duck quarters. Even in the cities of China ducks abound. They dodge between the coolies' legs. They flit, squawking, out of the way of the horses. Their indignant quack will not unseldom drown the roar of urban commerce. All over the land there are great duck hatching establishments, many of them of a capacity huge enough to produce 50,000 young ducks every year. The Chinese duck is extremely tender and delicate—the best tame duck for eating in the world. Duck among the Chinese is the staple delicacy. It is salted and smoked like ham or beef, and duck eggs are eaten as chicken eggs are in America.

The Oldest Bank Notes.

The oldest bank notes in the world are the "flying money," or convenient money, first issued in China in 2697 B. C. One writer tells that the ancient Chinese bank notes were in many respects similar to those of the present day, bearing the name of the bank, the date of issue, the number of the note, the signature of the official who issued it and its value in both figures and words. On the top of these curious notes was the following philosophic injunction: "Produce all you can; spend with economy." The note was printed in blue ink on paper made from the fiber of the mulberry tree. One of these notes bearing the date 1309 B. C. is still preserved in the Asiatic museum at St. Petersburg.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of David Frazier, Belmont street, Belmont, Nov. 29th, when his only daughter Maud, was united in marriage to Edgar A. West of Braintree, Rev. Dr. Evans of the North avenue Congregational church of officiating.

The bride was gowned in pearl satin and carried a bouquet of bridal roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Huntington, a cousin of the bride, wore white silk. Ernest Arnold of Wollaston was best man.

Only the near relatives of the bride and groom were present. Many gifts, both useful and ornamental, were received. After refreshments had been served and a social hour enjoyed the happy couple left for a short wedding trip.

Cochato Club, Braintree

Mr. W. S. Lefavour will have charge of the lunch this evening. He will have something good. Other gentlemen will serve during the winter.

The ladies will meet next Monday afternoon to enjoy progressive bridge.

Next Wednesday evening there is to be a vaudeville by members of the Boston Bank Officers' association under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Macomber.

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS.

KEITHS THEATRE.

"Between the Nightfall and the Light," a dramatic sketch by Graham Hill, will serve as the vehicle to introduce Mrs. Langtry as a vaudeville star to the audiences at Keith's next week. The sketch embraces a narrative of not a little dramatic power and reaches a climax which gives the star an opportunity of showing her ability as an actress most satisfyingly. A specially selected list of vaudeville entertainers will make up the program prepared to surround Mrs. Langtry. Prominent among them will be the Finneys, whose swimming act is one of the most novel of stage exhibitions; Harrigan, the original comedy juggler, who has become one of the leaders among the monologists; Wily Zimmerman with his entertaining impersonations of great composers. The Labakans, eccentric European acrobats; Fitzgerald and Gilday, cross fire conversationalists; Gorman and West, in a bright sketch; Juliet Winston, a winsome soubrette and Arthur Fisher, mimic. Reserved seats for the Langtry engagement are on sale.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

Few merrier plays have been written than Cousin Kate which is to be played at the Castle Square next week. First played in this country by Ethel Barrymore, it won an instant success by its delicious comedy, its quaint characteristics and its piquant scenes and many have been the applications for its revival at the Castle Square theatre. Its plot tells a sprightly tale of romance and love and there is not a movement in its three acts when the audience can lose its interest or refrain from gentle smiles and hearty laughter. The title role will be played by Miss Thais Lawton, with Mr. Hansel and other Castle Square players in the leading characters.

TODAY'S COURT.

Dennis F. Connell was fined $5 for drunkenness at Quincy.

The liquors seized from various parties in Quincy were forfeited.

The continued case of John Lane for non-support at Quincy was heard. He was sentenced to three months in the house or correction.

COOK'S RECORD CLIMB

Incidents of the Doctor's Ascent of Mount McKinley.

WITHOUT SHELTER FIVE NIGHTS.

With One Companion, He Found a Trail Over a Glacier Which Comes Down the Mountain's Side—Both Bled From Ears and Nose—Ran Short of Food.

Dr. Frederick A. Cook of Brooklyn, the first man to climb Mount McKinley, in Alaska, the highest peak in North America, returned to his home, 670 Bushwick avenue, a few nights ago. He left behind him in a tin box 20,300 feet above the sea level his name and that of his companion in the achievement, Edward Barville, says the New York Sun.

Two voyages to the arctic with Commander Peary in 1891 and 1901 furnished Dr. Cook with valuable experience in making his preparations for the attempt at Mount McKinley. When early last spring the plan was formed to climb the mountain Dr. Cook planned his supplies to fight arctic conditions. Everything was in as small a compass as possible. His tents were made of Shantung silk. They weighed only three pounds, and each tent covered two men. Eiderdown bags which could be converted into overcoats on occasion were carried, as were canned foods and desiccated fruit.

Those who accompanied Dr. Cook from New York and those who joined him at Seattle left there on May 16 and reached Cook's inlet, Alaska, on May 28. There they procured twenty horses and sent them by Indian guides across the country to the mouth of the Yentna river. The expedition had taken with them a gasoline launch forty feet long and driven by a twenty-five horsepower engine. In this craft they made their way 120 miles north of Cook's inlet, where they were within sight of the mountain.

Mount McKinley is in the middle of the main Alaskan range of mountains. The Indians themselves say that it had never been climbed. Impassable marshes and untracked wildernesses surround it on every side. A sally was made to the southwest side of the mountain. There three passes over the lower ranges at the base of the peak were successively attempted, but in each instance it was found that the going was too precipitous to admit of the pack trains making any progress. After several attempts the expedition gave up this line of attack and crossed over sixty-five miles of tundra to the southeastern side of the mountain.

Here the attempt looked even more hopeless, for 1,500 feet of perpendicular cliff interposed between the highest spur range and the lowest level of Mount McKinley. Since it was now the first week in August and it was believed that it was too late in the season to go to the western side of the mountain, the party abandond the effort to climb. The expedition split into groups and explored the surrounding territory for geological specimens.

Dr. Cook and Edward Barville in going about to the east discovered a series of glaciers flowing down through narrow gorges in the side of the main peak. These avenues seemed to them to offer a solution of the problem of ascent, and, though they had parted from the rest of their companions only on a casual journey of exploration, Dr. Cook and his comrade determined to have a try at the mountain itself.

They had with them about fifty pounds of equipment each, which included food enough to last them twelve days. Following along the sides of one of the glaciers, they began the ascent of the mountain on Sept. 8. Their task was made easier by the fact that the rains now ceased and clear and cold weather froze the snow and made the bridges over the crevasses in the glacier strong.

The first 5,000 feet of their ascent had to be made by cutting footholes in the icy side of the precipitous cliff. No place level enough to permit of the erection of the tent could be found in the first five days climbing. They were forced to burrow into the ice and take what cold comfort they could in their eiderdown sleeping bags. At 14,000 feet on the sixth day of the ascent they found a suitable place to pitch the tent and stayed there for one comfortable night. They built a snow house as a place of refuge in case storms should drive them down from the higher levels of the mountain.

At 16,000 feet both men felt the effect of the altitude and the severe cold. Their heart action was so violent as to induce great weakness, dizziness and bleeding at the nose and ears. The glare of the snow had brought on snow blindness. Their provisions, too, were running low. Though very weak, they determined to press on.

On Sept. 16 they climbed on the inside of the two peaks, which split the summit of the mountain in half, to the very top. They arrived at the highest point in North America at 10 o'clock in the morning. The cold was so intense that they were numbed almost beyond activity. They could hardly breathe because of the rarefied air. Yet Dr. Cook made measurements with the instruments which he had brought and certified his findings by scientific calculations. The altitude registered was 20,300 feet.

The two men took a tin box from their supply case and inclosed in this a record of the date, the altitude and the route followed by them. They wrapped this about in a small American flag and left it in a cavern in the rock about 200 feet below the summit of the mountain. It took them four days to rejoin their friends.

The Progressive Rooster and the Proverb.

Unless this alarm clock fails me, here's where I get the best of "the early bird and the worm" proposition! —New York Sun.

Frisky and Risky.

An agent of a life insurance company one day received a call from a venerable but sprightly old chap who wanted to take out a policy, but his response to the first question put to him was sufficient to spoil his chances.

"How old are you?" was the question.

"Eighty-five," said the veteran.

Whereupon the manager, with a laugh, observed:

"Why, my dear sir, no insurance company would take such a risk!"

"Suppose I had been fifty?" suggested the old chap.

"In that case, of course"—

"Well," triumphantly interjected the elderly gentleman, "I've been reading the table of vital statistics issued by your office, and I find that twice as many people die at the age of fifty as at the age of eighty-five. So, sir, you must admit that I'm a good risk."—Harper's Weekly.

Bound to Tell.

At a dinner party the little son of the host and hostess was allowed to come down to dessert. Having had what his mother considered a sufficiency of fruit, he was told he must not have any more, when, to the surprise of every one of the guests, he exclaimed:

"If you don't give me some more, I'll tell!"

A fresh supply was at once given him, and as soon as it was finished he repeated his threat, whereupon he was suddenly and swiftly removed from the room, but he had just time to convulse the company by exclaiming:

"My new trousers are made out of ma's old bedroom curtains!"—Philadelphia Ledger.

Discouragement.

"Why don't you try to elevate the stage?" asked the sincere friend.

"I have tried," answered Mr. Stormington Barnes. "But when I put on educational plays there aren't enough people in the house to make it worth while, and even those who come seem to wish they had stayed at home."—Washington Star.

Too Expensive.

QUEEN OF NAVY

The Battleship Vermont Makes Great Showing On Trial Trips

The battleship Vermont, (built at Quincy and Uncle Sam's newest and biggest battleship,) won last week the title of "Queen of the Navy," having made a remarkable record under adverse conditions.

Her achievements were the subject of the most important news item in the Sunday Herald, which is quoted in part:

Driving into the face of a gale and mountainous seas which swept the decks and completely covered her with hundreds of tons of ice, the Vermont, the newest and most powerful battleship ever built for the United States navy, went through her trial trips, both of speed and endurance, and proved that she in the queen of the navy.

After being driven up and down the Maine coast for a four-hour speed test and a 24-hour endurance test, the leviathan proudly steamed into Boston harbor Saturday evening and anchored in mid-stream. On the speed test she made a record of 18.33 knots, and that in the face of the most adverse circumstances. Both wind and sea could not prevail against her. She was mistress of the elements. On the endurance run of 24 hours she averaged 17.50 knots ploughing through the heavy seas with a 40-mile gale dead against her through thick fog and a black night.

Never has a ship been put to such a test, and never has a ship acquitted herself more nobly. Although those who went through the test declare that not for any money would they want to repeat it, they would not have missed it. The trial board of the navy department who were on haoard representing the navy department stinted no praise. Some of them frankly said that the Vermont stands alone as a seagoing boat. Through it all there was not a hitch. Her steering gear was perfect, and she turned in her own length, a truly remarkable feat for such a monster craft. Her engines never faltered.

When she dropped anchor in the harbor Saturday she was a wonderful sight. Not an inch of her decks or mast but was encased in ice. Over her bow it was piled high in white masses. Even the turret house was piled with it, for ploughing through the waves the spray was thrown high over her bow, and wherever it fell it froze immediately.

To venture on deck was to run the imminent risk of being swept overboard by the sea or wind. Those who weathered the trip, among them some men who have experienced all kinds of weather on all kinds of craft, said they never went through anything like it. It was a wildly exciting trip.

The Vermont left the Fore River Company's yards at Quincy on Thanksgiving day and went into the dry dock at the navy yard at Charlestown. Sunday morning she hauled out, and the following day proceeded to Rockland. There she awaited the coming of the official trial board from the navy department.

Friday night with the wind blowing a gale of 40 miles an hour, the seas correspondingly high, and the thermometer down to 12 below zero, she drove back and forth along the Maine coast, out at sea in a night so black that it was impossible to see anything 20 feet ahead even with the powerful searchlights. All the time she was shipping water over the decks, and little of it washed off. It froze in masses everywhere. Somewhere out of the night a seagull lighted on the after deck and there it froze and was found in the morning.

Leaving Rockland Friday morning in a blinding snow storm she took her course east by northeast to Mt. Desert island, and, after running a few hours to get the engines working in good shape, was started on the four-hour speed test. With 300 pounds of steam on and the firemen down in the stokehole throwing tons of coal under the boilers, the engines were let out almost to their limit, and she drove ahead into the wind and sea. It was a wonderful sight. The huge ship, with a great bone in her teeth, was stripped of all deck fittings so that she looked like a sleek racehorse prepared for the race. Ploughing along through the waves which mounted over bow, and with the bleak northwest wind dead against her she not only came up to the speed requirment of 18 knots, but exceeded it, and that such a record was made under such circumstances of course redounds more to her glory.

At the conclusion of the speed test she was started on the 24-hour endurance run. Back and forth from Mt. Desert Island to Matinicus and Monhegan she paced. Night set in, the gale increased, till it blew at times 40 and 50 miles an hour, the seas rose higher, and the night was dark as pitch. On, on she rushed, quivering yet steady as though sailing in a calm sea. Perhaps the most remarkable feature of the new mistress of the navy is her steadiness in a heavy sea. Although other battleships have exceeded her speed none has ever shown such ability in the face of such a sea. None have ever been put through such an ordeal. Had the Vermont been favored with a light wind and a smooth sea there is little doubt but that she would have done far better.

To complete the test the battleship was put full speed astern and acquited herself nobly. The steering test comprising a series of manoeuvre including the figure eight and small circles was also very successful. The trial board officials was loud in their praise of the ship's steering gear. It worked beautifully. She turned around in her own length.

F. O. Wellington, of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company, was in charge of the battleship, and she was manned entirely by men from the Fore River yard, numbering in all about 400. Capt. Thomas Evans, of the Boston Towboat Company, had charge of the navigation of the ship, and Chief Engineer Page of the Fore River Company was in charge of the engines.

The battleship Vermont is out to sea today dumping ashes. She will remain at anchor in Nantasket roads tonight and return to the Fore River tomorow morning at flood tide. It is high tide Tuesday at 6.45 and itwill probably be in the neighborhood of 6 o'clock when she passes the draw of the Quincy Point bridge.

Mayor Thompson's Plurality Reduced

A recount of the votes cast for Mayor at the recent Municipal election was held Saturday evening by the Registrars of Voters at City Hall. The result of the election was a net loss of three votes for Mayor Thompson.

Ezekeil Sargent and J. Frank Merrill did the counting and the Registrars did the watching, and tallying. The counters were also watched by Councilman McGilvray, chairman of the Democaatic City Committee, and Timothy J. Carey.

The counting was rapid as the ballots had been sorted by the head of the ticket by the election officers. It commenced at 7 o'clock and in one hour and 20 minutes had been completed.

It was about Ward Five that the stories had been started that prompted the call for the recount, and it so happened that this was one of the first wards counted. As neither Mr. McGilvray or Mr. Carey arrived on the scene until 7.30 they did not have the pleasure of seeing them.

The results of the recount makes Mayor Thompson's pluarality 192 instead of 195. He lost one vote in Ward three, precinct two, and four in Ward Five, and gained one in Ward Three, precinct one.

Mr. Shea lost one vote in Ward Three, precinct one.

Mayor Thompson's total is 2,132 and that of Mr. Shea 1,940.

Post Mourns Loss of Officer

The funeral of Charles A. Newcomb, junior vice commander of Paul Revere Post, 88, G. A. R., was held Sunday afternoon, from the residence of Frank C. Packard on Chestnut street. The services were conducted by Rev. Ellery C. Butler of the First church.

There was a large attendance, Paul Revere Post and the Street Railway Men's Union being present in a body, and escorting the remains to Mt. Wollaston cemetery, were three volleys were fired by the firing squad of Paul Revere Post.

There were many beautiful flowers which included a large standing anchor from the Street Railway Union.

Is Attracting Outside Attention

The department of the Social Settler in the Boston Transcript last week devoted a half column in commendation of the Citizens' Association of Quincy. It said in part:

A somewhat novel organization for promoting civic improvement is the Citizens' Association of Quincy, which has recently issued a report covering the activities of its first yeear. The association was organized "to promote the interests of the mercantile and manufacturing business of Quincy; to broaden and strengthen its business relations; to enhance the attractiveness o the city as a place of residence; to secure and maintain the highest standard of municipal Government and by all legitimate means to work unitedly for the material prosperity and general welfare of the city."

A noticeable part of this platform, one too often entirely overlooked by such organizations, is the attention given to the need of promoting features desirable in a place of a residence. Generally consigned to women's clubs or improvement societies in whose activities busy men may not or do not participate, such matters are of the utmost importance to every city, its social, educational, civic and business welfare being alike involved, and deserve to be considered in conjunction with all movements for increased commerce or greater industrial activity. The solid business men of the community are just the ones to be concerned and they are the ones able to handle the matter to the best advantage.

The Quincy Association has practised its creed extensively during the year, covering a wide range of commendable activities.

Here follows a list of achievements which are familiar to Daily Ledger readers, and also plans for the coming year.

No Work at High School

The strike at the High school is still in progress, although it is expected that the differences will be settled sometime today, so that the men can return to work Tuesday morning.

This morning the strikers reported at the building ready to go to work, thinking that the trouble had been adjusted. Finding that it had not they remained about the building for a time and then left.

A call at the High school building disclosed the fact that not a man was at work. Most of the workmen who reported this morning, thinking that the strike had been settled, remained about the building the greater part of the morning talking over the situation. They left at noon expecting to go to work tomorrow.

Thomas Nordstrom was arrested on Sunday by Officer Bradley, for drunkenness. The man was badly under the influence of liquor and when he arrived at the Police station it was noticed that he had a knife wound on his left arm.

He first said that he had been cut during a row, but it was learned that he had cut himself. He had a wicked looking knife, covered with blood, in his pocket, and it is alleged that he cut himself by pushing his fist through the window of a store which he was trying to enter.

City Physician Hallowell was called and dressed the wound on the man's arm. In court he was fined $15 for drunkenness.

Bigelows 16, Pilgrim Fraternity 10

At the Y. M. C. A. Saturday evening, the Bigelows defeated the Pilgrim Fraternity of Quincy Point by the close but decisive score of 16 to 10. It was the first of a series of games for the championship of Quincy. Histen and Sullivan played well for the Bigelows.

Goals from floor Histen, 4; Howe, Sullivan, 2; Melville 2, McKenzie, Marden; goals from fouls, Howe, McDonald, McKenzie, 2.

Rev. M. R. Demming, precher and philanthropist, a former general secretary of the Boston Y. M. C. A., spoke at the men's meeting of the local association Sunday afternoon. Rev. Mr. Demming is an interesting and able speaker, and those who braved the inclement weather were amply repaid for their troubles.

Universalist Vesper Service

Although stormy Sunday evening there was a large congregation at the Universalist church.

Mrs. Florence Cutter of East Weymouth, presiding at the organ, opened the exercises, and the following program was given:

Handels "Largo," as a voluntary.

Invocation by the pastor.

"Lead Us Our Father Lead Us,", by Sir Arthur Sullivan, sung by a full chorus of nineteen mixed voices.

Responsive reading by the minister and the congregation.

"In Heavenly Love Abiding," a hymn anthem by W. E. Brown, sung by the "Dirigo Quartet."

Scripture, by the pastor.

"The Lord is My Shepherd," by C. H. Whittier, the instructor of the chorus, sung by the full chorus.

Prayer.

Traumerei, violin solo by Master Lee Brooks.

Charles Gounod's "Angel Hosts Descending" by Mrs. Blanche C. Richardson.

Harry Rowe Shelley's "Hark! Hark! My Soul!" a five part anthem, sung by Miss Hazel Mowry, Mrs. Blanche Richardson, Mrs. Carolyn Stoddard and Messrs. Frank Varney and Frank Thornton. Miss Mowry and Mrs. Richardson took the solo parts.

Address by Rev. W. S. Perkins, D. D., the pastor of the church. His subject was, "The possibilities of the Universalist church in Quincy."

His remarks in the main were that this church offers a great opportunity. It has a good property practically free of debt. Its current expenses are provided for by its income so that any increase of funds would enlarge its work. The organization of the church is democratic so that the character of the church is wholly determined by the members.

What is needed is men who will make use of what is already provided for their mental improvement and spiritual advancement. Our task is not to proselyte from other churches, or even to converte great numbers, but to find out the people in this city of our way of thinking, and invite them to the work of the church.

The discourse was one that should have been heard by the many men of this city who are not associated with any of our churches.

The National anthem, "God of Our Fathers," by Rudyard Kipling and P. A. Schnecker, was sung by the chorus choir, and the hymn "America" by the congregation led by the chorus choir and violin.

Following are the names of those who sang: Miss Hazel Mowry, Miss Mary Blake, Miss Mabel Ross, Misses Josephine and Etta French, Miss Ethel Merritt, Miss Florence Holton, Miss Louise Cowing, Mrs. Blanche Richardson, Mrs. Grace Condon, Mrs. Lizzie Hayward, Mrs. Carolyn Stoddard, Mrs. Emma Stoddard, Messrs. Frank Varney, William Stoddard, Frank Thornton, Edward Wight and Victor Richardson.

Local and City Brevities

A snowy Sunday.

City Council tonight.

It is not too early to begin Christmas advertising,

An unsightly shack was built on the southerly end of the Durgin & Merrill block on Hancock street Saturday. Had the new building ordinance been in effect it would not have been allowed.

The City Council Committees on Streets and Public Buildings will meet tonight at 7 o'clock.

The battleship Vermont, the Queen of the navy is expected back at her berth at the Fore River today.

There was some good skating Saturday before the light fall of snow, and although it was bitter cold the young people made the most of it.

W. R. C., 103, will hold a meeting tomorrow evening for election of officers. The next regular meeting will be Thursday, Dec. 27, at 2 P. M.

An adjourned meeting of the City Council will be held tonight to act on the result of the election of last Tuesday. Any business, however, may come before the meeting.

Councilman Sawyer, who is vice president of the Cape Cod Commercial Travellers Association, was the guest of the Worcester Commercial Travellers Association at the Bay State house, Worcester last Friday evening, and made an address.

MONOPOLY IN OIL

Standard's Former Strong Hold Is Greatly Relaxed

DEALS WITH RAILROADS

So Skilfully Concealed That the Trust's Competitors Were in the Dark--Now Getting Equality of Treatment For the First Time In Many Years

Washington, Dec. 10.—The annual report of Commissioner of Corporations Garfield devotes special attention to the investigations of the transportation of oil and the operations of the Standard Oil company.

"During the investigation of the oil industry," says the report, "it was discovered that a very widespread system of railway discrimination existed in favor of the Standard Oil company, affecting a very large proportion of the country and resulting substantially in giving to the Standard Oil company an overwhelming advantage in transportation in almost all sections of the country; that this system had been in existence for a number of years and that largely by virtue of it the Standard had been able to restrict or eliminate competition throughout many parts of the country and thereafter reap the benefits of monopoly.

"These railway discriminations took various forms, often very ingenious in their nature, and so skilfully concealed that their existence was very rarely suspected even by the active competitors of the Standard, although such competitors knew that in general they were doing business at a disadvantage.

"During the fiscal year indictments containing 8193 counts were returned by the various grand juries as the result of this investigation.

"A most striking and important result immediately followed the investigation of the bureau, the railroads cancelled substantially all the secret rates, illegal or improper discriminations, and in many cases the discriminations in open rates. The shippers of oil advise the bureau that for the first time in many years they are now rapidly obtaining equality of treatment from the transportation companies.

"Work on the other phases of the oil industry and the investigations of the tobacco, steel sugar and coal industries are well advanced; special reports thereon will be made in due course. An inquiry into canal and water transportation has been started."

Commissioner Garfield urges again the necessity for the establishment of federal inspection and supervision of the greater industrial corporations engaged in interstate and foreign commerce. He says it will not interfere with the power and authority of the states over the corporations created under state laws and is not an invasion of private rights, but merely will "restore individual responsibility and prevent the corporations from being the hiding place of the irresponsible, dishonest or corrupt manager.

Denial of the right to engage in interstate commerce is suggested as the penalty for proved violation of the law. The report says the work of the year strikingly demonstrates the value of efficient publicity for the correction of corporate abuses.

Lost Propeller in a Gale

Halifax, Dec. 10.—Steamer Kensington, with the disabled freight steamer Briardene in tow, has arrived here. On Dec. 3 the Briardene lost her propellor in a heavy sea. The steamer drifted helplessly until Dec. 5, when the Kensington hove in sight. It was then blowing a terrific gale, but the Kensington answered the signals of distress and stood by until the weather moderated. On Dec. 6 the Kensington managed to pass tow lines and the ships started for Halifax.

Two Killed on Grade Crossing

Adams, Mass., Dec. 10.—Two persons were killed in a grade crossing accident in this town. Tyril Favereault, aged 32, a driver of a grocery wagon, and Joseph Young, 9 years old, were driving across the tracks when the horse was struck by a train. The horse was instantly killed. It is thought that the shock of the collision threw Favereault and Young from their seats onto the track in front of the engine. Both bodies were dreadfully mangled.

Wholesale Houses Burned Out

Montreal, Dec. 10.—Fire burned three buildings in the wholesale drygoods section of the city, while stores on either side had their contents damaged by smoke and water. The total loss is placed at $400,000. The loss was distributed among nine firms totally burned out and half a dozen with partial losses.

Conspired to Commit Peonage

Pensacola, Fla., Dec. 10.—After a 12-day trial of the case against Manager Harlan and seven employes of the Jackson Lumber company of Alabama, the jury returned a verdict finding Foremen Gallagher, Grace and Sander guilty of conspiring to commit peonage and excoriating Harlan and four others.

Firemen Narrowly Missed Death

New York, Dec. 10.—Fire last night destroyed the six-story factory building at 186-188 Wooster street, causing a loss of more than $100,000. Acting Chief Binns ordered 30 firemen to quit the interior of the building only a fraction of a moment before the three upper floors, with the roof, fell in.

CHAMPION OF CRAPSEY

Preacher Says Court Misunderstood Spirit of the Church

Providence, Dec. 10.—Rev. Joseph Hutcheson, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal church in Warren, in the course of a sermon yesterday condemned the decision of the high ecclesiastical court in the Crapsey case and endorsed Dr. Crapsey and his belief.

"In the case of Dr. Crapsey," he said, "a high ecclesiastical court has just decided that the clergy are forever barred against accepting the conclusions and methods of science or historical criticism insofar as they go against the creeds and liturgy of the third century. Today I solemnly and publicly protest against this finding. I assert that this court has misunderstood and misinterpreted the true function and spirit of the church. I cannot be silent and allow that noble-minded priest in Rochester to suffer alone. I stand here ready for trial on the issue in my turn and until tried and deposed I propose to remain here."

Put to Severe Test

Boston, Dec. 10.—When the battleship Vermont successfully completed all her government trials at sea, her entire forward deck from stem to bridge was encased in ice from 36 hours at sea it a northwest gale and zero temperature. In the four-hour full power run the Vermont averaged 18.33 knots an hour. In the 24-hour test the average speed was 17.43 knots. The requirements called for an average of 18 knots at full power. The trials were held under the most severe conditions yet undergone by a government vessel in her official tests, yet the requirements were all completed within four days, which is the shortest period in which a battleship has been put through her paces.

More Boiler Inspectors Needed

Boston, Dec. 10.—The state convention of Engineers' unions decided to recommend to the legislature that the boiler inspection force of the state be increased in the interests of public safety. State President Puddell advised that all inspection be done by the state and that the boiler inspection department be increased to a force of 100 men, if necessary, to safeguard life and property. He also recommended that a law be passed prohibiting the use of lap seam boilers.

Berwin Wants Flag Returned

Boston, Dec. 10.—The Confederate flag which the city government voted to return to the city of New Orleans and about which there has been some controversy regarding its historic value, is now declared by Alderman Berwin to be the same flag which General Butler took from the city hall in New Orleans and presented to Mayor Lincoln of this city with considerable formality in 1863. Berwin has strongly advocated its return.

Fire Destroys Maternity House

Clinton, Mass., Dec. 10.—The maternity house of the state industrial school for girls was burned Saturday night. Five young women, all state charges, who were patients in the building, were removed to another building in safety. The cause of the fire is not known, but an investigation has been begun with a view to determining whether or not it was of incendiary origin.

Manufacturers' Offer Rejected

New Bedford, Mass., Dec. 10.—The offer of the New Bedford cotton manufacturers to increase wages 7½ percent has been rejected by the Textile Council, which voted to insist that wages be raised 10 percent, a reiteration of the demand previously made upon the Manufacturers' association. A conference with the Manufacturers' association has been agreed upon.

Ex-Governor Garcelon Dead

Medford, Mass., Dec. 10.—Alonzo Garcelon of Lewiston, Me., a former governor of that state and a prominent figure in politics nearly 30 years ago, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. E. G. Dennis, in this city. The former governor died from accidental asphyxiation by gas which escaped from a heater in his room. Garcelon was born at Lewiston in 1813

To Fight For Overtime Bill

Boston, Dec. 10.—The executive board of the state branch of the American Federation of Labor has decided to strongly advocate the passage by the coming legislature of the so-called overtime bill, a measure prohibiting women and minors from working nights in factories and mercantile establishments, which failed in the last legislature.

Collapse of "Terrible Terry"

Stamford, Conn., Dec. 10.—"Terry" McGovern, the pugilist, who collapsed a few days ago in Brooklyn, was brought to the sanitarium here, where he was received about two years ago and where he created a sensation by walking away. Dr. Creamer states that McGovern's collapse is complete, incipient paresis being threatened.

Killed by Mad Dog's Bite

Providence, Dec. 10.—The third death from rabies in this state since the present mad dog scare broke out occurred when Michael Devlin, 40 years of age, succumbed to the disease. Devlin was bitten in the hand at Riverside. The other two deaths have been those of an Enfield farmer and a boy in Woonsocket.

Firebug Busy at Providence

Providence, Dec. 10.—The police made a search of the city unsuccessfully for an incendiary who is believed to have set three fires Saturday night. The Hovey Lumber company's yard, Whaley's livery stable and F. B. Cole's teaming stable were the objects of the attacks of the incendiary.

UP TO AMERICANS

Responsible For the "Congo Crime" and Should Correct It

New York, Dec. 10.—"The Congo Crime" was the theme of a sermon preached at the Madison Avenue Baptist church by Rev. Everett O. Burr, D. D., of Boston. Dr. Burr presented a forceful picture of the cruelties and persecutions which he declared the natives of the Congo Free State had suffered and added:

"We are responsible for these conditions. It was under our flag that Henry M. Stanley told the natives of the glories of civilization, and we cannot take refuge behind the technicality that we have nothing to do with the atrocities there because we did not sign the Berlin act. I wish every man here today would write a personal letter to Secretary of State Root asking that he do everything in his power to summon the nations in congress to right this wrong.

"Three years ago we had a peace congress at Boston and at that time we presented this matter and sent a representative to Washington to lobby, but a shrewd representative of King Leopold of Belgium appeared and suavely asked why the United States should take the initiative—why interfere in something which did not concern them. They say there have been reforms, but we can't find them. Now the king has granted concessions to American interests and they point to this and ask us to wait and see how the Americans will correct the evils. Americans control only one-seventy-fifth of the territory. How can they correct all the rest?"

Attempted Suicide of "Mrs Grover"

New York, Dec. 10.—Lulu B. Grover, 45 years old, was removed to a hospital last night, suffering from chloroform poisoning. Her condition is said to be critical. The woman for a month past has occupied an apartment on Lexington avenue. The police say she was "Mrs. Grover" who, just prior to the Roosevelt-Longworth wedding, was asked to leave the White House and who later attempted to see the president at Oyster Bay. Letters left by the woman bear this out. To the secret service men "Mrs. Grover" said at the time that she was a magazine writer. She left a letter, asking that the president be notified.

Dynamite Kills Seven Men

Charlotte, N. C., Dec. 10.—Seven men were literally blown into fragments by the explosion of dynamite in a tunnel on the right of way of the New South and Western railroad. One man had been ordered to open a box of dynamite for blasting purposes. One blow from a hammer exploded the contents and only a small fragment of the man has been found. Six other men were dismembered and seven persons were seriously injured. A mule and car were blown through the portal of the tunnel and down the mountain side. The car was wrecked, but the mule escaped unscathed and galloped off to the stable.

Sing Sing Prisoner Escapes

Ossining, N. Y., Dec. 10.—Frank Schleimann, a federal prisoner, escaped from Sing Sing prison in a bold dash that either landed him at the bottom of the Hudson river or carried him over the thin ice and beyond easy recapture. Schleimann was convicted of counterfeiting and sentenced to three years' imprisonment. He entered Sing Sing Jan. 16, 1905. He was employed nights in the engine and boiler room and began work as usual at 6 o'clock last night. Some time later he was missed. He had scaled the sheds on the river side of the prison.

Bark Became Waterlogged

Nassau, N. P., Dec. 10.—Captain Fredericksen of the Norwegian bark Wellington, his wife and 15 members of the crew of the vessel were rescued Dec. 3 in an exhausted condition by steamer Sokoto. The Wellington, which sailed from Gulfport, Miss., with a cargo of lumber for Rosario, Argentina, was waterlogged when deserted.

To Ask Reason For Removal

New York, Dec. 10.—Among the passengers who arrived on the steamer Coamo, from San Juan, was Judge Pettingill, United States attorney for Porto Rico, who was removed from that office by the president. Pettingill said he did not understand the reasons for his removal and was going to Washington to find out.

Uprising of Chinese

Shanghai, Dec. 10.—Revolutionary and anti-foreign riots have broken out at Ping Kiang, in the province of Kiang Si. Germany and others foreigners employed in the coal mines are fleeing to Chang Sha. The governor of the province is sending troops to suppress the disorders.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Henry A. Lebow of Providence, a dealer in women's wear, has filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy. The unsecured claims amount to $54,575.

George F. Owen, for two terms mayor of Saco, Me., and one of its oldest business men, died suddenly of heart disease. For the last nine years he had filled the office of city treasurer.

Sylvia Gerrish, once popular on the American stage, died at her home at Morris Heights, N. Y., of heart affection. Miss Gerrish, or Mrs. Hilton, as she was known in private life, was born in a mining camp in the Yosemite valley.

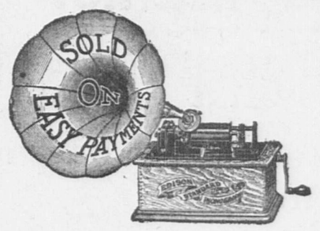

Despondent because of long-continued ill-health, Miss Bertha F. Grant of York, Me., aged 25, committed suicide by shooting.

Charles R. Ballard, educator and author, died suddenly at his home at Middletown Springs, Vt., aged 79. Acute indigestion was the cause of death. He was a native of Vermont.

Public Interest

IS NOW CENTERED ON

The Pure Food Law.

WE Have Always Maintained that the best that money could buy was always the cheapest in the end, because it is always the bargain hunters that have to pay the DOCTOR, buying as they do IMPURE foods of all kinds, FOODS that are UNFIT for ANY PERSON'S STOMACH, being mixed as they are with different kinds of PRESERVATIVES and SECRET PREPARATIONS to take the place of GOOD PURE FOODS. And some dealers selling these goods at a GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICE over the pure kind, GUARANTEE you NOTHING, but—"Poor Health to You and Your Family," and although you can buy the "just as good kind," you can save nothing as that kind is unhealthy and dangerous to the whole human family. Now our standard is to always sell the best of everything and the steady increase of our business year after year proves to us that we have the right idea, and we know it must be very satisfactory to our many customers to feel that what they buy at our store is ABSOLUTELY PURE and HEALTHFUL and the Food Laws are being strictly enforced by us. Our Goods are all GOVERNMENT INSPECTED and also carefully inspected by us before they are put on sale or sent to your homes, and although you pay perhaps a few cents more to us than some dealers charge, don't you think it is money well spent, considering all things?—YOUR HEALTH, which is the greatest blessing we can have,—think well about this and we know you will agree with us and do your trading where you know the goods can be depended upon to be absolutely Pure.

We have just received our season's pack of choice canned and bottled goods, FRESH and DRIED FRUITS, all kinds of Cereals, Ketchup, Pickles, Jams, Jellies, Prunes, Figs, Nuts, Dates, Table Raisins, Citron, Lemon and Orange Peel, Olives, Sardines,—in fact everything for your tastes and fancies. All the leading brands of FLOUR. Fancy New Orleans Molasses.

OUR MARKET is complete, AND REMEMBER, we sell nothing that has been doctored or filled with Preservatives to keep it. ABSOLUTELY NOTHING but Carefully Selected Meats are on sale at OUR STORE. Stamped with the Government Inspection Stamp, that insures to you and to us the point of perfection, which we are always striving to reach for the benefit of our trade.

We will have a grand display of that great National Bird, THE TURKEY, the same VERMONT KIND we have always sold you,—Chicken, Fowl and Duck, direct from WILLIAM R. DRAKE of Braintree, and he knows how to dress them so as to please the eye as well as the palate. They don't grow nicer than he has. Fruit and vegetables in abundance, and don't forget our famous LA TOURAINE COFFEE, no dinner complete without it.

Yours Respectfully,

A REPLY TO STORER

Former Ambassador's Conduct Criticised by President

REMOVAL WAS JUSTIFIED

Wife of Diplomat Urged His Promotion to Cabinet and London and Paris Portfolios--Certain Statements Declared Untrue

Washington, Dec. 10.—President Roosevelt last night made public a long letter addressed to Secretary Root, giving correspondence between the president and former Ambassador Storer at Vienna and Mrs. Storer, in which he says that Storer's refusal to answer his letters and the publication of various private letters justified the ambassador's removal; that Storer's publication of private correspondence was peculiarly ungentlemanly, and that he (the president) had stated with absolute clearness his position and the reason why it was out of the question for him as president to try to get any archbishop made cardinal, though expressing his admiration for Archbishop Ireland as well as leaders of other religious denominations.

The president says he thinks it well that the members of the cabinet should know certain facts "which he (Storer) either suppresses or mis-states." He says he did not resent the action of the Storers "until it became evident they were likely to damage American interests. He says Mrs. Storer urged him to give her husband a cabinet place, and that she stated Mr. Choate at London and General Porter at Paris were not proper persons to be ambassadors, suggesting her husband in that connection.

The president incorporates a letter from Postmaster General Cortelyou contradicting the statement that President McKinley had commissioned a gentleman to ask the pope "as a personal favor to him" and as "an honor to the country" to appoint Ireland as cardinal. Cortelyou says the late president never made any such request.

The president declares that Storer's statement that he authorized any such message to be delivered to Pope Pius is untrue. He says that he never received a letter from Storer giving an account of his visit to the Vatican and of the message he personally gave the pope on behalf of Roosevelt.

The president's action followed the publication of "the confidential pamphlet" which Storer last week sent to the president, the cabinet and the senate foreign relaions committee.

Would Keep Loans From Russia

New York, Dec. 10.—Dr. Schmaryahu Lewin, member of the lately dissolved lower house of the Russian parliament, addressed an audience of several thousand Jews here last night. He declared that his mission in this country was to arouse public sentiment for the freedom of members of his race in Russia and to make an effort to dissuade the bankers in the United States from making any loans to Russia. Jacob H. Schiff, who presided, said that the banker who loans the Russian government money commits a crime against humanity.

Castro's End Seems Near

Fort De France, Martinique, Dec. 10.—Reliable advices received here from Venezuela set forth that President Castro was moved down to the seacoast village of Macuto last Monday. He made the trip from Caracas in a bed. He looked more like a corpse than a live man and appeared to be absolutely unconscious. It is generally believed that he has no chance of living. General Paredes, an ex-revolutionary now in exile, is organizing a serious insurrectionary movement.

Roman Landmark Mutilated

Rome, Dec. 10.—In the Piazza Tartaruga stands the most charming fountain in Rome, erected by Taddeo Landini in 1585. It is composed of a bronze group of four youths, dolphins and tortoises. Last night one of the tortoises was cut away with a chisel and stolen. No trace of it has yet been found. The same kind of a theft was committed 30 years ago, but the tortoise taken was afterwards discovered in London.

Admits Killing His Aunt

Boston, Dec. 10.—Francesco Cefala, an Italian, 20 years old, was arrested as he was about to board a train for Brockton, where he resides, on a charge of murdering his aunt, Annie Meta, 30 years old, a few hours previous. The woman was killed by a bullet through the left ear. Cefala confessed to two officers that he killed his aunt, and said that they had had several quarrels over family affairs.

Thirty Thousand Hungry People

Lodz, Dec. 10.—By the recent closing down of factories here 30,000 persons are without food, demonstrations by lawless persons are increasing and the feud between the Nationalist and Socialist laborers is being renewed. In the past two days five Nationalists have been killed and 15 wounded.

Bullet Through His Head

New York, Dec. 10.—Roundsman Stuel shot John Gatewood, aged 24, dead in Long Island City. Gatewood resisting arrest, fired upon Policeman Campbell, a bullet glancing from a button on the latter's coat. Steul, who had witnessed the shooting, then put a bullet through Gatewood's head.

TWO SHOTS AT DOCTOR

Seriously Wounded by Young Man Employed by Him

Chester, Vt., Dec. 10.—Dr. C. W. Ray was shot and seriously wounded in a quarrel with Frank Turner, employed by Ray as a stableman. Ray was hit twice, one bullet grazing the right side of his body, while the other penetrated his left side and came out at the back. It is believed that he has a chance for recovery.

The exact cause of the quarrel has not been learned by the authorities, but it is said that Turner, who slept in a room adjoining the barn, was aroused by cries from Mrs. Ray, summoning him to her assistance. Turner thereupon went into the house and met Dr. Ray in the kitchen. Hot words passed between the two, after which they clinched and fell on the kitchen floor. Turner, freeing himself from the grasp of the doctor, started back towards the barn and the doctor followed him, whereupon, it is claimed, Turner wheeled about and fired two shots at Ray while standing very near him.

Turner was placed under arrest. He is 19 years old and is the son of Rev. W. S. Turner of Maplewood, Mass. He has been living in Ray's family for about three years, caring for the physician's horses and attending school part of the time. He was graduated at the Chester high school last year.

Brown May Not Recover

Washington, Dec. 10.—Former United States Senator Brown of Utah, who was shot by Anna M. Bradley of Salt Lake City in his apartments at the Hotel Raleigh Saturday afternoon, is in a very critical condition. He has not given out any statement and the doctors will not permit any one to see him. Mrs. Bradley is in the house of detention. According to the police, a number of prominent western politicians have notified her that they are willing to furnish money for her defense. She is held with bail on the charge of assault with intent to kill.

Triple Drowning Accident

Albany, Dec. 10.—William Lauster, aged 15, Matthew Moss, 15, and George Brayton, 14, broke through the ice and were drowned while skating on the Hudson river opposite this city. When the ice gave way with Lauster, Moss and Brayton went to his rescue and in a few seconds all three were in the water. They warned their companions of the danger and told them to keep at a safe distance. A rope was secured, but by the time it reached them they were too exhausted to grab it.

No Known Cause For Shooting

Bridgeport, Conn., Dec. 10.—Arthur Dowe, a steamfitter, was shot at twice while on his way to a Fairfield house where he, with a number of others, is working. A man behind a stone wall close by fired two shots at him, the first charge of birdshot perforating his overcoat and the second shot blowing off the top of his hat, some of the charge entering the back of his head. Dowe is more painfully than seriously injured. No one has a theory for the motive of the shooting.

Narrowly Escaped Suffocation

St. John, Dec. 10.—Seven seamen on steamer Marina here had a close call from suffocation in the forecastle of the steamer. It was very cold and a coal fire was started in a receptacle in the forecastle. Then all went to sleep. There was no ventilation and two hours later one man awoke and went to the storekeeper for medicine. Six of the men were unconscious, but revived in the open air. Five were sent to a hospital, where it is said they will recover.

Decided Not to Strike

Adams, Mass., Dec. 10.—After debating on the action of the management of the Renfrew Manufacturing company in refusing to grant an increase in wages, the weavers employed by the company voted to remain at work under the existing wage schedule. The weavers demanded an increase of 15 percent for those who operated "dobby" looms and 10 percent for weavers on regular looms.

Child Perished With Grandparents

New York, Dec. 10.—Richard Hoppe and his wife, aged 62 and 60, respectively, and their 5-year-old granddaughter, Louisa Byrnes, were found dead in bed at the Hoppe home at West Brighton, having been asphyxiated by illuminating gas. The jet in the room was partially turned on. Mr. and Mrs. Hoppe had been accustomed to sleep with the light burning low.

Mother's Grief Caused Suicide

Scranton, Pa., Dec. 10.—When informed by the attending physician that her child was in a dying condition, Mrs. Becker went into her cellar and shot herself in the head. The child died two hours after the shooting and Mrs. Becker four hours later. Her husband, a prominent manufacturer, was on his way to Chicago at the time.

Bicycle Grind Has Begun

New York, Dec. 10.—Madison Square Garden was packed from pit to dome when the international six-day bicycle race was started at 12:07 this morning. There were no scratches and when the pistol cracked the 16 teams of 32 riders, representing nearly every country where the wheel is popular, got away. The start was a good one.

Charged With Embezzlement

New Haven, Dec. 10.—Dragan Z. Daskaloff, a Macedonian, a member of the class of 1906, Yale, but not a graduate of that university, was arrested here, charged with embezzlement by a local clothing house at which he had been working Saturdays, coming from New York each week for that purpose. He is held in $400 bail.

NORFOLK ss. PROBATE COURT.

TO all persons interested in the estate of late of Quincy, in said County of Norfolk, deceased:

Whereas, Charles F. Adams, 2d, of Quincy, trustee under the will of said Mary C. Adams for Mary A. Doolittle and others has presented to said Court, his petition praying this Court to confirm a certain deed of John Q. Adams, Trustee to T. H. & J. Q. McDonnell, and authorize said petitioner to execute a deed of release for a nominal consideration of all vested, contingent or possible rights or interests belonging to the estate of said Mary C. Adams to Henry M Faxon, present owner of the land conveyed by said first mentioned deed, and for other relief.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Dedham, in said County of Norfolk, on the nineteenth day of December, A. D. 1906, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

Latest News About the City

Bethany Brotherhood will meet this evening.

Mr. Fred B. Rice is at Virginia Hot Springs with a party of friends.

Mrs. Charles Barron is confined to her home on Orchard place by sickness.

Miss Elizabeth V. Morrison of Waverly, spent the week end with Mrs. Herbert L. Packard of Standish avenue.

The people on Miller Stile road should celebrate tomorrow. It was on Dec. 11, 1655, 251 years ago that the Stile was laid out.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Carmen of Upland road will give a whist party in Colonial hall this evening. Ten valuable and useful souvenirs will be awarded.

The business is up to the standard at the skating rink, and the moving pictures certainly caught on in great shape. They are without a doubt the finest ever shown in Quincy.

On four days last week the noon temperature was below 20 degrees. Last winter in December and January there was not a day but the mercury climbed above 20, and only three in February during the entire winter below 20 at noon.

Miss May Keenan will be greatly missed by her large circle of acquaintances, from her post of duties she having severed her connections as bookkeeper and stenographer with Barry & Walsh on Saturday.

Miss Annie V. Lingley left last week for her home in East Orange, N. J., after spending several weeks with her friend, Mrs. Maurice P. Spillane of Elm street. Miss Lingley came on to attend her brother John's wedding at Neponset, October 18.

The many friends and acquaintances in this city of Mrs. Nellie T. Harrington, especially the members of George L. Gill, Rebekah lodge, extend to her their sympathy in the loss of her husband whose death occurred on Saturday, after several months' illness.

Club women are hoping for a pleasant day tomorrow as one of the best programs of the season will be given at the Quincy Women's club. Mrs. Belle Temple Priest of Watertown is to give readings. The business meeting is called at half past two and the regular meeting at three.

The clergy, heads of church societies, King's Daughters, and all organizations and individuals interested in philanthropic work are urged to attend the meeting at the Women's club house, tomorrow morning at half past ten. It is hoped to perfect some form of associated charities whereby all the different associations will work together for the good of all.

Mrs. Emery L. Crane of Whitney road opened her house on Saturday afternoon and evening for a candy and cake sale under the auspices of the Hospitality committee of the Quincy Women's club. Notwithstanding the cold it was a remarkably successful sale over thirty dollars being cleared. The unsold candy is to be taken to the club meeting tomorrow.

AT POPE'S ORDER

Catholics Will Reject Proffer of French Government

RELIGIOUS CRISIS IS NEAR

Pontiff's Action Regarded as Summons of His Followers to Open Rebellion--State Authorities Will Not Falter

Paris, Dec. 10.—France seems to face an alarming religious crisis. The reports of the pope's eleventh-hour rejection of the government's final proffer, under which Catholic worship could be continued under the common law, turns out to be only too true, and the deadlock now is apparently complete. According to the pope's orders, declarations under the public meeting law of 1881 are prohibited, but the parish priests must remain in their churches until driven out by violence.

The official confirmation of this communication has created a sensation, both in government and Catholic circles. Cardinal Lecot, archbishop of Bordeaux, Archbishop Germain, and others who already had advised compliance with the law, have hastily instructed the parish priests of their dioceses that their former advice is null and void, and yesterday, in all the churches of Paris, bishops and priests, after mass, read the letter from Cardinal Richard, archbishop of Paris, communicating the decision of the holy see to "continue services in the churches, but abstain from any declaration," and Cardinal Richard's own instructions in view of the order issued by the prefect of the Seine not to permit for the present the employment of ceremonial draperies at marriages or funerals.

The church wardens, whose legal existence expires next Tuesday, were thanked from the pulpits of the various churches. The protection of God was also asked in prayers.

The government regards the action of the pontiff as little less than a summons of the French Catholics to open rebellion, as rendering the situation exceedingly grave, and possibly entailing the most deplorable consequences.

Premier Clemenceau and M. Briand, minister of public worship, were in conference all day yesterday. There is no sign of the government faltering, but it recognize that it may be forced to resort to extreme measures. Briand says that the decision of the pope was entirely unexpected.

"The encyclical is very grave," said M. Briand. "While condemning the law of 1905, it advised recourse to the common law. Although the refusal to form cultural associations was, in my opinion, an error and to the detriment of the church, it was the church's legal right so to refuse. In a spirit of conciliation, out of respect to the consciences of the French Catholics, and in order to do nothing to disturb peace and tranquility, the government thereupon prescribed this easy means of continuing worship by a simple declaration in accordance with the law of 1881.

"The pope's brufal order to the clergy to reject the offer practically incites them to violate the laws of the country. He no longer acts as the spiritual head of the church, as the canonical objections against the law of 1905 cannot be invoked against that of 1881. The pope now assumes a political leadership, and the vital question is whether the Catholics of France will consent to follow him or not. If they do the government will act with even greater energy because of the tolerance it has manifested heretofore. Every violation of the law will be prosecuted and, furthermore, special measures, legislative and otherwise, may be taken."

The special measures referred to by Briand are to strip the clergy of their privileges, compel them to perform service and, as a last resort, to treat them as foreign subjects.

Militant Catholics are rejoicing at the stern attitude of the pope. A religious organ says the faithful can now face the future with serenity, and "show the persecutors of the church that the daughter of eternity disdains the efforts of wicked men and will triumph in the end."

Will Yield Only to Force

Rome, Dec. 10.—In spite of rumors of attempts to bring about a conciliation between France and the Vatican, Vatican authorities have denied again, and with emphasis, that any negotiations to this end are under way. On the contrary, church officials are very indignant at the attitude taken by M. Briand, the French minister of public worship. They declare that France apparently grants facilities for the practice of worship, but in reality she is striving to dismember the organization of the church by striking at the clergy. According to the latest instructions, the clergy will not cede except to force. It is believed here that Dec. 11 will see the beginning of increased bitterness in the conflict in France.

A RIDE FOR LIBERTY

[Original.]

Kentucky is famous for its pretty girls and fine horses. This is a story of both. The horses would not be interesting without the girl, and without the horses there would be no story.

Charlotte DeForest is the girl in question, and she was the belle of the blue grass region. She could ride and shoot and dance and flirt and was a constant terror to her father and mother lest she be thrown from some of the wild horses she rode or get shot while hunting or, worst of all, make a match with some undesirable party. Her father, however, gave her a free rein in everything except marriage.

So long as Charlotte was fancy free her father's statement did not interest her, but one day came Hall Dangler, a young Tennesseean who had every trait to make him unacceptable to old people and every trait to make him acceptable to the young. He had lately inherited a plantation near Murfreesboro, with a fair bank account, besides stocks and bonds. This he was proceeding to run through as rapidly as possible and had already got away with a full quarter of it. He was handsome as a picture, reckless, generous, brave—in short, just the man to capture a girl of nineteen.

Dangler made short work with Charlotte DeForest's heart. But Charlotte, knowing that her father would disapprove of him, said nothing about her love and would not permit her lover to ask for her hand. Her parents took fright the moment Dangler appeared on the scene; but, as he put in no claim for their daughter and their daughter did not admit any partiality for the young scapegrace, there was no excuse to keep the two apart. The best the parents could do was to make a new rule that Charlotte should not in future leave the premises with any young man without other company.

Against this Charlotte protested without avail. Both she and her lover knew well that it was directed against them, and from that moment they acted as prisoners eager to secure liberty. They began by deliberately breaking the rule, riding away together. Mr. DeForest sent a servant to recall them. Affairs had not yet gone so far that Charlotte would disobey, but it was not long before she knew that certain of the household had been deputed to watch her. Then she learned that her father had so far perfected a system of espionage that it would be impossible for her to get away with her lover even if she desired to do so. Just as soon as she discovered this she made up her mind to break through the cordon placed about her at the first opportunity.

One morning Mr. DeForest was in a field near the house trying some horses. His stablemen were showing their paces before him. Charlotte and Hall Dangler went over to take a look at the stock. Charlotte had her own saddle brought out and insisted on trying one of the horses. When she dismounted, Dangler asked permission to mount another. Then the two made motions to mount at the same time, but Mr. DeForest ordered his daughter to desist, and Dangler rode off alone.

More than an hour was spent trying the horses. Dangler mounted a number in succession and under pretense of testing their speed rode them till they were well nigh exhausted. Miss DeForest after having been checked by her father would not mount again, but stood pouting, looking on, holding her horse by the bridle rein. There was one horse called Simon that Dangler pronounced incapable of any speed whatever, and the animal was left with his bridle rein thrown over a fence post. Presently, after a few whispered words between the lovers, Charlotte mounted and rode toward the house. All except Dangler were too preoccupied to notice that she passed the house and was soon lost to view down the road. Then suddenly Dangler mounted Simon and dashed after her.

"Mount! Quick!" shouted Mr. DeForest. "Five hundred dollars to the man who catches them!"

There were three stablemen and six horses, all in the stable having been brought out. Two of the horses being saddled, two of the men mounted and rode away, while the remaining man saddled one of the remaining horses. This Mr. DeForest mounted himself. He was too old to join in the race, but wished to follow. The two men in advance pushed on with fair speed for awhile, but it was not long before they discovered that their horses' freshness had been worn out by Dangler in his pretended efforts to test their speed. Miss DeForest's horse had not been used at all, and Simon, ridden by Dangler, was fresh as a daisy. The plan, which was not premeditated, had simply been to show the old people that they could not control the young one's movements. The only premeditated thing about it was Hall Dangler's wearing out the horses so that the couple could not be pursued to advantage. First one follower lagged, then the other, and when Mr. DeForest came up he found both out of the race. The couple had gone free. The old man rode on a short distance and saw the young couple halted, facing each other, Dangler talking earnestly.

Here was a crisis. Had the father maintained his equanimity all might have been well. Instead he hurled anathemas at Dangler and threatened to shoot him if he ever came near his home again. Then he reproached his daughter in no paternal terms. Dangler seized his companion's bridle and drew her away.

The couple were eventually forgiven.

CITY COUNCIL

Over Rule Efforts of Mayor to Keep Expenses Down

An important meeting of the City Council was held Monday evening. Two vetoes were received from the Mayor, one of which was passed over the veto, and the other laid on the table. Councilman Cannon, Gross and Hull were absent.

STATE AID.

The Mayor forwarded a communication from the City Clerk asking for an appropriation of $130 for State Aid, etc. Laid on the table until later when Councilman Polk offered an order for that amount which was adopted.

POLICE SALARIES.

The Mayor returned without his approval the order increasing the salaries of the permanent police. His reason in brief was that if the increased compensation was paid in one department, employes in other departments no better paid should also have their salaries increased. The gross sums that the city may raise under the statutes is inadequate to meet the expenditures that now exist in the several departments and he sees no increase from valuation or receipts that will warrant any increase in the expenditures of any department.

The order was passed over the Mayor's veto, 13 voting in the affirmative and 4 in the negative, as follows:

YES—Beal, Crane, Donovan, Flaherty, Ferguson, Gelotte, Hobbs, Hunter, McGilvray, Moir, Polk, Sawyer and Spargo—13.

NO—Bass, Deacon, Gilson and Nichols—4.

Absent—Cannon, Chase, Gross, Hull, Stone—5.

Not voting—President Piper

The Mayor returned without his approval the order increasing the number of permanent policemen.

Veto sustained, 11 voting in the affirmative and 7 in the negative as follows:

YES—Beal, Donovan, Flaherty, Ferguson, Gelotte, Hobbs, Hunter, McGilvray, Moir, Sawyer and Spargo—11.

NO—Bass, Chase, Crane, Deacon, Gilson, Nichols and Polk—7.

ABSENT—Cannon, Hull, Gross and Stone—4.

NOT VOTING—President Piper.

Later in the evening Councilman Sawyer moved the vote be reconsidered. He said there was a crying need of a day man in Atlantic.

Councilmen Hobbs and Stone favored. Councilmen Moir, Sawyer and Hobbs asked that the vote be taken by roll call.

Mayor Thompson felt it his duty to say that for a number of years $12 per thousand has not paid the running expenses of the city, and heavy drafts had been made on the receipts. He had hoped that the Water department would be on a paying basis. To pay charges against the department $25,000 had to be raised. Next year for the first time it will be necessary to raise a sum for the main sewer. For past years, the charges have been paid by property owners. This year $5,000 was needed to make up the amount due. We have nothing except what we can save. The other alternative is the tax levy. It means $1.50 raise in the tax rate.

It was up to the City Council. He did not claim it was an injustice but the condition did not warrant it. If some steps are not taken to curtail, the tax rate next year must increase.

Councilman Bass admired the Mayor for his courage in the stand he had taken. There may be a way of rearranging the beats of the patrolmen.

Councilman Hobbs — There is an unanimous demand in Atlantic for protection. A man to protect his property must sit up and watch it. It was a question of necessity.

Councilman Sawyer—The Neponset police push the rough element across the bridge and we have to stand them. Officers were needed to take care of the loafers.

The vote sustaining the Mayor was then reconsidered, 10 voting in the affirmative and 9 in the negative as follows:

YES—Beal, Donovan, Flaherty, Ferguson, Gelotte, Hobbs, Moir, Nichols, Sawyer and Stone—10.

NO—Bass, Chase, Crane, Deacon, Gilson, Hunter, McGilvray, Polk and Spargo—9.

ABSENT—Cannon, Gross, Hull—3.

Not Voting—President Piper.

Upon motion of Councilman Sawyer the veto was then laid on the table.

WATER METERS.

The Commissioner of Public Works sent the following communication in relation to water meters:

In compliance with order 256 I herewith submit the following report:

The total number of meters purchased was 651. 625 Empire meters in sizes and prices as follows:—5-8 inch, $10.40; 3-4 inch $15.60; 1 inch, $20.80 and 2 inch $60.00

Six Neptune meters, 5-8 inch, $8.40; 1 inch $18.00

No extra men were employed other than regular force who installed meters when their services were not required elsewhere.

The amount paid for labor was $1,364.35. The amount paid for materials was $488.17. The total amount expended, $9,198.60. The total number of meters set is 521. The average cost of setting 5-8 inch meter in dwelling houses is about $12.50.

WATER METERS

Some Cost City $60 Apiece Averaged $17.60 When Installed

Meters have been set at 27 stone yards and polishing plants, 37 business blocks, 87 boarding houses, 4 manufacturing plants, 10 stables and 356 dwelling houses.

In Ward One, 101 meters were set.
In Ward Two, 180 meters were set.
In Ward Three, 72 meters were set.
In Ward Four, 20 meters were set.
In Ward Five, 83 meters were set.
In Ward Six, 65 meters were set.

It is my opinion that the installation of meters has caused a decrease in the consumption of water, for although we have 209 additional water takers in November of 1906, the report of the Engineer of the Metropolitan Water Board shows a decrease of eight gallons per capita daily compared with November of 1905. This means a saving of about 224,000 gallons of water per day.

REPORTS.

The Committee on Ordinances reported correctly engrossed the order granting the Q. E. L. & P. Co. a location for poles on various streets. Passed to be ordained.

ASSOCIATED CHARITIES

Twelve Societies Represented At the Meeting This Morning

A meeting of the different charitable organization of the city was held this morning at the Quincy Women's club house to take steps to form an associate charitable society.

Mrs. J. H. Welch, chairman of the Philanthropic committee, opened the meeting, and introduced Rev. W. E. Gardner as chairman.

Mr. Gardner outlined the work of such an association. In the first place, he said, the association did not give relief. All cases referred to it were looked into and turned over to the proper channel, so that the parties got the kind of relief needed.

A record is kept of all charities bestowed, and in this way there would be no cases where parties were helped by several different organizations. He spoke of the Lynn A. C., of which he was familiar, and the work it was doing.

Col. Anderson favored the movement, and told of his experience in this line at Quincy, Ill. Indiscriminate giving cultivated pauperism.

Rev. J. G. Miller of Atlantic thought the work should be carried on a broad platform.

Rev. A. R. Atwood of Quincy Point spoke of the cases that had come to his notice, and the great need of such an organization.

Mrs. Alice D. Sanborn spoke of the good work done by the old Associated Charities organized by Rev. D. M. Wilson when he was in Quincy.

Mrs. Helen Bass, of the Quincy Charitable society; Mrs. H. E. Crane of Unity Circle, Kings Daughters; Rev. Dr. Hardy, Rev. Edward Norton and Rev. E. D. Webber favored such an organization as proposed.

Charles H. Johnson of the First church also spoke briefly.

A canvass of those present showed twelve societies represented.

Upon motion of Col. Anderson it was voted that a committee of three, of which Rev. Mr. Gardner should be chairman, be appointed to formulate a plan for an Associated Charity society, and report at a future meeting.

The committee appointed were Rev. W. E. Gardner, Mrs. J. H. Welch and Mrs. Helen Bass.

Mrs. Southwick of Freeman street is ill with tonsilitis.

The Sunday school of the First Presbyterian church are rehearsing Christmas carols.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Billings of Dorchester spent Sunday with friends in Norfolk Downs.

Mrs. Electa E. Field of Grant street, will entertain the Brownie whist club at her home on Wednesday afternoon.

Rev. N. J. Sproul of the First Presbyterian church will have for his topic next Sabbath evening "The Life of Gypsy Smith."

A bright well educated boy is wanted at the Daily Ledger office to learn the printing business. A good chance for advancement.

Mrs. Rose Reed returned Saturday from a two weeks' visit pleasantly spent at her former home at Biddeford, Me.

Those who attend the dance on Friday will be pleasantly surprised at the many improvements in Atlantic Music hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Lawton have returned to their home on Foster street after a two weeks' visit with relatives at Newport, R. I.

Mrs. Freeman Atkins of Charlestown, and Mrs. Edith Atwood and daughter Marguerite of Somerville spent the week end with Mrs. F. Gross of West Elm avenue.

The class of fifteen confirmed by Bishop Lawrence at St. Chrysostoms church last month was the largest ever confirmed there with one exception. In 1899 the number was seventeen.

If the structure of the new Quincy school carries out the excellence of the cellar masonry, it will be a building of which Atantic will have no cause to be ashamed. The work has progressed rapidly this last week in spite of the cold.

Mrs. H. W. Tirrell and Mr. John Gillis have the sympathy of their friends and acquaintances in the loss of their brother Murdock, formerly of this city, who passed away at his home in Prince Edwards Island, after several months illness.

The next meeting of the Wollaston Unitarian Ladies Aid Alliance will be held at the usual hour at the church on Wednesday. Rev. William H. Lyon, D.D., will give an address on "Unitarians in Hungary." Delegations from neighborhood clubs are invited and all are urged to be present and enjoy a delightful and instructive afternoon.

The Fore River Social club of the First Presbyterian church will hold its monthly entertainment tonight evening in the vestry of the church. An excellent programme has been arranged consisting of vocal and instrumental music. How-did-he with his wonderful tricks will also be present. Refreshments will be served and a social hour enjoyed.

Neglected Rheumatism Causes Paralysis

A Uric-O Treatment Will in All Cases Remove the Cause.

Paralysis is a disease whose cause is shrouded in mystery. If you were to investigate carefully all cases of Paralysis you would find that at some time previous to the attack, the patient suffered from some form of rheumatism. Possibly like so many others, he thought it was only a slight matter of temporary inconvenience and paid no further attention to it. Rheumatism is not to be neglected with impunity. The Uric and poisonous Rheumatic Acid must be neutralized and driven from the system as soon as they put in an appearance. Do this with Uric-O.

It is a harmless vegetable preparation and does not contain a single drop of alcohol. It operates by its action upon the blood, muscles and kidneys and cures Rheumatism to stay cured. We might give you testimonials from thousands of people in all parts of the country, but we would rather have you talk with some one whom you know and can believe. Next time you are down town, just drop into the store of E. J. Murphy, Quincy's popular druggist, and ask him about Uric-O. We won't predict what he will say, but we have confidence enough in the remedy to leave it to him.

Uric-O is not a cathartic, nor does it affect or distress the stomach in any way. Uric-O is a cure for Rheumatism and for Rheumatism only. That is why it is such a great success. It does one thing and does that one thing perfectly. Most druggists sell Uric-O at 75c and $1.00 the bottle, but you can have a sample bottle free if you cut out this advertisement and send it with your name and address to the Smith Drug Co., Syracuse, N. Y. Sometimes they send an order on your druggist for a 75c bottle free of charge in reply to those requests for a sample.

MILLOWNERS FIRM

Ten Percent Advance Not Justified at New Bedford

RESULT OF CONFERENCE

Claim That Position Is Better Than a Square Deal and That 7 1-2 Percent Raise Is Higher Than Wages Elsewhere

New Bedford, Mass., Dec. 11.—At a conference last night between a committee representing the Cotton Manufacturers' association and the Textile Council the millowners declined to grant a 10 percent advance in wages. They maintained that the 7½ percent advance, which went into effect here yesterday, was all that the mills could afford at this time. The Textile Council held a session after the conference to consider the situation. The meeting of the council continued until an early hour this morning.

The unions will be called together on Thursday night to take final action, and in the meantime the United Textile Workers will be notified of the action taken by the representatives of the unions as to the advance. The millowners, in a statement given out after the conference, said:

"All we can say is this: The wage we offer is higher than any other cotton center. Our position is fair and just, and it is better than a square deal. During the past months our weavers and some of the other departments have been earning a wage equal to the largest ever earned, even when this schedule was 5 percent more, which was the highest ever paid in this city, so this advance of 7½ percent will give the weavers and some of the operatives fully 7½ percent more than they ever earned.

"It seems to be the impression with the general public that the New Bedford mills during the past year have been more prosperous and made more money than mills elsewhere. Now these are the facts:

"There are mills outside of this city that have been as prosperous and have made as much money during the past 12 months as we have, and this is not confined to the outside fine cloth mills. There are mills running in carded work and spinning medium numbers, say 302 to 402, that have made as much money last year as any mill in this city, and more money than the average earnings of the New Bedford mills.

"The mills on carded work today are earning more money than we are. Middling cotton is what they use and today it is quoted less per pound than a year ago, while on the other hand we are paying on the average 50 percent more than last year for cotton and 7½ percent more wages.

"For instance, cotton last year that we paid 17 cents for is now selling for 34 and 35 cents. With these facts put before our operatives and the public we are willing to abide by their judgment whether we are right in our position."

Strike Out of the Ordinary

Tampa, Fla., Dec. 11.—More than 5000 cigarmakers went on strike here because of poor street car service while a new bridge across the Hillsborough river is being constructed. A committee called upon the mayor and the street car authorities, declaring the men would not return to work until they had been given free ferriage across the river and better car service. The mayor immediately directed that both demands be granted.

Minister Shot by Daughter

Philadelphia, Dec. 11.—Miss Mary McAtee shot and probably fatally wounded her father, Rev. John Q. McAtee, at their home. The shooting followed a quarrel between McAtee and his wife in which the minister, it is asserted, was trying to throw Mrs. McAtee down the cellar stairs. Mrs. and Miss McAtee told the police that McAtee had been drinking lately and had been quarrelsome and caused them much trouble.

Steamship In Bad Position

New York, Dec. 11.—Steamship Gadsby lays with her bow almost entirely out of water close to the south dock at the government reservation at Fort Wadsworth. The Gadsby, while inward bound, ran aground. She is loaded with pig-iron and lies in a bad position for wrecking work.

Revolution In Ecuador

Guayaquil, Ecuador, Dec. 11.—The local police arrested here a group of armed rebels at the moment they were embarking for Babahoyo for the purpose of conducting a revolutionary movement. Revolutionists are now near Achupallas. Government troops are trying to surround them.

Burnham Trial Almost Ended

New York, Dec. 11.—Both the prosecution and defense summed up yesterday in the trial of George Burnham, Jr., counsel for the Mutual Reserve Life Insurance company, on a charge of the larceny of $7500 from the company. Justice Greenbaum will deliver his charge to the jury today.

How Pope Views Crisis In France

Rome, Dec. 11.—Speaking of the actual situation in France, the pope expressed his grief at the necessity of having recourse to extreme measures, and he explained they could not be avoided. "Nothing will stop us," said the pope, "in protecting our religion."

was fast disappearing. When, at length, he pulled alongside the tug Bruso dropped exhausted, without strength enough in his body to climb to the deck. He was lifted on board and with the two men he had rescued was treated for frostbite and given stimulants.

While the work of rescue had been in progress all hands were so intent on the work of Bruso that the two barges which had been cast adrift had been forgotten. It took 4½ hours to pick them up.

Captain Dailey said that in all his experiences on Long Island sound he had not encountered a storm of such severity and he was unable to explain how Bruso was able to perform his rescue work.

A Letter to "Dear Theodore"

New York, Dec. 11.—Eugene A. Philbin was named in one of the letters sent by Mrs. Bellamy Storer to President Roosevelt as having been an emissary to Rome with a request from the president to the pope that Archbishop Farley of this city be raised to the cardinalate. "I will not discuss the matter further than to brand the statement as a falsehood," said Philbin. "I was never entrusted with such an errand." The letter in which Philbin's name occurs is from Mrs. Storer. It starts off "Dear Theodore."

Brutally Treated by Highwaymen

Pittsburg, Dec. 11.—Mrs. John McCaffery of North Braddocks, a suburb of this city, was found lying on the street near her home in a critical condition as a result of being beaten by thugs. Several ribs and her nose are broken and her body is badly bruised. She will not recover. Within a short distance of where the woman was assaulted the police found Lee Strauef in an unconscious condition. The man's head was cut and his pockets had been rifled. There is no clue to the highwaymen.

Brown Is Close to Death

Washington, Dec. 11.—The life of former United States Senator Brown of Utah, who was shot by Mrs. Annie M. Bradley here Saturday afternoon, is hanging by a mere thread. Mrs. Bradley spent another restless day in her cell and her only thought seemed to be for the man whom she shot. Mrs. Bradley has received many telegrams from Salt Lake City offering her financial assistance, but none of these offers has been accepted.

Will Put Prize to Good Use

Washington, Dec. 11.—It is announced by President Roosevelt that he will donate the $37,127 Nobel peace prize, awarded him yesterday by the Norwegian parliament, to a board of trustees for the purpose of establishing in Washington an industrial peace conference which will strive to solve problems in disputes between capital and labor, and in general promote good relations between employers and employed.

The Storers' Great Claim

Cincinnati, Dec. 11.—That President Roosevelt was made by them, is the declaration made by Mrs. Bellamy Storer and her husband, who assert that it was through their influence that President McKinley appointed Roosevelt assistant secretary of the navy, thereby paving the way for his possibility as Cuban hero, governor of New York state, Vice President of the United States, and finally president.

Boston Man Succeeds Savage

New York, Dec. 11.—By unanimous vote of a meeting of members of the Church of the Messiah last night, Rev. John H. Holmes, now pastor of the Unitarian church in Dorchester district, Boston, was selected as successor to Rev. Dr. Minot J. Savage. Since the retirement, several months ago, of Savage on account of ill-health the Church of the Messiah has been seeking a minister in his place.

Totally Wrecked In Gale

Yarmouth, N. S., Dec. 11.—With the arrival here on board a tug of the crew of the schooner Beatrice, the loss of that vessel became known. She was totally wrecked in a heavy gale off the shore of Great Tucket island. The crew, after a hard and dangerous row, succeeded in making a landing on Bib Mud island. There they secured passage in a tug for this port.

Loses Charge of Big Estate

New York, Dec. 11.—Josephine C. Delmonico, chief beneficiary under the will of her late aunt, Rosa Delmonico, has been removed as co-trustee and co-executor of the estate by Surrogate Thomas. The complainant's charge, the surrogate sustaining this, was that Miss Delmonico was guilty of mismanagement in the conduct of the Delmonico restaurants.

Yielded to Non-Conformists

London, Dec. 11.—The unexpected decision of the cabinet to reject en bloc the amendments to the education bill made in the house of lords, which indicates that the non-conformists' influence was too strong for the government to withstand, seals the fate of the bill. Any compromise is now regarded as hopeless and the bill will be dropped.

Na on rademark For Irelanc

London, Dec. 11.—An Irish trademark, applicable to every article manufactured or produced in Ireland, has been registered and Ireland thus becomes the first country to have a national trademark as a protection against fraud.

UNUSUAL HEROISM

Displayed by a Seaman In the Face of Great Odds

FOUGHT COLD AND GALE

Saved Lives of Men Actually Frozen to Mast and Hatch After Making a Trip Which Others Had Not Dared

Providence, Dec. 11.—A tale of heroism that has never been surpassed in the history of Providence was brought to this port by the tug Walter A. F. Luckenbach.

When every man on board the tug had refused to risk his life in an effort to rescue two men on the foundering barge Beuna Ventura, which was being towed with two others by the Luckenbach, Mitchell B. Bruso, a Greek seaman, stepped up to Captain John Dailey and said that he would make the trip alone. Bruso stepped into a small boat and at the height of a fierce northeast gale he rowed to the barge and rescued the captain, Olle Owarsond, who was frozen to the topmast of the barge. When he had placed the helpless captain on board the tug, Bruso, without a moment's rest, and with his body covered with a coating of ice from head to foot, put out into the storm-tossed sea once more and picked up Seaman Charles Martin, whose body was frozen to the top of a hatch on which he escaped from the sinking barge. These two men, of a crew of five, were the only ones to escape death.

When the tug arrived at this port, after one of the worst trips ever made by her captain, Bruso remained quietly on board and when the tug left for New York three hours later he was at his accustomed place on deck.

When the Beuna Ventura begun to sink Captain Owarsond climbed the foremast and lashed himself securely to the rigging in the crow's nest. At almost the same moment watchers on board the tug saw a man go overboard. Almost immediately he pulled himself on board a floating hatch. As the tug neared the sunken barge only the topmast, to which the captain was fastened, was out of water. Wave after wave washed over the helpless man and a coating of ice formed about the man and mast. With each succeeding wave the ice became thicker and it soon became such a compact mass that it made the man a prisoner more effectively than did the ropes which bound him.

When the tug had approached as close as possible a deckhand hurled a line to the prisoner in ice. Owarsond had kept his arms free, but he frantically wound the rope about his body and the mast. Captain Dailey of the tug saw that the man had evidently lost his presence of mind and he assembled his crew and called for volunteers to man a boat and go to the assistance of their fellow seaman. But one man responded to the call. He was Mitchell B. Bruso. Again the captain called for volunteers, but not a man on board would offer to join Bruso. Without another word Bruso said that if a boat was lowered he would make the attempt alone. It did not seem possible that he could manage the craft in the sea that was raging, but with seamanship that was a revelation even to men who had followed the sea for a lifetime, the Greek swung to his oars and rode on the top of wave after wave. The spray struck the lone hero time and time again, and over his body, too, a coating of ice was seen to form. He was nearly blinded by the ice which formed on his eyelids and he must have suffered terribly from the cold, but he kept on with as much confidence and determination as when he first stepped into the boat.

Turning in his seat from time to time, he soon had his frail craft so close to the imprisoned captain that he dropped his oars and caught the spar to which he was lashed. Twice Bruso nearly lost his life as he stood there. With his arms around the mast he could only use his feet to keep his boat from being swept away from him. Finally he caught the captain's feet and tried to pull him down through the coating of ice. His first tug only resulted in pulling off one of the man's shoes and Bruso fell back into his boat and almost capsized it. Again he stood up, caught the feet again and by swinging his whole strength first one way, then another, and by pulling downward, he at last succeeded in loosening the body from the mast and in another moment Owarsond slipped down through ice, ropes and all.

Bruso put him into the bottom of the boat and started back for the tug as though his own life depended on the speed he made. It was while Bruso was thus rowing at top speed that he discovered Seaman Martin half clinging, half frozen to a hatch cover. Shouting a word of encouragement to the man, he continued on his way and no sooner had Owarsond been lifted on board than he pushed away again.

Bruso's second rescue was infinitely more difficult than the first. The hatch cover was tossing like a cork, as was the boat, and a collision of the two would mean death for both men. But with that same skill which marked his first trip, Bruso managed to get alongside. He leaned over the side of the boat and lifted Martin in and again set out in his battle against the waves. By this time, however, the almost miraculous strength which he had displayed

CRIMES IN CONGO

Lodge Makes a Move For a World Investigation

PEOPLE'S PITY EXCITED

Duty of Our Government to Find Out Facts Regarding Alleged Atrocities Practiced by Belgian Ruler on Africans

Washington, Dec. 11.—Believing that the time has come for the United States at least to lend its moral support to any signatory power, preferably Great Britain, that acting under the treaty of Berlin to investigate conditions in the Congo Free State, Senator Lodge introduced a carefully drawn, moderate, but very important resolution in the senate. The resolution reads:

"Whereas, The reports of the inhuman treatment inflicted upon the native inhabitants of the Congo Free State have been of such a nature and so well sustained as to draw the attention of the civilized world and excite both the indignation and the compassion of the people of the United States, therefore be it

"Resolved, That in the opinion of the senate of the United States the time has come when the affairs of the Congo Free State should be made the subject of international inquiry and the senate respectfully advises the president that in any steps he may deem it wise to take in co-operation with or in aid of any of the powers signatory of the treaty of Berlin, which shall seek to ameliorate the conditions of the Congo Free State and redress any evils now existent there he will receive its cordial support."

Senator Lodge has given a great deal of study to the Congo question recently. He has read all the books on the subject and he believes it the duty of this government to find out the facts about conditions in the Congo. His resolution was introduced after several conferences with Secretary Root and probably may be regarded as, or as representing, the administration's views. The indications are that the senate will adopt the resolution, which is now before the foreign relations committee.

This country is not a signatory power to the treaty of Berlin, but doubtless if the United States should inquire officially at London about the Congo matters Great Britain would undertake to obtain the information at first hand. What the Washington government desires is investigation, and if the senate adopts the Lodge resolution the probability is that London will independently or with others of the signatory powers conduct a searching investigation.

Senator Lodge said: "I believe the time has come to act. My resolution is moderate, but it opens up the question. What can be done I am not prepared to say. This resolution was introduced because I have given the whole question my careful consideration and I believe we should have the facts. I did not know that the Belgian government was maintaining a paid lobby here. I do not know this now, although I heard reports to this effect after I introduced my resolution."

Shipping Companies' Ultimatum

Hamburg, Dec. 11.—The Federation of Hamburg Shipping Companies has decided to no longer employ the members of "The Association of German Captains and Officers," to which almost all German sea captains and officers belong. This action was precipitated by a resolution of the association denying the shipping companies the right to interfere in matters of internal discipline on board ship.

Bremen, Dec. 11.—All the important shipping lines located here voted to take common action with the Hamburg shipping companies in their controversy with the Association of German Captains and Officers.

Miss Taylor Must Remain Out

Washington, Dec. 11.—The supreme court of the United States has made final disposition of the case of Rebecca J. Taylor, a clerk in the war department, who was dismissed from the service in 1902 for publishing a newspaper article in which she cast reflections upon the President of the United States. The attorney general's motion to dismiss the case for want of jurisdiction was granted. Miss Taylor sought to compel her restoration to office.

Jackies Were Theatre's Guests

Washington, Dec. 11.—President Roosevelt and a number of naval officials last night attended the opening performance of Digby Bell and company in the comedy "The Education of Mr. Pipp" at the Columbia theatre. Upon the invitation of the management, 200 sailors were present in uniform.

Wild Boar Charged King

Lisbon, Dec. 11.—In the course of a wild boar hunt a very large and powerful boar charged King Carlos, who was thrown, but not hurt. His horse, however was killed by the animal. The boar then charged other members of the hunting party and inflicted wounds upon several persons.

No Fishing Friction Expected

St. Johns, Dec. 11.—Inasmuch as there is little likelihood of further friction over the fisheries question this season, the British cruiser Brilliant will leave Bay of Islands on Saturday next for St. Johns, whence she will proceed for England.

Public Interest

IS NOW CENTERED ON

The Pure Food Law.

WE Have Always Maintained that the best that money could buy was always the cheapest in the end, because it is always the bargain hunters that have to pay the DOCTOR, buying as they do IMPURE foods of all kinds, FOODS that are UNFIT for ANY PERSON'S STOMACH, being mixed as they are with different kinds of PRESERVATIVES and SECRET PREPARATIONS to take the place of GOOD PURE FOODS. And some dealers selling these goods at a GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICE over the pure kind, GUARANTEE you NOTHING, but—"Poor Health to You and Your Family," and although you can buy the "just as good kind," you can save nothing as that kind is unhealthy and dangerous to the whole human family. Now our standard is to always sell the best of everything and the steady increase of our business year after year proves to us that we have the right idea, and we know it must be very satisfactory to our many customers to feel that what they buy at our store is ABSOLUTELY PURE and HEALTHFUL and the Food Laws are being strictly enforced by us. Our Goods are all GOVERNMENT INSPECTED and also carefully inspected by us before they are put on sale or sent to your homes, and although you pay perhaps a few cents more to us than some dealers charge, don't you think it is money well spent, considering all things?—YOUR HEALTH, which is the greatest blessing we can have,—think well about this and we know you will agree with us and do your trading where you know the goods can be depended upon to be absolutely Pure.

We have just received our season's pack of choice canned and bottled goods, FRESH and DRIED FRUITS, all kinds of Cereals, Ketchup, Pickles, Jams, Jellies, Prunes, Figs, Nuts, Dates, Table Raisins, Citron, Lemon and Orange Peel, Olives, Sardines,—in fact everything for your tastes and fancies. All the leading brands of FLOUR. Fancy New Orleans Molasses.

OUR MARKET is complete, AND REMEMBER, we sell nothing that has been doctored or filled with Preservatives to keep it. ABSOLUTELY NOTHING but Carefully Selected Meats are on sale at OUR STORE. Stamped with the Government Inspection Stamp, that insures to you and to us the point of perfection, which we are always striving to reach for the benefit of our trade.

We will have a grand display of that great National Bird, THE TURKEY, the same VERMONT KIND we have always sold you,—Chicken, Fowl and Duck, direct from WILLIAM R. DRAKE of Braintree, and he knows how to dress them so as to please the eye as well as the palate. They don't grow nicer than he has. Fruit and vegetables in abundance, and don't forget our famous LA TOURAINE COFFEE, no dinner complete without it.

HEAR DEATH SENTENCE

Both Gillette and His Mother Appear Absolutely Unmoved

Herkimer, N. Y., Dec. 11.—Chester E. Gillette, the convicted slayer of Grace Brown, his sweetheart, was sentenced to death yesterday by Judge Devendorf. Unless the expected appeal to a higher court acts as a stay of execution, Gillette will die in the electric chair during the week beginning Jan. 28.

The courtroom was crowded to its capacity when Gillette was arraigned. The prisoner, however, was not the only object of curious eyes. His mother was in court near him. She had arrived from Denver during the night and startled the authorities and public alike by declaring that she had come to report the trial for two newspapers. She surprised everyone by calmly sitting through the proceedings as her son was sentenced to death and later writing a business-like bulletin of the news for the papers she represented.

She refused to submit to a lengthy interview because, she said, her views had been sold to papers that would pay her for them. She pleaded with other newspaper correspondents to use her gently in their stories, offering as an excuse for her willingness to serve her papers the statement that she would not have been able to have gotten to Herkimer in any other way.

Gillette's iron nerve remained with him and he stood with thorough calm and argued with the judge why sentence should not be passed. When his objection was set aside and sentence pronounced he coolly took his seat. Fifteen minutes afterward he was playing cards in his cell with his guard.

Two Thousand Men Out

Schenectady, N. Y., Dec. 11.—Two thousand members of the Industrial Workers of the World quit work at the local plant of the General Electric company because the company refused to reinstate three members of the union. Two of them had been discharged for inefficiency and one had resigned and wanted to be re-employed after his resignation had been accepted. The management decided that discipline must be maintained among its 15,000 employes here, but offered to give the three men employment in other departments or to give them 30 days' pay. The men were willing to accept the terms offered by the company, but the union voted to make the case an issue.

Railway Service Handicapped

New York, Dec. 11.—The troubles of the city railway officials and their patrons that began at daybreak, when a coating of ice on the rails played havoc with street and elevated traffic, reached a climax last night when a train in the subway, the one branch of the service that had been thoroughly depended upon, jumped the track, thoroughly demoralizing the system on the main route. Meantime all the police reserves available had to exercise all their resources to keep the throngs in the stations and adjacent streets in a semblance of order. Those in the wrecked trains were badly frightened, but no one was seriously injured.

Bad Night For Diplomats' Auto

Washington, Dec. 11.—Mrs. Von Sternburg, wife of the German ambassador, had a narrow escape when an electric car crashed into her automobile, the impact tearing the front end of the machine off and breaking the fender of the car. The accident was caused by the chauffeur losing control of the machine. Baron Rosen, the Russian ambassdor, had his big automobile touring car badly damaged last night in a collision with an electric car. Only the chauffeur was in the machine. He narrowly escaped.

Had Bombs For Governor General

Warsaw, Dec. 11.—Thinking that the governor general of this city was to return from St. Petersburg yesterday, a party of terrorists secreted themselves near the railroad station with the purpose of attacking him. A passing patrol of infantrymen detected the ambush and a fight followed. One soldier was killed and two wounded. The patrol wounded one of the terrorists, who was arrested. He declared that his companions had three bombs which they planned to throw at the governor general.

NEWS IN BRIEF

At a Clinton, Mass., special town meeting it was voted to appropriate the fund of $69,000 received from the state for damages in connection with the construction of the Wachusetts reservoir for the Metropolitan water system toward the payment of the floating and funded debt of the town.

Charlotte George of Salisbury, N. H., 4 years old, was burned to death by playing with matches.

Merritt Taylor, aged 95, recently the oldest voter in the state, died at Berlin, Conn. He cast his first presidential vote for Andrew Jackson.

Eugene J. Leahy, probably the last of the crew of the Monitor at the time of her memorable battle with the Merrimac, died at New London, Conn., aged 63.

Lucius H. Biglow, 1908, was elected captain of the Yale football team for next year. Biglow played right tackle on the team this year.

Navigation of the Connecticut river has closed practically for the season.

A cablegram from Beirut, Syria, announces the death of Mrs. Charlotte Case, wife of Rev. Ira Case and a member of the Holy Ghost and Us society at Shiloh, Me. Mrs. Case was one of those who accompanied Rev. F. W. Sanford on his voyage to Palestine. Her husband remained in Shiloh.

During a fire which destroyed two large buildings in the center of Bethel, Me., three persons were severely injured by a hot air explosion. It is expected that they will recover.

ONE MAN DROWNED

His Friend and Four Other Men Almost Meet Similar Fate

Lynn, Mass., Dec. 11.—Albert Farnham and his companion, Hugh Hoffman, accidentally fell from the Sprague & Breed wharf in this city last night and Farnham was drowned. Hoffman was rescued after three policemen and a citizen had themselves fallen into the water in an attempt to save him.

The flooring of the wharf was very slippery on account of a sleetstorm and the policemen and the other would-be rescuers found the footing very insecure. Fred Keneally tumbled into the water while trying to reach Hoffman with a long pole and Patrolman Kane slipped over in endeavoring to catch Kenneally. Then Patrolman McKean and Patrolman McGray, in making a spasmodic effort to extend aid to the men in the water, also slipped in.

They all found themselves in water up to their necks, but succeeded in getting Hoffman out, and after all the men in the water had apparently been saved and accounted for Hoffman was sent to a hospital. Later the police learned that Farnham also had fallen in and another squad of officers eventually succeeded in finding his body. Farnham was 28 years of age and unmarried. Hoffman is expected to recover.

Accepted Employers' Offer

Southington, Conn., Dec. 11.—The 100 men who left their work at the plant of the Aetna Nut company yesterday to enforce a demand for a 10 percent increase in wages, after a conference with Manager Deal, decided to accept the voluntary increase of 5.6 percent increase in wages already offered by the company. They returned to work today.

Quakes In New Hampshire

Plymouth, N. H., Dec. 11.—Two slight earthquake shocks were felt last evening in the Pemigewasset valley, one about 7:30 o'clock at Tilton and another in this vicinity two hours later. Neither resulted in material damage, a few dishes being broken and a chimney falling in Tilton.

Result of Garcelon Autopsy

Medford, Mass., Dec. 11.—An autopsy performed on the body of Former Governor Garcelon of Maine, who died here last Saturday, showed that death was due to asphyxiation by gas which escaped from a heater. The body was sent to Lewiston, Me., today.

Terrible Work of Assassins

Paruna, Okla., Dec. 11.—W. S. Smith, a wealthy farmer, was called from his home last night by a party of men. A rope was drawn around his throat and he was tied to a horse, which dragged the man across freshly plowed ground until life was extinct. There is no clue to the identity or incentive of the assassins.

Roosevelt and the Red Hat

Rome, Dec. 11.—Attempts have been made to induce the Vatican authorities to set forth what pressure, if any, had been brought to bear upon them from President Roosevelt to make Archbishop Ireland a cardinal, and yesterday the Vatican declared it could make no such statement, as President Roosevelt never had asked anything through official channels. It was explained that several Americans, who declared they spoke with President Roosevelt's authority, had attempted to influence the giving of the red hat, but they did not agree on the archbishop thus to be honored.

Thirteen Teams In Bike Race

New York, Dec. 11.—Twelve of the original 16 teams remained in the six-day bicycle race at Madison Square Garden last night. A 13th team was made up of J. Bedell, of the Bedell brothers, and Walthour, partner of McLean, who doubled up after their original partners had been permanently retired from the race through injuries. These 13 teams continued for hours with unchanged score.

Of Advantage to Marine Interests

Ogdensburg, N. Y., Dec. 11.—A contract has been let for the erection at this city of a drydock and ship yard carriage large enough to handle any vessel that can pass through the Welland canal. Boston parties secured the contract for the work at $50,000. The nearest Amtrican drydock of such proportions at present is at Buffalo.

Lake Steamer Wrecked

Fort William, Ont., Dec. 11.—Steamship Monarch is a total wreck on Isle Royale. She went ashore on a rocky reef. So far as is known there was no loss of life. A snow and wind storm is raging in Lake Superior and it is feared that the survivors of the wreck will endure hardships before assistance can be sent them

Chinese Reb Is Active

Shanghai, Dec. 11.—The rebels at Ping Kiang, province of Kiang Si, who have caused the foreigners employed in the coal mines there to seek refuge at Changsha, have routed a government force. The Chinese miners have struck in sympathy with the rebels.

Latest News About the City

Edward F. Lyons of West Elm avenue is seriously ill with pneumonia.

Only six more days for the children to attend the public schools this year.

"My Turn Next," at Faxon hall tomorrow night. A good entertainment is promised.

The Reading Y. M. C. A. basket ball team will be here on Saturday to play the Quincy Y. M. C. A.

Many are interested in the exhibit of Larkin Co., being held at Hancock hall this week. No goods are for sale.

Mayor Thompson has signed the building ordinance, and it has now become a law. It means an end to the unsightly shacks on the main thoroughfares of the city.

The funeral of Mr. Joseph Harrington, husband of Mrs. Nellie T. Farrington, will be held tomorrow at Odd Fellows' hall, No. 515 Tremont street, Boston, at 2 P. M.

News comes from Rochester, N. Y., of a the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Finch, Dec. 10th. Mr. Finch was formerly principal of the Wollaston and Massachusetts Fields schools.

Wollaston and Rural lodges of Masons has accepted the invitation of Rev. Edward A. Chase, chaplain of Wollaston lodge, to attend services on St. John's day, Dec. 16, at the Wollaston Congregational church at 3.15 P. M.

Tickets for the First Church Social club dramatics are on sale at Pettengill's jewelry store. The play "A night Off" is to be presented by the Criterion club of Boston, which attracted a large audience when it appeared last season under the same auspices.

Mrs. Hattie Gurney of 340 Beale street kindly opens her home Wednesday for a sale of aprons and candy from 3 until 10 P. M. for the benefit of the church mortgage of St. Chrysostom's church. Miss Roberts and Miss Ross have charge of the candy table.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Elbridge Merritt of Montreal, Canada, are rejoicing over the birth of a son born on Wednesday, December 5. Mrs. Merritt will be remembered as Fannie Ball of Wollaston and Mr. Merritt as director of the Y. M. C. A. a few years ago.

The flooding of Sagamore street, which occurs every time it rains and was so bad last week that it was impossible to travel that way from the Atlantic station, has been obviated for the future by the insight of Dennis O'Neil. Mr. O'Neil found on examination that the sluiceways on Sagamore had become clogged by sand and allowed no vent for the overflow which poured down from all the neighboring streets, as Sagamore street is on the lowest level. Mr. O'Neil was out bright and early Friday morning after Thursday rain and with the aid of a hose, cleared the sluiceway as best he could. Of course this was an experiment but so far it has proved effectual.

CITY COUNCIL

The property faces Town river and abuts property of Mrs. Adams.

Councilman Nichols queried if it would be wise to part with shore front property.

Mayor Thompson suggested laying the matter on the table that the Council might learn more about the property.

Councilman Sawyer moved, and it was voted, to recommit the order.

BUILDING ORDINANCE.

Councilman Chase offered an order appropriating $100 to print 200 copies of the Building ordinance and advertise the same as required by law. Adopted.

Councilman Donovan offered an order requesting the Commissioner of Public Works to request the N. E. T. & T. Co. to remove three poles not now in use on Winter street. Adopted.

Councilman Stone offered an order amending the Fire Department Ordinance reducing the number of call men from 63 to 55, and increasing the number of permanent men from 18 to 22. The amendment also provides for eight men, four of whom shall be permanent, on Hose 1, instead of ten, and two permanent men. For seven men, three of whom shall be permanent, on Hook and Ladder No. 1, in place of nine, and one permanent man.

Councilman Crane offered an order transferring $1,248.70 receipts of Highway department to the appropriation for Highways. To Finance Committee.

Councilman Polk offered an order authorizing the City Auditor to transfer to an account called the excess and deficiency account. All unexpended balances of appropriation of 1905. The order, however, not to effect balances of specific appropriations when authorized by loans except when in the opinion of the Executive the work authorized by such loans has been completed. Adopted.

Adjourned at 8.40 until Dec. 17.

Mrs. Morse.

The funeral of Mrs. Joseph C. Morse, Jr., was held Monday afternoon from her late home on Merrymount road. The services were very largely attended and were of an impressive nature. The flowers were many and beautiful, almost hiding from view the remains. Rev. Dr. Edwin N. Hardy and Rev. Daniel M. Wilson officiated, and both spoke eulogistically of her who had so early in life departed from this sphere. The burial was at Mt. Wollaston cemetery.

Christmas Prize

A puzzle for bright eyes, The publishers of the Daily Ledger will give a prize to the school boy and girl who first brings to the office of the Daily Ledger a marked copy of the paper with the word "Christmas" 25 times.

—Mark Twain announced Saturday that Harper Brothers had finally consented to publish his book on Christian Science, written several years ago, which they first declined to publish, presumably because of its severe criticism of the sect. The book is based on articles orginally written for a magazine and is said to be in ridicule of Christian Science.

J. J. McAnarney, one of Quincy's leading members of the bar, addressed the Men's club of Christ church on Monday evening on "Points of contract." A more extended report of the address will be published in Wednesday's Ledger.

Strike Settled Work Humming

The strike of the Union men at the High school was settled Monday, and this morning, the carpenters, painters and other union men returned to work. A call at the building this noon found work humming. There was quite a gang of carpenters at work, all that could work handily.

The painters were alao at work finishing up the rooms in the old part of the building.

Quite a lot of finish material has arrived, and some of the furnishings are in the rooms of the old part ready to be unpacked.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

A CHILD WITH CRAMPS

should have immediate attention, as cramps are positive proof that there is some foreign substance in the stomach or bowels that nature cannot get rid of unassisted, and in most cases the trouble proves to be worms. Worms are the cause, either directly or indirectly, of the majority of childhood ills, and in a great many cases adults are also sufferers.

DR. TRUE'S ELIXIR

the only safe, sure, entirely vegetable worm remedy ever compounded, has been working wonderful cures for over half a century, and stands without a peer in in all complaints of the stomach, liver or bowels—especially constipation and worms. The familiar symptoms of worms are disturbed health, deranged stomach, furred tongue, variable appetite and bowels, increased thirst, itching of the nostrils, bed-wetting, wind colic, irritability, restlessness, grinding of teeth, slow fever and often in children, convulsions.

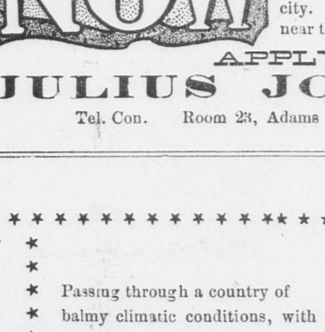

When any of these symptoms are noticed, do not delay, but give Dr. True's Elixir at once and restore the patient to perfect, robust health. A few drops of the Elixir taken occasionally will guard against worms, and if present will expel them.

Sold by all dealers, 35c, 50c, $1.00. Write for free booklet, "Children and Their Diseases."

Baby in Tool Chest

Mrs. Albert Fuller of Winthrop street received a frightful scare Monday. She has a nine year old son, who it is said, is somewhat demented, and Monday she came to Quincy to see about having him cared for. She left her baby at home, and when she returned was unable to find it. Finally the baby was located in a tool chest. It is reported that the son had placed the baby there, and had shut the cover. Fortunately a clothes pin prevented the cover from shutting tight.

REMARKABLE RESOURCES

Of Alaska Told by Ex-Gov. John G. Brady A Long Resident

The large attendance at the December banquet of the Wollaston Unitarian club on Tuesday evening have a far different opinion of Alaska since listening to the very entertaining and instructive talk of ex-Gov. John G. Brady. Mr. Brady has for 28 years been a resident of that country and identified with its growth, and probably has a more extensive knowledge of Alaska than any other man.

The banquet on this occasion was a hot turkey supper with all the fixings.

Frank E. Parlin, president of the club presided, and in his introductory told several facts about Alaska.

At present Gov. Brady has a temporary home at Brookline while his five children are being educated. In his talk he made no attempt at oratory or flowery description, but for nearly two hours delighted his audience. A large map of Alaska on the wall was frequently referred to.

He told of the discovery of the country and early predictions, and then took up one by one the great resources: First furs, and then the climate, the fish industry, the seal industry, the mining industry, the farms and gardens, the reindeer industry and finally of the great need of settlers.

Gov. Brady said no mistake was made by Secretary Seward of Lincoln's cabinet when he negotiated for the purchase of the Alaska, and said it would not have been possible but for the influence of Senators Sumner and Banks of Massachusetts. Later he gave figures in support. He startled his audience when he proved that by including Alaska, the geographical center of the United States was 200 west of San Francisco in the Pacific.

The climate of Alaska is influenced by warm currents from the ocean, and is milder thad people generally believe. Occasionally in winter the mercury went 4, 6 and 8 degrees below, but usually averaged about 32 above. But Alaska was a large country, and in the interior it was colder. The harbors are never frozen over, and strawberries and other vegetation grow along-side the big glaciers.

The seal business alone would annually pay the cost of Alaska. He told of the habits of the animals; and how they were captured and skinned. Relative to the reported killing of Japanese engaged in sealing he believed it was their fault, because they were within the three-mile limit. The United States must protect its seal industry.

Alaska has all kinds of desirable fish, some unknown to the Atlantic coast. The salmon fishing alone amounts to $8,000,000 or $9,000,000 annually.

Mining is very extensive in gold, copper, coal, etc. He criticised strongly the forestry laws, and land laws, which were detrimental to development of industries.

It had been found that reindeers were fitted for the country, and they were being raised successfuly. He had a good word for the esquimaux who were self supporting, and would confer citizenship upon natives. Now they are not fairly treated.

Now Canada is luring thousands of people by great offers in the Northwest, but they would much prefer to remain under our flag, and would go to Alaska if conditions were different. Alaska is depending on the people of the United States and on Congress.

Several questions were asked, and answered at length.

An exhibit of arts and crafts from Alaska were viewed with curiosity.

Talk on Helps From Contact

The Men's Club of Christ church held its monthly meeting Monday evening in the parish house. President William L. Thomas was in the chair and besides him was Edward Warmington, president of the Sons of St. George the lodge being the guests of the evening. The speaker was Jeremiah J. McAnarney, Esq., who spoke on "Helps from Contact."

The speaker explained that his subject stood for a method of building character. In distinction from the usual idea that a man improved himself by contact with one who was his superior, the speaker maintained that greater improvement was gained by a man reaching down and helping the under dog.

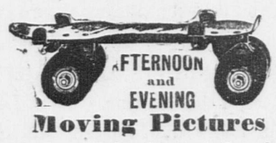

Briefly he sketched the conditions of our country and showed that many of the men in high responsible positions were not men whose high morality and integrity who could be trusted. Insurance scandal brought clearly before the country the fact that the man who appeared to be the superior man was not always the man to be looked up to.

The importance of the common people in every period of history was emphasized and their strength was gained not from contact with those above them so much as by their effort to help those below them. In conclusion Lawyer McAnarney showed that we should never condemn the criminal or the man who seems to be our inferior, for had we been submitted to the same environment we probably would have the same want of character and the same deficiencies. He related several instances in his career when he had met men, though criminals in the eyes of the law, who could teach lessons of honesty and fairness.

At the conclusion of the talk there was an entertainment consisting of a cornet solo by Mr. Newcomb, vocal solos by William Wauless, Arthur Tremayne, and Ambrose Newcomb, and recitations by Leslie Smith and James Cowie. About 125 men were in attendance.

INJUNCTION WANTED

Labor Fight At High School Taken Into Court By the Keoughs

The City of Quincy are now defendants in the law suit over the High School building, as will be seen by the following court news from the Boston Herald today.

The strike on the Quincy high school is brought to the superior court by James E. Keough and Augustus Keough the contractors for the electric wire and appliances for the building, and Mayor Thompson, Thomas F. Burke, commissioner of public works, and Aaron H. Gould, the architect, as well as a number of trades unionists, are made defendants.

The Keough Electrical Company want an injunction to restrain the Mayor, the commissioner and the architect from refusing them or their workmen permission to enter the building and from causing the city to break its contract because of the action of the labor unions, declaring the three have been coerced by the labor unionists and are about to prevent them from entering the building to finish up their work under the contract.

The trades unionists are declared to be engaged in an attempt to force the plaintiffs into maintaining a closed shop, which they refused to adopt. To make them accede to the union demands a strike of the plumbers, lathers, plasterers and carpenters was called by the unions, and a threat, it is declared, of a further strike being called on those who engaged the plaintiffs and of putting the latter on the unfair list.

The labor unionists joined in the suit are James W. Barton and Jeremiah O'Connor of Electrical Workers' Union 103, J. E. Kennedy of Sheet Metal Workers Union 17, William Hammond of a lathers' union, J. B. Oakes of Electrical Workers' Union 189, James E. Corprew of the Central Labor Union of Quincy. C. S. Jones and C. J. Carlson of Carpenters' Union 762.

An injunction is sought to restrain them from maintaining or abetting the strike and from interfering with their customers. An order of notice was issued to J. J. Feely, counsel for plaintiffs, by Judge Fox, returnable tomorrow.

Battleship Vermont Back

The battleship Vermont returned to her dock at the Fore River Shipbuilding plant this morning from her successful trial trips. She came down the river a little after 6 o'clock, and was welcomed by shrieking whistles. She passed safely through the draw of the Quincy Point bridge and was docked about 7 o'clock. Her decks are more or less covered with ice.

Doll Presented.

Henry Tilden of 92 Franklin street who is employed in the office of Walker Stetson & Sawyer of Boston, did not take his usual train for Boston this morning, for he had other duties to perform. He came down town over the sanded sidewalks, having in his arms a large bundle. He headed for the store of D. E. Wadsworth & Co. Meeting Mr. Wadsworth "Hen" made a speech.

It was such a speech as none but he can make. At his conclusion he handed Mr. Wadsworth the bundle which he said was presented in behalf of the lady clerks at the store. The bundle proved to contain a large and handsome doll with golden hair. It was also dressed in a beautifuul costume of white.

The gift was accepted in the spirit in which it was given, and will ornament one of the large show windows in Mr. Wadsworth's store.

Sudden Death.

Thomas J. Foley, a long and well known resident of West Quincy, was found dead at the custom house, Boston, Tuesday evening. Mr. Foley was employed at the custom house as boss carpenter. He was about the building on Tuesday as usual, but was missed shortly after 3 o'clock. It was then supposed that he had gone home. About 7.30 in the evening he was found dead in the bath room.

He was a charter member and past chief ranger of St. Francis Court of Foresters. He resided on Willard street and leaves a widow and ten sons and daughters.

He was at one time engaged in the granite business, being junior member of the original firm of Fuller, Foley & Co.

His funeral will be held Friday morning from St. Marys church.

FOURTH YEAR

John L. Miller Reelected President by Granite Men

The annual meeting and banquet of the Granite Manufacturers' Association of Quincy was held Tuesday evening at the Quincy House, Boston.

Under a recent amendment to the by-laws of the Association the date of the annual meeting was changed from August to the second Tuesday in December, and the date for the annual banquet was fixed at the same time. For this reason the meeting was limited to members of the association.

Over 100 were present and they enjoyed one of the best dinners the Association ever had, not excepting the one at Nantasket.

At the annual meeting John L. Miller was reelected president of the association for the fourth year. The other officers elected were as follows:

Vice President,—T. F. Mannex.
Treasurer,—James Joss.
Secretary,—Thomas J. Dunphy.
Executive Committee, — Henry McGrath, John C. Murray, Alfred O. Diack, James H. Elcock, P. W. Driscoll and P. T. Fitzgerald.

Membership committee, — Robert Mavers, William T. Spargo, George Elcock, James A. White and P. W. Driscoll.

The president was authorized to appoint a committee to be known as a Railroad committee to take up the matter of rates, facilities and claims for lost or damaged stone.

MANY NEW MAYORS

Elections In Several Cities of the Old Bay State

THURSTON MEETS DEFEAT

City Government of Entire Non-Partisan Character Chosen at Cambridge--No License Gains In This Year's Elections

Boston, Dec. 12.—Changes in administration in six of the 19 Massachusetts cities which held elections yesterday will take place on Jan. 1 and next May three cities where liquor has been sold will return to no license communities. Nine mayors were re-elected, two will retire voluntarily this year in favor of new aspirants for office, while in Boston and Newton the present incumbents are serving a two-year term.

It has been years since so many mayors failed to have their administrations endorsed. Those who were defeated were Mayors Wallis of Beverly, Thurston of Cambridge, Casey of Lowell, Warren of Malden, Dwyer of Medford and Barton of Melrose.

The cities which changed from "wet" to "dry" were Chelsea, Newburyport and Salem. The vote on license in these cities last year showed a tendency toward no license, and this year, the temperance advocates, led by the clergy, made a strong effort to prevent further sale of liquor.

The feature of the day was the return in Cambridge to the old form of non-partisan government through the defeat of Mayor Thurston and the election of a city government entirely of a non-partisan character. While Thurston was hindered in his campaign through a long delay over the settlement of the question of his nomination in the Democratic caucuses, the rest of the Democratic ticket was selected two weeks before the election, so that the voters had sufficient opportunity to make their choice. All were defeated.

In 10 of the cities outside of Boston the Republican candidates for mayor were successful, in three others the Democratic candidates won, while in the other five national politics did not figure, candidates running on citizen, non-partisan and good government tickets.

An examination of the vote on the license question outside of Boston shows that in eight cities there was a gain for license of 4382, while in 10 cities there was a gain for no-license of 3988, a net gain in favor of license in the 18 cities of 394 votes. As five cities last week showed a net gain for license of 1488 and eight showed a net gain for no-license of 3407, the result of the elections this year in 31 out of 33 cities show that the no-license cause made a net gain of 1525 votes.

The following is a list of mayors elected, with pluralities:

City	Mayor	Plu.	Lic.
Beverly	Dow Cit.	341	No
Cambridge	Wardwell N. P	478	No
Chelsea	Willard Rep	453	No
Chicopee	Taylor Rep	241	Yes
Everett	Boynton Cit	975	No
Fall River	Coughlin Dem	999	Yes
Holyoke	Avery Rep	791	Yes
Lowell	Farnham Rep	824	Yes
Lynn	Barney Rep	2322	Yes
Malden	McCarthy Cit	282	No
Medford	Brewer G. Gov	501	No
Melrose	Moore Rep	42	No
Newburyport	Hunt Cit	79	No
Newton	(no mayor elected)		No
Salem	Pinnock Rep	1109	No
Somerville	Grimmons Rep	1400	No
Woburn	Blodgett Rep	136	Yes
Worcester	Duggan Dem	1913	Yes

Results of Boston Contests

Boston, Dec. 12.—Although complicated by numerous independent candidates, the honors in the municipal election apparently rest with the Democrats. James A. Gallivan (Dem.) was re-elected street commissioner by a plurality of 16,500 votes over John E. Savage. For school committee David A. Ellis, who received both the Democratic and Republican nominations, defeated Mrs. Julia E. Duff, who ran on nomination papers, by about 6500 plurality. The next board of aldermen will stand seven Democrats and six Republicans and the lower branch of the city government will also be Democratic. The so-called 12 o'clock law was accepted by a majority of over 15,000, while the city favored the granting of liquor licenses by more than 20,000 majority. The new 12 o'clock law permits the granting to 30 hotels the privilege of selling liquor in dining rooms, and not over bars, until midnight on week days, for an additional license fee of $500.

Convicted of Killing Doctor

Hazelhurst, Miss., Dec. 12.—Mrs. Angie Birdsong was found guilty of manslaughter for killing Dr. Thomas Butler, and was recommended by the jury to the mercy of the court. The minimum penalty for manslaughter in this state is a fine of $600. Mrs. Birdsong, who is 22 years of age, alleged that Butler had boasted of illicit relations with her and that his boasts were untrue.

Relief For Money Market

New York, Dec. 12.—The announcement by Secretary Shaw that he would deposit $10,000,000 additional cash in national banks and redeem $10,000,000 of the 4 percent bonds of 1907 had a prompt affect on the money market. Call loans which were renewed Monday only at 25 percent were renewed yesterday at 8 to 9 percent.

BURNHAM CONVICTED

Jury Finds Mutual Reserve Life Officer Guilty of Larceny

New York, Dec. 12.—George Burnham, Jr., a vice president and general counsel of the Mutual Reserve Life Insurance company, was convicted of larceny of $7500 of the company's funds. The prosecution and conviction of Burnham was an outgrowth of the investigation of insurance companies in this state by a legislative committee. Two other officers of the insurance company, Frederick A. Burnham, president, and George D. Eldridge, vice president, were indicted at the same time as the man just convicted.

The charge against George Burnham, Jr., is that in 1901 he paid J. D. Wells with company funds for a loan alleged to have been made to Frederick A. Burnham, the president, and that the payment was concealed by false entries in the books of the insurance company.

One of the sensational features of the trial was the production of a check by the prosecution which bore the name of Louis F. Payn, former superintendent of insurance, and the United States Express company, of which Senator Platt is president. It was claimed that this check was used to resist an alleged demand by Payn for $100,000 from the life insurance company.

The prosecution charged that President Burnham borrowed $5575 from Wells, saying that he wanted the money to meet this alleged demand by Payn and that George Burnham repaid his loan with additions from the funds of the company.

Alive Seventy Feet Under Debris

Bakersfield, Cal., Dec. 12.—L. B. Hicks, one of six workmen who were buried under tons of earth at Edison on Friday last, is still alive and well and, through a two-inch pipe, forced through 70 feet of debris yesterday afternoon, is in communication with the rescuers. Hicks informed the rescue party through the pipe that he talked with companions for two hours after the cavein, but he supposes they are now dead. Food and water were passed to Hicks and, barring accidents, he should be reached in five days.

As to Breeding Consumption

Stuttgart, Dec. 12.—Professor Von Behring read a paper here last night on his method of treating tuberculosis. Consumption, he said, is the "last verse of the song of which the first verse was sung in the infant's cradle." In other words, he believes that the tuberculosis baccili find their way into the human system through milk. His theory directly contradicts Dr. Koch's doctrine that tuberculosis milk is not dangerous and that consumption, in most cases, is contracted as a result of breathing.

Fined For Accepting Rebates

New York, Dec. 12.—Fines aggregating $150,000 were imposed by Judge Holt on the American Sugar Refining company and the Brooklyn Cooperage company after the defendants had pleaded guilty to indictments charging the acceptance of rebates on sugar shipments in violation of the Elkins anti-rebating act. The sugar refining company was fined $80,000 and the cooperage company $70,000.

Fell Eleven Stories and Lived

New York, Dec. 12.—When John Callahan, a workman employed on the New Mills hotel, fell off the building to the ground, 11 stories below, his fellow workers rushed down to the street expecting to find his lifeless body. Instead they found Callahan struggling to his feet and rubbing his head. He was dazed, however, and they sent him to a hospital.

Combined Action Against Poolrooms

New York, Dec. 12.—Mayor Fagan of Jersey City will co-operate with District Attorney Jerome in the campaign for the suppression of poolrooms in New York city, which is now in progress. The importance of this co-operation lies in the fact that many of the poolrooms here have been receiving their race news direct from Jersey City.

Will Audit Relief Fund Accounts

San Francisco, Dec. 12.—The San Francisco Relief and Red Cross Funds corporation have received word from Washington that two experts have been ordered here by the National Red Cross society to audit the accounts of the relief funds. The work is to be done at the request of the local corporation.

Congo State's Big Debt

Brussels, Dec. 12.—The debate on the Congo Independent State was continued in the chamber of deputies yesterday, and speakers representing various parties insisted that the rights of Belgium in the state should be safeguarded. It was declared that the state's debt amounted to $15,400,000.

Bishop Stricken With Apoplexy

New York, Dec. 12.—Bishop Charles C. McCabe of the Methodist Episcopal church was stricken with apoplexy just after he arrived in this city. Though the outcome of the attack cannot be positively predicted, the bishop's present condition is favorable to a speedy and complete recovery.

Ships Must Be Properly Loaded

London, eDc. 12.—A new amendment to the merchants' shipping bill, introduced in the house of lords last night, imposes a fine of $1500 upon every improperly loaded foreign grain ship entering a British port.

SOUVENIR SAMPLES TO LADIES

NOTICE—Exhibit will be open Friday and Saturday Evenings to 10 P. M. Not open Tuesday Evening.

Public Interest
IS NOW CENTERED ON
The Pure Food Law.

WE Have Always Maintained that the best that money could buy was always the cheapest in the end, because it is always the bargain hunters that have to pay the DOCTOR, buying as they do IMPURE foods of all kinds, FOODS that are UNFIT for ANY PERSON'S STOMACH, being mixed as they are with different kinds of PRESERVATIVES and SECRET PREPARATIONS to take the place of GOOD PURE FOODS. And some dealers selling these goods at a GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICE over the pure kind, GUARANTEE you NOTHING, but—"Poor Health to You and Your Family," and although you can buy the "just as good kind," you can save nothing as that kind is unhealthy and dangerous to the whole human family. Now our standard is to always sell the best of everything and the steady increase of our business year after year proves to us that we have the right idea, and we know it must be very satisfactory to our many customers to feel that what they buy at our store is ABSOLUTELY PURE and HEALTHFUL and the Food Laws are being strictly enforced by us. Our Goods are all GOVERNMENT INSPECTED and also carefully inspected by us before they are put on sale or sent to your homes, and although you pay perhaps a few cents more to us than some dealers charge, don't you think it is money well spent, considering all things?—YOUR HEALTH, which is the greatest blessing we can have,—think well about this and we know you will agree with us and do your trading where you know the goods can be depended upon to be absolutely Pure.

We have just received our season's pack of choice canned and bottled goods, FRESH and DRIED FRUITS, all kinds of Cereals, Ketchup, Pickles, Jams, Jellies, Prunes, Figs, Nuts, Dates, Table Raisins, Citron, Lemon and Orange Peel, Olives, Sardines,—in fact everything for your tastes and fancies. All the leading brands of FLOUR. Fancy New Orleans Molasses.

OUR MARKET is complete, AND REMEMBER, we sell nothing that has been doctored or filled with Preservatives to keep it. ABSOLUTELY NOTHING but Carefully Selected Meats are on sale at OUR STORE. Stamped with the Government Inspection Stamp, that insures to you and to us the point of perfection, which we are always striving to reach for the benefit of our trade.

We will have a grand display of that great National Bird, THE TURKEY, the same VERMONT KIND we have always sold you,—Chicken, Fowl and Duck, direct from WILLIAM R. DRAKE of Braintree, and he knows how to dress them so as to please the eye as well as the palate. They don't grow nicer than he has. Fruit and vegetables in abundance, and don't forget our famous LA TOURAINE COFFEE, no dinner complete without it.

A JAPANESE INVASION

Congressman Kahn Says It Will Be Worse Than Chinese

New York, Dec. 12.—Japanese immigration was bitterly deplored in a speech last night by Congressman Kahn of San Francisco, who represents the Fourth district of California. Kahn was one of the speakers at a dinner of the New York Credit Men's association. His subject was "The Japanese Question as Affecting San Francisco."

The people of the Pacific coast, he said, were satisfied that the Japanese would always remain loyal to the emperor and that the oath of naturalization taken by emigrants to this country would be to them a hollow mockery, signifying nothing. Californians did not want that kind of citizenship and did not intend to have it if they could prevent it. The people of the coast had had their experience with Chinese coolies and now, he said, were threatened with another Oriental invasion still more serious, for the Japanese had all the vices of the Chinese, with none of their virtues.

The treaty between this country and Japan, giving free entry to each country to the citizens of the other, he declared to be one-sided, as labor conditions were so different in America and Japan that only the Japanese could be benefited by the international agreement. He defended the policy of segregation of Japanese in the public schools of California and said that the people of his state would never permit their young children to be thrown into close contact with adult Japanese.

Damaging Evidence Against Shea

Chicago, Dec. 12.—Evidence was brought in the Shea trial that President Shea, during the strike of the teamsters last year, seriously considered the use of dynamite as a means of winning the strike. Michael Kelly testified that Shea asked him if he knew of anybody who could handle dynamite. He also said that knives were given out to the pickets, with instructions that they were to be used on negroes who had taken the places of the strikers and also for the purpose of cutting harnesses. The attorneys for the defense made a strong fight against admission of this testimony of Kelly, but Judge Ball decided that it was admissable.

Newfoundland's Suspicion

St. Johns, Dec. 12.—It is believed that the people of the French island of St. Pierre have allied themselves with American interests to fight the Newfoundland bait laws. New shipping ordinances gazetted at St. Pierre grant free entry to vessels of all nationalities bringing bait there, reduce to a great extent the tonnage dues on all vessels seeking bait and grant to Americans the right to fish for herring in the waters of St. Pierre on the condition that one-third of the crews of such vessels be composed of St. Pierre men.

Schmitz-Ruef Case In Court

San Francisco, Dec. 12.—When the cases of Mayor Schmitz and Abraham Ruef were called yesterday Attorney Ach began a long argument for the defense, finally disclosing that he wanted to show that Wallace E. Wise, a member of the grand jury, had been discharged as a petit juror in Judge Lawlor's court within a year, and that he was not competent to serve on the grand jury.

Electricity Supersedes Steam

New York, Dec. 12.—Electrical operation of trains in the New York Central railroad tunnel leading to the Grand Central station has become an accomplished fact. All trains for Yonkers are now hauled by electric motors to High Bridge, on the Harlem river, when steam locomotives take their places. The service will be extended to other trains.

Fought Nurse and Killed Herself

New York, Dec. 12.—After a struggle with her nurse, lasting several minutes on the fourth floor of a private sanitarium, Mrs. Cora A. Thomas, 38 years old, jumped through a window and was instantly killed when she struck the stoop below. A week ago Mrs. Thomas was taken to the sanitarium in a very nervous condition.

Fresh Air Would Have Saved Life

New York, Dec. 12.—Charles A. Hartlene, 31 years old, a traveling salesman of Worcester, Mass., was found dead in his room in this city. A gas stove was burning to its full capacity and there was no ventilation in the room. It is supposed that lack of oxygen in the overheated atmosphere caused death.

Vast Fortune For Grandchildren

Chicago, Dec. 12.—The Post says that the entire fortune of Otto Young, who died recently, will be bequeathed to the seven grandchildren of Young, in equal parts, after provision has been made for the widow and four daughters. The gross amount of the estate is estimated at $20,000,000.

Culmination of Struggle Between Church and State

FRANCE ENFORCES LAW

End of Public Catholic Worship and Ousting of Cardinal Richard, Bishops and Priests--Papal Secretary Expelled

Paris, Dec. 12.—The struggle which began in 1889 with the banishment of the Jesuits ended yesterday with the legal rupture of the bond which for practically a thousand uninterrupted years had united church and state. By refusing to make the required declaration under the public meeting law of 1881, public Catholic worship, except by schismatic organizations, becomes illegal.

Formal notice was served on Cardinal Richard, archbishop of Paris, and the bishops and parish priests of this department that they must leave their residences today. Notices were served on the clergy in the other departments that they must leave their residences on Thursday or Friday.

Mgr. Montagnini, secretary of the papal nunciature here since the recall of the nuncio, was arrested upon an order expelling him from France and was conducted to the frontier last night. The residence of Montagnini was searched by the police. Immense quantities of documents found at the nunciature were seized and taken to police headquarters.

A courier from the papal secretary of state, bearing dispatches from Rome, was turned back at the frontier.

After a meeting of the cabinet ministers yesterday it was announced that on Dec. 14 Premier Clemenceau will ask parliament to suppress the pensions of the clergy, to liquidate the public property of Catholics and to distribute the presbyteries, seminaries, and to authorize the government to expel ecclesiastics whose presence is considered dangerous to the public peace.

Although seven-eighths of the inhabitants of this city are nominally Catholics, in no parts of the city were the churches crowded yesterday. Even at Notre Dame cathedral, where a solemn high mass was celebrated, the edifice was only half filled. The officiating clergy read the regular offices for the week as usual, without referring to their illegal status today.

Cardinal Richard and many of the bishops have begun to remove their private effects from the episcopal mansions, and the clergy are preparing to leave their rectories and move into hired lodgings. The parish priests have received many offers of places in which to hold religious services, but there is no indication that they intend to take advantage of the sole remaining chance to retain their churches, namely, by making the declarations called for by the law. The government is calm, although the ministers realize that additional legislative power will be necessary if serious trouble occurs.

Premier Clemenceau, replying to a question in the chamber of deputies last night as to the reason for the expulsion of Mgr. Montagnini, said it was because of his complicity with prominent clergymen of Paris, against whom proceedings were pending, in inciting churchgoers to rebellion. Interference by foreigners on orders from Rome in the politics of France, he declared, was not permissible.

The premier, amid thunders of applause, tersely summed up the situation, declaring that the government's conciliatory proposition towards the church had been exhausted and that it had been decided in future to leave the onus on Rome.

"If the church wishes," the premier continued, "there is still time to avoid a battle. We offer her the law of 1861, made for all Frenchmen, and submitting thereto she will have peace; but otherwise by seeking us, she will find us."

Given Twenty-Four Hours' Grace

Paris, Dec. 12.—A governmental circular issued today grants 24 hours of grace to the churches of Paris, at the expiration of this time the law of separation will become fully operative.

Excitement at the Vatican

Rome, Dec. 12.—Great excitement prevails at the Vatican because of the situation in France. The pope received Cardinal Vannutelli and in the course of the conversation said that the Vatican declined responsibility for what might happen in France. It is believed here that the coming conflicts may prove more serious than those which occurred at the time of the taking of the incentories.

For Revision of Constitution

Washington, Dec. 12.—While the legislative appropriation bill was under consideration in the house Representative De Armond (Mo.) spoke at length on the advisability of a general revision of the constitution, saying that many of the articles might be amended to suit present conditions. He contended that the principle of the initiative and referendum should be written into the constitution.

Fought In Grant Campaigns

Huntington, Ind., Dec. 12.—General J. N. Pride, who is said to be the only surviving aide and member of General Grant's personal staff and volunteer aide and chief engineer for Grant in the Fort Donelson, Shiloh and Vicksburg campaigns, died here of old age.

THE Young Men's Christian Association OF QUINCY, MASS.

(Legal Title – Incorporated 1892.)

The Directors of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.

Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.

The Treasurer, WILLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, ERNEST G. GAY, will be happy to answer inquiries.

OUR HOSPITAL

INCORPORATED 1889

The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earnestly appeal for donations and bequests for the Endowment fund. This now amounts to over $60,000, but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed.

Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need, will be most gratefully received.

The Secretary, TIMOTHY REED, Adams St., Quincy, or the Treasurer, RICHARD D. CHASE, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad to confer with any one or to answer any inquiries.

CHARLES H. JOHNSON - AUCTIONEER.

Mortgagee's Sale.

BY virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by ARTHUR F. KELLEY of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, to John H. Dinegan of said Quincy, dated February 10, 1906, and recorded with Norfolk Deeds, Book 1020, Page 153, for breach of the conditions thereof and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction upon the premises on SATURDAY, December 22, 1906, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, all and singular, the property described in said mortgage deed and conveyed thereby, viz: A certain lot of land with all the buildings thereon, situated in said Quincy in that part thereof called Quincy Point, and bounded and described as follows, viz: Northerly on Washington street, 142 feet; Easterly on other land formerly of the Quincy Savings Bank, 225 feet, more or less, to a fence; Southerly on land now or late of Fred H. Smith, formerly of H. Farnum Smith, 142 feet; Westerly on the premises last named, 225 feet, more or less, to said Washington street, and containing 32,950 square feet, more or less.

Said property is sold subject to three prior mortgages given to Elizabeth Munger Adams, and duly recorded; also subject to all unpaid taxes, tax titles and assessments, if any there may be. Terms and any information can be obtained from the mortgagee or auctioneer.

JOHN H. DINEGAN,
Mortgagee.

WAREHAM'S BIG FIRE

Flames In Full Sway Until Aid Arrived From Other Towns

Middleboro, Mass., Dec. 12.—Seven buildings in the central part of the village of Wareham were burned in a fire which started late last night and was not brought under control until an early hour today. The buildings burned include three mercantile houses and four residences, besides a number of outbuildings. The loss is about $75,000. Wareham is without any fire protection, and it was not until aid had been sent from neighboring towns that there was any means of coping with the flames.

The fire started in the Boston Meat Supply company's building from an unknown cause, and communicated quickly to a building occupied by Benjamin Waters' drug store on the ground floor and the telephone exchange on the second floor. This building was soon destroyed, and all telephone communication with the town was cut off. The other buildings burned are Nickerson's restaurant, the residences of Dr. Charles E. Morse, A. D. Makepeace, the Sawyer residence and the Hinckley cottage. All these residences were valuabl structures, that of Makepeace being perhaps the finest in the town, being valued at about $25,000.

It is reported that an aged woman who occupied a room at the residence of Dr. Morse was in the house when the fire broke out and has not since been seen. It is feared that she was a victim of the flames.

Maine Sportsmen's Desires

Augusta, Me., Dec. 12.—The legislative committee of the Maine Sportsmen's Fish and Game association voted to recommend to the legislature that the open season on deer be shortened 15 days, closing Dec. 1 instead of Dec. 15, as now; that the carrying of firearms on wild lands be prohibited during the months of June, July and August; that a larger appropriation be asked for to provide for the feeding of fish in the hatcheries, and that outlets to lakes and ponds be screened to prevent fish from escaping.

Killed by Three-Story Fall

Lynn, Mass., Dec. 12.—The body of Theoclor Polythrous, a Greek, aged 19, was found last night lying on the sidewalk in front of the house where he boarded. His skull was fractured, several ribs were broken and there were many bruises on his body. He was in the habit of practising calisthenics in the open air just before retiring and it is believed that while engaged in this exercise on a little piazza at the third story he slipped on the ice-coated floor and fell over the low railing.

Cannot Se ze Liquors In Transit

Augusta, Me., Dec. 12.—The law court last night handed down a rescript in the Androscoggin county case of state versus intoxicating liquors, the Grand Trunk Railway company of Canada claimant. The decision rules that liquors cannot be seized in transit and that the transit does not end until after the goods leave a car. The seizure in question was made at the Grand Trunk station at Lewiston last spring.

Fire Kills Aged Woman

Milford, Mass., Dec. 12.—While going down the cellar stairs with a lighted lamp at her home last night, Mrs. Susan Chamberlain, aged 75, slipped and fell to the cellar floor, her clothing catching fire from the lamp and burning her fatally. Her body was found by an occupant of the house who was attracted to the cellar by the smell of smoke.

Retains Fencing Championship

Worcester, Mass., Dec. 12.—Generoso Pavesi, holder of the Richard Fox fencing championship belt, last night defeated Edwin F. Carson by 62 points to 39. The first assault was with foils, the second with sabres and in the third assault Pavesi was armed with a poignard against Carson's foil.

Double-Rippers Collided

Winsted, Conn., Dec. 12.—As a result of a head-on collision between two double-ripper sleds late last night four young men and one young woman were badly injured and several others received more or less painful hurts.

Alleged Passer of Bad Checks

Providence, Dec. 12.—David Stein, 20 years old, wanted by the police of Pittsburg, was arrested here last night. He is wanted for alleged false pretences in the passing of worthless checks to the amount of $370.

Cuban Liberals Heal Breach

Havana, Dec. 12.—The threatened split in the Liberal party over the appointment of a successor to General Aleman as governor of Santa Clara province is believed to be averted, the rival factions having agreed upon Carlos Mendieta, whose name has been presented to Governor Magoon.

Dog and Horseflesh Diet

Berlin, Dec. 12.—During the discussion of an interpellation on the scarcity of meat in Germany in the reichstag, it was stated that the wholesale price of meat in this country was 22½ cents a pound. It was declared that the use of dog and horseflesh had increased considerably.

Not a Pound of Coal on Hand

Minneapolis, Dec. 12.—A special from Glenburn, N. D., says: The fuel situation here is desperate, not a pound of coal being on hand. A special train must be rushed through or great suffering will result.

Sixteen Persons Drowned

Bilbao, Spain, Dec. 12.—By the capsizing of a ferryboat on the Nervion river 16 persons were drowned. Seven bodies have been recovered and search is being made for the remaining nine.

A short business meeting was held at half past two, with the second vice-president, Mrs. Theodore Hardwick in the chair.

Encouraging reports were made by the chairmen of the various committees. An especial appeal was made by the philantbropic committee for a Christmas offering to help out on the salary of the Visiting Nurse, pledge cards being given each member to fill out.

At the close of the business meeting Mrs. W. E. Alden, of the program committee was introduced as chairman of the afternoon. As usual the program opened and closed with music. Mrs. Blaikie of Wollaston at the piano rendering, "Waltz in A," by Clayton Johns and for the closing selection, "Saxonne," by Godard. Her playing was much enjoyed and the selections heartily encored.

The entertainer selected for the afternoon was Mrs. Belle Temple Priest of Watertown, who was known to many of the ladies present, as before her marriage she lived at Neponset being the daughter of Mr. Thomas F. Temple.

Mrs. Priest was delightfully natural in all her readings and monologues and captivated her audience. She gave a pleasing variety, showing great versatility; the humorous and pathetic being harmoniously interwoven.

Between the readings Mrs. Frank A. Page of Wollaston gave a group of songs. They were Widmung, by Schumann, Whither? by Schubert and Slumber Song, also by Schubert. Mrs. Page is always enjoyed and the three selections and her pleasing rendering elicited appreciative applause.

A social hour followed the program, during which tea and light refreshments were served, the hostesses being club members whose names begin with B. The pourers were Mrs. Francis Brewer, Mrs. Richard C. Drinker and Miss Elizabeth Hubbard.

Members availed themselves of the privilege of taking guests to the meeting and there were several present. The waiting list continues to grow, showing continued interest in the club.

QUINCY ALLIANCE.

The Christmas meeting of the Quincy Alliance was held in the parlor of First church on Monday afternoon. Owing to the illness of the president, Mrs. Frank S. Davis, Mrs. Emery L. Crane, vice president, opened the meeting with the usual devotional exercises and business, after which Mrs. John W. Sanborn, chairman of the afternoon, took the chair.

The musical program was particularly good and appropriate, Mrs. N. S. Hunting being in charge. It consisted of a duet by Mrs. Hunting and Mrs. Blackmur, solo by Mrs. Blackmur and a group of old time carols by Mrs. P. R. Blackmur, Mrs. Henry W. Tirrell, Mrs. J. D. Buckingham and Mrs. Hunting. Mrs. A. E. Sprowl read scripture selections. Mrs. Sanborn read "The Three Kings," and Mrs. Wilson Marsh, "The Ligend Beautiful." Mrs. Sanborn said her idea was not to dwell on the joyous side of Christmas but more in the Christ spirit. She hoped this year that the giving would be to the needy and not to those who have already an abundance of this world's goods.

A thoughtful and helpful paper on "What the Alliance means to the Church," was given by Mrs. Oliver J. Fairfield of Ware.

Mrs. James H. Slade and Miss Lucy Spear poured chocolate assisted by members of the Alliance and the meeting closed with the usual social half hour.

The Alliance Christmas party will be held on Saturday, Dec. 22d with Mrs. Hunting as chairman of committee on invitations.

NOTES.

Tea party day is to be observed by the State Society of the Daughters of the Revolution by a reception and tea party on Monday evening at Hotel Brunswick, Boston, at eight o'clock. It will also be gentlemen's night. A musical program has been arranged for, and will follow the reception.

The Woman's Relief Corps of Milton observed its third anniversary on Dec. 6th at the Milton Town hall. It took the form of a reception and entertainment. The receiving line included Mrs. Goddard, department president; Mrs. Harriet A. Ralph, past department president; Mrs. Clara H. B. Evans, past department president; Mrs. Fannie Jones, past department aide; Mrs. Susie P. Tuckerman, president of the Milton corps; Mrs. Leavitt, past president of the Quincy corps; Mrs. Roger Wolcott, Mrs. Emily Harlow, Mrs. George A. Fletcher and Mrs. Emily R. Lincoln.

Members of the Charity club hold their regular meeting on Dec. 20th at 10.30 in Sewall hall, Boston.

The Hyde Park Current Events club took a rather novel subject for a recent meeting, that of "The Mother's responsibility for the happiness of her Sons-in-law." The subject was divided into six topics, each paper being five minutes in length. The papers were on thrift, order, contentment, loyalty, hospitality and godliness.

Members of the Cantabrigia club of Cambridge have become interested in Esperanto and are about to form a class under the leadership of Mrs. Estelle M. H. Merrill.

On the 17th the Monday club of Weymouth is to celebrate the tenth anniversary of the club, for which elaborate preparations have been made.

The Thought club of Hyde Park is about completing a two years' study of the history and art of the Italian cities, which has proved very interesting as well as instructive. On Dec. 29th the club observes its twenty-fifth anniversary by a dinner and suitable entertainment at hotel Brunswick, Boston.

Huntington Frothingham Wolcott, W. R. C. of Milton, on Dec. 5th elected the following officers who will be installed on Jan. 9th: President, Mrs. Eunice I. Houghton; S. V. P., Mrs. Nettie M. Palmer; J. V. P., Mrs. Annie Hunt; treasurer, Mrs. Nellie B. Mitchell; chaplain, Mrs. Emily R. Harlow; conductor, Mrs. Emma Littlefield; guard, Mrs. Bertha Sanford; delegate, Mrs. Annie Hunt; alternate, Mrs. Emily Lincoln.

The dramatic committee of the Medford Women's club, recently gave the three act play "A Fighting Chance" to a large audience. The parts were taken by club members.

The Daughters of Massachusetts meet tomorrow afternoon at hotel Brunswick, Boston. A pleasant feature will be readings from her published books by Mrs. Louise Chandler Moulton, who has just returned from abroad. Tea and social follow the program.

$100 Reward, $100.

CITY FINANCES

Expenditures Of the Year Already in Excess Of a Million

The November 30 statement of the City Auditor and City Treasurer is just out. They show the expenditures of the city this year have already passed the million dollar mark, $743,380.79 having been paid on account of 1906 and $350,264.59 on account of 1905. The expenditures of 1905 include $260,000 on temporary loans and $72,600.77 on High school enlargement. There is still unpaid $100,000 of the temporary loans of 1905.

The receipts of $1,208,198.31 include $317,000.00 by temporary loans which is in excess of the temporary loans of 1905 which have been cancelled. The receipts on the tax of 1906 are $267,688.40, showing a payment of $133,972.62 during the month. But over one-half of the tax levy of $516,714.06 is yet unpaid, although interest began Nov. 1.

For the first time in the history of the Water department the receipts of the year are in excess of $100,000.00. They are already for the eleven months, $100.292.65 on account of 1906, and $1,272.26 on account of 1905. The Commissioner has evidently looked after the income better this year than last year, for the receipts in 1905 for that year were but $94,578.07, against $93,801.20 the year before. The increase is not due to the introduction of water meters, because no bills under metered rates have yet been issued, aside from the few in use at the beginning of the year.

City debt,	$51,490.00
Sewer debt,	20,000.00
Water debt,	30,000.00
Temporary loans,	317,000.00

The unexpended balance on High School enlargement is $46,899.23, and on High School furnishings, $12,800.00. The sum of $1400 has already been expended on the appropriation of $61,000 for the Atlantic schoolhouse.

The balance on the appropriation of $23,000.00 for streets is $1,516.70, and $1,827.70 remains of the $5,000,000 for suppression of gypsy moths. There is a balance of $3,325.31 from the $2,000,000 for sewer construction, and $484.33 from water construction.

The city has already expended this year for interest the sum of $59,833.76 and for debt $126,470.00.

The cash on hand in the City Treasury Nov. 30 was $114,552.93, which with the uncollected taxes of $249,025.66 of 1906, is about $100,000.00 short of the amount needed for the temporary loans of 1906, the schoolhouse appropriations and other balances which must be paid. To offset this in part are old taxes of years prior to 1906.

—The foes of abstinence are many, and so-called science is often one of them, as instanced by the case of a Wisconsin chemist who claims to have discovered a chemical which he can by use of it, mixed with water, produce an unlimited supply of pleasant beverage which will bring on all the effects afforded by a fine drunk at any time he wishes, and by keeping a supply of it in a bottle he can furnish his friends with all the stimulant they may need for a social gathering or a quiet siesta by themselves. It is said that the product contains no alcohol of itself, though giving all the effects producted by it.—Athol Chronicle.

—Gov. Pennypacker of Pennsylvania advises the newspapers to print only the good things done by the majority and to forget the evil doings of the exceptions. That would not be printing the news; it's the unusual that is news. The preacher who would confine his remarks to saying pleasant things about the world would hardly earn the salary paid him for advancing the kingdom of the Lord. Of course there are newspapers that go to the extreme in the matter of sensational crime, but we do not need to revert entirely to dull routine.—Spencer Leader.

An Excess and Deficiency Account

The order adopted by the City Council Monday night authorizing the City Auditor to transfer any balance of the appropriations of 1905 to an account known as the excess and deficiency, account, is a new idea for Quincy although many other cities have adopted it.

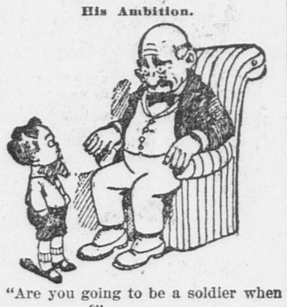

At this season of the year there are always more or less orders for small amounts that are charged to any unexpended balances or unappropriated receipts. The sums that go to provide for these orders and small amounts taken from different appropriations. It means a great deal of work for the City Auditor, and a lot of unnecessary bookkeeping. But transfering all of these balances to one account is but a simple matter, and he knows at once just what amount he has at his disposal.

When an order is therefore presented for so much money chargable to the excess and deficiency account he knows at once whether there is money enough to meet it, instead of spending a lot of time hunting up the different accounts to find out what balances there are.

Going South.

Roy Thornton of Farnum street, Quincy Point, sails from New York today, for Jacksonville, Florida, and after a short stay in that city will proceed farther south. He sails with the hope that a winter in that climate will be of great benefit to him, and that hope is shared by his many friends. Mr. Thornton will continue his occupation of automobile repairing, and intends to follow the racing at Palm Beach, Ormond and other places. He has been connected up to the present with the Park Square garage of Boston. Mr. Thornton is a member of the Quincy Yacht club and his cabin launch, the Bonito, is well known in local waters. His many friends wish him a safe and pleasant voyage, and hope that he will return in the spring much improved in health.

His Ambition.

"Are you going to be a soldier when you grow up?"

"No; I'm going to be an ordinary man like you."—New York World.

My Turn Next At Faxon Hall

Faxon hall was crowded on Wednesday evening for the entertainment given by the Men's Club of Christ church, and the audience was delighted with the program presented, particularly the farce "My Turn Next," which was full of life and amusement. It was given under the direction of Mr. Erastus Osgood with the following cast:

Witters,	Mr. Turner
Tim Bolus,	Mr. Rose
Tom Trop,	Mr. Ford
Farmer,	Mr. McCloud
Lydia,	Mr. Steadman
Cecilia,	Mr. Hanson
Peggy,	Mr. Turner

The make-up of the characters was good and caused lots of merriment.

The selections by the orchestra were of a high order. Mr. Smith entertained with recitations and Charles E. Dornan with illusions.

Debating Society for Boys.

The Y. M. C. A. has planned to organize a Literary and Debating society for members of the Intermediate department. They have been carefully arranging plans for this organization for some time. The boys' work committee of the association have brought the matter to the attention of Mr. Parlin Superintendent of schools, and he endorses the organization in every way. F. W. Plummer of Woodward Institute will for a period of weeks be leader and coach of the organization. It is believed that the society will be of unlimited benefit to our community.

A preliminary meeting will be held in the Association building, Friday, Dec. 14, at 7.30 P. M. The first regular meeting is planned for Friday, Dec. 21. All young men and boys interested are invited to correspond with C. F. Reed, boys' work director.

Men's Social At Quincy Point

There was a large attendance at the Quincy Point church, on Wednesday evening at the first of a series of social events to be given by the men of the Point. The speaker of the evening was Col. Edward Anderson, and his subject was: "Anecdotes of Distinguished men I have met."

The speaker was in a happy frame and spoke very entertainly for over an hour. His inimitable way of telling the anecdotes brought forth frequent outbursts of laughter.

At the close of the address refreshments were served. Taken as a whole it was a rare evening's entertainment.

Gains for No-License.

Fifteen of the 33 cities of Massachusetts have voted for No-License in 1907, in size of majorities: Somerville, Cambridge, Quincy, Brockton, Everett, Malden, Melrose, Medford, Newton, Waltham, Beverly, Salem, Fitchburg, Newburyport and Chelsea.

Chelsea, Newburyport, and Salem joined the No-License column and, eight of the twelve No-License cities increased their "No" majorities. Besides losing three cities nine of the sixteen License cities reduced their "Yes" majorities.

She Winked at Him.

That doll did not go on exhibition in the show window of D. E. Wadsworth & Co. on Wednesday, for none of the clerks could make the eyes open. A doll with closed eyes was worse than no doll at all, so back it went to Boston. "Hen" looked at it, smiled, and cut the string that tied the head back. The head came forward and a pair of laughing glassy eyes looked Dexter in the eye and winked a knowing smile at him.

Court Room Changes

Work was commenced this morning making alterations to the rooms used by the District court. The principal changes are in the room of the clerk and probation officer. The partition between the office of the probation officer and consultation room is being removed, throwing both rooms into one. This room will be used by Clerk Churchill for his office. The present office of the clerk on the south side of the building will be used by the probation officer.

—Public-spirited and wealthy citizens of Brookline have under contemplation the establishment of a fund from which money will be loaned to worthy and needy students of the Brookline public schools to enable them to complete college courses. It is planned to loan money at low rates to the deserving needy pupils, who are to repay the money when they are able to earn it after graduating from college. It is a philanthrophic and very worthy movement and could only be surpassed by furnishing means of employment so that willing boys and girls could earn their way while going through college. The things we most prize and value are those for which we have to work and sacrifice.

THE CITY REPRESENTED

At Hearing On Petition of Keough Company For Injunction

Mayor Thompson, Commissioner Burke and Architect Gould went to Boston this morning, accompanied by City Solicitor Thomas to put in an appearance in the petition for an injunction brought in the Suffolk Superior court by James E. and Augustus Keough, subcontractors at the Quincy High school.

The labor men named in Wednesday's story were also summoned by Deputy Sheriff Field last night.

It is claimed by the city that the subcontractors for the electrical work agreed to keep out of the way until the union men were through their work, but did not, and a strike resulted.

It is also claimed that after the strike the sub contractor promised to do certain things, that the strike might be ended, but after consulting counsel he refused to do these.

The strike was settled, it is claimed, by the contract being taken away from the Keough Electrical Company, for failure to fulfil its contract.

The union men returned to work Tuesday morning, and it was thought the trouble was over.

The employes of E. S. Beckford were put at work Wednesday finishing up the electrical work at the High school building the contract with the Keough Electrical Co. having been terminated.

Bible Clubs Bowl Candles.

A lively bowling match was waged between Mr. Long's Bible class and the Bible Debating club at the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday evening. Evidently the Debating club had more than enough good bowlers, as two of their members were bowling with Mr. Long's class. This created lively interest in the game.

The Debating club however made very good showing, winning the first game with 376 pins against 340, and the second game with 371 pins against 348. H. Thomas was high roller for Debating club with totals of 86 and 89. Russell Tupper was high roller in first game of Mr. Long's class with 86. Mr. Long high in second game with 78.

The bowlers for both clubs were:

Mr. Long's class,—B. Hodgkinson, R. Tupper, G. Howie, R. Marden and H. Long.

Bible Debating Club,—H. Thomas, E. Rhodes, H. Tuck, E. Brooks and H. Smith.

Fifty Thousand Masons

John Albert Blake of Malden was reelected most worshipful grand master of the Grand lodge of Masons on Wednesday. There are now 240 subordinate lodges in Massachusetts, with a total affiliated membership of 50,328, a net gain for the year of 1913. The finances of the grand lodge are in a very satisfactory condition and are constantly improving. The total contributions by the grand lodge and the subordinate lodges of the state for the relief of the San Francisco sufferer, as finally tabulated, was $9619.

Superior Court.

Judge Dana of the Norfolk Superior court imposed the following sentences on Wednesday:

James Gillon for breaking and entering at Quincy, to the Massachusetts reformatory.

Edgar Rolf, for statutory offence at Quincy, to house of correction for one year.

Arthur Langelier of Franklin for breaking and entering, was sent to the Massachusetts reformatory.

In the civil court the Pitcher and Calabro cases are unfinished.

Local and City Brevities

The Pine Tree club will meet at Colonial hall tonight.

Work is a little quiet in the granite business at the present time.

The City Council Committee on Finance will meet tonight.

A party of young people held a social dance at Colonial hall Wednesday evening.

There will be a good moon about Christmas time, the moon being full the 30th.

Sand has been sprinkled on all the sidewalk in Atlantic so that the walking is excellent.

The Atlantic Memorial church has made a temporary change of prayer meeting night from Friday to Thursday evening.

A neat picket fence has been built between the Williard school yard and the boulevard, without any opening on the boulevard.

The local lodge of Elks elected over fifty to membership at their meeting this week and received twenty-five applications for membership.

Sunday afternoon will be one minute longer by the sun schedule, and the afternoons will gain nine minutes before the end of the month.

Word has come from Mr. and Mrs. Chase Pope, who left Atlantic some weeks ago, that they are enjoying the delights of Georgia.

The foundation wall of the new A. O. H. building on Franklin street is nearly completed. W. R. Lofgren has the contract for the building.

Dr. Ross K. Whiton of the Board of Health, who has been confined to his home for several days by trouble with eyes is very much better.

Mrs. Frederick J. Peirce of Hancock street has sent greetings from Savannah where she reports beauty of nature is abounding on all sides.

The alarm from Box 136 at 6.20 Wednesday night was unnecessary. A man saw steam escaping from one of the engine houses on Brook road and thinking it to be a fire rang in the alarm.

The show windows of G. W. Jones shoe store in the post office block look very attractive. The windows are trimmed with streamers of evergreen, and a pretty as well as serviceable line of goods are shown.

John A. Preston, a Quincy boy and former employe in this office, who has been playing in the western circuit the past sixteen years is now playing the New England circuit and will come to the Grand Opera house, Boston, with his company next week, and will be the guest of his father, A. J. Preston.

A large delegation from John Hancock lodge of Odd Fellows of Wollaston were guests of the Campello lodge on Monday evening. They were first entertained at a banquet and then gave a fine exemplification of the work. They made the trip by special electric car and appreciated the kindness of the car crew.

—Dr. William Osler, with his wife and child, has just arrived in New York. Warned by his experience of not long ago when one of his jest was taken very seriously, he fled from reporters on landing.

—Mrs. Edward Day, wife of the pastor of the Unitarian church at Nantucket in the absence of her husband preached from the pulpit Sunday before a large congregation. Mrs. Day was equal to the occasion and delivered a forceful sermon.

AGAINST HARTJE

Millionaire's Petition For Divorce Is Inconclusive

JUDGE GIVES HIS VIEWS

Letters Introduced In Trial Open to Suspicion and Experts' Testimony of Little Value--Hartje Will Appeal the Case

Pittsburg, Dec. 13.—Judge Frazer handed down his decision in the famous Hartje divorce case yesterday afternoon, declaring the petition of Augustus Hartje, the millionaire paper manufacturer, for a divorce from his wife, Mrs. Mary Scott Hartje, whom he charged with intimacy with Thomas Madine, a former coachman, inconclusive. In substantiation of this inconclusiveness, Judge Frazer cites the following points:

"The servants' stories of Mrs. Hartje's wrongdoing are quite different than those based in Hartje's petition. The story of Susie Wagner, a maid, was grossly exaggerated and built up; she was prejudiced and under the influence of Hartje's family.

"Mrs. Hartje perhaps visited the stable too often, but her fondness for horses sufficiently explains what might be considered an indiscretion.

"The letters introduced are open to suspicion and are conclusive of nothing. Experts' testimony is of little value. The stealing of the said letters from Madine's rooms, as testified to, shows those who produced them to be lawbreakers. The preponderance of testimony shows the letters were not in Mrs. Hartje's handwriting and at the trial Hartje abandoned all his charges except the one relating to Madine."

The decision does not refer to the question of alimony, but Mrs. Hartje has a motion pending in court for the granting of alimony. The two children, Mary L. Hartje and John S. Hartje, will remain with their mother. The entire cost of the proceedings are placed on Hartje, and the suit for divorce filed by his wife will be tried when it is reached in the regular order.

The wealth and prominence of the principals, the ugly charges alleged and later, after the trial had begun, additional charges against Mrs. Hartje in connection with a second coachman, Clifford Hooe, a negro, tended to make the case exceedingly sensational. Following the introduction of the Hooe incident, Hartje and a business friend, John S. Welshons, together with Clifford Hooe, the negro, were all arrested on a charge of conspiracy. Hooe was also charged with perjury, was convicted and is now awaiting a new trial.

"I am greatly disappointed and surprised," said Augustus Hartje, "but we will fight the case through every court we can, believing that we are right. I am advised by my attorneys that we have a good case and an appeal will be at once taken. Further than that I have nothing to say and no comments to make on the opinion of Judge Frazer."

"I am very well pleased with the decision of the court," said Mrs. Hartje, "and I consider the decision a vindication for me. I am exceedingly grateful toward my many friends who have stood by me through this trouble and also for their expressions of kindness since the verdict was announced."

God In Oklahoma Constitution

Guthrie, Okla., Dec. 13.—The constitutional convention, which has been debating what name to give the Deity in the new constitution or whether a supreme being should be named at all, unanimously adopted the following preamble: "Invoking the guidance of Almighty God in order to secure and perpetuate the blessings of liberty, to secure a just and rightful government, to promote mutual welfare and happiness, we, the people of Oklahoma, do ordain and establish this constitution."

New York, Dec. 13.—A gift from Secretary of State Root has been accepted by the trustees of the New York public library. It consists of a collection of documents relative to the military government of Porto Rico, Cuba and the Philippines by the United States and the civil government of the Philippines, the China relief expedition of 1900, the war with Spain, the Hawaiian islands and other kindred subjects, the whole being bound and indexed in about 300 volumes.

Senate Ratifies Algeciras Act

Washington, Dec. 13.—The senate, in executive session, ratified the general act by the delegates of the powers represented at the conference which met at Algeciras, Spain, in April last to draft a treaty concerning Moroccan affairs. Opposition by the Democrats compelled the adoption of a resolution disclaiming responsibility for participation of the United States in the program arranged by the conference as to the future of Morocco.

Shah of Persia's End Near

Teheran, Dec. 13.—The condition of the shah remains practically unchanged. At a consultation of physicians it was discovered for the first time that the shah's heart has become seriously affected. It is expected that he cannot live more than five days. Few people seem to be affected by the state of the shah's health and general indifference extends even to parliament.

ARTHUR BROWN DEAD

He Refused to Make a Statement Before Passing Away

Washington, Dec. 13.—Former United States Senator Arthur Brown of Utah, who was shot in his apartments at the Hotel Raleigh Saturday afternoon by Mrs. Anna M. Bradley of Salt Lake City, died at midnight last night. Mrs. Bradley will be arraigned on the charge of murder. Her attorneys will set up the defense that she was justified under the "unwritten law" in shooting Brown.

One of the assistant district attorneys made another fruitless effort last night to secure an ante-mortem statement, but Brown refused to talk.

Max Brown and Miss Alice Brown of Columbus, O., the former senator's son and daughter, respectively, were at the bedside when he expired. He had been unconscious for several hours.

Mr. Brown came to the senate in 1896, when Utah was admitted to the Union. He served about 15 months. He was to appear as counsel before the supreme court of the United States on Monday in a mining case and was followed here by Mrs. Bradley who, it is said, learned of his appointment to meet Mrs. Anna E. Adams, mother of Maude Adams, the actress, in New York after he had appeared before the supreme court. Mrs. Bradley left for Washington immediately and registered at the Hotel Raleigh as Mrs. Anna Brown. According to a statement made by Brown shortly after he was shot he found Mrs. Bradley in his room going through his private papers. She demanded that he marry her at once and when he refused she shot him. There was no eye-witness of the tragedy.

Conspiracy to Strike Is Lawful

Madison, Wis., Dec. 13.—"The right to strike for any cause or no cause is clearly and fully sustained by authority. Even a conspiracy to strike, followed by legal damage, is not unlawful if formed to better labor conditions." This is an extract from the decision of Judge Sanborn of the United States district court, which was handed down in the case of Allis-Chalmers company against the Iron Moulders' union of Milwaukee. It is probably one of the first opinions wherein a conspiracy under certain conditions is sanctioned as lawful.

Claims Land Worth $2,500,000

Chicago, Dec. 13.—In the federal circuit court here, Sidney Smith of Cambridge, Mass., filed 14 suits for writs of ejectment on land here worth $2,500,000. The city of Chicago and 4000 other defendants are named. According to Smith, the original grant of the land never appeared on record, the man obtaining the grant having died before the instrument was registered. Smith claims to have purchased the claims of the heirs of the grantee.

Cabinet Officers Confirmed

Washington, Dec. 13.—The senate confirmed the nominations of W. H. Moody of Massachusetts to be an associate justice of the supreme court of the United States, Charles J. Bonaparte of Maryland to be attorney general, Victor H. Metcalf of California to be secretary of the navy, and Oscar S. Straus of New York to be secretary of commerce and labor.

Rebels Are Well Equipped

Pekin, Dec. 13.—Information has reached Pekin that the rebels who recently entered Ping Kiang constitute a considerable well organized force, equipped with modern weapons. They came from Honan province. The movement, which is anti-dynastic, has no connection with other uprisings or disturbances in central China.

Actress Under Observation

New York, Dec. 13.—Mary S. Nevison, the actress, aged 58, who is a sister of the late Stuart Robson, was removed last night to Bellevue hospital, where her condition will be inquired into. She was taken from the Hotel Normandie, where her behavior attracted attention which resulted in her removal to the hospital.

Acquitted of Heresy Charge

Cincinnati, Dec. 13.—Rev. George C. Cox, rector of Calvary Episcopal church, was last night acquitted of the charge of heresy by the standing committee of the Episcopal diocese of Ohio. The case had its origin in a letter written by Cox to Bishop Vincent, in which Cox declared that his sympathy was with Dr. Crapsey.

Bishop McCabe Is Weaker

New York, Dec. 13.—Bishop McCabe, the Methodist divine, who was stricken with apoplexy when about to board a ferryboat here Tuesday, is slightly weaker. This condition, however, is not regarded as a change for the worse. The symptoms encourage the hope of ultimate recovery.

Mrs Birdsong Seeks New Trial

Hazlehurst, Miss., Dec. 13.—A motion for a new trial for Mrs. Angie Birdsong, convicted of manslaughter for killing Dr. Thomas Butler, has been filed. The woman is seriously ill, having suffered a complete nervous breakdown since her conviction Tuesday.

Japanese Soldiers In Honolulu

Honolulu, Dec. 13.—It is stated here, and has been reported to the United States government at Washington, that two regiments of Japanese, completely officered, are in Honolulu disguised as laborers. Whether they are armed is not known.

Gillette In Charge of Warden of Auburn Prison

CURIOUS FOLKS FOOLED

Failed to Obtain Glimpse of Prisoner, Who Talked and Laughed With Girls of Comic Opera Troupe on a Train

Auburn, N. Y., Dec. 13.—Prison officials succeeded pretty well in fooling a thousand people who had assembled at the Central station to catch a glimpse of Chester E. Gillette. Having made preparations to stop the train on the outskirts of the city, prison guards in uniform were sent to the station, while the warden's private equipage, with Principal Keeper Tupper and two guards, was sent to Perrine street crossing, where the train stopped, and Gillette and Sheriff Klock of Herkimer entered the carriage.

The team was driven rapidly to the prison. Gillette was escorted up into the north corridor, where he was examined previous to being taken to the condemned cells. There was not the slightest appearance of fear or of emotion of any kind as he walked along the hallway and into the office of the principal keeper. Here he was formally turned over to the prison authorities and the formal work of searching the prisoner was done.

Gillette's pockets were emptied of their contents and the stuff that he had, which included a watch and chain, two apples, a magazine and his collar buttons and sleeve links, were placed in a pile. His clothing was partially removed and the search continued. "Art," said Gillette, addressing Klock, "find out about what I can have sent in to me. About the reading matter."

"You can't have anything," replied Keeper Tupper.

"And about the visiting," he continued, addressing the sheriff. "Can I have anyone visit me?" turning to the principal keeper.

"No one but your lawyer."

"And about my mother?"

"Yes, she can see you," replied Tupper.

"Is that your overcoat?" asked John Martin, as he continued his work of searching the prisoner.

"No," replied the prisoner, "Mr. Klock will take that back."

By this time the searching was finished. He was hurried down through the wing to the bathroom, where he was bathed, given new clothes and his hair was cut. He was assigned to cell No. 2.

Gillette does not impress one as out of the ordinary. He is short, stubbily built, with dark hair that hangs straight, and with dark eyes. His face is round and thick, his lips being full and sensual. He would pass as an ordinary man in the outside world, and as an ordinary type inside the prison. There was nothing to distinguish him.

Gillette's calmness was the most noteworthy thing of his reception. One looking at him would not think that he was under the death sentence.

On the train Gillette rode in the special car of the "Runaways" comic opera troupe, which showed here last night. Those who watched him said he had "the time of his life." The girls in the troupe crowded around him and the man in the shadow of the chair sat and talked and laughed with them. He also tore up slips of paper, wrote his name on them and handed them to the girls as souvenirs.

Washington Dec 13.—By a vote of 142 to 25, the house adopted the following amendment to the legislative appropriation bill: "No money appropriated in this act shall be used in connection with printing documents authorized by law or ordered by congress, or either branch thereof, unless the same shall conform to the orthography recognized and used by generally accepted dictionaries of the English language."

Taft to Consider Evidence

Washington, Dec. 13.—The evidence submitted at the White House in behalf of the discharged soldiers of the Twenty-fifth infantry has been turned over to Secretary Taft. The president's answer to the senate resolution calling for information regarding the discharged soldiers probably will be sent to that body shortly before the holiday recess.

Lords and Commoners Lock Horns

London, Dec. 13.—The hostility between the house of lords and the house of commons has now reached an open stage. The lower house, after debating the matter all day, last night rejected all of the amendments of the house of lords to the education bill by a vote of 416 to 107, the Irish members voting with the government.

Curzon Won't Be Ambassador

New York, Dec. 13.—Lord Curzon, former viceroy of India, will not be the next British ambassador to America, according to a statement made by his brother-in-law, the Earl of Suffolk, who sailed for Europe on the steamer Celtic.

JUROR ACCEPTED BRIBE

Jury Convicts Killian, Who Served on Crocker Will Case

Boston, Dec. 13.—Matthew F. Killian, a member of the jury which broke the will of Uriah H. Crocker, a wealthy lawyer in this city, so that his three sons were enabled to participate with their stepmother in the division of the property, was convicted of receiving a bribe while serving on the panel. John W. Cronan, another member of the jury who was tried with Killian on a similar charge, was acquitted.

John W. Harnett, who, it was alleged, paid the money for influencing the verdict in the case and who was indicted by the grand jury, disappeared shortly before the arrest of Killian and Cronan.

Uriah H. Crocker died three years ago, leaving nearly his entire property to his second wife, who was formerly a clerk in his office. The first attempt to break the will before a jury in the supreme court resulted in a disagreement. On a second trial the will was set aside and the property divided between Mrs. Crocker and her stepsons.

The conviction of Killian will have no effect of the division of the estate, as Judge Sherman, who presided, said that neither side had charged the parties directly interested in the will with bribery. Killian will be sentenced later.

Missions to Undergo Inspection

Boston, Dec. 13.—Secretary Barton of the American Board left Boston today to go on an extended trip to China as a member of the deputation of the American Board to the China missions. Other members of the deputation are Professor Moore and Dr. Warner of New York. The three members of the deputation will meet in north China in March. The instructions of the prudential committee to the deputation are that they shall investigate the four missions of this board in China, including all departments and phases of the missionary operations as well as all other questions, political, social, educational and otherwise which bear directly or indirectly on missionary work.

Augusta, Me., Dec. 13.—In a letter issued last night to the members of the enforcement commission, Governor Cobb directed them to withdraw all the deputy enforcement commissioners working under the Sturgis law, so-called, appointed at the last session of the legislature, on Jan. 1 next, in order that the new sheriffs, who will take office on that date, will be given an opportunity to enforce the prohibitory law.

Man and Woman Badly Burned

Waterbury, Conn., Dec. 13.—Samuel Blais and Mrs. Fred Lize, aged 25, were probably fatally burned in a fire following the explosion of a kerosene lamp in Blais' hands last night in a boarding house. Mrs. Lize was burned badly on the face, neck, arms and legs. There is little hope for her recovery. Blais is in a critical condition, having been burned terribly about the head, chest and arms.

Good Work of Submarines

Newport, R. I., Dec. 13.—Submarines Porpoise and Shark, with their tender Nina, are under orders to proceed to the navy yard at Brooklyn for repairs. The submarines have been constantly engaged in submarine work since last spring and the navy department has obtained much valuable information through the work above and below the waters of Narragansett bay.

Train Dispatcher Arrested

Rutland, Vt., Dec. 13.—W. O. Cutler, a train dispatcher employed by the Rutland railroad, was arrested here last night as the outcome of the investigation into the wreck on the Rutland road on Dec. 4, when three persons were killed and more than 30 injured at Vergennes. Cutler was taken to Middlebury, where he will be arraigned.

May Have $10,000,000 Capital

Hartford, Dec. 13.—The board of directors of the Travelers' Insurance company has instructed the president to apply to the next legislature for an amendment to the charter authorizing the company to increase its capital stock to an amount not exceeding $10,000,000. The Travelers' at present has a capital stock of $1,000,000.

Deposition of Crapsey Endorsed

Boston, Dec. 13.—The deposition of Rev. Dr. Crapsey of Rochester from the priesthood of the Episcopal church for heresy was approved by a number of speakers at the annual dinner of the Massachusetts Church Union here last night. Several clergymen endorsed the verdict of the ecclesiastical courts.

Big Draft of Apprentices

Newport, R. I., Dec. 13.—A draft of 700 apprentice seamen are now quartered on board the frigate Constellation, at the naval training station, for transfer to the ships of the Atlantic squadron. It is understood that the fleet will sail from New York for Hampton Roads about Christmas.

Extremely Cold Weather

Montpelier, Vt., Dec. 13.—The coldest weather of the winter prevailed here last night. It was 6 degrees below zero here, and at Barre it was 28 and 30 degrees below. Such extreme cold in December is almost unprecedented in this locality.

Philippines Short of Teachers

Washington, Dec. 13.—One hundred and twenty additional American teachers are wanted in the Philippines for the next school year, according to a cablegram received from Manila by the bureau of insular affairs. Fifty of these are to be appointed at entrance salaries of $1200 and the remainder at smaller amounts.

JEROME'S NEW TACTICS

Cause Consternation Among Gotham's Gambling Fraternity

New York, Dec. 13.—The police last night raided an alleged gambling house in Tenth street and arrested 145 men, all but one of whom were locked up, charged with having refused to aid the police when a felony was being committed. One man was charged with maintaining the house.

The new tactics of Jerome were apparently a great surprise to not only the prisoners but also the lawyers and bondsmen who flocked to the station to bail out the prisoners. Fictitious names are often given following such a raid, but last night the bondsmen were compelled to swear, before bail was accepted, that they had knowledge that the prisoners' names and addresses given at the station house were correct. Jerome was of the opinion that if he found that the bondsmen had sworn falsely as to the identity of the prisoners he would be albe to have them arrested on charges of perjury.

In nearly every case the bondsmen refused to give bail when Jerome's decision was announced. The result was that the majority of the 145 men were confined in the station house.

The raid was spectacular, several well-constructed doors being battered down with the aid of iron rails taken from a passing truck. All the patrol wagons from nearby stations were pressed into service to convey the prisoners to the police station.

A detective had mounted a ladder, placed against the house, and through a window witnessed the alleged gambling. He called upon the men within to admit him and when they failed he notified Jerome that an officer of the law was being defied. Jerome then summoned the reserves and, forcing an entrance, charged the occupants with having committed a felony in that they had refused to aid an officer when a crime was being committed.

Assassin at Birthday Party

New York, Dec. 13.—While celebrating his 45th birthday anniversay with his family and a number of guests at his home at Bath Beach last night, Frank Massa, a well-to-do saloonkeeper, was shot and killed by one of three assassins who had gained entrance to the house. All three of the men escaped. It is said that about a week ago Massa was visited by an Italian who claimed to represent a Black Hand society and who demanded $1000 from Massa under penalty of death. Massa answered that he did not have that much ready money and his visitor repeated his threat as he left.

Found Husband Thought Dead

Milwaukee, Dec. 13.—A husband and wife, separated since the San Francisco earthquake, and each until a few days ago believing the other dead, will be reunited as soon as a train now bearing Mrs. Hattie Politz westward can reach Stockton, Cal. Last summer Mrs. Politz brought from California the charred body of a man and buried it in the belief that the body was that of her husband. Recently she learned that he was living on a ranch in California. A long distance telephone conversation confirmed the fact, and Mrs. Politz at once left for Stockton.

Walked Off With Silverware

New York, Dec. 13.—A burglar entered the home of Henry C. Berlin last night, stripped the dining room of silverware and escaped after holding the muzzle of his revolver against the head of a servant girl until she fell unconscious from fright. There were seven servants at home at the time. The robbery was one of the boldest of a number of spectacular crimes of the kind that have recently occurred in the fashionable sections of the city.

Barkentine In Hard Luck

Charleston, Dec. 13.—With her stern battered, a part of her deck cargo missing, one boat gone, her cabin stove in and an anchor and 50 fathoms of chain lost, barkentine Mary Barry, lumber laden, put into this port for safety and repairs. The vessel sailed from Jacksonville for Dorchester, N. B., on Nov. 21 and and ran into a succession of gales. Her crew was utterly exhausted when the vessel reached harbor.

Old Bank Hard Pressed

Waynesburg, Pa., Dec. 13.—The doors of the Farmers and Drovers' National bank have been closed by order of the comptroller of the currency. Owing to the money stringency and the fact that the bank had not been able to collect a sufficient amount of its loans, its cash reserve fell below the required amount. The band was established in 1833. There is every assurance that depositors will be fully paid.

Life Savers Rewarded

Charlottetown, P. E. I., Dec. 13.—Austin Grady and Duncan Campbell, who, at the risk of their lives, saved two sailors of the Russian ship Sevinto, which was wrecked on the north shore of Prince Edward Island, were presented with $220 each, subscribed by the people, and a medal donated by Mayor Patten of this city.

POLICE IN CHURCH

Will Note Infractions of the Law of Associations

FRANCE HAS FIRM HAND

The Masses Either Indifferent or Inclined to Side With Government--Papal Secretary of Vatican Drawing Up a Protest

Paris, Dec. 13.—The clergy of Paris issued special appeals last night to their parishioners to be present at the churches today at the first mass celebrated outside the pale of the law. The government, however, purposes to proceed gently. These services will not be broken up, but policemen will be in attendance to note infractions of the law and cite officiating priests before the nearest justice of the peace.

The chief danger of disorders in Paris lies in the possible invasion of churches by rowdies and free thinkers. Reserves of gendarmes will be stationed at various points throughout the city to guard against trouble on this score.

The efforts made by certain members of the chamber of deputies and other disinterested persons to insure a continuation of services in churches in spite of the papal veto, by inducing Catholic laymen in each parish to make the forbidden declaration, have not met with much success. The Church of St. John the Evangelist is the only church where such legal application had been made, although it is impossible to foretell what the next few days will bring forth.

The indications are against anything which might be dignified by the name of religious war, and the prompt expulsion from France of Mgr. Montagnini, secretary of the papal nunciature here since the recall of the nuncio, coupled with the threats to expel recalcitrant clergymen from France, has had a sobering influence. The militant Catholics are in a hopeless minority, and the masses are either indifferent or inclined to side with the government.

Seven curates at Ternes have sent a letter to the local commissary of police, declaring they will resist with their lives any profanation of the church by free thinkers, using to this end every arm permissible for legitimate defense.

There was a riotous demonstration at Nancy while the bishop was moving out of his residence. Two thousand people accompanied the officials to the residence, hooting them constantly. The bishop will be prosecuted on the charge of assaulting a policeman, because he laid his hand upon a policeman's shoulder while he was leaving his residence.

So far as church property is concerned—the episcopal mansions, the rectories, the seminaries, etc—prelates of all rank are prepared to accept the notices served upon them to move out today after protesting and refusing to sign documents of dispossession.

It is reported that dozens of cultural or diocesan societies are in the course of formation, at the last moment, in various departments.

Protest From the Vatican

Rome, Dec. 13.—Cardinal Merry del Val, the papal secretary of state, is preparing a vigorously worded protest against the action of the French government in searching the archives of the nunciature at Paris. This protest will be handed to the members of the diplomatic body accredited to the Vatican. Del Val sets forth, among other things, that the incident in question is the first instance in history of such a violation of the rights of man.

Catholics Denounce "Atrocities"

Chicago, Dec. 13.—At a special meeting here of the board of governors of the Catholic Church Extension Society of the United States, resolutions were adopted denouncing the recent actions of the French government as "atrocities" and branding as "outrageous thefts" the seizure of ecclesiastical property and appealing to mankind for redress.

Jap "Laborers" Pouring In

El Paso, Tex., Dec. 13.—The number of Japanese applying for admission to the United States through El Paso has noticeably increased within the last 10 days. Yesterday 37 Japanese applied for admission. They are, according to the immigration officers, pouring into the United States from Mexico through the ports of Eagle Pass and Laredo, having come to Mexico as laborers.

Slow Records of Bike Pluggers

New York, Dec. 13.—Interest in the six-day bicycle grind at Madison Square Garden has never flagged since the start shortly after midnight last Monday morning. The attendance so far is away ahead of all previous races here, although the riders are many miles behind the record.

Killed Man With Umbrella

Hartford, Dec. 13.—Judge Roraback sentenced Michael Niro to from one to three years for manslaughter, he having been convicted of killing Bernardino Descenz by stabbing him through the eye with an umbrella.

Murder Story Was Untrue

Minneapolis, Dec. 13.—A letter just received by Rev. Thomas Eggen of Minneapolis reveals the fact that the Rev. L. O. Fossum, wife and daughter were not murdered at Urmia, Persia, as was reported several weeks ago.

The Pure Food Law.

WE Have Always Maintained that the best that money could buy was always the cheapest in the end, because it is always the bargain hunters that have to pay the DOCTOR, buying as they do IMPURE foods of all kinds, FOODS that are UNFIT for ANY PERSON'S STOMACH, being mixed as they are with different kinds of PRESERVATIVES and SECRET PREPARATIONS to take the place of GOOD PURE FOODS. And some dealers selling these goods at a GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICE over the pure kind, GUARANTEE you NOTHING, but—"Poor Health to You and Your Family," and although you can buy the "just as good kind," you can save nothing as that kind is unhealthy and dangerous to the whole human family. Now our standard is to always sell the best of everything and the steady increase of our business year after year proves to us that we have the right idea, and we know it must be very satisfactory to our many customers to feel that what they buy at our store is ABSOLUTELY PURE and HEALTHFUL and the Food Laws are being strictly enforced by us. Our Goods are all GOVERNMENT INSPECTED and also carefully inspected by us before they are put on sale or sent to your homes, and although you pay perhaps a few cents more to us than some dealers charge, don't you think it is money well spent, considering all things?—YOUR HEALTH, which is the greatest blessing we can have,—think well about this and we know you will agree with us and do your trading where you know the goods can be depended upon to be absolutely Pure.

We have just received our season's pack of choice canned and bottled goods, FRESH and DRIED FRUITS, all kinds of Cereals, Ketchup, Pickles, Jams, Jellies, Prunes, Figs, Nuts, Dates, Table Raisins, Citron, Lemon and Orange Peel, Olives, Sardines,—in fact everything for your tastes and fancies. All the leading brands of FLOUR. Fancy New Orleans Molasses.

OUR MARKET is complete, AND REMEMBER, we sell nothing that has been doctored or filled with Preservatives to keep it. ABSOLUTELY NOTHING but Carefully Selected Meats are on sale at OUR STORE. Stamped with the Government Inspection Stamp, that insures to you and to us the point of perfection, which we are always striving to reach for the benefit of our trade.

We will have a grand display of that great National Bird, THE TURKEY, the same VERMONT KIND we have always sold you,—Chicken, Fowl and Duck, direct from WILLIAM R. DRAKE of Braintree, and he knows how to dress them so as to please the eye as well as the palate. They don't grow nicer than he has. DAVIS FOR ROW IN SENATE.

Arkansan Says There'll Be "Something Doing" When He Gets There.

Governor Jefferson Davis, newly elected United States senator from Arkansas, in an interview at Brookhaven, Miss., the other night said politicians preach harmony, but it is not harmony that is needed so much as an old fashioned row in the United States senate.

"With gentle, kind spirited Bob Taylor of Tennessee, 'Pitchfork' Tillman of South Carolina, the fearless Vardaman of Mississippi, there will be a first class row. When I get to the senate there will be something doing in town."

He said that the race of life in this day and time is not the fair and equal one which was in the minds of the framers of this government; that the combinations of capital called trusts have defeated the objects of the constitution and of law. It is a day of commercialism, of greed and of graft. People place gold above God and money above men. He saw danger to the government from two kinds of organizations—the unholy combinations of the very wealthy for greed and graft may destroy it; the very poor, in their distressed and downtrodden condition, may combine to turn and rend it. To the third class, the middle class, who love and serve the God of their fathers, the honest yeomanry of the republic, is committed the task of saving the government if it is to be saved.

He declared a belief that no man ever made a million dollars honestly; that to accumulate that vast sum he must trample on the heads and hearts of his fellow creatures. "But the trust is not the only evil," said the senator. "There are the bucket shops. The bucket shop has brought more misery, ruined more homes, wrecked more businesses and made more straight men crooked and destroyed more lives than any other agency. Why is the bucket shop an evil? Because it gambles on the fruits of labor and upon the products of the soil."

He gave a graphic description of a visit to the New York Cotton Exchange, which he called the great "bucket shop," where a few gamblers, men who never owned a pound of cotton, standing around a brass railing, made a plaything of the south's great staple. His advice was "to organize to help yourself, not against the merchants, the bankers, the railroads or any other, but for self interest."

BIG KNITTING TASK.

Aged Grandmother Making Christmas Stockings For 275 Descendants.

Knitting busily in the apparently hopeless task of supplying 275 descendants with stockings for Christmas, Mrs. Jacob Dearinger of Christian county has little time for idleness, writes a Taylorville (Ill.) correspondent of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Smoking incessantly, her pipe being a great solace in her old age, she is busy from morning until night with her needles and is very expert in her knitting. She recently celebrated her ninetieth birthday, having been born in Jessamine county, Ky., in 1816.

Her maiden name was Elizabeth Padgett. She married Jacob Dearinger Sept. 1, 1836, and to them were born sixteen children. The fifth generation comprises eleven children, bringing the grand total of descendants of the old lady up to 275, more than any other resident of the United States.

Mrs. Dearinger is an ardent supporter of President Roosevelt's theory of antirace suicide and is very proud of her remarkable number of descendants. Her husband became blind in 1858 and was an added care. He died in 1882. Mrs. Dearinger is in excellent health. She is a quaint old picture from the past as she sits in her easy chair smoking her pipe. Her children do not begrudge her this pleasure despite the odd appearance to the present generation.

Money In Pumpkin Seeds.

The farmers of Iowa have discovered a new industry—the growing of pumpkins for the seed—says the New York World. Those who first tried the experiment found at once the industry a profitable one. The pumpkin is planted with the corn and requires no increase of acreage for its production, while it yields in seed from $5 to $6 per acre. The average price paid is 5 cents per pound, and the market has reached at times as high as 8 cents. The work of handling the seed is carried on by the children of the farm, who first take the ripe pumpkin and pound it lightly on the ground until the seeds are loose in the core. The pumpkin is then broken open and the seeds scooped out, and they are then washed thoroughly and dried and are ready for the scales. One dealer at Independence, Ia., annually handles 7,000 pounds of pumpkin seeds and urges the farmers in his region to raise more. In some places the children get enough money to pay all their school and college expenses.

A Hole In the Air.

One of the strange experiences of a balloonist is that of falling into "a hole in the air," which Mr. Rolker reports as follows, says the American Magazine:

"So you continue sailing, enjoying the present with little thought of the startling surprises that may be before you. Ahead of you, unseen, may be what the balloonist calls a 'hole in the air,' resembling the vortex of a maelstrom, and down this you may literally fall at a rate which is terrifying until, by sacrificing two or three bagfuls of sand at once, your pilot checks your downward flight. But these 'holes' are scarce, and, as a rule, the atmosphere is of uniform carrying power."

THE HEADLESS BANDIT.

Queer Story From the Archives of the Vienna Courts.

Dr. Loye, a French physician, who greatly interested himself in the question, "What passes in the head of a decapitated human being?" related the following remarkable story, which he stated was taken from the archives of the Vienna courts: It was in the year —— that Schoenenburg, a well known bandit, and four of his associates were caught and condemned to death. They were already on their knees ready to pay the penalty of their bloody deeds by submitting to the awful fate of decapitation when Schoenenburg addressed the judge, asking that his four companions might be pardoned on certain conditions. "If," asked the bandit, "after I am beheaded I get up and walk to the first of my comrades, will you pardon him?" The judge thought that he was pretty safe in complying with the request. "Then," continued Schoenenburg, "if I walk to the second, the third and the fourth, will you pardon them also?" The judge replied that if such a miraculous feat could be performed he would obtain pardons for the other three also. The bandit was now satisfied, and, bending his head, he received the fatal blow. Instantly the head rolled down in the sand, but to the surprise and horror of all present the headless trunk arose and walked alone. Aimlessly, it appeared, the body walked around until it passed the first, the second, the third and the fourth condemned bandit, when it fell down and became motionless. Query, "How could a headless body think?"

Runaway Boy.

Officer Bradley picked up a 14-year-old boy at West Quincy on Thursday who gave his name as John Scully. The boy has been about West Quincy for several days sleeping in stone sheds and barns and begging for food. When apprehended he said that he came from the Sisters' Home in Worcester, that they had let him out to a family in Waltham, who had abused him and he ran away. The Worcester home was notified and the boy will be returned.

FORE RIVER

Submits Plans To Congress For Battleship 540 Ft. in Length

A Washington dispatch to the Globe says Congress received on Thursday from Sec. Bonaparte the draft of the plans for the big battleship provided for at the last session. Four separate plans were submitted by the navy construction bureau and six sets by private firms and individuals.

The plan selected by the department was one prepared by the construction bureau, embodying many novel features, the broadside fire being 25 percent greater than that of any battleship now built or building, the possible elevation of the guns being greater, with consequent increase of long-range fire, the defensive qualities distinctly superior to those of any other battleship and the percentage of weight and armor exceeding by 3000 tons the largest battleship yet built.

The ship is to be 510 feet long, 85 feet 2 5-8 inches beam, 21,000 tons displacement, 27 feet draft, 2300 tons coal capacity, and 21 knots speed. She will have 10 12-inch rifles and 14 5-inch rapid-fire guns and some small machine guns to repel torpedo attacks. The limit of cost is $6,000,000.

Two of the department plans were for a ship 510 feet long, one with the officers' quarters forward and the other with the quarters aft. Two other bureau plans were for ships 584 feet in length, with quarters likewise situated.

Of the private designs, one from the Fore River ship building company of Quincy, Mass., was for a ship 540 feet in length; one by William M. Douglas for a 570-foot ship; one from D. F. Black of Newcastle-on-Tyne, Eng., for a 532-foot ship; one by James Donald of Philadelphia for a 550-foot ship; one by G. W. Dickie, late of the Union iron works, San Francisco, but now of Camden, N. J., for a 490-foot ship, and one by the draftsman of the naval constructor at the Bath iron works, Me., for a 524-foot ship.

The protection of the ship selected consists of a belt of waterline armor eight feet in width and eleven inches maximum thickness, protecting the boilers, machinery and the magazines, and tending besides to maintain the stability of the ship, a very important point in view of the high center of gravity caused by the elevated guns.

Above the waterline belts the sides of the ship are protected by armor 10 inches thick and a belt 7 feet 8 inches wide, only slightly less than the armor in the main belt.

Above this again, amidships, the side is protected by five inches of armor, shielding the smoke pipes, most of the secondary battery and hull structure. There are also diagonal and athwart bulkheads and a protective deck.

An interesting feature is found in the fact that the ship is designed for the installation of either reciprocating or turbine machinery, and provision is made for the storage of a large amount of oil fuel without reducing the capacity of the coal bunkers.

Proposals will be invited for whichever plans may be selected, and as the other shipyards have government contracts it is quite probable the Quincy company may build the greatest of all battleships.

Pine Tree Club Elect Officers

The Pine Tree club held its regular monthly meeting Thursday evening. It was also the occasion of the annual election of officers.

These officers were elected:

President,—J. F. Gleason.

Vice president,—Andrew Odom.

Secretary and Treasurer, — Charles Chase.

Executive committee,— Fred Russell, Henry Grindell, Elmer E. Monroe, Mrs. Charles Chase, Mrs. Annie Jones and Mrs. J. F. Gleason.

It was voted to start in the new year with a banquet. After the business meeting there was dancing and whist.

Funeral of T. J. Foley

The funeral of Thomas J. Foley was held this morning at St. Mary's church. The services were very largely attended, many of the employes of the Boston custom house were present, as well as St. Francis court of Foresters, who with his fellow employes escorted the remains from his late residence at 193 Willard street to the church, and from the church to the grave.

Mass was celebrated by Rev. A. F. Roche who also gave an eulogistic address.

The Gregorian mass was sung under the direction of Miss Mary McKay, organist. After the absolution service the choir and congregation sung "Jerusalem, my happy home." Edward A. McGonagle, soloist at St. Patricks church, Roxbury, also sang "Rest, rest for the weary," being accompanied by John P. Hessian, organist at St. Patrick's church.

There was a profusion of beautiful flowers. These included a large wreath of roses from fellow employes at the custom house, wreath from Post 29, G. A. R., and a large pillow of carnations and roses from St. Francis court of Foresters.

How Do City Accounts Balance?

Inasmuch as the Nov. 30 statement of the City Auditor and the City Treasurer is full of errors, and the City Treasurer gives it as his opinion that not one man in 100 could fathom the figures presented, the Daily Ledger may be excused if it drew a few wrong conclusions in its review of Thursday.

It is a fact that none of the temporary loans of 1905 remain unpaid, as $100,000 was paid during the year of 1905, and $260,000 during 1906. The temporary loans of 1906 amount to $317,000 of which only $15,000 have been paid.

The fact that the Atlantic schoolhouse loan has not been negotiated, although expenditures have been made under it was also misleading. This will increase the notes payable for city debt by $61,000 and help out the trial balance.

The fact that the totals of appropriations, expenditures and balances are omitted from the report of the City Auditor, make it difficult to strike a balance.

Copeland Club Wins.

In a pretty even match Thursday evening the Copeland club pool team defeated the Quincy Y. M. C. A. three straight. The scores follow: Hebert, 50; Mitchell, 29. Ogle, 50; Badger 41. Desmond, 50; Holton 49.

LABOR FIGHT

Much Interest In Injunction Case Against City Officials

Another day or two will be necessary to decide whether injunctions shall be issued against Mayor Thompson, labor unions and others interested in the new High schoolhouse. The Herald says: The labor troubles and delays attending the construction of the addition to the Quincy high school were aired in the superior court, before Judge Lawton, Thursday, in the suit of the Keough Electrical Company (Keough Bros.) against J. W. Barton and several other trades unionists and Mayor Thompson, Thomas F. Burke, commissioner of public works, and the architect Aaron H. Gould. Mayor Thompson and other city officials, as well as the union labor defendants, were in court.

The Keoughs have the contract for the electric wiring and appliances for the new building, and seek an injunction to restrain the mayor and city officials from breaking their contract or preventing them from completing the work under pressure from the labor union defendants. There was a strike called on the building because non-union workmen were employed by the Keoughs.

J. W. Barton, business agent of local 103 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, testified that he did not try to prevent the Keoughs from completing their contract. Saw Architect Gould about Keoughs' contract to induce him to get them to employ union help. Told Gould that if the Keoughs did employ union men it would save trouble.

Aaron H. Gould, the architect, testified that Barton wanted him to induce the Keoughs to allow someone else to finish their contract with union labor. Witness tried to induce the Keoughs to do this, as he did not want any more strikes or the building delayed. Keoughs' work was satisfactory.

Thomas F. Burke, commissioner of public works, testified he cancelled the Keoughs' contract Dec. 12. He considered they had not complied with its terms.

The Ledger learns other witnesses heard were J. P. Corprew, secretary of the Central Labor Union, who said his union had nothing to do with ordering the strike.

Charles S. Jones of the Carpenters' Union, and T. H. Palmer one of the carpenters. Their testimony was immaterial. They said however that the situation had been talked over during the noon hour by the men.

The case is unfinished. J. J. Feely for plaintiffs; S. A. Fuller and F. W. Mansfield for labor union defendants. City Solicitor Thomas for city's interests.

GRUB STREET IN NEW YORK.

A Gastronomic Assignment and the Fate of an Epic.

A story is told of a poet who came to the metropolis with a completed epic. This found no acceptance, so after cursing the stupidity of the public and the publishers he took to writing "Sunday stuff." Soon the matter of fact attitude of the workers around him, with the practical view of the market he acquired, led him to doubt the literary value of the work he had done in the sentimental atmosphere of his native place.

Frequently a commission to write a column of humor a week came to him, and he cut his epic into short lengths, tacked a squib on each fragment and eventually succeeded in printing it all as humor at a price many times larger than the historic one brought by "Paradise Lost."

Another newcomer brought unsalable plays and high notions of the austerity of the artistic vocation. Three months after his arrival he was delighted to get a commission to write the handbook a utilitarian publisher proposed to sell to visitors seeing the metropolis. This commission brought not only a fair payment for the manuscript on delivery, but involved a vital secondary consideration. The title of the work was "Where to Eat In New York," and its preparation made it necessary for the author to dine each evening for a month in a different cafe at the proprietor's expense.—James H. Collins in Atlantic.

Be a Man.

According to the order of nature, men being equal, their common vocation is the profession of humanity, and whoever is well educated to discharge the duty of a man cannot be badly prepared to fill any of those offices that have relation to him. It matters little to me whether my pupil be designed for the army, the pulpit or the bar. Nature has destined us to the offices of human life, antecedent to our destination concerning society. To live is the profession I would teach him. When I have done with him it is true he will be neither a soldier, a lawyer nor a divine. Let him first be a man. Fortune may remove him from one rank to another as she pleases. He will always be found in his place.—Rousseau.

Hats In Parliament.

A member of parliament must never stand up with his hat on even if he has only risen to speak to the man behind him. Coming in, going out or speechifying he is always hatless, and he is sometimes hatless when sitting down. Thus if the speaker mentions a bill the member is responsible for he lifts his hat. If his name is mentioned in a speech he lifts his hat. Even if he happens at those times to be bareheaded he must seize a hat, put it on, then lift it.

A GERMAN CRISIS

Sudden Termination of the Reichstag's Existence

ATTACK UPON CLERICALS

Defeat of Bill Affecting Colonial Policy Resulted In Unexpected Move by the Government--England Watching Events

Berlin, Dec. 14.—The existence of the reichstag was terminated suddenly yesterday afternoon, amid scenes of considerable excitement, upon the defeat of the government's bill for a supplementary appropriation to support the troops in German Southwest Africa.

This action on the part of the government, although foreshadowed several days ago, took the house by surprise, as dissolution means a direct attack upon the clerical party, which has grown into such intimate relations with the government that it frequently has been characterized as the governing party. The tension between the government and the clericals has been growing since Director of the Colonial Office Dernburg, on Dec. 3, attacked the leader of the Centre party, Herr Roeren, in the reichstag, and showed that he had attempted unduly to influence the government's administrative measures in the colonies.

The Socialist leaders believe their party enters the campaign under unusually favorable circumstances. They intend making the fight chiefly on the scarcity of meat, in the belief that the laboring classes care little or nothing about the government's colonial ventures.

The Poles are equally confident of making a successful fight for seats in the new chamber, owing to the school troubles in Poland.

The clericals outwardly profess confidence that they will be able to hold their own, but many unprejudiced observers, both inside and outside the party, believe that the political auspices are unfavorable to the clericals, who have been placed in an awkward position through this unexpected energy on the part of the government.

The last dissolution of the reichstag occurred in 1893 over a bill increasing the peace footing of the army.

Of Interest to England

London, Dec. 14.—The German crisis attracts unusual attention in the British press, less as a revolt of the reichstag against the colonial policy of the empire than as the culmination of long dissatisfaction with the extreme bureaucratic character of the system of government, and a popular demand for ministers responsible to the people and the people's representatives.

Interest is considered to pivot largely upon the strength and attitude of the Socialistic party. The elections will be watched in England with the keenest interest, it being recognized that as a means of securing a government majority an appeal may be made for a spirited foreign policy. It is considered furthermore, that such a development might cause some uneasiness in Europe as endangering peace.

Abduction of Italian Boy

New York, Dec. 14.—George Brucata, a 5-year-old Italian boy, was walking with his little sister in the Italian colony here when a man stepped up and told the girl to go home and led the boy away. Subsequently the boy's father received a letter, instructing him to give $1000 to "two of your best friends" if he wanted his son. The letter added: "Do not give this letter to the police. If you do you and your child will be killed." Brucata is a poor man with a large family. The police are searching for the boy.

Paid Fines Aggregating $168,000

New York, Dec. 14.—Fines aggregating $168,000 imposed upon the American Sugar Refining company and the Brooklyn Cooperage company in connection with accepting rebates on sugar shipments were paid yesterday. This concludes the prosecution of the sugar company on the indictments returned by the United States grand jury after a long investigation.

Patrick Case Up to Higgins

Washington, Dec. 14.—The case of Albert T. Patrick, convicted of killing W. M. Rice of New York, has been dismissed by the supreme court of the United States on request of his counsel, ex-Senator Lindsay. This action removes the last obstacle in the way of the commutation by Governor Higgins of the death penalty to life imprisonment.

Wint to Command In Cuba

Havana, Dec. 14.—Major General Wint and his two aides, Lieutenant Allen of the Thirtieth infantry and Lieutenant Davis of the Eleventh cavalry, have arrived here. Wint will take command of the American army of occupation Jan. 1, when General Bell returns to the United States.

Sailor Frozen to Death

St. Johns, Dec. 14.—Schooner Majestic has been driven ashore at Cabot's island. One member of the crew was frozen to death and the hands and feet of three others were severely frosted before they succeeded in reaching land.

Bishop McCabe Slightly Better

New York, Dec. 14.—Bishop McCabe of the Methodist Episcopal church, who is suffering from a stroke of apoplexy, is reported as slightly improved.

KING OSCAR VERY SICK

Four Doctors In Attendance Upon the Aged Monarch

Stockholm, Dec. 14.—Considerable alarm was occasioned among the people over the statement that the health of King Oscar is causing much anxiety; that all the members of the royal family have assembled at the palace, and that Crown Prince Gustavus Adolphus has been hurriedly summoned from Berlin.

It appears that King Oscar has been ailing for some days. His indisposition was not regarded as serious until Wednesday, when he developed symptoms of serious heart weakness. His heart has been more or less affected for the past three years, and in the fear that because of his great age the present attack might prove fatal, four doctors have been in attendance upon the king.

The latest bulletin declares the king's condition to be tolerably satisfactory. The action of the heart is a little better, although the pulse is constantly uneven. His temperature is given as 101 Fahrenheit.

Another Speech Against Smoot

Washington, Dec. 14.—The senate listened to the second speech which has been made in this session against the continuance of Reed Smoot as a senator from Utah. It was delivered by Senator Dubois, who, after reviewing in detail the workings of the Mormon church and Smoot's prominent connection therewith, concluded with the charge that President Roosevelt has used the weight of his administration to assist the Republican-Mormon vote in the last election.

Umbrella Pierced Boy's Brain

Chicago, Dec. 14.—An unidentified newsboy was killed last night in the gallery of the Majestic theatre for applauding a player with whom George Dunraven, another spectator, was displeased. Dunraven ordered the boy to cease his demonstration. When the lad refused, Dunraven tried to hit him with an umbrella. The boy tried to dodge the blow and the point of the umbrella penetrated his brain through the left eye. Dunraven was arrested.

Open Door In Abyssinia

London, Dec. 14.—Great Britain, France and Italy have signed an arrangement, with the approval of King Menelik of Abyssinia, for the maintenance of the integrity of Abyssinia, and prescribing the common action of the three powers in all future contingencies concerning that country. The object of this agreement is the maintenance of the status quo and the principle of the open door.

Sentence of Perjurer Hooe

Pittsburg, Dec. 14.—Clifford Hooe, the negro coachman convicted for perjury in connection with a deposition made by him before the Hartje divorce trial, was refused a new trial and sentenced by Judge Frazer to pay a fine of $50 and the costs of the court trial and to imprisonment of six years in the penitentiary. An appeal will be taken.

Grand Juror Serving Legally

San Francisco, Dec. 14.—The oral motion of the attorneys for Mayor Schmitz and Abraham Ruef to strike from the file the five indictments for conspiracy and extortion found against them by the grand jury on the ground that Grand Juror Wise had been a trial juror within the year has been denied by Judge Dunne.

Meat Labels Unreliable

London, Dec. 14.—Dr. Collingworth has issued a report on the inspection of meat at the Smithfield market, in which he expresses regret that the American label, guaranteeing the inspection of meat from the United States, is, according to experience, no guarantee as to the condition of the meat in question.

Women to Have New College

Geneva, N. Y., Dec. 14.—The proposition of William Smith of this city, to found a college for women in connection with Hobart college, has been accepted by the Hobart board of trustees. The new college will be known as the William Smith college for women. Smith's gift amounts to approximately $247,000.

Cooley's Experience Questioned

Washington, Dec. 14.—The nomination of Alford W. Cooley to be assistant attorney general was again held up in the senate. Democratic senators raised a question as to whether Cooley had sufficient experience at the bar to qualify him for the service and the nomination went over until next week.

Church Amalgamation Certain

St. John, Dec. 14.—According to Judge Forbes of this city, who is a leading member of a joint committee now considering the union of the Methodist, Presbyterian and Congregational churches of Canada, the outlook is bright for an amalgamation of the three bodies.

Small Towns Without Fuel

Grand Forks, N. D., Dec. 14.—A blizzard is raging in western North Dakota, blowing snow into railroad cuts. The fuel situation in the small towns is critical, only an occasional carload having arrived. Much suffering is experienced.

Father and Son Frozen to Death

Norfolk, Dec. 14.—Jesse Silverthorn and his son, Carroll, oystermen, were frozen to death while clinging to the bottom of their sloop, which was capsized by a gale in Pamlico sound. The bodies were found by tug Prudence.

BREAKING OF LAW

Priests Acting Illegally Are to Be Prosecuted

THE VATICAN'S DEFIANCE

May Result In French Parliament Adopting Measure Which Will Cause Church to Forfeit All Benefits Under Law of 1905

Paris, Dec. 14.—There was a total absence yesterday of any of the sensational or dynastic incidents anticipated in alarmist quarters in connection with the execution of the law of separation.

The parish priests everywhere celebrated mass in the presence of unusually large congregations, but the actions of the authorities were confined to noting infractions of the law and citing the priests and vicars to appear before justices of the peace.

Everywhere legal notices have been served for the evacuation of the ecclesiastical residences, the seminaries, etc. Several of these buildings were abandoned without further ado, but a majority of the prelates, while fully prepared to go, announced that they would not depart except under duress.

In many parishes in Paris and the interior Catholic laymen came forward and spontaneously filed declarations for the holding of services in the designated churches during the coming year. If this practice is generally followed it will be a distinct victory for the government, relieving it of the possibility of necessity of closing the churches and throwing on the clergy the responsibility for the discontinuance of public worship. In the meantime the cabinet is preparing measures to be introduced before parliament.

The net result of the uncompromising attitude assumed by the Vatican in this conflict with the French government seems to be that the clergy will lose its pensions, 38,300 of which have been granted and gazetted since the beginning of this year, that all aspirants to the priesthood will be compelled to perform military service, and that the taking over of the episcopal mansions, rectories, seminaries, etc., by the state department and the communes will occur immediately instead of in December, 1907.

According to well-informed persons, the government intends to respond to the attitude taken by the Vatican by submitting to parliament a proposition to settle definitely the situation of the church in France. Under this proposal the church will forfeit all benefits under the law of 1905, but it is to be provided with an opportunity of carrying on public worship in conformity to the common law. Church property is to be handed over immediately to the civil authorities on condition that it be reserved for purposes of worship, and the positions of cardinals and bishops, as foreign officials, will be dealt with later, in the event the government finds it necessary to do so.

Hostile demonstrations against government officials occurred at Nantes, Arras and Angers. The populace of the last named city attacked the police and a number of persons on either side were hurt. The bishop at Angers exhorted the people to be calm, and, when his words had the desired result, he invited the crowd of five thousand to accompany him to the cathedral, where he pronounced the benediction.

Will Execute Pope's Orders

Rome, Dec. 14.—The Giornale D'Italia publishes an article in which Mgr. Montagnini, referring to his expulsion from France, is quoted as follows:

"My expulsion was painful, but not unexpected. France is going through unhappy hours. The present situation is due to Free Masonry, which succeeded in getting the upper hand through the indolence of the French middle classes. Although deeply Catholic, these classes are unorganized. I am the humble agent of the pope and I only did his will. Nobody can say what the consequences of what is transpiring in France will be. Upon returning to Rome I placed myself at the orders of the pope; these I will execute loyally, no matter what the outcome may be."

It has been learned that Montagnini was able to save and bring away with him a considerble number of important documents. This was accomplished through the assistance of a friend, Dr. Proja, who was staying with him at Paris. As soon as Proja learned that the nunciature was being searched he escaped from the building with a handbag crammed full of papers. Proja is the mysterious friend of Montagnini whom the French newspapers tried in vain to identify.

The Giornale D'Italia publishes also a report that M. Pichon, the French minister of foreign affairs, is about to take steps for the preservation intact of the papal archives seized in Paris. The paper says this action is due to energetic protests lodged by several of the ambassadors in Paris, who objected to these diplomatic documents being examined by outsiders.

OLD STYLE SUITS

Simplified Spelling Idea Rece ves a Knockout Blow

THE PRESIDENT YIELDS

Signified Intention to Revoke Order For New Spelling In Case Congress Opposed It, Which Was Speedily Done

Washington, Dec. 14.—President Roosevelt will withdraw his simplified spelling order to the public printer and hereafter all documents from the executive departments will again be printed in the old-fashioned style.

Representative Landis of the joint congressional committee on spelling had a conference with the president, who said that he did not wish to have spelling overshadow matters of great importance and expressed a willingness to revoke his order for the new spelling in case the house of representatives should go on record as opposed to the system. Accordingly, late yesterday afternoon Landis introduced the following resolution in the house:

Resolved, That the sense of the house of representatives is that hereafter in printing records, documents or other publications authorized by law, ordered by congress or either branch thereof, or emanating from the executive departments, their branches or bureaus, and independent officers of the government, the government printing office should observe and not alter the standard of orthography prescribed in generally accepted dictionaries of the English language.

The system of reform spelling was put into effect by the president during the recess of congress, and all public documents supplied to the executive departments have been printed in the simplified way. These documents have been pouring in on congress ever since the opening day, much to the dissatisfaction of a large majority of the members of the house. As a result the government printing office has used two forms of spelling in public printing—the old method for congress and the reformed methods in the executive documents. This caused confusion and comment unfavorable to the reform, and finally was made an issue between the legislative and executive departments, the judicial department having previously frowned upon the president's order.

The committee on printing, in its favorable report on the Landis resolution, stated that the committee had been influenced by the following considerations:

"In the various reprints of the Constitution of the United States adherence to the original spelling is found in the majority of cases. The spelling in the original statutes reflects the forms of spelling in vogue at the time of their enactment. The various codifications of the statutes reflect the spelling in vogue at the time of the adoption of such codifications. The last codification adopted was in 1878. The subsequent statutes now number 14 volumes, covering a period of 28 years. Each volume reflects the spelling in vogue at the time of the enactment of the statutes embraced therein.

"A new codification is about to be presented to congress. Until congress shall see fit to order the printing of this proposed codification of the statutes, embracing all the enactments of the law-making power of the government now in force, in some form of spelling other than that generally accepted by the people, it would appear to be the part of wisdom for the government in all its branches, in the interest of simplicity and economy, to adhere to a uniform system of spelling, and this system should be the one already most generally recognized and accepted by the people.

"The executive order, under which many public documents have already been printed, has now been in force for more than three months. It has been extensively exploited, and the public has had ample opportunity to digest the arguments presented in its favor. Without taking issue as to the relative merits of any form of spelling, it is evident that public sentiment, as reflected in the newspapers, magazines and other publications, has not been favorable to the proposed innovation.

"It is, therefore, a condition and not a theory with which congress has to deal. Congress has no assurance, even if it should leave present conditions undisturbed, that the succeeding administration would not revoke the present order.

"The sentiment in congress is such that it must be taken without question that in the printing done for congress the standard dictionaries will continue to be the accepted authority. If the government is to have two forms of spelling this will necessarily mean double composition, double stereotyping and electrotyping, double proofreading and other incidental expense.

"In the opinion of the committee, any departure from the recognized standards of orthography cannot with safety, satisfaction or economy be taken until congress and the executive shall agree upon the adoption of other orthographic methods."

MADE 18.3 KNOTS

Result of Standardization Trial of the Battleship Kansas

Rockland, Me., Dec. 14.—Battleship Kansas, from the yards of the New York Shipbuilding company at Camden, N. J., more than fulfilled her contract speed requirements in her official screw standardization trial over the Owl's Head measured mile course, her highest speed being 18.3 knots an hour.

After being sent over the course 14 times, the naval trial board ascertained that 120.5 revolutions of her screws per minute was necessary to attain the contract speed of 18 knots an hour. In five of the runs over the course the Kansas averaged 18.123 knots an hour and at one time made a dash at the rate of 19.06 knots. This latter figure, however, was reduced to 18.3 by tidal corrections.

The revolutions of 120.5 to a minute for the 18 knots is the highest of the four battleships of this class which have been tried. The Louisiana's screws had to revolve at a 118.3 speed, the Vermont at 114.6 and the Minnesota at 114.5. The Connecticut has not yet been tried. All five of these ships are 16,000-ton vessels, with 16,500 horse-power and a contract speed of 18 knots an hour. The difference in the screw revolutions, according to the naval experts, is due to the pitch of the propellor shafts and the surface area of the propellor blades.

Vanderbilt In Auto Smashup

New York, Dec. 14.—W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., with his chauffeur, was speeding a racing automobile on the shore of Lake Success, Long Island, when the front axle snapped and the car skidded. A moment later a wheel became detached and the body of the car struck the ground. The jar hurled Vanderbilt into the lake, well away from the shore, but he immediately swam to shore. The force with which Vanderbilt was thrown from the automobile was such that had he met any obstacle he must have been instantly killed. The chauffeur was not seriously injured.

Priest and Woman Found Dead

New York, Dec. 14.—The lifeless bodies of Rev. C. S. Quinn, 35 years old, formerly assistant pastor of St. Agnes Roman Catholic church at Atlantic Highlands, N. J., and Miss Bridget Kiley, 22 years old, until recently housekeeper at the St. Agnes parish house, were found in a room at a boarding house here. The room was filled with gas, which was escaping from a half-open jet. The police found nothing in the room that would indicate whether or not the case was one of suicide.

Persistent Female Suffragists

London, Dec. 14.—The female suffragists made another attempt last evening to hold a meeting within the precincts of the house of commons, and as a result five women and one man were arrested after an exciting fight with the police. The women fought wildly, scratching and kicking the police, but they were eventually compelled to give way. Those who persisted in resisting were carried screaming to the nearest police station.

Black Hand Bomb Outrage

New York, Dec. 14.—The lives of more than a hundred persons were endangered early this morning by the explosion of a dynamite bomb in the hallway of a tenement house in First avenue. No one was seriously injured, but the occupants of the building were thrown in the wildest excitement. The police believe that the bomb was placed in the house by Black Hand members.

Two Killed In Railroad Wreck

Mentor, O., Dec. 14.—Two trainmen were killed, one was fatally injured and three passengers were hurt last night when a fast freight train crashed into the rear of a passenger train. The passenger train had stopped to take water and a flagman was sent back to signal following trains, but, owing to a dense fog, the engineer of the freight did not see the signal.

Taught Carnegie Telegraphy

Washington, Dec. 14.—John H. Larcombe, 86 years old, a veteran employe of the pension office and the man who taught Andrew Carnegie telegraphy, died at Bellsville, Md., near this city. When he retired from office Carnegie gave him a pension of $100 a month for life.

Explosion Declared "Accidental"

Warsaw, Dec. 14.—What the police declare to have been an accidental explosion of dynamite occurred at the military camp near Warsaw. There was great commotion and excitement throughout this city when the explosion was heard. There were no casualties.

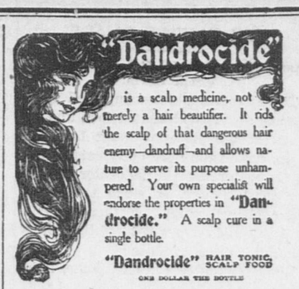

NEWS IN BRIEF

The New England Telephone and Telegraph company is to have opposition in Boston. The board of aldermen voted, 9 to 1, to grant the Metropolitan Home Telephone company's petition to operate in Boston.

Representative Hayes (Cal.) introduced a resolution in congress requesting Secretary Taft to advise the house whether Chinese or Japanese coolies are now employed on the canal zone and whether their employment is contemplated.

Sloop yacht Elderan was gutted by fire off the breakwater near Saybrook, Conn. The fire was caused by an explosion of a gasolene stove.

At a regular meeting of the trustees of Princeton university Edward W. Sheldon of New York was elected a life trustee. Sheldon is president of the United States Trust company.

DECLARES INNOCENCE

Life Prisoner Pardoned After Forty-Three Years In Prison

Augusta, Me., Dec. 14.—The governor's council granted a full pardon to Ephriam Gilman, who has been for 43 years in the state prison serving a life sentence for the murder of Mrs. Harriet B. Swan. The murder was committed in 1861.

During the 43 years that he has been at the prison Gilman has been a model prisoner. Ever since his conviction he has stoutly denied his guilt, and now, after he has satisfied the demands of the law and is once more a free man, he asserts his innocence with renewed vigor.

Gilman is 68 years of age, but looks like a man a score of years younger. He stands erect and his hair has just begun to turn silver. He has a remarkably good physique and is seldom ill. He says he feels fully capable of earning his own living, but this he will not be called on to do, as he will have a home with a niece, who is well able to provide for his material welfare.

May Accept Manufacturers' Offer

New Bedford, Mass., Dec. 14.—Meetings of the Spinners and Weavers' unions were held last evening to act on the rejection by the cotton mill agents of the union demand for a 10 percent increase in wages. In both the union meetings a secret ballot was taken and it was voted that the result of this ballot should not be made public until tonight. It is believed that the unions favor accepting the 7½ percent offered by the manufacturers, but adding a formal protest to the acceptance.

Perhaps a Pyromaniac

Providence, Dec. 14.—Continually vacillating between confessions and denials of setting lumber yard fires in this city recently, Eugene P. Warren, aged 28, who has been under surveillance by the detective department for several days, has been adjudged of unsound mind and ordered committed to the state hospital for the insane. He has spent nearly half his life there. It is said that when he was confined in the state hospital Warren was regarded as a pyromaniac.

Shoplifter at Early Age

Lynn, Mass., Dec. 14.—After Elizabeth Casey, 13 years old, had been arrested while in a department store shoplifting, the detectives who searched her home found about $200 worth of goods which they believed had been stolen. The goods filled two trunks and a bureau. The mother of the Casey girl is a widow and supports herself and four children by doing laundry work. She denied all knowledge of the child's alleged thefts.

Wants Municipal Investigation

Boston, Dec. 14.—Mayor Fitzgerald sent to the city council an order calling for the appointment of a financial committee to thoroughly examine the finances of the city. He wants representative Boston business men to do this work. He does not believe that Boston should be investigated by a legislative committee, holding that the taxpayers are competent to see if their money is being expended judiciously, honestly and properly.

Stringent Smallpox Regulations

Vanceboro, Me., Dec. 14.—In consequence of a smallpox outbreak in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, the United States health authorities have issued stringent regulations to inspectors of passengers on train from over the border. All passengers on trains from Canada are required to give evidence that they do not come from smallpox infected districts. Travelers are also obliged to furnish proof of recent vaccination.

Train Dispatcher Held

Middlebury, Vt., Dec. 14.—W. O. Cutler, a train dispatcher on the Rutland railroad, was arraigned here on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the train wreck at Vergennes on Dec. 1, in which three persons were burned to death. He was held for trial in bonds of $1500, which were furnished.

More Pay For Train Dispatchers

New Haven, Dec. 14.—The demand for an increase in wages by the train dispatchers of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad will be granted. This means that the average rate for the dispatchers will be $27.50 a week, an advance of $2.50.

Car Shortage Investigation

Washington, Dec. 14.—The interstate commerce commission will extend the proposed investigation into the apparent shortage of car equipment to Kansas City, St. Louis and Chicago. It is said by the commission that the final and complete remedy for the situation must come from congress, which up to this time has not given the commission authority over the movement of trains or the furnishing of equipment.

Million Loan to Exposition

Washington, Dec. 14.—At a meeting of the government board of the Jamestown Exposition, consisting of Secretaries Taft, Shaw and Bonaparte, with the officers of the exposition company, it was decided to recommend the passage of the bill providing for a loan of $1,000,000 by the government to the exposition company, gate receipts to be pledged for refunding the money.

Control of Ocean Carrying Rates

Washington, Dec. 14.—"The jurisdiction of the commission ends with the water's edge," was the declaration in brief of representatives of the various steamship lines who appeared before the interstate commerce commission in the hearing on the question of the power of that body over ocean carrying rates, when operated in connection with domestic rates.

A NATION OF CRIPPLES RHEUMATISM BEYOND CONTROL

The Only Hope to Rheumatic Suffers is Uric-O Treatment.

If rheumatism continues to spread as it has in the past few years, it would seem as though we would before long become a nation of cripples. The terrible destructiveness of this disease is apparent on every side of us. Almost nine out of ten of the cripples one meets had their affliction brought on by Rheumatism. How many thousands more there are that are hopelessly bed-ridden and whom we never see. Rheumatism from the very nature of the disease, can never cure itself, and if neglected, is bound to grow worse rather than better. If you ever have any twinges of Rheumatism go to E. J. Murphy's drug store right here in Quincy, and get a bottle of Uric-O, the wonderful new Rheumatic Specific. It will cure you and is the only treatment in the world that will cure you permanently and thoroughly. Uric-O cures by its direct action on the muscles, blood and kidneys. It seeks out the poisonous Uric and Rheumatic Acid and drives it from the system and it is only a treatment of such a nature that will ever cure Rheumatism. Liniments and plasters only serve to drive it from one spot to another. They never cure Rheumatism, because it is primarily a blood disease, and until the blood is cleared from the poison, a cure cannot take place.

There never was a case of Rheumatism that Uric-O could not cure and you should not put off taking it because it is in the end by far the cheapest method. You can test Uric-O free of charge if you wish. Just cut out this advertisement and send it to the Smith Drug Co., Syracuse, N. Y., and state that you have never used Uric-O and would like to try it. They will send you a free sample which you can test and try free of charge.

The public school close next Wednesday for the Christmas holidays.

Some illustrated Christmas articles will be features of the Saturday eight page Daily Ledger.

The Athletic Association of the Quincy High School wishes to thank the public for its generous contribution for the football season of 1906.

The High school foot-ball team of 1906 was photographed this morning. John D. Gourley, one of the star players, was elected captain of the team for 1907.

A skating party, composed of a dozen or so young people of the Park and Downs, took advantage of the fine ice and weather Wednesday evening, and had a good time on the rink at Milton.

Miss Katherine Donovan, better known as Thompson, of Main street, sailed on Tuesday last on the Steamship Saxonia, for Europe, where she will be the guest of relatives and friends for three months.

The "Sky Scrappers," an original opera by two Radcliffe seniors, will be given at that college Friday and Saturday. Miss Mollie G. Brown of Willow street is to have one of the prominent parts.

Several members of George L. Gill Rebekah lodge were guests of Mystic lodge of Charlestown Thursday evening, and enjoyed the work of the degree team on several candidates. It was done in exemplary manner and great credit is due the degree master, H. W. Cate, for his patient and untiring efforts.

Following the sermon at the evening service on the Wollaston Baptist church Sunday evening the ordinance of baptism was administered. Six of the seven candidates were members of the Sunday school. During the last few weeks fifteen have united with the church by baptism and a number by letter.

A basket-ball game between the Reading and Quincy associations will be the leading feature of the program for the ext Ladies Night of the Y. M. C. A. which occurs next Saturday evening. At this time all ladies will be admitted to the game free of charge. A good game is assured as the teams are very evenly matched.

At the whist party held in Colonial hall on Monday evening, owing to bad weather, only fourteen tables were in play. All had an enjoyable evening and souvenirs were given to the following: Mrs. J. G. Thomas, Mrs. J. F. Gleason Mrs. I. M. Holt, Miss Laura Thornley, Mrs. F. Haver, J. G. Thomas, H. Lea, L. Gleason, James Nichols and B. Phelps.

St. Chrysostom's branch of the Girls' Friendly society accepted Mrs. C. T. Whittemore's invitation to visit All Saints branch, Ashmont, Thursday evening. After the usual G. F. S. service, and greeting by Rev. C. T. Whittemore, their chaplain, and a few words in reply by Rev. A. Edwin Clattenburg, a thoroughly enjoyable evening's entertainment was provided of music and games. Prizes were won by the Misses Grace and Ruth Parker and Louisa Allison Ross. Refreshments were served. It was an evening long to be remembered by all.

Dr. Peirce of Hancock street, Norfolk Downs, is ill at his home with appendicitis. He will have an operation performed in a day or so, as soon as he becomes rested.

The third supper and social of the Wollaston Unitarian church was held Thursday evening. Mrs. E. W. Hunt was in charge. It was very well attended and a good, social time was enjoyed.

The Snow King double-runner, the champion of New England, appeared out Tuesday night for the first time this year, on Quarry street hill. It made a fine showing and its owners challenge any double-runner in New England to race them. For full particulars apply or write to Charles Dahl, 11 Quarry street, Quincy.

The December meeting of the Congregational Club of Wollaston will be held next Tuesday evening in the vestry of the church. The address will be by Mr. Ibrahim Esbir Ul-Khouri on "The Bedouin Arabs, their ways of life and love." He will appear in native costume. Supper will be served at 6.30 o'clock.

St John's Day On Sunday

Special services appropriate to St. John's day will be held at the Wollaston Congregational church Sunday afternoon at 3.15 o'clock. Rev. Edward A. Chase, the pastor, who is chaplain of Wollaston and Massachusetts Masonic lodges, has extended an invitation to these two bodies and also to Rural lodge of Quincy and Quincy Chapter, Order Eastern Star, to be present. They have accepted and will attend in a body. A general invitation is also extended to the public to attend.

An elaborate program has been arranged for the service. It will include a trio for the organ, violin and violoncello; anthems by the choir, composed of Mrs. Mary Hastings Slade, Miss Ellen I. Smith, Victor Crawford, and William Howard; Miss Adelaide T. Thomas, violinist, and Miss Marion Moorhouse, cellist.

Responsive lesson, from the first letter of St. John, scripture lesson, prayer, offertory and address by Rev. Edward A. Chase on "The Building of Manhood."

The several Masonic bodies will assemble at the apartments of Wollaston lodge on Newport avenue at 2.45 and march to the church.

—The hostility between the English House of Lords and the House of Commons has now reached an open stage. The lower house, after debating the matter all day, rejected all of the amendments of the House of Lords to the education bill by a vote of 416 to 107, the Irish members voting with the government. A committee was appointed to draw up the reasons for the rejection of the amendments.

Danderine

GREW THIS HAIR.

And we can PROVE IT

Testimonial No. 570.

MRS. ANNIE E. SHEEHAN, Weir City, Kansas.

You must remember that falling hair and dandruff are signs of decay, or a diseased condition of the scalp, and you must not delay treatment. To do so simply means more loss of hair, and a greater impoverished scalp, and finally no hair. The wise thing to do is to correct it in the start. Danderine works wonders in all such cases. It will quickly regenerate the enfeebled tissues, and make your hair grow more beautiful than it ever was. NOW at all druggists, three sizes.

NEW CANDLE SHADE.

Shawl-like Effects the Latest Fad From Paris.

The smartest shades imported from France are shawl-like in effect, and instead of the material being fitted to every rod in the frame a circular piece of the material, with the center cut out for the chimney, is made to fit the dome shaped wires. It then falls in graceful folds, the weight of the fringe holding it down in place.

The shawl effects in soft pinks, light blues, deep reds or vivid orange shades of silk are stunning for use on a dining room table or in a parlor or hall. The drapery, to give variety, may be cut square or with deep points, four or five, according to the size of the frames, or in narrow scallops that give breadth to the shade. A gimp is being much used this year. A narrow piece of it in gilt or silver at the bottom makes a pretty finish to cover the heading of the fringe. For these shades narrow bead fringe can be bought by the yard instead of on hoops.

While the trimming at the bottom is quite simple, the upper or chimney effect is often elaborate on some of the smartest shades, being fashioned into the appearance of a crown, either elaborately shirred or smocked.

Where this top is joined to the lower portion a broad piece of gimp or a ribbon is used to cover the stitches and to lend a finished appearance to the shade.

To make a candle shade first bind the wire frame top and bottom with a narrow strip of soft cotton cloth to give something to sew to. Then for the lining take a strip the depth of the frame, pin it to the bottom, then gore it at the ribs by pinning to fit. Remove the silk, sew up the gores and trim and press the seams open. Then sew into place on the frame, turning the seams toward the outside of the frame so that when covered they will not show. Next sew the material straight about the lower edge or plait it plainly in fine plaits if more fullness is desired. Draw the material up to the top of the frame and first fasten with pins if the silk or cretonne is plaited so as to get the folds exact, or, in the case of shirring, the silk should first be gathered, then the fullness placed before the final sewing.

If the shades are made in scallops, each piece, both the lining and outside, must be fitted in place.

A Baker's Paradise.

London is a baker's paradise. Bread-making seems to be a lost art with the housekeepers of the metropolis. It would be interesting to know the number of families that make their own bread. Yeast in any form is almost unknown. However, the baker always is to be depended upon, and the variety of bread from the ugly looking round workman's loaf to the dainty French roll is almost unlimited. But the way it is carted round the streets would shock a good housewife. Almost "any old thing" in the shape of a vehicle answers the purpose of conveying it from bakery to customer. Push-carts, coster wagons, tricycles, etc., are called into service, and the loaves are piled up in the open like so much cord wood and carried hugged in the arms of the dirt begrimed driver to the kitchen. Many times a loaf falls to the greasy, muddy street, to be picked up and polished on the sleeve of the driver.

Hints For the Housewife.

To remove the smell of onions or fish from the frying pan put a little vinegar in it directly after using and put over the fire a few minutes. Then wash again in soapy water.

For washing bottles or vinegar cruets save eggshells in a paper bag; crush them fine, put in the cruets with warm, soapy water and shake well. This will clean and not scratch the finest glass.

Rubber bands are most useful for keeping sleeves out of the way when doing housework. Pull your sleeves up as far as you want them to go and put the bands round your arms over the sleeves.

A cement for mending a cracked stove is made of wood ashes and salt in equal proportions reduced to a paste with cold water. Fill in the cracks when the stove is cool. It will soon harden and may then be polished over.

New Veils.

Eccentricities in veils are out of date if you except an occasional extreme lace veil with design so big and so bold that the delicate quality which you naturally expect of veils is utterly lost.

A few veils are embroidered, always in silk, with the design kept strictly within the bounds of a border and with velvet or chenille balls—little ones—dotted over the veil.

Before the committee finished its labors it extended a vote of thanks to Councilman Nichols of the committee for the impartial manner in which he had presided over its several meetings and for his valuable aid and suggestions in framing the report.

Warship Work.

The December 1 report of warship construction showed the battleship Vermont at Quincy to be 96 per cent. completed, and work to be progressing on the Connecticut, Minnesota, Nebraska, Kansas, Mississippi, Idaho, and New Hampshire. A start has been made on the South Carolina and Michigan.

The report shows no work was done on the scout cruisers Birmingham and Salem building at Quincy during the month of November, but this must be an error.

The two submarine boats not launched, the Viper and Tarantula, are now over 81 per cent completed at the Quincy yard.

—After a narrow escape from death on the stage of the Garrick Theatre Saturday night, Julia Marlowe yesterday refused to allow the orchestra to play on the stage. The management placed 28 chairs in the orchestra pit, sold them to patrons, and put the musicians on the paint bridge back of the stage. The bridge collapsed under the weight of the musicians while Miss Marlowe, waiting for her cue, was standing within two feet of it. One of the flying timbers narrowly missed her head.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

SMOOT CASE IS UP

Discussed by Burrows In Carefully Prepared Speech

MORMON CHURCH'S POWER

Concentrated on Candidate Who Has Permission of Hierarchy to Seek Office--Says Senator Is Identified With Polygamists

Washington, Dec. 12.—The question of Senator Reed Smoot's right to a seat as a United States senator from Utah was discussed by Senator Burrows in the senate for more than three hours in a carefully prepared speech. Smoot occupied his place in the chamber. The speech was an arraignment of Mormonism and the responsibility which attached to Smoot for Mormon principles as a member of the apostolic body of the church.

He said that since the admission of Utah into the Union the people of the state have been, if possible, more completely under the domination of the Mormon hierarchy than during the long years of their territorial existence, and "the only office held by a non-Mormon under the state government during the 10 years of its existence as an elective officer has been the attorney general."

He cited many instances of political interference not only in Utah, but adjoining states, and quoted the church manifesto of 1896 requiring members to obtain the consent of the hierarchy before becoming candidates for office. Smoot had been compelled to obtain this permission. "He was nominated by the hierarchy," said Burrows, "and the selection ratified by the legislature." He went on: "No more cunningly devised scheme could possibly be concocted to put the church in politics and make it potential therein than this. For the moment it is known that a candidate has permission of the hierarchy to be a candidate, that moment he has back of him the whole power of the Mormon church and his election is assured."

He said that Smoot's membership in the church governing body which inculcates a belief in polygamy, is conceded. He spoke of the astonishment of the committee at the confessions of President Smith and of the revelations of the fact that eight of the 12 apostles have plural wives. Referring to Smith's confession of five wives and 42 children, Burrows added:

"If the public press is to be credited, this number has been augmented during the last year to 43, and while we are discussing the right of the representative of the hierarchy to a seat in this body we can imagine its saintly head sitting in the home of his fifth plural wife, rocking the cradle of the latest illegitimate offspring of his debauchery and crime, and with sanctimonious air singing the familiar hymn of his church:

"Now, the gentile reign is o'er,
Darkness covers earth no more,
Gentile tyrants sink to hell,
Now's the day of Israel."

Coming to the connection of Smoot with the hierarchy, Burrows said that practically all of its members were polygamists when he became a member. "The vital question therefore is," he said, "Can one become a member of and identify himmself with a band of law breakers, knowing them to be such, participate in their counsels, and sustain them in their conferences, and yet escape all responsibility for their unlawful acts? Such a contention will not stand the test of either law or reason."

Senator Burrows concluded as follows: "It is submitted that the senator, by becoming a member of and identifying himself with such organization and participating in its functions, has disqualified himself for membership in this body. An organization that fosters and encourages crime; tramples upon all law, human and divine; practicises polygamy and polygamous cohabitation; desecrates the home, degrades womanhood; debauches public morals; strikes at the Christian civilization of this age; undermines and shakes the foundations of human society and government; destroys the sanctity of the marriage relation; defies the authority of the state and national government; registers an oath of hostility to the American nation and brings the name and fame of the good people of Utah into disrepute and shame and humiliation to the American people—I submit that such an organization is not entitled to have its representative in the senate of the United States and I therefore ask the adoption of the resolution."

Conditions on the Isthmus

New York, Dec. 12.—Chief Engineer Stevens and Assistant Chief Engineer Sullivan of the Panama canal commission arrived here on the steamer Panama from Colon. They are home for the holidays. In speaking of conditions on the isthmus, Stevens said: "There are at present at work on the canal 17,000 men, 5000 of whom are white. There are no Chinese among the workmen. The best workmen are the Italians and Spaniards. There has not been a death since July and very little sickness."

Steamer Passenger Has Smallpox

New York, Dec. 12.—Steamer Bluecher, from Hamburg, Southampton and Cherbourg, was detained at quarantine with a case of smallpox among the second-cabin passengers. The Bluecher has 52 saloon, 115 second-cabin and 1551 steerage passengers.

SIRES AND SONS.

General A. W. Greely now records his prediction that the north pole will never be reached on account of the drifting ice surrounding it.

General Sir Ian Hamilton, who may succeed Lord Kitchener as commander in chief of India, has been wounded in almost every action in which he has taken part.

Henry C. Perkins, Hannen Jennings and Gardiner Williams, three wealthy Californians who made most of their money in South Africa, will build magnificent houses in Washington.

Colonel Thomas Conner of Joplin is the first millionaire ever elected to the Missouri state senate. Although very rich, he is in all respects a plain Missourian. He made his money in mining enterprises.

Representative Sereno Payne, the busy chairman of the ways and means committee, when congress is in session works fifteen out of the twenty-four hours. He is a close friend of Speaker Cannon, and the two usually leave the capitol arm in arm and stroll down Pennsylvania avenue when the day's work is done.

Sir William Treloar, the new lord mayor of London, served as an alderman since 1892. Sir William has been known as the "children's alderman" because of his many benefactions to the children of the slums. He was largely instrumental in securing the opening of the British museum on Sundays. He was born in London in 1843.

All three of the congressmen recently elected from Boston—Joseph F. O'Connell, John A. Keliher and Andrew J. Peters—are young men and bachelors. It is the first time in the history of the city that a husband and father has not been included in Boston's delegation to Washington, and incidentally it becomes the youngest delegation that was ever sent from any city in the country.

An invitation to the home of Mrs. James Henry Stetson always means a good time for those attending and Wednesday afternoon was no exception. About fifty ladies responded to Mrs. Stetson's invitation to play whist, there being eleven tables in play besides those looking on. The game was progressive with four hands at each table. There were frequent intermissions when all gathered in the dining room to enjoy delicious salad, punch, coffee, cake, bon bons, etc. High scores were made by Mrs. Paul R. Blackmur and Mrs. T. L. Sturtevant, who received pretty souvenirs as did also Mrs. Lewis Bass, who had low score. It was a thoroughly delightful afternoon. Dainty gowns, floral decorations of chrysanthemums and American beauty roses, and a charming hostess in the setting of a beautiful home, all contributed to the enjoyment.

MAYOR NOT GUILTY

But Injunction Is Ordered Against Several Union Men

Mayor Thompson and Commissioner of Public Works Thomas P. Burke as well as Aaron H. Gould, the architect of the Quincy High school, were freed from the charge of conspiracy to injure the business of James E. and Augustus Keough (the Keough Electrical Company), and deprive them of their right to finish up their work under the contract for the electrical work and appliances in the building, by Judge Lawton in the superior court yesterday, says the Herald. The Keoughs' suit, as against them, was dismissed and an injunction refused. Judge Lawton also found no evidence to connect Jeremiah O'Connor, J. E. Kennedy, J. B. Oaks, James W. Corprew, trades-unionists, with the interference of the Keoughs on the job, and dismissed the bill against them also.

A temporary injunction was, however, ordered against John W. Barton, business agent of the Electrical Workers' union, and William Hammond, C. S. Jones, A. J. Carlson, Almond S. Johnson, Charles L. Lewis, Albert Holbrook and Harry Palmer, union workmen, restraining them from maintaining a strike of union workmen in the building, started because the Keoughs had a non-union workman engaged there. Barton is also to be further restrained from interfering with other jobs being done by the Keoughs because they have non-union workmen employed.

The strike on the building had been put in operation when the suit was brought on Monday. Judge Lawton said that, while he could not make the strikers return to work, still he could, and felt on the evidence that he should, issue a temporary injunction restraining the latter defendents from continuing it because it was unlawful. In a word he said, the effect was that the court dissolved the strike. For the information of the defendants' restrained, he said that none of them would have the right to advise or prevent workmen from returning to work if the latter voluntarily desired to do so.

The court found that the city officials did not enter into conspiracy against the rights of the Keoughs. The trouble about working in the building, which added to delays already incurred in finishing it for use by pupils, placed the city officials in a dilemma. In trying to extricate the city from the dilemma and settle up the trouble, the court felt they acted for what they believed was the best interest of the public, and it could not say they acted with a view to injure the plaintiff.

The pleadings in the case are to be filed at once and the case heard by a master on its merits as against the remaining defendants.

J. J. Feely and Roger Clapp; S. A. Fuller, F. W. Mansfield and W. R. Thomas.

Reception At Wollaston

One of the largest and most enjoyable receptions of the season was given Friday afternoon in Brasee hall, Wollaston, by Mrs. Alfred L. Goodrich, Mrs. Howard G. Kingman and Mrs. Walter S. Pinkham to subscribers to the kindergarten and their friends, to meet Miss Parker and Miss Cummings, teachers in the school. From three to five o'clock the hall was filled with guests.

The hall was decorated with red carnations mingled with ferns, and holly with its bright berries, the color scheme being green and red. The candelebra with red.

In the receiving line were the hostesses in charming costumes, and the Misses Parker and Cummings, becomingly gowned in white. The ushers were Mrs. Alfred Thompson and Mrs. George Fleming.

At the daintily appointed tea tables, over which the candelabra with red hades cast a soft subdued light, presided Mrs. Oscar A. Blaisdell, Mrs. Ernest A. Hicks and Mrs. J. Arthur Jewell. They dispensed tea and chocolate, also sandwiches, cake and bon bons, assisted by Miss Helen Baker, Miss Ruth Bass, Miss Ninon Lacey, Miss Mary Murray, Miss Louise Nash, Miss Helen Seavey, Miss Dorothy Sayward and Miss Abbie Wilde.

The delightful music was in charge of Mr. Roy Weston.

Among those noticed from out of town were Mrs. Mary J. Lincoln of Boston and Miss Gertrude Elliott of London.

WITH A PROTEST

New Bedford Operatives Accept Offer of Manufacturers

RAISE OF 7 1-2 PERCENT

Employers Declare That They Pay Higher Wages Than Any Other Textile Center and Refuse a Ten Percent Advance

New Bedford, Mass., Dec. 15.—The Textile Council, after listening to the reports of various unions on the result of the balloting on the matter of accepting the wage advance of 7½ percent, which went into effect this week, voted unanimously at a meeting last night to accept the offer of the manufacturers under protest.

This action by the Textile Council practically ends the campaign which has been waged by the operatives for more than three weeks to secure a wage advance of 10 percent. It was intimated by some of the delegates to the Textile Council that future action might be taken to secure the 2½ percent difference between the increase granted by the manufacturers and the increase demanded by the operatives.

With the exception of a few of the more radical of the operatives the cotton mill employes as a whole have expected the action taken by the Textile Council. A few of the operatives, however, were prepared to go out on strike unless the manufacturers granted the entire demand for a 10 percent increase.

The latest agitation for an advance in wages among the textile operatives in this city dates back to when the operatives, through the Textile Council, demanded a wage increase of 10 percent. The Manufacturers' association, composed of all the cotton manufacturers in the city, refused to grant the demand in full, but offered an increase of 7½ percent. Accompanying this offer was a statement in which the declaration was made that the local manufacturers were paying the highest wages of any textile center in the country; that the condition of the market and the price of the raw cotton would not leave large enough profit to the manufacturers if the 10 percent increase was granted, and that the best the manufacturers could do for the operatives was to offer an advance of 7½ percent.

Last week the Textile Council, after reviewing the report of the various Textile unions, again demanded a 10 percent increase. The Manufacturers' association once more refused to grant the demand, and repeated that an increase of 7½ percent was all that the operatives could expect. The next step in the campaign was the action by the Textile Council last night.

Mine Fire Beyond Control

Glace Bay, N. S., Dec. 15.—Fire which broke out in the Hub colliery at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon steadily gained headway and is far from being under control. The fire originated at the pump house at the bottom of the mine. The firemen were ordered out of the mine at 10 o'clock last night and the shaft was boarded up. It is said that the mine is almost entirely clear of gas and that no explosions are liable to occur. So far as is known, all the men who were at work in the pit before the fire started made their escape.

Promiscuous Shooting by Italians

New York, Dec. 15.—In a street shooting affray in the Italian colony last night, Michael Dambra received a bullet in the head which later caused his death. Angelo Lidoro, 23 years old, is charged with having shot Dambra. Lidoro himself is suffering from a wound in the thigh. Josephine Sanmartino, 11 years old, who was standing near the scene of the affray, received a wound in the side from a stray bullet. All three were removed to a hospital.

Mrs Birdsong Denied New Trial

Hazlehurst, Miss., Dec. 15.—Mrs. Angie Birdsong has been denied a new trial by Judge Miller. She was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary and notice was given of appeal to the Mississippi supreme court. Bail was granted in the sum of $10,000 and she was released on bond. Mrs. Birdsong shot and killed Dr. Thomas Butler and was convicted of manslaughter.

Speed Limit on Automobile

Montpelier, Vt., Dec. 15.—The action of the house in ordering to a third reading a bill limiting the speed of automobiles on country roads to 25 miles an hour is regarded as practically clearing up the somewhat complicated situation arising from the introduction in the Vermont legislature of many conflicting automobile measures.

Battleship's Boiler Out of Gear

New Orleans, Dec. 15.—Examination of the battleship Louisiana's starboard engine showed that, in addition to the piston ring, other parts of the mechanism are cracked, and there is the prospect that repairs may delay the Louisiana's departure for a week. The cause of the accident has not been announced.

Tunnel Meets Under River

New York, Dec. 15.—The two sections of the tunnel under the East river which were started simultaneously in New York and Brooklyn have been brought together under the bed of the river. The two shields came together almost directly under the center

CHILD LABOR LAW

State Police Said to Be Neglecting Duty Regarding It

Boston, Dec. 15.—The issuance last night of the bulletin of Chief Pidgin of the state bureau of statistics and labor alleging gross violations of the child labor law, followed by the declaration by Pidgin that the state police are neglecting their duty in regard to child labor law enforcement, has precipitated a clash between Pidgin and Chief Shaw of the state police.

Following Pidgin's arraignment of Shaw comes Pidgin's declaration that not alone are the state police neglecting their duties, but that the school committees and boards throughout the commonwealth are lax in the performance of their sworn duties in not enforcing the child labor laws.

Chief Shaw and various school committee officials deny the declarations of Pidgin, who added to his arraignment the plea that the incoming legislature get at the facts and correct the grave abuses which he claims exist. Various labor leaders who were seen back up Pidgin.

The entire matter of child labor problems is to be put before the legislature and Governor Guild's inaugural message is expected to deal with the matter.

Incidentally, Pidgin refuses to furnish any information to Shaw concerning alleged violations of the law; says it is Shaw's business to dig up facts himself, and criticises the condition of affairs in the department of state police. The report, a public document, touches on wages, shows great inequalities in the prices of necessities of life in cities and towns and shows an increase of divorces.

Distinguished Linguist Dead

Bristol, Vt., Dec. 15.—Jeremiah Curtin, aged 66, died of Bright's disease at the home of Dr. Anson Norton, whom he was visiting. Curtin was proficient in 70 languages, excelling as a linguist, it is said, any other living man. After his graduation from Harvard, in 1863, he became secretary of the United States legation in Russia and later acting consul general there. For many years he was actively engaged in special work for the Smithsonian institution, studying the language and folk lore of many peoples. He was well known as the translator of Russian and Polish novels.

Sportsmen Nearly Perished

Portland, Me., Dec. 15.—Marooned for three days on a barren, shelterless island, 10 miles out to sea, with the temperature at zero for two days and a northeast blizzard the third, and with nothing to eat but one duck which they had shot, Everett Bexarage, Elisha F. Brown and Owen Quenn, three young sportsmen of North Haven, Me., were finally rescued by a passing fishing schooner which saw the old shirt they had hoisted as a signal of distress. All three had their hands and feet frozen, and Quinn was lifted unconscious into the boat and may die as a result of exposure.

Alleged Boy Murderer on Trial

Rockville, Conn., Dec. 15.—When the criminal superior court adjourned until next week the state had put on a total of 11 witnesses in the trial of Charles Bishop, the 18-year-old farmhand, charged with the murder of his foster mother, Mrs. Henry Williams. Henry Williams, the husband of the murdered woman, told of being met by Bishop, who announced to him that Mrs. Williams had been murdered, and his coming upon the body in the house. During his recital the witness broke down and sobbed.

Hunting Season Fatalities

Augusta, Me., Dec. 15.—During the open season on big game, which closed at midnight last night, 10 human lives were lost by the use of firearms, the overturning of a canoe or exposure. In three cases the victim was mistaken for a deer or bear, five were killed by the accidental discharge of guns, one was capsized from a canoe and one died from exposure. In addition, there were a number of accidents which did not result fatally.

Kansas Exceeds Contract Speed

Boston, Dec. 15.—Without being exerted to her utmost power, battleship Kansas, built by the New York Shipbuilding company of Camden, N. J., slightly exceeded her contract speed of 18 knots an hour in her four hours' trial run off the Maine coast, attaining an average speed of 18.096 knots for the four hours. The propellors averaged 121.318 revolutions a minute throughout the run.

Long Overdue Bark Reaches Port

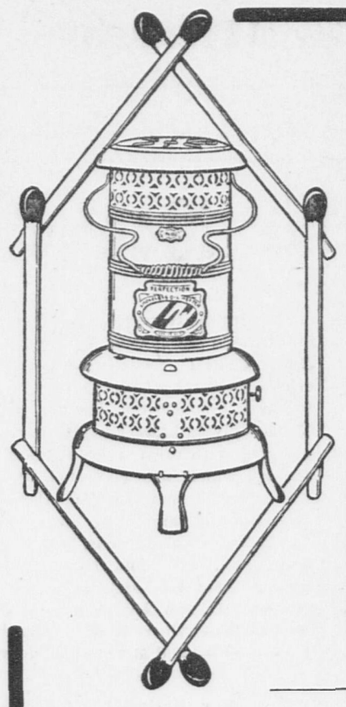

Boston, Dec. 15.—After being battered by gales and tremendous seas all the way across the Atlantic, the Norwegian bark Deveron was towed to an anchorage in the harbor last night. She was 60 days on the passage from Fleetwood, Eng. The gravest fears had been felt for her safety and the lives of the 14 men comprising her crew.

Fish Furnished Food For Flames

Gloucester, Mass., Dec. 15.—Many tons of fish, cured and in the process of curing, were destroyed last night in a fire that destroyed part of the fish-packing plant of Cunningham & Thompson. The fire started in the boiler room of a building used for curing and storing fish. The total loss is estimated at $35,000.

Illegally Landed Chinese

Providence, Dec. 15.—John C. Lehnemann, charged with aiding in the illegal landing of 42 Chinese at this port on the schooner Frolic, entered a plea of nolo contendre, after having retracted his plea of not guilty. He was then sentenced to three months' imprisonment

CHRISTMAS GIFTS.

Trifles That Can Be Made From Odds and Ends.

Just at this time of year we begin to think of making little gifts that will do for Christmas, for so many people prefer something that is the work of the giver.

Here is a very dainty little trifle for which quite small scraps of silk and fancy material, the latter for the outside, may be used. It is a heart shaped affair, part needlebook, part pincushion, and contains the most essential items of the furnishings of a workbasket:

First cut four heart shaped pieces of cardboard exactly the same size. Two of these are left intact, and the other two are cut in two lengthwise from the apex—that is, to the central point between the two lobes. Cover the two hearts and the four half hearts neatly inside and out, oversewing along the edge.

Across one of the whole hearts sew a straight band of ribbon from side to side, oversewing it on to the two edges. Catch the ribbon at intervals so as to make three holders for nail file, scissors and orange stick. Cut out and sew to the inside of the other whole heart a smaller heart of white flannel, inside of which sew a still smaller heart of white flannel. In these pieces pins, needles, safety pins, etc., may be placed.

Across each section of the half hearts on the inside sew a band of ribbon from the lobes to the center of the heart, so that the ribbon meets in a peak when the two pieces of the heart are put together. Catch the ribbon down so that cards of darning cotton, black and white thread and a powder paper book may be stuck in the pieces securely.

Oversew the two sections of the cut hearts together so that they will fold together on each other. Then tack the four hearts together at the apex. The two cut hearts will then fold inward on each other, so that they come together in the center when you wish to close the book. The two whole hearts fold together over these, and the whole ties together with the ribbon attached to the whole hearts.

the nut and then gild the shell. Bore a small hole or holes for the twine. Make a pretty sling of velvet ribbon, as shown, place the string in position and then place together the cocoanut halves and tie the ribbon as shown.

The Sun Ray In the House.

Who is the sunshine in your home? Are you? If not, try to be so from today. Let it always be possible for others to turn to you for cheeriness and brightness and know that they can depend upon you as a sure source.

Your position will be on a vantage ground from which no one can turn you, a tilting yard where good looks do not enter the lists against you and if they do you are well armed against all comers. As a dear old clergyman once said, "Let your brightness and cheeriness be like the sweet, ever-flowing musical ripple of some woodland brook." Cheeriness is the sweetener in many an otherwise dull and gloomy household, making the home life a thing of different caliber. It is an atmosphere altogether different from affection and love, this brightening ray, and the happy possessor of this gladdening power may well congratulate herself on the good gift bestowed.

Oyster Salad.

Cook very slowly one onion, chopped fine, in two teaspoonfuls of good butter. Set on the back of the stove, add a tablespoonful of sugar and a third of a nutmeg grated and simmer slowly until the onion is well done. Simmer a pint of oysters in their liquor. When plump, drain and chop fine. Rub a teaspoonful of dry mustard and a tablespoonful of flour together and add cream enough to make a thick paste. When smooth, add the well beaten yolk of an egg and half a cup more of cream. Add to the onion and butter and cook slowly five minutes in a double boiler, beating in slowly half a cup of good catchup and two tablespoonfuls of good vinegar. Chill both oysters and dressing. Mix before serving, seasoning the oysters with salt before mixing. Serve garnished with thin slices of lemon.

PRESIDENT AS A STOKER.

Showed What He Could Do With the Shovel on a Warship.

President Roosevelt made himself solid with the crew of the battleship Louisiana the other morning while on his way home from Panama by going down into the fire room of the ship and firing one of the boilers.

The story was related at Newport News, Va., by one of the ship's firemen on shore leave while the Louisiana was in port for coal, says the New York Sun.

According to the story, the president expressed to Captain Couden and other officers of the ship a desire to go down among the firemen and the stokers, so he was unceremoniously escorted down the ladder into the dark and grimy fire room, where the heat is excessive.

After shaking hands all around and watching the firemen shovel coal into the big furnaces the president thought he would like to try his hand at the game. So he was supplied with a shovel, introduced to the coal pile and invited to shovel away. The door of the furnace under No. 3 boiler of No. 3 fire room was thrown open, and the hot blast from within struck the head of the nation full in the face.

He turned to the coal pile, resolutely buried his shovel up to the handle, swung on it like a veteran and made a powerful heave toward the yawning furnace mouth, hungering for fuel.

A sudden lurch of the ship upset all calculations, however, and the shot went wide of the mark. Instead of going into the open door the coal struck hard against the furnace plate and rattled upon the floor. The president laughed heartily at the failure of his first effort and returned to the attack with renewed vigor.

The second shovelful found its mark and was devoured before the president had time to lower his shovel. He repeated the performance with the same success, and beaming through drops of perspiration he proudly received the congratulations of the regular firemen. He then shook hands all around again and climbed back to the deck.

Chief Engineer Crank has preserved the shovel with which the president worked and is going to send it to Mr. Roosevelt as a souvenir of the occasion.

JOKE ON LONGWORTH.

Why Congressman Couldn't Treat Visitors to Cigars From Humidor.

Representative Nicholas Longworth, son-in-law of the president, had some visitors at his home in Washington a few days ago, says a special dispatch to the New York World.

"Have a cigar," said Mr. Longworth, wishing to do the honors of his home. He went to his cigar humidor, a big, handsome one that stands in his office. "I have got some of the best cigars here you ever smoked. You will enjoy them."

The door of the humidor was locked. Mr. Longworth searched through his pockets and could not find the key. He looked on his desk. It was not there. Then he ran for the butler.

"Open that humidor, please," said Mr. Longworth when the servant came in. The butler stood on one foot and then on the other.

"Beg pardon, sir," he said, "but Mrs. Longworth has the key to that case."

Farming by Mail.

Farming by mail is one of the late novelties. The plan is to have the agricultural department of the state universities arrange for a four years' correspondence course, each year taking up its special phase of agricultural work, the correspondence to be based on text books supplied by monthly bulletins and practical experiments, says the Chicago Tribune. On the practical side the student is to set aside one acre upon which he can demonstrate and observe, keeping accurate account of results upon this acre and reporting to the university. An annual meeting at the state farms is contemplated. The plan is to be without charge beyond a small enrollment fee as evidence of good faith.

Chicago Beautiful.

[Under the auspices of the Merchants' club a movement for a Chicago beautiful has been inaugurated. Under the supervision of Daniel H. Burnham plans are to be prepared, completion of which it is estimated will take two or three years.]

Paris, prepare to hide thy head in shame
Berlin, for all thy latter day improvement,
Thy beauties soon will be eclipsed in fame,
In view of this our new aesthetic movement.
Vienna, Rome, no longer may ye vie
With Venice or such old artistic staples.
Tourists will see Chicago and then die
Without the trouble of a trip to Naples.
We mean to primp regardless of expense.
The plans will all be ready two years hence.

Marvels of architecture built to last;
No exposition stucco evanescent;
Reversions in arrangement to the past
In house fringed circus, terrace, square and crescent.
Fair, verdant lawns—where of the noonday sun
The gloom accustomed toiler now no ray sees—
Not here and there occasionally one,
But hundreds of such flower decked oases.
Beauty will then the downtown streets invade—
Just wait two years until the plans are made.

Bridges of marble o'er a crystal stream,
Arcades, kiosks, statues, triumphal arches,
Domes, minarets and spires—of these we dream
And of clean streets, if progress thus far marches;
Of smokeless chimneys we need not despair
When use with ornament we are combining.
We can't be very pretty if the air
Necessitates a daily kalsomining.
Well, we can wait a little anyhow;
We'll see the plans a year or two from now.

Gifts For the Globe Trotter

How They May Be Constructed at Home. Useful Traveling Pocket. Chamois Case

THIS ingenious arrangement for a traveling pocket, a veritable "multum in parvo," will commend itself to those in search of a present for globe trotters who like to travel unincumbered with dressing bags and reticules.

The pocket is most neat and businesslike when carried out in good chamois leather, the waist strap and pocket supports being composed of thicker leather. The waist strap fastens with a small buckle to render it more secure. The pocket is "built" over a stout cardboard foundation, and the outside leather must be fitted with its various compartments before fastening to the cardboard.

These compartments are five in number. They are made of chamois leather, and the edges are either pinked out or bound with narrow ribbon. They fasten with small pearl buttons and loops, and it would be as well to let a saddler machine them in their places, as there would be no danger then of the stitches giving way, and he could at the same time attach the small hanging strap pieces to the top of the pocket.

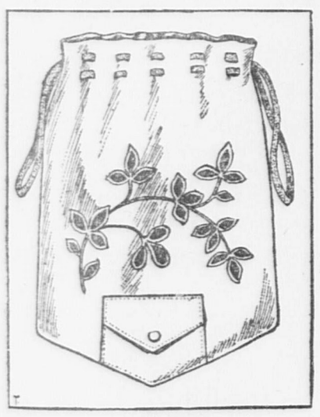

TRAVELING BAG.

You will see by the cut that all the traveler's requisites are thought of. Jewels, cards, loose money, checks and tickets have appointed places and are quite easy to get at. The back of the pocket is covered with chamois leather to correspond with the front, and the total cost of making is small, neatness and strong sewing being, however, most essential.

Such a pocket would be found invaluable on a walking tour or camping out expedition and most invaluable when traveling abroad. It is not ungainly or heavy to wear, and its practical use speaks for itself. The size must be regulated by the wearer's possible requirements.

Chamois Case.

The smaller bag seen in the sketch is also destined for traveling, and is composed of the ever useful chamois leather, with an appliqued design of leaves carried out in dark brown or black suede, the edges outlined with fine silk cord. (The tops of old suede gloves cut in required shapes are admirable for this kind of applique.) There is a serviceable outer pocket which serves as a purse and ticket receptacle, and it is necessary to stiffen the flap with coarse muslin and line it with thin silk to prevent creasing. The draw string is composed of silk braid, and the bag can be lined with silk or have an inner leather lining.

CHAMOIS CASE.

Gifts of Linen.

White linen tea cloths or table covers are always welcomed as presents, and a conventional design is always the safer if the worker desires to use colors and is not quite sure of her skill. One corner can be worked at the store, and the rest is easy sailing. Then, of course, there is all white, which will be perfectly safe in the hands of the veriest amateur, and indeed many housekeepers prefer the all white to colors.

Powder Puff.

Powder puffs are easy to make, and most women will be delighted to receive one. A puff which can be carried in the purse may be made by sewing together two round pieces of silk, with a piece of swan's down filled with powder inside. Stitch the silk twice around one inch from the edge to make a space for a drawing string of baby ribbon.

Claret Glasses as Pincushions.

Claret glasses do duty as pincushions when rightly treated. Fill them with curled hair and then draw tightly over the top and fasten to the stem a square of silk under one of net. Tie a half inch ribbon, the color of the silk, over the fastening on the stem of the glass.

THE BROWNSVILLE RIOT

Court Martial For Officers Who Commanded Negro Troops

Washington, Dec. 15.—On the recommendation of the general staff, the secretary of war has ordered the trial by court martial of Major Penrose and Captain Macklin of company C, first battalion, Twenty-fifth infantry, under the 62d article of war, for "conduct to the prejudice of good order and discipline" in failing in their duty in preventing and suppressing the riot at Brownsville, Tex., last August.

The specifications will include, among other things, the charge that the two officers named failed to exercise due diligence in preventing the occurrence when the condition of affairs at Brownsville made it necessary that all proper precautions should be taken to prevent a clash between the troops and citizens, and also that they did not examine the rifles of the men until daylight, although they learned of the true state of affairs by 1 or 2 o'clock in the morning.

The details as to the membership of the court and the place where the trial will be held have been left to the discretion of the commanding officer of the department of Texas.

Government Control of Railroads

City of Mexico, Dec. 15.—Details of the railway merger, by which the Mexican government takes control of all important railroad lines in the republic, have become known. By the terms of the contract the government procures absolute control of the Mexican Central, the National, the International and Inter-oceanic and the Hidalgo and Northeastern railroads, all of which will be merged into one great railroad system. The government also comes into control of the Texas-Mexican, a railroad at Laredo, Tex., which is owned by the National. The mileage of the system will aggregate 10,000 miles. A Mexican company, a majority of whose stock will be held by the Mexican government, will be organized with headquarters in Mexico City.

Explosion Rocked Whole Village

Eckman, W. Va., Dec. 15.—The explosion of 10,000 pounds of powder, loaded on three mine cars and drawn by a mine motor, caused the death of one person and the injury of nine others, two probably being fatally hurt. The powder was in tins and was being moved from a freight car to the magazine when sparks from the motor wheels set it off. Houses nearby were torn into splinters and the detonation rocked the entire village. Some of the wounded were horribly burned, several of them lost their eyes and the flesh hung in tatters from their bodies.

Fuel Shortage In the Northwest

Minneapolis, Dec. 15.—With the cold wave signal flying, the coal shortage in the northwest has become a case of severe suffering. Glenborn, N. D., is seriously considering an appeal to the governors of North Dakota and Minnesota to employ the state military in forcing the moving of coal trains. Evelth, Minn., faces darkness and suffering through deprivation of coal and apprehensive reports have come from numerous other places.

Obstruction of Justice

Pittsburg, Dec. 15.—President Cameron of the Pittsburg and Tube City Railroad company, who refused to answer questions relating to the alleged councilmanic franchise bribery conspiracy, was convicted in the criminal court of obstructing justice. This, however, does not settle the question of whether Cameron can be forced to testify. It is purely a question of law and will be decided later by Judge Evans.

Science Told Against Weight

Chicago, Dec. 15.—Fred Beell, champion catch-as-catch-can wrestler of America, met "Yankee" Rogers, the New England champion, here last night and won the match in two straight falls. The easterner weighed 57 pounds more than Beell, but the champion had the big fellow on the defensive all the time.

Badly Burned by Varnish

Newark, N. J., Dec. 15.—Three men were burned so seriously that they are not expected to live by an explosion of a cauldron of boiling varnish mixture at a leather plant here. The injured men were employed as mixers in the establishment and were standing close to the kettle when the explosion occurred.

Governor Magoon's Decrees

Havana, Dec. 15.—Governor Magoon has issued a decree directing all rural guardsmen to be especially vigilant in arresting all persons bearing arms without license. Another decree provides for the expenditure of $326,000 for sanitation in various towns throughout the island.

THE Young Men's Christian Association OF QUINCY, MASS.

(Legal Title – Incorporated 1892.)

The Directors of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.

Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.

The Treasurer, WILLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, ERNEST G. GAY, will be happy to answer inquiries.

OUR HOSPITAL

(Legal Title: City Hospital of Quincy)
INCORPORATED 1889

The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earnestly appeal for donations and bequests for the Endowment fund. This now amounts to over $60,000, but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed.

Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need, will be most gratefully received.

The Secretary, TIMOTHY REED, Adams St., Quincy, or the Treasurer, RICHARD D. CHASE, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad to confer with any one or to answer any inquiries.

When Annie Played Gooseberry

By Ethel Barrington

Copyright, 1906, by Homer Sprague

Blackberries hedged the road on either side as it wound higher and higher toward the Berkshires. Here and there some belated strawberries, tiny specks of crimson in the grass, joined their fragrance to the invigorating breath of the pines. From an unpainted barn came the persistent click-clack, thud-thud of a loom, where Miss Lettice was weaving yards of carpet from little balls of colored rag. A voice sharp enough to the verge of displeasure startled her.

"Will you finish tomorrow, sister?"

"I—it doesn't hardly seem possible"—

"'Twas promised. 'Pears to me you're uncommon slow. Surely you're not such a fool as to be thinking o' William Henderson and such nonsense at your age."

Miss Lettice's hand involuntarily sought the fastening of her bodice, but the faint crackle of the secreted paper was too imperceptible to reach Mrs. Allen's ears.

"The letter was delayed. He's going away tomorrow"—

"Lettice Howard, he's no man for you. We settled that years ago. I'm ashamed for you—that you so much as think on him now."

"He's free again"— Miss Lettice spoke deprecatingly.

"Free, is it? If he wasn't good enough for you when he was young, a widower with three children certainly ain't no gain." With a toss of the head Mrs. Allen recrossed the road to her cottage.

Miss Lettice sat miserably uncertain, her hands idle in her lap. She forgot the loom and Mrs. Harris, who was counting on the finished carpet. Her thoughts were with the curly headed lad from whom her sister had separated her because he failed to settle in the town where he was born, but, like a rolling stone, was forever wandering, apparently gathering little of this world's goods. Now he had returned and wanted to see her. It seemed a cruel prank of fate to have joined forces with her sister and in the form of delayed mail prevent their meeting. A tear gathered beneath her lashes, but before it fell a pair of warm arms wound themselves around her neck.

"Aunt Lettice, you're in love, in love! Don't ask me how I know, because you are. You don't listen to what folks are saying, and as to the carpet"—

"Yes, dear, the carpet." Miss Lettice seized the shuttle and sent it flying through the shed of warp threads. Her feet mechanically worked the treadle shifting the heddles; then with the batten she bent the woof of rag into place again and again.

"We can't talk through that noise," she remarked plaintively.

"My dear, there is nothing"—

"There is, you darling. Come, 'fess up. I'm not to be put off. It's fellow sympathy." The crimson deepened in the laughing face, and with soft wheedling she gained the desired confidence, and Miss Lettice surrendered her letter.

It was in no sense a love letter, yet it was the nearest approach that the spinster had ever received. Possibly she read between the lines:

Dear Lettice—I am visiting my brother Joe till Wednesday. I want so much to see you. If I'd be welcome send me word. Yours, as ever, WILLIAM.

"I—I only got it last night"—

"It's too late to write now," her niece hurried on, "but you must go to Chatham to see him. Make believe you're shopping. Jennie's going tomorrow. I'll have Rob ask her to stop for you."

"Sister would never listen. Besides, it's not the carrier's day."

"She's making a special trip for Rob's mother. Just to think"—the girl rose excitedly—"it must be ten years"—

"Twelve."

"And you've cared all this time! Oh, Aunt Lettice, how could you bear it? Mother's good as she can be, only she's had so much trouble it's made her a little hard. Do as I say and I'll play gooseberry for you. After breakfast come over here, as usual. About 10 walk down the road till the carrier overtakes you, then to Chatham with her and to Joe Henderson's, ask for William and you'll have hours together. Jennie will pick you up on her homeward trip. You'll be back to supper. Mother need never know unless you choose to tell her."

"But the carpet! If she doesn't hear the loom she'll come over to find out what's wrong."

"Leave that to me. I've got to think, but I'll fix it somehow."

During supper Mrs. Allen glanced anxiously at her sister's flushed cheeks and untouched plate. With the morrow William would be gone, then Lettice would return to her normal self.

Later, when Annie wandered down the road with Rob, the moonlight showed their heads very close together, while now and again the girl broke into a ripple of mischievous laughter. Watching, the mother felt a pang of jealousy. Rob was a good match, yet she dreaded the day she must yield her daughter to another, and tonight the time seemed very near. She went several times to her room for forgotten trifles, and each time there showed a line of light beneath her sister's door.

"Seems to me you're a long time getting to bed," she admonished.

"I—I'm most ready," came the reply. If Miss Lettice's voice sounded less even than usual Mrs. Allen was not herself sufficiently calm to notice.

As was customary in the morning, Miss Lettice betook herself to the barn, and the working of the loom broke familiarly on the quiet air. Shortly after 10 Mrs. Allen, attracted by the rumble of wheels on the road, saw that the carrier was making an extra trip. She spoke of it to Annie, who came in hot and tired to noonday dinner.

"Call your aunt," she continued. "The pork will be cold. I got it specially to tempt her. She's eaten nothing these two days."

"Rob's mother invited her"— began Annie nervously.

"What for?" Mrs. Allen turned sharply, dish in hand.

"She has some rags for carpet weaving. Rob told me about it."

Mrs. Allen sniffed, disgruntled. "Your aunt had to go traipsing off without telling me. Besides, there's none too much daylight to finish Mrs. Harris' piece."

In the afternoon she was too busy preserving to notice Annie's absence or give thought of her sister, but when the last jar of jelly was sealed she caught up her sunbonnet and crossed the road to relieve Lettice.

As she entered the barn the glare from the outside sunlight blinded her, but even when that passed she doubted her own sight. Rob was working the loom while Annie, rosy and tender, hung over the back of his chair. Miss Lettice was nowhere to be seen, but the carpet was completed. Even as she entered Rob threw down the shuttle and caught Annie around the waist.

"Now, my reward!" he cried, his lips seeking hers lovingly.

"Annie!" At Mrs. Allen's cry the young people turned, but Rob did not release the girl.

"Mrs. Allen, she's promised—that is, with your approval. I love her. I'll be as good to her as I know how."

"Say yes, mother. I'm so happy"—

There was a painful silence before Mrs. Allen reluctantly gave consent; then her bitterness sought an outlet.

"Where is your aunt?"

"The carpet's done," explained Rob cheerfully.

"Done, is it? By whom?"

"Mis' Allen, Mis' Allen"— The carrier drew her horse up at the barn and on Mrs. Allen's appearance thrust a note into her hand and hastened on.

"Daughter, did you know of this?" Mrs. Allen's voice shook as she passed the paper to the girl, who read aloud:

"Sister, don't be angry. I just had to see William, and he could not bear that we should part again. I'm very happy.
LETTICE HENDERSON.

"She's married, mother dear. Now it's done won't you be glad too?"

But Mrs. Allen turned and walked silently over to the cottage.

"It's a bit rough on her losing you both the same day," admitted Rob, drawing the girl's hand into his, "but we'll make it all up to her in the future."

The Telltale Cloak.

In the old days men and boys wore rather long cloaks in the winter time. They were black and were lined with very bright and showy Scotch plaids. One winter's night when I was starting to church to square a crime of some kind committed during the week I hid my cloak near the gate and went off and played with the other boys until church was over. Then I returned home. But in the dark I put the cloak on wrong side out, entered the room, threw the cloak aside and then stood the usual examination. I got along very well until the temperature of the church was mentioned. My mother said:

"It must have been impossible to keep warm there on such a night."

I didn't see the art of that remark and was foolish enough to explain that I wore my cloak all the time I was in church. She asked if I kept it on from church home too. I didn't see the bearing of that remark. I said that was what I had done. She said:

"You were in church with that red Scotch plaid outside and glaring? Didn't that attract any attention?"

Of course to continue such a dialogue would have been tedious and unprofitable, and I let it go and took the consequences.—From Mark Twain's Autobiography in North American Review.

Fish Stories.

It is constantly said that fishermen greatly exaggerate the size of the fish that are lost. This accusation, though most frequently and flippantly made, is in point of fact based upon the most absurd arrogance and a love of slanderous assertion that passes understanding. These are harsh words, but they are abundantly justified.

In the first place, all the presumptions are with the fisherman's contention. It is perfectly plain that large fish are more apt to escape than small ones. Of course their weight and activity, combined with the increased trickiness and resourcefulness of age and experience, greatly increase their ability to tear out the hook and enhance the danger that their antics will expose a fatal weakness in hook, leather, line or rod. Another presumption which must be regretfully mentioned arises from the fact that in many cases the encounter with a large fish causes such excitement and such distraction or perversion of judgment on the part of the fisherman as leads him to do the wrong thing or fail to do the right thing.—"Fishing and Shooting Sketches," by Grover Cleveland.

His Reason.

"Halfback Smashum says that football players should not be allowed to wear head protections."

"On what does he base his argument?"

"Why, he is out of the game with a lame foot, the result of kicking one of his opponents on the nose gear."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

The Daily Ledger will present some figures relative to water meters in its issue of Monday, with comments. It has not been shown conclusively that there has been any reduction in use of water because meters have been installed.

The great historical features of the Jamestown Exposition are so prominent and apparent that more interest is awakened in the exposition for that season than is usual at such an early date. In fact every department has its educational feature, and the lessons will be many and valuable.

The new Building ordinance, adopted by the city, concerning which little is known, will be printed in full in the Daily Ledger of Monday. It will occupy two full pages of the paper, and some of the rules and regulations will surprise the people generally. Ignorance of the law will not excuse anyone so it is well to be posted. Who will be inspector?

We have received a copy of the twenty-fifth annual report of the Massachusetts society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children from Mr. B. J. Loring who has been employed as their special agent for years. We are glad that this society has been enabled to help so many distressed children and feel that this rescue from want and sin fills an especial need in our state. Particularly now at this Christmas season, when so many happy homes are planning surprises and gifts for their little ones it seems a most worthy and Christ-like charity, this caring for the neglected and destitute. This most valuable work is supported, by benefactors who contribute varying sums, annual members who pay five dollars a year, life members who pay fifty dollars, contributors who pay less than five dollars. Donations of clothing etc, for the Home are appreciated.

The Cochato Club.

The snow storm Monday, followed by rain which made traveling disagreeable did not seem to interfere with the attendance at the ladies' bridge party. About ten tables were in use. Mrs. E. A. Haskell won an umbrella, Mrs. John A. Barbour a pencil and chain, and Mrs. G. O. Wales a china dish.

Members of the First Corps Cadets, Messrs. T. L. Drew, W. C. B. Fox, E. S. Nichols, W. Anderton, F. A. Henderton and R. Nichols proved very popular entertainers at the club on Wednesday evening. They were greeted with a large, enthusiastic audience. Their vaudeville, consisting of vocal selections, impersonations, monologues and piano selections, was of a high order. To Mr. and Mrs. H.W. Macomber, who had charge of the evening's program, much credit should be given.

Christmas Prize

The No-License League Expended That Amount In the Campaign

The Citizens' No-License league, in publishing their annual statement of the receipts and expenditures of the campaign, desire to thank most heartily the citizens for their splendid response at the polls, and also to express gratitude to the many who in one way or another have helped in the campaign.

Much thanks is due to our newspapers, the Daily Ledger, the Patriot, and the Advertiser for their support.

The Citizens' No-License league wish also to express their sincere appreciation of the efficient work which the churches throughout the whole city have done, particularly the Swedish and Finnish churches, and the Roman Catholic churches.

It is a splendid thing to have all people work unitedly as is done here in one common cause.

DRAMATIC NIGHT

Criterion Club Present Before Social Club "A Night Off"

That most every one enjoyes a good laugh was again demonstrated when a large audience filled First church chapel last evening to greet the Criterion club of Boston, which presented a four act comedy, "A Night Off." It was the second entertainment in the Social Club course, and being a dramatic night was popular not only with season ticket holders but the public generally.

Music before the play, during the acts, and at the close, was enjoyed, it being by Weston's orchestra of Wollaston.

The Criterion club, which is now on its 24th season, is without doubt the best amateur company in this vicinity, and has a far reaching reputation. Every one in the company is a star, or it seemed so last evening, for the play was capitally well done and without a dull moment.

The play hinged on a puritanical household, a good old professor at its head, with a wife and daughter of suspicious tendencies. The professor has written a Roman play and becomes interested in his production and consequently mixed up with theatrical people which leads to complications at home.

Mr. Samuel Oliver, as Junius Brutus Ham, manager of the theatrical company, was capital. In make-up and acting, Mr. Charles G. Smith as the professor did a fine bit of acting. Mr. Walter H. Dugan, the professor's son-in-law and a victim to his wife's suspicions, also was in every way adequate. Matilda, the maid, was fetching, and was certainly, "quite up to date," as acted by Miss Beatrice Nichols. Miss Sibbell Banks, as the professor's wife, and Miss Lena Twombly and Miss Mercy Sanborn, as his daughters, rounded out the cast ably sustaining their parts.

The club brought their own scenery and stage fittings, which were of course pretty and appropriate.

An Apology to City Treasurer

The editors of the Daily Ledger offer their apologies to the City Treasurer for the unjustice done him in their article "How City Accounts Balance" in yesterdays issue of the Daily Ledger.

The assertion that his Nov. 30 statement was full of errors was a mistake which we are glad to correct at this time. The errors were in the report of the City Auditor, and mostly typographical.

Sherlock Holmes.

The demand for seats for the production of the only authorized "Sherlock Holmes" at the Castle Square Christmas week is enormous. Application should be made at once by those desirous of witnessing the fine performance of this stirring drama to be given by the Castle Square stock company. It will be played exactly as given by William Gillette for three seasons in this country and England, with all the scenic effects that made it famous among modern dramas, and it is the only "Sherlock Holmes" play ever made with the consent of the author of the famous detective stories, Sir Arthur Conan Doyle. Its production at the Castle Square is made by special arrangement with, Charles Frohman and William Gillette, without whose consent it cannot be played in America.

Associated Charities.

The clergy, heads of church societies, King's Daughters, and all organizations and individuals interested in philanthropian work are cordially invited and urged to attend the meeting at the Quincy Women's club house Tuesday morning Dec. 18, at 11 o'clock. The committee to prepare plans for organization are to report at this meeting. Rev. William E. Gardner will preside.

A Temporary Injunction Issued Against Betts And Others

The Boston Herald in its court news today reports the following case of local interest:

In a suit brought by Screven Dozier at Jacksonville, Fla., and Olive B. F. Peck of Providence, stockholders of the A. P. Aldrich & Sons, Inc., hay, grain and flour dealer, of this city, a temporary injunction has been issued by Judge Lawton in the superior court restraining Frederick E. Betts of Quincy, Alvin E. Aldrich of Lynn, Fred E. Hough of Boston, Charles Duke of Centreville, R. I.; William C. Liscomb of Providence, Charles S. Tarbox of East Braintree, Charles K. Farrington of Boston, John R. Nelson and William S. Hardwick of Quincy from transferring or disposing of any property of the concern until Dec. 17, when an order of notice is returnable in court.

Mrs. Peck bought 350 shares stock in the Aldrich company for $3500, and Dozier 40 shares for $400 some time ago, and want to have the court ascertain which of their shares of stock were legally issued, believing there is some doubt as to the legality of some of them. They claim to have relied on circulars about the company issued by its directors, the truth of which is attacked by their suit.

The Aldrich company is declared to own or control stock in the South Shore Grain Company, the Ambler & Hobart Company and the Fowle's Arlington Mills. The individual defendants are officers in either the Aldrich or the subsidiary companies.

The plaintiffs sought to have the Aldrich company redeem their stock last October, claiming the right under the terms of the subscriptions, but declare the company refused. They seek an accounting.

Quincy Firm Has the Contract

Long & Saunders has been awarded the contract for a soldiers' monument to be erected in Brockton by the Women's Relief Corps.

The bottom base of the job is eight feet square, the die to be polished on four sides, upon which the inscription will be cut. On the faces of the second die, emblems of the different branches of the service will be cut in bas relief.

The monument will be surmounted by a granite statue of a soldier. The whole job stands 25 feet high, and will cost in the vicinty of $5,000.

Resolutions.

At a meeting of St. Francis Court 25, M. C. O. F., held Tuesday evening, Dec. 11, 1906, the following preamble and resolutions were adopted:

WHEREAS,—The hand of Divine Providence has removed from our midst our esteemed associate and Brother, John C. Pendis, and

WHEREAS,—We humbly bow to His supreme will in all things, therefore, be it

RESOLVED,—That we, the members of St. Francis Court 25, M. C. O. F., tender our heartfelt sympathy to the family of the departed Brother in this their hour of bereavement and sorrow, and we humbly pray Almighty God to help them bear their sorrow with Christian patience and fortitude, and

RESOLVED,—That these resolutions be spread upon the records of the Court, printed in the Quincy papers and a copy sent to the family of the deceased Brother

JOHN F. BURKE,
M. J. MARTIN,
EUGENE SHYNE,
Committee on Resolutions.

Settle for $11,000

The case of Stefano Calabro of Quincy against Edmund F. Hunt of Weymouth for $50,000, for injuries received by being burned by an explosion at Hunt's pyrotechnic factory in May 1906 was settled at Dedham Friday for $11,000. In order save the life of Calabro it was necessary for the surgeons to graft skin.

Reed Will Valid.

The courts of Oregon have declared the will of Mrs. Amanda Reed, widow of Simeon G. Reed, valid, and nearly $200,000 will be divided among relatives in Quincy and Abington.

The remainder of the estate, amounting to $1,500,000, will go toward founding the Reed Institute in Portland, Ore.

Sale at West Quincy.

A sale under the auspices o the Ladies' social of the West Quincy, Methodist church, was held Monday and Tuesday evenings and a goodly sum was realized.

A pleasing entertainment was given each evening, consisting of vocal and instrumental music, readings and recitations by local talent. Those in charge of the tables were:

Fancy and useful articles,—Mrs. W. A. McCormick, Miss Mabel Gragg and Miss Carrie Heald.

Candy,—Miss Olive Grant, Miss Jennie Doble and Miss Margaret Shirley.

Pop corn and fruit,—Mrs. James R. McCormick and Miss Grace Turner.

Ice Cream,—Mrs. F. L. Badger and Mrs. George Hawes.

The Dinner Pail Man.

Possessing a most interesting personality, knowing life in its many different aspects, and filled with a strong desire to help men,—Mr. George F. McNutt, know far and wide as the Dinner Pail Man, comes to Quincy tomorrow to speak at the Men's Meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association. His subject is "The Other Fellow" an address which every man should hear, but which is of especial interest to workingmen.

Crystal Wedding.

Last Saturday evening a large number of friends of Mr. and Mrs. M. Alonzo Minchin gathered at their home at Braintree to assist them in celebrating the fifteenth anniversary of their marriage. The friends consisted of members of the Matrons' whist club and their husbands, Pythians and Pythian Sisters, and neighbors.

Mr. and Mrs. Minchin were very much surprised by the people, especially so when Mr. G. H. Arnold with an appropriate speech presented them with a beautiful cut glass dish as a gift from the neighbors. Mr. N. L. Wood for the Matrons' whist club gave a cut glass water bottle and tumblers and the maiden speech which accompanied was complete in every detail.

Mr. and Mrs. Minchin also received a cut glass bon-bon dish from Mr. and Mrs. John L. Delano, a vase from Mr. and Mrs. Will W. Mayhew, punch bowl and tumblers from Mr. and Mrs. M. V. B. Minchin.

Mr. W. Philbrook, cornetist, accompanied by Miss Willey at the piano, rendered several selections; Mrs. Luce contributed piano solos, and the chorus singing aided in making the evening pass quickly and pleasantly. Ice cream, cake and punch were served.

RIGHTS OF LAYMEN

Furnish a Way Out of Church Difficulty In France

CAN MAKE DECLARATIONS

Will Thus Conform With Law Without Infringing Upon the Hierachy of Church--Clemenceau Would Avoid a Conflict

Paris, Dec. 15.—There has been issued from the office of the archbishop of Paris, Cardinal Richard, an important communication which will facilitate a way out of the present church difficulty. This communication sets forth that declarations made by laymen relative to worship are not in disobedience to the instructions of the pope, provided their purpose is honestly to avoid disturbances, and admits that such declarations do not infringe upon the heirarchy of the church, as the Vatican has only forbidden clergymen to carry out the required legal formalities.

This recognition of the laymen's right to make a declaration will permit of the carrying on of worship in accordance with the law, but in the meantime the church officially maintains its position of not submitting to the state.

M. Clemenceau has made the first direct appeal to the Catholic deputies in the chamber to avert religious war, though this was counterbalanced by a determination to accept war rather than concede France's right to regulate her internal matters without foreign interference.

"I have hurried from the senate," he said, in reply to an attack on the ministry by M. Groussau, a Catholic deputy, "in order to throw a little light on Groussau's religion." Then turning his attention to the subject of Groussau's insinuation that the government had acted illegally in issuing a search warrant for the nunciature, he showed that the measure was undoubtedly legal, since it was carried out by a juge d'instruction. He showed that since the passage of the separation law there had been no papal nuncio in France, consequently his residence was not protected by diplomatic immunity. After having established the legality of the government's acts, Clemenceau continued, addressing the Catholic deputies:

"We have made every concession, but you have attributed our conciliatory spirit to fear. You are mistaken. We made concessions because we thought it right to go to the utmost limit in an effort to preserve civil peace in our country. We have made many sacrifices with this purpose in view. I do not attempt to conceal that we are ready to make others, if they do not jeopardize the rights of citizens, but there are certain sacrifices that we will not make.

"You may rest assured that when the supremacy of the civil law and the independence of the French nation are in question we shall never yield. If we have fired the first shot it is because it is impossible to tolerate any longer the presence on French territory of a foreigner who ordered French citizens to violate a French law.

"But the battle has not yet begun. I do not want it to begin. I do not want to see disorders in the churches or outside the churches. We offer you the right of public meetings under conditions established by law as considered. If you conform to the law made for all French citizens, compliance with which no French citizen can refuse, peace is possible. We offer you peace loyally on those terms, but if you prefer war you shall have it."

A number of additional applications to hold meetings under the law of 1881 were made in this city and in the departments during the day. No serious incidents were reported anywhere.

Wanted to Congratulate France

Naples, Dec. 15.—The local Socialists and Republicans organized a procession here to proceed to the French consulate and present an address congratulating France on the stand taken in the church matter. When the project became known the police stepped in and forbade the procession.

Got by Western Inspectors

Philadelphia, Dec. 15.—The condemning of 160 head of sheep by city meat inspectors here is to be followed by an investigation by the federal authorities. The sheep, which were in a carload shipped from the west, were emaciated and unfit for use. The dressed carcasses weighed about 25 pounds each, while they should have ranged from 50 to 70 pounds each. The sheep had passed the inspectors in the west and bore the stamp of the federal inspectors.

Suspected of Stealing Wire

Malden, Mass., Dec. 15.—Three young men suspected of stealing large quantities of wire from the poles of electric light companies in Malden, Stoneham and other places were arrested at Stoneham. When arrested, the men were in a wagon which contained 700 feet of wire. The police here say that the three have pretended to be linemen and have operated extensively.

Got a Light Sentence

Bridgeport, Conn., Dec. 15.—Frank Karula was sentenced to not less than one year nor more than two years in the state prison by Judge Wheeler. Karula fatally wounded Michael Polazs in a saloon fight and was charged with manslaughter.

CUTTLEFISH FARMS.

Where the Queer Creatures Are Cultivated to Be Milked.

Does any one know that cuttlefish are cultivated on farms to be milked? These cuttlefish farms are located on the coasts of Great Britain, and the cuttlefish are kept in tanks or ponds to be milked of their ink. The pond or tank is connected with the sea by a pipe, and a thousand or more cuttles are kept in a single one.

They form a most curious sight as they move about, trailing their long arms and staring out of their bulging eyes. They are guarded by screens which prevent them from being scared, for if they are suddenly frightened they will squirt their milk into the water, and it would therefore be lost. This fluid or milk is very valuable, and a cuttle will yield about $3 worth a year. It is secreted in a bag which can be opened and closed at will, the cuttle ejecting the fluid to darken the water so that it may escape unseen when attacked.

The best cuttlefish are procured in China, where for some reason or other they produce the best quality of milk. When the farmer considers it opportune to milk the cuttles he proceeds by opening the sluices of the pond and gently agitating the water. The cuttles then swim around the pond, and as soon as one passes through the sluice is closed. The cuttle passes down a small channel into a basin or metal receptacle, and as soon as it is securely there the water is drained off. It is then frightened and at once squirts the fluid from the bag. When it is exhausted it is lifted out, the milk is collected and the basin prepared for another.

MODERN CIVILIZATION.

Its Complexity, Hurry and Worry Shortening Our Lives.

Not long ago while traveling I chanced to stop at a village on the river Rhine, where I found an astonishing number of old people. There were a dozen over a hundred years of age and many from eighty years old up to the century mark, yet straight and vigorous. One woman nearly a hundred years old was earning her living by picking hops. Her grandchildren were middle aged. It was quite wonderful. But there was no mystery about it. It was merely the effect of a simple life spent largely in the fields, with plain diet, consisting of a few vegetables and fruits, little meat, and native beer and wine for beverages.

Nothing can be more obvious than that the very complexity of our modern civilization is shortening our lives. But of all the evils that afflict us the worst and most destructive are hurry and worry. Hurry drives the body machine beyond its capacity, while worry racks it inwardly. Of the two worry is probably the worse. This might indeed be called the age of worry. Because of the intense nervous strain to which we are subjected we do vastly more worrying than did our forbears. The average man of today is continually surrounded and pursued by phantom troubles, which, though few of them ever materialize into realities, haunt him continually, ruining his peace of mind and injuring his health.—Reader Magazine.

Getting Married.

I don't know myself what getting married feels like, but it cannot be much more exciting than watching other people getting married. Indeed, I always get something like palpitation of the heart just before the priest utters the final fateful words, "I declare you man and wife." Half a second before you were still free. Half a second after you were bound for the term of your natural life. Half a second before you had only to dash the book from the priest's hands and put your hands over his mouth, and, though thus giddily swinging on to the brink of the precipice, you are saved. Half a second after—

All the king's horses and all the king's men
Cannot make you a bachelor again.

It is the knife edge moment betwixt time and eternity.—From Le Gallienne's "His Quest of the Golden Girl."

The Name "Fife."

The origin of the name Fife is not known. One historian tries to show that it comes from the Celtic word veach, a Pict, and means that the district was inhabited by Picts, but that is obviously absurd, as Fife was not specially the home of any of the Pictish nations. The tradition that finds greatest favor is related by a monk, who states that the first known possessor of the district which has since grown into the kingdom of Fife was one Fifus Duffus, a famous chieftain whose date is lost in the mists of antiquity.

He Cheapened Pens.

Sir Josiah Mason was, according to his biography, walking in Bull street, Birmingham, in the year 1828 when he saw some steel pens, price 3s. 6d. each. Josiah was a hard up maker of split rings. No sooner had he seen the pens than he went home, made some better than those in the shop, sent them up to London and got a large order by return. At thirty years of age Mason's capital was 30 shillings. At sixty he had given away £400,000.

Hard Luck.

"Why does Baron Hoffman look so dejected lately?"

"Haven't you heard? He married a rich widow not long ago, and now a banker has absconded with all her money."—Meggendorfer Blatter.

In Egypt the cat was sacred to the moon, and when a cat died its master shaved off his eyebrows in sign of mourning.

SOUVENIR SAMPLES TO LADIES

Public Interest

IS NOW CENTERED ON

The Pure Food Law.

WE Have Always Maintained that the best that money could buy was always the cheapest in the end, because it is always the bargain hunters that have to pay the DOCTOR, buying as they do IMPURE foods of all kinds, FOODS that are UNFIT for ANY PERSON'S STOMACH, being mixed as they are with different kinds of PRESERVATIVES and SECRET PREPARATIONS to take the place of GOOD PURE FOODS. And some dealers selling these goods at a GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICE over the pure kind, GUARANTEE you NOTHING, but—"Poor Health to You and Your Family," and although you can buy the "just as good kind," you can save nothing as that kind is unhealthy and dangerous to the whole human family. Now our standard is to always sell the best of everything and the steady increase of our business year after year proves to us that we have the right idea, and we know it must be very satisfactory to our many customers to feel that what they buy at our store is ABSOLUTELY PURE and HEALTHFUL and the Food Laws are being strictly enforced by us. Our Goods are all GOVERNMENT INSPECTED and also carefully inspected by us before they are put on sale or sent to your homes, and although you pay perhaps a few cents more to us than some dealers charge, don't you think it is money well spent, considering all things?—YOUR HEALTH, which is the greatest blessing we can have,—think well about this and we know you will agree with us and do your trading where you know the goods can be depended upon to be absolutely Pure.

We have just received our season's pack of choice canned and bottled goods, FRESH and DRIED FRUITS, all kinds of Cereals, Ketchup, Pickles, Jams, Jellies, Prunes, Figs, Nuts, Dates, Table Raisins, Citron, Lemon and Orange Peel, Olives, Sardines,—in fact everything for your tastes and fancies. All the leading brands of FLOUR. Fancy New Orleans Molasses.

OUR MARKET is complete, AND REMEMBER, we sell nothing that has been doctored or filled with Preservatives to keep it. ABSOLUTELY NOTHING but Carefully Selected Meats are on sale at OUR STORE. Stamped with the Government Inspection Stamp, that insures to you and to us the point of perfection, which we are always striving to reach for the benefit of our trade.

We will have a grand display of that great National Bird, THE TURKEY, the same VERMONT KIND we have always sold you,—Chicken, Fowl and Duck, direct from WILLIAM R. DRAKE of Braintree, and he knows how to dress them so as to please the eye as well as the palate. They don't grow nicer than he has. Fruit and vegetables in abundance, and don't forget our famous LA TOURAINE COFFEE, no dinner complete without it.

Yours Respectfully,

WIRELESS TELEPHONY

Successfully Conducted For a Distance of Twenty-Five Miles

Berlin, Dec. 15.—The German Society of Wireless Telegraphy has succeeded in holding wireless telephonic communication between Berlin and Nauen, 24 miles away. Professor Slaby, in an interview, described the experiment as eminently successful. The conversation was carried on partly by Herr Von Sydow, under secretary of the state postal department, who received perfectly intelligible repetitions to his questions.

Professor Slaby says the problem of wireless telephony is solved, but that the limit of distance is not yet known. He sees no reason to set any limit, and believes that the time is coming when a man will be able to speak wirelessly with a friend in any part of the world.

The method employed yesterday consists of the use of the microphone in connection with the ordinary wireless telegraphy apparatus.

Vast Property In Jeopardy

Washington, Dec. 15.—The administration is awaiting patiently some reply to the representations made to the Mexican government regarding the serious conditions prevailing in the Imperial and Colorado valleys in California, growing out of the break in the bank of the Colorado river. Unless the break is repaired damage to property to an amount conservatively estimated at $13,000,000 ultimately will result. Lands susceptible to reclamation, whose value is estimated at $70,000,000, also will be overflowed and rendered useless unless something is done very soon.

The Business Outlook

New York, Dec. 15.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says that holiday trade monopolizes attention, although there is a steady gain in distribution of winter goods as the temperature becomes more seasonable. Some irregularity is still noted in collections, attributed to high money rates or failure to market the crops. This would make the one adverse feature of the commercial situation indirectly due to the three most striking evidences of national prosperity—scarcity of men, money and railroad facilities.

Sentence of "Slave Drivers"

Pensacola, Fla., Dec. 15.—Judge Swain sentenced Manager Harlan and five employes of the Jackson Lumber company of Lockhart, Ala., convicted of conspiracy to commit peonage. Harlan must serve 18 months in the penitentiary and pay $5000 fine. Superintendent Gallagher must serve 15 months and pay $1000. Three other men must serve 13 months each and pay fines of $1000 each. The cases were appealed.

A Dying Monarch's Christmas

Stockholm, Dec. 15.—King Oscar's condition is still extremely serious, but he continues to be interested in affairs. Yesterday he asked that a lighted Christmas tree be brought into the sick-room, as he did not wish to be deprived of his last Christmas pleasure. This wish was acceded to. The scene was a pathetic one, the recipients of gifts voicing their thanks in trembling tones and with tearful eyes.

Brice May Become Ambassador

London, Dec. 15.—Nothing official has yet been announced concerning the new British ambassador to Washington in succession to Sir Mortimer Durand. The Chronicle appears to think that James Brice, chief secretary for Ireland, is likely to be appointed, although he also naturally would be reluctant to sacrifice his career in England even for so great a position.

Labor Importers Indicted

Charlotte, N. C., Dec. 15.—The grand jury in the United States court here returned true bills against T. M. Costello, E. A. Smith, S. M. Sargent and E. C. Dwelle, prominent cotton mill men, charging them with conspiracy to violate contract labor laws of the United States in having imported English girls to labor in local cotton mills.

Relic of Bygone Ages

Rome, Dec. 15.—Prince Borghese discovered in the cellar of his palace certain marble fragments which, put together, proved to be an ancient Roman sarcophagus bearing figures representing one of the early myths of Rome, the marriage of Aeneac to Lavinia, daughter of Latinus, king of the Latini.

Rather Tame Bicycle Race

New York, Dec. 15.—There was a noticeable falling off yesterday and last night in the attendance on the six-day bicycle race at Madison Square Garden. During most of the day the pace was slow, the cyclists creeping around the track at a snail's pace.

Revolutionary Fund Fattened

New York, Dec. 15.—Carnegie hall was filled last night when Gregory Gershuni, the Russian revolutionary organizer, made a plea for funds to further the movement he represents. Admission fees and a collection netted $10,000, it was announced.

Shipping Delayed by Storm

Naples, Dec. 15.—A very severe storm which swept over this city caused serious damage in the harbor. A number of ships were injured and the trans-Atlantic liners were delayed in sailing.

The Weather Forecast

SALARIES RAISED

Vice President, Speaker and Cabinet Members to Get $12,000

HOUSE IN LIBERAL MOOD

Refuses, However, to Increase the Pay of Its Members and That of Senators From $5000 to $7500 Per Annum

Washington, Dec. 15.—The house of representatives was brought face to face with the proposition to increase the salaries of its own members, senators, the vice president, the speaker of the house and members of the president's cabinet while the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill was under consideration, and while it passed favorably on the proposition as applied to other officials, refused to make the order for members of either house of congress.

Mr. Littauer (N. Y.), who had given notice that he would offer the amendments to the legislative bill necessary to accomplish the proposed increase, secured the floor after the previous question had been ordered on the bill and presented an amendment raising the salaries of the vice president and the speaker of the house to $12,000 per annum each. He spoke of the dignity of the position of the speaker of the house and said that everybody recognized that the duties were arduous and that the pay was unequal to the position.

Mr. Underwood (Ala.) said that he was opposed to any further increase of salaries along the line of legislative and executive offices. He further said he believed the salaries of the minor clerks of the government should be increased on account of the increased cost of living. His contention was that salaries are paid to members of congress so that a poor man might come to congress and represent his constituents. He said he would not contend that a congressman could live in Washington and keep pace with modern society.

Mr. Fitzgerald (N. Y.) said he would vote for the increase even if the price he paid was political oblivion. He called attention to the salary paid the mayor of New York and also to the pay of the comptroller of that city and insisted that the vice president and the speaker should be paid salaries commensurate with the dignity of their offices.

After other speeches the amendment was adopted by a vote of 14 to 51, the opposition failing to secure votes enough to call the ayes and noes.

Mr. Littauer then introduced another amendment as follows:

"On and after March 4, 1907, the compensation of heads of executive departments who are members of the president's cabinet shall be at the rate of $12,000 per annum each."

During the course of his remarks on this amendment Littauer held up a large picture of a president of a baseball association, whose salary had been increased from $10,000 to $15,000 a year and contrasted that with the salaries paid members of the cabinet. The amendment was opposed by Mr. Mann (Ills.), but was adopted by a vote of 204 to 60. The amendment so closely concerning the members themselves followed immediately.

Mr. Littauer offered a provision raising the salaries of senators and members of congress, delegates and the resident commissioner from Porto Rico from $5000 to $7500 a year.

Mr. Boutelle (Ills.) said he was opposed to the proposition to increase salaries of members, but was glad to vote to increase the compensation of the speaker, vice president and members of the cabinet.

Representative Sullivan (Mass.), in supporting the amendment, said that he would be opposed largely on the principle of self-preservation, which is the first law of nature. "They understand," he said, "that small compensation is the usual defense, sometimes the only protection of mediocrity. As salaries increase mediocrity diminishes, for better men are attracted to the public service."

The amendment was defeated by a vote of ayes, 106; noes, 188.

Belgium Will Annex Congo State

Brussels, Dec. 15.—The chamber of deputies, by a vote of 127 to 30, approved the proposal that Belgium accept the terms of King Leopold's will bequeathing the Congo Independent State to Belgium with the stipulation that the royal private domains there be maintained integrally after its annexation. This means that Belgium will proceed to annex the independent state. Existing concessions are not to be interfered with.

Two Explosions In One Week

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Dec. 15.—The second explosion within a week occurred in the Buttonwood mine late yesterday, four men being seriously burned. The accident happened through a heavy fall of coal, which changed the air course, and this permitted a volume of gas to gather in one portion of the mine. The gas was ignited by coming in contact with a naked lamp on the cap of one of the miners.

Simplified Spelling Still Stands

Washington, Dec. 15.—It is said at the White House that the president has not yet taken up the matter of rescinding his order directing the use of the simplified spelling in public documents.

A TIMELY WARNING.

What a Man Doesn't Want For Christmas Presents.

Don't give him cigars. If you know his favorite brand and squander your last cent on it, he will never be convinced that you didn't juggle with the labels.

Don't give him neckwear. Masculine and feminine notions in such matters will disagree till beyond the day of judgment.

Don't give him a penknife. No man believes that any woman is capable of letting the quality of steel outweigh a decorative handle. Besides, knives cut friendship and are bad luck.

Unless you know his literary taste don't give him books. If you are congenial in such matters, nothing could be better.

Don't, unless you are very near of kin or friendship, give him toilet articles, such as hairbrushes or shaving brushes. Such personal gifts are not always in the best taste.

Don't embroider him whisk holders or bureau covers in delicate materials or colors. The average man thinks embroidery an invention of the evil one, specially designed to spoil women's eyes and tempers. If you have brothers, you have probably heard this before; but, then, if all women had brothers they would have a great deal of information on a variety of subjects.

Unless you have something unique to offer don't give a man a calendar. The only one he ever consults is that issued as an advertisement by his life insurance company.

If you really want to please a man at Christmas, study his tastes a little. If he lives in rooms and has a leaning toward hospitality, give him some accessory to his chafing dish—a silver alcohol can or a match safe to keep on the tray or a collection of choice recipes done in pen and ink and bound in water color paper, with an attractive sketch on the cover and a ribbon loop for hanging in a convenient spot.

If he is collecting cushions, make him one, but see that it is soft enough for comfort and substantial enough in color for everyday use.

If he is literary, give him a book cover or a book rack for tiny and often used volumes or something pretty in the way of billhooks or blotters. He never gets too many of those.

For Marceled Waves.

The marcel wave so universally worn has tended to a revival of the wearing of nightcaps, as they help materially in keeping the wave in. Handkerchief linen, open embroidery and blue satin ribbon are used in fashioning this attractive model.

Meaning In Oriental Rugs.

Not only the design but the colors of the rugs woven in the orient are full of significance. They represent national or individual traditions and stand for virtues, vices and social importance.

Red was regarded by the Egyptians as symbolic of fidelity.

Rose tints signify the highest wisdom, and black and indigo, sorrow, with the Persians. Preference for duller tones of color among the Persians gives to all their embroideries and other products of the loom a certain richness and dignity.

Tyrian purple is almost universally regarded as royal.

Green has been chosen by the Turk as his gala color, but he would not approve of its use in rugs, where it would be trodden by the feet.

Honeycombed Pudding.

Three-quarters of an ounce of gelatin, three ounces of sugar, one pint of milk, one teaspoonful of vanilla extract, three eggs and a little cold water.

Dissolve the gelatin in a little water over a slow fire, then add the sugar and milk.

Now add the beaten yolks of eggs and vanilla extract, stir till thick, but be careful not to let it boil.

Whip the whites of the eggs to a stiff froth and stir gently into the mixture.

Pour at once into a mold rinsed with old water. When firm turn out and serve.

A Bad Habit.

"He drinks too much coffee."

"What effect does it have on him?"

"It makes him so yellow that his wife is ashamed to be seen with him."

"But why?"

"Yellow is the one color that doesn't harmonize with her complexion."—Exchange.

Collars For Stout Women.

There is no longer the cry from stout women that no collars are built to suit their necks, for an accommodating dealer this year has decreed that every style and pattern of stock or collar must be made in the "extra" sizes as well as in the ordinary.

An International Incident

A HOLIDAY celebration that will long be remembered in the American navy is the "Santa Claus dinner" given in the wardroom of one of Uncle Sam's gunboats of the Venezuelan coast. The plan had been to have the affair on Christmas night, but as the vessel was then at sea the event was postponed until New Year's. It was on this occasion that an Italian battleship commander, with warlike intentions toward the United States and all their inhabitants, was beguiled into peaceful thoughts by good American punch, which the American officers dealt out to him in such quantities that he finally said he would like to settle in the western hemisphere.

It happened that the Italian's man-of-war and the Yankee gunboat arrived in southern waters at about the same time. There was the usual interchange of courtesies. Then occurred the incident that aroused the Italian captain's ire. A South American newspaper printed a cartoon representing him as being blown out of the water by the United States gunboat. In this, of course, there was no sense whatever, as Italy and this country were on the friendliest terms, but the foreign skipper, being both excitable and suspicious, took the matter to heart. The Americans heard that he even accused them of inspiring the cartoon and that he had complained to his home government.

New Year's day came due while the gossip was at its height. For weeks the wardroom officers of the gunboat had been making preparations for a grand feast. They decided at the last minute to invite the Italian and his staff as guests of honor.

A refusal, of course, was out of the question, but when the guests arrived their attitude was cold and distant, especially that of the captain, who looked as though he expected to be thrown into irons. It was said afterward that he had ordered his vessel to be ready for immediate action in case of treachery. At any rate, he sat down at dinner without a smile for his hosts, and for awhile things looked gloomy.

Gradually, however, the younger officers of the gunboat succeeded in forcing the visitors to partake of the punch, and with each glass the suspicious captain grew less suspicious. In an hour he was affable. In another hour he was affectionate. By the time the real celebration began, while the coffee was being served, he had forgotten the cartoon and was drinking healths to the stars and stripes every thirty seconds. When the ceremonies, which had been carefully arranged, had been in progress a few minutes he was proposing a joint expedition by his and the gunboat's crews against the Venezuelan capital.

Even if the incident of the Italian's conversion had been lacking the dinner would have been an affair to be remembered. The first part of the closing celebration was the appearance of a Christmas tree, which of course should have been called a New Year's tree. It was a big tree, too, one that anybody might have envied, and the tars had made a trip ten miles inland to get it on the previous day. As it was borne into the wardroom it reached up into the dome-like window at the top. For this window, forming a sort of tower space to the wardroom, naval men have a technical name, but no landlubber could hope to get it right, so let it be called simply a window. The tree went all the way up, and from every branch there hung gifts for the merry diners.

Just as the New Year's tree was fastened into its place on the center of the table there appeared through the high window a real Santa Claus, with beard and furs and red coat of approved cut. Down the chimney-like opening he crawled, finally leaping upon the table with such force that half a dozen glasses went crashing to the floor. Amid the appaluse of the now hilarious party he proceeded to award the presents, calling each name in a gruff voice from beneath his white whiskers. When he came to the Italian captain he addressed him as "Your most powerful excellency Signor Captain ——," by which high sounding appellation the signor captain was so flattered that he bowed until his forehead bumped into what was left of a saucer of ice cream.—New York Times.

THE WILD BALSAM APPLE.

Its Seed Holders Are Suggestive of Lace Purses.

In the brooks of autumn in certain places many little lacelike bags may be seen drifting along with the current or stranded by the shore. They are the inner coats or bodies of the wild balsam apples (Echinocystis lobata) which have dropped from the vines overhanging the stream and now float lightly away with their large seeds.

The green prickly bag of the balsam apple itself began to form in late summer, and by autumn it has withered and faded to a pale straw color. We may see the trailing vines with their shrunken pods decorating the brookside bushes far into the winter. The outer coat of the pod gradually rots away, and the inner bag or seed carrier is now released and exposed as a delicate, webby network of tough fibers. A thin skin or membrane fills up the space between these meshes, but that also falls away through the action of water and the winter storms until only the ball-like tissue of the "purse" is left. These little purses, being extremely light and buoyant, float far and wide over the submerged swamp lands in late autumn, carrying the seeds with them and so planting the vine in new situations. If, however, we take these seeds home with us and plant them there, Mother Earth will suitably reward us in the following year with vines of our own. They will spring up and spread rapidly until all the stone walls and garden fences are decorated with the tracery of their stems and star shaped leaves.—St. Nicholas.

GOLD AND THE SEA.

Why the Metal Is Shipped In Bars Rather Than In Coin.

"When the banks ship gold across the Atlantic," said a banker, "they prefer to ship it in bars rather than in coin. It loses less that way."

"It loses less?"

"Yes, sir. If $1,000,000 in gold coins is shipped across the sea it is only $999,800 on its arrival. It loses from twelve to fifteen ounces, about $200, through abrasion, through knocking about with the motion of the waves. The sea makes gold lose weight, you see, the same as it does human beings Gold bars lose less. In fine weather they will only lose about $100 to each million. In the ugliest weather they don't lose over $150, whereas in like conditions gold coins have been known to lose $300. As gold shipments of $10,000,000 often occur, to make these shipments in gold bars instead of gold coin is a saving of $1,000 or more. It is odd to think when you cross in one of those gold laden ships that every wave that hits the boat clips off 10 to 15 cents from its golden cargo."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Cruel, but Necessary.

The Eskimos dread the winter and take early precautions to provide against famine. As the season approaches the great herds of reindeer migrate southward, and the walrus or the seal are all that remain for food. When an in wind is blowing the walrus is easily found on the outer edge of the ice packs. When it is blowing off the shore, however, the ice packs sail out to sea with the walruses on them. The natives then class their numbers in a list from the strongest to the weakest. The food that is in store is divided up, the weakest having the smallest quantity, the strongest the largest. Thus the mightiest hunters have strength to provide for the others. It is a cruel system, but nevertheless a necessary one. If all were weak, all would die; if some are strong, they will save many of the weak.

The Largest Pipe.

What is described as the largest pipe in the world is valued at £8,000 and is counted as one of the most remarkable pieces of carving in existence. The pipe is made of one solid piece of meerschaum and represents the landing of Columbus. There are twenty-four figures in the scene, each one four inches high. The carver who executed this masterpiece is dead, and, as the demand for this sort of work has nearly died out, it is practically impossible to find a man to duplicate it.—London Telegraph.

Mouth Ulcers.

Little ulcers that appear in the mouth from time to time are exceedingly annoying and painful. An old fashioned household remedy is alum, the powder or crystals being applied to the yellow center. But this is a bitter, nasty dose. A physician has prescribed the use of a saturated solution of potassium chlorate, applied every two hours. "Saturated solution" means as much potassium chlorate as can be dissolved in a certain amount of water.

Lepers and the Law.

The Norman-English laws enacted that a leper had neither power to sue in any court nor to inherit property. During his lifetime he was permitted to enjoy the usufruct of any property in his possession at the time he was "found guilty," so to speak, of leprosy, but all rights of disposition over it he lost.

Autobiography of a Family Man.

I was born in New York and went to Boston to be born again. For the first twenty-one years of my life I was known as the son of my mother, for the next thirty as the husband of my wife and for the last ten years as the father of my daughter. I claim, therefore, to be a family man.—Independent.

Presentation to Steward Cogan

Thirty of the colored people who formed the crew of commissary department of the battleship Vermont on her recent trial trip, left Quincy on the 4.13 P. M. train yesterday for their homes in New York; they have been on the ship three weeks.

Just before leaving they presented the stewart of the ship, James T. Cogan, with a solid gold watch chain and charm. Engraved on the charm is "Vermont—1833—Dec. 5, 1906," and on the other side a monogram with the initials "J. T. C."

This crew has been with Mr. Cogan on six trial trips of battleships and are thoroughly familiar with the business. The boys wish to thank the officials of the company and also the engineers, deck hands, oilers, coal passers, machinists, firemen, electricians, steam fitters and many others for the courteous treatment they received while on the ship.

Mr. Cogan wrs taken by surprise, but responded by having all hands drink to the success of the "Vermont" and the Fore River Shipbuilding Company.

Pension.

It is perhaps not generally known outside of the craft, but the Granite Cutters' Union pension their old members, during the six winter months of the year. The system was adopted when the laws of the union were changed last year.

The pension which amounts to $10 per month is to give all members who are 62 years of age, and who have been members of the Union for twenty years. In order to receive the pension these members must also have been in good standing for the past ten years.

Something like 57 members of the Union throughout the country are now receiving this pension.

Large Whist Party.

A jolly and happy crowd assembled at Polands hall, Norfolk Downs, last evening to enjoy a social game of whist. Twenty-six tables were in play and the winners were: Miss Mabel Cody, Miss Sadie Hawkins, Miss Ethel P. Parker, Mrs. Mary Thomas, Mrs. F. W. Thorp, Mrs. C. H. Wilkins, Mrs. Lilley, Mrs. J. Kennedy, Mrs. W. B. Tibbetts and Messrs. B. Veith, W. F. Carmen, J. G. Thomes, A. E. Thornley, N. Parker, H. S. Fairclough, D. Phelan and J. F. McLeod.

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS.

KEITH'S THEATRE.

Looking scarcely a day older than when she first appeared in this country, Mrs. Langtry made her first bow in vaudeville in Boston at Keith's last Monday, before a distinctly fashionable audience. The playlet which she is presenting, "Between the Nightfall and the Light," is a story of a tooth for a tooth, an eye for an eye. The treatment of the theme is theatric and at times strongly dramatic. Another high class vaudeville program will surround Mrs. Langtry next week. Prominent among the artists will be the Max Wessely troupe of jugglers from Europe, who will make their first appearance in America next Monday.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

The coming week at the Castle Square will be made notable by the revival of "The Rivals," Sheridan's famous old comedy. It will form the second of the five classics to be made at the Castle Square this season, and in scenery costume and acting it will be as complete as modern stage art can make it. The scenery will be prepared from designs by Frank Chouteau Brown, and it will reproduce accurately the quaintness of the Eighteenth century life. Few comedies excel "The Rivals," in merriment, its humor is rich in gayety and fantastic speech, and with "She Stoops to Conquer" and a few other plays it has kept the stage nearly a century and a half

TODAY'S COURT.

Frank W. McCue was fined $15 for drunkenness at Weymouth.

James Warshanen was arraigned for keeping an unlicensed dog at Holbrook. Case placed on file on payment of costs amounting to $6.37.

—A petition for the establishment of postal savings banks, bearing the name of nearly 20,000 persons, residing in 18 States, was presented to Congress Wednesday by Representative Boutell of Illinois.

—In the Senate yesterday, a resolution offered by Senator Gallinger, was agreed to requesting the Secretary of War to furnish information regarding alleged experiments by Army Surgeon Strong with cholera virus at Manila, resulting in 10 or more deaths.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Miss Helen Watson of Quincy avenue is at the Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Maryland, as a medical student. She is enjoying the work. It is a pleasure for her to attend church at the Associate Congregational church, Baltimore, Dr. Oliver Huckel, pastor, formerly of Union church. A bit of family life relieves the tension of the student's thinking and studying and a hearty romp with Dr. Huckel's two bright boys is a welcome change from medical thesis in a leisure hour. Her friends were glad to meet her at the holiday recess.

—Miss Mary Boyle O'Reilly, daughter of the late John Boyle O'Reilly, will succeed Miss Marie Rose Collins, resigned, as a member of the State Board of Prison Commissioners.

BRAINTREE.

Miss A. F. Mills of Goffstown, N. H. has been spending several days in town calling on old time friends. Mrs. Mills will be remembered by many as Miss Mary Saulpaugh.

Students at Thayer academy are taking the semi-annual examinations and looking forward to the two weeks' vacation which are to follow.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bestick and five children of New York have been spending the past two weeks with Mr. Bestick's brother and parents. They returned to their home on Thursday.

Dr. and Mrs. F. W. Brett of Summer street spent Wednesday with their son Leo at Brown University, Providence, R. I.

Several members of the Sons of Veterans attended the camp fire at Randolph on Thursday evening, given by the Lieutenant Palmer camp in G. A. R. hall. The degree staff from the R. B. Grover camp at Brockton was present and exemplified the work. Division Commander Walter E. Penny of Lynn, and Division Aid G. Henry Powell of Stoughton, were among the speech makers.

A lecture on household economics with chafing dish demonstration will be given Dec. 19th at 2.30 P. M., at the home of Dr. C. M. Marstin for the benefit of the Women's Branch of the Braintree guild of Christ church, Quincy. This will be the third and last of the series of three lectures given by Miss Maria Daniell.

Next Monday evening the monthly business meeting of the Penniman School association will be held at the school building at 7.30 o'clock. Following the business meeting Supt. J. C. Anthony will give an informal talk upon the duties of a superintendent of schools and will endeavor to answer all questions which may be asked. The public is cordially invited to be present at eight o'clock.

In response to the invitation sent broadcast, by town paper and the pupils of the Noah Torrey school, to parents and friends to witness the work of pupils in manual training, on Saturday morning last, two ladies only, accepted. One can judge from this, how intelligently, some of our villiage orators can speak of the merits or demerits of this branch of work in our public schools. One fact remains, it is an assured success with the children. It is the one period in the week's work, that is hailed with delight by every pupil.

John Witty, the faithful janitor of the Pond school, fell upon the ice on Monday night and is still confined to his room. Quiet and unassuming Mr. Whitty has by his exemplary life and sterling character won the esteem and regard of a host of friends who anxiously desire his speedy restoration and return to his duties.

Report has reached us, that Sister Mary Angelina, formerly Miss Susan A. O'Rourke one of Braintree's most famous teachers has been appointed Mother Superior of a Convent at Glace Bay, Nova Scotia. Mr. and Mrs. O'Rourke are to be congratulared on the success attained by their daughters, Miss Teresa being one of the most successful teachers of Brookline, Mass. and Miss Mary one of the most valued employees of the Filene establishment at Boston.

The public schools will close next Friday, Dec. 21, and reopen Monday, Dec. 31.

Tuesday evening, Antietam Camp, Sons of Veterans elected the following officers to serve for the coming year: Com., F. L. Chandler; S. V. C., A. F. Hollis; J. V. C., J. E. Hayden; Treas., M. C. Gillette; Sec., A. H. Holbrook; Camp Council, P. Monaghan, A. H. Holbrook, G. Howes; Delegate-at-large, A. H. Holbrook; Delegate, H. Marston; Alternate-at-large, F. Call; Alternate, A. Johnson.

The electric light department, which is endeavoring to keep up-to-date, is installing electric light meters after the pattern of the penny in the slot machine. The slot is large requiring a quarter, which pays for forty lamp hours.

The friends of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Thompson of Commercial street, sympathize with them in the loss of Mrs. Thompson's mother, Mrs. George Porter who died on Wednesday morning at her home on Front street, Weymouth. Always in frail health this last attack of la grippe aggravated other troubles and was the immediate occasion of her death.

The young ladies of the Krow Eldeen club made their first appearance, as a club, in public last Tuesday evening at the South M. E. church. Mrs. Kirk, the president assisted by Mesdames Rogers, Ely, Hale, Littlefield, Perkins and Butler have organized this club for social, religious and domestic purposes The young ladies had full charge of the evening. Much credit is due Mrs. Littlefield for the splendid program which was very well rendered.

The Quincy Daily Ledger

Published in the City of Presidents

Vol. 18. No. 295. QUINCY, MASS., MONDAY, DECEMBER 17, 1906. PRICE TWO CENTS

Water Meters and Water Consumption

In his report on water meters to the City Council last week the Commissioner said:

"It is my opinion that the installation of meters has caused a decrease in the consumption of water, for although we have 209 additional water takers in November of 1906, the report of the Engineer of the Metropolitan Water Board shows a decrease of eight gallons per capita daily compared with November of 1905 This means a saving of about 224,000 gallons of water per day."

The Commissioner may be right in his opinion, but it is only an opinion, as may be seen by the figures of the Metropolitan Water Board for three years. Conditions vary each year. It is true that Quincy used less water in November, 1906, than in November 1905. The same was true of October, but not of September. It was in August that the city began to install meters, but in July, 1906, the people of the city used 254,800 gallons less per day than in July, 1905, which was a larger saving than the Commissioner names for November under meters.

The daily consumption of Quincy under meters in November was 179,600 gallons more than in November, 1904, but the daily consumption in July without meters was only 3,100 gallons more than in July, 1904. In August, also, the Quincy consumption was less than in August 1905.

For argument, however, suppose there has been a decrease in consumption of water because of meters, what has been the cost to the water takers, and, second, what has been cost to the city? Has either saved financially?

Some water takers will undoubtedly pay more for water while others pay less. In addition they must pay an annual rental for meters.

If the city meters 300 new services and 300 old services each year, at a cost of $10,000 annually, it will take over 18 years to meter the whole city and the first cost for the 19 years will be $190,000. To this must be added a large sum for interest, and more for repairs, renewals, etc. And appropriations must continue annually.

For example, in 1917, the maturing debt for meters would be $10,000; the interest on $100,000 at four per cent would be $4,000 more, and the inspection and repairs of meters might add $5,000, making the annual cost $19,000. Will the Metropolitan water assessment on the city be $19,000 less? Unless it is $20,000 less, nothing will be gained.

There are reasons which will cause a reduction in Metropolitan water assessments some years in the future; these are a reduction of the debt and a reduction of the interest. It is the amounts raised for the sinking fund which make the Metropolitan assessment so large, not the consumption of water. The entire Metropolitan debt of $39,150,000 matures between 1935 and 1946.

If all of the cities and towns of the district should install meters, the Metropolitan assessment would continue about the same as though the whole district was without meters, the decrease in consumption affecting the assessment but little. Why should one city attempt to take advantage of another by installing meters? It is necessary to install meters where water is used for business purpose, but not in dwelling houses as is now being done in this city. Of the 521 installed in Quincy this year, 356 are in dwelling houses.

The Metropolitan board seems to think that because corporations in some towns, like the Fore River shipyard, and the Tubular Rivet & Stud Co., require lots of water, that the town should pay a larger assessment, but the tax on the stock of these corporations is distributed according to the residence of the stockholders.

Thus rich towns like Brookline and Newton, where the stockholders reside, are favored doubly: they get a reduction in water assessments, lower tax rates, and a surplus for extravagant city expenditures. If the basis of water assessments, is changed back to valuation, as all taxes should be levied, it will be more equitable to all cities concerned, and money will not be squandered on water meters.

The situation in New York may be of interest. The Daily Ledger quotes from the ordinance of the city of New York:

"Water meters SHALL be placed, at the discretion of the Commissioner of Water Supply, for all stores, workshops, hotels, manufactories, office buildings public edifices, on wharves, ferry-houses, and in ALL places where water is furnished for business consumption, EXCEPT PRIVATE DWELLINGS; the charge for water measured by meter to be ten cents per 100 cubic feet."

Seven and one-half gallons to the cubic foot, makes the price 13 1-3 cents per 1,000 gallons. The Ledger knows of a family of eight, who occupy a house of three stories and a basement, which is fully plumbed, with an extra water closet in the basement; yet the cost is only $8 per year.

In Boston water meters in dwelling houses are an exception.

In Quincy some large water takers are getting water by meter below cost. Other manufacturing plants are supplied at 10 1-2 cents per 1,000 gallons, which may also be below cost; while business blocks pay 26 and 2-10 cents per 1,000 gallons and dwelling houses are soaked for 41 and 1-10 cents per 1000 gallons. When some owners of houses receive bills for water by meter rates they will be surprised.

The rental for water meters will be additional cost for most water takers, whereas had the city not gone to this extra cost it might have reduced the rates for full-plumbed houses within a year to $16.

To Hold Police Ball.

At a meeting of the Quincy Police Relief Association held Sunday it was voted to join the Massachusetts Police Association. It was also voted to hold a concert and ball at Music hall Friday evening, Jan. 25. A committee consisting of Chief Burrell, Lieut. McKay, Officers Larkin, Goodhue and Kelliher, was appointed to make the necessary arrangements.

CRADE CROSSINGS

To Be Abolished By Railroad Company In This City

The New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad has taken the necessary steps to abolish the grade crossings at Saville and Water streets in Quincy. They have petitioned the Supreme court for the appointment of three commissioner to determine if safety requires the crossings be abolished, and if so to prescribe the manner and limit and to determine who shall do the work and apportion the costs.

A hearing on the petition will be held before the court at Dedham the first Monday in January.

Many Answers Christmas Prize

Many bright eyes discovered early on Saturday that the edition of the Daily Ledger contained the word Christmas more than 25 times, in fact more than 50. The prize is awarded to Walter Nichols of Water street, who will please call at the Daily Ledger office tomorrow after 8 A. M.

Among the others to send prompt answers were:

Albert Robertson, Franklin place.
Raymond Swanson, Union street.
Walter Gomez, Edwards street.
Violet Jones, 2 Mill street.
Anthony Cain, 89 Standish avenue.
Avalena Read, 1 Massachusetts ave.
Rupert McFarlane, 65 Gay street.
Annie O'Neill, 118 Washington street.
Marion A. White, 65 Union street.
Annie Vincent, 89 Canal street.
Helen Crane, 70 Adams street.
Alice Charlesworth, Whitwell street.

Another prize is offered today to the school boy or girl who will first find the word Christmas 75 times and bring a marked copy of the paper to the office. The puzzle editor would suggest that a colored pencil be used and that the word be circled. Also write name and address at top of first page of Daily Ledger.

Street Railway Conference

A conference between representatives of the Boston & Northern and Old Colony Street railroads and the unions was held in Boston on Saturday.

The unions ask for an interpretation of the clause which states that 10 hours in 12 shall constitute a days work.

President Frank H. Dewey of the Worcester Consolidated railroad represented the companies, and Dennis D. Driscoll of the A. F. of L. the unions. Hon. Josiah Quincy was umpire. Another conference is being held today and the decision will be announced Wednesday.

William J. Walsh. president of the Quincy Union, was one of the representatives of the men present.

Some Little Girl will be made Happy on Christmas.

Every girl be she large or small admires a doll. The little girl craves for a plaything, the larger girl for an ornament. Last summer one of our business men imported from Switzerland two life size dolls to be given away to some little girl who has patronized his store. Commencing today and until Christmas, he will give a coupon with each purchase of his pure candy, costing from ten cents upwards. Some person will receive the lucky number which will be drawn from the total distributed, and on Christmas some little girl in Quincy will receive these twin dolls, full dressed, valued at $25.

Remember every purchase of the best line of confectionery ever carried in Quincy will entitle the purchaser to a numbered coupon.

Watch our windows for further particulars.

CITY OF QUINCY,

In Council,

November 19, 1906.

AN ORDINANCE

ESTABLISHING FIRE DISTRICTS AND REGULATING THE CONSTRUCTION AND INSPECTION OF BUILDINGS.

Be it Ordained by the City Council as follows:

SECTION 1. For the purpose of protection from damage by fire the city is hereby divided into three fire districts.

SEC. 2. The Mayor shall annually, on or before the first Monday in February, appoint an Inspector of Buildings who shall hold his office one year from the first Monday in February of the current year, and until his successor is appointed.

SECTION 3. Fire district No. 1, shall include Hancock Street, from Squantum Street to School Street, Washington Street from Hancock to Elm Street, Quincy Avenue, north from Water Street, School Street from Hancock Street to intersection of west line of Franklin Street, Water Street, from Franklin to Pleasant Street, Franklin Street from School to Pearl Street, Copeland Street from intersection of Miller Street to Furnace Avenue, Newport Avenue from Lincoln to Elmwood Avenue, Temple Street, Maple Street, Chestnut Street north from Cottage Avenue, Saville Street from Hancock Street to steam railroad line, Granite Street east of the railroad bridge, Beale Street from Hancock Street to Safford Street, Brook Street from Newport Avenue to Farrington Street, Sagamore Street from Hancock Street to Newbury Street, and shall extend one hundred (100) feet in all directions from any street or part of street herein named or described.

SEC. 4. District No. 2 shall include all remaining parts of the city, except such as are included in District No. 3.

SEC. 5. District No. 3 shall include that part of Quincy called Squantum bounded by Neponset river on the north, N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. on the west, and by Atlantic Street to the Metropolitan Boulevard on the south. Also that part of Quincy east of a line drawn from Quincy Bay five hundred (500) feet west of Shelton Road to the nearest waters of Town River Bay.

Buildings in District No 3 shall be exempt from any of the rules of this Ordinance, except brick buildings, or building used or to be used wholly or in part for mechanical, mercantile or manufacturing purposes.

SEC. 6. No wooden or frame building, except dwelling houses and private stables, shall be hereafter built within the limits of District No. 1. No person shall move or cause to be moved any wooden building from without said limits into the same. No person shall move or cause to be moved any wooden building from one place to another within said limits, nor shall any person repair or rebuild any building within said limits, which has been partially destroyed by fire or otherwise, without the written permit of the Inspector of Buildings.

APPLICATION FOR PERMITS.

SEC. 7. Every person intending to erect any building or to raise, move or make any additions or alterations in any building or its foundation, already erected, or hereafter to be built, except necessary repairs not affecting the foundations, external partition walls or party walls, chimneys, or stairways, within the limits of Districts No. 1 and 2, shall file an application for a permit with the Inspector of Buildings, on forms furnished by him, giving a description of the building, or additions, alterations or repairs; and shall submit plans of such work or buildings for examination and approval.

The Inspector of Buildings shall report to applicant on all applications for permits within seven days from the receipt thereof, but if the Inspector shall deem it necessary to establish grade lines other than those stated in the application, he shall have three days additional time to make a report.

No permit shall be in force for a longer time than one year from date thereof.

INSPECTOR TO EXAMINE BUILDINGS BEING ERECTED, REPAIRED, ETC.

SEC. 8. The Inspector of Buildings shall examine all buildings in the course of erection, alteration and repair, as often as practical, and for that purpose shall have the right of entry thereto, and shall make a record of all violations of this Ordinance, together with the location of the building where such violations are found, the name of the owner, lessee, occupant, architect and master mechanic, and all other matters relative thereto. Any owner, architect or builder notified of any violations of this Ordinance shall if required by the Inspector, leave the work open until he shall again inspect the work and declare the same approved.

INSPECTOR TO EXAMINE ALL BUILDINGS REPORTED DANGEROUS, ETC.

SEC. 9. The Inspector of Buildings shall examine all buildings reported dangerous or unsafe from any cause, and make a record of such examination, including the nature and cause of such condition, with the location of the building, name of owner, lessee and occupant, and for what purpose occupied, and he shall report any building by him deemed dangerous or unsafe to the City Solicitor for his action.

NOTICE IN CASE OF UNSAFE CHIMNEYS, ETC.

SEC. 10. If any chimney, flue or heating apparatus shall, in the opinion of the Inspector of Buildings, be unsafe by reason of endangering the premises by fire or otherwise, he shall at once notify in writing the owner, agent or other party having an interest in said premises, who upon receiving said notice shall make the same safe, in pursuance of the terms of said notice.

SEC. 11. The Inspector of Buildings shall examine all shops and other places where shavings or other combustible material may be deposited or collected, and at all times be vigilant in the removal of the same, whenever in his opinion the same may be dangerous to the security of the City from fires; and direct the owner, tenant or occupant of said shops, or other places, to remove the same; and in case such owner, tenant or occupant refuses so to do, shall cause the same to be removed at the expense of the owner.

RULES AND REGULATIONS.

SECTION 1.—MEANING OF TERMS.

In the construction of this Ordinance if not inconsistent with the context, the following terms shall have the respective meanings assigned to them:

EXTERNAL WALL shall apply to every outer wall or vertical enclosure of a building, other than a party wall above the foundation wall.

PARTY WALL shall apply to every wall used or built, intended as a separation of any building from any other building.

FOUNDATION WALL shall mean that portion of external walls below the level of the street curb, and for walls not on any street, that portion of the wall below the level of the ground outside of the wall.

BRICK BUILDING means a building the walls of which are built of brick, stone, iron or other incombustible materials.

WOODEN BUILDINGS means a building one or more of the outside walls of which are of wood.

DWELLING HOUSES means a building used wholly for domestic purposes, occupied only by families or persons, in which no mechanical business is carried on.

SECTION 2.—BRICK BUILDING FOUNDATION, ETC.

Every "brick" building shall have foundations laid in mortar extending four feet below the surface exposed to frost, and shall rest upon solid ground, or suitably driven piles.

Excavations for such foundations shall be made six inches larger than the wall each side, and shall not be filled in until inspected.

SECTION 3.—THICKNESS OF FOUNDATION WALL FOR BRICK BUILDINGS

OTHER THAN DWELLING HOUSES.

HEIGHT OF WALLS ABOVE.	BLOCK STONE.	RUBBLE STONE.	BRICKS, OR SOLID CONCRETE.
Two stories	24 inches.	30 inches.	24 in. at bottom to 16 in. at top.
More than Two stories	30 inches.	Not allowed	28 in. at bottom to 20 in. at top.

FOR DWELLING HOUSES.

Two stories	20 inches.	24 inches.	20 in. at bottom to 12 in. at top.
More than Two	24 inches.	30 inches.	24 in. at bottom to 16 in. at top.

2. All brick buildings, exceeding 30 feet in height shall have under foundation wall, a footing course of stone or concrete not less than six inches wider than the bottom of said wall and not less than 12 inches thick.

SECTION 4.—THICKNESS OF WALLS FOR BRICK BUILDINGS.

DWELLING HOUSES.

HEIGHT OF BUILDING.	EXTERNAL WALL.	PARTY WALL.
Two stories.	12 inches.	12 inches.
More than two stories.	16 in. 1st and 2d story.	12 inches.

OTHER THAN DWELLING HOUSES.

Two stories.	16 in. for 1st story. 12 in. for 2d story.	12 inches.
More than two stories.	20 in. for 1st and 2d 16 in. for 3d 12 in. above.	16 in. for 1st and 2d story. 12 in. above.

2. If the height of any story exceed 16 feet between floors the external walls of that story shall be increased 4 inches. No external wall shall be lighter at any part than the wall above.

SECTION 4.—WALLS OF STABLES, ETC.

The external walls of brick buildings less than thirty feet high and not exceeding 2000 superficial feet to be used for stable or light mechanical purposes may be 12 inches thick.

SECTION 5.—WALLS OVER SIXTY FEET HIGH.

The thickness of walls and foundations in buildings over 60 feet high shall be determined by the Inspector.

SECTION 6.—SUPPORTS.

1. Supports of brick buildings other than their foundations shall be of iron, concrete, stone or brick piers, and shall rest on an iron plate not less than two inches thick.

2. For brick buildings used as dwellings exceeding 35 feet in height, there shall be under all columns or piers a footing of stone or concrete not less than 24 inches square and 12 inches thick; in brick buildings other than dwellings, all columns or piers shall have a footing of stone or concrete not less than one foot larger on all sides than the area of the pier and 12 inches thick.

3. No pier in any brick building shall be less than one foot square, and if of brick they shall be hard burned. All piers shall be built with, and all footings bedded in cement mortar.

4. Piers under lintels, girders or columns of brick buildings, other than dwellings, shall have a cap-iron at least two inches thick the full size of the pier.

SECTION 7.—FIRE WALLS.

1. No buildings erected for mercantile purposes shall be built more than 50 feet in width, measuring along the line of wall facing the street, without a brick partition wall at least 8 inches thick if less than 35 feet high, and 12 inches thick if over 35 feet high, and not exeeding 60 feet in height; said wall shall be built up at least 12 inches above the roof at its highest point, and the top of said wall shall be covered with a coping of stone, or iron or other metal; and where there is a mansard or pitched roof, the wall shall be built 24 inches above every part of the roof covering.

2. The provisions of this section shall not apply to single rooms, halls, workshops or manufactories requiring larger dimensions, the construction of which must be approved by the Inspector.

SECTION 8.—PARTY WALLS.

All party walls shall be built through and at least twenty-four inches above or distant from the roof boarding, at every part of the roof and shall be covered with a coping of stone, iron or other metal. But when the wall extends 36 inches above the adjoining building, parapet walls may be omitted.

SECTION 9.—PARTITION WALLS IN DWELLINGS.

All brick buildings to be used as dwellings, tenement or lodging houses, in excess of 40 feet in width, shall have brick partition walls, not less than 12 inches thick, on which the floor beams shall rest, and said walls shall not be more than 30 feet apart.

SECTION 10—OPENINGS, ETC.

All openings in brick walls, not supported by stone or iron lintels, shall be properly arched with brick; no timber shall be used in brick walls, except in case of arched forms, arched their whole length. No side wall of a brick building shall be carried up in advance of the rear walls.

SECTION 11.—RECESSES IN WALLS, ETC.

No continuous vertical recess, chase or flue shall be made in any party wall so deep that it will leave the thickness at the back less than 8 inches at any point, and no recess of any kind shall be made in any 8-inch wall. No horizontal recess shall be made in any wall, except by a special permit from the Inspector. No continuous vertical recess other than flues, in stacks, shall be nearer than 7 feet to any other recess.

SECTION 12.—OPENING CUT IN PARTY WALLS, ETC.

No opening or doorway shall be cut through a brick party or partition wall of any building without a permit from the Inspector; and every such doorway shall have top, bottom and sides of stone, brick or iron; shall be closed by two sets of wrought-iron or metal-covered doors (separated by the thickness of the wall) hung to rabbeted iron frames, or to wooden frames entirely covered with metal, or to iron hinges in brick or stone rabbets; shall not exceed 10 feet in height by 8 feet in width; and any opening other than a doorway shall be protected in a manner satisfactory to the Inspector.

SECTION 13.—ELEVATORS AND LIGHT SHAFTS.

Elevators and light shafts, if of wood, shall be lined with sheet-iron or tin, or plastered on metal lathing throughout.

SECTION 14.—HOT AIR PIPES, ETC.

No wood-work shall be placed at a less distance than 1 inch from any tin or metal flue or pipe, used or intended to be used to convey heated air, unless such flue or pipe be cased with metal or asbestos paper or other fire-proof material, wood-work tinned. Openings in breasts, partitions or floors, through which furnace pipes pass, shall have fire stops of sheet iron, tin or masonry.

SECTION 15.—STEAM PIPES.

Steam pipes shall not touch any wood-work and where they pass through floors or partitions shall be protected by an incombustible ring or tube, or rest on iron supports.

SECTION 16.—BONDING WALLS.

Every eighth course, at least, of a brick wall shall be a heading or bonding course, except when walls are faced with faced brick, in which case every eighth course shall be bonded with Flemish headers, or by cutting the courses of the face brick, and putting in diagonal headers behind the same.

2. No soft brick shall be used in the construction of the outside walls of any brick building.

SECTION 17.—WALLS ANCHORED, ETC.

1. All brick walls in any building on which the ends of beams rest shall be anchored at each tier of beams at intervals of not more than 10 feet apart, with wrought iron anchors, at least ½ inch by 1½ inches, well built into the walls, and well fastened to the tops of the beams; and where the beams are supported by girders or on partition plates, the ends of beams resting upon girders or partition plates shall be fastened together and strapped by wrought iron straps or tie irons, at the same distance apart, and in the same beams as the wall anchors.

2. The ends of all girders or partition plates, resting on or abutting any wall, shall be anchored to it.

3. Anchors shall not be run through partition walls.

4. If side or partition walls are carried up in advance of front walls, they shall be anchored to front walls by wrought-iron anchors, not less than ⅜ inch by 1½ inches, at a height of every ten feet, and built into partition or side walls not less than 36 inches, and into front walls, at least half its thickness.

5. Plates of all roofs shall be bolted to walls, not less than every 10 feet; bolts to be built into walls twenty-four inches.

SECTION 18.—CONSTRUCTION OF CHIMNEYS.

1. All chimneys hereafter shall be built of brick, stone or other incombustible material, and shall have a footing of masonry or iron supported by iron, or corbels of brick or stone. No chimney shall be hung to an eight-inch wall, or bear or rest upon wood. No chimney corbelled from a wall shall project more than the thickness of the wall.

2. All brick smoke flues less than 8 inches thick shall be lined with flue lining, from two feet below any wood-work in basement, to not less than one foot above roof, the balance of flue above this lining to be smoothly plastered inside. All brick vent flues shall be smoothly plastered or cement washed on the inside. All flues shall be topped out at least four feet above the highest part of the roof at the point through which they pass, with brick or stone, and the topping-out shall not have more than two inches projection, unless covered by a cap of improved incombustible material, properly secured; and in no case shall a nail be driven into the masonry of any flue. All wood-work in brick buildings shall be placed distant one inch from the outside of every chimney flue, and the space around such wood-work and brick-work of chimney where it passes through floors shall be closed by a proper fire-stop of incombustible material. In chimneys with more than one flue, the withes shall be constructed of brick laid flatways and bonded every eighth course and plastered.

SECTION 19.—FIREPLACES, HEARTHS, ETC.

1. All hearths shall be supported by trimmer arches of brick or stone; or be of single stones at least six inches thick, and supported entirely by iron beams, one end of which shall be securely built into masonry of chimney or adjoining wall. The brick jambs of every fireplace, range or grate opening

FALLING IN LINE

All New England Cotton Mills to Advance Operatives Wages

OF BENEFIT TO 175,000

New Schedule Ranges From Five to Ten Percent Over Present Rate--Northern New England Follows the Southern Portion

Boston, Dec. 17.—The second general advance in wages in New England cotton mills within six months will be in operation by Jan. 1, according to information obtained here. The advance now in progress in southern New England will be followed by practically all of the cotton factories in New Hampshire and Maine, and in many Massachusetts mills controlled by Boston offices.

Although the advance in southern New England is from 7½ to 10 percent, the increase in the northern section will be but 5 percent, as the mills controlled in Boston, with half a dozen exceptions, did not reduce wages with the rest of New England three years ago.

All the cotton mills of Lowell, employing 17,000 hands, by order of the Boston officials of the corporations, will advance wages 5 percent today. The treasurers of other mills which have offices here have decided to post notices of a similar advance between now and the new year.

In Manchester, N. H., the Amoskeag corporation, which operates the largest cotton manufacturing plant in the world, has notified its 13,000 employes that on Jan. 1 wages will be raised 5 percent. The advance will affect the employes of the Amory and Manchester mills and other concerns controlled by the Amoskeag management.

The Edwards mills of Augusta, Me., and the China, Webster and Pembroke print cloth mills of Suncook, N. H., which pay the Fall River weaving schedule, have already advanced wages this year.

Notices have been posted in the Wauregan, Attawaughan, Quinnebaug, Danielson, Aldrich and other mills in eastern Connecticut, announcing a 10 percent advance at Christmas.

The cotton mills of New England employ about 175,000 operatives.

Stre t Car Strike Riots

Portland, Ore., Dec. 17.—The street car system of Portland is almost tied up as a result of a strike of the motormen and conductors begun upon the refusal of the company to grant an increase of wages and minor demands. Thousands of men and boys gathered at the various stations and as fast as the cars reached a transfer point a rush was made for the carmen, who were obliged to desert the cars or be beaten. Men and boys smashed car windows, bent trolley poles and otherwise destroyed property.

The Beunventu a Blown Up

Newport, R. I., Dec. 17.—About all that was left of the former Spanish tramp steamer Beunaventura, which gained notoriety in the late war by being the first Spanish vessel captured by the Americans, and again last week when as a barge she was wrecked off Montauk point and two of her crew saved through the heroism of a tug deckhand named Brusee, was blown to pieces yesterday by the revenue cutter Mohawk and will cease to be a menace to navigation.

Likely to Be Ambassador Bryce

London, Dec. 17.—The British press is beginning to regard James Bryce's acceptance of the post of ambassador to the United States as a foregone conclusion. The Tribune points out that the post might easily become the most exalted in the diplomatic service, despite contentions to the contrary. The paper adds that the possibility of Bryce's acceptance of the post meets with general approval, both in England and in the United States.

Murdered by Brothers-In-Law

Culpepper, Va., Dec. 17.—William F. Bywaters, well known as a fox-hunter and breeder of crack hounds and horses, was married to Miss Viola Strothers. After the wedding Bywaters attempted to leave the Strothers home and one of the brothers of the bride objected. Bywaters later endeavored to escape, when James and Phillip Strothers, brothers, opened fire on him with pistols, literally shooting him to pieces.

Finding In Steamer Disaster

Seattle, Dec. 17.—United States inspectors who investigated the recent sinking of the steamer Dix and the consequent loss of many lives, exonerated Captain Mason, master of the steamer Jeanie, which sank the Dix, and revoked the license of Captain Lermond, master of the Dix. It was held that the sinking of the Dix was due entirely to the negligence on the part of those handling her.

Believers In Gorky's Doctrine

Naples, Dec. 17.—A demonstration took place here in protest against the prohibition of the presentation of Maxim Gorky's drama "Children of the Sun." The demonstrators and the police collided. Greetings were sent to the "martyrs" in Russia.

Shah's Condition Unchanged

Teheran, Dec. 17.—The condition of the shah is unchanged. Ali Mirza, heir apparent to the throne, arrived here yesterday afternoon.

HOTEL BLOCK BURNED

One Life Lost and Many Families Are Made Homeless

Burlington, Vt., Dec. 17.—The life of Mrs. Frank Conrad is believed to have been sacrificed in a fire which destroyed the American house block and badly damaged two adjoining blocks, causing a loss estimated at $40,000.

This block was owned by John E. Hogan and occupied by the American house, conducted by Harry Kelly, and had at the time about 50 guests. Seven tenements, in which 27 people make their homes, and the store of the Burlington Wine and Liquor company were also in the block. The fire is supposed to have started from some hot ashes which had been deposited in the rear of the building by one of the tenants, and in three hours had destroyed the entire block.

The hotel guests were forced to make hurried exits, but all escaped safely. Benjamin Prosser, a traveling salesman, gathering up some of his clothing in his arms, ran to the assistance of Mrs. Conrad, who occupied one of the tenements on the third floor of the building. He succeeded in taking her down to the second floor, when, in attempting to regain some clothing which he had dropped, he lost his hold upon the woman and she disappeared from his sight, probably in her bewildered condition becoming a prey to the flames.

The fire communicated to an adjoining block occupied by the Western Union Telegraph company and several business offices; also to a block occupied by small offices. Both of these blocks were badly damaged.

Postoffice Burglars Disturbed

Brookfield, Mass., Dec. 17.—Burglars blew off the doors of a large safe in the Brookfield postoffice with nitroglycerine at 3 o'clock Sunday morning. The noise of the explosion awakened Robert G. Livermore, who lives across the street from the office, and who fired a double-barreled shotgun and five shots from a revolver, frightening away the burglars. The outer doors of the safe were blown off, one being driven through a partition.

Pickpocket Got $10,000 In Jewels

Boston, Dec. 17.—Declaring he had been robbed of a chamois bag containing $10,000 worth of jewels, William Wallace, an insurance broker, has offered $1000 for the return of the jewels and called upon the police to institute a search for the pickpocket whose skill enabled him to cut the heavy gold chain holding the bag to the waistcoat and draw out the treasure from a partially buttoned coat. The robbery occurred in the shopping district.

Should Teach Morality In Schools

Boston, Dec. 17.—Speaking before the Massachusetts Schoolmasters' club, President Hall of Clark university, referring, to schools in this country, admitted that morality was not being tught as it should be and that good moral results were not forthcoming. Speaking of the methods of punishment in England, Hall said that teachers there believe in allowing boys to fight when they have disputes and thus settle their own difficulties.

Great Activity of Firebug

Leominster, Mass., Dec. 17.—Six fires, all apparently incendiary, kept the firemen on their nerve between midnight Saturday and 4 o'clock Sunday morning. Two bell alarms were given and four fires were extinguished without alarms. In two cases a man was seen to light a match and apply it to awnings. The only serious blaze was at the stable of E. W. Pierce, where more than $1000 damage was done.

To Study Andes Indians

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 17.—One of the most important ethnological expeditions in the history of Harvard university left today, under the leadership of Dr. W. C. Faradee, for South America, to make an investigation among the Indian tribes of the Andes mountains. The party has in its possession letters from President Roosevelt and Secretary Root to various government officials in South America.

Liquor Raiders' Great Haul

Clinton, Mass., Dec. 17.—The most extensive liquor raid in Worcester county for several years was made here when eight warrants were served. In four places liquor was found and at one place an amount valued at $3000 was seized. The raid was at the instigation of Rev. E. R. Hyde of the local Baptist church and O. H. Hayes of the Anti-Saloon league.

Higher Wages For Railway Men

Portland, Me., Dec. 17.—The Portland Street Railway company has announced a voluntary increase of pay to its conductors and motormen, the amount of increase being graduated according to length of service—from 8 cents a day to one-year service men, to 10 cents to those who have been in the employ of the company for five years or more.

Wanted For Highway Robbery

Plainfield, Conn., Dec. 17.—Application will be made to Governor Roberts for requisition papers to bring back to this state from Boston Andrus Cuttanegro, who is under arrest there and who is wanted here for highway robbery. The articles secured are said to have been sent by express to Boston.

Burned to Death In His Home

South Norwalk, Conn., Dec. 17.—Benjamin Timpson, aged 30, was burned to death when the two-room house which he had built for himself and in which he was living alone was destroyed by fire. His charred body was found in the ruins. He leaves a widow.

TWO LIVES BLOTTED OUT

Double Tragedy In a Boston Lodging House Is Unexplained

Boston, Dec. 17.—A double tragedy in the South End was disclosed when the body of Margery Clark, 40 years old, was found in bed in a lodging house on Dover street, with a revolver clutched in her right hand, a bullet hole behind her right ear, while beside her lay Al Atwood, aged 40, said to have been her husband, and dying from another bullet wound in the forehead. Atwood was unconscious when discovered and died later at a hospital without recovering his senses.

The Clark woman had occupied the room in the lodging house a few weeks, and during the past few days had complained of feeling sick. She told some of the lodgers that she had sent for Atwood, who she said was in Denver. He arrived last week and the two had been living together apparently happily.

Medical Examiner Macdonald expressed no opinion as to which of the two was shot first.

Sultan Promised to Settle

Constantinople, Dec. 17.—Several hundred time-expired marines from the naval arsenal made a mutinous demonstration in an abandoned cemetery here, demanding their arrears in pay and their discharge from the colors. A number of naval officers unsuccessfully endeavored to appease the men, but were stoned and otherwise mistreated. After the demonstration had lasted three hours an officer from the sultan arrived with the promise that the men's demands would be granted, whereupon the men dispersed and returned to quarters. During the demonstration the public held aloof and neither the police nor the military interfered.

Trio of Highwaymen Caught

Trenton, Dec. 17.—The Trenton and Allentown stage was held up just outside the city. Three highwaymen were passengers in the well-filled coach, and when one of the men jumped down from his seat and seized the horses by the heads, the other two robbed the other passengers. The three then took to the woods. A posse was soon formed and ran down the robbers, who surrendered after an exchange of shots.

No Coal In Oklahoma

Kansas City, Dec. 17.—The heaviest snowstorm of the winter is general over southwestern Missouri, southeastern Kansas and parts of Oklahoma and Indian territory. Much suffering will result from the storm in certain parts of Oklahoma, where a fuel famine prevails. The mayor of Mangum yesterday made such an urgent appeal to the Rock Island railroad that a trainload of coal was dispatched to Mangum.

Quiet at Fishing Grounds

St. Johns, Dec. 17.—The British cruiser Britain, which has arrived here from Bay of Islands, reports everything quiet in the herring fishery. The captain of the steamer Active has been fined $400, with an alternative sentence of six months' imprisonment, for conveying colonists beyond the marine boundary to join American vessels.

Land Squabble Settled

San Juan, P. R., Dec. 17.—The differences between the federal and insular governments over the division of the public lands in Porto Rico have been amicably adjusted, subject to the approval of the secretary of the navy. Captain Lemly, U. S. N., retired, who represented the navy in the adjustment, has sailed for New York.

The Longworths Shaken Up

Washington, Dec. 17.—Representative and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth were occupants of an automobile which crashed into the station platform at Chevy Chase, a suburb. Beyond a severe shaking up the occupants were uninjured. The machine was slightly damaged.

Wall Street Pavement Falls In

New York, Dec. 17.—A strip of asphalt pavement 20 feet in width and extending 75 feet in Wall street caved in last night, sinking from three to 11 feet. The depression was due to the breaking of a water main, by which steam, gas and water pipes were undermined.

Three Hundred Strikers Return

Schenectady, N. Y., Dec. 17.—The strike situation remains unchanged. The men claim they have the General Electric shops completely tied up. It is said that the paymaster's records show that only 2000 men went out and that 300 of them have returned to work.

Sweden's Sick Monarch

Stockholm, Dec. 17.—A bulletin issued last evening was as follows: "The king passed a quiet day. He slept four hours. His temperature is 99.8. The action of the heart is unchanged. The catarrh of the trached is diminished."

Bomb Thrown by Student

Radom, Poland, Dec. 17.—A bomb was thrown at Colonel Plotta, commander of the gendarmerie of Radom. His leg was torn off by the explosion. A student who threw the bomb was arrested.

Won't Sell Island to Japanese

Buffalo, Dec. 17.—One of the owners of the Island of Lanai, of the Hawaiian group, denies the report that negotiations are being conducted to sell the Island to the Japanese, as has been reported.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

The voters of Hull have made their appropriation toward the new bridge of the Weymouth Fore river. They are ahead of some of the large towns.

When the city of Malden wanted to enlarge its High schoolhouse it appointed a special commission of five gentlemen. Today the corner stone was laid, and it is expected that the new building which is 336 by 120 will be ready by the 1st of next October.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ If I should be asked what number of ships would supply the wear and tear and keep the navy apace with the times and in a state of proper efficiency I should say that it would be an authorization by Congress of at least three large battleships a year. This, I believe, Congress will grant us. I have always had faith in our legislators. They have been liberal to the navy in the past, and through their wisdom and enlightened action we have already afloat a number of the very finest fighting ships and others building.—Admiral Dewey, Dec. 15, 1906.

Grand Officers as Guests.

Thursday evening next will be a gala one for George L. Gill Rebekah lodge, as they are to do the work on several candidates and have as their guest, G. M. Joseph Belcher and the board of Grand Officers, Rebekah Assembly officers, D. D. G. M. Annie E. Sawyer and suite of Boston, P. D. D. G. M., Grace W. Mitchell and suite of East Weymouth, P. D. D. G. M. Mabel G. Chamberlain and suite of Whitman, P. D. D. G. M. Clara Folger and suite of Brockton, P. G. M. Edward Kavanaugh, and other members of the order.

New Officers.

Granite Lodge No. 193 Sons of St. George, held a public installation of officers for the ensuing term, on Wednesday evening Dec. 12, at Dobles hall. D. D. P. P. Dalton and staff, of Earl Shaftesbury lodge, Brockton, installed the following officers:

W. P.,—J. E. Collins,
W. U. P.,—Joseph Wardle.
W. S.,—A. H. Dunstan.
W. A. S.,—John T. Pierce.
W. T.,—Charles Besanko.
W. M.,—Wm. Wanless.
Trustee for the term—W. Williams.

The entertainment consisted of vocal and instrumental selections, and dancing was enjoyed. During the evening refreshments were served.

Basket Ball.

The basket ball game at the Y. M. C. A. on Saturday evening was very closely contested, both sides making big scores. Quincy defeated Reading 37 to 36.

At South Braintree, Thayer Academy defeated Mechanics Arts High 11 to 8.

CITY ORDINANCE.

CITY OF QUINCY,

No. 232. IN COUNCIL, Nov. 12, 1906.

ORDERED: That Ordinance No. 25, an Ordinance establishing a Police Department for the City of Quincy, be amended as follows:

Strike out Section 6, and insert in place thereof the following:

Section 6. Salaries paid to the Police Department shall be as follows: Chief of Police $1,200 per year, payable in monthly instalments; Lieutenants, $1,100 per year; Sergeants, $1,050 per year; Patrolmen, first year $2.25 per day, second year $2.50 per day and thereafter $2.75 per day, payable weekly; Reserve and Special Police, $2.50 per day when detailed for service.

Passed to be ordained Dec. 3, 1906.

Attest: GEORGE T. MAGEE,
Clerk of Council.

Order returned to the City Council by the Mayor, without his approval, with a letter in writing stating his objections, Dec. 10, 1906. Vote passing the order to be ordained reconsidered. Order passed notwithstanding the objections of the Mayor, Dec. 10, 1906.

Attest: GEORGE T. MAGEE,
Clerk of Council.

ST. JOHN'S DAY

Masonic Bodies Listen to Sermon On the Building Of Manhood

The brothers of Massachusetts lodge of Boston, Rural lodge of Quincy and Wollaston lodge A. F. & A. M. of Wollaston, and the Eastern Star of Quincy, attended services in celebration of St. John's day on Sunday at the Wollaston Congregational church.

It was a beautiful service from beginning to end, and was conducted by Rev. Edward A. Chase, pastor of the church, and chaplain of Wollaston and Massachusetts lodges.

The three Masonic bodies met at the apartments of Wollaston lodge and marched to the church. The whole of the centre of the church was reserved for the lodges, and was occupied by nearly 150 brothers. There was also a large attendance of ladies.

The services opened with a trio for the organ, violin and violoncello, followed by an anthem, "Life and Light Immortal."

Then followed responsive reading by pastor and congregation and hymn by choir and people. Scripture lesson I Kings, Chapter V., vs 1:12—"And Hiram king of Tyre sent his servants unto Solomon," etc.

Anthem, "My Faith Looks up to Thee," by choir with violin obligato and cello accompaniment. Prayer, Response, "O Saviour Divine" by Mrs. Mary Hasting Slade with obligato for violin and 'cello.

The offertory was followed by Violin solo, "The Simple Confession" by Miss Adelaide T. Thomas, and the address, "The Building of Manhood," by the chaplain, Rev. Edward A. Chase, who said in part:

The inner truth is wisdom. It appears in all parts of life. The first letter of St. John can be called a wisdom letter, as it tells how a man may build his manhood. A set of working plans by which a man may build his manhood.

First, let us consider the preliminary conditions. God is light, by means of which you see. When the light shines on a man he will see himself. There is a great deal of rubbish in a man which he has got to get rid of. Unfairness and vice are rubbish. When a man sees rubbish in his life, let him confess it to God and he will be clean. The great trouble is, we try to build two kinds of building at once on a good foundation but we let a lot of rubbish stay there. These are the preliminary condition.

Now as to the specifications. In building a house we want the best, should we not have our lives the same? We can not afford to make any mistakes in our life.

First, we should put into life, virtue.

Virtue means clean deeds. A man may deceive his fellows, but never himself. There are times when he wants all the reputation he has got, but he can not have it unless he has put it there.

The second specification is love. Love means, if I love you I somehow fuse my life with yours. Get your life so that you think of the other man as well as yourself. That a man is willing to give up some of the things in his own life for others. Spend your reputation to hold a man up until he gets where his manhood should be. Let us live according to the specifications.

At the close of the service the brethern passed around the church, when the chaplain greeted each with a hearty shake of the hand and a pleasant word.

The music during the service was very fine. The quartette were: Mrs. Mary Hastings Slade, Miss Ellen I. Smith, Victor Crawford, William Howard. Miss Adelaide T. Thomas, violinist, and Miss Marion Moorehouse, cellist.

Public Interest

IS NOW CENTERED ON

The Pure Food Law.

WE Have Always Maintained that the best that money could buy was always the cheapest in the end, because it is always the bargain hunters that have to pay the DOCTOR, buying as they do IMPURE foods of all kinds, FOODS that are UNFIT for ANY PERSON'S STOMACH, being mixed as they are with different kinds of PRESERVATIVES and SECRET PREPARATIONS to take the place of GOOD PURE FOODS. And some dealers selling these goods at a GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICE over the pure kind, GUARANTEE you NOTHING, but—"Poor Health to You and Your Family," and although you can buy the "just as good kind," you can save nothing as that kind is unhealthy and dangerous to the whole human family. Now our standard is to always sell the best of everything and the steady increase of our business year after year proves to us that we have the right idea, and we know it must be very satisfactory to our many customers to feel that what they buy at our store is ABSOLUTELY PURE and HEALTHFUL and the Food Laws are being strictly enforced by us. Our Goods are all GOVERNMENT INSPECTED and also carefully inspected by us before they are put on sale or sent to your homes, and although you pay perhaps a few cents more to us than some dealers charge, don't you think it is money well spent, considering all things?—YOUR HEALTH, which is the greatest blessing we can have,—think well about this and we know you will agree with us and do your trading where you know the goods can be depended upon to be absolutely Pure.

We have just received our season's pack of choice canned and bottled goods, FRESH and DRIED FRUITS, all kinds of Cereals, Ketchup, Pickles, Jams, Jellies, Prunes, Figs, Nuts, Dates, Table Raisins, Citron, Lemon and Orange Peel, Olives, Sardines,—in fact everything for your tastes and fancies. All the leading brands of FLOUR. Fancy New Orleans Molasses.

OUR MARKET is complete, AND REMEMBER, we sell nothing that has been doctored or filled with Preservatives to keep it. ABSOLUTELY NOTHING but Carefully Selected Meats are on sale at OUR STORE. Stamped with the Government Inspection Stamp, that insures to you and to us the point of perfection, which we are always striving to reach for the benefit of our trade.

We will have a grand display of that great National Bird, THE TURKEY, the same VERMONT KIND we have always sold you,—Chicken, Fowl and Duck, direct from WILLIAM R. DRAKE of Braintree, and he knows how to dress them so as to please the eye as well as the palate. They don't grow nicer than he has. Fruit and vegetables in abundance, and don't forget our famous LA TOURAINE COFFEE, no dinner complete without it.

Yours Respectfully,

JOHNSON BROS., CITY SQUARE

Destruction of Laurel.

The excessive use for decorating purposes of the slow-growing laurel is deplorable. Some of the large Boston firms use festoons made of the leaves and branches of this beautiful shrub in profusion, thinking, perhaps, that no substitute can excel in glossiness and enduring qualities.

This shrub is very dear to the botanists of Massachusetts and it grieves them to know that it is gathered in quantities and yearly shipped to Boston and other cities where ready buyers await its coming. The gatherers receive satisfactory remuneration for their labor and then seek new fields for future spoliation unmindful that this means the extermination of the shrub.

The laurel is surely following the fate of the arbutus, once so plentiful in the vicinity of Boston, despite the efforts of fourteen hundred members of the society for the protection of native plants.

It is a pleasant fact that R. H. White & Co., and Jordan Marsh Co., and possibly other large firms are using life-like artificial decorations of holly with red berries and other effective red flowers this year enabling the flower-lover to pass under the brilliant arches without a qualm.

Several Braintree and Quincy stores show exceedingly effective decorations. It is gratifying to know that other trimmings are found more worthy than the slowly dying branches of rare shrubs and trees in our town and near city.

A substitute for laurel and prince's pine, which is also becoming rare, is found in pine, hemlock and spruce branches for wreaths; while Southern smilax may be bought for church decoration without danger of extinction. For table decorations the branches of the savin with its pretty blue bearies may be used freely. The polybody or snake fern is also a pretty table adornment. H. A. P.

Police at Houghs Neck

The day policeman at Houghs Neck has little to do at this season of the year then to watch the tide ebb and flow. There are no police signal boxes in this section and it seems almost useless to keep a man there when there is urgent need of police somewhere else.

Atlantic needs a day man very badly, and an additional night man is needed for the Edwards hill district. It would seem to be a good plan to dispense with an officer at Houghs Neck at this season of the year, and put that officer on one of the two beats mentioned above.

It is so long since the Houghs Neck officer made an arrest he has probably almost forgotten how, as practically all arrests in this section, and they are few, are made by officers sent down for that particular purpose.

Close of the Year

The meeting of the City Council this evening will be the last regular meeting of the year. It is probable, however, that an adjourned meeting will be held at some later date. As the following Monday is the night before Christmas the date for adjournment will doubtless be for some other night.

The custom of the City Council several years ago was to wind up the year with a mock session, entertainment or banquet at some Boston hotel. Nothing of the kind has been talked this year and probably the Council of 1906 will go out of business quietly.

A Growing Industry.

The Boston Gear Works has discontinued its Boston office, and all business will now be transacted through the works at Norfolk Downs. They feel that by thus centralizing the offices, they will be able to serve customers more promptly and satisfactorily. Since building the new works covering 22,000 square feet the business has increased rapidly, and they are constantly installing new machinery, and otherwise increasing facilities.

LANE MORSE

Back Bay Girl Becomes the Bride of a Quincy Man

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Adams Morse, 193 Bay State road, Boston, on Saturday evening, was united in marriage their daughter, Susan Godfrey, and Mr. Carleton Cushing Lane, Harvard '96, only son of Mrs. Seth Cushing Lane of 174 Goffe street, Quincy. The ceremony was solemnized at half after seven by Rev. Roderick Stebbins of the First Unitarian church of Milton, only the immediate families being present at the ceremony.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Dorothy Hoffman Morse, as maid of honor, and Miss Laura Clark of Haverhill was the bridesmaid. Dr. Harry R. Cloudman of Brockton was best man and the ushers were William H. Cloudman, Jr., of New York, cousin of the groom, and Arthur W. Godfrey of Boston. There was also a flower girl, little Bertha Godfrey, and a little page, Richard Alleyne Morse.

The bride was sweet and charming in her bridal robe of white liberty silk, cut en train, and trimmed with point lace. Her long veil was fastened with pearls and the bouquet was of lilies of the valley. Her only ornament was a diamond pendant, a gift from the groom. A pretty contrast were the bridesmaids, one in light blue liberty silk and the other in light pink liberty silk, each carrying a bouquet of violets. As souvenirs of the happy occasion the bride presented her attendants with pearl brooches.

Following the ceremony a reception was held from eight until ten o'clock. The bride's parents, the groom's mother and sister, Miss Georgianna Cushing Lane, assisted in receiving.

Music was by Caroline Belcher's quarter, and the beautiful floral decorations of ferns, American beauty roses and carnations were by Galvin.

A wedding supper was served and there was also a display of very choice and beautiful presents.

Among the guests from Quincy were: Mrs. William B. Rice, Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Rice, Miss Ellen Foltter, Dr. and Mrs. N. S. Hunting, Mrs. Nowland, Col. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Wadsworth, Mr. George Gavin, Mr. Henry MacDonald, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Benchley, also Mr. and Mrs. Homer Bigelow of Brookline and Miss Ruth Lane Neville of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Lane left immediately after the reception on a short wedding trip. On their return they are to reside in Watertown, where they will be at home to their friends at 12 Marion road, the last three Wednesday's in February.

SIMPLE SPELLING DILEMMA.

House Committee Puzzled, but Uncle Joe Finds It Easy.

To spell it out or cut it short, that is the question that is bothering the legislative subcommittee of the house committee on appropriations, says a Washington special dispatch to the New York Times. Public Printer Stillings was before the committee the other day, nominally to explain his estimates for the ensuing fiscal year, but in fact unbending a fine line of argument in favor of the "clipt" word style. He had the first draft of the new legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill before him, and it furnished examples of both the old and the revised versions.

Quotations from the old law were in the King James spelling, and the new parts were in the Roosevelt style. All day the subcommittee wrestled with a triplicate problem. The supreme court having rejected the executive order orthography, the subcommittee wondered whether a law of congress could compel the court to bow to the presidential will.

On the other hand, could a simple "Be it enacted by the senate and house of representatives" affect the pleasure or alter the will of the man in the White House? And, if neither could be done, how much would it cost to regard the desires of both the executive and judicial branches of the government and print all documents in both styles of spelling. The end of it was that the subcommittee gave it up for the day and went home to dream out a possible escape from the dilemma. Meanwhile the draft of the bill awaits the further pleasure of the meeting.

After they got through they talked it over and decided to take their problem to the fountain head for solution. So they went straight to Uncle Joe Cannon and laid their troubles before him.

The speaker listened magisterially, with one eye closed reflectively and his cigar pointed to the northwest, as is his custom with cigars.

"What kind of spelling do you favor, Mr. Speaker?" asked one of them.

"Oh, h—!" said Uncle Joe. "I don't bother my head about either kind. I leave my spelling to the stenographer."

And the committee retired, baffled.

JAPAN MAY FIGHT.

Much Disturbed Over California Education Issue, Says Consul Miller.

According to the statement of Harry B. Miller, United States consul general at Yokohama, Japan is prepared to use her military and naval strength if necessary to fight the discrimination that has been made by the San Francisco board of education against Japanese who want to attend our schools with white children, says a San Francisco special dispatch to the New York Times. Mr. Miller, who has been on a visit to his home in Eugene, Ore., is in San Francisco under orders from Washington to look into the difficulty prior to his return to Japan.

"The Japanese are highly incensed over this affair," he said the other day, "and to save the national dignity are willing to go to war. They feel that they are powerful in their military and naval departments, and open comment is made on the probability of a show of fight to compel the American people to cease discrimination against the Japanese."

New Scheme of Recruiting.

The navy department has hit upon a novel way of recruiting, says the Washington Star. The stanch and trim gunboat Wasp, which has been refitted at the Boston navy yard, is to be sent up and down the southern rivers in expectation that the boys and young men who have a liking for the water through the use of small boats will be attracted to the more thrilling seagoing life of a man-of-warsman. The Wasp, commanded by Chief Boatswain Chase, is in Hampton Roads. She is fully manned, and in her many persons living along the rivers will get their first glimpse of a naval vessel.

Christmas In Bethlehem.

Shepherds still watch their flocks by night during the Christmas season around Bethlehem, says the Travel Magazine. It is the most peaceful scene in all the Holy Land. Yearly they watch the procession of pilgrims that wends its way from the Church of the Holy Sepulcher through the Via Dolorosa, out through St. Stephen's gate, where the martyr was stoned to death, and across the plains to Bethlehem. All night long the footsore travelers, who have gathered from every part of the world, may be seen trudging by starlight toward the little village of Bethlehem.

Photographing of jewels is becoming more frequent. Women who own beautiful gems are too wise to keep the collections in their houses except when they are to be in use, so it has become a fad to have the jewels arranged artistically and a photograph taken of the group, says the New York Press. At any time the proud owner may show the picture to friends. Mrs. Reginald Vanderbilt was the first young woman to have this done, for she seldom has all her jewels together, and she wears them sparingly.

Black Carrots From Morocco.

A cargo of black carrots has been shipped to Paris by M. Michalet, the agent at Algiers for a Paris company, says the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. The roots are exactly like carrots, except that they are almost black outside and striped or mottled black when cut in sections. They grow freely in Algiers, and M. Michalet declares they are larger and better than red carrots. He obtained the seeds from Morocco.

Why French Clergy Refuse to Alienate Church Property

TURNED OVER TO LAYMEN

Archbishop Farley Says the New Law Renders It Possible For Foes of Church to Secure Domination Over Them

New York, Dec. 17.—Archbishop Farley of New York gave out a statement on the present church and state controversy in France, in which he says:

"In order to understand the refusal of the Roman Catholic clergy of France to fulfill the requirements of the new law of separation it must be explained that the provisions of the statute in question demand the consent of the church and of its ministers to the alienation of all the property that has been bequeathed and donated them to be held in trust for religious and philanthropic purposes. It is property which they do not derive from the government, but from the munificence of the pious, and of which they are merely the trustees.

"The situation created by the new law of separation, which is the cause of the present crisis in France, is as if, for instance, the legislature of New York were to enact laws compelling the trustees of the Trinity church corporation, under the penalty of confiscation, to give their consent to the alienation of all its vast property to other uses than those for which it was intended, and to transfer its administration and control to people who might either belong to rival denominations, or even profess atheism.

"It is as if the legislature of New York were to enact a statute requiring the Catholic church, under the penalty of the confiscation of its property of one kind or another, to consent to the transfer of the management and control of its sacred edifices, seminaries, rectories, hospitals, protectories and other educational and charitable institutions to associations in which not merely avowed foes of Catholicism among the Protestant denominations, but also agnostics and scheming politicians, indifferent to any kind of religious belief, were in the majority.

"It is inconceivable to the American people that the legislature of New York or, indeed, of any other state of this great and free republic, should enact any such laws of virtual spoliation. Yet that is precisely what the French government has done. Article four of the new law of separation provides for the forming of lay associations to take title to the ecclesiastical property in France. In America, Catholic laymen are represented on all the boards of trustees invisted with the management of the funds and property of the various churches. But the new French law renders it possible for people of rival denominations, and foes of the church in question, to secure a place on these associations, and actually converts the clergy into their docile instrument as regards the administration of their ecclesiastical office. Moreover, it is provided by the law that in cases where rival associations are formed, claiming the churches and the church property of any particular parish, it is the council of state, that is to say, a purely lay body and a creature of the executive for the time being, which shall determine their respective pretensions.

"In one word, the new law requires of the church the alienation of all its property to boards of laymen in the selection of which it has virtually no voice, this board to have full and perfect control, not only over the funds, but even over the religious edifice and over the exercise of divine worship itself, independent of pope, bishops and canon law.

"Aristide Briand, the minister of education in France and the author and executor of their iniquitous law, has solmenly declared that without the written consent of the clergy to the establishment of these boards, or associations Cultuelles, and without the transfer by the clergy of the property of the church to these bodies, there could not only be no public exercises of divine worship, but there would also follow the confiscation of the sacred edifices, the rectories, and the other ecclesiastical property by the state.

"This minister, Aristide Briand, is the statesmen who, addressing a congress of teachers at Amiens the other day, told them that the time had come to root out from the minds of French children the ancient faith, which had served its time, and to replace it with the light of free thought, winding up his discourse with the words: 'We must do away with all the Christian ideas.'

"There is no question, therefore, of the differences between the various religious denominations. The pope and the Roman Catholic church in France today are fighting with far better justification and much greater moderation the very war that Chalmers and the other founders of the free kirk waged in Scotland 60 years ago for "the crown rights of Christ.' The clergy of France, in one word, are fighting the battle of Christendom and should have the sympathy of every Christian church, no matter what its denomination, which owns property and endowments to be used for divine worship and for the dispensation of charity according to its own lights."

DEFEAT IN ITS SUCCESS

Episcopal Church Gained Nothing by Crapsey Heresy Trial

Ballston, N. Y., Dec. 17.—Rev. J. W. Hegeman, D. D., rector of Christ Episcopal church, discussed the Crapsey trial in his sermon yesterday. He protested against heresy trials in the Episcopal church and said that the evolution of God's kingdom on earth showed the folly of claiming infallibility of creed or finality of revelations.

He added: "The church is not a system, but a part of God's kingdom on earth, and therefore cannot condemn an honest student. The object of the Crapsey trial has been a real defeat in its success and the church is no stronger by it. Its composite unity and large inclusiveness have been injured. The poison of the declared heresy has been scattered into hundreds of thousands of lives and the complainants themselves have propagated what they aimed to suppress. Its reactions will result in a challenge to young men to study the Bible in the light of the Bible and to be true to their convictions.

"As a system the church has been as cruel to her children who cannot stand by past interpretations as the modern political and financial systems are cruel to those who stand in the way of their interests."

No Dallying With Revolutionists

Warsaw, Dec. 17.—Reports from points throughout Russian Poland show that the government's policy of firmness has been successful in subduing the last of the smoldering sparks of revolution This result was accomplished at a terrible cost to the Polish people, the number of victims being estimated at thousands. Reports from Ceznstochowa, which is a typical Polish town, show that seven so-called terrorists have been tried by drumhead court martial and executed during the last two days. Executions have been going on so constantly throughout Poland generally that it has become almost superfluous to repeat the daily chronicle of military executions.

Chinese Throne Claimant

Victoria, B. C., Dec. 17.—A Manchu woman, married to an English officer of the Gordon army, which suppressed the Taiping rebellion, has announced anonymously that she has made claim to the throne of China, The woman, unwilling to make public her name lest relatives be assassinated at Pekin, has addressed petitions to the British government, asking that her claim be taken up with China. With her husband and family, she has been living in Victoria for 21 years, since they came from Pekin.

Lovesick Man's Triple Crime

San Francisco, Dec. 17.—Roy Garrison and Joseph Haefner are dead and Mrs. Pearl Garrison is seriously wounded because of Haefner's infatuation for the woman. Haefner besought the woman to leave her home with him. Instead, she went to a saloon, where her husband was employed as bartender. Haefnerr pursued her and shot man and wife and killed himself.

Tortoise Will Return to Fountain

Rome, Dec. 17.—The bronze tortoise stolen from the famous fountain in the Piazza Tartaruga was found by street boys in a public garden not far from the place where it was taken. It is supposed that the thieves, fearing discovery, or that they would be unable to sell the tortoise, abandoned it.

Victory For Government Troops

Guayaquil, Ecuador, Dec. 17.—Colonel Sorrano reports that he attacked the Pasajo rebels and won a splendid victory. After the fighting at Pasajo the government forces marched to attack the rebels at Santa Rosa. No details of a fight at the latter place have been received.

Policeman Fatally Shot Burglar

Pittsburg, Dec. 17.—During a desperate battle with burglars in the notion store of Mrs. Mary Neenon at New Kensington. Police Officer Lemon shot and fatally wounded Elmer Kuhn and captured Albert Romig, young men well known in New Kensington.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The body of Edward N. Burdick, 34 years old, was found floating in Nantucket, Mass., harbor. It is believed that he threw himself into the harbor while temporarily insane.

The body of Joseph Burns of Franklin, Mass., was found lying beside the railroad tracks near Westerly, R. I., with the skull badly fractured. It is believed that Burns was riding on a freight train and was struck by an overhead bridge.

That the workingmen of this country cannot accomplish the reforms for which they are working through paternalism of a paternal government was declared by Bishop H. C. Potter, who presided at a meeting in Brooklyn for the discussion of "Church and Labor."

The body of a man found frozen in Waterford, Conn., has been identified as Daniel Sullivan, a freight handler employed on the Central Vermont line.

The cornerstone of the new public library which Morris K. Jesup of New York is building at Westport, Conn., at a cost of $80,000, and which, when completed, he purposes to present to the town as a memorial to his parents, former residents of that place, was laid with appropriate ceremonies.

Dr. Philip Carroll, American consul at Manzanillo, Mex., is dead. He had been in the consular service since 1879.

George W. Walters, an old-time actor, died at New York. He was 78 years of age and was born in Gloucester, Eng.

Moses Oliver, a coal heaver, fell 35 feet from a coal run on a wharf at Lynn, Mass., and died from the effects of his injuries.

ROMAN OUTBURST

Thousands Express Their Opposition to the Vatican

GARRISON IS CALLED OUT

Services Required to Protect Apostolic Palace--A Battle Against "Moth-Eaten Clericalism" Endorsed by the Mob

Rome, Dec. 17.—Thousands of demonstrators friendly to France and of anti-Vatican tendencies gathered last night in the piazza adjoining the Farnese palace, the seat of the French embassy, in an endeavor to express their pleasure at the French government's action toward the church.

The whole garrison of Rome was employed to face the demonstrants and protect the Vatican, which was surrounded by cavalry, and the bridges leading to the apostolic palace were barred by troops. All the streets leading to the Palace Farnese were protected by soldiers with fixed bayonets.

The demonstrators, led by a dozen radical Socialists and Republican members of the chamber of deputies, including Prince Borghese, after vainly attempting to break the cordon, provided themselves with candles and formed a mock procession, intoning the "Miserere" as an indication of the death of clericalism, amidst cries of "Long Live France; Long Live Clemenceau," and "Down with the Vatican." Deputies Costa and De Felice tried to harangue the people, but the police interfered.

The demonstration occurred near the monument to Giordano Bruno, the monk philosopher who was burned alive, a victim of religious intolerance. Deputy Costa finaliy made himself heard. He said:

"Before this monument to Bruno, of free thought, let us send our applause to France for this great people continuing the traditional obstinate struggle against the moth-eaten clericalism."

Fresh attempts were then made to beat back the cordon, and the cavalry charged the demonstrators, a few of whom were slightly injured and several arrested. Amid roars and shouts and the singing of the "Marseillaise" the ferment continued until late in the evening.

A commission of the demonstrators was received by M. Barrere, the French ambassador, who expressed his appreciation for the sympathy of the Roman people.

The government endeavored by all means to prevent the demonstration. The stand that the government is taking is that although Italy is friendly to France she does not wish to take sides in the dispute, especially when her relations with the church are better now than they have been since 1870.

No Disturbances In Paris

Paris, Dec. 17.—The serious disturbances that it was believed would ensue on the first Sunday under the law separating church and state were not realized. The services in this city passed off most calmly. There were only a few cases where rowdies entered the churches wearing their hats, and they were promptly ejected and arrested.

Reports from the provinces show that there was great excitement at many places. Large processions, chanting Psalms, accompanied the clergy to and from the churches. Counter demonstrations took place in several cities, notably Perpignan and Amiens, where the Catholics and free thinkers came into collision, necessitating interference by the police, who quickly dispersed the crowds. Several of the demonstrators were injured.

Spanish Neutrality Compromised

Rome, Dec. 17.—According to reports in circulation here, the Spanish government has signified its displeasure to Marquis Ojeda, the Spanish ambassador accredited to the Vatican, for his action in communicating with the Spanish ambassador at Paris concerning the archives in the nunciature there, which is considered as compromising the neutrality that Madrid desires to maintain in the conflict between France and the Vatican. It is expected here that Ojeda will be recalled.

Socialists Side With France

Milan, Dec. 17.—The Socialists' Federtion has decided to organize throughout Italy for a simultaneous expression of sympathy with France, and is forming a committee to be composed of all the democratic parties for anti-clerical agitation.

Could Not Budge Schooner

Highland Light, Mass., Dec. 17.—A futile attempt was made to drag schooner G. M. Cochran from Nausett beach by the revenue cutter Gresham and a tug. The hawser broke without the vessel being moved a foot. The Cochran was blown ashore on Nov. 4 and her crew of seven men rescued with difficulty. It is believed that the vessel will go to pieces on the beach where she lays.

Murder Charge Against Youth

Philadelphia, Dec. 17.—John Salwich, aged 19 years, was arrested here on the charge of having murdered a man named Kosa during a fight at Central Falls, R. I. The killing was the result of a fight between Frank Owizki and Koza. Salwich, seeing Owizki being beaten, stabbed Koza in the heart.

20 inches.	24 in. at bottom to 18 in. at top.	12 inches. Bracketed at bottom to 18 in. wide.

2. For wooden buildings other than dwellings or for dwelling houses more than three stories in height the above wall shall be increased 4 inches in thickness.

3. Rubble stone walls shall be bonded by headers through the wall every two feet in each direction.

SECTION 28.—UNDERPINNINGS.

1. All brick underpinnings shall be at least 8 inches thick, and all brick underpinnings averaging over three feet high shall be not less than 12 inches thick, and under buildings three or more stories in height shall be not less than 12 inches thick their entire height.

2. All brick work exposed to frost shall be constructed with hard burned brick.

3. Any foundation for any dwelling built on other than gravelly or porous soil, shall be underlaid with suitable trench stone to the depth of 12 inches and 4 inches wider than the wall, with outlet that will drain the same unless said cellar shall be constructed water-tight.

SECTION 29.—BUILDINGS ON PIERS, ETC.

1. Buildings that do not rest on foundation walls of piling shall be supported on brick or concrete piers of hard burned brick, concrete or stone; piers shall not be less than 8 x 10 inches, with a footing not less than 6 inches larger than the area of the pier on all sides, of brick, stone or concrete, 12 inches thick; all footings of piers shall be started three feet below the surface of the ground, and all piers and footings, unless of stone, shall be solidly laid in one-third cement mortar.

2. Dwellings shall be supported in cellars and basements by iron columns on proper footings, stone, concrete or brick piers. When iron columns or stone are used they shall have footings of stone 16 x 16 inches and if brick or cement piers, footings of stone 4 inches larger all round.

3. Brick or concrete pier in cellar under girders shall not be less than 8 x 12 and over 8 feet high shall be 12 x 12.

4. Porches and piazzas shall be supported in a manner approved by the Inspector.

5. These dwellings may be supported in cellar by red cedar or chestnut posts when the same is approved by the Inspector.

SECTION 30.—PARTITION WALLS, ETC.

1. In the erection of wooden buildings in blocks of two houses, if more than two stories high, or in two-story houses if in blocks of more than two houses, to be occupied for dwelling purposes they shall be divided in the basement by a brick party wall not less than 8 inches thick to top of first floor, or by a 4-inch brick wall, built in between piers not less than 12 inches square, the piers not to be more than 8 feet apart. The division partitions above such walls shall be filled in with brick between the studding and floor joists up to the roof boards.

2. Lodging, tenement or apartment houses in excess of 35 feet in width, on the line of the street shall be divided in the basement as specified in paragraph 1 of this section, and shall have partition walls filled in with brick.

3. Said walls shall be located along one side of front and rear stairways, or, if double rear stairways are erected, it shall separate them; it shall separate the light shafts and extend entirely through the building from front to rear and up to roof boards.

4. All the wooden partitions about the stairways shall be filled in between the studding and floor joists with brick.

5. Spaces between floor joists resting on sills, girders and main partitions, shall be filled with brick.

6. Fire stops shall be cut in between studding on top of under floor in each story and under ledgers, of the same size as studding, and shall have fire stops of sheet iron, tin or masonry around chimneys on each floor.

7. Sills and caps of cross partitions shall be of the same size as studding, and all outside walls shall be plastered down to under floors.

8. The openings at the floors, whether caused by ledgers or floor joists projecting above sills or girders, shall be stopped by pieces cut in tight; in dwellings where floor joists are supported on ledger planks that portion of the outside wall below the ledger forming a part of the basement walls, there shall be stops two inches thick cut in on top of floor between studding.

SECTION 31.—SILLS, POSTS, ETC.

All wooden buildings and their projections over one story in height, used as dwellings, stores, stables, or for manufacturing purposes, shall have sills not less than 6 x 6 inches, and if over one story and a half high, girths and post not less than 4 x 6 inches, and if three stories high posts 4 x 8 inches shall be used; posts, girths and sills mortised and tenoned and pinned together, and wherever ledgers are used in dwellings there shall be fire stops cut in tight, of same size as wall studs.

SECTION 32.—RAFTERS AND PLATES.

1. All dwellings over one story in height shall have plates not less than 4 x 4 inches, or its equivalent, and if over 16 feet in width shall have rafters not less than 2 x 6 inches, set not more than 24 inches on centres.

2. No studding for any part of the outside walls of any building over one story in height shall be less than 2 x 4 inches.

SECTION 33.—GIRDERS, HEADERS, TRIMMERS, ETC.

1. There shall be girders not less than 6 x 8 inches under main partitions, and summers or floor joists doubled or their equivalent, under all cross partitions, in the first floor of all dwellings.

2. Headers and trimmers of all openings over 4 feet in length in first floor of dwellings shall be floor joist doubled or their equivalent, and in any other floor if deemed necessary by the Inspector.

3. TRUSSES, ETC. All self-supporting walls or partitions above the first floor in any building carrying floor, shall be trussed in a manner approved by the Inspector.

4. Beams carrying main partitions in first floor shall be supported on piers or posts not more than 8 feet apart. Trimmers in first floor over 12 feet in length shall be supported by a pier or post, or partition above shall be trussed.

5. All buildings shall be braced in each story, and in cross partitions if deemed necessary by the Inspector.

SECTION 34.—CHIMNEYS, ETC.

1. All chimneys shall be constructed of brick, or other fire proof non-conducting materials.

2. All brick chimneys shall be topped out with hard bricks and shall extend 4 feet above the roof at the highest point through which it passes, and where they pass through floors they shall be kept one inch from any wood-work.

3. All brick-work smoke flues, within the limit of fire district No. 1, less than 8 inches thick shall be lined with flue lining from 2 feet below any wood-work in basement, to not less than 1 foot above the roof, the balance of flue above this lining to be smoothly plastered.

4. All brick vent flues shall be smoothly plastered or cement washed on the inside.

Hot-air pipes same as Section 14.

Steam-pipes same as Section 15.

SECTION 35.—BUILDINGS SEPARATED BY BRICK WALLS, ETC.

1. A wooden building to be used as a dwelling, tenement, lodging house or hotel, shall not exceed a height of 45 feet. The external walls of any wooden building shall not be placed at a less distance than 2 feet 6 inches from the line of the lot upon which the building is to be located, unless a brick external wall is substituted for the wooden wall, and of a thickness prescribed for the erection of external walls in brick buildings. Such walls shall be built 24 inches above roof boarding at every part of the roof and shall be covered with metal; but where these walls extend 3 feet above adjoining buildings, parapet walls may be omitted.

2. There shall be a space of 3 ft., 6 in. between wooden buildings already erected and those that shall be built upon adjoining lots, unless a brick external wall separates them, as prescribed in Article 1 of this section.

3. There shall be a space of 3 ft., 6 in. between wooden buildings already erected upon a lot and any wooden building over one story high that shall afterwards be built or moved upon the same lot. If there is to be a less space between them they shall be separated by a brick wall at least 8 inches thick. There shall be a space of 3 ft., 6 in. between any wooden building or buildings, over one story high, already erected upon a lot, and any wooden building that shall afterward be erected upon or moved upon the same lot. If there is to be less space between they shall be separated by a brick wall at least 8 inches thick.

SECTION 36.—STAIRCASES AND SCUTTLES.

1. All buildings, if over three stories in height, used for tenement purposes, shall have a staircase from street level to roof, with a scuttle to roof, for at least every three families occupying the building, or front and rear staircases not opening into the same corridor, or shall be provided with suitable fire-escapes. The Inspector may require that proper fire-stops shall be provided in floors, walls and partitions of such buildings and make such further requirements as may be necessary or proper to prevent the spread of fire therein, or its communication from any steam boiler or shop or heating apparatus.

2. All buildings for factory purposes shall have a simple staircase and scuttle if more than ten operatives are employed above the second floor, and suitable fire-escapes shall be provided.

SECTION 37.—BAY WINDOWS AND BALCONIES.

No bay window, balcony or other projection shall be built upon the front wall of any building so as to project over the line of the street.

SECTION 38.—BUILDINGS NOT SPECIFIED.

All buildings hereafter to be erected of a description not specified in this ordinance shall be constructed in a manner that shall be satisfactory to the Inspector.

SECTION 39.—ASH DEPOSITORIES.

1. Depositories for ashes in the interior of any building shall be constructed of incombustible materials, so as to entirely enclose their contents.

2. Ash shoots, if inside of a building shall be made of hard brick; if erected outside the building, they shall be constructed of galvanized iron, such pipe to be kept 2 inches away from all wood work.

SECTION 40.—RELIEF FROM ORDINANCE.

Any person applying for a building permit who desires to be relieved from the operation of any of the provisions of this Ordinance, may make application in writing to the Inspector of Buildings, specifying in detail what exceptions are desired and the reasons therefor. Said applications with the written explanations, specifications, maps, etc., relating thereto shall be submitted by the Inspector of Buildings, to the Mayor, Commissioner of Public Works and Chief Engineer of the Fire Department and if unanimously approved by them said application shall be granted by the Inspector of Buildings. If disapproved by any one of the above named officials then the application with the dissenting official's reasons shall be submitted to the City Council which body by vote of two-thirds of its members present and voting shall approve or disapprove the application.

SECTION 41.—PENALTY.

Whoever violates any of the provisions of this Ordinance shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars ($100.)

One More Tragedy At Giveadam Gulch

Story of the Man Who Came Up From Wolf Creek to Commit Murder.

Copyright by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

It is with deepest sorrow that we chronicle a tragedy that occurred in this town of Giveadam Gulch on Wednesday last.

At that date we had planted in our private editorial graveyand eighteen victims, and we were hugging the hope that we had reached the end.

In each and every one of the eighteen cases we had been obliged to shoot first to save our own life and had been honorably acquitted by a coroner's jury.

In each and every case also we paid all funeral expenses and rode at the head of the funeral procession in the carriage with the minister.

Each of the eighteen mounds has its own marble headstone. We could have substituted wood and thereby saved a considerable sum of money, but we did not stop at expense to procure the silent sleepers the best that could be turned out. Aside from the names, dates, etc., most of the stones bear such sayings as, "Gone up higher," "He sleeps well," and "Our loss is his gain."

"DO YOU WANT TO BE PLANTED IN YOUR OWN GRAVEYARD?"

The plants, bushes and trees we have placed in the inclosure give it the appearance of a public park, and, as a matter of fact, it is so used by our citizens. We have often sat there as the summer sun went to rest and reflected on the unstability of life, and as our eyes dwelt on mound after mound we have wondered how it was with the sleepers in the great beyond.

We are not a holy terror.

We are not a bad man with two guns.

We were not born at the headwaters of Fighting creek.

On the contrary, we are a humble looking cuss of humble spirit, asking nothing so much as to be let alone to do our humble work on earth as best we can.

We have taken to our heels rather than shoot. We have taken a cold bluff when other men would have pulled a gun.

In no one instance since we were out of knee pants have we thirsted for human life.

Reports to the effect that we are a savage and on the shoot are base canards, having their foundation in the jealous hearts of contemporaries.

We must be crowded to the wall before we shoot, and then we shoot as gently as we can. After being acquitted by the coroner we sit down and feel real bad for several hours.

Two weeks ago we received a postal card from some one at Wolf Creek who signed himself "Deliverer" to the effect that he was coming on here to remove us from this world of turmoil and trouble. We threw the card into the basket with a dozen others and gave it no further thought, but on Wednesday, as we sat in our sanctum writing an editorial on the political situation in the far west, an individual whose name has been ascertained to be Henry White entered the room, drew two guns and, seating himself opposite us, announced:

"Mr. Hellso, I have come to shoot you!"

"Isn't it rather sudden?" we asked in reply.

"I gave you notice two weeks ago. Besides, all good things happen suddenly."

"Are you following out any particular idea?"

"No. I propose to remove you on general principles. You have become the 'it' of Arizona, and no one else can get a show. Do you want to be planted in your own graveyard?"

"Would it be too much trouble?"

"Not at all. Are you a praying man?"

"Not to any great extent, but under the circumstances"—

"Go ahead. I will give you five minutes. After that time has expired, being this is my busy day, you will be sent over the great divide without further notice."

We indulged in the hope for a moment that Mr. White was loco, but a look into his eyes proved that he was not only in his right mind, but very earnest in wanting to carry out his little plan. Our guns were lying near us, but if we had put out a hand he would have fired. For a long three minutes we thought of home and mother. We thought of this gulch being left without anybody to run it. We thought how tickled the editor of the Lone Jack Banner would be when he heard of our death. We thought how our esteemed contemporary in town would chuckle and claim the credit of the shooting. We thought of our Kicker and its 3,000,000 circulation and wondered if another man could be found to hold it up.

We thought of heaven and wondered if we would be let in. We wondered, supposing we did get in, if we should be welcomed by a band of angels and how long before we should grow wings and be able to fly around. We were getting quite sentimental over the situation when the foreman of the composing room came bursting in for more copy, and this made a diversion. Mr. White turned his gaze from us for three seconds only, but it was enough. We reached for a gun, and as he drew down on us we fired.

We would have avoided it if we could. Had Mr. White asked for an apology or given us a chance to run he would be alive today. He had our back to the wall and meant to take our life.

It consoles us somewhat to remember that Mr. White did not suffer any. Some men might have shot him so that he would have been on the suffering and dying list for several days, but we are quite certain that he felt no pain after the first second. When he was lifted up the smile he had worn in life was still on his face, and his parted lips seemed about to tell us that time was up.

The coroner was at once sent for and proceeded to impanel a jury. All the facts were at hand. Mr. White had told several people on the street of his philanthropic intentions, and our foreman was a witness of his efforts. The verdict of justifiable homicide was reached in ten minutes. Then we sent for the undertaker and ordered him to spare no expense, and the gravedigger was told not to do any skimping.

As near as we have been able to ascertain, Mr. White has no relatives in the west, and there will be no one to claim his effects, consisting of 50 cents in cash and two guns. He had been hanging around Wolf creek for a month or so, seeming to have something on his mind, but nobody can tell where he came from beyond there. He was a man of middle age, with an intelligent face and likely fairly educated, and had he turned his attention to killing off the heads of trusts he would undoubtedly have been a success. We cannot say whether his idea of removing us was original with him or not. He appeared to know that we were the editor of the Kicker, mayor of Giveadam Gulch, deputy United States marshal, state fish commissioner, state forester, colonel of militia, foreman of the fire department, postmaster and a candidate for the next presidency, and perhaps he thought we were playing the hog and there would be nothing left for him.

Be that as it may, Mr. White has been gathered to his fathers in first class shape. He was buried on Friday in a casket that cost $75, and we paid as much more for the carriages in the funeral procession. His grave is in one of the prettiest corners of the yard, and, while it is too late in the season now to do more than erect a headstone with a lamb on top, when the spring comes again the trailing arbutus will be made to trail over the sods which cover him. Requiescat in pace (which means may he sleep in peace for a thousand years and never once wake up and try to figure out why he didn't plant us instead).

MY COUSIN SUSIE

[Original.]

"Howard," said my college chum, coming into my room with a rueful face, "I'm in a hole."

"A deep one?"

"Yes. I have only two days in which to prepare for examinations. Without putting in all my time I'm sure to be conditioned on two subjects at least. And now comes a letter from my mother to tell me that my cousin Susie, her only sister's daughter, is coming to town especially to see me. She has promised her mother and my mother that she will not go home without having seen me. She comes on Friday, supposing I'll be free till Monday, whereas these cursed exams require every moment."

"Is your cousin pretty?"

"How do I know? I have never seen her. She was born and brought up in California. But what has that to do with it?"

"If she is pretty and attractive, I might help you out."

"It isn't that she is to be entertained. She must be entertained by me."

"Very well. If you haven't seen her I suppose she hasn't seen you. I will be you."

Ned Coit and I discussed the matter pro and con and at last, both being young and foolish, decided that I should meet his cousin at the station, take her to the theater and the next day conduct her through the college grounds and buildings. I went to the station to meet her—Ned's mother had said she would wear our college colors in a buttonhole—and I found the loveliest, daintiest, prettiest bit of feminine humanity I had ever seen. It was late in the afternoon when she arrived, so I drove her to the house of a friend with whom she was to stay. After dinner I called for her and took her to the theater.

Now, I would rather guard a football goal against eleven stalwart men than again guard the secret that I was not her cousin Ned. She attacked me in front and on both flanks.

"I have always fancied you were dark complexioned," she said, "like your father, and I find you light. Cousin Molly (Ned's sister) told me that you were of a retiring disposition and dreaded strangers. I feared you might make some excuse for not meeting me. I find you very easy to get acquainted with." Then she began to talk about her relatives in California, of whose existence I was supposed to be cognizant, but whom I had never seen. I blundered and stumbled, rushed madly—to speak figuratively—to the right, then frantically to the left, and I had no sooner smoothed over one bit of ignorance than I fell into another. If she had tried deliberately to trap me she could not have done better.

However, I got through without any positive evidence that I was playing a part. When I parted with her I knew enough of her family to send my love, mentioning them all by name, and just before the train started I felt emboldened to attempt a cousinly kiss, but she drew back with a decided refusal.

For the next week the person of Susie Leigh kept between me and my books. If in hours of idleness I danced or skated I was oblivious to the person I danced or skated with and called them all Susie. Then came a letter to Ned from his cousin, which he turned over to me. She showed far more affection in her letter than she had shown me in person. I replied to the letter warmly and received a warmer reply. After considerable correspondence I wrote offering my heart and hand. Her answer was that on no account would she marry a cousin.

Here was a complication that had not been foreseen. If I confessed that I had played upon her credulity she would refuse me, and if I remained her cousin I knew by the tone of her letter that I could not persuade her. Besides, I couldn't possibly marry her without the whole affair coming out. Meanwhile she had written Ned's mother that he had been more than kind to her during her visit and she hoped he could come out to San Francisco as soon as he had been graduated and make his cousin a visit.

Being in for it, I concluded to accept the invitation. No sooner had I passed my final exams than I sped across the continent. I found "my cousin" Susie a very different person since I had proposed to her. She showed none of that ease she had shown in my company during our first meeting, though since my proposal this was to be expected. I made up my mind to confess at once, but before doing so stated a similar case of which I pretended to have heard. Susie declared that the man who had played such a part could not possibly be possessed of gentlemanly instincts.

This threw me on my beam ends. For several days I went about with her, feeling and looking as if I had melancholia, and finally told her that I would return to the east. I had no sooner made this announcement than her manner changed perceptibly. During the evening before my intended departure she gave me every encouragement. The clock struck 1 in the morning before I summoned courage to tell her the story that proved me to be without gentlemanly instincts.

She burst into a laugh.

"You stupid thing!" she said. "The day you drove me from the station and handed me out of the carriage a lady who knows you well saw you through a window and told me who you were."

It is now ten years since my marriage, and I think it about time my wife ceased to banter me on the subject of my playing cousin, but she shows no sign of doing so.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

City Council Pass Order Over Mayor's Veto After Debate

A regular meeting of the City Council was held Monday evening, Councilmen Cannon, Crane and Gross were absent.

JURORS DRAWN.

The Mayor assisted by the City Clerk and Councilman Gelotte drew the following traverse jurors: John Gilcoine, Edward A. Myatt, Charles Landine, J. Frank Goodhue, John W. Burke and A. Lincoln Turner.

RECORDS QUESTIONED.

Councilman Gilson moved that the records of the last meeting be read. Voted.

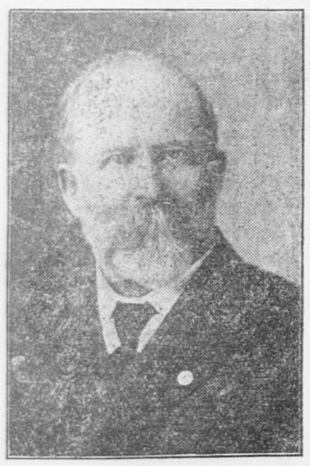

The journal of the last meeting was read by the clerk.

Councilman Gilson claimed the records were wrong in two respects. First, that the names of those who voted no and those who voted yes on the question of passing Order 201 over the Mayor's veto should appear, and second that the record of that veto as read should be transposed. He also claimed that the vote as published in the papers was wrong.

The record showed that on the vote to pass the order over the Mayor's veto that 11 voted in the affirmative and 7 in the negative.

The chair ruled the vote as recorded was correct.

Councilman Gilson then moved that the record of the roll call be recorded. Voted.

Councilman Gilson in his argument claimed that on a yea and nay vote that the names of the Councilmen and their vote should be recorded.

Rule 28 of the rules of the City Council says in part "The clerk of the Council shall keep a journal, containing a record of the proceedings of the Council, and a record-at-large of all votes taken by roll call."

TRANSFERS.

The Mayor forwarded a communication from the Chief Engineer asking for a transfer of $100 from the appropriation for hose to the appropriation for coal and fuel, and for the transfer of $100 from the appropriation for fire alarm to the appropriation for repairs and fixtures of 1906. Laid on the table until later, when an order making the transfer was offered and adopted.

The Mayor forwarded a communication from the Chief of Police asking for a transfer of $200 to miscellaneous police. Laid on the table until later when an order making the transfer was offered. Referred to Finance Committee.

ATLANTIC POLICE.

Councilman Moir presented a petition asking for additional patrolman at Atlantic. He moved the petition be laid on the table,

Councilman Bass—The petition says the section is not patroled by able men. If not the Council should know it.

Councilman Moir—Had investigated the route and found the section covered by the patrolmen not fully protected.

Councilman Hobbs—There is a great need of a man during the day.

The motion to lay on the table prevailed.

OTHER PETITIONS.

The Quincy Quarries Co. petitioned for permission to run a guy wire across Willard street. Referred to the executive.

Petitions for minor licenses were received and referred.

The Committee on Soldiers' Relief reported an order granting Soldiers Relief. Adopted.

BILL EXCESSIVE.

The Special Committee to whom was referred the order for $600 to pay bill for repairs on Combination H. & L. No. 2 of Wollaston reported: "That after a careful investigation they are of the opinion that the bill is excessive. That the bill contains certain items which they believe to be improper. That a charge has been made for these items, the work for which, in the judgment of your committee was never done. They therefore report that the order ought not to pass and further recommend that the whole matter be referred to the Executive for settlement." Report accepted.

HIGH SCHOOL DELAY.

The Special Committee who was appointed to inquire into the delay in the completion of the additions and alterations to the High School building made the following report, which was adopted:—

"The Special Committee of inquiry into matters relating to the enlargement of the High school building having considered the same desire to report as follows:

"The committee has proceeded in pursuance of an order introduced into the City Council in view of the apparent, unusual and unexpected delay in making the additions and alterations provided for in an order passed by the City Council, Nov. 6, 1905, appropriating $113,000 to which was further added an additional amount of $6,500 in January, 1906, to construct and complete all of the proposed alterations in accordance with a plan and specifications furnished by Aaron H. Gould.

THE SUB CONTRACTORS

Criticised for Delays in Completing High School

THE BILL EXCESSIVE

So Committee Reports on Charges For Repairs Of Combination

"The committee was without power to summons and swear witnesses or to demand the producing of papers, but was deemed to have all the power necessary consistent with the intent of the order for the purpose of this inquiry, namely, to ascertain the causes for the unexpected delay, and matters that might be connected therewith, and further, if possible, find out when the building would be completed and ready for occupancy.

"Persons whom the committee thought would be able to throw light upon the matter were asked to appear and give such information as was asked for. All with the exception of the contractor, R. E. Lord, cheerfully responded. Upon the evening of Nov. 30, Mr. R. E. Lord finally consented to appear. His previons refusal to do so caused some embarrassment to the committee and accounts for the delay in making this report,

"From information received, it appears that the contract was placed with R. E. Lord on January 19, 1906. That the said contract provided for the completion of the new part by Sept. 1, 1906, and the whole building by Oct. 20, 1906, and contained a surety bond for $27,625 for the faithful performance of the work, and a forfeit of $10 per day for each day after Oct. 20, 1906, that the building remained unfinished.

"It appears that the main contractor, R. E. Lord, has sub-let to several subcontractors various parts of the job, such as excavation and stone work, plumbing, carpentering, plastering, etc, each accountable to him for the performance of his particular part of the work.

"Conditions were found in the old building as regards foundations and walls, and some changes from plans were necessary. All of these things probably contributed, in some measure, as causes of some delay.

"It is however the opinion of the committee that the main serious and continuous cause, has been the failure of the sub-contractors to furnish material promptly and to keep constantly at work a sufficient number of men to energetically push the work to completion.

During the whole inquiry it has been practically impossible to get from any of the persons who appeared any definite opinion as to when the building would be ready, in part, for occupancy, or when it would be finally completed. The most reliable information on this score is Mr. George E. Thomas, subcontractor for the carpenter work, who on Nov. 30, ventured to think that the old part might be ready in two weeks from this date or the middle of December, and that the new part, or balance would be completed in two months, about February 1.

"As regards rumors or insinuations of improper or unfair influence exerted in the awarding of any contract, the committee is not in possession of any facts that would warrant such conclutions, or to express any opinion that such has been the case."

Councilman McGilvray asked the name of the sub contractor who was the cause of the delay.

Councilman Nichols—The report says sub-contractors. It places no responsibility on any particular contractor. In reply to a question from Councilman Stone as to which one of the contractors was most dilatory Councilman Nichols said he was not authorized to make any other statement than contained in the report. The report was adopted.

INCREASE FOR FIREMEN.

The Finance Committee reported an amendment to the order increasing the salaries of permanent firemen. The amendment increases the salary of the lieutenant at the Central station to $18 per week, the Superintendent of Fire Alarm to $19 per week, and increases the salary of the men getting under $16 per week to $17 per week.

Councilman Spargo moved to amend so as to give all men an increase of $1 per week. Ruled out of order.

Councilman Polk said the idea was to equalize the pay of the permanent men, so that the chief could move them from one station to another. As it was now, the men at the Central station could not be moved to another station without having salary reduced. Order passed to be ordained.

The Finance Committee reported ought to pass, on the order transferring receipts of Highway department to the appropriation for Highways. Order passed to be ordained.

NEW OFFICIAL.

Councilman Chase offered an order amending the Salary ordinance so as to provide that the Inspector of Buildings shall be paid $500 per year. Referred to Committee on Ordinances.

Councilman Polk offered an order appropriating $22.38 to release tax title of Walter T. Fuller, illegally assessed. Referred to Finance Committee.

Upon motion of Councilman Stone it was voted that when the Council adjourned it be until Thursday, Dec. 27.

POLICE ORDER.

Councilman Hobbs moved, and it was voted, to take order increasing police from the table.

Councilman Sawyer hoped the Council had given the matter thought and that the order would pass. There was a great need of day man at Atlantic.

Councilman Bass—It is within the province of the Chief to detail special officers. They should be put where disturbance prevails. It was not necessary to increase the force for that purpose.

Councilman Nichols—There is nothing in the order that would ensure a day man being sent to Atlantic. He asked the Chief of Police to appear before the Council.

Chief Burrell, in reply to a question as to how the appropriations for miscellaneous was expended, said. All vacations were paid from it, also extra men for July 4, for elections and general expenses at the station.

Councilman Nichols,—Would it not be better to have one mounted officer than two men?

Chief Burrell,—It would be a good idea.

Councilman Bass—What is now being done for Atlantic?

Chief Burrell—It now has one night man, who covers the district except Norfolk Downs. He has three boxes, one at corner of Billings road, one at

Some Little Girl will be made Happy on Christmas.

Every girl be she large or small admires a doll. The little girl craves for a plaything, the larger girl for an ornament. Last summer one of our business men imported from Switzerland two life size dolls to be given away to some little girl who has patronized his store. Commencing today and until Christmas, he will give a coupon with each purchase of his pure candy, costing from ten cents upwards. Some person will receive the lucky number which will be drawn from the total distributed, and on Christmas some little girl in Quincy will receive these twin dolls, full dressed, valued at $25.

Remember every purchase of the best line of confectionery ever carried in Quincy will entitle the purchaser to a numbered coupon.

AN ORDINANCE

ESTABLISHING FIRE DISTRICTS AND REGULATING THE CONSTRUCTION AND INSPECTION OF BUILDINGS.

Be it Ordained by the City Council as follows:

SECTION 1. For the purpose of protection from damage by fire the city is hereby divided into three fire districts.

SEC. 2. The Mayor shall annually, on or before the first Monday in February, appoint an Inspector of Buildings who shall hold his office one year from the first Monday in February of the current year, and until his successor is appointed.

SECTION 3. Fire district No. 1, shall include Hancock Street, from Squantum Street to School Street, Washington Street from Hancock to Elm Street, Quincy Avenue, north from Water Street, School Street from Hancock Street to intersection of west line of Franklin Street, Water Street, from Franklin to Pleasant Street, Franklin Street from School to Pearl Street, Copeland Street from intersection of Miller Street to Furnace Avenue, Newport Avenue from Lincoln to Elmwood Avenue, Temple Street, Maple Street, Chestnut Street north from Cottage Avenue, Saville Street from Hancock Street to steam railroad line, Granite Street east of the railroad bridge, Beale Street from Hancock Street to Safford Street, Brook Street from Newport Avenue to Farrington Street, Sagamore Street from Hancock Street to Newbury Street, and shall extend one hundred (100) feet in all directions from any street or part of street herein named or described.

SEC. 4. District No. 2 shall include all remaining parts of the city, except such as are included in District No. 3.

SEC. 5. District No. 3 shall include that part of Quincy called Squantum bounded by Neponset river on the north, N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. on the west, and by Atlantic Street to the Metropolitan Boulevard on the south. Also that part of Quincy east of a line drawn from Quincy Bay five hundred (500) feet west of Shelton Road to the nearest waters of Town River Bay.

Buildings in District No 3 shall be exempt from any of the rules of this Ordinance, except brick buildings, or building used or to be used wholly or in part for mechanical, mercantile or manufacturing purposes.

SEC. 6. No wooden or frame building, except dwelling houses and private stables, shall be hereafter built within the limits of District No. 1. No person shall move or cause to be moved any wooden building from without said limits into the same. No person shall move or cause to be moved any wooden building from one place to another within said limits, nor shall any person repair or rebuild any building within said limits, which has been partially destroyed by fire or otherwise, without the written permit of the Inspector of Buildings.

APPLICATION FOR PERMITS.

SEC. 7. Every person intending to erect any building or to raise, move or make any additions or alterations in any building or its foundation, already erected, or hereafter to be built, except necessary repairs not affecting the foundations, external partition walls or party walls, chimneys, or stairways, within the limits of Districts No. 1 and 2, shall file an application for a permit with the Inspector of Buildings, on forms furnished by him, giving a description of the building, or additions, alterations or repairs; and shall submit plans of such work or buildings for examination and approval.

The Inspector of Buildings shall report to applicant on all applications for permits within seven days from the receipt thereof, but if the Inspector shall deem it necessary to establish grade lines other than those stated in the application, he shall have three days additional time to make a report.

No permit shall be in force for a longer time than one year from date thereof.

INSPECTOR TO EXAMINE BUILDINGS BEING ERECTED, REPAIRED, ETC.

SEC. 8. The Inspector of Buildings shall examine all buildings in the course of erection, alteration and repair, as often as practical, and for that purpose shall have the right of entry thereto, and shall make a record of all violations of this Ordinance, together with the location of the building where such violations are found, the name of the owner, lessee, occupant, architect and master mechanic, and all other matters relative thereto. Any owner, architect or builder notified of any violations of this Ordinance shall if required by the Inspector, leave the work open until he shall again inspect the work and declare the same approved.

INSPECTOR TO EXAMINE ALL BUILDINGS REPORTED DANGEROUS, ETC.

SEC. 9. The Inspector of Buildings shall examine all buildings reported dangerous or unsafe from any cause, and make a record of such examination, including the nature and cause of such condition, with the location of the building, name of owner, lessee and occupant, and for what purpose occupied, and he shall report any building by him deemed dangerous or unsafe to the City Solicitor for his action.

NOTICE IN CASE OF UNSAFE CHIMNEYS, ETC.

SEC. 10. If any chimney, flue or heating apparatus shall, in the opinion of the Inspector of Buildings, be unsafe by reason of endangering the premises by fire or otherwise, he shall at once notify in writing the owner, agent or other party having an interest in said premises, who upon receiving said notice shall make the same safe, in pursuance of the terms of said notice.

SEC. 11. The Inspector of Buildings shall examine all shops and other places where shavings or other combustible material may be deposited or collected, and at all times be vigilant in the removal of the same, whenever in his opinion the same may be dangerous to the security of the City from fires; and direct the owner, tenant or occupant of said shops, or other places, to remove the same; and in case such owner, tenant or occupant refuses so to do, shall cause the same to be removed at the expense of the owner.

RULES AND REGULATIONS.

SECTION 1.—MEANING OF TERMS.

In the construction of this Ordinance if not inconsistent with the context, the following terms shall have the respective meanings assigned to them:

EXTERNAL WALL shall apply to every outer wall or vertical enclosure of a building, other than a party wall above the foundation wall.

PARTY WALL shall apply to every wall used or built, intended as a separation of any building from any other building.

FOUNDATION WALL shall mean that portion of external walls below the level of the street curb, and for walls not on any street, that portion of the wall below the level of the ground outside of the wall.

BRICK BUILDING means a building the walls of which are built of brick, stone, iron or other incombustible materials.

WOODEN BUILDINGS means a building one or more of the outside walls of which are of wood.

DWELLING HOUSES means a building used wholly for domestic purposes, occupied only by families, or persons, in which no mechanical business is carried on.

SECTION 2.—BRICK BUILDING FOUNDATION, ETC.

Every "brick" building shall have foundations laid in mortar extending four feet below the surface exposed to frost, and shall rest upon solid ground, or suitably driven piles.

Excavations for such foundations shall be made six inches larger than the wall each side, and shall not be filled in until inspected.

2. If the height of any story exceed 16 feet between floors the external walls of that story shall be increased 4 inches. No external wall shall be lighter at any part than the wall above.

SECTION 4.—WALLS OF STABLES, ETC.

The external walls of brick buildings less than thirty feet high and not exceeding 2000 superficial feet to be used for stable or light mechanical purposes may be 12 inches thick.

SECTION 5.—WALLS OVER SIXTY FEET HIGH.

The thickness of walls and foundations in buildings over 60 feet high shall be determined by the Inspector.

SECTION 6.—SUPPORTS.

1. Supports of brick buildings other than their foundations shall be of iron, concrete, stone or brick piers, and shall rest on an iron plate not less than two inches thick.

2. For brick buildings used as dwellings exceeding 35 feet in height, there shall be under all columns or piers a footing of stone or concrete not less than 24 inches square and 12 inches thick; in brick buildings other than dwellings, all columns or piers shall have a footing of stone or concrete not less than one foot larger on all sides than the area of the pier and 12 inches thick.

3. No pier in any brick building shall be less than one foot square, and if of brick they shall be hard burned. All piers shall be built with, and all footings bedded in cement mortar.

4. Piers under lintels, girders or columns of brick buildings, other than dwellings, shall have a cap-iron at least two inches thick the full size of the pier.

SECTION 7.—FIRE WALLS.

1. No buildings erected for mercantile purposes shall be built more than 50 feet in width, measuring along the line of wall facing the street, without a brick partition wall at least 8 inches thick if less than 35 feet high, and 12 inches thick if over 35 feet high, and not exceeding 60 feet in height; said wall shall be built up at least 12 inches above the roof at its highest point, and the top of said wall shall be covered with a coping of stone, or iron or other metal; and where there is a mansard or pitched roof, the wall shall be built 24 inches above every part of the roof covering.

2. The provisions of this section shall not apply to single rooms, halls, workshops or manufactories requiring larger dimensions, the construction of which must be approved by the Inspector.

SECTION 8.—PARTY WALLS.

All party walls shall be built through and at least twenty-four inches above or distant from the roof boarding, at every part of the roof and shall be covered with a coping of stone, iron or other metal. But when the wall extends 36 inches above the adjoining building, parapet walls may be omitted.

SECTION 9.—PARTITION WALLS IN DWELLINGS.

All brick buildings to be used as dwellings, tenement or lodging houses, in excess of 40 feet in width, shall have brick partition walls, not less than 12 inches thick, on which the floor beams shall rest, and said walls shall not be more than 30 feet apart.

SECTION 10—OPENINGS, ETC.

All openings in brick walls, not supported by stone or iron lintels, shall be properly arched with brick; no timber shall be used in brick walls, except in case of arched forms, arched their whole length. No side wall of a brick building shall be carried up in advance of the rear walls.

SECTION 11.—RECESSES IN WALLS, ETC.

No continuous vertical recess, chase or flue shall be made in any party wall so deep that it will leave the thickness at the back less than 8 inches at any point, and no recess of any kind shall be made in any 8-inch wall. No horizontal recess shall be made in any wall, except by a special permit from the Inspector. No continuous vertical recess other than flues, in stacks, shall be nearer than 7 feet to any other recess.

SECTION 12.—OPENING CUT IN PARTY WALLS, ETC.

No opening or doorway shall be cut through a brick party or partition wall of any building without a permit from the Inspector; and every such doorway shall have top, bottom and sides of stone, brick or iron; shall be closed by two sets of wrought-iron or metal-covered doors (separated by the thickness of the wall) hung to rabbeted iron frames, or to wooden frames entirely covered with metal, or to iron hinges in brick or stone rabbets; shall not exceed 10 feet in height by 8 feet in width; and any opening other than a doorway shall be protected in a manner satisfactory to the Inspector.

SECTION 13.—ELEVATORS AND LIGHT SHAFTS.

Elevators and light shafts, if of wood, shall be lined with sheet-iron or tin, or plastered on metal lathing throughout.

SECTION 14.—HOT AIR PIPES, ETC.

No wood-work shall be placed at a less distance than 1 inch from any tin or metal flue or pipe, used or intended to be used to convey heated air, unless such flue or pipe be cased with metal or asbestos paper or other fire-proof material, wood-work tinned. Openings in breasts, partitions or floors, through which furnace pipes pass, shall have fire stops of sheet iron, tin or masonry.

SECTION 15.—STEAM PIPES.

Steam pipes shall not touch any wood-work and where they pass through floors or partitions shall be protected by an incombustible ring or tube, or rest on iron supports.

SECTION 16.—BONDING WALLS.

Every eighth course, at least, of a brick wall shall be a heading or bonding course, except when walls are faced with faced brick, in which case every eighth course shall be bonded with Flemish headers, or by cutting the courses of the face brick, and putting in diagonal headers behind the same.

2. No soft brick shall be used in the construction of the outside walls of any brick building.

SECTION 17.—WALLS ANCHORED, ETC.

1. All brick walls in any building on which the ends of beams rest shall be anchored at each tier of beams at intervals of not more than 10 feet apart, with wrought iron anchors, at least ½ inch by 1½ inches, well built into the walls, and well fastened to the tops of the beams; and where the beams are supported by girders or on partition plates, the ends of beams resting upon girders or partition plates shall be fastened together and strapped by wrought iron straps or tie irons, at the same distance apart, and in the same beams as the wall anchors.

2. The ends of all girders or partition plates, resting on or abutting any wall, shall be anchored to it.

3. Anchors shall not be run through partition walls.

4. If side or partition walls are carried up in advance of front walls, they shall be anchored to front walls by wrought-iron anchors, not less than ⅜ inch by 1½ inches, at a height of every ten feet, and built into partition or side walls not less than 36 inches, and into front walls, at least half its thickness.

5. Plates of all roofs shall be bolted to walls, not less than every 10 feet; bolts to be built into walls twenty-four inches.

SECTION 18.—CONSTRUCTION OF CHIMNEYS.

1. All chimneys hereafter shall be built of brick, stone or other incombustible material, and shall have a footing of masonry or iron supported by iron, or corbels of brick or stone. No chimney shall be hung to an eight-inch wall, or bear or rest upon wood. No chimney corbelled from a wall shall project more than the thickness of the wall.

2. All brick smoke flues less than 8 inches thick shall be lined with flue lining, from two feet below any wood-work in basement, to not less than one foot above roof, the balance of flue above this lining to be smoothly plastered inside. All brick vent flues shall be smoothly plastered or cement washed on the inside. All flues shall be topped out at least four feet above the highest part of the roof at the point through which they pass, with brick or stone, and the topping-out shall not have more than two inches projection, unless covered by a cap of improved incombustible material, properly secured; and in no case shall a nail be driven into the masonry of any flue. All wood-work in brick buildings shall be placed distant one inch from the outside of every chimney flue, and the space around such wood-work and brick-work of chimney where it passes through floors shall be closed by a proper fire-stop of incombustible material. In chimneys with more than one flue, the withes shall be constructed of brick laid flatways and bonded every eighth course and plastered.

SECTION 19.—FIREPLACES, HEARTHS, ETC.

1. All hearths shall be supported by trimmer arches of brick or stone; or be of single stones at least six inches thick, and supported entirely by iron beams, one end of which shall be securely built into masonry of chimney or adjoining wall. The brick jambs of every fireplace, range or grate opening

Woman Is Said to Have Used Knowledge of Murder

LIGHT ON OLD MYSTERY

Woman Trying to Break Will of Man From Whom She Was Divorced Tells Remarkable Story In a Supreme Court

Salem, Mass., Dec. 18.—A tragedy of 25 years ago was recalled in the Essex county supreme court when, in her attempt to break the will of her first husband, Walter Graves of Marblehead, Mrs. Clara Snow testified that she once heard Graves tell his father that the reason he could not part with Miss Carrie Stone, the beneficiary of the present will, was because Miss Stone knew the murderers of Frank Hathaway and that he (Graves) was concerned in the affair.

The actual murderer of Hathaway was never convicted, although it was ascertained that he was robbed one night in a graveyard and after he had told the thieves that he recognized them he was again set upon and killed

Graves, who Mrs. Snow said knew all about the crime, was a Marblehead expressman and left his property to Miss Stone instead of his wife. The will was sustained in the probate court and has just reached the supreme court on an appeal, the widow marrying again.

When his will was presented for probate it was found that he had left his entire estate, valued at $12,000, largely personal, but including some realty in Marblehead, to Miss Stone.

Mrs. Snow, on behalf of her two children by Graves, contested.

In the probate court the ground of undue influence was presented, but there was no allusion to the Hathaway murder.

For reasons which they claim to be perfectly good, this was reserved to be presented at the appeal.

Mrs. Snow is a well preserved woman of about 40, and Miss Stone is about the same age. The courtroom was crowded with Marblehead people, who had heard that something heavy was apt to drop, as one of the old settlers put it. Hathaway was well liked and of the older generation many remembered him.

When Mrs. Snow went on the stand all was expectancy. According to her testimony she overheard her father-in-law censuring her husband in 1883 for showing so much attention to the Stone woman.

Graves had formerly been in the grocery business with his father, Joseph Graves, and had confided to him since boyhood.

His reply to his father's charge of neglect of his wife and children was according to the testimony of Mrs. Snow, that he did not dare to slight Miss Stone because of her knowledge of his connection with the Hathaway murder.

Attorney O'Brien, counsel for the plaintiffs, stated that they had lost the case in the probate court because Mrs Snow did not care to present the evidence given yesterday, but that when a decision was rendered in favor of Miss Stone she resolved to appeal and to tell all the facts.

The probate court had allowed the will, which disposed of an estate valued at $12,000, and Mrs. Snow, who is fighting in behalf of her two children by Graves, Herbert, 23, and Clara, 25, appealed to the supreme court on the ground of newly discovered evidence. She did not tell the story of the alleged murder before the probate court.

Blame on Block Operator

Washington, Dec. 18.—The official investigation of the Southern railway into the rear-end collision which occurred at Lawyers, Va., on Thanksgiving day, and in which President Spencer of the Southern and six others, including a number of prominent people, lost their lives, has been concluded and responsibility for the wreck placed on G. D. Mattox, block operator at Rangoon station, Va.

Bishop McCabe's End Near

New York, Dec. 18.—Bishop Charles C. McCabe of the Methodist Episcopal church is dying. He is unconscious and the end is said to be a matter of hours only. Last Tuesday the bishop was stricken with apoplexy while passing through this city on the way to his home in Philadelphia. He is 70 years of age.

Twelve Sailors Lost

Dover, Eng., Dec. 18.—During a heavy fog on the British channel steamer Arlington collided with and sank steamer Cap Juby off Dungeness. Twelve of the crew of the Cap Juby were drowned, but the captain and five members of the crew were saved.

Japs Might Build Schools

Tokio, Dec. 18.—The Nichi Nich declares that the most practical solution of the complications at San Francisco would be for the Japanese residents there to build their own schools and, if necessary, procure aid from the Japanese government.

Where It Is Really Cold

St. Paul, Dec. 18.—The temperature in St. Paul dropped 28 degrees in 24 hours to 6 below zero. At Duluth and Moorehead the mercury fell to 16 below. At Bismark it reached 20 below, 28 below at Devils Lake and 34 below at Williston, N. D.

USEFUL KNITTING CASE.

Christmas Novelty Any Woman Can Make—A Pretty Sofa Cushion.

A useful knitting case can be made from any pretty colored art linen cut in the shape shown in the design. The case is intended to carry on the arm. Holding the ball of wool when working and the work itself when not working, it can be hung up, looks neat and protects the work from dust. You will require some pretty design on it, which must be embroidered before making it up. Two yards of narrow ribbon bind the case, which is left open seven inches down and bound all round. The open part is shown in the design from the top to the bows, which are put on to hide where the ribbon begins and ends. These inexpensive cases may be made in other materials if linen be not liked and are welcomed as Christmas presents.

A pretty cushion is one made like a well stuffed long bag, which is a change from the usual shape. Any kind of material can be used, and the cushion itself measures about eighteen inches long by seventeen inches wide. The material, however, must be cut twenty-two inches long and twenty inches wide to allow for the frill at the top and the seams. The top must be lined for a depth of six to eight inches with satin and a running made, into which a piece of tape is inserted in order to draw up the mouth of the bag tightly, this running being hidden under a piece of narrow satin ribbon, which is passed around the neck of the bag and is tied in a dainty bow with flowing ends.

Embroidery looks very well on the front. Any conventional or heraldic design if worked well raised is most effective, and ribbon or applique work looks decorative.

PRACTICAL GIFTS.

Dainty Trifles That Are Always Received With Pleasure.

A pretty little affair, which is a cushion and a needlecase combined, may be made from small bits of fancy silk. Cut two circular pieces of cardboard, and cover with the silk on both sides. Cut smaller pieces of white flannel, and pink or cut in small scallops round the edges. On the top of one of the pieces sew a small ball filled with anything that will allow the pins to stick in and cover with silk. Sew this down firmly.

FOR PINS AND NEEDLES.

Tape Measure.

For 10 cents one may buy a small nickel covered tape measure. This case may be covered with silk, and if plain silk is used the initials may be embroidered on one side and a spray of flowers worked upon the other. Cut a round top and bottom rather larger than the case, and turn in a narrow hem. Take a straight strip of the silk or a piece of ribbon the right width, and sew this over and over to the circular pieces until the case is nearly completed; then slip in the tape measure and close near enough to just allow the tape to run freely. A bow of ribbon may be fastened to the end of the tape with which to draw it out.

TAPE MEASURE.

Telegraph Blank Pad.

A telegraph blank pad is a handy thing for a writing desk. Cover two pasteboards a little longer than the blanks with blue ribbon. On the upper one paste at the top a little Delft scene that shall run from edge to edge. Glue the pad of blanks to the under cover and fasten the upper cover to the under one with cords. Make a catch of a pearl button sewed to the linen of the top cover at the middle of its lower edge. Let a rubber band and loop come from the under cover.

Baby Ribbon Box.

To keep baby ribbon handily, a little box is covered with a fine figured and striped ribbon. Inside are two rather large spools on which the ribbon is wound. The end of ribbon from each is kept in reach by passing up to a buttonholed loop at the edge of the inside box end. There are two loops, one at each end of the box, for each ribbon. Two similar loops on the inside cover hold a small bone threader for running the ribbons in underwear.

Rheumatism Cannot Be Cured Unless Uric-O is Used

The Store of E. J. Murphy is the Home of Uric-O in Quincy.

The Rheumatic person is sceptical regarding the claims of almost any remedy advertised as a cure for Rheumatism and one can scarcely blame him for being so. All the plasters and liniments combined never actually cured a case of Rheumatism. They may relieve it one quarter, but it is sure to break out somewhere else. The only sure way to cure Rheumatism, is to drive it from the system, for as long as the Uric and Rheumatic Acid remains in the blood, one is never entirely free from the trouble. This is where the value of Uric-O as a permanent cure for Rheumatism comes in. It seeks out the Rheumatic poison in the blood, muscles and kindeys, renders it inert and harmless and drives it out of the system. That is why Uric-o is such an admirable and effective cure for Rheumatism.

The chief reason that Uric-o is such a wonderful cure for Rheumatism is, that it is designed and prepared to cure Rheumatism and Rheumatism only. It does not contain any alcohol or other so called tonics to make one "feel good" for the time being, but is composed of antidotes for the rheumatic acid poison in the system. That is the secret of its wonderful success. Rheumatism simply cannot exist in a person's system if Uric-O is used.

Uric-O is sold by E. J. Murphy, "The home of Uric-O" in Quincy, at 75c and $1.00 the bottle, but if you still feel skeptical about its efficacy you can test it free of charge by cutting out this advertisement and sending same together with your name and address to the Smith Drug Co., Syracuse, N. Y., and they will send you a sample bottle free. To persons who write and say they have never used Uric-O, want to test it thoroughly, and will agree to take it systematically according to directions, they frequently send a regular 75c bottle free.

WANTS HIS MONEY BACK

Boston Man Gave It to His Fiance Before Her Death Occurred

Boston, Dec. 18.—Whether a man is entitled to the money he has placed in the hands of his fiance to save for then to begin housekeeping on, in case the fiance dies before the wedding, will come before Judge Lawton of the superior court for decision. William Williams of Roxbury has filed a bill seeking to recover $1042 from the estate of Kittie J. Lyman.

Williams states that during the entire period of his engagement to Miss Lyman, about four years, he contributed each week a certain sum for her to lay aside in her name in the bank. Miss Lyman deposited the money and, on her death, her sister, Rose A. Lyman, was appointed executrix. Willams declares he has made demands on Rose Lyman for the money and that it was refused him. Miss Lyman died Aug. 25 last.

Vast Fortune Goes to Charity

Chicago, Dec. 18.—By the terms of the will of the late Daniel B. Shipman of this city, the bulk of his estate, amounting to $1,300,000, will be held in trust, the income to be divided equally among five charitable institutions in this city. Shipman, who was 80 years old at the time of his death, accumulated a fortune in the manufacture of white lead. He was a widower, without children or near relatives except one sister, to whom was left the annual income of $30,000 during her life.

Tourist Steamer on Rocks

Kingston, Jam., Dec. 18.—The tourist steamer Prinzessin Victoria Luis went ashore off Port Royal while on her way back from this port to New York. The passengers on board were landed here safely. The steamer was without a pilot and Captain Bruinswig was in charge. He followed a wrong course and piloted her up on the rocks just under the lighthouse. Two hours later the captain locked himself in his cabin and blew out his brains.

Contractor Coleman Dead

New York, Dec. 18.—James S. Coleman, street cleaning commissioner of New York city from 1881 to 1891, and one of the most widely known contractors in this country, died at his home in this city. He was 63 years old and had no family. He was the first commissioner to realize the many commercial uses to which city waste might be put, and he so arranged the disposal of garbage as to clear for the city $90,000 yearly.

Patrick Pleads For Life

Albany, Dec. 18.—Governor Higgins has received from Albert T. Patrick an application for executive clemency. When asked if it was an application for a commutation of sentence or for a pardon Higgins replied that Patrick, in the opening sentence of his letter, used the phrase: "In asking for a pardon—" The governor declined to discuss the matter further than to say he had it under consideration.

Penitentiary For Grafter

Little Rock, Dec. 18.—The supreme court sustained the sentence of two years' imprisonment in the penitentiary of State Senator Butt, convicted of bribery in the last legislature. Butt, who is one of the best known attorneys in Arkansas, was convicted of giving another senator $100 to vote for the state capitol appropriation bill. Several other senators are awaiting trial on similar charges.

On a Three-Year Trip

New York, Dec. 18.—An expedition of scientists connected with Harvard university, bound for South America for the purpose of making an exhaustive study of the Andean Indian tribes, sailed for Colon on the steamer Panama. The headquarters of the expedition will be Arequipa, Peru. The expedition expects to return to the United States in about three years.

Bombs Unearthed In Moscow

Moscow, Dec. 18.—In the course of a search made in this city, when seven bombs were discovered, a number of books from the Dasare institute library also were found. Following up this clue, the police searched the library itself and found more bombs and a quantity of apparatus nd material for the manufacture of explosives. Fifty arrests have been made.

Seamen Swept Overboard

Liverpool, N. S., Dec. 18.—With her flag at half-mast for the loss of two of her crew, brigantine Marconi, from Philadelphia, arrived here after a terrific battle with wind and sea. The brigantine was 15 days making the run. The weather was intensely cold, and during one of the numerous gales two members of the crew were swept overboard and drowned.

NEWS IN BRIEF

General John Hood, president of the United Railways and Electric company and for many years president of the Western Maryland railroad, died at Baltimore after a short illness following nervous breakdown. He served in the Confederate army during the Civil war and was several times wounded.

The resignation of Professor Sneath from the chair of the theory and practice of education at Yale, tendered because of ill-health, has been accepted by the Yale corporation.

A leather factory at Woburn, Mass., owned by F. C. Parker & Sons was destroyed by fire which started from some cause unknown. Loss, $40,000.

The carhouse of the Boston and Worcester street railway at Framingham, Mass., was burned, together with seven cars and considerable equipment. The loss is $15,000. The origin of the fire is not known.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

Have you read the Building Ordinance? Every real estate man should be acquainted with it. There is now a fire district in which no buildings for business shall be erected except of brick, stone, iron or other incombustible materials.

There are rules and regulations which relate to foundations, thickness of walls, fire walls, party walls, partitions, elevator shafts, hot air and steam pipes, fireplaces, bulkheads, fire stops, chimneys, bay windows, ash deposiories, etc. The ordinance is republished today.

Off for Arizona.

Henry P. Hayward and Richard McConuel left Quincy Monday morning for Yuma, Arizono, to work for the U. S. government, which is building a great dam there to turn back the water of the Colorado river now flowing into the Salton Sink, causing damage amounting to many millions of dollars. Both will be greatly missed, being popular among the young people and prominent in Bethany Congregational church and Sunday school.

Another report says: The proposed State tax on bachelors has nearly disrupted the Quincy Bachelors' Club. Two of its prominent members became so alarmed at the prospect that they departed Monday morning for Arizona, and if the bill is favorably reported to the Legislature others may follow. Many friends of the two travellers saw them off on the Colonial express for Washington, from whence they will go to Yuma, Arizona via Atlanta, New Orleans, Houston and El Paso. It is hoped that the Legislature will kill the bill imposing the tax on bachelors, and that the Q. B. C. will have a happy reunion in a few months.

A Jolly Supper.

Over a hundred members of the Senior department of the Young Men's Christian Association sat down Monday night in the assembly hall to a bountiful supper provided by the Ladies Auxilary. The occasion was a membership supper arranged to interest the members in a "Short Term" Membership Campaign. The goal set is 200 new members before January 19.

After supper President R. D. Chase, in a few preliminary remarks, introduced Mr. Franklin W. Gause, Vice President of the Columbia National Life Insurance Co., as the speaker of the evening. After an inspiring address, two teams were chosen and the campaign was started. George Newcomb and Charles Howard are captains of the respective teams.

ASSOCIATED CHARITIES

A Conference of Charity Workers Organized at Meeting Today

A meeting of those interested in the formation of an Associated Charities in Quincy was held this morning at the rooms of the Quincy Women's club.

The meeting was to hear the report of the committee appointed to draft a plan of organization. Rev. W. E. Gardner presided and stated at the opening that Mrs. Alice D. Sanborn had volunteered her services as secretary until May 1.

The committee reported the following plan, which after some discussion was adopted.

This society shall be known as a Conference of Charity Workers of Quincy, to consist of one representative from each charitable and philanthropic organization in Quincy.

Meetings shall be held the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month at the Quincy Women's Club at 11 o'clock.

The objects are; to secure the concurrent and harmonious action of the different charities in Quincy in order raise the needy above the need of relief; to prevent begging and imposition, and diminish pauperism; to encourage thrift, self dependence and industry through friendly intercourse, advice and sympathy; and to aid the poor to help themselves.

To prevent children from growing up as paupers; to aid in the diffusion of knowledge on subjects connected with the relief of the poor.

A bureau of information shall be established as soon as may be by the secretary to furnish detailed information to all charitable organizations.

Each affilciating organization shall be invited to contribute a small amount aunually.

Rev. William E. Gardner was elected chairman, Rev. Edward Anderson vice chairman, and Mrs. Alice D. Sanborn secretary.

A vote of thanks was extended to the Quincy Women's club for the use of the rooms, and to Mrs. J. F. Welch, chairman of the Philanthropic committee of the club.

Forty Per Cent.

At a large meeting of the creditors of the V. E. Miller Company of this city, held yesterday afternoon at Chamber of Commerce, Boston, it was voted after a lengthy hearing to accept the offer of the assignee, Arthur P. French, Esq., of Boston, for forty cents on a dollar. The indebtedness was found to be $31,000, and the assests about $19,000.

—H. H. Rogers of the Standard Oil Company and James Stillman, President of the City National Bank of New York are at the head of the syndicate negotiating the purchase of more than 2,000,000 acres in southwest Texas. The property, it is said, will be cut up for colonizing purposes.

Public Interest

IS NOW CENTERED ON

The Pure Food Law.

WE Have Always Maintained that the best that money could buy was always the cheapest in the end, because it is always the bargain hunters that have to pay the DOCTOR, buying as they do IMPURE foods of all kinds, FOODS that are UNFIT for ANY PERSON'S STOMACH, being mixed as they are with different kinds of PRESERVATIVES and SECRET PREPARATIONS to take the place of GOOD PURE FOODS. And some dealers selling these goods at a GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICE over the pure kind, GUARANTEE you NOTHING, but—"Poor Health to You and Your Family," and although you can buy the "just as good kind," you can save nothing as that kind is unhealthy and dangerous to the whole human family. Now our standard is to always sell the best of everything and the steady increase of our business year after year proves to us that we have the right idea, and we know it must be very satisfactory to our many customers to feel that what they buy at our store is ABSOLUTELY PURE and HEALTHFUL and the Food Laws are being strictly enforced by us. Our Goods are all GOVERNMENT INSPECTED and also carefully inspected by us before they are put on sale or sent to your homes, and although you pay perhaps a few cents more to us than some dealers charge, don't you think it is money well spent, considering all things?—YOUR HEALTH, which is the greatest blessing we can have,—think well about this and we know you will agree with us and do your trading where you know the goods can be depended upon to be absolutely Pure.

We have just received our season's pack of choice canned and bottled goods, FRESH and DRIED FRUITS, all kinds of Cereals, Ketchup, Pickles, Jams, Jellies, Prunes, Figs, Nuts, Dates, Table Raisins, Citron, Lemon and Orange Peel, Olives, Sardines,—in fact everything for your tastes and fancies. All the leading brands of FLOUR. Fancy New Orleans Molasses.

OUR MARKET is complete, AND REMEMBER, we sell nothing that has been doctored or filled with Preservatives to keep it. ABSOLUTELY NOTHING but Carefully Selected Meats are on sale at OUR STORE. Stamped with the Government Inspection Stamp, that insures to you and to us the point of perfection, which we are always striving to reach for the benefit of our trade.

We will have a grand display of that great National Bird, THE TURKEY, the same VERMONT KIND we have always sold you,—Chicken, Fowl and Duck, direct from WILLIAM R. DRAKE of Braintree, and he knows how to dress them so as to please the eye as well as the palate. They don't grow nicer than he has. Fruit and vegetables in abundance, and don't forget our famous LA TOURAINE COFFEE, no dinner complete without it.

Yours Respectfully,

LAW OF THE LAND

Must Be Strictly Observed In Dealing With Japanese

A MESSAGE TO CONGRESS

The President Reviews Recent Events In San Francisco and Submits Metcalf's Report of His Investigation

Washington, Dec. 18.—The following message of President Roosevelt was sent to congress today:

I inclose herewith for your information the final report made to me personally by Secretary Metcalf on the situation affecting the Japanese in San Francisco. The report deals with three matters of controversy—first, the exclusion of the Japanese children from the San Francisco schools; second, the boycotting of Japanese restaurants, and, third, acts of violence committed against the Japanese.

As to the first matter, I call your especial attention to the very small number of Japanese children who attend school, to the testimony as to the brightness, cleanliness, and good behavior of these Japanese children in the schools, and to the fact that, owing to their being scattered throughout the city, the requirement for them all to go to one special school is impossible of fulfilment and means that they cannot have school facilities. The government has already directed that suit be brought to test the constitutionality of the act in question; but my very earnest hope is that such suit will not be necessary, and that as a matter of comity the citizens of San Francisco will refuse to deprive these young Japanese children of education and will permit them to go to the schools.

The question as to the violence against the Japanese is most admirably put by Secretary Metcalf, and I have nothing to add to his statement. I am entirely confident that, as Secretary Metcalf says, the overwhelming sentiment of the state of California is for law and order and for the protection of the Japanese in their persons and property.

I authorized and directed Secretary Metcalf to state that if there was failure to protect persons and property, then the entire power of the federal government within the limits of the Constitution would be used promptly and vigorously to enforce the observance of our treaty, the supreme law of the land, which treaty guaranteed to Japanese residents everywhere in the Union full and perfect protection for their persons and property; and to this end everything in my power would be done, and all the forces of the United States, both civil and military, which I could lawfully employ, would be employed.

Report of Secretary Metcalf

The report of Secretary Metcalf is in part as follows:

It seems that for several years the board of education of San Francisco had been considering the advisability of establishing separate schools for Chinese, Japanese and Korean children, and on Oct. 11, 1905, passed a resolution to that effect.

The action of the board was undoubtedly largely influenced by the activity of the Japanese and Korean Exclusion league, an organization formed for the purpose of securing the enactment by the congress of the United States of a law extending the provisions of the existing Chinese exclusion act so as to exclude Japanese and Koreans. The league claims a membership in the state of California of 78,500, three-fourths of which membership is said to be in the city of San Francisco. The membership is composed almost entirely of members of labor organizations.

On Oct. 22, 1905, at a meeting of the league held in San Francisco, a resolution was adopted by the league instructing its executive committee to appear before the board of education and petition for separate schools for the Mongolian children of San Francisco.

Prior to the action of the league, the board of education received many protests from citizens of San Francisco, whose children were attending the public schools, against Japanese being permitted to attend those schools. These protests were mainly against Japanese boys and men ranging from 16 to 22, 23, and 24 years of age attending the primary grades and sitting beside little girls and boys of 7 and 8 years of age. When these complaints became known to Japanese residents some of the older pupils left the primary grades.

On the day when the order of Oct. 11 went into effect, viz, Oct. 15, there were attending the public schools of the city of San Francisco 93 Japanese pupils.

The number of schools in San Francisco prior to April 18 was 76. Of this number 28 primary or grammar schools and two high schools were destroyed by fire and one high school was destroyed by earthquake, leaving 45 schools. Since April 18 27 temporary structures have been erected, making the total number of school buildings at the present time 72.

The Oriental school, the school set apart for the Chinese, Japanese and Korean children, is in the burned section. There is only one Japanese student attending this school at the present time, and there are no Japanese children attending any of the other public schools. I visited the Oriental school in company with the Japanese consul and found it to compare favorably with many of the new temporary structures erected in the city. The course of instruction is exactly the same as at the other public schools, and competent teachers are assigned for duty in this school. Nearly all of the pupils attending this school have to be taught the English language.

I found the sentiment in the state very strong against Japanese young men attending the primary grades. I am frank to say that this objection seems to me a most reasonable one. All of the political parties in the state have inserted in their platforms planks in favor of Japanese and Korean exclusion, and on March 7, 1905, the state legislature passed a joint resolution urging that action be taken by treaty or otherwise to limit and diminish the further immigration of Japanese laborers into the United States. The press of San Francisco pretty generally upholds the action of the board of education.

The feeling in the state is further intensified, especially in labor circles, by the report on the conditions in the Hawaiian islands as contained in bulletin 66 of the bureau of labor, department of commerce and labor. The claim is made that white labor has been almost entirely driven from the Hawaiian islands, and that the Japanese are gradually forcing even the small white traders out of business.

Many of the foremost educators in the state, on the other hand, are strongly opposed to the action of the San Francisco board of education. I talked with a number of prominent labor men and they all said that they had no objection to Japanese children attending the primary grades.

The objection to Japanese men attending the primary grades could very readily be met by a simple rule limiting the ages of all children attending those grades. All of the teachers with whom I talked while in San Francisco spoke in the highest terms of the Japanese children, saying that they were among the very best of their pupils, cleanly in their persons, well behaved, studious, and remarkably bright.

The board of education of San Francisco declined to rescind its resolution of Oct. 11, claiming that, having established a separate school for Chinese, Japanese and Korean children, the provisions of section 1662 of the political code became mandatory.

Japanese Restaurants Boycotted

A boycott was maintained in San Francisco from Oct. 3 to Oct. 24 by members of the Cooks and Waiters' union against Japanese restaurants doing business in that city. Nearly all of the leaders of labor organizations in San Francisco interviewed on this subject disclaimed any knowledge of any formal action being taken for the boycotting of these restaurants.

As a matter of fact, a most effective boycott was maintained against nearly all of the Japanese restaurants located in San Francisco for a period of at least three weeks. Pickets were stationed in front of these restaurants and every effort was made to prevent people from patronizing them. At times stones were thrown and windows broken.

I personally interviewed the restaurant keepers and took down their statements. They all said that they were not assaulted by the boycotters, but that the efforts of the boycotters were mainly directed toward preventing customers from entering their places of business.

It appears that the Japanese restaurant keepers of San Francisco have a union of their own. They made application, so they say, to the Cooks and Waiters' union of San Francisco for admission to membership in that union, but their application was denied. All of the restaurant keepers united in stating that their business had fallen off at least two-thirds during the period of the boycott.

I am satisfied, from inquiries made by me and from statements made to me by the Japanese restaurant keepers, that the throwing of stones and breaking of windows was not done by the men picketing the restaurants, but by young men and boys who had gathered in front of the restaurants as soon as the boycott was instituted.

Numerous Assault Cases

Assaults have from time to time been made upon Japanese subjects resident in the city of San Francisco. I was informed by the chief of police that upon receipt of a communication from the Japanese consul he at once instructed captains of police to make every effort to stop these assaults.

I deemed it best, in order to get at the exact facts, to take the statements of the Japanese who claimed to have been assaulted. [These statements are given in full in the report.]

These attacks, so I am informed, with but one exception were made when no policeman was in the immediate neighborhood. Most of them were made by boys and young men; many of them were vicious in character, and only one appears to have been made with a view of robbing the person attacked. All these assaults appear to have been made subsequent to the fire and earthquake in San Francisco, and my attention was not called to any assaults made prior to the 18th day of April, 1906.

I know that these assaults upon the Japanese are universally condemned by all good citizens of California. The assaults upon the Japanese were not made, in my judgment, with a view of robbery, but rather from a feeling of racial hostility, stirred up possibly by newspaper accounts of meetings that have been held at different times relative to the exclusion of Japanese from the United States.

The chief of police of the city of San Francisco, as also the acting mayor of the city, assured me that everything possible would be done to protect the Japanese subjects in San Francisco, and they urgently requested that all cases of assault and all violations of law affecting the Japanese be at once reported to the chief of police.

LACK EXPERIENCE

Our Admirals Too Old When They Reach Their Grade

PRESENT SYSTEM FAULTY

Captains and Flag Officers Lack Full Development Because of Slow Promotion--No Time For Study In Time of Real War

Washington, Dec. 18.—Admiral Dewey, in an interview, expressed deep concern over the existing condition of the commissioned personnel of the line of the navy and his gratification over the president's special message sent to congress yesterday on the subject. The admiral said that under our present system all our officers are passed through the several grades until they finally reach that of rear admiral, the consequence being that officers are commissioned commanders at the age of 35, captains at 55, rear admirals at 60, and are placed on the retired list at 62.

"Under the present system, as a rule," he continued, "captains and admirals are so old when they reach their grades that they cannot possibly obtain the experience that is essential to full development of their skill and efficiency. The naval academy supplies the navy with splendidly equipped young officers, unsurpassed by any in the world, and it is the fault of our system of promotion that they are not developed into unexcelled captains and flag officers. We have a most intelligent and efficient enlisted personnel. They can shoot straight and quick and can be depended upon, in the hour of need, to thoroughly do their part, but in a fleet action between battleships, a skilled admiral, with experienced captains under him, will soon obtain the advantage of position and will win the fight by superior tactical experience and skill.

"Admirals and captains are not born any more than skilled chess players are born. A fight between two modern fleets, with high speed battleships for chessmen and the ocean for a board, is a most dramatic and intensely interesting game, upon which the fate of two nations may depend. There is no time for study, each player must be thoroughly prepared and experienced, each move must be made instantly, without hesitation, and a single mistake will lose the game.

"This marine chess game has been recently played in the Sea of Japan. Admiral Togo, a thoroughly trained and experienced flag officer, with skillful and experienced captains under him, handled his fleet with consummate skill and won in less time than it takes to tell the story.

"Let us look facts squarely in the face and not follow the example of the ostrich and bury our heads in the sand. The people want an efficient navy and they spent a hundred millions a year to have it, and I affirm solemnly and without reservation that the enactment of the excellent report of the personnel board into law, by which the government would save about $1,000,000 each year, and which would retain our most efficient officers on the sea-going list and cause them to reach the grade of captain at 48 and rear admiral at 55, is vitally necessary to the fighting efficiency of the navy.

"The executive department of the government has submitted the facts and the remedy to congress and it is to be hoped that our lawmakers, who alone can remedy the evil, will take immediate action."

Won't Meet on Common Ground

New York, Dec. 18.—General Ballington Booth, the head of the Volunteers of America, who was reported to be about to visit his father, General William Booth, the head of the Salvation Army, with a view to a reconciliation and the consolidation of the two religious bodies, says that there is no truth whatever in the story. Ballington Booth says that there can be no possible consolidation of the Volunteers with the Salvation Army, as they differ morally and in the principles of government. He says, also, that there is no present possibility of reconciliation between him and his father.

Hoped to Save His Neck

San Francisco, Dec. 18.—Louis Dabmer pleaded guilty to the murder of Manager Munakata of the Japanese bank. Dabner turned state's evidence against his alleged partner in crime, John Siemsen, in the hope of getting a penalty less severe than hanging. Munakata was slain in his bank by robbers who entered the place in daylight and struck the manager dead with a gaspipe.

Wreck of East Train

Rochester, Dec. 18.—A New York Central train known as "The Buffalo Local," a fast train running between New York and Buffalo, was wrecked about a mile east of Palmyra. The entire train, with the exception of one Pullman, was burned to the trucks. Engineer Harris, who, by sticking to his post probably saved many lives, was found under the wreckage, fatally injured.

Constitutions For Colonies

London, Dec. 18.—After a debate lasting several hours, and on a motion made by Mr. Churchill, under secretary for the colonies, the house of commons approved the granting of constitutions to the Transvaal and Orange River colonies.

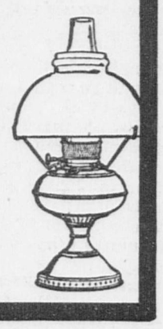

The aversion which many people have toward ordinary oil heaters is largely due to the smoke and smell so characteristic of the old-fashioned oil burner. The removal of these objectionable features and the perfecting of all mechanical parts, combined with beauty of design and skilled workmanship, have made the

DAMES AND DAUGHTERS.

Miss Erma Shaw, daughter of the treasury secretary, is the only debutante of the cabinet circle this year.

Mrs. William Ziegler, widow of the patron of arctic explorers, will begin the publication of a magazine for the blind and will furnish the journal free of charge to all blind people.

Miss Nora Stanton Blatch, granddaughter of Elizabeth Cady Stanton, has been appointed a member of New York city's staff of civil engineers in charge of the $161,000,000 Catskill water system.

A woman angler, Miss J. M. Wheeler, who recently gained a silver medal for landing a huge skate weighing 127 pounds, has captured another monster of 144 pounds at Ballycotton, Ireland. It is believed to be the largest fish ever caught by a woman in the British isles

Mary Anderson de Navarro, who recently issued her memoirs, has sent a copy of the book to the Commercial club of Louisville, Ky., with the following note: "For the Commercial club of Louisville, with the best wishes of Mary Anderson de Navarro, a loyal lover of Kentucky."

Miss Phoebe W. Cousins of St. Louis, who for the last twenty years has been interested in woman's rights, temperance and Mormon legislation before congress, is in Washington to take part in the campaign this winter for the restoration of the canteen to the army and beer to the soldiers' homes.

Mme. Melba has had her name copyrighted in the United States. She did it because she found it was being made dreadfully common by application to all sorts of theatrical, pharmaceutical and other goods and preparations. Now manufacturers and dealers cannot use the name without getting the great singer's permission.

GOWN GOSSIP.

Caracal coats trimmed with braids and galloons and finished with embroidered velvet collars and cuffs are seen among smart afternoon toilets.

The new skirts are for the most part plaited, but the same trimness is evident over the hips and the same wideness at the hem as appeared in last season's models.

Bias folds are very much in vogue for trimming purposes and save a lot of worry where it is difficult to match a gown with trimming and one cannot easily have trimming dyed to suit.

By far the most original note sounded in the winter's fashions is the introduction of the embroidered Chinese coat for evening wear in the house, at the theater or on the street. The garments are embroidered richly.

One of the main characteristics of the full skirts of this season is that they are made with a seam directly in front, the sides being either circular or cut in several gores, and these seams are generally emphasized by stitching, braiding or some kind of trimming let in underneath.—New York Sun.

THE WRITERS.

Will Payne, the author, is in New York and will spend at least a portion of the winter there.

Ambrose Bierce, author of "The Cynic's Word Book," has the reputation of being the most accomplished cynic in the United States.

Although eighty-six years old, Donald G. Mitchell—or Ik Marvel, as he is best known—is hale and hearty and continues to enjoy life at Edgewood, on the outskirts of New Haven, Conn., which has been his home for nearly fifty years.

Jeremiah Curtin, at present living at Bristol, Vt., is the master of seventy languages. He began life on a farm, but by diligent study acquired one language after the other. He is at present doing special work. Besides his many translations he is the author of a large number of books. He graduated at Harvard, and shortly afterward President Lincoln appointed him secretary of the legation at St. Petersburg.

TRAIN AND TRACK.

The first South American country to build railways was Chile, and that country now has 3,000 miles of track.

The legislature of Washington at its latest session passed a law making the maximum railroad fare for adults 3 cents a mile and for children 1½ cents.

In Massachusetts the illegal sale of street railway transfers is made punishable by a fine not exceeding $50 or imprisonment for not more than thirty days.

To the uninitiated the various grades of railway uniform in London are bewildering. The London and Northwestern Railway company alone has no fewer than 130 different forms of caps in issue at the present time, the various trimmings, bands or lettering of which indicates the position of the wearer.

WOMAN'S REALM.

Only 500 women went to the polls in Chicago, but then there was nothing to vote for except a trustee of the State university.

The fact that there are 200 women in Chicago earning a living teaching physical culture as against thirty or forty five years ago is only one of the many proofs that this is a rapidly growing profession for women.

Answering an assertion that if women had votes they would not use them, a correspondent of the London Mail gives these New Zealand figures from the electoral vote of 1905: Number of electors on roll—men, 263,597; women, 212,876; number of voters who recorded vote—man, 221,611; women, 175,046.

LOCATED IN FRANCE

Boston Police on Track of Long-Sought Alleged Murderer

Boston, Dec. 18.—After a search extending over a period of four years, the Boston police have definitely located Guiseppi Malavio, an alleged murderer, in Marseilles, France. Chief Inspector Watts has notified Governor Guild that Malavio has been found and the Washington authorities will be requested immediately to begin proceedings for the extradition of the man.

Malavio is charged with shooting and killing Placido Russo at 82 Warrenton street, this city, on April 7, 1902. The men quarreled over money matters. Malavio fled to New York and was traced to Liverpool, but at this point the fugitive eluded the officers.

Several months ago Watts learned that a man calling himself Joseph Vitta and resembling Malavio had been imprisoned in France for some crime committed in that country. Chief McLaughlin of the New York detective bureau, who had known of Malavio in that city, assisted Watts, and a comparison of photographs obtained from the French officials with those on record here convinced the local police that the Marseilles convict is the man wanted in this city. His term will expire on Dec. 22.

Italian Consul Has Friends

Boston, Dec. 18.—The criticisms of the conduct of the Italian consulate in this city, and especially of Baron Tosti, the consul, were resented last night at a mass meeting of Italians. At a meeting a few weeks ago Tosti was severely arraigned for his system of receiving and forwarding emigrants arriving in this city. At the meeting last night his methods were approved and a telegram was sent to the Italian ambassador at Washington, commending Tosti.

Killed by Fellow Countryman

Providence, Dec. 18.—Guiseppi Assandi, aged 23, was shot and killed last night after a quarrel with Gabriel Vitello. The two men, who are Italians, were together in a saloon when a quarrel arose between them. They left the saloon and shortly afterward Vitello fired two shots at his companion, both bullets entering Assandi's right temple and causing immediate death. Vitello has not been captured. He is 29 years old.

Up Against Rough Weather

Portland, Me., Dec. 18.—Schooner J. R. Teel limped into port 12 days overdue from Brunswick, Ga., with 600,000 feet of hard pine. On Dec. 4, when off the Maryland coast, the flying-jib was carried away, the mizzen sail was torn to shreds, the spars were bent and loosened and portions of the deckload were lost. For 24 hours the gale raged unabated. While off Nobska light another jib was carried away.

Said to Have Three Wives Living

New London, Conn., Dec. 18.—Probable cause was found in the case of the state against John France, charged with bigamy by Miss Sarah L. Gilder of Boston, who says that she is the third living wife of France nd that the latter never obtained a divorce. France was held for the superior court, being remanded to jail in default of $1500 bonds.

French Canadians Are Pleased

Manchester, N. H., Dec. 18.—The announcement from Rome that the congregation of the propaganda has recommended the appointment of Rev. Fr. G. A. Guertin as bishop of Manchester was joyfully received by French Canadians. Guertin was born in Nashua in 1869, the son of French Canadian parents. He was ordained in 1892.

Trains Met In Yard

Lawrence, Mass., Dec. 18.—A freight train ran into the rear of a passenger train in the yard here and Edward Littlefield of Wells, Me., sustained a fracture of the skull and may die, but no other person was injured. The rear coach was badly damaged and caught fire from the locomotive.

End of Run on Bank

Middletown, Conn., Dec. 18.—The run of three days on the Columbia Trust company came to an end yesterday, only a few depositors withdrawing their money, while a large number of deposits were recorded. Rumors that the company was about to fail started the run.

Bursting Flywheel Killed a Man

Hyde Park, Mass., Dec. 18.—A flywheel in the Sturtevant Blower works burst and killed James McDowall, aged 32, and injured three other men. The portion of the wheel which was broken off passed through the roof of the building, causing considerable damage.

Tunnels Under British Channel

London, Dec. 18.—A bill empowering an Anglo-French company to construct a tunnel under the British channel has been deposited with parliament. It is estimated that this scheme will involve an expenditure of $80,000,000. It is proposed to build two parallel tunnels 24 miles long.

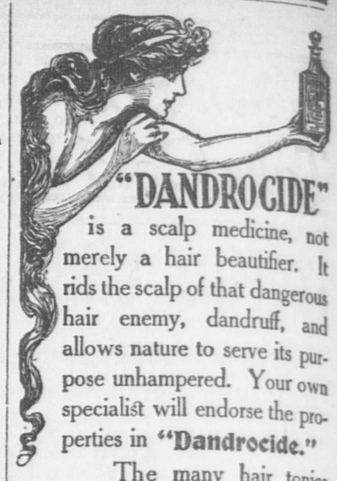

Raids on Indian Posts

Calcutta, Dec. 18.—A band of raiders appeared at Badasher, captured seven persons, including two Sepoys attached to the board of police, and ran off a number of camels and cattle. Two days ago the raiders looted the police post at Rabbi, where they secured a number of rifles.

"DANDROCIDE" is a scalp medicine, not merely a hair beautifier. It rids the scalp of that dangerous hair enemy, dandruff, and allows nature to serve its purpose unhampered. Your own specialist will endorse the properties in "Dandrocide."

The many hair tonics fool you into softening the hair, but shamefully neglect the great evil, dandruff.

You won't get rid of dandruff, until you use "Dandrocide." It is lasting in its benefits, and is best in its results when economically applied. One bottle will heal the scalp, and start a rejuvenating growth of hair.

17 "	2x11 "	16 "
18 "	2x12 "	16 "

or of sizes giving their equivalent in strength of floor.

2. The attic floor joists in dwellings can be one inch less in depth than is given in the above table except lengths 12 feet and over may be 2 inches less, and any attic, whether finished or unfinished, to which there is access, that can be used for storage purposes, shall have the same strength.

SECTION 24.—ACCESS TO PIPES, ETC

1. In the running pipes, no floor timber, header or trimmer shall be cut into more than 2 inches in depth nor more than 3 feet from its support, without a permit from the Inspector.

SECTION 25.—FIRE STOPS.

1. All furred brick walls shall have fire stops not less than 6 inches wide at top and bottom of each story.

2. All the wooden partitions about the stairways, shall be filled in between the studding and floor joists with brick and all stairs shall have a fire stop in each run of stairs.

3. Spaces between floor joists resting on sills, girders and main partitions, shall be filled with brick.

4. Fire stops shall be cut in between studding on top of under floor in each story and under ledgers, of the same size as studding, and shall have fire stops of sheet iron, tin or masonry around chimneys on each floor.

5. Sills and caps of cross partitions shall be of the same size as studding, and all outside walls shall be plastered down to under floors.

SECTION 26.—WOODEN BUILDINGS, FOUNDATIONS, ETC.

Foundations of wooden buildings shall rest upon solid ground or suitably driven piles and shall be built 3 feet below frost.

SECTION 27.—THICKNESS OF FOUNDATIONS, WALLS OF WOODEN BUILDINGS.

DWELLING HOUSES.

Block stone	Rubble stone	Brick or solid concrete
20 inches.	24 in. at bottom to 18 in. at top.	12 inches. Bracketed at bottom to 18 in. wide.

2. For wooden buildings other than dwellings or for dwelling houses more than three stories in height the above wall shall be increased 4 inches in thickness.

3. Rubble stone walls shall be bonded by headers through the wall every two feet in each direction.

SECTION 28.—UNDERPINNINGS.

1. All brick underpinnings shall be at least 8 inches thick, and all brick underpinnings averaging over three feet high shall be not less than 12 inches thick, and under buildings three or more stories in height shall be not less than 12 inches thick their entire height.

2. All brick work exposed to frost shall be constructed with hard burned brick.

3. Any foundation for any dwelling built on other than gravelly or porous soil, shall be underlaid with suitable trench stone to the depth of 12 inches and 4 inches wider than the wall, with outlet that will drain the same unless said cellar shall be constructed water-tight.

SECTION 29.—BUILDINGS ON PIERS, ETC.

1. Buildings that do not rest on foundation walls of piling shall be supported on brick or concrete piers of hard burned brick, concrete or stone; piers shall not be less than 8 x 10 inches, with a footing not less than 6 inches larger than the area of the pier on all sides, of brick, stone or concrete, 12 inches thick; all footings of piers shall be started three feet below the surface of the ground, and all piers and footings, unless of stone, shall be solidly laid in one-third cement mortar.

2. Dwellings shall be supported in cellars and basements by iron columns on proper footings, stone, concrete or brick piers. When iron columns or stone are used they shall have footings of stone 16 x 16 inches and if brick or cement piers, footings of stone 4 inches larger all round.

3. Brick or concrete pier in cellar under girders shall not be less than 8 x 12 and over 8 feet high shall be 12 x 12.

4. Porches and piazzas shall be supported in a manner approved by the Inspector.

5. These dwellings may be supported in cellar by red cedar or chestnut posts when the same is approved by the Inspector.

SECTION 30.—PARTITION WALLS, ETC.

1. In the erection of wooden buildings in blocks of two houses, if more than two stories high, or in two-story houses if in blocks of more than two houses, to be occupied for dwelling purposes they shall be divided in the basement by a brick party wall not less than 8 inches thick to top of first floor, or by a 4-inch brick wall, built in between piers not less than 12 inches square, the piers not to be more than 8 feet apart. The division partitions above such walls shall be filled in with brick between the studding and floor joists up to the roof boards.

2. Lodging, tenement or apartment houses in excess of 35 feet in width, on the line of the street shall be divided in the basement as specified in paragraph 1 of this section, and shall have partition walls filled in with brick.

3. Said walls shall be located along one side of front and rear stairways, or, if double rear stairways are erected, it shall separate them; it shall separate the light shafts and extend entirely through the building from front to rear and up to roof boards.

4. All the wooden partitions about the stairways shall be filled in between the studding and floor joists with brick.

5. Spaces between floor joists resting on sills, girders and main partitions, shall be filled with brick.

6. Fire stops shall be cut in between studding on top of under floor in each story and under ledgers, of the same size as studding, and shall have fire stops of sheet iron, tin or masonry around chimneys on each floor.

7. Sills and caps of cross partitions shall be of the same size as studding, and all outside walls shall be plastered down to under floors.

8. The openings at the floors, whether caused by ledgers or floor joists projecting above sills or girders, shall be stopped by pieces cut in tight; in dwellings where floor joists are supported on ledger planks that portion of the outside wall below the ledger forming a part of the basement walls, there shall be stops two inches thick cut in on top of floor between studding.

SECTION 31.—SILLS, POSTS, ETC.

All wooden buildings and their projections over one story in height, used as dwellings, stores, stables, or for manufacturing purposes, shall have sills not less than 6 x 6 inches, and if over one story and a half high, girths and post not less than 4 x 6 inches, and if three stories high posts 4 x 8 inches shall be used; posts, girths and sills mortised and tenoned and pinned together, and wherever ledgers are used in dwellings there shall be fire stops cut in tight, of same size as wall studs.

SECTION 32.—RAFTERS AND PLATES.

1. All dwellings over one story in height shall have plates not less than 4 x 4 inches, or its equivalent, and if over 16 feet in width shall have rafters not less than 2 x 6 inches, set not more than 24 inches on centres.

2. No studding for any part of the outside walls of any building over one story in height shall be less than 2 x 4 inches.

SECTION 33.—GIRDERS, HEADERS, TRIMMERS, ETC.

1. There shall be girders not less than 6 x 8 inches under main partitions, and summers or floor joists doubled or their equivalent, under all cross partitions, in the first floor of all dwellings.

2. Headers and trimmers of all openings over 4 feet in length in first floor of dwellings shall be floor joist doubled or their equivalent, and in any other floor if deemed necessary by the Inspector.

3. TRUSSES, ETC. All self-supporting walls or partitions above the first floor in any building carrying floor, shall be trussed in a manner approved by the Inspector.

4. Beams carrying main partitions in first floor shall be supported on piers or posts not more than 8 feet apart. Trimmers in first floor over 12 feet in length shall be supported by a pier or post, or partition above shall be trussed.

5. All buildings shall be braced in each story, and in cross partitions if deemed necessary by the Inspector.

SECTION 34.—CHIMNEYS, ETC.

1. All chimneys shall be constructed of brick, or other fire proof non-conducting materials.

2. All brick chimneys shall be topped out with hard bricks and shall extend 4 feet above the roof at the highest point through which it passes, and where they pass through floors they shall be kept one inch from any wood-work.

3. All brick-work smoke flues, within the limit of fire district No. 1, less than 8 inches thick shall be lined with flue lining from 2 feet below any wood-work in basement, to not less than 1 foot above the roof, the balance of flue above this lining to be smoothly plastered.

4. All brick vent flues shall be smoothly plastered or cement washed on the inside.

Hot-air pipes same as Section 14.

Steam-pipes same as Section 15.

SECTION 35.—BUILDINGS SEPARATED BY BRICK WALLS, ETC.

1. A wooden building to be used as a dwelling, tenement, lodging house or hotel, shall not exceed a height of 45 feet. The external walls of any wooden building shall not be placed at a less distance than 2 feet 6 inches from the line of the lot upon which the building is to be located, unless a brick external wall is substituted for the wooden wall, and of a thickness prescribed for the erection of external walls in brick buildings. Such walls shall be built 24 inches above roof boarding at every part of the roof and shall be covered with metal; but where these walls extend 3 feet above adjoining buildings, parapet walls may be omitted.

2. There shall be a space of 3 ft., 6 in. between wooden buildings already erected and those that shall be built upon adjoining lots, unless a brick external wall separates them, as prescribed in Article 1 of this section.

3. There shall be a space of 3 ft., 6 in. between wooden buildings already erected upon a lot and any wooden building over one story high that shall afterwards be built or moved upon the same lot. If there is to be a less space between them they shall be separated by a brick wall at least 8 inches thick. There shall be a space of 3 ft., 6 in. between any wooden building or buildings, over one story high, already erected upon a lot, and any wooden building that shall afterward be erected upon or moved upon the same lot. If there is to be less space between they shall be separated by a brick wall at least 8 inches thick.

SECTION 36.—STAIRCASES AND SCUTTLES.

1. All buildings, if over three stories in height, used for tenement purposes, shall have a staircase from street level to roof, with a scuttle to roof, for at least every three families occupying the building, or front and rear staircases not opening into the same corridor, or shall be provided with suitable fire-escapes. The Inspector may require that proper fire-stops shall be provided in floors, walls and partitions of such buildings and make such further requirements as may be necessary or proper to prevent the spread of fire therein, or its communication from any steam boiler or shop or heating apparatus.

2. All buildings for factory purposes shall have a simple staircase and scuttle if more than ten operatives are employed above the second floor, and suitable fire-escapes shall be provided.

SECTION 37.—BAY WINDOWS AND BALCONIES.

No bay window, balcony or other projection shall be built upon the front wall of any building so as to project over the line of the street.

SECTION 38.—BUILDINGS NOT SPECIFIED.

All buildings hereafter to be erected of a description not specified in this ordinance shall be constructed in a manner that shall be satisfactory to the Inspector.

SECTION 39.—ASH DEPOSITORIES.

1. Depositories for ashes in the interior of any building shall be constructed of incombustible materials, so as to entirely enclose their contents.

2. Ash shoots, if inside of a building shall be made of hard brick; if erected outside the building, they shall be constructed of galvanized iron, such pipe to be kept 2 inches away from all wood work.

SECTION 40.—RELIEF FROM ORDINANCE.

Any person applying for a building permit who desires to be relieved from the operation of any of the provisions of this Ordinance, may make application in writing to the Inspector of Buildings, specifying in detail what exceptions are desired and the reasons therefor. Said applications with the written explanations, specifications, maps, etc., relating thereto shall be submitted by the Inspector of Buildings, to the Mayor, Commissioner of Public Works and Chief Engineer of the Fire Department and if unanimously approved by them said application shall be granted by the Inspector of Buildings. If disapproved by any one of the above named officials then the application with the dissenting official's reasons shall be submitted to the City Council which body by vote of two-thirds of its members present and voting shall approve or disapprove the application.

SECTION 41.—PENALTY.

Whoever violates any of the provisions of this Ordinance shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars ($100.)

For the purpose of giving a Christmas tree celebration to the children who live at Houghs Neck all winter, a subscription has been started. There are about 140 families at the seashore resort, and a grand celebration was given them last year, by means of contributions, and the same method is being employed this year. The little ones are looking forward to a grand good time.

In a household in Atlantic where all members of the family were ill at once last week a new maid was called in. Her first two duties were to give the cannary bird his bath and to prepare a chicken for dinner. After being in the kitchen for some time the mistress of the house called down from upstairs: "Kate, have you fixed the bird yet?" And the answer came back promptly, "Yes'm, I've got him all fixed and on boiling!" There are are birds and birds—fortunately for the canary.

CITY COUNCIL

Sagamore street and one near the Atlantic bridge. These have to be pulled once an hour. He was supposed to cover as much as he could.

Mayor Thompson asked as to degree of hoodlumism in Atlantic compared to other places?

Chief Burrell—Nothing more than from other sections.

Mayor Thompson—What do you know about the condition in the day time?

Chief Burrell—I always considered a day man needed at Atlantic.

Mayor Thompson—How many days this year was there a special day man at Atlantic?

Chief Burrell—About four months; on Faxon road.

Councilman Bass asked if Chief did not decide where special men should go.

Chief Burrell—I should cosult with the Mayor.

Councilman Bass—Is it not possible to cut off some other section so as to give Atlantic a day man?

Chief Burrell—The only chance is the man at Houghs Neck. That was tried last winter and a number of minor breaks took place.

Councilman Nichols—If the day man in City Square was mounted could he not cover Atlantic?

Chief Burrell—I do not think so.

Councilman Hobbs—There is a great need of a man at Atlantic.

Councilman Nichols—There seems to be a need of a day man at Atlantic. He presumed there were other sections that would like a day man. By a slight increase in the appropriation a day mounted patrol could be furnished. It becomes a mathematical problem how to raise the money needed. He moved the order be amended by increasing the number of permanent men by one instead of two.

The chair ruled the order not subject to amendment.

Councilman Stone—This question of extra men had been brought about by a petition from Ward Two. It looked as though the city would have $37,000 more for current expenses next year than this.

Councilman Bass—Did the gentleman take into account that $30,000 must be raised for sewers?

Mayor Thompson—The figures of the of the gentleman from Ward Two are wholly fictitious.

Councilman Chase—There has been a large increase of hoodlumism since the boulevard was commeneed. The need of a patrolman at Atlantic bridge and certain sections of Ward Six is imperative.

Councilman Polk had voted to sustain the Mayor because of financial condition, but looking into the matter he did not see how it was possible to give better protection without increasing the force. For that reason he would vote for it.

Councilman Hull spoke of the complaints about boys at the Wollaston depot.

Mayor Thompson—It is only at the present time that he had heard of any lawlessness in that section. No petition or complaint had ever come to him, except last year, the lawlessness of teamsters on the parkway, and an officer was put there.

Councilman Chase—Did not refer to Ward Five. The matter at Ward Six had been presented to the police and they had been told a patrolman could not be put there.

Chief Burrell was recalled, and asked by Councilman Chase if complaint had been made of annoyance on Beach street.

Chief Burrell replied that there was, and that the parties were brought before the district court where they were put on probation.

The order was then passed over the Mayor's veto, 15 voting in the affirmative and 4 in the negative as follows:

YES!—Beal, Chase, Donovan, Flaherty, Ferguson, Gellotte, Hobbs, Hull, Hunter, McGilvray, Moir, Nichols, Polk, Sawyer, Stone—15.

NO!—Bass, Deacon, Gilson, Sparago—4.

ABSENT—Cannon, Crane, Gross—3.

NOT VOTING—President Piper.

HIGH SCHOOL.

Councilman Hull asked the Commissioner of Public Works if the old part of the High school would be ready by Jan. 1.

Commissioner Burke,—To the best of my belief it will be.

Former Principal Dropped Dead

A special dispatch from Springfield announced that George H. Danforth, formerly of Quincy, dropped dead today in the depot.

At the time he was en route to West field from Greenfield, where he has been superintendent of schools, and was accompanied by wife and two sons.

Mr. Danforth was principal of the Adams school about 20 years ago, and known to many in Quincy.

Whist Party.

A very enjoyable whist party was held Monday night at Colonial hall, by Mr. and Mrs. Carman. Many tables were in play and prizes were awarded to the following: Mrs. J. G. Thomas, Miss Mabel Cody, Miss Thornley, Mrs. Gomez, Mrs. M. Phelan and Messrs. A. E. Thornley, W. O. Phelps, D. E. Henry, J. F. Gleason, James Nicoll. The next party will be held Thursday evening, Dec. 27.

THE COOKBOOK.

Add a tiny pinch of salt to water in which beans are put to soak.

All stocks, soup and gravy should be boiled up each day or they will turn sour.

Sift a tablespoonful of flour with the cornmeal used for mush. It will prevent the mush sticking.

A milk pudding will curdle with an egg beaten up in it if the oven is too hot, but will be creamy and custard-like if cooked slowly in a moderate oven.

A little cold rice should never go to waste, since it may be added to soup or mixed with waffles or cornbread. The Japanese use it in a lettuce salad, the rice being mixed with any of the vegetables suitable for salads or with shellfish.

ANIMAL ODDITIES.

Some insects become fathers and mothers an hour after birth.

The stork is partial to a diet of young kittens, and cats reciprocate by a fondness for baby storks.

Some South African baboons ostracize the aged among them, refusing to help or feed them whenever they are unable to do anything for themselves.

The eyes of rabbits are never closed, even in death. The reason for this is that the hare has no eyelids. Instead the eye is provided with a thin transparent membrane which during sleep entirely covers it and shuts out the light.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

FACIAL GYMNASTICS

SOME REMEDIES FOR BLOTTING OUT UNSIGHTLY WRINKLES.

Do You Laugh Properly? Do You Chew Properly? Do You Hold Your Head Properly? These Are Points to Be Considered In the Beauty Cure.

"Wrinkles," said a well known beauty doctor, "are more often than not caused by the fact that the face is not sufficiently exercised. There are different groups of face muscles which are supposed to get a certain amount of exercise, just the same as the muscles of the body, and, if they do not, then beauty is apt to disappear and wrinkles become prominent.

"Do you laugh properly? Do you chew correctly? Do you hold your head in a right manner? Do you massage when the face becomes flabby? These are a few of the questions I would ask women who complain about wrinkles. All these things have an important bearing on the appearance of the face. But any ill effects brought about by improper conduct in such directions may be counteracted by the following exercises:

"Perhaps the forehead expresses habitual worry and anxiety. There are horizontal lines across it which are extremely ugly, while the skin is slightly drawn and colorless. Hold the head high, the neck and shoulders quite free. Raise the eyebrows till there are deep wrinkles across the forehead. Now draw the eyebrows together in a frown, making both horizontal and perpendicular lines. Repeat this exercise twenty-five times. Do not distort the face. Let the muscles of the forehead, the crown of the head and temples do the work. You will find that you have not counted many times before the muscles become tired, and you then realize that you are exercising them. The blood circulates freely through them. They are getting rested from their long inactivity. At the end of the exercise gently stroke the forehead, smoothing out all the lines.

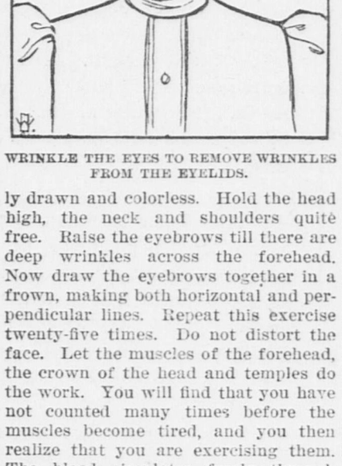

WRINKLE THE EYES TO REMOVE WRINKLES FROM THE EYELIDS.

"Then, again, for lines over the eyebrows and 'crow's feet' the following will be found an excellent remedy: Sit erect, as before, and hold the head high. Close the eyes firmly, using all the strength of the muscles extending from eyebrows up over the forehead, across the temples and around the eyes. Open the eyes without unduly wrinkling the skin of the forehead. Do not distort other portions of the face in this exercise. Repeat twenty-five times.

"For sagging and flabby cheeks expand and contract the lips, using all the strength possible in the muscles of the cheeks, chin and around the mouth. In doing this exercise the lips will be open, and you will show both rows of teeth. You may not look pretty, but the results are what interest you. This exercise develops all the muscles of the lower part of the face and of the jaws and neck, as you see by observing their action in the mirror.

"Depression round the mouth and hollows each side of the nostrils are easily remedied by the following exercise: Open the lips slightly, as in a smile. Now contract them, using all the muscles around them, the chin, the upper cheek muscles, the upper lip muscles, making all hard and firm."

SMILE BROADLY TO HARDEN THE FLABBY MUSCLES OF THE CHEEKS.

Chiffon Silk Stockings.

For brides there are white silk stockings fine enough in texture and exquisite enough in design to suggest a fairy spun cobweb tipped with morning dew. The self embroidered white stockings are visions, and those of diaphanous chiffon silk embroidered in heavy white silk dots are beautiful enough to have tempted Queen Elizabeth (who, so says history, was the first woman to wear silk stockings) to forsake her vow of spinsterhood for the joy of wearing them to the nuptial altar.

FISHERMEN.

There Are Two Classes, the Genuine and the Pretenders.

It has sometimes been said that fishermen cannot be manufactured. This is true to the extent that nothing can supply the lack of certain inherent, constitutional and inborn qualities or traits which are absolutely necessary to a fisherman's makeup. Of course there are many who call themselves fishermen and who insist upon their membership in the fraternity who have not in their veins a drop of legitimate fisherman blood. Their self asserted relationship is nevertheless sometimes seized upon by malicious or ignorant critics as permitting the assumption that the weaknesses and sins of these pretenders are the weaknesses and sins of genuine fishermen. But in truth these pretenders are only interlopers who have learned a little fish language, who love to fish only "when they bite," who whine at bad luck, who betray incredulity when they hear a rousing fish story and who do or leave undone many other things fatal to good and regular standing. They are like certain whites called squaw men who hang about Indian reservations and gain certain advantages in the tribes by marrying full blooded Indian women. Surely no just person would for a moment suppose that genuine Indians could be treated fairly by measuring them according to a squaw man standard. Neither can genuine fishermen be fairly treated by judging them according to the standards presented by squaw fishermen.—From "Fishing and Shooting Sketches," by Grover Cleveland.

FORCE OF WATER.

The Great Power That Is Exerted by a Six Inch Stream.

The effect of the hydraulic motor, which is now used for the purpose of removing masses of earth, well nigh passes belief. A stream of water issuing from a pipe six inches in diameter, with a fall behind it of 375 feet, will carry away a solid rock weighing a ton or more to a distance of fifty or a hundred feet. The velocity of the stream is terrific, and the column of water projected is so solid that if a crowbar or other heavy object be thrust against it the impinging object will be hurled a considerable distance. By this stream of water a man would be instantly killed if he came in contact with it even at a distance of a couple of hundred feet. At 200 feet from the nozzle a six inch stream, with a 375 foot fall, projected momentarily against the trunk of a tree will in a second denude it of the heaviest bark as cleanly as if it had been cut with an ax. Whenever such a stream is turned against a bank it cuts and burrows it in every direction, hollowing out great caves and causing tons of earth to melt and fall and be washed away in the sluices.

The Eye of a Child.

Who can explain or fathom the wondrous instinct of the child? Lying in the arms of its nurse, in its carriage or elsewhere, its large, round, wondering eyes roam over a sea of faces till suddenly its features break into a sweet smile, a baby laugh dances in its eyes, perhaps the tiny hands are extended, and the little body gives a bound as though it would throw itself through space. What has happened? It has recognized a friend, nothing more and no less. It makes no mistake. Wiser, perchance, in that moment of inexperienced helplessness than it will be years afterward, when the world and its inmates have been studied in the light of instruction and experience, its love offering is seldom if ever mistakenly presented. By what power is this child love directed? By what subtle influence does it see and know what in after years it may strive in vain to discern?

Carlyle and the Ax.

Carlyle as a schoolmaster was a terror to evildoers. Even the biggest and boldest boys wilted when he growled out "dunce" or "blockhead." He did not thrash often, as his scowl was enough to hush a whole school, but when he did thrash he meant business. One day a joiner passing along the road heard the most piteous howls and cries for mercy and help coming from the schoolhouse. Rushing in and handing his ax to Carlyle, he exclaimed:

"Jist doo't ootricht, mon, and no mince maiters."

Ingratitude.

"Were you ever really glad to hang a man?"

"Only once," answered the sheriff. "I had prepared him a hearty breakfast of steak, eggs, potatoes, waffles and coffee."

"Yes?"

"And the infernal ingrate demanded stewed oats instead."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Bad Society.

What you learn from bad habits in bad society you will never forget, and it will be a lasting pang to you. I tell you in all sincerity, not as in the excitement of speech, but as I would confess and have confessed before God, I would give my right hand if I could forget that which I have learned in bad society.—John B. Gough.

Didn't Need to Tell.

"Bobbie, I hope you didn't tell your mother that you saw me kissing sister last night."

"Nope. I didn't have to. Sis waked us all up at midnight when you went home and told it herself."—Minneapolis Journal.

If you wish to remove avarice, you must remove its mother, luxury.—Cicero.

GIFTED ARABS

The Subject of Address Before The Wollaston Congregational Club

The members of the Wollaston Congregational club and their guests learned much on Tuesday evening of Persia and the Arabs, the speaker of the evening being Mr. Ibrahim Esbir Ul Khouri, a native of Arabia.

At 6.30 the club sat down to a home-like dinner of roast beef, mashed potato, squash, celery, rolls, pie and coffee. Blessing was asked by Rev. Mr. Tobey.

Councilman Wendell H. Hull presided at the business meeting, when a new constitution was adopted and the following officers elected:

President,—W. H. Hull.
Vice President,—E. W. Taylor.
Secretary,—Charles E. Hathaway.
Treasurer,—Charles A. Campbell.
Chairman of Benevolence Committee,—Charles L. Seavey.

The music of the evening was by Mr. A. J. Schleich on the piano, and his work was so pleasing that each time he was recalled.

Mr. Ul Khouri at the outset of his address claimed that the Arabs were the most gifted people in the world. He told of their habits, religion, their great love of poetry. Horses were valued more highly than wives. He paid a high tribute to Dr. Cornelius Van Dyke, an American at 22 went to Syria. He translated the Bible into the language of the country, and adopted the custom of the people and was much beloved.

At the close of his talk, when questioned, he told of his reception upon returning to the country for a visit, and how he won honors in a horse race which is the popular sport there.

Divorce he said was easier than in Dakota, is all a man had to do was to say "Begone" and the wife must go. However, he could not get her back.

He told of Bayard Taylor's seven years in that country, also how the Arabs differed from the Turks. By request, he told of the making of Persian rugs, being a dealer in rugs in Boston. The best rugs come from Persia, he said, because they are home made, and the people have known the art 4,000 years.

American ideas had entered into the manufacture of rugs in Turkey, and they had degenerated. Now $20,000,000 worth of rugs are annually imported into this country. In Persia dyeing was perfection, and the art of weaving and coloring wonderful; as much so as painting. A person often spent a lifetime making a rug, and put his soul into it.

A hearty vote of thanks was given the speaker of the evening.

The Guild Fair Nets Over $500

The fair of the Woman's Guild of Christ church, was the most successful one in the history of the Guild. The proceeds are nearly all in now and the sum of five hundred dollars has been cleared. This will be applied to the mortgage on the rectory.

The fair was under the very efficient management of Mrs. Hazen E. Ricker, the president of the guild, and she was very ably assisted by over fifty-six ladies of the Guild. The tables were in charge of the following ladies:

Fancy,—Mrs. Frank Brewer.
Handkerchief,—Mrs. Hazen Ricker.
Housekeeping,—Mrs. Samuel Oxford.
Preserve,—Mrs. F. L. Jones.
Children's—Mrs. E. W. Newcomb.
Grab,—Mrs. R. C. Drinker.
Refreshment,—Mrs. Amos Litchfield.
Candy,—Miss Emily Wilde.
Tea,—Miss Alice Putman.
Reapers,—Miss Emma Savil.
Tickets,—Mrs. William Spargo.

FOUR ALARMS

Studio Building In Boston Destroyed and Others Threatened

A fire which at one time threatened to wipe out the business section bounded by Tremont, Bromfield and Washington streets, Boston, started about 7.30 o'clock this morning, in the Studio building on Tremont street in the basement of the furniture store of Eldridge & Peabody.

The fire spread rapidly, fed by inflamable material, and four alarms summoned a large fire fighting force.

In the rear of the Studio building is the Pratt building in which is the office of the Educational Publishing Co., of which L. F. R. Langelier is manager. This building was seriously threatened at one time, but was saved by the party wall.

The Orpheum theatre, formerly Music hall, was also in danger.

The bitter cold weather made it extremely hard for the firemen as the water froze rapidly, covering them with a thick coating of ice. It is said also that some of the hydrants were frozen.

By heroic work the fire department was able to confine the fire to the building where it started, and after three hours hard work it was under control.

The Studio building was badly gutted and cannot be rebuilt. The loss will be heavy.

Favors More Battleships

Paul Morton, formerly Secretary of the Navy, was in Washington on Saturday and in an interview said in part:

"The earlier battleships on our navy list are becoming obsolete. One ship a year should be constructed merely to replace these. In addition new improved up-to-date battleships should be built in order to keep pace with the navies of other countries. The great battleship conditionally authorized last year and another equally formidable should be appropriated for at this session of Congress and promptly built. I am for a navy second in size only to Great Britain, second in efficiency to none, and when we have that, peace will be assured."

Some Little Girl will be made Happy on Christmas.

Every girl be she large or small admires a doll. The little girl craves for a plaything, the larger girl for an ornament. Last summer one of our business men imported from Switzerland two life size dolls to be given away to some little girl who has patronized his store. Commencing today and until Christmas, he will give a coupon with each purchase of his pure candy, costing from ten cents upwards. Some person will receive the lucky number which will be drawn from the total distributed, and on Christmas some little girl in Quincy will receive these twin dolls, full dressed, valued at $25.

Remember every purchase of the best line of confectionery ever carried in Quincy will entitle the purchaser to a numbered coupon.

CITY OF QUINCY,

In Council,

November 19, 1906.

AN ORDINANCE

ESTABLISHING FIRE DISTRICTS AND REGULATING THE CONSTRUCTION AND INSPECTION OF BUILDINGS.

Be it Ordained by the City Council as follows:

SECTION 1. For the purpose of protection from damage by fire the city is hereby divided into three fire districts.

SEC. 2. The Mayor shall annually, on or before the first Monday in February, appoint an Inspector of Buildings who shall hold his office one year from the first Monday in February of the current year, and until his successor is appointed.

SECTION 3. Fire district No. 1, shall include Hancock Street, from Squantum Street to School Street, Washington Street from Hancock to Elm Street, Quincy Avenue, north from Water Street, School Street from Hancock Street to intersection of west line of Franklin Street, Water Street, from Franklin to Pleasant Street, Franklin Street from School to Pearl Street, Copeland Street from intersection of Miller Street to Furnace Avenue, Newport Avenue from Lincoln to Elmwood Avenue, Temple Street, Maple Street, Chestnut Street north from Cottage Avenue, Saville Street from Hancock Street to steam railroad line, Granite Street east of the railroad bridge, Beale Street from Hancock Street to Safford Street, Brook Street from Newport Avenue to Farrington Street, Sagamore Street from Hancock Street to Newbury Street, and shall extend one hundred (100) feet in all directions from any street or part of street herein named or described.

SEC. 4. District No. 2 shall include all remaining parts of the city, except such as are included in District No. 3.

SEC. 5. District No. 3 shall include that part of Quincy called Squantum bounded by Neponset river on the north, N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. on the west, and by Atlantic Street to the Metropolitan Boulevard on the south. Also that part of Quincy east of a line drawn from Quincy Bay five hundred (500) feet west of Shelton Road to the nearest waters of Town River Bay.

Buildings in District No 3 shall be exempt from any of the rules of this Ordinance, except brick buildings, or building used or to be used wholly or in part for mechanical, mercantile or manufacturing purposes.

SEC. 6. No wooden or frame building, except dwelling houses and private stables, shall be hereafter built within the limits of District No. 1. No person shall move or cause to be moved any wooden building from without said limits into the same. No person shall move or cause to be moved any wooden building from one place to another within said limits, nor shall any person repair or rebuild any building within said limits, which has been partially destroyed by fire or otherwise, without the written permit of the Inspector of Buildings.

APPLICATION FOR PERMITS.

SEC. 7. Every person intending to erect any building or to raise, move or make any additions or alterations in any building or its foundation, already erected, or hereafter to be built, except necessary repairs not affecting the foundations, external partition walls or party walls, chimneys, or stairways, within the limits of Districts No. 1 and 2, shall file an application for a permit with the Inspector of Buildings, on forms furnished by him, giving a description of the building, or additions, alterations or repairs; and shall submit plans of such work or buildings for examination and approval.

The Inspector of Buildings shall report to applicant on all applications for permits within seven days from the receipt thereof, but if the Inspector shall deem it necessary to establish grade lines other than those stated in the application, he shall have three days additional time to make a report.

No permit shall be in force for a longer time than one year from date thereof.

INSPECTOR TO EXAMINE BUILDINGS BEING ERECTED, REPAIRED, ETC.

SEC. 8. The Inspector of Buildings shall examine all buildings in the course of erection, alteration and repair, as often as practical, and for that purpose shall have the right of entry thereto, and shall make a record of all violations of this Ordinance, together with the location of the building where such violations are found, the name of the owner, lessee, occupant, architect and master mechanic, and all other matters relative thereto. Any owner, architect or builder notified of any violations of this Ordinance shall if required by the Inspector, leave the work open until he shall again inspect the work and declare the same approved.

INSPECTOR TO EXAMINE ALL BUILDINGS REPORTED DANGEROUS, ETC.

SEC. 9. The Inspector of Buildings shall examine all buildings reported dangerous or unsafe from any cause, and make a record of such examination, including the nature and cause of such condition, with the location of the building, name of owner, lessee and occupant, and for what purpose occupied, and he shall report any building by him deemed dangerous or unsafe to the City Solicitor for his action.

NOTICE IN CASE OF UNSAFE CHIMNEYS, ETC.

SEC. 10. If any chimney, flue or heating apparatus shall, in the opinion of the Inspector of Buildings, be unsafe by reason of endangering the premises by fire or otherwise, he shall at once notify in writing the owner, agent or other party having an interest in said premises, who upon receiving said notice shall make the same safe, in pursuance of the terms of said notice.

SEC. 11. The Inspector of Buildings shall examine all shops and other places where shavings or other combustible material may be deposited or collected, and at all times be vigilant in the removal of the same, whenever in his opinion the same may be dangerous to the security of the City from fires; and direct the owner, tenant or occupant of said shops, or other places, to remove the same; and in case such owner, tenant or occupant refuses so to do, shall cause the same to be removed at the expense of the owner.

RULES AND REGULATIONS.

SECTION 1.—MEANING OF TERMS.

In the construction of this Ordinance if not inconsistent with the context, the following terms shall have the respective meanings assigned to them:

EXTERNAL WALL shall apply to every outer wall or vertical enclosure of a building, other than a party wall above the foundation wall.

PARTY WALL shall apply to every wall used or built, intended as a separation of any building from any other building.

FOUNDATION WALL shall mean that portion of external walls below the level of the street curb, and for walls not on any street, that portion of the wall below the level of the ground outside of the wall.

BRICK BUILDING means a building the walls of which are built of brick, stone, iron or other incombustible materials.

WOODEN BUILDINGS means a building one or more of the outside walls of which are of wood.

DWELLING HOUSES means a building used wholly for domestic purposes, occupied only by families or persons, in which no mechanical business is carried on.

SECTION 2.—BRICK BUILDING FOUNDATION, ETC.

Every "brick" building shall have foundations laid in mortar extending four feet below the surface exposed to frost, and shall rest upon solid ground, or suitably driven piles.

Excavations for such foundations shall be made six inches larger than the wall each side, and shall not be filled in until inspected.

SECTION 3.—THICKNESS OF FOUNDATION WALL FOR BRICK BUILDINGS

OTHER THAN DWELLING HOUSES.

HEIGHT OF WALLS ABOVE.	BLOCK STONE.	RUBBLE STONE.	BRICKS, OR SOLID CONCRETE.
Two stories	24 inches.	30 inches.	24 in. at bottom to 16 in. at top.

Two stories	20 inches.	24 inches.	20 in. at bottom to 12 in. at top.
More than Two	24 inches.	30 inches.	24 in. at bottom to 16 in. at top.

2. All brick buildings, exceeding 30 feet in height shall have under foundation wall, a footing course of stone or concrete not less than six inches wider than the bottom of said wall and not less than 12 inches thick.

SECTION 4.—THICKNESS OF WALLS FOR BRICK BUILDINGS.

DWELLING HOUSES.

HEIGHT OF BUILDING.	EXTERNAL WALL.	PARTY WALL.
Two stories.	12 inches.	12 inches.
More than two stories.	16 in. 1st and 2d story.	12 inches.

OTHER THAN DWELLING HOUSES.

Two stories.	16 in. for 1st story. 12 in. for 2d story.	12 inches.
More than two stories.	20 in. for 1st and 2d 16 in. for 3d 12 in. above.	16 in. for 1st and 2d story. 12 in. above.

2. If the height of any story exceed 16 feet between floors the external walls of that story shall be increased 4 inches. No external wall shall be lighter at any part than the wall above.

SECTION 4.—WALLS OF STABLES, ETC.

The external walls of brick buildings less than thirty feet high and not exceeding 2000 superficial feet to be used for stable or light mechanical purposes may be 12 inches thick.

SECTION 5.—WALLS OVER SIXTY FEET HIGH.

The thickness of walls and foundations in buildings over 60 feet high shall be determined by the Inspector.

SECTION 6.—SUPPORTS.

1. Supports of brick buildings other than their foundations shall be of iron, concrete, stone or brick piers, and shall rest on an iron plate not less than two inches thick.

2. For brick buildings used as dwellings exceeding 35 feet in height, there shall be under all columns or piers a footing of stone or concrete not less than 24 inches square and 12 inches thick; in brick buildings other than dwellings, all columns or piers shall have a footing of stone or concrete not less than one foot larger on all sides than the area of the pier and 12 inches thick.

3. No pier in any brick building shall be less than one foot square, and if of brick they shall be hard burned. All piers shall be built with, and all footings bedded in cement mortar.

4. Piers under lintels, girders or columns of brick buildings, other than dwellings, shall have a cap-iron at least two inches thick the full size of the pier.

SECTION 7.—FIRE WALLS.

1. No buildings erected for mercantile purposes shall be built more than 50 feet in width, measuring along the line of wall facing the street, without a brick partition wall at least 8 inches thick if less than 35 feet high, and 12 inches thick if over 35 feet high, and not exeeding 60 feet in height; said wall shall be built up at least 12 inches above the roof at its highest point, and the top of said wall shall be covered with a coping of stone, or iron or other metal; and where there is a mansard or pitched roof, the wall shall be built 24 inches above every part of the roof covering.

2. The provisions of this section shall not apply to single rooms, halls, workshops or manufactories requiring larger dimensions, the construction of which must be approved by the Inspector.

SECTION 8.—PARTY WALLS.

All party walls shall be built through and at least twenty-four inches above or distant from the roof boarding, at every part of the roof and shall be covered with a coping of stone, iron or other metal. But when the wall extends 36 inches above the adjoining building, parapet walls may be omitted.

SECTION 9.—PARTITION WALLS IN DWELLINGS.

All brick buildings to be used as dwellings, tenement or lodging houses, in excess of 40 feet in width, shall have brick partition walls, not less than 12 inches thick, on which the floor beams shall rest, and said walls shall not be more than 30 feet apart.

SECTION 10—OPENINGS, ETC.

All openings in brick walls, not supported by stone or iron lintels, shall be properly arched with brick; no timber shall be used in brick walls, except in case of arched forms, arched their whole length. No side wall of a brick building shall be carried up in advance of the rear walls.

SECTION 11.—RECESSES IN WALLS, ETC.

No continuous vertical recess, chase or flue shall be made in any party wall so deep that it will leave the thickness at the back less than 8 inches at any point, and no recess of any kind shall be made in any 8-inch wall. No horizontal recess shall be made in any wall, except by a special permit from the Inspector. No continuous vertical recess other than flues, in stacks, shall be nearer than 7 feet to any other recess.

SECTION 12.—OPENING CUT IN PARTY WALLS, ETC.

No opening or doorway shall be cut through a brick party or partition wall of any building without a permit from the Inspector; and every such doorway shall have top, bottom and sides of stone, brick or iron; shall be closed by two sets of wrought-iron or metal-covered doors (separated by the thickness of the wall) hung to rabbeted iron frames, or to wooden frames entirely covered with metal, or to iron hinges in brick or stone rabbets; shall not exceed 10 feet in height by 8 feet in width; and any opening other than a doorway shall be protected in a manner satisfactory to the Inspector.

SECTION 13.—ELEVATORS AND LIGHT SHAFTS.

Elevators and light shafts, if of wood, shall be lined with sheet-iron or tin, or plastered on metal lathing throughout.

SECTION 14.—HOT AIR PIPES, ETC.

No wood-work shall be placed at a less distance than 1 inch from any tin or metal flue or pipe, used or intended to be used to convey heated air, unless such flue or pipe be cased with metal or asbestos paper or other fire-proof material, wood-work tinned. Openings in breasts, partitions or floors, through which furnace pipes pass, shall have fire stops of sheet iron, tin or masonry.

SECTION 15.—STEAM PIPES.

Steam pipes shall not touch any wood-work and where they pass through floors or partitions shall be protected by an incombustible ring or tube, or rest on iron supports.

SECTION 16.—BONDING WALLS.

Every eighth course, at least, of a brick wall shall be a heading or bonding course, except when walls are faced with faced brick, in which case every eighth course shall be bonded with Flemish headers, or by cutting the courses of the face brick, and putting in diagonal headers behind the same.

2. No soft brick shall be used in the construction of the outside walls of any brick building.

SECTION 17.—WALLS ANCHORED, ETC.

1. All brick walls in any building on which the ends of beams rest shall be anchored at each tier of beams at intervals of not more than 10 feet apart, with wrought iron anchors, at least ½ inch by 1½ inches, well built into the walls, and well fastened to the tops of the beams; and where the beams are supported by girders or on partition plates, the ends of beams resting upon girders or partition plates shall be fastened together and strapped by wrought iron straps or tie irons, at the same distance apart, and in the same beams as the wall anchors.

2. The ends of all girders or partition plates, resting on or abutting any wall, shall be anchored to it.

3. Anchors shall not be run through partition walls.

4. If side or partition walls are carried up in advance of front walls, they shall be anchored to front walls by wrought-iron anchors, not less than ⅜ inch by 1½ inches, at a height of every ten feet, and built into partition or side walls not less than 36 inches, and into front walls, at least half its thickness.

5. Plates of all roofs shall be bolted to walls, not less than every 10 feet; bolts to be built into walls twenty-four inches.

SECTION 18.—CONSTRUCTION OF CHIMNEYS.

1. All chimneys hereafter shall be built of brick, stone or other incombustible material, and shall have a footing of masonry or iron supported by iron, or corbels of brick or stone. No chimney shall be hung to an eight-inch wall, or bear or rest upon wood. No chimney corbelled from a wall shall project more than the thickness of the wall.

2. All brick smoke flues less than 8 inches thick shall be lined with flue lining, from two feet below any wood-work in basement, to not less than one foot above roof, the balance of flue above this lining to be smoothly plastered inside. All brick vent flues shall be smoothly plastered or cement washed on the inside. All flues shall be topped out at least four feet above the highest part of the roof at the point through which they pass, with brick or stone, and the topping-out shall not have more than two inches projection, unless covered by a cap of improved incombustible material, properly secured; and in no case shall a nail be driven into the masonry of any flue. All wood-work in brick buildings shall be placed distant one inch from the outside of every chimney flue, and the space around such wood-work and brick-work of chimney where it passes through floors shall be closed by a proper fire-stop of incombustible material. In chimneys with more than one flue, the withes shall be constructed of brick laid flatways and bonded every eighth course and plastered.

SECTION 19.—FIREPLACES, HEARTHS, ETC.

1. All hearths shall be supported by trimmer arches of brick or stone; or be of single stones at least six inches thick, and supported entirely by iron beams, one end of which shall be securely built into masonry of chimney or adjoining wall. The brick jambs of every fireplace, range or grate opening

Wars Eating Up Two-Thirds of the Country's Revenues

EXPENSES TOO HEAVY

Assertion That Army and Navy Establishments Are Constantly Seeking Aggrandizement--Expensive Guns Are Idle

Washington, Dec. 19.—Senators Warren, Hale and Scott indulged in a discussion in the senate, deploring increasing expenditures in the army and naval establishments. It was occasioned by the postponement of action on a bill increasing the artillery corps.

Mr. Warren remarked that he should press this bill to a conclusion before the fortifications appropriation bill came up, as he believed it useless to appropriate between $6,000,000 and $15,000,000 a year to increase the fortifications of the country and then fail to provide men to properly man them. "We now have three guns to every man," he remarked, "and have expended more than $100,000,000 in carrying out the scheme of fortifications recommended by the Endicott board and yet have made no increase in the artillery corps."

"The senator ought to have added," interrupted Hale, "that we have no enemies." Hale added that the argument of the army had been that you could not have an army without guns, and when the guns are supplied they turn about and say what is the use to have guns and fortifications without men. "It is a constant pressure on the part of the army to aggrandize itself," he continued, "first for men and then for guns. There is no end to it."

Mr. Warren suggested that he would like to hear from Hale regarding the navy in this connection, as Hale was a member of the naval committee and as the annual increase for the navy was from $10,000,000 to $20,000,000.

"The senator is right," responded Hale. "This disease is just as deep in the navy, and, I am inclined to think, deeper than it is in the army. I have tried for years and shall try again this year to keep down naval expenditures. But the military establishments are alike. Each is seeking to aggrandize itself.

"I don't suppose the people of the country appreciate it. I don't know that the senate does, that two-thirds of the revenues of the country today are devoted to the payment of burdens of past wars, like pensions, and expenditures in view of future wars. Of all the taxes that are laid and all the revenues collected nearly two-thirds are expended for the military, in a broad way."

Senator Scott observed that during the summer he had visited nine coast fortifications and found the big, new, expensive guns sewed up in canvas after having been rubbed in vaseline. He should demand that some measure be passed to secure adequate care of these guns or that no further expenses be incurred in that direction.

Stagnation In Chinese Trade

Washington, Dec. 19.—Special Agent Clark reports from Shanghai that the present trade stagnation at Shanghai is not in any way due to a boycott. Bad crops in many parts of China and a depreciated currency have caused cotton goods to become congested at Shanghai, there being now on hand 500,000,000 yards, representing $50,000,000.

Wants Lobby Story Investigated

Washington, Dec. 19.—Senator Patterson, in a resolution, has asked that the charges by a New York newspaper in relation to a lobby having been sent to the United States last session of congress to influence senators concerning Congo Free State legislation be investigated by the senate committee on foreign relations.

No Work--No Pay

Washington, Dec. 19.—Representative Gaines (Tenn.) introduced a bill providing that senators and representatives shall have $13.75, a day's pay, deducted from their salaries for each day they fail to attend sessions. The sickness of members or illness in their families are to be the only valid excuses.

Commercial Doors to Open

Washington, Dec. 19.—Minister to China Rockhill has cabled the state department from Pekin that as a result of an agreement with the Russian minister, the Chinese government will open to international residence and trade Jan. 14 next the three cities of Manchurie, Kirin and Harbin.

Agricultural College Proposition

Washington, Dec. 19.—Representative Livingstone (Ga.) introduced a bill appropriating $10,000 a year for the support of an agricultural college in each congressional district of the United States. The money is to be paid to states and territories and disbursed as state laws provide.

Brown's Body Laid Away

Salt Lake, Dec. 19.—The body of former United States Senator Arthur Brown, who was shot and killed in Washington by Mrs. Anna Bradley, was buried in Mount Olivet cemetery, the funeral being conducted by the Odd Fellows. The casket was not opened and the services were marked by no unusual incident. The only relatives present were his daughter and son. The 300 persons present included the most prominent attorneys in the state.

HUNT FOR MAD DOG

Has Already Bitten Eighteen Persons at Lowell

Lowell, Mass., Dec. 19.—Scores of police, firemen and sharpshooters were out yesterday afternoon and evening in chase of a mad dog, which has caused terror throughout the city. Running amuck early in the day, the dog has succeeded in eluding all its pursuers, and it has bitten surely 18 people as well as several dogs. Of the 18 people bitten, five were injured so severely that they had to be taken to hospitals.

The police are unable to estimate the number of dogs that have been bitten by the crazy animal, but it is known that the number is very large.

A big detail of reserve officers has been sent out to co-operate with the regular officers in the hunt for the dog. Several officers have seen the dog, but before they could reach him he disappeared and the most careful and painstaking search for him was unavailing.

During the evening many of the young men of the city who are licensed to carry revolvers joined in the hunt, but without success. It is said that the dog first came from Tewksbury, where he bit two men before he reached Lowell.

Battle of Ballots For Trustees

New York, Dec. 19.—Probably never before in the history of the country has there been anything to compare with the election in this city of trustees for the New York Life and the Mutual Life Insurance companies. Certainly no corporation or society election ever measured up to it in magnitude or interest. The total vote cast in both companies will approximate 800,000. It is expected that it will be weeks before the votes are counted and the results of the campaign known.

Roosevelt Asked to Intervene

New York, Dec. 19.—A mass meeting to consider the conditions in the Congo Free State was held here last night. Resolutions were adopted calling on President Roosevelt to take action in behalf of the people of the Congo Free State. Rev. H. G. Guinness, D. D., who for a number of years has done missionary work in semi-civilized countries, described many cruelties he said had been inflicted upon the Congo natives by agents of the Belgian government.

Banks Lost Through Fraud

Chicago, Dec. 19.—George S. McReynolds, recently a prominent dealer in grain and in the elevator business, was found guilty of obtaining money from different banks of this city on fraudulent warehouse receipts. Altogether it was charged that McReynolds disposed of grain valued at more than $500,000 on which he had borrowed money from local banks. Several of these lost more than $100,000 each.

Britisher For Servian Throne

London, Dec. 19.—In connection with the recent rumors of a plot to place Prince Arthur of Connaught on the Servian throne, M. Mijatovitch, ex-Servian minister in London, admits that twice within a year delegates from Belgrade have vainly endeavored to interest him in the proposal, asserting that King Peter would be induced to abdicate peaceably in favor of an English prince.

Assets Exceed Liabilities

Indianapolis, Dec. 19.—Arthur A. McCain, president of the Indiana Manufacturing company, has placed his affairs in the hands of trustees for the benefit of creditors. His assets, according to one of the trustees, amount to $500,000, with liabilities of $225,000. His financial embarrassment is due to inability to realize on securities.

Folk Wants His Back Salary

St. Louis, Dec. 19.—Suit has been filed in the circuit court by counsel representing Governor Folk against the city of St. Louis to enforce the payment of a balance of his salary as circuit attorney, alleged to be long overdue. Folk claims that he is entitled to $5833 back salary.

Emigrants' Departure Delayed

Rome, Dec. 19.—The general strike of seamen is causing considerable anxiety. At Genoa 25,000 emigrants are prevented from leaving for their destinations because of the trouble.

Great Gold Nuggets Unearthed

Melbourne, Dec. 19.—Several big gold nuggets were discovered recently near Tarnagulla, and two were found yesterday which were the largest seen in Australia in 40 years.

NEWS IN BRIEF

At a meeting at Boston of the New England Livestock Dealers' association a committee was appointed to obtain, if possible, better railroad facilities for the transportation of cattle and other livestock.

The Vermont board of trustees, which will administer the permanent school fund, amounting to $1,120,000, has organized for business. The permanent school fund is made up of the $240,000 paid the state by the national government for war claims and various other funds which have been united for the use of the schools of the state.

Governor Proctor of Vermont has signed the bill requiring non-resident hunters to pay a license fee of $5 for the privilege of hunting deer in the open season.

A DEATHBED CONFESSION

Clears Up a Murder Mystery of Twelve Years' Standing

Bridgeport, Conn., Dec. 19.—On the authority of Superintendent of Police Birmingham of this city, it is stated that the mystery which has surrounded the murder of James W. Beardsley about 12 years ago has been practically cleared up by a deathbed confession signed by William Mahoney, who states in the confession that he was one of the murderers and at the same time implicates another person, Thomas Kinsella, who is now serving a sentence for burglary in the state prison at Wethersfield. Birmingham states that he has the confession in his safe.

Beardsley, who lived in an old farmhouse on the Trumbull road, was seized by two men who entered the house late one night in December, 1893, and after endeavoring to make the aged man disclose the location of supposed hidden wealth choked him into insensibility and left him for dead. Beardsley lingered for three or four days and succumbed to his injuries on Jan. 1, 1894. Beardsley was a well known philanthropist of this city and the donor of Beardsley park.

Cheaper Telephone Rates Wanted

Boston, Dec. 19.—The first request for a reduction of telephone rates filed with the Massachusetts highway commission, under the recent law placing telephone and telegraph companies under this commission, was made yesterday by persons representing a number of citizens' organizations. The highway commission will advertise a hearing on the petition and will investigate the operating expenses of the New England Telephone and Telegraph company.

Democratic Mayor of North Adams

North Adams, Mass., Dec. 19.—Mayor Ford, the Democratic candidate for re-election, was defeated in the city election by F. B. Stafford, Republican, by a vote of 1694 to 1431. The city will continue in the license column. Five Republican and two Democratic councilmen were elected. Stafford and Ford have each served two terms as mayor, Ford defeating Stafford two years ago.

Thought Man Was a Deer

Millinocket, Me., Dec. 19.—Charles Pillsbury, a lumberman, was arrested for the accidental killing of William J. Lahey, aged 55, in mistake for a deer. Lahey, who was a lumber operator, was shot through the leg and died from loss of blood. Pillsbury was held in $500 for the February term of court on the charge of manslaughter.

Washburn's Walkover

Worcester, Mass., Dec. 19.—Charles G. Washburn, Republican, was elected representative in congress for the Third district to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Rockwood Hoar, receiving 4048 of the 4627 votes cast. Although Washburn was the only nominee, many names were written in and voted for.

Man Killed In Barn Fire

Stamford, Conn., Dec. 19.—While searching the ruins of a burned barn on the property of Clarence Burley in Sound Beach, the charred body of a man was found, burned beyond recognition. The body is believed to have been that of a tramp who went to sleep in the barn.

Found on Engine Pilot

East Greenwich, R. I., Dec. 19.—The body of the man who was struck by an express train and carried to New London on the locomotive pilot is believed to be that of John J. Regan of this town. He was 35 years of age, being employed in the Greenwich bleachery.

Bishop Prosecution Rests

Rockville, Conn., Dec. 19.—The state has rested its case in the trial of Charles H. Bishop, the 18-year-old farmhand, charged with the murder of Mrs. Henry Williams of Tolland. Five days have been consumed by the state in the presentation of its evidence.

Incendiary Sent to Prison

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 19.—Frank M. Early of Lowell was convicted of arson in setting fire to the house of James Nugent in Tewksbury and sentenced to not less than five nor more than seven years in state prison.

Jett Says He Lied

Cynthiana, Ky., Dec. 19.—In the trial of Curtis Jett, charged with the assassination of Town Marshal Cockrill of Jackson, 100 men were examined yesterday for jury service. Nine were accepted. Jett states that he will go on the stand and deny the statement in which he confessed o the murder of J. B. Marcum and Cockrill, saying that he was led to confess because of pressure brought to bear on him by attorneys.

American Protest of No Avail

Tangier, Dec. 19.—Mr. Gummere, the American minister, in protesting to Ben-Mansour, the representative of Bandit Raisuli, against the beating of a native boy by adherents of Raisuli, of which Gummere was an eye-witness, received a most arrogant response. Gummere thereupon retired in order not to exaggerate the incident.

Hoppe Off His Play

New York, Dec. 19.—George Sutton still holds the world's championship at 18.2 balk line billiards, having successfully defended the title against the challenge of Willie Hoppe, who holds the world's championship at 18.1 game. Hoppe did not play up to the standard expected of him.

Oscar's Condition Unchanged

Stockholm, Dec. 19.—King Oscar passed another quiet day and enjoyed some sleep. The latest bulletin says that his condition is unchanged.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

Have you observed that the Daily Ledger is printing this week some up-to-the minute news. In this class, yesterday, it was President Roosevelts message to Congress that day relative to the Japanese. Today, also, we print his message on the Brownsville raid sent to the Senate today.

Inauguration day of the new city government will not come until January 7 this year, the first Monday in 1907. There is an interval of five weeks between election and inauguration.

—A good story is told of a minister who preached a sermon on Methusaleh in a lunatic asylum. When he came to the place in his discourse where he stated that Methusaleh lived to be 900 years old, a man in the audience arose and told him in a very emphatic tone of voice that it was a lie. After the meeting the minister asked the man why he doubted the statement as to Methusaleh's age. "Why," he said, "I ought to know his age; Methusaleh and I went to school together."

—It is said that in his attempt to reach the north pole Commander Peary will go as head of the expedition, but will not be leader of the dash across the ice from the spot where his ship is frozen. The veteran Roosevelt will be used for the second expedition, and Peary will make headquarters on her in the vicinity of Grantland, sending out sledge parties to try to cover the 450 miles between Sheridan and the pole.

—Speaker Cannon Monday announced committee assignments, among which is that of Mr. Weeks of Massachusetts Chairman of the Committee on Expenditures in the State Department.

AMONG THE CLUBS.

Club life is practically suspended until after Christmas, when it will probably be resumed with renewed vigor.

The Junior Friday club held a very pleasant meeting on Monday afternoon with Mrs. Jesse I. Litchfield of Brook street, Wollaston. She had as guests Miss Irene Whitmarsh of Neponset and Mrs. Everett Simmons and Mrs. Hamilton of Wollaston. Mrs. William Whitney was chairman of the afternoon with Ralph Waldo Emerson as the subject. Refreshments were served by the hostess. The next meeting will be on Dec. 31st with Mrs. Whitney and will be in charge of Miss Abigail B. Wood with Margaret Fuller Ossoli, Bronson Alcott and Henry D. Thoreau as subjects.

The date for the regular meeting of the Quincy Women's club falling on Christmas day, the meeting will be omitted. The club officers are much pleased over the little room recently fitted up for their use and are especially indebted to Mrs. Sanborn who loaned a handsome rug, table, desk and chair which makes the room very comfortable.

"An afternoon with Mr. Punch" and Miss Randall was a combination most pleasing to members of the Friday club and the meeting last week Friday was a very happy one.

The Alliance of First church is to have its annual Christmas party for children in the chapel on Saturday afternoon when there will be games, supper, Christmas trees and a good time for the little ones who would not otherwise perhaps have much Christmas cheer.

The Social Science and Literary club of Atlantic met Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Annie L. Thompson of 11 Squantum street.

The Quincy W. C. T. U. met Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. C. W. Guy of Butler road. Owing to the nearness of the Christmas season the meeting was not a large one, but was helpful and interesting.

The Shakespeare club and a few of their friends, numbering twenty-five in all, have purchased tickets for the Marshall Darrach recital that is to be given in Jordan hall early in January.

Mrs. Frank C. Granger of Randolph, a member of Adams Chapter, represented the State Society of the Daughters of the Revolution at the observance of the 10th anniversary of Old South Chapter, D. A. R. at the Old South church, Boston on Monday.

Several members of Adams Chapter attended the reception and tea party given by the State Society of the Daughters of the Revolution on Monday evening at hotel Brunswick, Boston. Mrs. Fitz, state regent, was unable to be present. In the receiving line were Mrs. Granger, Mrs. Wheeler, Mrs. Todd and Mrs. Goss, officers of the society. The reception was followed by a musical program of songs by Mrs. Jeanette Noyes Rice and Miss May Belle G. Dadmun, with Mrs. Edith Noyes Porter and Miss Marion Whiton at the piano. Tea was served and there was music by an orchestra. It was a largely attended party and an unusually pretty affair.

CLUB NOTES.

The Thursday Morning Fortnightly club of Dorchester is to hold a Christmas party tomorrow. Besides a Christmas program the club will as usual give some thought to charity, providing a Christmas basket for a poor family, money for the Gordon house at Fields Corner and will also give a party to children at the Home for Incurables.

The New England Women's club had a fine meeting on Monday at their rooms on Clarendon street, Boston. Prof. Wiener of Harvard, lectured on "The Growth of Russian Liberties." At six the club tea was served and in the evening members read "As You Like It," and there were songs. On Dec. 24t the meeting will be omitted.

Leon H. Vincent spoke on "Lowell as a Critic and Letter Writer," at a recent meeting of the Winchendon Woman's club, which was followed by a social and Japanese tea.

Albert Armstrong's picture play "The Sky Pilot" is to be a New Year's day attraction for the Stoneham club.

Miss Elizabeth Merrill of Dorchester was a guest recently of the Outlook club at Lynn and lectured on "Books of Clay and the Story They Tell."

Miss Anna Barrows, chairman of Household Economics in the State Federation lectured before the Stoneham Woman's club on "The Five Food Principles" recently, illustrating by cooking on several chafing dishes. It was an interesting meeting for club members.

The New England Woman's Press club is holding a Christmas party this afternoon at hotel Vendome, Boston. Nixon Waterman spoke on the "Value of Christmas Cheer" and Mrs. Lulu S. Upham read a Christmas poem. There was appropriate music, decorations and a tea.

Similar in Name.

It is not the Tide-Water Broken Stone Company of Quincy and Boston which has filed a petition in bankruptcy, but the Tide Water Trap Rock Co. located in Connecticut, which is a New Jersey corporation. The Quincy company is a Massachusetts corporation, and owns its property free and clear, with no indebtedness. Its prospects appear to be bright, and will probably become a big industry.

Crotty Not Guilty.

John Crotty who was convicted in the Quincy court for larceny from Michael McGrath and appealed was found not guilty by the Superior court and discharged. This was the case where it was alleged that McGrath had been relieved of his money while returning from the Brockton fair with a party in a hack.

—The South American ethnological expedition, which will spend three years in research work in Peru, under the auspices of the Peabody Museum of Harvard, left Cambridge this week. Dr. W. C. Farrabee, instructor of anthropology at Harvard, will head the expedition. Mrs. Farrabee will accompany her husband.

—Charles M. Floyd, Republican candidate for Governor for New Hampshire, may have received ballots enough for his election by the people. It is claimed, following an inspection of the votes cast, that, through error, many were counted for Jameson that should have been declared for Floyd.

Undigested Food

When any portion of food remains in the stomach and refuses to digest, it causes the torments of indigestion. This undigested food rapidly ferments, irritating the sensitive coating of the stomach, while other parts of the body, particularly the head, suffer in consequence.

So long as this undigested food remains in the stomach, the discomfort continues. A few doses of stop all fermentation, sweeten the contents of the stomach and give natural assistance that relieves the stomach of its burden. The use of Beecham's Pills gradually strengthens the stomach nerves and soon restores them to a normal, healthy condition.

Beecham's Pills positively cure all stomach troubles, while their beneficial effects on the liver and kidneys greatly improve the general health.

Beecham's Pills have been used and recommended by the general public for over fifty years.

DISGRACE TO ARMY

President Justifies Discharge of Negro Infantrymen

THE BROWNSVILLE RAID

Evidence of Deliberate and Cold-Blooded Attack Upon Citizens --Mutiny, Murder and Treason Really Call For Death

Washington, Dec. 19.—President Roosevelt's reply to the senate resolution concerning the discharge of the three companies of the Twenty-fifth infantry was sent to the senate today. It says in part:

In response to senate resolution of Dec. 6 addressed to me, and to the two senate resolutions addressed to him, the secretary of war has, by my direction, submitted to me a report which I herewith send to the senate, together with several documents, including a letter of General Nettleton and memoranda as to precedents for the summary discharge or mustering out of regiments or companies, some or all of the members of which had been guilty of misconduct.

I ordered the discharge of nearly all the members of companies B, C and D of the Twenty-fifth infantry by name, in the exercise of my constitutional power and in pursuance of what, after full consideration, I found to be my constitutional duty as commander-in-chief of the United States army. I am glad to avail myself of the opportunity afforded by these resolutions to lay before the congress the following facts as to the murderous condduct of certain members of the companies in question and as to the conspiracy by which many of the other members of these companies saved the criminals from justice, to the disgrace of the United States uniform.

What the Raiders Did

The attack in Brownsville was made near midnight on Aug. 13. The following facts as to this attack are made clear by Major Blocksom's investigation and have not been, and, in my judgment, can not be, successfully controverted. From 9 to 15 or 20 of the colored soldiers took part in the attack. They leaped over the walls from the barracks and hurried through the town. They shot at whomever they saw moving, and they shot into houses where they saw lights. In some of these houses there were women and children, as the would-be murderers must have known. In one house in which there were two women and five children some 10 shots went through at a height of about 4½ feet above the floor, one putting out the lamp upon the table. The lieutenant of police of the town heard the firing and rode toward it. He met the raiders, who, as he stated, were about 15 colored soldiers. They instantly started firing upon him. He turned and rode off, and they continued firing upon him until they had killed his horse. They shot him in the right arm (it was afterwards amputated above the elbow). A number of shots were also fired at two other policemen. The raiders fired several times into a hotel, some of the shots being aimed at a guest sitting by a window. They shot into a saloon, killing the bartender and wounding another man. At the same time other raiders fired into another house in which women and children were sleeping, two of the shots going through the mosquito bar over the bed in which the mistress of the house and her two children were lying. Several other houses were struck by bullets.

Townspeople Taken by Surprise

The townspeople were completely surprised by the unprovoked and murderous savagery of the attack. The soldiers were the aggressors from start to finish. They met with no substantial resistance, and one and all who took part in that raid stand as deliberate murderers, who did murder one man, who tried to murder others, and who tried to murder women and children. The act was one of horrible atrocity, and so far as I am aware, unparalleled for infamy in the annals of the United States army.

The white officers of the companies were completely taken by surprise, and at first evidently believed that the firing meant that the townspeople were attacking the soldiers. It was not until 2 or 3 o'clock in the morning that any of them became aware of the truth. I have directed a careful investigation into the conduct of the officers, to see if any of them were blameworthy, and I have approved the recommendation of the war department that two be brought before a court martial.

As to the non-commissioned officers and enlisted men, there can be no doubt whatever that many were necessarily privy, after if not before the attack, to the conduct of those who took actual part in this murderous riot. Certainly some and probably all of the non-commissioned officers in charge of quarters who were responsible for the gun-racks and had keys thereto in their personal possession knew what men were engaged in the attack.

Major Penrose, in command of the post, gives the reasons why he was reluctantly convinced that some of the men under him—as he thinks, from 7 to 10—got their rifles, slipped out of quarters to do the shooting, and returned to the barracks without being discovered, the shooting all occurring within two and a half short blocks of the barracks. It was possible for the raiders to go from the fort to the farthest point of firing and return in less than 10 minutes, for the distance did not exceed 350 yards.

The effort to confute this testimony so far has consisted in the assertion or implication that the townspeople shot one another in order to discredit the soldiers—an absurdity too gross to need discussion, and unsupported by a shred of evidence. In short, the evidence proves conclusively that a number of the soldiers engaged in a deliberate and concerted attack, as cold blooded as it was cowardly, the purpose being to terrorize the community, and to kill or injure men, women, and children in their homes and beds or on the streets, and this at an hour of the night when concerted or effective resistance or defense was out of the question, and when detection by identification of the criminals in the United States uniform was well-nigh impossible.

So much for the original crime. A blacker never stained the annals of our army. It has been supplemented by another, only less black, in the shape of a successful conspiracy of silence for the purpose of shielding those who took part in the original conspiracy of murder. These soldiers were not schoolboys on a frolic. They were full-grown men, in the uniform of the United States army, armed with deadly weapons, sworn to uphold the laws of the United States, and under every obligation of oath and honor not merely to refrain from criminality, but with the sturdiest rigor to hunt down criminality; and the crime they committed or connived at was murder. They perverted the power put into their hands to sustain the law into the most deadly violation of the law.

Where the Blame Lies

The non-commissioned officers are primarily responsible for the discipline and good conduct of the men; they are appointed to their positions for the very purpose of preserving this discipline and good conduct, and of detecting and securing the punishment of every enlisted man who does what is wrong. Yet some of the non-commissioned officers and many of the men of the three companies in question have banded together in a conspiracy to protect the assassins and would-be assassins who have disgraced their uniform by the conduct above related.

By my direction every effort was made to persuade those innocent of murder among them to separate themselves from the guilty by helping to bring the criminals to justice. They were warned that if they did not take advantage of the offer they would all be discharged from the service and forbidden again to enter the employ of the government. They refused to profit by the warning. I accordingly had them discharged.

People have spoken as if this discharge from the service was a punishment. I deny emphatically that such is the case, because as punishment it is utterly inadequate. The punishment meet for mutineers and murderers such as those guilty of the Brownsville assault is death; and a punishment only less severe ought to be meted out to those who have aided and abetted mutiny and murder and treason by refusing to help in their detection. I would that it were possible for me to have punished the guilty men. I regret most keenly that I have not been able to do so.

Color Question Cuts No Figure

Any assertion that these men were dealt with harshly because they were colored men is utterly without foundation. Officers or enlisted men, white men or colored men, who were guilty of such conduct, would have been treated in precisely the same way; for there can be nothing more important than for the United States army, in all its membership, to understand that its arms cannot be turned with impunity against peace and order of the civil community. [The president here cites numerous precedents for the action taken by him.]

So much for the military side of the case. But I wish to say something additional, from the standpoint of the race question. In the case of these companies we had to deal with men who in the first place were guilty of what was practically the worst possible form of lynching and who in the second place covered up the crime of lynching by standing with a vicious solidarity to protect the criminals.

It is of the utmost importance to all our people that we shall deal with each man on his merits as a man, and not deal with him merely as a member of a given race; that we shall judge each man by his conduct and not his color. This is important for the white man, and it is far more important for the colored man. More evil and sinister counsel never was given to any people than that given to colored men by those advisors, whether black or white, who, by apology and condonation, encourage conduct such as that of the Throughout my term of service in the presidency I have acted on the principle thus advocated. In the north as in the south I have appointed colored men of high character to office, utterly disregarding the protests of those who would have kept them out of office because they were colored men. So far as was in my power I have sought to secure for the colored people all their rights under the law. I have condemned in unstinted terms the crime of lynching perpetrated by white men, and I should take instant advantage of any opportunity whereby I could bring to justice a mob of lynchers. In precisely the same spirit I have now acted with reference to these colored men who have been guilty of a black and dastardly crime. In one policy, as in the other, I do not claim as a favor, but I challenge as a right, the support of every citizen of this country, whatever his color, provided only he has in him the spirit of genuine and far-sighted patriotism.

Public Interest

IS NOW CENTERED ON

The Pure Food Law.

WE Have Always Maintained that the best that money could buy was always the cheapest in the end, because it is always the bargain hunters that have to pay the DOCTOR, buying as they do IMPURE foods of all kinds, FOODS that are UNFIT for ANY PERSON'S STOMACH, being mixed as they are with different kinds of PRESERVATIVES and SECRET PREPARATIONS to take the place of GOOD PURE FOODS. And some dealers selling these goods at a GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICE over the pure kind, GUARANTEE you NOTHING, but—"Poor Health to You and Your Family," and although you can buy the "just as good kind," you can save nothing as that kind is unhealthy and dangerous to the whole human family. Now our standard is to always sell the best of everything and the steady increase of our business year after year proves to us that we have the right idea, and we know it must be very satisfactory to our many customers to feel that what they buy at our store is ABSOLUTELY PURE and HEALTHFUL and the Food Laws are being strictly enforced by us. Our Goods are all GOVERNMENT INSPECTED and also carefully inspected by us before they are put on sale or sent to your homes, and although you pay perhaps a few cents more to us than some dealers charge, don't you think it is money well spent, considering all things?—YOUR HEALTH, which is the greatest blessing we can have,—think well about this and we know you will agree with us and do your trading where you know the goods can be depended upon to be absolutely Pure.

We have just received our season's pack of choice canned and bottled goods, FRESH and DRIED FRUITS, all kinds of Cereals, Ketchup, Pickles, Jams, Jellies, Prunes, Figs, Nuts, Dates, Table Raisins, Citron, Lemon and Orange Peel, Olives, Sardines,—in fact everything for your tastes and fancies. All the leading brands of FLOUR. Fancy New Orleans Molasses.

OUR MARKET is complete, AND REMEMBER, we sell nothing that has been doctored or filled with Preservatives to keep it. ABSOLUTELY NOTHING but Carefully Selected Meats are on sale at OUR STORE. Stamped with the Government Inspection Stamp, that insures to you and to us the point of perfection, which we are always striving to reach for the benefit of our trade.

We will have a grand display of that great National Bird, THE TURKEY, the same VERMONT KIND we have always sold you,—Chicken, Fowl and Duck, direct from WILLIAM R. DRAKE of Braintree, and he knows how to dress them so as to please the eye as well as the palate. They don't grow nicer than he has. Fruit and vegetables in abundance, and don't forget our famous LA TOURAINE COFFEE, no dinner complete without it.

Yours Respectfully,

Miss Stone Denies Knowledge of the Hathaway Murder

MRS SNOW ON THE STAND

Repeats Charge Against Former Husband and Says She Told State Police Many Years Ago --Affidavit Being Kept Secret

Salem, Mass., Dec. 19.—In a calm, even, well-modulated voice, without the slightest tremor, Miss Carrie G. Stone, the beneficiary under the will of the late William H. Graves, whose children are seeknig to break it, repeated to the jurymen in the superior court, in answer to questions from her counsel that she knew absolutely nothing about the murder of William H. Hathaway, which occurred in Marblehead 25 years ago, and furthermore did not know that her benefactor, Graves, had ever been suspected of the crime until he was getting divorced from his wife. The charge had been made by Mrs. Ebenezer Snow, mother of the contestants, who was Graves' first wife.

Miss Stone was under examination about an hour. After a severe cross-examination by Attorney O'Brien, in which she told of her love for Graves after his divorce, she was excused and the remainder of the day sat in the law library, shielded from the gaze of the curious.

On the witness stand yesterday Mrs. Snow repeated her charge against her former husband. When asked why she had not made the charge before, she stated that she told Chief of the State Police Shaw in 1884; he was then a district inspector. She further testified that as a result of the investigation by the state officers nothing was done to her husband.

At the conclusion of Mrs. Snow's testimony James H. Sisk began his opening address in behalf of Miss Stone. Sisk said that Graves might have had his faults, but that it was not the time to bring up such a flimsy charge against him when both he and his father were dead. It was ridiculous to think that Miss Stone should have known anything about Graves being involved in a crime, for if she had she must have known that she was equally in peril.

When interviewed on the allegations of Mrs. Snow, Chief Shaw admitted that he has possession of an affidavit made some years ago by Mrs. Graves of Marblehead, in which she swore that during a conversation with her husband he admitted that he had been a party to the murder of William F. Hathaway in that town.

Chief Shaw then stated that the law does not permit a wife to testify against the husband, or vice versa, so the affidavit could not be used as the basis of a criminal prosecution and no warrant was ever issued on the strength of it. The affidavit is being kept secret in case District Attorney Peters decides to investigate the case and should want it.

Blockhouses Were Abused

Havana, Dec. 19.—In consequence of the countryfolk using the abandoned blockhouses, erected for the defense of Havana in the late insurrection, as dwellings and barns, and often destroying them in order to obtain building material, Governor Magoon has ordered Commander Rodriguez of the rural guards to take charge of all blockhouses and preserve them as government property.

Barnett Thinks He Was Cheated

Chicago, Dec. 19.—Ferdinand L. Barnett, a negro, who was the only Republican candidate defeated in the recent election of municipal court judges, has filed a petition in the county court in which he asks a recount of the votes. The petition recites that Barnett was duly elected to the office, but that he was fraudulently counted out by the election judges.

Jewish Burdens Removed

St. Petersburg, Dec. 19.—Emperor Nicholas has approved the bill removing the disabilities of Jews. By the bill Jews are permitted to live in the country as well as in the cities within the pale and certain restrictions placed on Jewish merchants and artisans in cities outside the pale are removed.

Met Death by Drowning

New York, Dec. 19.—John J. Hammer, the merchant whose body was found in the bay off Staten Island, came to his death by drowning, according to a statement made by the coroner's physician, who performed the autopsy. He states that there were no indications of foul play.

Failure of Railway Strike

Portland, Ore., Dec. 19.—To all appearances the strike of the motormen and conductors inaugurated here Saturday has proved a failure. Cars are running on every line, with no show of interference.

Great Destitution In China

Shanghai, Dec. 19.—The famine in Kiangsu is growing worse. According to reliable reports received here, 500,000 destitute persons are encamped at Trinkiansu.

THE
Young Men's Christian Association
OF QUINCY, MASS.
(Legal Title – Incorporated 1892.)

The Directors of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.

Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.

The Treasurer, WILLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, ERNEST G. GAY, will be happy to answer inquiries.

OUR HOSPITAL
(Legal Title: City Hospital of Quincy)
INCORPORATED 1889

The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earnestly appeal for donations and bequests for the Endowment fund. This now amounts to over $60,000, but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed.

Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need, will be most gratefully received.

The Secretary, TIMOTHY REED, Adams St., Quincy, or the Treasurer, RICHARD D. CHASE, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad to confer with any one or to answer any inquiries.

Bowser Near Death's Door

Has a Toothache, and It Is Laid to His Wife as a Matter of Course.

DOCTOR COMES IN HASTE

When He Finds Out What the Trouble Is, He Calls Patient Biggest Jackass In America.

[Copyright, 1906, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.]

AT 3 o'clock the other afternoon Mrs. Bowser was given a start to see Mr. Bowser come walking into the house. She went down the hall to meet him and ask if anything was wrong, but he passed her without a word and entered the sitting room and threw himself down on the lounge with a groan.

"Will you tell what on earth is the matter with you?" she demanded as she followed and bent over him. "Have you lost all your money? Are you ill? Is there any bad news from mother?"

"It's—it's the toothache," he muttered after a minute.

"Oh, is that all?" she said as she heaved a sigh of relief and mentally thanked heaven. "I didn't know"—

"Is that all!" he shouted as he sat up with a wild look on his face. "You are probably disappointed because I was not brought home dead. I shall soon be a corpse, however. I have been in mortal agony ever since I left the house this morning. How I ever managed to get home I can't say. I tried to get the ambulance, but couldn't."

"SHUT YOUR EYES AND TRY TO GO TO SLEEP."

Mrs. Bowser recalled three different occasions within the year when she had suffered with toothache and when he had called her a booby for even mentioning it. He had said that no one ever had toothache except from gross carelessness and that he was glad to see her hopping around. She didn't call these things up, however. On the contrary, she called him poor fellow and expressed her sympathy and started away to make a mustard poultice for his cheek. Her time was occupied for the next ten minutes, and during this interval Mr. Bowser groaned 100 groans, being ten groans to the minute, or one every six seconds.

He ejaculated "Oh, my soul!" twenty times, being one every thirty seconds.

He called to Mrs. Bowser five times, being one call for every two minutes.

Tried a Poultice.

"Now, then," said Mrs. Bowser as she returned with the poultice and tied it fast to his cheek, "this ought to draw the pain out in a few minutes. Why didn't you come home sooner?"

"Can a man in the agonies of death and squirming around on the floor stop the performance and come home?" he demanded.

"You poor, poor man! Was it as bad as that? How I pity you! The pain will soon be gone, however. Shut your eyes and try to go to sleep."

Mr. Bowser shut his eyes for one minute.

Then he opened them.

Then he glared across the room at the family cat, which was trying to look homeless and mournful.

Then his lip trembled as he thought of being buried under a willow tree and the snow lying heaped on his grave and Mrs. Bowser being at a variety show in her widow's weeds.

"Are you better, dear?" she asked in a whisper as she smoothed his marble brow.

"Better! Can a dying man be better? Can't you see that I haven't half an hour to live?"

The cat deliberately winked at Mrs. Bowser and then turned his head away, and he will never know whether the wink was returned or not.

Then Mr. Bowser found the poultice too hot.

Then he found it too cold.

Then he sat up and groaned.

Then he lay down and groaned.

"I think I will heat some whisky and have you hold it in your mouth," suggested Mrs. Bowser. And she departed to fulfill her errand. She hurried as fast as she could, but it took her seven minutes by the clock.

During this interval Mr. Bowser kicked with his right leg ten times, then with his left leg eight times. He groaned five distinct and awful groans. He sighed six sighs that could have been heard at the front door by any one looking for umbrellas to mend.

Returned With Whisky.

"This ought to stop the ache in a minute or two," said Mrs. Bowser as she returned with the steaming whisky and held it to his lips.

Mr. Bowser got a mouthful and lay down and closed his eyes. He kept them closed so long that she began to wonder if his soul had taken its flight, but there was no occasion for a scare. Mr. Bowser was only thinking.

He was thinking of how he had deliberately sat in a draft for half an hour the day previous, but how he would lay all his pain and suffering to Mrs. Bowser.

He would say that it was his getting up in the night at her instance to see if burglars were in the house.

He would charge her with a deliberate intent to wipe him off the face of the earth and benefit by his life insurance.

She hadn't exactly tried to poison him, but from thence on he would address her as Lucrezia Borgia.

He was thinking up other schemes to get even when some of the whisky treacherously trickled down his throat and choked him and brought a cough and a splutter. Then he sat up and choked and gasped and gurgled and got red in the face, and all that Mrs. Bowser could say to soothe him was:

"Dear, I am really afraid that you will have to have that tooth out."

"The doctor!" he shouted as he motioned to the telephone.

"But the doctor can't help you."

He rolled off the lounge on the floor and scrambled up and went to the telephone and called up central. Central replied that he must wait a minute.

"Not a second," he replied. "This is a case of life or death."

At the end of two minutes he got the doctor's office to find that the doctor was out.

"What in thunder is he out for?" he demanded of the doctor's wife.

"He has gone to a sick lady."

Scored the Doctor.

"He had no business to. The woman has no business to be sick. You tell him that there is a dying man here and that he wants to get around without the loss of another minute."

"But it's only the toothache," protested Mrs. Bowser, "and if you would let me try a bag of hot ashes"—

"Only the toothache!" howled Mr. Bowser as he jumped up and down. "Only! Only! Great heavens, hear the woman talk!"

"Will you let me look at the tooth?" she asked as he climbed back on the lounge. "If it is hollow I can put some cotton in."

No reply.

"If it's a loose tooth it should be drawn. You can't suffer this way, you know."

Awful silence, broken at last by a chuckle from the cat as he crawled under the piano.

Then groans from Mr. Bowser to show that the end was near.

Then more groans, tapering off into mournful sighs to show that he hated to leave this world just as the price of ice was becoming cheaper.

Mrs. Bowser was about to prepare the bag of hot ashes, whether or no, when the family doctor came driving up on the gallop. The door was no sooner opened to him than he rushed in and up to Mr. Bowser and asked what was the matter.

Mr. Bowser opened his mouth and pointed and groaned. The doctor bent down, inserted his finger and thumb and three seconds later held up a tooth and exclaimed:

"You could have pulled it out yourself! Bowser, you are the biggest jackass in America." M. QUAD.

Nerve.

"Yes," said the warden, "he was the coolest and most thoughtful convict who ever broke jail."

"You don't say!" exclaimed the visitor.

"Yes. He left behind him a note to the governor of the state beginning, 'I hope you will pardon me for the liberty I'm taking.'"—Catholic Standard and Times.

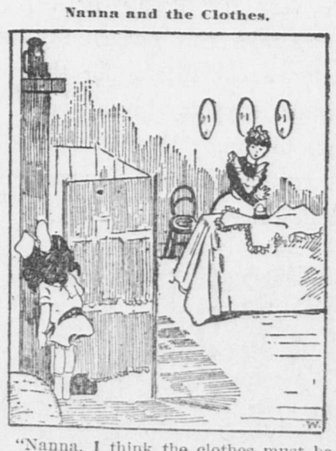

What Was Wanted.

With hisses and groans the audience greeted the crucial scene of the new drama. All hope then was at an end.

"It's hard to tell just what the public wants," murmured the heartbroken playwright.

"It's easy enough to tell in this case," said the manager grimly. "It wants its money back."—New York Press.

2. For wooden buildings other than dwellings or for dwelling houses more than three stories in height the above wall shall be increased 4 inches in thickness.

3. Rubble stone walls shall be bonded by headers through the wall every two feet in each direction.

SECTION 28.—UNDERPINNINGS.

1. All brick underpinnings shall be at least 8 inches thick, and all brick underpinnings averaging over three feet high shall be not less than 12 inches thick, and under buildings three or more stories in height shall be not less than 12 inches thick their entire height.

2. All brick work exposed to frost shall be constructed with hard burned brick.

3. Any foundation for any dwelling built on other than gravelly or porous soil, shall be underlaid with suitable trench stone to the depth of 12 inches and 4 inches wider than the wall, with outlet that will drain the same unless said cellar shall be constructed water-tight.

SECTION 29.—BUILDINGS ON PIERS, ETC.

1. Buildings that do not rest on foundation walls of piling shall be supported on brick or concrete piers of hard burned brick, concrete or stone; piers shall not be less than 8 x 10 inches, with a footing not less than 6 inches larger than the area of the pier on all sides, of brick, stone or concrete, 12 inches thick; all footings of piers shall be started three feet below the surface of the ground, and all piers and footings, unless of stone, shall be solidly laid in one-third cement mortar.

2. Dwellings shall be supported in cellars and basements by iron columns on proper footings, stone, concrete or brick piers. When iron columns or stone are used they shall have footings of stone 16 x 16 inches and if brick or cement piers, footings of stone 4 inches larger all round.

3. Brick or concrete pier in cellar under girders shall not be less than 8 x 12 and over 8 feet high shall be 12 x 12.

4. Porches and piazzas shall be supported in a manner approved by the Inspector.

5. These dwellings may be supported in cellar by red cedar or chestnut posts when the same is approved by the Inspector.

SECTION 30.—PARTITION WALLS, ETC.

1. In the erection of wooden buildings in blocks of two houses, if more than two stories high, or in two-story houses if in blocks of more than two houses, to be occupied for dwelling purposes they shall be divided in the basement by a brick party wall not less than 8 inches thick to top of first floor, or by a 4-inch brick wall, built in between piers not less than 12 inches square, the piers not to be more than 8 feet apart. The division partitions above such walls shall be filled in with brick between the studding and floor joists up to the roof boards.

2. Lodging, tenement or apartment houses in excess of 35 feet in width, on the line of the street shall be divided in the basement as specified in paragraph 1 of this section, and shall have partition walls filled in with brick.

3. Said walls shall be located along one side of front and rear stairways, or, if double rear stairways are erected, it shall separate them; it shall separate the light shafts and extend entirely through the building from front to rear and up to roof boards.

4. All the wooden partitions about the stairways shall be filled in between the studding and floor joists with brick.

5. Spaces between floor joists resting on sills, girders and main partitions, shall be filled with brick.

6. Fire stops shall be cut in between studding on top of under floor in each story and under ledgers, of the same size as studding, and shall have fire stops of sheet iron, tin or masonry around chimneys on each floor.

7. Sills and caps of cross partitions shall be of the same size as studding, and all outside walls shall be plastered down to under floors.

8. The openings at the floors, whether caused by ledgers or floor joists projecting above sills or girders, shall be stopped by pieces cut in tight; in dwellings where floor joists are supported on ledger planks that portion of the outside wall below the ledger forming a part of the basement walls, there shall be stops two inches thick cut in on top of floor between studding.

SECTION 31.—SILLS, POSTS, ETC.

All wooden buildings and their projections over one story in height, used as dwellings, stores, stables, or for manufacturing purposes, shall have sills not less than 6 x 6 inches, and if over one story and a half high, girths and post not less than 4 x 6 inches, and if three stories high posts 4 x 8 inches shall be used; posts, girths and sills mortised and tenoned and pinned together, and wherever ledgers are used in dwellings there shall be fire stops cut in tight, of same size as wall studs.

SECTION 32.—RAFTERS AND PLATES.

1. All dwellings over one story in height shall have plates not less than 4 x 4 inches, or its equivalent, and if over 16 feet in width shall have rafters not less than 2 x 6 inches, set not more than 24 inches on centres.

2. No studding for any part of the outside walls of any building over one story in height shall be less than 2 x 4 inches.

SECTION 33.—GIRDERS, HEADERS, TRIMMERS, ETC.

1. There shall be girders not less than 6 x 8 inches under main partitions, and summers or floor joists doubled or their equivalent, under all cross partitions, in the first floor of all dwellings.

2. Headers and trimmers of all openings over 4 feet in length in first floor of dwellings shall be floor joist doubled or their equivalent, and in any other floor if deemed necessary by the Inspector.

3. TRUSSES, ETC. All self-supporting walls or partitions above the first floor in any building carrying floor, shall be trussed in a manner approved by the Inspector.

4. Beams carrying main partitions in first floor shall be supported on piers or posts not more than 8 feet apart. Trimmers in first floor over 12 feet in length shall be supported by a pier or post, or partition above shall be trussed.

5. All buildings shall be braced in each story, and in cross partitions if deemed necessary by the Inspector.

SECTION 34.—CHIMNEYS, ETC.

1. All chimneys shall be constructed of brick, or other fire proof non-conducting materials.

2. All brick chimneys shall be topped out with hard bricks and shall extend 4 feet above the roof at the highest point through which it passes, and where they pass through floors they shall be kept one inch from any wood-work.

3. All brick-work smoke flues, within the limit of fire district No. 1, less than 8 inches thick shall be lined with flue lining from 2 feet below any wood-work in basement, to not less than 1 foot above the roof, the balance of flue above this lining to be smoothly plastered.

4. All brick vent flues shall be smoothly plastered or cement washed on the inside.

Hot-air pipes same as Section 14.

Steam-pipes same as Section 15.

SECTION 35.—BUILDINGS SEPARATED BY BRICK WALLS, ETC.

1. A wooden building to be used as a dwelling, tenement, lodging house or hotel, shall not exceed a height of 45 feet. The external walls of any wooden building shall not be placed at a less distance than 2 feet 6 inches from the line of the lot upon which the building is to be located, unless a brick external wall is substituted for the wooden wall, and of a thickness prescribed for the erection of external walls in brick buildings. Such walls shall be built 24 inches above roof boarding at every part of the roof and shall be covered with metal; but where these walls extend 3 feet above adjoining buildings, parapet walls may be omitted.

2. There shall be a space of 3 ft., 6 in. between wooden buildings already erected and those that shall be built upon adjoining lots, unless a brick external wall separates them, as prescribed in Article 1 of this section.

3. There shall be a space of 3 ft., 6 in. between wooden buildings already erected upon a lot and any wooden building over one story high that shall afterwards be built or moved upon the same lot. If there is to be a less space between them they shall be separated by a brick wall at least 8 inches thick. There shall be a space of 3 ft., 6 in. between any wooden building or buildings, over one story high, already erected upon a lot, and any wooden building that shall afterward be erected upon or moved upon the same lot. If there is to be less space between they shall be separated by a brick wall at least 8 inches thick.

SECTION 36.—STAIRCASES AND SCUTTLES.

1. All buildings, if over three stories in height, used for tenement purposes, shall have a staircase from street level to roof, with a scuttle to roof, for at least every three families occupying the building, or front and rear staircases not opening into the same corridor, or shall be provided with suitable fire-escapes. The Inspector may require that proper fire-stops shall be provided in floors, walls and partitions of such buildings and make such further requirements as may be necessary or proper to prevent the spread of fire therein, or its communication from any steam boiler or shop or heating apparatus.

2. All buildings for factory purposes shall have a simple staircase and scuttle if more than ten operatives are employed above the second floor, and suitable fire-escapes shall be provided.

SECTION 37.—BAY WINDOWS AND BALCONIES.

No bay window, balcony or other projection shall be built upon the front wall of any building so as to project over the line of the street.

SECTION 38.—BUILDINGS NOT SPECIFIED.

All buildings hereafter to be erected of a description not specified in this ordinance shall be constructed in a manner that shall be satisfactory to the Inspector.

SECTION 39.—ASH DEPOSITORIES.

1. Depositories for ashes in the interior of any building shall be constructed of incombustible materials, so as to entirely enclose their contents.

2. Ash shoots, if inside of a building shall be made of hard brick; if erected outside the building, they shall be constructed of galvanized iron, such pipe to be kept 2 inches away from all wood work.

SECTION 40.—RELIEF FROM ORDINANCE.

Any person applying for a building permit who desires to be relieved from the operation of any of the provisions of this Ordinance, may make application in writing to the Inspector of Buildings, specifying in detail what exceptions are desired and the reasons therefor. Said applications with the written explanations, specifications, maps, etc., relating thereto shall be submitted by the Inspector of Buildings, to the Mayor, Commissioner of Public Works and Chief Engineer of the Fire Department and if unanimously approved by them said application shall be granted by the Inspector of Buildings. If disapproved by any one of the above named officials then the application with the dissenting official's reasons shall be submitted to the City Council which body by vote of two-thirds of its members present and voting shall approve or disapprove the application.

SECTION 41.—PENALTY.

Whoever violates any of the provisions of this Ordinance shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars ($100.)

To Vacate Woodward Today

Work on the High school is now progressing favorably, and there is no question but on the opening of the winter term Wednesday, Jan. 2, fully fifteen rooms in the old part will be used for school purposes. These rooms are now practically finished and a good part of the furnishings have arrived at the building.

The plasterers are all through and heat is being kept in the building night and day, so that every particle of dampness will be absorbed by the time the rooms are occupied.

Sub-contractor Thomas is working as many men as possible, and the interior finish is arriving as fast as he desires it.

The finish in many of the rooms in the new part is already completed ready for the painters.

The flooring in part of the corridors is down, and it now seems as though the delays were over.

Without doubt the whole building will be ready by the first or February, except possibly the assembly hall.

During the Christmas vacation the rooms in the old part will be put in readiness, so that the use of the Woodward building will be unnecessary after today.

—Mrs. Cassie Chadwick is going South for her health, notwithstanding the fact that she is now in the Columbus, O., Penitentiary. Mrs. Chadwick has complained to the United States authorities concerning ill treatment, and Inspector sent to the prison have recommended her removal to Atlanta, Ga.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. Salaries of Firemen Is Equalized

The order passed by the City Council on Monday night, amending the Fire Department ordinance relative to salaries paid the permanent men, places all of the men on a permanent basis. When the department was first made permanent the apparatus at the Central stations answered every alarm. No matter from what part of the city the alarm came this apparatus responded, often leaving City Square without protection.

For this reason the men at the Central station received a larger weekly salary than those in the out district. This often proved a detriment for the Chief could not move the men about from station to station as he might desire.

Under Chief Litchfield the running card has been changed, so that the Central Station does not respond to ever box on the first alarm, which often meant a long run for nothing. Under the present rules, Wollaston, Atlantic and Houghs Neck are supposed to take care of the first alarm from their district, except Houghs Neck to which a relief hose wagon is sent. This has proved a wise change although it complicated the matter of shifting the men

Under the ordinance as amended all permanent men, outside of the captain, lieutenant and superintendent of fire alarms, receive the same salary.

Now if the Chief says, if the good of the service demands a shift of the men he can readily do so.

"THE ARABIAN NIGHTS."

Sir Richard Burton's Translation of the Tales.

"The Arabian Nights" was first introduced to Europe by a Frenchman named Galland, and the first English versions were simply translations of his. Then a Dr. Scott gave a very superior edition, "occasionally corrected from the Arabic." In 1839, however, appeared an English translation entirely from the Arabic, with copious notes and illustrations. It was Edward William Lane's, a gentleman whose long residence in Egypt had fully qualified him for his work. This translation may be said to have held the field until the appearance of one by Sir Richard Burton. Sir Richard was a daring and successful traveler, who had a remarkable facility in acquiring eastern languages. He performed a pilgrimage to Mecca disguised as a pilgrim, a feat as difficult as it was daring. In 1872 he was appointed to the post of British consul at Triest. Here he applied his knowledge of Arabic to making a faithful translation of "The Arabian Nights Entertainments," supplementing his work with copious notes and terminal essays which have been called a mine of curious and diverting information. Its publication caused a great sensation. Details were freely given that had previously been suppressed. But the accuracy of the translation as a whole was candidly acknowledged, and Burton may be credited with having made into the English language the finest translation of these wonderful Arabian tales.—London Answers.

Saved by a Cipher.

The story is told of how a neatly constructed cipher saved Sir John Trevanion's life. This cavalier was taken prisoner and locked up in Colchester castle to await his execution. On the second day of his confinement the jailer brought him a letter, which, as far as the warder of the castle could discover was merely a note of condolence from a friend. But the letter had been concocted on a cipher to which Sir John had a clew. Every third letter after a punctuation mark of any kind was to tell. What he made out was this: "Panel at east end of chapel slides." On the following evening the prisoner begged permission to pass a quiet hour in prayer in the chapel. The request was granted, and before the hour had passed the panel had done its work and the bird had flown.

NEW HIGH

All the Pupils Ordered to Report There On January 2

The children are now enjoying the Christmas holidays, the public schools having closed Wednesday until Wednesday, Jan. 2. But few tears were shed when the High school pupils vacated the Woodward Institute, and none at all when they said good byes at the building on High School avenue, which a score of years ago was discarded.

It was good news when Headmaster Harper ordered all of the pupils, nearly 700, to report at the new building on Wednesday, Jan. 2, 1907, at 8.15 A. M. Even now there is some doubt about any part of the new building being ready, for the pupils were told to read the Daily Ledger of Monday, Dec. 31, for it might be necessary to make a special announcement.

It will be the first time since 1899 that all the High school pupils of the city have met for study under one roof. At first, one or two rooms were occupied by classes outside the building; then the "Old High" was reopened and used largely by the business classes. Even then the High school was so crowded that closets, corridors and the master's office were used for recitations. The situation for four or five years has been awful and a great drawback to the school.

During all this time Headmaster Harper has been optimistic and cheerful, and has made the best of the situation. Seemingly, he has under very trying circumstances kept the school up to a high standard, and its graduates have entered colleges with credit. But the pupils have been without the conveniences and helps which pupils in other city High schools have enjoyed, and to which they are entitled.

Since the summer vacation they have had no study hall, no singing, no drawing, and only about 90 minutes per day for recitations. In the new building when completed they will have an assembly hall large enough for all pupils; a gymnasium, rooms for manual training, Sloyd, etc., and new advantages almost innumerable.

Many have been graduated without these benefits, but the Daily Ledger hopes the class of 1907 may enjoy some before next June, and that other classes will reap the full benefit. A Happy New Year to the High school pupils and to the teachers!

Each Side Gains a Point

The board of arbitration consisting of Francis H. Dewey, Dennis D. Driscoll and Josiah Quincy, to whom was referred questions in dispute between the Boston & Northern and Old Colony street railways, and their employes rendered their decision on Wednesday.

The questions submitted were for an interpretation of the clause that men shall work ten hours per day within twelve consecutive hours, the board finds that it was intended to establish an absolute limit, subject only to the exception of extreme cases. The contention of the men, that the minimum is ten hours per day, is therefore not upheld.

The second question was in regard to the five percent increase over the present wages paid to pitmen, car cleaners, track repair men and track oilers, shall apply to new men lined by the company subsequent to the date of these contracts.

The contention of the men that it should apply to men hereafter employed is upheld.

By these decisions both sides gain a point.

Norfolk County Probate County

The following business was transacted at the session of probate court for Norfolk county at Dedham on Wednesday before Judge Flint.

Wills Allowed,—Of Susan P. Savory of Sharon; Charles H. Guild of Walpole; Marth S. Jackins of Quincy; Roswell D. Gordon of Sharon; Mary A. P. Smith of Los Angeles, Cal.; John B. Price of Wollaston.

Accounts were allowed on estate of Mary Hemenway of Milton for $952,-481.96; Clarissa P. Howe of Weymouth for $6,294.61; J. Lewis Crump of Quincy for $107.50.

Boys' Orchestra

One of the newest features of the Boys' department of the Young Men's Christian Association is a boys' orchestra. This was started Wednesday with James Costello, cornet player, as leader. Other instruments and players are, Brandt Luptan and E. Lee Brooks, 1st violin; Albion Bonney and Everett Rhoades, 2d violin; Simon C. Berry, cello. These players give promise of an excellent orchestra for the future.

TODAY'S COURT.

Charles Williams and Oscar Williams were arraigned on three complaints each, viz: interfering with lobster traps, having short lobsters, and assault. Cases continued until Dec. 28.

HOUGHS NECK

Needs Police Protection As Much as Does Wollaston

Editors of the Quincy Ledger:

In your issue of Monday night some one suggests taking the police officer from Houghs Neck and sending him to Atlantic. The reason given for so doing is the fact that the officer has made but few arrests. If "few arrests" is the reason held up why he should be removed from his regular district, why not take the officer from Wollaston, who has made but one arrest in three years, and that was an unfortunate drunk who fell off the car.

Some people seem to have the impression that officers are for the sole purpose of making arrests, when in reality they are for the purpose of preventing crime. No sane person will deny the fact that Houghs Neck requires a great deal more protection than Wollaston or Atlantic because not less than 400 cottages are idle during the winter months and offer a great inducement to thieves.

Last winter after the officer was withdrawn from Houghs Neck scores of houses were broken into, the plumbing destroyed, lead pipe removed and everything of value stolen. Nothing of the kind occurred this winter which speak for itself whether or no Houghs Neck should have police protection. Houghs Neck does not begrudge police protection for Atlantic, but it does object to having its officer withdrawn at the most critical period of the year.

If "few arrests" is to be used as an argument why not take the fire department away because no serious fires have occurred since the establishment of the department. No one in their same moment will deny the necessity of fire department.

All of the police officers we have had at Houghs Neck have been as painstaking and efficient in their work as it is possible for men to be. It is hinted in your issue that arrests have been made by officers sent down for that purpose.

It is a well known fact that the cases alluded to are liquor cases, and it would be an impossibility for one officer alone to make a search of the liquor nuisance.

It is not showing the proper spirit towards Houghs Neck to ask to have its only officer removed especially in the winter time. That district pays practically one fifth of the total taxes of the City of Quincy, and it asks for little. That little is reasonable protection.

BOILER EXPLODED

Mississippi River Steamer Blown Almost to Atoms

SEVERAL LIVES ARE LOST

About Half of Crew and Passenger List Are Missing--Engineer Was About to Investigate Leak When Disaster Came

Vicksburg, Miss., Dec. 20.—One of the worst accidents in recent history of the Mississippi river occurred when the steamer W. T. Scovel was destroyed by an explosion. It is impossible to ascertain the exact number of the dead and injured, but officers of the boat who arrived here state that no less than 10 nor more than 16 were killed. It is believed an equal number were injured. Among the dead are John Quackenboss, master of the steamer.

The number of dead and injured negroes cannot be stated at this time, but of a crew and passenger list of about 40, about half are missing.

The accident occurred at Gold Dust landing, about 17 miles south of Vicksburg. The Scovel was at the landing taking on freight when suddenly a terrific explosion occurred and the boat was blown almost to atoms.

Many of the timbers of the vessel were thrown hundreds of yards. The pilothouse and front part of the cabin were blown to splinters and the boat began to sink immediately. Her cargo of 1000 sacks of cottonseed and 50 bales of cotton will be lost. Pending the arrival of the Senator Cordell the injured were cared for at Gold Dust landing as well as possible.

Of the white dead only the body of Lavell Yerger has been recovered. Captain Quackenboss was not seen after the accident. Pilot Dougherty was blown several hundred feet out into the river, but despite a dislocated shoulder managed to swim to the bank.

The story of the accident as told by Engineer Bruce of the boat is as follows:

"We were lying at Gold Dust landing, taking on the cargo, when I noticed a small quantity of water coming through the boiler. I proceeded to make an examination. About this time the Scovel broke her headlines and drifted, so that I did not have time to make a thorough examination. As soon as I got her back to the bank I crawled on top of the boiler and proceeded with the investigation. I had just got down from the boiler when the explosion occurred." Bruce was not injured.

It is said the accident was caused by a defective boiler plate.

When the Cordell arrived at this city late last night a crowd of several hundred people met her at the dock. Owing to the heavy loss among the negroes aboard, the landing was crowded with women and children of that race. The injured were taken to the Vicksburg hospitals.

Captain Quackenboss was one of the oldest and best known residents of this city and was known to every man on the river. The steamer Scovel was insured for $6000.

A Hard-Hearted Boy Murderer

Chicago, Dec. 20.—Robert Gordon, 15 years of age, was sentenced to the reformatory for life after pleading guilty to the charge of murdering Joseph Reed, 8 years old. Gordon had pulled Reed under a sidewalk, pounded him on the head with a brick until he was unconscious and then dug a hole in the earth in which he placed Reed. Gordon then heaped the earth over Reed and allowed him to suffocate. Gordon showed no emotion either when he entered his plea of guilty or when he was sentenced.

Raid on "Black Hand" Suspects

New York, Dec. 20.—With the idea of discouraging the "Black Hand" and kindred orgnizations in this city, the police last night arrested 14 Italians on charges of carrying concealed weapons. Following a number of assassinations, bomb explosions and kidnapping cases in the past few weeks, is the disappearance of Pacqualo Carlone, a well-to-do restaurant keeper. The police believe he was the victim of the "Black Hand."

Killed and Thrown Into River

Dover, Del., Dec. 20.—Mary A. Betts was found murdered in the Murderkill river near Milford. The woman had been missing from her home for five weeks. The woman's neck had been broken, one leg fractured and her hands tied across her breast. An underskirt in which she had sewed a small sum of money before she left home was missing and the officials decided that she had been murdered.

Great Test of Submarines

Newport, R. I., Dec. 20.—Competitive tests of submarine torpedo boats will begin in Narragansett bay on Feb. 18 next year, according to an announcement made here. For these tests congress at its last session appropriated $1,000,000. It is expected that the tests will be the most exhaustive ever made of submarine torpedo boats.

The Roosevelt Passes Cape Cod

Chatham, Mass., Dec. 20.—The Peary Arctic steamer Roosevelt, from Sydney, C. B., for New York, passed here and asked to be reported. The steamer was proceeding at a fair rate of speed, and there was nothing about her appearance to indicate that she had experienced any difficulty on her voyage down the coast.

BOSTON INDICTMENTS

District Attorney Gets After Officials Employed by the City

Boston, Dec. 20.—Seven indictments, two of which were almost immediately made public in the arrests and arraignment of Matthew Cummings, national president of the Ancient Order of Hibernians and superintendent of the Boston street cleaning department, and James P. Timilty, formerly foreman of the city's paving division, were returned after an extra session of the Suffolk county grand jury. The five remaining indictments will not be made public until after the accused parties are notified and given an opportunity to appear in court.

Cummings is charged with having intimidated and coerced voters in the Sixth Suffolk senatorial district into voting at the Democratic caucuses for the state election for Edward W. Dixon, a candidate for the senate and strongly supported by Mayor Fitzgerald. The charges were brought to the attention of the district attorney and the grand jury by Daniel J. Kiley, who was the defeated candidate.

Timilty is charged with violation of the civil service law in employing William Craven, under the name of Patrick Craven, in the paving department of the city for three years after Patrick Craven had died.

Cummings and Timilty were served with grand jury warrants and arraigned before Judge Sherman in the superior criminal court, who permitted their being released on $100 bail.

Objects to Christmas Adjournment

Washington, Dec. 20.—In the house, Representative Lacey (Ia.) took a pronounced position in opposition to the adjournment of congress for the Christmas holidays, declaring that "it is idiotic for the house to adjourn and then jam all legislation through under whip and spur during the closing days." The expression was called out in connection with the discussion of a resolution looking to an increase of the enrolling force of the house. Mr. Clark (Mo.) declared that "the statement made by Major Lacey about the idiocy of adjourning for the holidays is the most sensible thing he has said for the past 12 years."

Gobbled by Standard Oil

New York, Dec. 20.—Testifying in the suit brought by the state of Missouri against the Standard Oil company, the Waters-Pierce Oil company and the Republic Oil company, to stop them from doing business in Missouri, President Nichols of the Republic declared that as a result of the disclosures made in the proceedings the usefulness of his company as a supposed competitor of the Standard Oil had ended. The entire business of the company outside of Missouri, he said, had been turned over to the Standard Oil company of New Jersey.

Strike Unless Advance Is Granted

New York, Dec. 20.—Fourth Vice President Murdoch of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen has issued an ultimatum to all of the railroads centering at New York, with the exception of the New York Central and the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroads, that unless the yard employes are granted an increase of wages of 5 cents an hour by next Saturday they will be withdrawn from the service of the road. About 3000 men are affected.

Four Persons Burned to Death

Buffalo, Dec. 20.—Four lives were lost and one person perhaps was fatally burned in a small fire in the Zenobia apartment house last night. Other occupants of the place had narrow escapes. The blaze was a small one and was quickly brought under control. The building was flatiron shaped and had narrow, winding hallways, in which the victims lost their way and were overcome. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Boy Perished In Fire

Sanford, Me., Dec. 20.—Left locked in the house while his mother was absent, Sevilo Fontaine, aged 5, was burned to death. Thomas Sutton smashed his way through a kitchen window and heard the cries of the boy in the adjoining dining room, but the flames were then so hot that Sutton was unable to reach the sufferer. Sutton found the outer doors locked securely.

Vatican Protest Undelivered

Rome, Dec. 20.—The Vatican declares that its note of protest for the alleged violation of the archives in the papal nunciature at Paris and the expulsion of Mgr. Montagnini has not yet been delivered to the diplomatic corps accredited to the holy see or sent to papal representatives abroad, and that, therefore, all statements as to its contents are fantastic.

Public Interest

IS NOW CENTERED ON

The Pure Food Law.

We Have Always Maintained that the best that money could buy was always the cheapest in the end, because it is always the bargain hunters that have to pay the Doctor, buying as they do IMPURE foods of all kinds, FOODS that are UNFIT for ANY PERSON'S STOMACH, being mixed as they are with different kinds of PRESERVATIVES and SECRET PREPARATIONS to take the place of GOOD PURE FOODS. And some dealers selling these goods at a GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICE over the pure kind, GUARANTEE you NOTHING, but—"Poor Health to You and Your Family," and although you can buy the "just as good kind," you can save nothing as that kind is unhealthy and dangerous to the whole human family. Now our standard is to always sell the best of everything and the steady increase of our business year after year proves to us that we have the right idea, and we know it must be very satisfactory to our many customers to feel that what they buy at our store is ABSOLUTELY PURE and HEALTHFUL and the Food Laws are being strictly enforced by us. Our Goods are all GOVERNMENT INSPECTED and also carefully inspected by us before they are put on sale or sent to your homes, and although you pay perhaps a few cents more to us than some dealers charge, don't you think it is money well spent, considering all things?—YOUR HEALTH, which is the greatest blessing we can have,—think well about this and we know you will agree with us and do your trading where you know the goods can be depended upon to be absolutely Pure.

We have just received our season's pack of choice canned and bottled goods, FRESH and DRIED FRUITS, all kinds of Cereals, Ketchup, Pickles, Jams, Jellies, Prunes, Figs, Nuts, Dates, Table Raisins, Citron, Lemon and Orange Peel, Olives, Sardines,—in fact everything for your tastes and fancies. All the leading brands of FLOUR. Fancy New Orleans Molasses.

OUR MARKET is complete, AND REMEMBER, we sell nothing that has been doctored or filled with Preservatives to keep it. ABSOLUTELY NOTHING but Carefully Selected Meats are on sale at OUR STORE. Stamped with the Government Inspection Stamp, that insures to you and to us the point of perfection, which we are always striving to reach for the benefit of our trade.

We will have a grand display of that great National Bird, THE TURKEY, the same VERMONT KIND we have always sold you,—Chicken, Fowl and Duck, direct from WILLIAM R. DRAKE of Braintree, and he knows how to dress them so as to please the eye as well as the palate. They don't grow nicer than he has. Fruit and vegetables in abundance, and don't forget our famous LA TOURAINE COFFEE, no dinner complete without it.

HOW TO USE UP SCRAPS OF FUR AND SILK.

Voile a New Material For Separate Waists--It Can Be Dyed to Match Suits- The Correct Skirt Length For Smart Costumes.

Go search among your treasures, dear mesdames, for any scraps and ends of fur a saving spirit has encouraged you to store up, for practically all can be turned to account now. Little pelerines and fichus of fur and silk are accounted quite among the seasonable details to be coveted and secured.

Here is an instance: Lines of gauged silk alternating with lines of mink fashion a fichu, the tapering ends of which are crossed back and front over a high folded belt of the silk and caught by large embroidered buttons set within a rosette of turquoise blue.

Chinchilla, with velvet toned up to the lighter shades of the fur, can be built up into the prettiest pelerine, the back forming a point that touches the waist, while the front drops just below that line, which is defined by an old silver galloon belt brought from beneath the point at the back. And it is all a question of taste and inclination whether short epaulet sleeves conclude these fitments or not.

Voile is classed among the blouse materials this winter. It will appeal especially to the practical person, and for wear with a suit of old rose broadcloth a wise woman recently bought an exquisitely fine quality in white and had it dyed the exact shade of her broadcloth. When made into one of the fashionable loosely fitted blouses, perceptibly shortened as to waist line in the back and trimmed with heavy lace showing here and there a glint of gold, the tout ensemble was eminently satisfactory. The usefulness of such a waist makes it an undeniable delight, for, with average care of the lace portions, it should do service the entire season without the necessity of a visit to the cleaner. The art of the dyer has reached such a point of excellence that there is no uncertainty as to the matching of even the most unusual tints, provided the work is done by a thoroughly first class establishment and a sufficiently generous sample of the desired color is furnished as a guide. A lace waist which has lost its pristine freshness may be dyed to match a cloth costume and when trimmed with a few bands of the cloth or a little velvet would never arouse the least suspicion and in this way may be allowed to complete a long and entirely satisfactory career.

ONE OF THE LATEST STOLES.

A great number of plain skirts are worn with no trimming of any sort, but with great fullness in their all round long and a dip in the back lower contours.

The blouse illustrated is a charming example where cloth and lace are combined with the happiest results. A gimp harmonizing with the color scheme, with a glint of gold here and there, is used to outline the yoke. The stole pictured is also carried out in two kinds of fur, the neck portion being of mink and the jabot ends of ermine.

NATION IS GUILTY

Allows Four Hundred Deaths a Day From Tuberculosis

CARNAGE PREMEDITATED

Annual Money Loss In United States by Deaths From Relentless Disease Is $330,000,000--How It May Be Fought

Boston, Dec. 20.—At a conference at the Twentieth Century club last night, under the auspices of the Boston Association for the Relief and Control of Tuberculosis, Dr. Darlington, commissioner of health of New York city, delivered an address on the duty of the municipality and state in the prevention of tuberculosis. Dr. Darlington said:

"It has been estimated that 400 people die every day in the United States from tuberculosis. Were we in the midst of a devastating war with a battle every day, leaving the field strewn with 400 dead, the type of our daily newspapers would prove inadequate in size to emphasize the horror of the calamity. The country would rise in its might and demand that the carnage should cease.

"Instances of public calamities such as the Johnstown and Galveston floods, the Iroquois theatre fire and the Slocum disaster are still fresh enough in the public mind for us each to recall the sickening sense of horror and bereavement we felt when we scanned the list of the dead. Horrible as these catastrophies were, we yet felt that they were unforeseen and certainly unpremeditated. Yet, how can we reconcile our consciences with the fact that as a people we are allowing a constant, unrelenting and remorseless disease to show us each day a list of 400 dead, knowing as we do, the people of this country are guilty and wholly responsible for this result? This carnage is premeditated, for the disease is preventable and could be entirely eradicated. A dormant public sense can be no excuse for evading our individual responsibility.

"We are warring with a powerful enemy. What then must be our method of defense? First and foremost our battlecry must be education—the education of the state and the education of the individual. The state must be appealed to on the ground of political economy.

"The wealth of a country depends upon the producing power of its people. Each life has a money value and the ending of this life is a distinct financial loss to the state. It has been estimated that in the United States the annual loss in money from deaths from tuberculosis is $330,000,000.

"The public must be instructed as to the true nature of the disease, its prevention and cure. Wide and general distribution of circulars, public lectures and personal instructions must be provided. Mere perfunctory teaching will not do. The individual must be reached and this is easy under a system of compulsory notification, for circulars can be sent and personal visits made to each case.

"The department of health in New York, in conjunction with the committee on tuberculosis of the charity organization society, has maintained lectures for several years. They have been delivered by physicians and other public-spirited persons and held in schoolhouses, churches and other public places. During the past summer a series of open air exhibitions were arranged for this same purpose. Stereopticon views of general interest were interspersed with short, pithy observations and instructions on the subject of the disease.

"These latter were printed forms and when projected upon a screen formed a potent way of impressing the lesson upon the mind. These meetings were held on the recreation piers and in the small parks of the city and were well attended. Next year we expect to enlarge their scope and to make them even more attractive by means of moving pictures.

"In order to get even nearer to the mass of people we are now, with the co-operation of the department of education, about to distribute to each child in the public schools of the city a small, simply-worded card, giving easily comprehended rules for the prevention and cure of tuberculosis.

"It is almost an undisputed proposition that were all sputum from tuberculosis patients cared for and disposed of in the proper manner, tuberculosis would vanish from the face of the earth.

"As an adjunct in the battle against the further invasion of the plague the municipal clinic is a potent force. Such clinic should be established in every city. We are proving their need and usefulness and it is only a question of time when this need must be met by every municipality. The fight against tuberculosis is being waged in earnest, but the victory is not yet ours. Central and concentrated authority is needed in the state and in the city. The problem must be solved in a large way and only by a central authority is this possible."

For National Health Department

New York, Dec. 20.—One hundred of the best known men in the country have consented to the use of their names as members of a committee to further the movement for a national department of health. President Roosevelt has been consulted regarding the movement and told its promoters that the best method to follow was to secure popular endorsement by agitation.

MESSAGE CONDEMNED

President Accused of Inciting Race Hatred and Mob Violence

Boston, Dec. 20.—At last night's meeting of the Suffrage League of Boston and Vicinity, resolutions in relation to the message of President Roosevelt on the Brownsville affair were passed. The resolutions are in part as follows:

"We denounce the language of the president in his official answer to the Foraker resolution as the most extraordinary language used by a president of a Christian republic. When the president uses the language 'Would that I could act' it seems to us that he has acted, and the three companies, B, C, and D of the Twenty-fifth infantry, think with us, and the American people know he has acted. What more does the president desire to do?

"In his message inciting race hatred and mob violence against 10,000,000 of innocent citizens, he has shown himself to be not the friend whom he poses to be by the mere handing out to the race, in advance of his election, of a few paltry 'loaves and fishes,' thereby showing himself to be a mere politician and not a great statesman.

"In accusing all colored persons who object to his unlawful and summary punishment of 170 colored soldiers, without trial or court martial or examination by a military court of inquiry, of a desire to shield murderers, the president misrepresents 10,000,000 of as law-abiding and patriotic native born American citizens as the country possesses."

Pool Cases Before Supreme Court

Dedham, Mass., Dec. 20.—The cases of Albert Rosenthal and F. J. Sullivan, who were arrested at the Readville track and charged with selling pools, were sent to the supreme judicial court on an agreed statement of facts, but not until Judge Dana of the superior criminal court had ordered a jury to return a verdict of guilty in both cases. It is expected that the decision of the supreme court will have a material effect on the sport of harness racing in this state.

Scarcity of Good Grade Cotton

Providence, Dec. 20.—Local cotton goods manufacturers report that they are unable to get sufficient quantities of the right kind of raw material to meet the demands which the market is making upon them for their products. They consider that the greater portion of the cotton which is coming out of the field is wholly unfit for their use and that eventually it will find its way to the producers of paper stock and manufacturers of cheap grades of carpets.

Bishop's Mind Unbalanced

Rockville, Conn., Dec. 20.—That Charles H. Bishop, who is charged with the murder of Mrs. Henry Williams of Tolland, is mentally deficient was the claim set up by the defense when it begun offering testimony in court here. The evidence of a long list of witnesses was to the effect that Bishop was a feeble-minded youth. Among the witnesses was the prisoner's mother, who lives at Everett, Mass.

To Reduce Price of Ice

Boston, Dec. 20.—The Boston Ice company announces that the price of ice will be reduced on Jan. 1 to the scale in force before the radical increase made in April last. Beginning the first of the year, the price will be 25 cents per hundred pounds for quantities from 100 to 200 pounds, 20 cents for 200 to 500 pounds, and 17½ cents for 500 to 2000 pounds.

Legislature to Name Governor

Concord, N. H., Dec. 20.—No change in the general result of the New Hampshire state election was disclosed by the recount of votes for governor, which has just been finished. A plurality not exceeding 200 was shown for Charles M. Floyd, the Republican candidate. The gubernatorial contest will, therefore, come before the legislature for settlement.

Supposed Incendiary Fire

Worcester, Mass., Dec. 20.—An incendiary is believed to have started the fire which burned the box shop, dry-house and two other buildings of the Parker mills plant at Coldbrook Springs last night. The loss is estimated at $7000. About a month ago an attempt was made to burn buildings belonging to the owner of the mills, Perry Wood.

Auto Speed Limit In Vermont

Montpelier, Vt., Dec. 20.—At 11 o'clock last night the automobile bill passed both branches. The bill provides for a speed limit in the cities of 10 miles an hour and 25 miles outside. The fine for the first violation of the law will be not over $50 and 10 days in jail, with a $200 fine and six months in jail for the second offense.

Was Soldier, Editor and Financier

Lowell, Mass., Dec. 20.—George A. Marden, soldier, orator, editor, former state treasurer, and for several years assistant treasurer of the United States in charge of the sub-treasury at Boston, died at his home in this city. The cause of death was angina pectoris. Marden was born in Mount Vernon, N. H., in 1839.

Bullet Near His Heart

Hartford, Dec. 20.—Edward Olsen, aged 45, shot himself last night over the heart in a local saloon and is in a critical condition. A brother believes that Olsen is mentally unbalanced and says he has for some time complained that people were trying to send him to the insane asylum.

Early Ice Harvesting

Winsted, Conn., Dec. 20.—The ice harvesting is in full blast here and the harvesters are cutting solid ice 10 inches thick on Highland lake. One of the dealers has already harvested about 500 tons.

ON NEW YORK'S EAST SIDE.

How New Year's Day Is Celebrated In the Italian Colony.

The little boys and girls of Mulberry street, on New York's queer east side, keep their pockets, purses and savings banks ready for New Year's. This is their great day. Whether or not the American Santa Claus put anything in their stockings on Christmas, their own uncles and aunts cannot get off without strenna de capo d'anno (New Year's gift). The strenna is confined to the children and to cash. It is to be distributed by the relatives and friends of the household on New Year's day, when calls and congratulations are in order.

"Buon capo d'anno!" ("A good head of the year!")

"Lo stesso a voi per cento anni!" ("The same to you for a hundred years!")

When the greetings are over the guests will be treated to vermicelli served with a special sort of sauce and salad and "merluzzo" prepared with oil and lemon juice. The thought of the New Year's viands makes the black eyed children smack their red lips, and their time is taken up with discussing it as well as with making forecasts as to how much of a strenna Uncle So-and-so and Cousin So-and-so will put in his or her little hand before leaving.

The old folks in Italy, too, are thinking gratefully of the great land beyond the seas over the wine and vermicelli which they have bought with American money. If strenna is here only given to children an exception is made for the old people at home, to whom a New Year's gift is sent three or four weeks in advance so as to reach its destination in time for the great religious and civil holiday. The Mulberry street bankers do a rushing business in capo d'anno remittances.—New York Herald.

THE NEW YEAR IN JAPAN.

The Day When the Mikado Has to Get Up at 5 o'Clock.

Quaint and curious New Year customs exist in Japan, where the 1st of January commences with a religious festival celebrated at 5 in the morning. At this time the mikado, dressed in Japanese costume, proceeds from the palace, followed by his deputies arrayed in ancient style and the foreign diplomats in regalia dress. He enters a small building or temple, prostrates himself to the east, west, north and south, and all present pray for the prosperity of the nation.

Later at a ceremonial breakfast the emperor and empress receive their family and court for three hours, the rooms being thronged. At the expiration of that time the real year begins, and a formal luncheon is served from which each guest is expected to take a cup and saucer as a souvenir.

Among the people the earth and heaven are propitiated by offerings of rice and vegetables, and strips of red paper are pasted on the doors as a sign of good luck. This color is used exclusively save in cases where a death has occurred within a year, when blue paper is used instead of red. The day ends with people still saluting each other and attending the plays at the theaters, where gorgeous robes and monotonous voices are the distinguishing features.—New York World.

New Year's on the Ganges.

To know whether one will outlive the year is almost universally regarded as a very desirable piece of knowledge, and to acquire it the men and women of different nations resort to various stratagems to compel fate to stand and deliver. The dweller by the Ganges lights a tiny rush candle and fixes it upright on a bit of board, which he launches on the waters of the sacred stream. If it remains alight until he can count 777, the perfect number, he regards his prospects as good for the year. If it goes out the omen is unfavorable. He gives himself the benefit of expedition, too, for instead of counting in prosaic fashion—one, two, three, four—in the old slow style, he counts by leaps and bounds—five, ten, fifteen, twenty, twenty-five, thirty—and thus takes advantage of the flickering candle and fluctuating wave and increases his length of days by the glibness of his tongue.—Pittsburg Press.

Watching the Old Year Out.

Watching the old year out has been a common custom in many lands. In most countries it assumes with the serious minded the phase of devotion. In many countries where Roman Catholicism is the prevalent form of faith the year is begun with midnight masses. Among the Greek Catholics the same usage prevails. It declined in the Church of England, but was revived by several of the dissenting bodies, the watch night of the Methodists being merely a modification of the once general practice. Among the convivially inclined, however, watch night is taken anything but seriously, and the new year is welcomed with such signs of rejoicing as to one who did not understand the customs would seem to indicate that all men were heartily tired of existence and glad to see their years go by as speedily as possible.

The First January New Year's Day.

Caesar selected the feast of Janus, the two faced god of war, as the year's great mile stone, because the statue of this god seemed to look back into the past and forward into the future; hence on New Year's day we are still paying tribute to a heathen god. Prior to the reform of the calendar the Romans observed the 21st day of December, the winter solstice, as the beginning of the year. This date and the summer solstice, the 21st of June, as well as the vernal and autumnal equinoctial changes in March and September, have come in for first place in the year at various times in the history of the world.

I. O. O. F. Officers.

Mt. Wollaston lodge, No. 80, I. O. O. F., elected the following officers on Tuesday evening:

N. G.,—James Moorehead, Jr.
V. G.,—Charles Keser.
R. S.,—Aubrey Keith.
F. S.,—Arthur W. Stetson.
Treas.,—E. Frank Mitchell.

Trustee for 3 years,—William J. Williams.

Trustee for 2 years,—John W. Nash.

The officers will be publicly installed on Tuesday evening, Jan. 8.

Debating Club for Boys.

Tomorrow evening at 7.30 the first regular meeting of the Debating club of the Young Men's Christian Association will be held.

Last Friday a preliminary meeting of this organization was held. Plans were then discussed and temporary officers and committeemen elected.

Tomorrow night Mr. Plummer, principal of the Woodward Institute, will be present to lead and coach the club.

The club will be for intermediates, employed boys and younger senior members. It will be the most helpful organization the association can take up at this time. Every legible person should seize the opportunity and become a charter member tomorrow night.

Bible Debating Club

Mr. W. M. Vermilya was the guest of the members of the Bible Debating club, at the Y. M. C. A. on Wednesday evening. In place of the regular program, Mr. Vermilya spoke to the fellows on the Christian Christmas and what it should mean. His thought was, that in giving presents at Christmas time, we very often loose sight of the symbolical reason for the gifts. "God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten son." John 2:16 Every person was pleased with Mr. Vermilya's address.

CHRISTMAS PROGRAMS

Special Services On Sunday Festivals and Christmas Trees

A general invitation has been extended to ALL churches of the city to forward Christmas programs promptly for publication. Those which have responded are printed below, and others will appear tomorrow:

FIRST CHURCH.

An elaborate program for the children, parents and friends of First Church Sunday-school, is being prepared under the direction of the Supt. C. H. Johnson. Christmas Sunday the school will assemble in the chapel at four o'clock instead of the usual hour. Carols by the children and a talk on the life of Jesus, illustrated by forty colored views by use of the new stereopticon recently purchased for the school. Parents and friends cordially invited to this service.

Christmas eve the children will assemble in the church at 6.30 o'clock. Special Christmas service with carols and reading of Christmas story. The public is cordially invited to this service.

At seven o'clock the children will assemble in the chapel for their annual Christmas festival. A dialogue entitled "Christmas Exercise," by the children, a pantomine with beautiful scenery entitled "The Brownie's Christmas," followed by Christmas tree and distribution of presents to each member of the school. Special attention will be given to decoration of the chapel and all friends of the school are cordially invited.

The music will be rendered by a double quartette, consisting of: Mrs. F. A. Page and Mrs. E. W. Hunt, sopranos; Mrs. C. H. Collyer and Mrs. D. S. Blakie, contraltos; Mr. Paul R. Bennett and Mr. E. B. Powers, tenors; Mr. King Lillie and Dr. E. L. Jordan, bassos; Mr. W. E. Weston, organist.

Communion service will be held immediately after the morning service. The Sunday school will hold a special Christmas service in the church parlor at noon.

UNIVERSALIST CHURCH.

Christmas Sunday at the Universalist church will be observed with a Christmas service in the afternoon. The music that is being prepared is new, and of the usual high order. It will consist of chorus, quartette, trio, duet and solos. The chorus rehearses with Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Richardson, 24 Cottage street, on Friday evening of this week.

POINT CHURCH.

On Christmas Sunday, Dec. 23, there will be a Christmas service at the Point church at 10.45 A. M., with special music by the choir, and a Christmas sermon by Rev. Alfred Ray Atwood, the pastor, who announces as his subject: "The message of the manger and the message of the man."

At the session of the Sunday school at 12 M., the subject will be a Christmas lesson." The Junior C. E. will meet at 4 P. M., and the Seniors at 6.30, the subject being "The Christmas spirit."

A Christmas concert will be given by the Sunday school at 7.30 under the direction of Supt. Sherburne. The motto of the church is: "A place for all and a welcome for all."

SWEDISH LUTHERAN.

A special early morning service will be held Christmas morning at 6 o'clock at the Swedish Lutheran church. In the evening there will be two large Christmas trees and a festival for the children of the Sunday school. Presents will be given to all of the children.

FORGAVE MRS. SIDDONS.

She Did Not, According to Her Father, Marry an Actor.

Mrs. Siddons, the actress, was born in 1755 at the Shoulder of Mutton inn, Brecon, south Wales, of parents connected with the theater, her father, Roger Kemble, being a strolling manager. The child Sarah was reared in a theatrical atmosphere, and at ten she was playing Ariel.

As she grew up she became very beautiful and had many admirers, among whom was Henry Siddons, a young actor in her father's company, who had little difficulty in winning the girl's heart. Mr. and Mrs. Kemble had made up their minds that Sarah should not marry in the profession, in consequence of which they strenuously opposed the marriage, and young Siddons in a fit of retaliatory humor composed a song detailing their opposition and his trials, which brought about his speedy dismissal from the company. Sarah left the company, too, and hired out as lady's maid in Warwickshire for two years.

During this time the lovers carried on a lively correspondence and finally, gaining the reluctant consent of the Kembles, were married at Trinity church, Coventry, in 1773, when Sarah was eighteen.

It is said that Mr. Kemble told her if she ever married an actor it would make him discard her forever. After her marriage he said, "I may forgive you without breaking my word, for you have certainly not married 'an actor,' whatever the gentleman himself may think is his vocation." This is on authority of Lady Eleanor Butler, who knew the persons.

JAPANESE SAINTS.

The One Most Beloved by the People Is Binzura.

Among the many Buddhist-Shinto saints, whose quaint effigies set up in every conceivable nook and corner of Japan make it a "country of graven images," one of the most impressive and interesting is the pathetic person called Binzuru. He was once upon a time a member of that strange company of Buddhist disciples known as the "Sixteen Rakkan." But one day he fell from grace by remarking upon the attractions of a woman, and he was expelled from the society of chaste brethren. The great Buddha gave him, in return for all that his worldliness had cost him, power to heal human ills and to grant the prayers of childless women who longed for motherhood. But he was put outside the temples. He must henceforth sit without, in the midst of the passing throng, and submit himself to personal contact with all that was unclean and healthless. The simple hearted people love him, I think, above all saints. His wooden images in the temple porches are the strangest objects in all Japan. They give him soft cushions to sit upon, and he is always clothed in quaint little cotton stuff collars and mufflers in all sorts of soiled looking colors, and on his head his devotees usually keep a curious little cotton cap.—Eleanor Franklin in Leslie's Weekly.

The Young Member.

Grantley Berkeley tells in his "Life and Recollections" how a member for Ludlow in the last parliament of William IV. "tried to make a maiden speech, and, rising in his place, with a very bald head, known, too, as he was to everybody as one of the oldest stagers in all the ways of the world, he began, with great affectation of inexperience and with an exceedingly mild voice, 'Mr. Speaker, I am but a young member.' On hearing this assertion from so well known and crafty a man, possessing so venerable a pate, the entire house roared with laughter. Twice he stopped, and three times he commenced with these words, but it was useless. The house would not listen, and he never to my knowledge essayed to speak again, or if he did the sight of his bald head set his audience in a roar."

A Stupid Lady Bountiful.

I once showed an old lady much given to good works of the Lady Bountiful order how some proteges of hers who were constantly on the verge of starvation might be placed in possession of a small but regular and sufficient income. "My dear," she said, "I don't think it is a good plan. They would get too independent. I like them to come to me when they are in difficulties and ask for what they want." — "Rich and Poor," by Mrs. Bosanquet.

Tennyson Embarrassed.

Great crises affect people differently. With some the hair turns white; with others emotion expresses itself in inconsequent speech. Tennyson, when he first met Frederick Robertson, whom he much admired and who, he knew, admired his poems, was so nervous that he could talk to the "much beloved priest" of nothing but—beer!

The Good Out of It.

Landlady—I believe in letting coffee boil thirty minutes. That's the only way to get the goodness out of it. New Boarder (tasting his and leaving it)—You succeeded admirably, ma'am.

Where His Went.

Bacon—They say a man's first $100 is the hardest to get. Egbert—Well, I don't know about that. I know a fellow got mine easy enough.—Yonkers Statesman.

Uncharitable.

"Is she a charitable woman, willing to give relief?"

"No. She's the kind that never gives even a sigh of relief."—New York Times.

Local and City Brevities

Eight pages every day.

A few snow flakes fell this morning.

The City Council Finance Committee will meet tonight.

The stores at West Quincy are prettily decorated for the holidays.

No one has yet discovered the word Christmas in the Daily Ledger 75 times.

A session of the district court for juvenile offenders was held this morning.

Three dogs, who were believed to have the rabies, have been killed in Quincy recently.

A gang of men was at work this morning sweeping the sand from the concrete sidewalks.

George E. Adams is officiating as clerk of the district court this week, during the absence of Clerk Churchill.

The New England Football Association has voted to affiliate with the Massachusetts Football Association, and will enter a team for the championship.

R. E. Foy & Co., the Quincy Adams marketmen, following their usual custom at Christmas, are dividing a percentage of all cash sales with their employees this week.

Mr. and Mrs. V. W. Barnes and daughter Viva, who have been stopping at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert MacVitie, sailed Thursday for St. John's, N. B., to spend the Christmas holidays.

It is a bit amusing for ex-Councilman Meyer to claim that Houghs Neck pays one-fifth of the taxes of the city. This would be over $100,000. Five percent would be nearer. His argument, however, for police protection is good.

The exhibition of paintings by Charles W. Hudson in the Milton public library will close Jan. 1. The collection includes many tree-pictures painted in Milton, Quincy and vicinity, and an equestrian of Governor Roger Wolcott.

Mr. Arthur Peverly is to sing in the Christmas service at the Universalist church next Sunday at 2.30 P. M. Mr. Peverly has a fine tenor voice which has won him many admirers and his friends in Quincy will be glad of this opportunity to hear him.

The A. T. U. S. hold their semi-monthly whist in Colonial hall this evening. This is the last one of the first series and it is expected quite a number will be present, as the scores have run very even, and will be contested to the end. The souvenirs are dainty and useful.

Another prize is offered today to the school boy or girl who will first find the word Christmas 75 times and bring a marked copy of the paper to the office. The puzzle editor would suggest that a colored pencil be used and that the word be circled. Also write name and address at top of first page of Daily Ledger.

Mrs. C. Gondret, the noted Swedish singer, will render several selections at a concert to be held at the Swedish M. E. church, tonight. Her son, Rev. Henry Gondret, the Evangelist, who will come back this week to finish his good work in this church, will give an address on "The Power of Song."

Little Johnny's Resolutions

"NEXT Tuesday 'ill be New Year's day,"
Said little Johnny Lake.
"Some resolootions, mom declares,
I really ought to make.
Mom's promised to stop gossipin',
An' so has Sister Sue.
I guess I'll resolute a bit.
Le's see—what shall I do?

"I'll resolute, I guess, to quit
A-splittin' kindlin' wood;
Then pop 'ill have to do that work,
Like fathers always should.
An' then, while I'm a-doin' it,
I'll resolute to quit
The Sunday school, fer goin' there
With me don't make no hit.

"I GUESS I'LL RESOLUTE A BIT."

"I'd like to resolute some way
To git myself a goat;
I want a buttin' billy ram
With whiskers on his throat.
An' then I'll resolute, I guess,
To beat up Tommy Hunt;
He's took an' stole my girl frum me,
The doggone little runt!

"I reckon that's enough fer me
To resolute jist now;
At any rate, I'll make that do—
It's plenty, anyhow.
Le's see—I start on New Year's day.
Well, that ain't very fur.
Won't mom be tickled when she finds
How well I've minded her?"

—Denver Post.

A ROYAL POKER GAME.

How King Kalakaua Wound Up His New Year's Festivities.

C. R. Mackenzie, describing in the St. Louis Republic a New Year's day in old Hawaii, says:

"After dinner we adjourned to the royal library, where we found card tables duly equipped. 'We generally wind up an evening of this kind with a game of poker,' said Kalakaua. 'Are you all content?' Every one was content, and it was my luck to be seated at the king's table.

"Next morning when at breakfast at the hotel one of the king's equerries came to my table and placed a chamois bag containing forty ten-dollar pieces in front of me, saying the king had sent them with his compliments. One of the ladies of our party who had witnessed this somewhat unusual proceeding asked me why the king should send me such a present.

"'Madam,' I replied, 'the shillings and sixpences which in the days of my youth I cast upon missionary waters to buy popguns and blankets for the Sandwich Islanders have this morning been returned to me a hundred fold.'"

Fortune Telling on New Year's Eve.

Fortune telling obtains in rural Germany on New Year's eve. The young people, who gather to peer together into the future, melt a little lead in a long handled ladle. The person who grasps the handle then pours the molten metal into a pail of water, standing well back so as not to be scalded by the splashing water and steam, for the striking of the lead upon the water produces almost the effect of an explosion. If the lead congeals into any shape that can be construed as like a star it is a good augury. If a film gathers on the surface it means money. Any old woman who is an expert seer can see in the metal and water sure signs of coming marriage, long journeys, sickness or death. The ability to read these riddles is supposed to descend by inheritance from mother to daughter.

New Year's Eve In Italy.

Don't you wish you were an Italian on New Year's? Promptly at the stroke of 12 on New Year's eve there are rustling and bustling and merry laughter as each maiden kisses all the young men she can catch. It is the only moment in the year when custom permits her such a liberty, and she is not slow to take advantage of it. Then, the new year having made its bow, the party breaks up, the young folk take a walk, and the first person of the opposite sex which each roisterer meets is considered destined to be that merrymaker's future partner in life.

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP.

All Right In Theory, but Breaks Down In Practice.

Theoretically there is so much in municipal ownership of public utilities that the practical carrying out of its attractive features appears simple and of no serious moment, and for a municipality to take over and run water, lights, sewerage and even transportation appeals to taxpayers, and the trade is made without the first assurance that the conduct of these properties will be along practical and business lines.

It is the failure to assure the practical that works the evil, for municipal ownership is a general ownership, and a general ownership results too easily in its being no special business of any citizen or taxpayer to look into or inquire after the conduct of the properties under control. This leaves the management to a few, who soon find that they have only themselves to account to, that people are too busy to demand accountings and taxpayers accept any kind of report, just so there is the appearance of all being right and light, water, sewerage, etc., are given.

It is this indifference and neglect on the part of taxpayers to take note of municipal affairs which make municipal ownership of public utilities a hazardous and expensive matter. The theory of municipal ownership, with its great saving to each taxpayer, the extra service given and the great profits resulting, can all be placed in figures beforehand, but it is a failure unless the taxpayers shall give earnest and serious heed to the conduct of these public utilities, for unless this is done they will wake up some day with broken down properties and a big bond issue to make good.—Newbern Weekly Journal.

THE GREAT TRANSITION.

Public Property Wasted Because "It Costs Nothing, You Know."

"Hello!" said I. "What's that?" And I stopped to pick it up.

"That?" replied the boy who happened to be passing through the school yard with me. "That is nothing but a lead pencil."

"But it is a whole one," said I, "and with a rubber on the end."

"I know it," said the boy.

"What! Do you mean to tell me that you have seen this here before?"

"Yes, everybody's seen it."

"All the children in your school have seen this lying here day after day and not one boy has picked it up?"

"Of course. What should we pick it up for? There's plenty in the schoolhouse. The town buys 'em."

And I had been given a text for a long meditation. Not pick up a whole new lead pencil? And a pencil with a rubber on it!

When I was a boy we prized even slate pencils. A boy who hooked anybody's slate pencil was baited until he gave it up, but a lead pencil—we fought for lead pencils as the Greeks and Trojans fought for Helen. We scoured the countryside for old horseshoes to sell to the blacksmith for money enough to buy a lead pencil, and, having it, we cut our private mark on it, guarded it, kept it as our last resource in trade. Many a time a precious two inch lead pencil has turned an important jackknife trade one way or the other. I never had but one lead pencil at a time and very often hardly that until I was fifteen years old. And these ten-year-olds scorn to pick up a whole one with a rubber! Think of it! The best eraser I had was a piece of rubber boot heel!—Henry T. Bailey in Journal of Education.

A DAY OF RECKONING.

You Cannot Fool All of the People All of the Time.

The recent condemnation as unfit for further service of a number of gas and electric light plants and the closing down of some of them at a dead loss to the taxpayers should serve as a warning to other cities, for this is the fate that is likely to overtake all such plants in the long run. For the first year or two, when no expensive repairs are needed and the plant is thoroughly up to date, it ought not to be difficult to make a good showing. For a few years longer the bad bookkeeping and inadequate reports, that are unfortunately the rule rather than the exception, may blind the citizens to the deterioration of the plant and to its increasing losses. But the day of reckoning inevitably comes when breakdown, bad service or demand for new equipment that cannot masquerade as "extensions" causes an investigation, and then it becomes evident that the plant has been a losing proposition almost from the start. No plant should be accepted as evidence of successful municipal management until it has been operated for several years and then examined by expert engineers and accountants.

Carelessness, Not Graft.

At a local government board inquiry held at West Ham, London, to sanction the borrowing by the corporation of £62,300 for electricity extensions it was stated that the electrical undertaking up to the present had resulted in a loss of £7,206, which had been charged to the rates. The inspector pointed out that loans of some thousands of pounds had been sanctioned by the board for purchasing various machines, and he found the council again asking for money to buy machinery for which they had already received the cash.—Morning Post.

The movement for municipal ownership in this country is a hunt by the demagogue for a new issue to catch votes.—Melvin O. Adams.

THE GRAVES WILL

Jury Returns Verdict Adverse to the Beneficiary

FOUND UNDUE INFLUENCE

Testator May Have Feared Miss Stone Because of Her Alleged Knowledge of His Connection With Murder of Hathaway

Salem, Mass., Dec. 20.—The jury in the supreme court which has been considering the contested will case of William H. Graves, in which Mrs. Snow, the divorced wife of the testator, gave sensational testimony to the effect that Graves was implicated in the mysterious murder of Frank Hathaway in 1881, came in with a verdict adverse to the will late yesterday after deliberating more than six hours on the case.

In his charge Judge Rugg informed the jury that it must take into consideration the statement of Mrs. Snow, in arriving at a decision as to whether or not Graves was unduly influenced in making his will, by fear of Miss Stone, his housekeeper, because of her alleged knowledge of his connection with the death of Hathaway. If they believed the evidence of Mrs. Snow relative to overhearing Graves make this alleged statement to his father, the jury were to consider whether or not Graves probably was influenced by a desire to account to his father for his friendly relations with Miss Stone.

In the finding the jury returned an answer "yes" to each of the following questions:

"At the time of the execution of the document offered for probate, was William H. Graves of sound and disposing mind?

"Was the execution of the instrument by said William H. Graves procured by fraud or undue influence of Carrie G. Stone?"

The verdict virtually sets aside the will which was allowed in the probate court, and James H. Sisk, counsel for the will, announced his intention to file a motion to set aside the present verdict. The matter will come up for a hearing in Boston on the second Tuesday in January. Under the terms of the will Miss Stone was allowed all the testator's savings, about $2000, with the exception of $2, which was equally divided between his two children.

No Faith in Banks--Lost $6000

Philadelphia, Dec. 20.—Mrs. Ella V. Kober was robbed of $6000 by a pickpocket in the holiday crowds in the shopping district here. The money was paid to Mrs. Kober by the Pennsylvania railroad in settlement of a claim on the death of her husband. Mrs. Kober had no faith in banks and had demanded cash instead of a check. She received 30 $100 and six $500 notes, which she sewed in a secret pocket in an underskirt. While shopping with a friend she discovered that the pocket had been cut from her skirt and the money taken.

Killed by Brothers-In-Law

Richmond, Dec. 20.—The coroner's jury in the Strother-Bywaters case at Culpepper rendered a verdict that Bywaters came to his death from bullet wounds inflicted by J. A. and P. J. Strother. Bywaters was killed an hour after his marriage to a sister of the accused men. The Strother brothers were bound over in the sum of $5000 each for the action of the grand jury.

Disaster to Fireworks Factory

Savannah, Ga., Dec. 20.—By the explosion of dynamite in the fireworks factory of Carbo & Niva last night, one fireman was burned to death, another was fatally burned and two other firemen were seriously burned. The proprietors were painfully burned. Carbo and Niva were counting torpedoes they had manufactured. One torpedo dropped and caused the explosion of the rest.

Thought to Be an Anarchist

San Francisco, Dec. 20.—Viacesto Petrovsky, a Russian army officer who arrived on the steamer Nippon, has been denied a landing on the charge of being an anarchist, although his wife has been admitted. This action was taken by Commissioner of Immigration North. Petrovsky was given his liberty on depositing $1000 cash bail. He will appeal from the decision.

New Railroad In Operation

Yarmouth, N. S., Dec. 20.—The first through train from Halifax over the Halifax and Southwestern railway reached here last night. It is known as the South Shore road, and the train passes through nearly all the large towns on the western coast. A passenger train will leave Halifax every other day to connect here with steamers for Boston.

Great Paper Mills For Quebec

Quebec, Dec. 20.—Four members of the Berlin (N. H.) paper mills syndicate are in town conferring with the Quebec bank and the Lake St. John railroad about the establishment of immense paper and pulp mills at La Tetque. The capital of the new enterprise is to be about $3,000,000.

American Consul Kills Himself

Mukden, Dec. 20.—The American vice consul general, Nelson Fairchild, shot and killed himself today. It is believed that the shooting was accidental. There is a universal feeling of sympathy.

Off Santa Claus' Beat

I S'POSE there is a Santa Claus
That brings them pretty toys
An' candy an' mince pies an' things
To lots o' little boys.
But where we live down here, I guess,
Is sort o' off his beat.
I'm pretty certain, anyway,
He never found our street.

He goes around to all the stores
An' fills 'em full o' things
Like sleds an' skates an' railroad cars,
The kind he always brings,
An' then he seems to lose the way
To our house. Ain't it queer
That all the times he's come to town
He's never been down here?

HE GOES AROUND TO ALL THE STORES AN FILLS 'EM FULL O' THINGS.

I asked my mother if I might Go wait for him uptown
An' tell him that the boys I know
Invites him to come down,
But she just sort o' chokes an' coughs,
An' then she looks away
An' says, "He'll find us out, I guess,
An' visit us some day."

An' yet I've been a-waitin' here
So long that I don't b'lieve
I'll ever see him come at all
On any Christmas eve.
I'm goin' to ask a p'liceman if
Santa he should meet
He'll just go up an' speak to him
An' point him out our street.

Christmas Cakes.

Little cakes that will please the children either at the table or on the Christmas tree are made as follows: Bake the cakes in little patty or muffin pans and frost the tops with a white icing. Dip a small new paint brush in melted chocolate and draw a face on each. Make some crying and others laughing, the different expressions being made by the curve of the mouth line. The merest outline will be sufficient. Cut a circle of tissue paper of white or any other color liked two inches larger than the cake, pink the edge with scissors and run a thread round one inch from the edge. Put a cake in the paper, draw up the thread, and a cunning little cap is formed. The pleasure of small children will well repay the trouble of making these little cake babies.—Pittsburg Press.

First Aid to Santa Claus.

A clever idea for a Christmas night party is to have the gifts come in on a sled piled high and strapped on and the sled drawn by two lads dubbed Santa Claus' assistants. The place cards at the supper which follows the distribution of the gifts should be tiny sleds made from cardboard and dipped in mucilage, then in diamond dust, the rope to be of silver cord and each sled drawn by a miniature Santa Claus about three inches high.

The Children's Festival.

"And a little child shall lead them." The entire meaning of the festival of Christmas is contained in these words. It is the festival of the children because on this day God, the Son, the Second Person of the Blessed Trinity, took upon him human nature in the shape of a helpless and beautiful child. —Rev. John Talbott Smith, LL. D., President Catholic Summer School of America.

No More Wanted.

"Merry Christmas, old man! And many more like it."

The man addressed turns a baleful, sleepless eye upon the speaker and replies:

"Many more like it! Say, you hadn't heard that twins came to our house last night, had you?"—Judge.

"Jessie Christmas!"

Little Jessie woke up on Christmas morning and called to her four-year-old sister Mary:

"Merry Christmas!"

"Jessie Christmas!" promptly answered the baby.

Are There Others?

Christmas is coming
And Santa Claus, too,
And, being dead broke,
Lord, what shall I do?
The children will cry,
Their mother will pout—
I'll have to go try
Put my watch up the spout.

COLLEGE AND SCHOOL.

In the national schools of Sweden and in the colleges for the education of national school teachers scientific gardening is taught.

Professors and students of Bowdoin college are planning a grand reception to Commander Peary at the thirtieth annual gathering of his class next June.

Robert H. Baker of the Amherst faculty has accepted the position of assistant astronomer in Allegheny observatory, Allegheny, Pa. Although only twenty-three years of age, Mr. Baker has written considerably on the subject of astronomy.

The board of education of Philadelphia has decided to divide the city into five sections and to establish a high school in each. Although Philadelphia is the third largest city in the United States in point of population, it is twenty-third in number of high school students.

By the new regulations adopted in respect of the admission of Russian students to Prussian universities not only must such students, as at present, be free from political suspicion and satisfy certain academic standards, but they will be required to furnish proof of the possession of adequate means of support.

CHURCH AND CLERGY.

New York has forty-nine Jewish synagogues.

The building of St. Paul's cathedral, London, is solid, it appears, notwithstanding its age, but the whole mass is gradually sinking "about half the thickness of a sheet of note paper every three years."

The trustees of the Temple Emanu-El, San Francisco, have decided to build a temporary structure on the site of their former house of worship, Sutter street, near Powell. This decision was unanimous.

The first Syrian Catholic church in the west will be established in Minneapolis shortly by the Rev. Gabriel Korkemas, who has gathered about thirty-five Syrian families together, the nucleus of the new church.

More than a thousand churches in Ireland, according to an English paper, now use unfermented wine at communion, including more than half the Presbyterians and all the Methodists, with four exceptions, while a number of the Episcopal churches have also adopted the custom.

THINGS THEATRICAL.

Richard Mansfield's hit in Chicago in "Peer Gynt" was of tremendous proportions.

Lew Fields is to leave the field of musical comedy and burlesque at the close of the present season to take up legitimate comedy roles.

Hereafter Henry T. Coote, the tenor singer with "The Prince of Pilsen," will be heard in the title role of De Koven's romantic opera "The Student King."

Arthur Weld, musical conductor with "The Student King" orchestra, has recovered from a case of typhoid fever and is once more filling his position with the company.

Cho Cho San, otherwise known as Butterfly in Puccini's Japanese grand opera "Madam Butterfly," is the youngest person that figures in a great leading role either in grand opera or the legitimate drama.

LAW POINTS.

Refusal to pay money admitted to be due, except upon receiving a certain kind of receipt, is held in Earl versus Berry (R. I.), 1 L. R. A. (N. S.), 867, not to constitute such duress as to render the receipt void.

An assignment of judgment is held in Co. versus Wampler (Va.), 1 L. R. A. (N. S.), 149, not to carry with it a right of action against an officer and sureties on his bond for failure properly to return a forthcoming bond upon the judgment.

A servant is held in Ellis versus Southern R. Co. (S. C.), 2 L. R. A. (N. S.), 378, to be personally liable to third persons when his wrongful act in the course of his employment, whether of nonfeasance or misfeasance, is the direct and proximate cause of their injuries.

GLEANINGS.

In a man and woman of equal weight the woman's tongue is smaller than the man's.

A Chinese doctor in setting a bone wraps a chicken head among the bandages to insure rapid healing.

Within three years it will be possible to reach Peking from London in twelve days by rail all the way.

"Koepenick" has been adopted by the Germans as a verb. The victim of a practical joke or fraud is now "koepenicked."

As a protest against the excessive speed of motor cars two well known residents of Madrid, Senors Cruselles and Bueno, are journeying from Madrid to Paris on donkeys which they have called after well known motor car manufacturers.

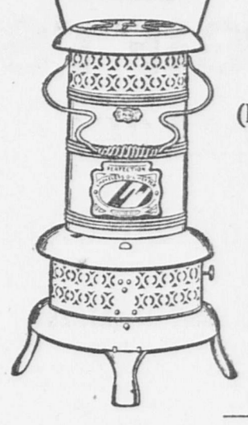

INDUSTRIAL ITEMS.

The brass industry alone supports 70,000 people at Waterbury, Conn.

Port Limon, Costa Rica, ships about 10,000,000 bunches of bananas yearly.

The United States census bureau says that last year there were 4,299,738,048 buttons made in the United States. And there will be 5,000,000,000 buttons made this year and about 6,000,000,000 next year, according to the rate of increase for the last decade.

RICE'S DEATH NATURAL

Doctors Assert Belief In the Innocence of Lawyer Patrick

New York, Dec. 20.—Resolutions asserting belief in the innocence of Albert T. Patrick, convicted of the murder of William M. Rice, were adopted by the Medico-Legal society at its annual election and dinner last night. The resolutions were based on a report by a special committee of a practical experiment the committee made in the use of embalming fluids.

The report declared that embalming fluids did not enter the lungs of a dead body. The resolutions further declare that the medical experts who gave contrary testimony at the trial of Patrick were wrong and that Rice died from natural causes. The society calls upon Governor Higgins to pardon the condemned attorney.

It was expected that Governor Higgins and Governor-elect Hughes would attend the dinner, but neither was present. One member of the society cast his vote against the Patrick resolutions, declaring that the investigation should be reported on its merits, without its consideration as applicable to any particular case.

Notorious Prisoner on Parole

Boston, Dec. 20.—William E. Kelley, who gained notoriety while in state prison by leading six other prisoners to break jail by crawling through a sewer, was released yesterday by the governor's council on parole. Kelley was serving a 15-year sentence for robbing a jewelry store in this city which he accomplished by whitewashing the front windows and then crawling through the transom and clearing the store out at his leisure. Kelley was paroled in 1903, but broke his agreement and was forced to return to prison. Kelly is 41 years old and has spent much of his life in prison since he was 18.

Filipino's Color Questioned

Washington, Dec. 20.—The school authorities of Washington have been called upon to decide whether a Filipino is white or colored. The problem was brought before them by Major Waltz, U. S. A., who asks that his Filipino servant, 22 years old, be admitted to the white schools of Washington. The servant had been denied admission to the public schools of Atlanta. The question was referred to a committee which has not yet reported.

New Docks For Railroad

Boston, Dec. 20.—The Globe says that the United States government has consented to relinquish the site of the proposed appraisers' stores in the North End and that a large corporation, said to be the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company, will take the property as a terminal for a line of steamers between this city and New York. The price to be paid is said to be $650,000.

Equitable Directors Remain

New York, Dec. 20.—Thirty thousand ballots were cast by policyholders of the Equitable Life Assurance society for 28 directors of that society. Every ballot was for the administration ticket, which was the only one in the field, and was composed of the names of men whom the trustees had already placed on the board of directors to fill vacancies.

Trip to Italy Interrupted

Meadville, Pa., Dec. 20.—John Feretti, an Italian, on his way from Chicago to Italy, went insane in the Erie station in this city. He got possession of a club and injured several persons before he was subdued. Feretti, who was crying that three men had shot at him while aboard the train, was locked up after a hard struggle.

$50,000 For Heavyweight Fight

New York, Dec. 20.—"Tex" Rickard, who managed the fight at Goldfield between Gans and Nelson, has offered Jeffries $50,000 to meet Jack Johnson, the negro heavyweight, at Goldfield. Rickard says he has assurances from Jeffries that he will enter the ring again for a purse of $50,000.

People Not Freezing to Death

St. Paul, Dec. 20.—A Pioneer Press special from Lakota, N. D., says: The report sent out from this point that people were freezing to death for lack of fuel is false. There has been no suffering for lack of fuel up to the present, although supplies have run very low.

Jewish Support For Poles

Warsaw, Dec. 20.—The rabbis throughout Poland have promised to energetically support the national Polish parties in the coming election against the anti-national and socialistic parties. This means that the Jews will leave the socialists and ally themselves with the Poles.

Alleged Conspiracy to Counterfeit

New York, Dec. 20.—Charged with conspiring to counterfeit the 100 pesos note of the Colombia republic, Simon Boehm and Samuel Otera were arrested in this city by secret service men. They were held in $5000 bail for examination. The men deny the charge.

Political Prisoners Liberated

Bialystok, Dec. 20.—A large body of terrorists demolished the railway track near here and held up a train on which political prisoners were being conveyed to Vilna. They killed three of the guards, wounded a dozen, and liberated the prisoners.

PROMPT WORK GOOD WORK

WANTED, A MAN

By Martha McCulloch-Williams

Copyright, 1906, by E. C. Parcells

Orestes Magin stood twirling his red mustache, his eyes downcast, his heart beating like a trip hammer. Well might it beat fast! He had just asked Squire Malcom for his daughter. The squire was a choleric person at the best of times, but this morning his humor was fiendish. Orestes, of course, did not know that.

There was a reason for the mood, slight, to be sure, but any reason was sufficient when the time came for one of the old gentleman's rages. He was nearly as proud of his melon patch as of his daughter and felt it a personal insult if anybody else presumed to have melons earlier. Yet here were those miserable Dawsons, outlanders, city bred at that, sending him a melon fully ripe with their compliments and all because he had laughed at Dawson and his gardener when they had talked to him about a certain extra early kind.

Now, it would be quite ten days before he could return the sending.

"Want my girl, eh? Isn't there something else? Don't be mealy mouthed. Ask for my eyeteeth or the farm and all the money I've got in bank!" he roared at poor Orestes, who stood nervously shifting his feet. "By George, sir, I'm amazed at your moderation! Of course I've raised Edith just a-purpose to see her throw herself away. Don't interrupt me, sir! I know all you're going to say—you love her and don't care a bit that she'll have more money than any other girl around. I've heard that from better men than you are. I tell you, as I've told them, she's not for any such cattle. I want her myself yet awhile. When I give her up it's going to be to a man. Be off with you now, sir, and don't let me see you here again—not unless you're willing to swear there shall be no more of this nonsense."

"I'm going," Orestes said hoarsely, turning half about. "But what you call 'this nonsense' is going to last—with me and with Edith, too, I believe. We'll wait a year to let you come to a better temper. But I'm going to see her across your gate every little while. I won't ever set foot on your land again, though, unless you ask it."

"Do you think I'll have such scandalous behavior?" the squire shouted. A hand fell over his lips. Edith had crept up behind him.

"Unless you will have it I shall go with Restes right straight off," she said, with a set of the mouth and a lowering of the brow that made of her her father's daughter. In suffocating anger that forbade speech the squire waved the pair away. Edith would not go. She held out her hand to Orestes, saying: "I'll be at the gate tonight. We'll settle things there." Then as the young fellow strode off she fetched cool water to bathe the squire's head, fanned him and made him sit under the grapevines, saying no word to him until he had come to a semblance of reason. When she saw his head droop thoughtfully and his cane make faint plunges into the turf she whispered: "Don't fret yourself sick, father. You know you can't really say anything against Restes. He's as good as he's ugly."

"He's a molly coddle, brought up at his granny's apron strings," the squire interrupted.

"Then I like molly coddles, and I've been brought up to know men," she said, running away to see about dinner. The squire looked after her with a scowl that softened at last to a sigh. He thought the world of her. Love was indeed at the bottom of his scorn for poor Orestes.

Fate had hard lines ahead of the squire. Edith went duly to the gate every Wednesday evening at sundown and spent an hour there in earnest talk with her sweetheart. Even the squire could not bring himself to ignore Orestes completely when they met, but he never went beyond the gruff nod all the three Sundays before he was laid by the heels. Obstinacy—of man and beast—brought that about. Blicky, the buggy mare, took occasion to balk just at the top of the lane hill, and, instead of humoring her by walking up what remained of the rise, her master sat tight and tried to make her pull him. The result was much backing, kicking and at last an upset vehicle and a broken leg for the squire with the prospect of spending a month at least flat on his back.

He roared and raged if by any chance Edith was out of his sight. For two weeks she did not see Orestes, but when the third Wednesday came she put on her bonnet with the air of a person not to be gainsaid. At the door of the squire's room she paused to say: "If you want anything, father, ring your bell—it's right there at hand—and Sally will come in. You'd better ring it every little while, else she'll go to sleep. I hate going, but there is no other way—not unless you"—

She stopped tentatively, her eyes wistful. The squire glared at her, his eyes full of fury. "So! This is your notion of duty," he said thickly. "Very well. Go your gait! I'm old and helpless, but there are a few things I can do."

"Yes, you can ring for Sally and scare her out of her wits," Edith said, trying to laugh as she walked away. At the doorstep she was tempted to go back, but the thought of Orestes waiting so patiently at the roadside was too much for her.

The squire lay for ten minutes tensely brooding, his face drawn and lined. Then he sat up and began recklessly to hitch himself out of bed. Within reach were the crutches which he was to essay tomorrow. Once he put out his hand to the bell, but drew it back, muttering: "No! By the Lord, I'll do it all myself! I'll show them they can't run over me—not quite." Then, still muttering and mumbling, he wrapped himself in his dressing gown, reached for the crutches and swayed and staggered across to the door.

The squire sat down heavily upon the second step of the broad stairway and began craftily going up backward. He lifted himself from tread to tread, then drew the crutches after him. By some whim he had kept his desk and all his papers in the big south chamber that had been his wife's. He was going there now. If he lived to come back from it, he would leave behind a new will, one that would come near to disinheriting his rebellious child. It would do more than that. It would set forth her rebellion, her neglect of him, in such fashion as to shame her, here where honor to parents was so vital a part of decency.

Painfully, with set teeth and agonized twinges, he won to his goal and sat in front of the opened desk. He found the will readily and tore it through angrily, then wrote upon the biggest fragment, "This is the work of a neglected father."

But all this had taken time, and dusk was falling rapidly.

He snatched up a fresh sheet and began to write, but the racing darkness was too quick for him. Before he was half through he stopped and looked about him, full of thwarted, impotent rage. He flung out his hand and struck it against a taper which had lain there so long he had forgotten it. By its feeble light he finished the new will and signed his name with a heavy, scrawling flourish.

Slowly, heavily, he got up and tried to steady himself while he put the crutches in place, but a sharp twinge made him stagger. He lost balance and fell prone, overturning the lighted taper and bringing it in contact with the contents of an open drawer. They blazed up merrily. In a wink the whole room was ablaze. As he lay helpless he saw the flames lick at the carvings on top of the desk. Then indeed the squire groaned aloud and dragged himself to the open window.

A wall of fire was behind him, before him a fall of almost twenty feet! To swing out and drop down below meant certain death even if he had strength for it. He shouted, but nothing came of it. Sally was really fast asleep in the cool back yard. He shut his eyes and thought of Edith's mother. In the great extremity there came a flash of comfort—when he was dead both wills would be burned, and Edith, his only child, would have everything. He ought to have been angry, but somehow he could not be. The mounting flames made his own wrath look poor and tame. He had given up and was waiting for the end when straight through the wall of fire there burst a slim figure, sheeted and blackened, but moving like the light itself. In a wink it had torn off the wet blankets protecting it, swathed the squire in them and was bearing him out to safety regardless of the flames that leaped at its own head. Once through the door other arms laid hold on him and helped to bear him down the stairs. When he came to himself fully he was stretched on the grass at a safe distance, while neighbors and farm folk fought the fire to a finish.

The squire lay very still, but kept his eyes on one slim scorched figure that led all the rest. When the danger was past he raised himself on his elbow and said, pointing to the slim leader: "Daughter, I take back everything. You've chosen a man."

Bancroft's Answer.

I have just heard a good mot—it is not more than a mot—of Bancroft, the American historian, who is now United States minister at Berlin. Loftus, our ambassador there, thought, I suppose, that the Yankee was a fair and would be an easy butt for the shafts of his peculiarly refined wit, so attacks him before a hundred listeners on some public occasion with "In God's name, Mr. Bancroft, why don't you Yankees send your representatives to court like Christians, in a proper uniform, instead of turning them out all dressed in black, like so many undertakers?"

Whereto Bancroft replies: "Really, Lord Augustus, I am surprised that you, as ambassador of the queen of England and with those keen powers of penetration for which you are so generally distinguished, should have failed to perceive that we could not be more appropriately dressed than we are at European courts, where what we represent is the burial of monarchy."—From Letters of Lord Lytton.

Shoplifters In Bookstores.

"Ours is one business in which there are no women shoplifters," said a bookseller yesterday. "We are troubled with shoplifters, but they are all men. Women don't seem to have any time for book stealing. It's remarkable how many thefts we detect in the course of a week. Visitors who look prosperous enough to buy whole libraries are often caught abstracting a twenty-five cent book. I figure that this is due to the great temptation. You see, in bookstores callers are given the run of the place and are at liberty to examine the stock at their leisure. A man picks up some little volume he may want, and, seeing no one at hand, the temptation to get something for nothing is too much for him. He slips the coveted article into his pocket, but we have wary salesmen, and most such offenders are tripped up. Then they have to pay for the purloined volumes and are warned that more serious consequences will follow any repetition of the shoplifting."—Philadelphia Record.

PRACTICAL MARRIAGE

[Original.]

There is no element in a man's life that contributes more to his success or failure than the woman he chooses for a helpmeet.

Ralph Bawnard married a girl who thought more of her present comfort than keeping her husband in those channels for which he was fitted. No sooner did he begin to win a competence in one field than she proceeded to remove him to another. She disliked the country, so she made his life miserable till he pulled up stakes and went to the city. Then she took it into her head that she preferred to live in the same place with his mother, and they moved again. A rolling stone gathers no moss, and the Bawnard family gathered only debts.

One day a young woman of pleasing appearance called at Bawnard's office to collect a debt of long standing. Bawnard asked her if she knew where he could borrow the money ($100) on his note. "At what interest?" asked the girl. "I'll pay as high as 3 per cent a month," was the reply. "For how long?" "Oh, as long as you like—three years." The girl thought awhile, then said she would lend him the money herself. "Give me your note for $8," she said, "and we will be square." Bawnard asked her what she meant. "The amount loaned is $100, the interest $108. You will owe me $8 and get no money."

Bawnard was taught a lesson that he never forgot.

Five years passed. Bawnard was a widower. From the time of his wife's death he managed his affairs with proper care and got them in fair condition. He was very lonely, but he was untrammeled, and it was possible for him to remain in one place and accumulate. The only drawback financially was that he had no one to attend to the buying of household supplies, which needed constant attention, since prices were rising with frightful rapidity. His capital was still limited, and he was not yet very quick pay. This kept him from that financial good standing which enables a man to get on.

One day the same woman collector who had called upon him before came to his office to collect a debt. She looked tidy and thrifty, and what little she said was to the point. Bawnard kept her talking as long as he could. He had the money to pay with, but he did not care to pay. He was thinking what a valuable woman the collector was. Bawnard chatted with her good naturedly and drew her into commonplace affairs, quietly drawing her out. He soon made up his mind that she was a very practical as well as attractive young woman. Thus he won her sympathy by telling her his troubles, assured her that he was doing the best he could and ended by offering to pay up the indebtedness by installments. If she would call every Saturday afternoon he would pay something on account till the matter was settled. To this she agreed and took her departure.

The next Saturday she called, and Bawnard in addition to the installment had a few flowers for her, an acknowledgment, he said, of her kindness, her trouble and her patience. She accepted them gladly and warmed to the donor. The next Saturday after that a buggy was standing at the door, and he invited her to take a drive. He said she would oblige him by doing so; that he was not very well, he needed recreation and had no companion unless she would go with him. To show her that he was not using money that should go to pay his account he gave her a double installment.

During the ride he told her that he had two nice little tots at home, but had no suitable person to take care of them. She pitied the poor widower and said she would like to see them. He gave his home address, and during the next week she went in and spent an hour with them. Then followed some toys. On her next coming to the office she gave him an invitation to call upon her.

Bawnard called and was impressed with the pleasant appearance of the home, which was under the care of the young woman herself. He was especially struck with the homemade curtains, tablecloths—indeed, all articles that could be produced without being paid for. He made several calls and with each call was still more of the opinion that some young man who considers merely a pretty face and coy ways the proper attributes for a housekeeper was losing an opportunity.

The next Saturday afternoon when the collector called Bawnard, being alone in the office, handed her the remainder of the money due and took her receipt for the account in full. Then he said to her:

"Since our acquaintance began with a matter of business I wish it to continue as a matter of business. Usually affairs between men and women begin with love and end with business. That is the reason why marriage is said to be a lottery. I have observed that you are a sensible, frugal woman, with good business qualifications. I offer you the position of wife and housekeeper. If you accept you may be sure of my love.

The offer was accepted, and Ralph married his second wife. In her he found a helpmeet who instead of retarding him assisted him in getting on. His children were well taken care of and, if they did not receive a mother's affection, did not lack for all that could be expected from one who was not their mother. The improved financial condition of the father was certainly to their comfort.

TO BOOM PLAYGROUNDS.

National Convention to Be Held at Chicago Next June.

Chicago, the greatest public playground city in the world, will entertain guests prominent in the movement from cities on two continents at the first annual convention of the National Playgrounds association next June, says the Chicago Post.

Although the movement is comparatively a new one, its significance may be judged from the fact that President Roosevelt is the honorary president of the organization.

Among the visitors will be Jacob Riis of New York, Joseph Lee of Boston, Dr. Gulick of New York and "uplifters" from England and Germany. It is possible President Roosevelt will attend the convention. On the Chicago committee are Miss Jane Addams, Mrs. Emmons Blaine, Miss Mary E. McDowell and Frederick Greeley.

"We intend to inaugurate a movement," said Mr. Greeley recently, "to stimulate interest in playgrounds in every city in America. Playgrounds do not cost much, and they do much good. Much of the crime perpetrated today is the work of gangs of young hoodlums. As children they have no place, except the streets, in which to play. Their energies are misdirected. They break windows, rob freight cars and commit petty thieveries. They are not vicious by nature and would have turned out differently had they had the advantages offered by playgrounds.

"In these little amusement parks they are brought into contact with good influences. They find a friend in the athletic instructor. They become interested in the organization of athletic teams.

"Hundreds of children would be at a loss for something to do in the long vacation if it were not for these playgrounds. Opportunities are offered for the girls to learn basket weaving and sewing and for the boys to show their skill in handiwork. The playgrounds provide healthy exercise and recreation for thousands.

"It is our boast that Chicago leads in the number of playgrounds. The south park commission has been active in securing a dozen or more on the south side. The west park board already has begun to co-operate with our association, and the north side is waking up to the importance of the work. There is plenty to be done yet in Chicago, and the north and west sides will be our objective points of attack."

FOR HUDSON CELEBRATION.

Great Naval Display and Illumination of the River Probable.

Admiral Joseph B. Coghlan, chairman of the subcommittee on naval parade in 1909, made a report to the trustees of the Hudson-Fulton celebration commission the other day, says the New York Times. He said that the only place where large ships in fleet could be properly maneuvered after once going up the river was in Newburg bay. It was too far, however, for the fleet to proceed to Newburg and return on the same day, and they therefore recommended that the vessels designated go up the river, anchor at night in Newburg bay, have an illumination of the ships on that night and be prepared to deliver the Half Moon and Clermont to vessels coming from Albany in order that they might be taken on to Albany.

The fleet of men-of-war and other vessels would then return from Newburg, anchor off New York and be prepared to take part in the illumination of the entire fleet on the second night. Foreign governments would be asked to send naval vessels to take part.

Admiral Coghlan said the government would be able to anchor from thirty to thirty-five men-of-war off New York at the time of the celebration.

William Berri proposed that signal fires be lighted along the whole Hudson river from New York to Albany at places to be established by the commission and in sight of each other. These could be lighted simultaneously upon a signal flashed from Washington by the president, and each signal fire would be the rallying point for local celebrations with appropriate exercises along the entire river. The suggestion was received with favor.

The reports of the other working committees showed that the celebration will occupy practically the whole of the week beginning Monday, Sept. 20, 1909.

At the Association alleys Wednesday night, the Prunes, a picked up team from the Y. M. C. A., defeated the Lemons, an outside team from South Quincy, in a three string total—by 15 pins. The Prunes in order of their total scores were: Messrs. Newcomb, Troupe, Ricker and Howard. The Lemons were Messrs. Gavin, Johnson, Fornell and Moran.

—A fox whose weight was 13 1-4 pounds, and whose pelt measured 56 inches from tip to tip, was brought in from the woods at Kennebunk, Me., this week by Archer Knight and William Jewell, the latter a traveling salesman. The fox gave them a five-hour chase, a distance of eight miles, and then turned on their dog, biting him so severely that they had to go to the rescue with a club. It was the largest fox captured in that vicinity in recent years.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

LOTS OF SMOKE

But Little Fire In the Block Occupied by Rogers Bros.

The alarm from Box 28 at 8.20 Thursday night called the department to a fire in the basement of Rogers Bros. store on the corner of Hancock street and Merrymount road. There was not a great amount of fire, but owing to its location and the amount of dense black smoke it took forty minutes to subdue it.

The fire was discovered by a boy passing along the street. He saw smoke coming from the store and ran to Mr. Rogers' house and notified him, and the alarm sounded. Chief Litchfield was in City Square at the time and he was the first fireman on the scene.

The Central station apparatus was close behind him. They made unusually quick time, having water on the fire in five minutes from the first blow of the alarm.

Chief Litchfield entered the store and started to investigate. The smoke was so dense, however, that he had gone but a few steps before he was overcome and fell to the floor.

Right behind him were firemen with a line of hose. They could not see the Chief, but the stream of water from their hose fortunately struck him. The cold water quickly revived him and he went on as though nothing had happened. Finding that the fire was in the basement he directed that a line of hose be carried to the basement windows in the rear of the building.

In forcing the nozzle through the window hoseman John F. Desmond of the Central station combination received a bad cut by glass on his left hand.

It was impossible for the firemen to enter the basement on account of the smoke, but water was poured into it and that soon drenched out the flames.

The fire did not get beyond the basement although the smoke penetrated the other rooms in the block.

Two of these are occupied by the New England Telephone Co. as stock room and office of the division superindent. There is also the harness shop of David Driscoll, and another by a sculptor.

Mr. Rogers estimates his loss at $50. The cause of the fire is unknown. The store had been closed but a few minutes and there was no sign of a fire at that time. In the basement were some empty oil barrels, boxes, etc.

The insurance held by the Quincy Mutual company of the city was promptly adjusted this morning at $100.

Government Trials Of Submarines

The submarine Octopus built at Quincy will have an official test in February. A dispatch from Washington to the Transcript says:

Competitive tests of submarine torpedo boats will begin in Narraganset Bay on Feb. 18, next year. For these tests Congress at its last session appropriated $1,000,000 and a special board, of which Captain Adolph Marix, U. S. N., is president, will try out the competing boats, giving a week or more of time to tests of each boat.

The Octopus of the Holland type and a craft which was built by the inventor. Simon Lake, at Newport News, Va., will be the competing boats. During the tests, speed conditions while afloat and while submerged will be determined and there will be tests of torpedo firing and cable and mining work. The boats will be taken out to sea for part of their tests to determine their stability under varying conditions, including stormy weather.

Wholesale Order For Submarines

It is probable that there will be some opposition in Congress to large appropriations for new battleships. In any case, however, there will be work for the Quincy shipyard, for Representative Gregg of Texas, a member of the House Committee on Naval Affairs, introduced a bill on Wednesday to provide means of coast defense for the Gulf ports by the purchase of fifteen sub-marine torpedo boats. The measure authorizes the Secretary of the Navy to contract for the purchase of fifteen of the most improved type of boat at a cost not to exceed $5,000,000, of which $1,000,000 is appropriated by the bill.

FORAKER'S VIEWS

He Dissects Testimony Concerning the Brownsville Raid

"PRESIDENT WAS MISLED"

Says He Misconceived Both His Constitutional Power and Evidence In the Case--Demands Full Investigation

Washington, Dec. 21.—Senator Foraker occupied the attention of the senate in its last session before the holiday recess in an extended criticism of the basis of President Roosevelt's action in discharging the negro troops of the Twenty-fifth infantry on account of the Brownsville raid.

Mr. Foraker held that case did not present an open question, but that the authorities gave instances of cases along similar lines, in all of which justice had been administered after trial by court martial. "Congress has always been careful," he continued, "to provide that no man found guilty of an offense should be punished otherwise than congress might direct.

"The president says this is the most atrocious crime ever committed. If these men committed the crime, and did shoot up Brownsville, I agree with him. I have no sympathy with that sort of thing and it may be that it was done. What I want to call attention to is that the president has misconceived both his constitutional power and the evidence in this case. The president says the guilt of these men has been established by the testimony of eye-witnesses as shown by the report of Major Blocksom. I have counted the witnesses in the report of Major Blocksom and there are just 21 of them. Their testimony was taken by a self-constituted citizens' committee and no oaths administered."

Mr. Foraker then went through the evidence in question, reading extracts from the testimony and eliminating as "eye-witnesses" those who said they had not seen those who did the shooting, until he had reduced the number of actual eye-witnesses to eight. As to these, he remarked that their testimony was "utterly unsatisfactory and insufficient" to find the men guilty of the crime of which they were charged.

Mr. Foraker spent some time paying his respects to Blocksom, who made the report, who, he said, was a native of Zanesville, O. His father was an ardent Vallandingham copperhead Democrat, of a school known to entertain violent antipathy to the negro. Blocksom, Foraker continued, had evidently developed an enthusiastic admiration for one of the witnesses, a Captain McDonald of the Texas Rangers, as evidenced by the statement in his report that "this man was so brave that he would charge hell with a bucket of water."

"I would like to cross-examine a man so brave as that," remarked the senator.

Replying to a question from Senator Knox as to whether there was no other evidence except that furnished in the Blocksom report, Foraker said he had been unable to discover any other, and in this he believed the president had been misled.

Mr. Foraker repeated several times during his speech that he believed the president had been imposed upon. "But," he added, "I believe he is a big enough man and a just enough man to undo what he has done when he finds out the true situation."

When he had concluded he gave notice that he should modify his resolution asking for investigation should the military committee deem it necessary, so as to make it mandatory in the committee to fully investigate the matter. This resolution is before the senate for action at its next meeting.

Coming to a defense of the president, Senator Lodge said that he had read enough of the testimony to ascertain that there were two sides of this question and he should like to be informed about both sides. There was a question of justice involved, not only to the men discharged, but to the president and the secretary of war.

Mr. Lodge pointed out that the record of the Twenty-fifth regiment showed that at four times since 1885 it had been involved in similar escapades.

Senator Scott concluded the debate by commenting that yesterday he had been in conversation with a retired army officer who had commanded the Twenty-fifth regiment for 16 years and declared it to be as reliable as any in the service. Negro troops, he said, were the only ones who never failed to win a battle against the Indians. He sustained the demand of the Ohio senator for a full investigation of the matter by the senate military committee.

"If I have studied the history of the Spanish-American war accurately," he concluded, "I am right in the conclusion that if it had not been for the Tenth cavalry possibly we would not today have the privilege of having that gallant soldier in the White House."

Receiver For Insurance Company

Atlanta, Dec. 21.—Judge Pendleton has appointed Philip Alston temporary receiver of the German Insurance company of Freeport, Ills., and restrained the company from changing the status of its assets in this state. It is charged that the company is insolvent. The Prowl Hardware company states that it holds policies for $1500 in the company and has recently suffered a loss by fire amounting to $4974, which remains unpaid.

IMMORALITY CHARGED

Promotion of Gallant Officer Followed by Grave Accusations

Washington, Dec. 21.—Assertions made that charges were being forwarded from Manila to the war department against the moral character of Brigadier General Pershing, recently elevated from the rank of major over 605 of his seniors, has thrown social Washington into a tumult and the incident is the all-absorbing topic of discussion.

Because of Pershing's promotion over the heads of hundreds of officers the present scandal has created a sensation in army circles such as has not been experienced in years.

A movement is now on foot to have the charges presented and acted upon by the committee on military affairs, of which Pershing's father-in-law, Senator Warren of Wyoming, is chairman. Prominent socially previous to his marriage to Warren's only daughter in 1905, Pershing's wedding was recorded as one of the smartest ever celebrated in army circles of this city.

After receiving his Philippine detail General (then captain) Pershing made an enviable record for himself in the field. The charges which are being sent to this country assert that while stationed on the Island of Mindanao, Pershing continuously lived with a Filipino woman, Joaquina Bondo y Ignaecio by name, who is said to be one of four very beautiful sisters of the island.

General Pershing first attracted the attention of President Roosevelt when he successfully subdued the Moros of the Island of Mindanao and his continued good work in the wild and unruly districts of the district brought him added fame.

Jett Assumes Blame For Murder

Cynthiana, Ky., Dec. 21.—Curtis Jett, the feudist, took the witness stand in his own behalf and surprised the prosecution by confessing to the murder of Town Marshal Cockrill in Jackson four years ago. For this crime Jett is now on trial. He had made a previous confession implicating Judge Hargis and Sheriff Callahan. Jett yesterday claimed to be alone when he killed Cockrill and said that it was a case of his life or Cockrill's. The prosecution believes he is trying to shield the two other men.

Defrauded the Government

Omaha, Dec. 21.—The trial of President Richards, Vice President Comstock and Secretary-Treasurer Jamieson of the Nebraska Land and Feeding company, controlling the 400,000-acre "spade" ranch, and Aquilla Triplett, their agent, ended last evening in the conviction of the four defendants for conspiracy to defraud the government of public lands and subornation of perjury. The jury took only two hours to consider the evidence. This trial has been in progress since Nov. 19.

Execution Leads to Strike

Radom, Poland, Dec. 21.—A student named Werner, 17 years old, was tried by drumhead court martial here, convicted and shot to death for having killed Colonel Plotta. Werner threw a bomb at Plotta Dec. 16 and Plotta died the next day of his injuries. When the workmen of this vicinity learned of the execution of Werner they declared a general strike.

Overdue Steamer Safe

Seattle, Dec. 21.—The overdue steamship Pennsylvania arrived here last night from Valdea. She brought 82 passengers, a great quantity of ore and a fortune in golddust. She was buffeted by storms when making only two knots an hour, because of defective boilers, and at once time was within a quarter of a mile of rocks.

HIS SENTENCE COMMUTED

Will Now Make an Effort to Secure Freedom--Won For Himself What Some of Country's Best Lawyers Could Not Do

Ossining, N. Y., Dec. 21.—The first news of the action of Governor Higgins in commuting to life imprisonment the sentence imposed upon Albert T. Patrick was taken to the prisoner's cell in the death house in Sing Sing prison by his wife. Patrick received the news with the coolness which has characterized his actions during his long struggle for freedom. He seemed not at all surprised to learn that the governor had intervened to save his life.

Patrick announced last night that he was not satisfied with commutation and would at once begin his fight for freedom. A writ of habeas corpus will be applied for, it is said, in the United States court, making Warden Johnson the defendant.

Appealed For a Pardon

Albany, Dec. 21.—Albert T. Patrick has been saved by Governor Higgins from further peril of the death chair, in whose shadow he has stood for nearly five years, convicted of the murder of William M. Rice, the aged New York city millionaire.

In a brief memorandum laying stress upon the dissenting opinions of the judges of the court of appeals, which affirmed Patrick's conviction by a vote of four to three, the governor announced that he had commuted the death sentence to imprisonment for life.

The governor was shown a dispatch from a New York newspaper to a correspondent, in which it was asserted that Patrick denied having sent the governor any appeal for clemency, would refuse to accept the commutation, and insist upon his "right to die."

"Mr. Patrick cannot determine what his punishment shall be," said the governor. "He is mistaken if he says he sent me no application. In fact, I have several, one in particular asking for a pardon. He will have to be careful, or he may find himself in Matteawan. The long strain seems to have been too much for him."

Matteawan is the location of the state hospital for insane criminals.

Albert T. Patrick, according to the confession of Charles F. Jones, valet to William M. Rice, conspired with Jones to cause the death of the old millionaire and seize the greater portion of his estate, which has been variously estimated from $6,000,000 to $20,000,000. Jones said Patrick influenced him to place a cone, formed of a towel and containing a sponge saturated with chloroform, over the face of Rice as he lay sleeping and hold it there until he was dead.

Patrick was a lawyer. In connection with litigation over Mrs. Rice's estate, Patrick became acquainted with Rice. Patrick has all along insisted that he was Rice's legal adviser and that the management of his affairs was placed by the old man in his hands.

It was Patrick, according to Jones, who conceived the idea of murdering Rice and seizing his estate. He said that Patrick argued and pleaded with him a long time before the valet finally agreed to commit the deed.

Rice was murdered Sept. 23, 1900. On Nov. 1 Jones confessed the whole thing, claiming that Patrick did the murder. In his story of the crime Jones said:

"I heard Mr. Rice laughing after I, at Patrick's request, had left the room. I peeped in and saw Mr. Rice lying on his back and the towel was folded in a cone shape and was over his whole face, and Mr. Patrick was holding it with his right hand. Patrick had told me that the stuff on the towel was liniment. After the detectives came Patrick telephoned to me: 'We are in for it. Look out for the worst.'"

Patrick won for himself what some of the best lawyers of the country could not do. One of his attorneys was David B. Hill, who appeared before the court of appeals and tried in vain to get a new trial for the condemned man.

The lawyer-prisoner directed his counsel in court at the trial, and since then he has either drawn or suggested all of the legal papers which carried his case three times to the court of appeals, as many times to the appellate division, twice to the governor, once again before Recorder Goff on a question of new evidence which failed lamentably, and then up to the United States supreme court.

More than 3500 physicians of the state were signers of a petition presented to Governor Higgins in behalf of Patrick.

The main medical question involved, vital in the conviction of Patrick, is whether the congestion of the lungs, alleged to have been found in the autopsy upon Rice's body, could have been caused by embalming fluid, or must have been the result of chloroform with which Jones, Rice's valet, in one of his several contradictory confessions, said he had killed the old man by Patrick's direction.

Valet Jones was given his freedom in return for his confession. When last heard from he was in Texas.

diversity of fortune, there was not a man whose heart sang louder for joy. If he had been able to communicate with Langdale and express his sense of gratitude the day would have been perfect, but Langdale was celebrating Christmas in some secure retreat, no one knew where.

On Saturday morning Macmillan went to the city and spent an hour or more in his office. He was at work there and singing as he toiled when there came a tap at the door. Macmillan admitted a young man, whom he presently recognized as a clerk of Langdale's.

"Mr. Macmillan," said this man, without so much as a bow by way of greeting, "did you receive a letter with a check in it?"

"Yes," answered Macmillan cheerily; "I received it Thursday afternoon."

The visitor moistened his lips.

"You haven't cashed it yet?" he asked.

"But I have," was the reply. "I needed the money right away."

The young man sank down in a chair.

"I'm knocked out, I guess," he said in a high keyed voice. "I'm done for—that's the truth about me."

"Why, what's the matter?"

"I've been speculating—we all do—in Langdale's shop. We get tips, you know—some good, some bad, but they all look good. A fellow who is a sort of an office boy there has made over $10,000," and he laughed nervously. "but I couldn't make a cent. Oh, it was my own money. There's nothing wrong. But it's knocked me out. I don't know what I'm doing. I drew that check of yours. Here's Mr. Langdale's memorandum, '$50.00.' Well, I couldn't see the decimal point, and, though I'd heard him say fifty, I drew it for $5,000, and he signed it."

He passed a crumpled slip of paper to Macmillan, whose hair had begun to stir at the roots. Upon the paper were these words scribbled in pencil: "Draw check to order of Richard Macmillan for $50.00."

"Most men wouldn't write the last two ciphers at all," said the clerk, "but Mr. Langdale always does. So I might have known what the amount was. I've drawn enough checks for him in the last three years."

Macmillan passed his hand along the top of his head.

"This is very important," he said. "Of course it shall be rectified, but—but I'm afraid I can't command the money immediately. I will explain, however, to Mr. Langdale on Monday, and," he added, moved by the weariness and misery in the other's countenance, "I will put in a good word for you."

"It's kind of you to say so," responded the clerk. "My name is Tunbridge."

He rose and stretched himself like a weary animal, then moved stiffly toward the door. But Macmillan called him back and talked to him for a long time cheerfully, so that he went away in better spirits. This kindness was very ill requited, though not willfully, for poor Tunbridge was wholly unaware that he had added to Macmillan's burden. The fact is, however, that he had made Macmillan see clearly what an egregious blind owl he had been. Surely the feeblest perceptive powers should have sufficed to inform him that the check had been sent in error. The whole tenor of the note which accompanied it was relevant of Langdale's design. He had maliciously renewed his contribution of $50 to Macmillan's charity fund in order to imply that he believed the clergyman had called upon him for the purpose of reminding him of it.

Macmillan had spent about $2,500 of the money in such a way that he could never get it back, and Amy would not be benefited one penny unless he should disburse about $1,500 more on Monday, and this, of course, he could not do. How he was to return the $2,500 to Langdale within a reasonable time he did not know. He had stolen it, in effect, for the simplest common sense should have kept him from such frantic haste. Monday would have served him quite as well as Thursday for the payments and would have given him opportunity to assure himself of the reality of Langdale's generosity.

Mr. and Mrs. Langdale returned from a Christmas visit on Monday morning, and the lady went on alone to their home in Larchmont, whence she telephoned to her husband at his office about 11 o'clock. The chief part of her message was that she had found some very pretty presents that had been sent by Miss Amy Branford and Miss Martha Macmillan. How did her husband account for this? Had he not told her of a quarrel with Mr. Macmillan a year ago? Had he not advised her against sending anything to Miss Branford and Miss Macmillan?

Langdale had neglected to tell his wife about Macmillan's call and had willfully concealed his own malign jest in the matter of the fifty dollar check. Now therefore he disclosed the one and still hid the other.

"You'd better hustle around and get them something," said he, "something rather nice, and invent some excuse for the delay."

The incident passed from his mind immediately, for he was called to consider a matter of considerable gravity. This developed in the visit of a Mr. Gridley, one of the very few persons to whom Mr. Langdale told the truth.

"Well, Gridley," said he when that gentleman had drifted noiselessly into the office, "have you looked him up?"

"It's Dr. Hayward, all right," responded Gridley. "I took one of your boys up there to see him, and I've heard from Omaha. The cousin racket is a fake, and I don't suppose there's any doubt that somebody has got Hayward to make a report on your health, though I can't find out who it is."

"It's the Dey Street bank gang, of course," responded Langdale. "This accounts for the bluff that they're making. They think I'm going to break down. What do you think about it?" he demanded upon a sudden impulse, for he had caught a look in the detective's eye. "What change do you notice in me? Come! You're a keen eyed chap. Tell me!"

Gridley hesitated.

"Well, sir," he said at last, "aside from your general appearance, which isn't what it was, I notice a kind of something in your speech, a sort of hesitation. Now, there was a man I knew who got into a state where if he wanted to say 'dollar' he couldn't think of the word, and sometimes he'd say any old thing, perfectly ridiculous. I believe they call it aphasia."

"Yes," said Langdale, paling, "that's what they call it."

An attendant entered, bringing Macmillan's card.

"Here's the fellow that put us on to Hayward," said Langdale. "I thanked him heartily, but of course he didn't know what I was talking about. Well, he'll have to wait now till Hayward shows up. He's my first duty now. I'll give him a jolt, and then he'll run to his employers, of course, and you'll see where he goes."

Langdale was waiting grimly when Hayward's presence was made known to him. He had prepared a greeting consisting of the single word "doctor," which he knew would startle Hayward more than any other utterable sound. The door opened. Hayward entered. Langdale drew breath to speak, but what was that word? The word, the word! He knew the meaning as well as ever in his life, but not the word. Phantoms of words galloped through his brain, but of them all he could catch only a phrase that Gridley had used, and it was that which he uttered:

THE DOOR BETWEEN THE TWO ROOMS WAS OPEN, AND HE DARED NOT CLOSE IT NOW.

"Perfectly ridiculous."

"I beg your pardon," said Hayward.

Time—time was what Langdale needed—time in which to triumph over this enemy in his own brain, whose state must be concealed from this man at all costs.

"I was thinking about a man who is waiting to see me," said Langdale, and, to his own surprise, he now spoke sanely enough. "Would you mind stepping into this other room while I see what he wants? He's a minister and a relative of my wife's, and I don't like to keep him out there with the rabble."

"Certainly," said Hayward and entered the adjoining room.

Langdale sank into his chair and tried to bring the word "doctor" to his lips, but he had not succeeded when Macmillan entered.

"Mr. Langdale," said the clergyman, "I want to speak two words, one for myself and one for an unfortunate young man in your employ, a Mr. Tunbridge. It appears that in drawing a check to my order he mistook the amount. He has had great trouble and is suffering from what I should call nervous prostration. Probably a little rest will bring him round all right, and if I may venture to speak in his behalf I would urge you to grant him a bit of a vacation, with perhaps a friendly word or two to start him on his recovery."

"What did he do?" said Langdale.

"He drew the check for five thousand"—

Langdale stopped him with a gesture. The door between the two rooms was open, and he dared not close it now, and doubly he dared not have Hayward hear this story. Rich lunatics throw away their money. That is why they are locked up by anxious relatives. If Hayward should report this to the Dey street crowd they would withdraw even the proposition which they had made.

And with that proposition Langdale was now content. He had seen the handwriting on the wall. A man who can't say "doctor" when he tries is in no state for a long and bitter warfare of wits with clever enemies. His one idea now was to keep his condition from Hayward's knowledge. But his decision to accept the proposition of the Dey street people he desired Hayward to know and report, for the reaction following a quiet tip of that kind would help him to dispose of the stock which he had acquired. Insiders would then buy greedily, thinking that they were acting upon stolen information.

All this passed through Langdale's powerful mind in a moment.

"For five thousand?" he said, echoing Macmillan's words. "Well, why not?"

"But you told him fifty!" gasped Macmillan.

Langdale laughed softly.

"Poor fellow!" he said. "Poor fellow! This is really my fault. I've noticed that Tunbridge was breaking down. He's done quite a number of queer things around the shop. I ought to have given him a vacation long ago. Now I'll stake him to a good one, so don't worry about him, and, as for his tale, it's mere moonshine. I told him to draw the check for $5,000, and I signed it with great good will. I understood that you needed the money to pull Miss Branford's property out of the fire, and, heaven knows, I'd like to see you do it. And, besides," he continued, with the expansive freedom of a man who finds that he is lying exceptionally well, "besides, I owe you something for yourself. Yes, sir; I've never had the law laid down to me as you laid it down. It made me see that business in the right light, and what with that and all this talk in the papers and my wife's conscience (which she generously shares with me) I've decided to let the whole thing go. Those fellows have made me a decent proposition, and I'm going to accept it, and then I'm going to take my wife to Europe for six months and have a nice, quiet time. She's been begging me to go, and now I'm going to do it as a sort of belated Christmas present. Mind you, this is all confidential."

"But, my dear Langdale, all this money"—

"My dear Richard, it's a Christmas present to you and Amy, so say no more about it."

As to any expressions of gratitude which he may have had the grace to utter Macmillan retained only a vague memory. He was so completely unmanned that he thought best to go to his office and be quiet for a few minutes before transacting the business which was now so easy.

He had barely had time to address a few appropriate remarks to Amy's picture and indite one brief letter when a knock at the door announced Dr. Hayward. The distinguished physician had come to make a little explanation. Doubtless Mr. Macmillan had remarked some change in Mr. Langdale of late. Doubtless he knew of Mr. Langdale's prejudice against doctors. Mrs. Langdale, however, was a very sensible woman and had been reasonably anxious about her husband, so she had prevailed upon Dr. Hayward to depart from the usual routine of professional life and call upon a patient incog.

"I'm afraid I gave Mr. Langdale a hint," said Macmillan. "I deeply regret it."

"Oh, that's all right," replied the doctor. "It makes no difference now. You've done more for him than I could. If he stops this confounded scandal and goes away to Europe he'll be all right. How you ever persuaded him to do it I don't know."

"I cannot understand it any more than you can," responded Macmillan.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

An original six-column illustrated story is a feature of the Daily Ledger today. It is a Christmas story by Howard Fielding, entitled "The Benefactor."

Mr. C. W. Guy, of this city, the author of "Whoa" and other stories for children, is obtaining national prominence because of his proclamation appointing Dec. 24 as "News boys benefit day." He suggest that everybody pay five cents or more on that day for two-cent papers.

For many years subscribers of the Patriot and Daily Ledger have remembered their newsboy at Christmas and New Years. The boys brave all kinds of weather, the heat and the cold, and generally can be depended on every day in the year. A slight remembrance is sure to be appreciated by them.

The publishers of the Quincy Patriot hereby designate Dec. 29 as News boys' benefit day, but for the Daily Ledger will fall in line with Mr. Guy who names Monday, Dec. 24.

New England still claims the distinction of having the loftiest member in Congress in the person of Representative "Cy" Sulloway of New Hampshire. Vice President Fairbanks is not Tom Thumbesque in his proportions, but as a human skyscraper he cannot compete with the longitudinous Congressman from New Hampshire. Pennsylvania is a close second for lofty honors, its champion being the Hon. Andrew Jackson Barchfeld of Pittsburg, although Representative Barchfeld has only a slight margin of superiority over Representative Slayden of Texas.

To increase the efficiency of the child labor law, Senator Beveridge has introduced a bill to prohibit carriers in interstate commerce from, accepting for transportation products of factories or mines which employ children under fourteen years of age. The measure will compel the owners or agents of all factories and mines to file with the transportation companies affidavits that the goods offered for shipment were manufactured or mined without the use of child labor—or, rather, that the labor of children under 14 years did not enter into their production. This affidavit must be renewed every six months and a heavy penalty is provided for the carrier if the law is not observed. For infractions, the transportation agent may be fined not more than $10,000 nor less than $1,000, while a prison term of from one to six months is optional with the court.

—By the will of Daniel B. Shipman five Chicago institutions get about $1,200,000. Those which get the income of $240,000 each are: Illinois School of Manual Training, Chicago Home for Incurables, Chicago's Old People's Home, Hahemann Hospital of Chicago and St. Luke's Free Hospital.

CHRISTMAS MUSIC

Will be Feature Of Sunday Services in The Churches

The Christmas programs for the churches are continued today. Churches that have not been represented are again requested to send programs.

UNIVERSALIST CHURCH.

Rev. Dr. W. S. Perkins, pastor of the church will have an address appropriate to Christmas at the Sunday afternoon service at 2.30, and the musical program will be more elaborate than usual including:

Voluntary.
'Christmas Morn has Come,"
Full Chorus Choir of 25 voices
"Angels from the realms of glory,"
Chorus Choir
Soprano solo, Miss Carlson
"Angels of the Bells,"
Double trio of female voices
Baritone solo, Mr. Varney
"Christmas Song," Chorus of female voices
Contralto solo, Mrs. Richardson
Prayer Response, Quartet
Tenor solo, Mr. Peverly
"O Little Town of Bethlehem." Mixed Quartet
"Wonderful Night," Full chorus choir
"God be with you till we meet again,"
Congregation led by choir

There has been no sparing of either work or expense to make the service one to please all who are able to attend, and the hour coming as it does will enable those who attend other churches to also attend this service.

SWEDISH LUTHERAN.

The Swedish Lutheran church on Granite street, Rev. S. N. Elvin, pastor, will hold a service Christmas morning, —"Julotta"—at 5.15 o'clock. Extra songs and music. The church is decorated beautifully for the occasion.

The Sunday-school will have its festival Christmas evening at 7 o'clock sharp. A good program of recitals, song and music will be rendered. Christmas presents for the children will be distributed.

The Young People's Society will have its Christmas festival New Year's eve, Dec. 31, at 8 o'clock in the church, which will consist of a grand concert.

ATLANTIC MEMORIAL.

It will be Christmas Sunday at the Memorial Congregational church at Atlantic, and the subject of Rev. J. G. Miller's Christmas sermon at 10.45 A. M. will be: "Contrasts in the life of Jesus." A rich musical program has been arranged, including:

"Bethlehem," Coombs
Response. Caesar Frauck
"There were shepherds," Best
Postlude,—Marche Pontificale, Guilmant

At the service Dr. Hardy will preach a Christmas sermon.

At 6.15 there will be a special Christmas service for the young people of the christian Endeavor society.

At 7.30 the usual Bible School Christmas concert will be held.

On Monday at 5.30 P. M. there will be the usual Christmas festival of the Bible school.

WEST QUINCY M. E.

There will be Christmas services at the West Quincy Methodist Episcopal church on Sunday and Monday. At the 10.30 A. M. service on Sunday, the pastor, Rev. A. B. Tyler, will preach an appropriate sermon and there will be Christmas music by the choir.

Sunday evening at 6 o'clock arrangements have been made for a Christmas concert by the Sunday-school, to which everyone is invited.

Monday evening at 7 o'clock there will be a Christmas tree and exercises by members of the Sunday-school.

WOLLASTON CONGREGATIONAL.

Rev. Edward A. Chase, the pastor, announces a Christmas sermon for the Sunday morning service at 10.45. The Christmas music will include:

"Like Silver Lamps," Barnby
"Angels from the Realms of Glory," Neidlinger
"The Heralds of the King," Bartlett
Choir,—Mrs. Mary Hastings Slade, Miss Ellen J. Smith, Mr. Victor Crawford, Mr. William Howard.
Organist,—Miss Ada Hinckley.

The Bible school will meet at 12.15 and a Christmas concert will be given at 4 P. M.

The Christmas tree and entertainment will take place at 5 P. M. on Christmas day.

QUINCY POINT CHURCH.

At the Washington Street Congregational church, Sunday morning, the musical program will include:

"Behold! I Bring You Good Tidings,"
By Sir John Goss
"Sing, O Daughter of Zion," By Gadsby
"And the Glory of the Lord,"
From "The Messiah

Local and City Brevities

The Sawin Bennett Co., the new furniture store on Granite street, have many articles in bamboo, and a large line of pictures.

Rev. Dr. Hardy officiated on Thursday at the funeral of Mrs. Emma A. Evans at 84 Pleasant street. The burial was at Mt. Wollaston.

Wollaston lodge, American Benefit Society, held its regular meeting in Brasee hall on Tuesday evening. A good attendance of members were present and after the business of the lodge was transacted the members and a few invited guests enjoyed whist for two hours. Refreshments were served by the entertainment committee. A donkey party is on the program for January 15, and much fun is anticipated.

Christmas Tree.

The children at Houghs Neck will hold their annual Christmas festival tonight at the Engine house, which has been prettily decorated for the occasion. There will be a large tree with presents for all the children. A pleasing entertainment has been arranged in which the children will take a prominent part.

Street Railway Purchase.

A dispatch from Augusta, Me., in a morning paper, says that John R. Graham, representing a syndicate of Philadelphia and New York capitalists, has secured control of the Augusta, Winthrop and Gardner street railway. Mr. Graham was formerly president of the Quincy & Boston system, and is at present located in Bangor, Me.

Funeral of Mr. O'Brien.

The funeral of John P. O'Brien was held this morning from St. John's church. A solemn high mass was celebrated by Rev. John J. Coan, assisted by Rev. Julian E. Johnstone and Rev. John P. Cuffe. Miss McDermott of the Gate of Heaven church, South Boston, was soloist, and sang "Passing out of the shadow." There were many floral tributes. The burial was at St. Mary's cemetery.

—The United States Steel Corporation has announced that the wages of its 3000 employees in the Joliet mills will be increased Jan. 1.

—A famine of feul oil prevails in Phoenix, Ariz., and the gas and electric light companies have shut down. The people must resort to wood heat and use candles.

—The Pacific Fruit Express Corporation, with a capital of $12,000,000, is to be formed by the Harriman lines to handle the refrigerator car business. When present orders for equipment have been filled the new corporation will own 6600 refrigerator cars.

☞Arnold & Johnson have a fine lot of Christmas table trees this year which will greatly improve your table and make it look like a genuine Christmas. tf.

A Queer Exchange Of Apologies

THE night Mr. and Mrs. Elton held their reception at the Inside club Mr. Elton, whose eyesight is very poor, bowed politely to every one he saw, including the waiters. Mrs. Elton remonstrated with him for this, and so the remainder of the evening he was more careful in distributing recognitions. But the following unfortunate accident occurred nevertheless:

At 9:30 Mrs. Elton came to him with a wild look in her eye and delivered herself of the alarming news that the silverware they had brought to be used for buffet lunch was in a box downstairs in the cloakroom. Would he hurry down to get it and come up the back way?

Mr. Elton turned to a man at his elbow. "Follow me," he said.

In a moment the box was opened and Mr. Elton fished out an armful of spoons. "Take these," he said, thrusting them at the man. "Fill your pockets as fast as you can. Somebody might come and catch us. I wouldn't have this known for the world. Here's another handful. Tie it up in your napkin."

"Napkin!" exclaimed the man. "Do you suppose I brought a napkin to this reception?"

"Oh, my dear sir," cried Mr. Elton, realizing his error, "I beseech you to pardon me—I entreat you to forgive me—why—er—I took you for a waiter."

"That's all right," responded the guest, with a deprecatory gesture. "Don't give the matter another thought. I took you for a thief!"—Lippincott's Magazine.

This Time the Waiter Tipped.

William C. Whitney, Jr., who has spent a year in Indian Territory learning practical mining at Quapaw, described at a dinner party in New York a Quapaw restaurant.

"One evening at this restaurant," he said, "two miners near me got into a botanical argument about the pineapple, one claiming that it was a fruit and the other that it was a vegetable. In the midst of their argument the waiter entered in his shirt sleeves and looked about to see what was the cause of the loud talking.

"The miners decided to let the waiter settle their argument, and accordingly one of them said:

"'Pete, what is a pineapple? Is it a fruit or a vegetable?'

"The waiter, flicking the ash from his cigar, smiled at the two men with pity.

"'Neither, gents,' he said; 'it's an extra.'"—Boston Herald.

Thorough, but Not Pedantic.

[Overheard at the Louvre.]

American Tourist (suspiciously)—Say, guide, haven't we seen this room before?

Guide—Oh, no, monsieur.

Tourist—Well, see here. We want to see everything, but we don't want to see anything twice!—Punch.

A Slight Mistake.

"Do you call the product of your pen literature?"

"You seem to have made a mistake. I don't believe I have the honor of your acquaintance."

"Oh, aren't you Scribblington, the writer?"

"No, sir; I am Packingham, the packer, and you will find the name of the product of my pen plainly printed on the cans."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Happier Nevertheless.

"Yes," replied the shade. "I am far, far happier than when I was on earth with you."

The widow was silent for a moment; then she said:

"Tell me, James, what is it like in heaven?"

"Heaven?" said James. "I am not in heaven!"—Young's Magazine.

All Indorsed.

Tom—So she refused your suit?

Dick (sadly)—She did.

Tom—I wonder what kind of suit would attract her?

Dick—Oh, one with plenty of big checks.—Chicago News.

How a Scandal In the Navy Was Prevented

[Original.]

Bob Backstay, a midshipman during the Spanish-American war, was just out of the Naval academy. He had been in more scrapes while at Annapolis than any man there, and, though he was a fair scholar, that he had succeeded in coming out with a commission was a surprise to all. The truth is he was such a good fellow that the faculty did not have the heart to refuse to graduate him. Nevertheless it was predicted that his love for escapades would always keep him back in his profession.

Backstay was sent to Cuban waters on the Yellow Jacket, one of the many small armed boats used to watch the coming of the Spanish fleet, which was daily expected. The Yellow Jacket was commanded by Lieutenant Quackenbos, a man abnormally anxious for distinction. Indeed, he talked so much about what he would do or try to do if he got an opportunity that his officers would exchange glances whenever "the old man" touched upon the oft mentioned subject. Of course the main topic of conversation on the Yellow Jacket was the Spanish fleet and the opportunities it would present for wide awake officers to give notice of its arrival or perhaps save the American fleet from attack or possible destruction and thereby gain promotion.

The longer the Spaniards were in coming the keener the expectancy till at last Lieutenant Quackenbos was in a tremor of excitement during each and every twenty-four hours. Then when it came to be understood that the first man to discover the hostile fleet would be promoted the commander of the Yellow Jacket resolved to reduce his quantum of sleep to two hours in the day and two in the night.

The Yellow Jacket was cruising on the south Cuban coast and kept in touch with other vessels of the fleet. In order that none of the others should get ahead of him in announcing the arrival of the enemy, if indeed the enemy came in those waters, Quackenbos ordered that all signal apparatus be kept on deck ready for immediate use.

In all this Backstay saw a golden opportunity for a prank. On his glass he painted or, rather, daubed with ink something that looked like a man-of-war in the distance. Then about 4 bells in the evening, when the sun had been set long enough to cast a slight dusk over the ocean, he rushed down to his commander, who was taking his daily nap in his cabin, and shouted in stentorian tones:

"The fleet!"

Quackenbos, seizing his glass, bounded up the companionway and, bringing the glass to bear on the horizon, swept it. Backstay handed him his own glass. The lieutenant brought it to the sky line and saw a Spanish man-of-war. Without losing a moment he ordered that a signal be sent to the nearest vessel stating that the fleet had arrived. Backstay received his glass from his commander, passed his tongue over the object lens and wiped the lens on his coat sleeve. The officer to whom the signal had been sent signaled back that the announcement had been forwarded to the admiral and asked in what quarter the enemy was to be found since he had not discovered him. Quackenbos looked again, but could see nothing. Others looked, with the same result. The man-of-war had vanished.

"We're outdone," said Backstay, lowering his own glass. "Some floating torpedo has blown her up."

Handing his glass to his commander, that officer saw clouds of smoke. He signaled that a man-of-war had been seen, but had disappeared. Then the officers got away from him as soon as possible that he should not see that they were laughing at him.

"You'll have to pay for this, Backstay," said one of his mates. "It'll all come out, and they'll court martial you."

Backstay looked a trifle uneasy, but said nothing. He grinned; he was always grinning.

The next day, while the officers of the Yellow Jacket were at dinner, they all left the table in a hurry at hearing some one on deck say:

"The Spanish fleet has eluded us and got into Santiago."

If the excitement at the confirmation of this news was great it was magnified a hundred times the next day when a message came from the flagship asking for the name of the man who had discovered the Spanish man-of-war reported two days before. The officers in Backstay's secret looked at each other with mingled amusement and wonder, and the commander of the Yellow Jacket signaled, as he was obliged to do, that the officer was Midshipman Robert C. Backstay. Back came a signal for Midshipman Robert C. Backstay to report on board the flagship.

Before Backstay left the Yellow Jacket a consultation was held between him and the juniors, and it was decided that the secret was to be kept. To confess that the Spanish vessel seen was an ink spot would make a terrible scandal, even if the story were believed. Backstay reported on the flagship, was complimented by the admiral for his watchfulness and promoted on the spot. He held his peace, accepted the honors thrust upon him with his usual grin and entered upon new duties without returning to the Yellow Jacket.

Quackenbos (now retired) never ceases to complain that as commander of the Yellow Jacket he should have had the honor of discovering the Spanish fleet. Backstay is shortly to be made a rear admiral.

Million Passengers Weekly Average

The Old Colony street railway system carried over a million passengers a week on an average during the past year. The report for the fiscal year just forwarded to the State puts the total number at 53,713,373.

Only two street railways in Massachusetts carried more passengers, the number by the Boston elevated being 262,267,240, and the number by the Boston & Northern 88,849,762. The Old Colony's nearest rival was the Worcester Consolidated, 30,456,133.

In gross earnings the Old Colony was also third with $2,266,211, while the operating expenses were $1,797,124, leaving a balance of $469,087.

MILTON.

Walter C. Shapleigh, at one time a member of the school committee, died this week at the age of 60 years. He leaves a widow.

Holy Communion services will be held at the Mission of Our Saviour church Christmas morning at 8 o'clock.

An interesting lecture under the auspices of the Milton Educational society was given at the Town Hall Wednesday evening by Signorita Huidobro of Chili. Her subject was "Across the Chilian Andes to Argentina."

Next week Thursday evening John Alden Lee of Milton will speak at the smoke talk of the Thursday Evening club on, "The making and manufacture of paper."

A special Christmas service will be held at the East Congregational church Sunday.

Schools closed this week until the second of January.

The men's service at the Mission of Our Saviour church last Sunday evening called out an audience that completely filled the edifice. Rev. Theodore I. Reese, the rector was the speaker, and his subject was "Personal purity and cleanliness."

Another Winner Christmas Prize

The prize for the boy or girl who first found the word Christmas 75 times in an issue of the Daily Ledger is awarded to Arthur Swanson, of 5 Union street, who sent in a marked paper early yesterday afternoon. He will please call at the Ledger office and receive a game of "Regdel."

THEY FIND IN URIC-O A PERMANENT CURE

Rheumatic Sufferers Rejoice in Receiving such Splendid Results from Uric-O.

If a convention could be held of all the Rheumatic sufferers who have been cured completely by the use of Uric-O, there would be such a rejoicing as to convince every skeptic that there at last been found the true "Fountain" of health, and yet this would be a decided error, for Uric-O is not a "cure all," but simply a cure for Rheumatism and Rheumatism only.

Every sufferer of Rheumatism who wants to be rid of the sleepless nights, the nerve binding, muscle twisting hours of pain, should lay aside all other forms of treatment, get a bottle of Uric-O and start rejoicing on his way to health. It matters little how long one has suffered from the trouble nor how intense the suffering, Uric-O will cure it. Cure it completely, cure it permanently and cure it to stay cured. Muscular, Articular and Inflamatory Rheumatism yield at once to this mighty healing agent. Druggists and physicians everywhere are gladly recommending Uric-O for Rheumatism because they know its wonderful curative propertives cannot be exaggerated.

Uric-O acts directly upon the blood, muscles and kidneys. It neutralizes the uric and rheumatic acid poison, and drives it from the blood.

The store of E. J. Murphy is the "Home of Uric-O" in Quincy and he sells and guarantees it for 75 cents and $1.00 a bottle. We know you can be cured by Uric-O and if you only try one bottle you will thank us from the bottom of your heart for having made you acquainted with this marvelous remedy. Don't delay. Don't put it off. Try it and try it today. Ask Mr. Murphy about it and learn from him the many cures Uric-O has effected right here in your own town. If you desire, you can test and try it free of charge by sending your name and address to the Smith Drug Co., Syracuse, N. Y., and asking for a sample free.

The BENEFACTOR

A Christmas Story

By HOWARD FIELDING

COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY C. W. HOOKE

OVER the coffee cups on a December morning the Rev. Richard Macmillan and Miss Martha, his aunt, discussed a problem of conscience, that same hard riddle which has busied so many tongues and pens and is known by the name of "tainted money."

There was a certain rich man named Curtis Langdale, who had married some years ago a cousin of Macmillan's mother. The young clergyman had received various small favors from Langdale—presents at Christmas not only for himself, but for Aunt Martha and for Miss Amy Branford, to whom Macmillan was engaged. In particular there had been a check for $50 every Christmas for the last three years, since Macmillan had been pastor of the so called Sandstone church of Southfield, and this check was a contribution to the charity fund of the church.

About a year before the date of this narrative the attention of the Rev. Mr. Macmillan had been sharply called to the fact that Mr. Langdale was a very modern financier, whose chief delight and most recent form of profitable business consisted in half wrecking a bank through connivance with some official thereof, buying control from frightened stockholders and then putting the bank on its legs again.

The knowledge of this truth so affected the Rev. Mr. Macmillan that he had a serious talk with Mr. Langdale in that gentleman's office in New York and returned the last check for $50 on the ground that his church would be more blessed without it. On this occasion Mr. Langdale, who had a genius for dissimulation, professed to sympathize with Mr. Macmillan's opinion, to be grateful for his friendly admonitions and in all ways very ready to serve him should occasion arise.

And now the occasion, vaguely prophesied by Langdale, had really come, and in such form that Macmillan knew not how to deal with it; for, in a certain sense, it was not his own conscience that should render the decision, nor was the sacrifice his. It was Amy Branford's.

Amy had just celebrated her twenty-first birthday and was certainly old enough to be a free moral agent. She had been left almost alone in the world by the death of her father two years ago and was now living with relatives in Southfield who were in narrow circumstances. Her father had left considerable property, but in such an involved condition that no income could be extracted from it, and the estate itself drew nearer and nearer to total extinction.

Mr. Macmillan was the trustee of this property, and he had striven with all his power to save it. He believed himself to be a good business man; he had confidence in the policy which he had pursued in this matter, and yet, almost in the moment of victory, he found himself face to face with total defeat. Ready money—that was the only thing that could save the day. A few thousands in cash, not later than Dec. 28, would put all right; the lack of it would mean irreparable disaster. It was the morning of Wednesday, Dec. 23, and he had failed to raise the money.

"Why don't you go to Mr. Langdale?" said Aunt Martha, and that remark had precipitated the discussion.

Now, it happened that in the newspapers of that morning there was a particularly interesting story about Mr. Langdale, to the effect that he had begun his usual game upon the old Dey Street National bank.

"I'll go and see Amy," said he. "If anything is to be done there is no time to lose."

He found Amy engaged in a snowball battle with her cousin's two little boys. The girl's cheeks were reddened with the exercise in the crisp air; her eyes shone with alluring fires; her lithe form quivered with delicate and accordant energies; the exquisite beauty of her youth seemed to transcend reality, and the man stood for some seconds unperceived, watching her with a thrill of wonder. But this divine enchantment could not endure. Surely there was a malign and sordid spell upon him working against the heavenly powers, for as she came forward to greet him he observed that the gown she wore was one that she had despaired of repairing a year ago.

"Amy," said he, breaking suddenly from the lighter talk, "I want you to read this," and he laid the newspaper article before her. "Not all of it. The gist is in the first three paragraphs."

She scanned them rapidly and then looked up at him.

"Do you think this makes any difference?" she asked, timidly trying to read his face. "Perhaps it isn't true. Really, I can't believe that Mr. Langdale would do such a thing. And, besides, he wouldn't dare. He might be sent to prison."

He seized her little mittened hand in a tight grip.

"Dear child," said he, "do you wish me to go to Mr. Langdale?"

"Why, Richard, not if you think it's wrong. But somehow I can't believe he's a bad man. He has such a fine face! Couldn't you—that is, don't you think that you could talk to him? He likes you so much! Don't you think you ought to stand by him now that his enemies are saying such hard things of him? Perhaps you might advise"—

"Precisely," said he, laughing in a sort of nervous desperation. "That's just what Aunt Martha said. And I'm sure you both have exactly the same idea. Goodby, dearest. I'm going to New York."

Shortly after 12 o'clock Macmillan arrived at the little office in New York which he had engaged for his convenience as trustee of Amy's tangled inheritance. Macmillan was a man who did not relish defeat or easily succumb. As one of his worst adversaries expressed it, he "had to be killed half a dozen times before he would die."

A letter from the man who had thus described him was waiting for him on this day, and as he read it he muttered, "This kills me for the sixth time."

It was Curtis Langdale's habit to lunch in his office between 12 and 1.

As Macmillan approached the door of Langdale's private office he was surprised to meet a physician with whom he had a slight acquaintance, a man of some distinction in the medical profession. Macmillan uttered a hasty word of salutation, but the other passed him without a glance.

Langdale's aversion to doctors was well known, and Macmillan had no thought that the visitor had come upon a professional errand, but at sight of Langdale the incredible became probable. An uncanny change had taken place in the man's aspect. The lines in his strong face were not only deeper, but greatly different in their significance. He looked ill in body, as in mind.

Surprise was instantly succeeded by sympathy in Macmillan's mind, and the conventional "How do you do?" had a real import.

"Oh, I'm all right," answered Langdale. "Never better."

"Well, that's good news," said the clergyman. "I was a bit anxious, having met Dr. Haywood in the hall."

"Dr. Haywood? Who's he?"

"Why, he just went out."

"No, sir," responded Langdale; "you'll see no doctors here. I can bunko my own stomach for nothing. Do you mean the tall man in the gray suit?"

"Yes."

"That's a seventeenth cousin of mine from Omaha. He's looking up the family. Going to write a history of us."

Macmillan was perfectly sure that the man was Dr. Hayward, but he supposed that Langdale was ashamed of having called in a physician after all the abuse which he had heaped upon the profession.

Macmillan turned to his real errand. But he had made scarcely more than a beginning of the story when Langdale suddenly recurred to their last interview.

"You didn't approve of me then," said he. "What do you think of me now?"

Macmillan would gladly have postponed the ordeal for a few minutes. He had decided to lay Amy's affairs before Langdale as a simple matter of business, just as if he had been dealing with an officer of a bank, to ask Langdale to consider it and give an answer on the following day and, having thus put off the decision, to lead the conversation to the precise point which Langdale had reached at a bound.

Before the two men could come together upon any common ground the arrival of important visitors broke off the session. Langdale excused himself courteously and gave his hand to Macmillan.

"I'm glad you came to see me," he said. "You've done me a considerable service."

"Well, I really don't see"—

"You have, Richard; you have indeed. And I won't forget it. I always keep you in mind at this time of year. Goodby, goodby."

In a daze of disappointment, perplexity and self reproach Macmillan departed. He had bungled the interview in all ways. He had accomplished absolutely nothing for Amy, for Langdale, for his own conscience. The account of the occurrence which he gave to Amy had no clearness to his own intelligence, but seemed quite satisfactory to her.

"You must see him again," she said. "You have influenced him. He feels it and is grateful. Of course you can't know just what it was that you said that gave him light, but I am sure that he saw a way to carry out his plans more honestly. That's what he meant when he spoke of your service to him."

"Amy, that is absurd."

"But, my dear Dick, is there any other possible explanation? Try to be reasonable. He said you had served him. How else could you have done it?"

The next day was Thursday and business practically ceased for the week. There was really nothing of importance that Macmillan could do to avert the doom that would fall on Monday, yet he went to town about noon and forced himself to face several discouraging and useless interviews. At 3 o'clock he went to his little office, beaten and disheartened.

There was a letter on the floor, and he recognized Langdale's envelope. It gave him a shock, but no real hope, for he had not even succeeded in telling Langdale what he wanted. He would not have been surprised to find a check for $50. Under the circumstances a man of Langdale's peculiar notions of humor might have found amusement in such a gift.

There was a check in the envelope, but not for $50. Five thousand was the sum! A thrill went through Macmillan's vitals, and he unfolded the accompanying letter with trembling hands. It was very brief, as follows:

Dear Richard—Inclosed you will find my mite. In the inscrutable ways of Providence even the self righteous may be brought to repentance and be made the instruments of good. I am very glad you came to see me. Cordially and with Christmas wishes yours,

CURTIS LANGDALE.

The awkward wording of the letter left some doubt as to who was the "self righteous" and who had been "brought to repentance," but Macmillan was not in a critical or sensitive mood. He was merely glad and grateful. Thrusting the letter into his pocket and holding the check in his hand, he strode out to the bank just in time to cash the check.

Good luck attended him at every step. Though the hour was so late, he found the men of whom he went in search, and by the strength of his new hope he was enabled to accomplish whatever he desired.

Among the millions of the great city, with all their feverish desires and vast

WILL NOT BACK DOWN

Pope Says That French Government's New Bill Is Deceptive

Rome, Dec. 21.—A semi-official note issued by the Vatican says that the text of the new French government bill, amending the church and state separation bill of 1905, is as bad as the former regulations, "being a maximum of oppression with a minimum appearance," and aggravates the position of the church in everything without this being apparent to the general public. The pope declares that there will be no backing down on the part of the Vatican. The note says:

"In short, the separation law, M. Briand's recent circular and the new bill are only three forms of the same conception, that of enslaving and compromising the church, while at the same time enabling the government to allege that it did everything in its power to find a way out of the difficulties, but was unable to do so because of the systematic tenacity of the holy see.

"The holy see will not desist from its present attitude until a bill is presented containing as a minimum to be tolerated an acknowledgment of the essential rights of the church, beginning with the Catholic hierarchy, which is the divine foundation of the organization of the church."

Rinehart Gives Up Property

Pittsburg, Dec. 21.—Former Cashier Rinehart of the Waynesburg bank has consented to assign all his property, valued at $1,000,000, to the board of directors, who will convert the property into cash. No effort has been made to serve a warrant on Rinehart and in view of his agreement to assign his property to the bank directors it is not likely it will be served at all.

Postal Deficit Reduced

Washington, Dec. 21.—A reduction of more than $4,000,000, or 27.83 percent, in the excess of expenditures over receipts of the postoffice department is shown in the annual report of Third Assistant Postmaster General Madden. The total receipts from all sources were $167,932,782, and the total expenditures $178,449,778. The gross deficit amounted to $10,542,941.

Tidy Red Cross Balance on Hand

Washington, Dec. 21.—The war department has completed the auditing of the accounts of the National Red Cross society for the fiscal year ended Nov. 30, 1906. The total receipts for the year were $3,373,237, with a balance in the treasury of $2,381,334. A considerable balance of the California relief money is still in the Red Cross treasury.

Alderman Charged With Bribery

New York, Dec. 21.—Charged with bribery in connection with unsuccessful efforts which the State Line Telephone company was making to get a franchise in New Rochelle, Herman Kallenberg, chairman of the committee on franchises of the board of aldermen of that city, was placed on trial in the supreme court here.

Alleged Misuse of Mails

Chicago, Dec. 21.—Fred M. Colvin of this city was arrested on the charge of using the United States mails in an illegal manner to further the sale of stock in a mining company located near Salida, Col. It is claimed that Colvin sent through the mails statements concerning the mine which are not justified by facts.

Awaiting Result of Investigation

Washington, Dec. 21.—Secretary of the Interior Hitchcock declares that his order withdrawing 4,000,000 acres of land belonging to the five civilized tribes will stand and the land will not be restored unless the investigation as to the legality of his act, now in progress, developes that he exceeded his authority.

Cardinal Martinelli Dying

Rome, Dec. 21.—Cardinal Martinelli, who was formerly papal delegate to the United States, has been ill for some time past with facial polypi and yesterday an operation was performed. After the operation the fever of the patient increased and he suffered a hemorrhage, becoming so weak that death is feared.

Bold Daylight Robbery

Bridgeport, Conn., Dec. 21.—Miss Mary McLaughlin, a schoolteacher, was held up in a fashionable neighborhood here as she was on her way home after the dismissal of school, by three men. Her handbag containing her pocketbook with $29 was forcibly taken from her. The police have no clue.

Bryce's Probable Successor

London, Dec. 21.—Augustine Birrell, president of the board of education, is now regarded as first favorite for the post of chief secretary for Ireland, which will become vacant when James Bryce is transferred to the British embassy at Washington.

Fourteen Killed In Explosion

Vicksburg, Miss., Dec. 21.—According to the latest news obtainable from places near Gold Dust landing, where the steamer W. L. Scovell blew up, the list of dead and missing totals 14. The injured include four white men and several negroes.

Wonderful Palace Changes Hands

Florence, Dec. 21.—The beautiful Strozzi palace, the most perfect example extant of the palatial style of Florentine architecture, has been sold to a manufacturer for $1,200,000. This palace was begun in 1489.

San Francisco Adheres to Position as to Public Schools

RATHER SHARP CRITICISM

Roosevelt Accused of Meddling With Local Affairs and Metcalf Charged With Distorting Facts For Political Favor

San Francisco, Dec. 21.—Mrs. Flora B. Harris of Tokio, a missionary, recently addressed a communication to the board of education in which she deplored San Francisco's attitude toward Japanese in public schools, condemning what she termed "the provincial spirit" of the local officials. She deprecated the attempt to classify the Japanese as "Orientals" and expressed surprise that the children of any foreign residents should be "excluded from the public schools and segregated without their consent, solely on account of their nationality."

The board of education, through its secretary, Elmore C. Leffingwell, framed a reply which will be mailed to Mrs. Harris in Japan.

The reply asserts that the Japanese have not been "excluded" from schools, "despite the fact that no less a personage than the President of the United States has employed a similar assertion in framing a message to congress and notwithstanding the wholly unfair report made of the entire school incident by the former secretary of commerce and labor, Victor Metcalf."

The provincialism of California, the reply states, is oddly enough reflected in the hearts and minds of the people of Washington and Oregon. Continuing, the report says:

"The fact that the President of the United States, basing argument on erroneous assumptions, frames against a loyal people scathing criticisms regarding a matter that is purely one of local concern, does not in the least deter the people of the Pacific coast, who, after all, are doubtless the best judges of their own immediate needs and welfare.

"Neither do the misleading deductions and recommendations of a politician high in authority, when voiced through a document which plainly sought the light of favor and not of truth, impress the people of this locality with any sense of doubt as to their rights as free born Americans or as to the justice of the stand they have taken.

"Without the intervention of misinformed or prejudiced public men, California would deeply have appreciated an opportunity to exercise the fundamental right to deal with this subject alone and unaided, in which event Japan might have spared herself much of the concern that has resulted from the work of meddlers.

"The board of education will not recede from its position, and whether the President of the United States has been led into error and now applies emphatic language to the people of this state, or whether ambitious secretaries distort plain facts and shape documents that may perhaps be formidable in a political sense, the school authorities of this city, acting under a state law and without prejudice, will doubtless adhere to the very reasonable stand that has been taken."

No Action on Wage Ultimatum

New York, Dec. 21.—The general managers of the railway lines entering New York which are affected by the ultimatum delivered by the yardmen, who propose to "leave the service" of the several companies tomorrow unless their request for an increase of wages of 5 cents an hour is granted, declare that they regard "the strike ultimatum of the yardmen as a most astonishing and unfair demand." The managers have as yet come to no conclusion as to what action will be taken.

Critical Period In Morocco

Paris, Dec. 21.—The diplomatic representatives at Tangier are committed to demand the retirement of Raisuli from his present position. If Gabbas, the Moroccan minister of war, is not strong enough to compel the bandit to withdraw, the French and Spanish warships will land men, with the approval of the diplomatic representatives, for the purpose of restoring the authority of the sultan. The impression prevails here that Raisuli will fight.

Hurled Baby From Window

Chicago, Dec. 21.—Mrs. Maurice Selene, temporarily insane, hurled her niece, Gladys Hirsch, 3 years old, from a window in the third story of an apartment building here. The child was fatally injured. Mrs. Selene has been subject to attacks of temporary insanity for some time. She was taken to the detention hospital for the insane.

Strike of Postoffice Employes

Vienna, Dec. 21.—The postoffice employes of Austria, numbering 25,000 men and women, went on strike today as a protest against the conditions under which they are forced to labor by the government. The government attempted to avert trouble by offering increased wages, but this offer has been declined.

Guertin's Appointment Ratified

Rome, Dec. 21.—The pope received in private audience Cardinal Gotti, prefect of the propaganda, who submitted the appointment of Rev. A. Guertin to be bishop of Manchester, N. H. The appointment was ratified.

GREAT TROLLEY DEAL

Lighting and Power Plants Also Go to the New Haven Road

New Haven, Dec. 21.—The purchase of the Connecticut Railway and Lighting company, with all its rights and privileges in lighting and power plants, its water power on the Housatonic river above New Milford, its franchises in many of the manufacturing centers, together with the railway system owned by the Rhode Island Securities company, the holding company of the Rhode Island company, which itself was owner of the Rhode Island Suburban Railway company, the Union Railroad company and the Pawtucket Street Railway company, is one of the largest transactions ever made in New England. It gives the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company ownership of about 1350 miles of single trackage trolley lines in Connecticut and Rhode Island, from which the gross earnings a year are upward of $16,000,000.

The total market values of the companies included in the whole combination, including all the underlying bonds in the constituent companies, is not less than $130,000,000.

The purchase of the Connecticut Railway and Lighting company, it is stated, calls for $975,000 as first payment, rising by $70,000 a year until it reaches the amount of $1,500,000.

Creditors Fought Barnes Will

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 21.—In the probate court here, Judge Lawton declared that Mrs. Louisa P. Barnes, an aged Newton woman, was not of sound mind when she made a will leaving all her property, about $12,000, to her nieces. The will is therefore void. Mrs. Barnes created a sensation a few years ago by marrying a young physician to whom she turned over her bank account. The woman's friends had the marriage annulled. The will of Mrs. Barnes was opposed by creditors, as under it they would have received nothing.

Sad Fate of Two Old Men

Providence, Dec. 21.—After having been found critically ill in a lonely farmhouse in Exeter, without warmth, food or medicine, Thomas Peckham and Thomas Hazard, both over 80 years of age, died at the home of friends. The two men were found lying upon the floor, barely conscious. The house was very cold, being without fire, the men had little clothing and no food of any sort was visible. All efforts to revive the sufferers failed.

Telephone Inquiry Wanted

Boston, Dec. 21.—While asking Mayor Fitzgerald to veto the franchise voted by the board of aldermen to the Metropolitan Home Telephone company, the Public Franchise league sent a communication to the mayor, demanding that he take advantage of the recent act of the legislature and petition the state highway commission to thoroughly investigate the charges and service of the New England Telegraph and Telephone company.

Aldrich Not a Candidate

Boston, Dec. 21.—Judge Aldrich, senior justice of the United States circuit court of the Boston district, announces that he will not stand as a candidate for United States senator in New Hampshire. Aldrich, whose home is at Littleton, N. H., has been suggested for the office, which will be filled by the New Hampshire legislature in January, when the term of Senator Burnham expires. Burnham is a candidate for re-election.

Jennings Indictment on File

Boston, Dec. 21.—An indictment which has been pending since February, 1902, against Albert Jennings, formerly town treasurer of Wellesley, charging him with passing a forged town note of $5000 on State Treasurer Bradford, has been placed on file by District Attorney Moran, after several alienists had decided that Jennings was insane at the time he was said to have committed the crime.

Lawyer In Bankruptcy

Boston, Dec. 21.—Daniel B. Beard, a lawyer of Lynn, with offices at 8 Beacon street, Boston, filed a voluntary petition in the United States district court, asking to be adjudged a bankrupt and stating his liabilities at $3997 and assets at $700. The assets consist of $500 in debts on open accounts, $150 in household goods and $50 in a military uniform.

Sent to Asylum For Life

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 21.—Life confinement in Bridgewater asylum for the criminal insane was the sentence passed upon Sarkis Choolgian of Watertown by Judge Gaskill. Evidence showed that Choolgian, an Armenian, suddenly became insane Aug. 22 and killed his father by a blow from a crowbar.

Fighters and Promoters Fined

Chelsea, Mass., Dec. 21.—Fines aggregating $460 were paid in the district court by 16 officials, boxers and attendants at a boxing show given in Pythian rink. Everybody pleaded guilty to the charge of engaging in and promoting a public boxing match.

Believes In Big Families

Boston, Dec. 21.—Councilman William Foley gave notice at a meeting of the council last evening that at the next meeting he will introduce an order calling for a pension to be paid all mothers in Boston having seven or more children.

Treat Takes Marden's Place

Boston, Dec. 21.—Upon orders issued from the treasury department, United States Treasurer Treat of New York will take charge of the Boston sub-treasury pending the appointment of a successor to the late G. A. Marden.

Alfred J. Ruxton, the 16 year old son of George Ruxton passed away this morning at his home at 9 Hancock court. Funeral services will be held from his late home Sunday at 2 o'clock.

A delegation of Foresters were present on Thursday at the funeral of John A. McDonald of Cross street. Mass was celebrated by Rev. E. C. Mitchell. The burial was at St. Mary's cemetery.

J. A. Keating, the auctioneer, reports that sometime during Wednesday night, parties unknown entered the store house in the rear of Music hall and stole a case of rubber heels valued at $10. Entrance was gained by the use of a bar.

The Galahad club of Christ church held its semi-annual meeting Thursday night and these officers were elected: President, Albert Jones; vice president, Ellis Young; secretary, Charles Fox; treasurer, James A. King; squire, Forest B. Royal.

The Post says it is to be regretted that Rev. W. Sherman Thompson is unable to accept the call to Prospect Hill church at Somerville, owing to poor health. Rev. Mr. Thompson was formerly pastor of the Washington street Congregational church, Quincy.

Highest Honors

Last Wednesday night at Saunders' Theatre, Cambridge, after Dean Hurlbert had announced the prize winners of scholarships for the past year, he called special attention to two students who had won double highest honors,—Herbert Percy Arnold and Dunham Jackson, It is rather a singular coincidence that the mothers of these two young men, who won such distinction, were classmates in the Quincy schools, one as Annie B. Curtis and the other as Mary V. Morse.

New Officers.

The Epworth League of the West Quincy M. E. church has elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, Joseph M. Francis; first vice president, Hilda Francis; second vice president, Beryle A. Hamnant; third vice president, Frances Burke; fourth vice president, Maude E. Hodgkinson; secretary, Amy A. Public Interest

IS NOW CENTERED ON

The Pure Food Law.

WE Have Always Maintained that the best that money could buy was alway the cheapest in the end, because it is always the bargain hunters that have to pay the DOCTOR, buying as they do IMPURE foods of all kinds, FOODS that are UNFIT for ANY PERSON'S STOMACH, being mixed as they are with different kinds of PRESERVATIVES and SECRET PREPARATIONS to take the place of GOOD PURE FOODS. And some dealers selling these goods at a GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICE over the pure kind, GUARANTEE you NOTHING, but—"Poor Health to You and Your Family," and although you can buy the "just as good kind," you can save nothing as that kind is unhealthy and dangerous to the whole human family. Now our standard is to always sell the best of everything and the steady increase of our business year after year proves to us that we have the right idea, and we know it must be very satisfactory to our many customers to feel that what they buy at our store is ABSOLUTELY PURE and HEALTHFUL and the Food Laws are being strictly enforced by us. Our Goods are all GOVERNMENT INSPECTED and also carefully inspected by us before they are put on sale or sent to your homes, and although you pay perhaps a few cents more to us than some dealers charge, don't you think it is money well spent, considering all things?—YOUR HEALTH, which is the greatest blessing we can have,—think well about this and we know you will agree with us and do your trading where you know the goods can be depended upon to be absolutely Pure.

We have just received our season's pack of choice canned and bottled goods, FRESH and DRIED FRUITS, all kinds of Cereals, Ketchup, Pickles, Jams, Jellies, Prunes, Figs, Nuts, Dates, Table Raisins, Citron, Lemon and Orange Peel, Olives, Sardines,—in fact everything for your tastes and fancies. All the leading brands of FLOUR. Fancy New Orleans Molasses.

OUR MARKET is complete, AND REMEMBER, we sell nothing that has been doctored or filled with Preservatives to keep it. ABSOLUTELY NOTHING but Carefully Selected Meats are on sale at OUR STORE. Stamped with the Government Inspection Stamp, that insures to you and to us the point of perfection, which we are always striving to reach for the benefit of our trade.

We will have a grand display of that great National Bird, THE TURKEY, the same VERMONT KIND we have always sold you,—Chicken, Fowl and Duck, direct from WILLIAM R. DRAKE of Braintree, and he knows how to dress them so as to please the eye as well as the palate. They don't grow nicer than he has. Fruit and vegetables in abundance, and don't forget our famous LA TOURAINE COFFEE, no dinner complete without it.

CABINET CULINARY NOTES.

Mrs. Cortelyou Holds Record For Best Custard Pies.

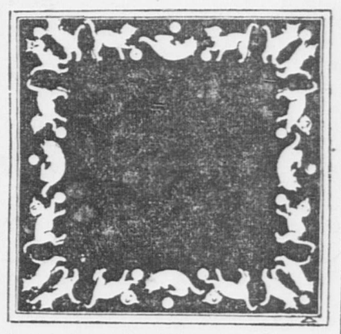

Women of the cabinet set are naturally proud of their housewifely accomplishments, and it is not unusual for them to send samples of their skill to Mrs. Roosevelt and others in the high realm of society. Mrs. Cortelyou at present holds the record for the best custard pie, and happy is the hostess who can secure one of these unbuyable creations for her informal luncheons. The Cortelyou pies figure often on the White House board, and frequently the president entices his postmaster general to remain for luncheon by saying they are going to have one of Mrs. Cortelyou's pies. Mrs. Shaw is one of the few women in the high official set who can make good bread. Indeed, Mrs. Shaw would feel that her days of usefulness were over if baker's bread were served in her house. Mrs. Root is a fine housekeeper and is noted for her practical knowledge on all subjects, culinary, economic and sanitary.

Mrs. Taft, as becomes a daughter of that home loving city of Cincinnati, is skillful in domestic lore and is a fine cook. Should her cook serve her as Senator Clark's did last year, desert her at 5 with a dinner party on at 8 she could descend to the lower regions and cook a full course at banquet herself.

NURSERY MATS.

Decorated With Stuffed Animals on Bright Backgrounds.

There is a great rage this season for nursery mats fancifully decorated with animals. Cats, being the fireside companions and the playfellows of little folk, are used to a greater extent than any other, and a border of the animals cut from some fabric with a fuzzy surface and stuffed so that they stand up in relief on a background of bright red or blue felt is fascinating not only to young folks, but to grownups as well. An elderly woman who originated the idea of constructing these mats and has supplied many of the nurseries of wealthy women has worked out the idea in several most effective ways. Dogs and bears are sometimes used, and, in the light of the Teddy bear craze, the latter have been especially in demand. Children love these mats because the animals, being stuffed, seem real to them and are almost as much fun to play with as their dollies and the stuffed animals now so popular. These rugs are made in sizes to fit a nursery floor and vary in expense according to the area covered.

An Expensive Carpet.

Mrs. Philip D. Lydig has long been considered one of the prettiest and most picturesque young married women in New York and Newport society. She is today being further eulogized as the possessor of one of the most beautiful and unique stair carpets in the city of riches. In her splendid new mansion in East Fifty-second street there is a wonderful white marble spiral staircase that curls its way from the great square marble hall to the upper gallery on the fourth floor. For this beautifully designed staircase Mrs. Lydig has chosen a white velvet carpet that has been woven specially for her and which is over a hundred yards in length. The only coloring in this wide sweep of spotless fabric is to be found on the two landings, where great medallions from a cashmere silk rug have been inset by skilled embroiderers. The carpet, with its two medallions, its silver stair rods and the services of the expert who was called in to perform the difficult task of laying it without cutting on the spiral staircase, has cost close upon $15,000, which is surely a record, even in American extravagance, for a detail in house furnishing.

To Reseat Chairs.

When the cane is worn from chairs and they are not considered sufficiently valuable for the expense of new cane seats they may be reseated with heavy cord and will wear for a long time. The old cane should all be cleared away and the lengths of cor run in the same holes and knotted securely beneath. Then weave them and out after the manner of weaving the cane, although it is not necessary to attempt any special pattern. After reaching the opposite side the free ends are pushed down through the holes and tied beneath. Give the seat a coat of paint or stain to match the chair frame, and a very acceptable chair is the result.

Women and Pins.

The more pins a woman uses the less claims can she make to neatness, according to a statistician who has been getting data to prove that the Boston women are among the most slovenly in the country, while the pin trade flourishes there to a great extent. New York has the worst pin trade, yet its women are found to be the neatest in the world.

Andrews—Nelson.

Two well known Quincy young people, Mr. Theophilus S. Andrews and Miss Alice J. Nelson were married last evening by Dr. E. N. Hardy at the parsonage. Mr. Arthur L. Andrews, brother of the groom was best man, and Miss Helmer Nelson, a sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, the ring service was used. After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Andrews will make their home at 23 Upland road, where they will be at home to their friends after January first. Mr. Andrews has a fine position, as electrician at the Fore River Works.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

PATRICK AT WORK

Assigned to Sash and Door Factory In Sing Sing Prison

LETTER TO THE PUBLIC

Disappointed at Miscarriage of Hope For Freedom, but Not Discouraged--Says Justice Will Bring Release and Vindication

Ossining, N. Y., Dec. 22.—Albert T. Patrick, convicted of the murder of William M. Rice, was officially notified by Warden Johnson of Sing Sing prison of the commutation of his death sentence to imprisonment for life by Governor Higgins and was taken from the death house where he has lived for four years and eight months and placed in a cell in the main prison.

The official notice arrived from Albany yesterday noon, but Warden Johnson did not visit the death house until 3:30. He went directly to the big steel cage that has been Patrick's home for nearly five years and told the prisoner of having received official notice of the commutation. Patrick was then taken to the clerk's office, where he was treated as though he had just arrived at the prison, except that it was not necessary to take his pedigree.

He was measured and weighed, tipping the beam at 174 pounds, and showing that he had gained slightly in weight since his arrival at the prison. His height is 5 feet 9½ inches. After he had had a bath he was taken to the prison barber, who shaved him and cut his hair and he was then given a suit of gray prison clothes, such as are worn by first-term men.

After Patrick had put on his prison suit he was conducted by the warden to the door and sash factory, where he was put to work today. On arriving at the workshop Patrick became an object of intense interest to the convicts in the place. The men are not supposed to raise their eyes or look around them while at work, but none of them could resist the temptation to steal a glance at the noted prisoner.

The warden explained to Patrick just what he would have to do and when the men finished their labors for the day Patrick was ordered to fall in line and with the others he was marched to the cells. On the way Patrick, like the other prisoners, received a chunk of gingerbread and a dipperful of tea, and these he took to his cell for supper.

After he had been taken to the clerk's office Patrick gave to the warden the following letter addressed to Mrs. Patrick and which he said he desired to have made public:

"Yours of yesterday announcing that the governor had commuted my sentence of death to life imprisonment is received. It is needless to say that I am bitterly disappointed at the miscarriage of my hope for freedom, but I am not discouraged. I shall formally protest for its moral, even though it may have no legal effect. Then I shall comply quietly with the directions of the officers who will, on the governor's warrant, receive me into the penal part of the prison.

"I felt sure that the United States supreme court would eventually declare that my conviction had been secured without any proper proof and by unfair and dishonest means. I am so tired of delay and so moved by the strain of separation from my loved ones that I listened to the suggestion that the governor would use his power of pardon to rectify a miscarriage of justice. And so, against the advice of my attorneys, I dismissed my appeal and applied to the governor for a free pardon.

"The governor, in commuting, finds in effect my conviction illegal and proof of guilt insufficient, or, in other words, that I am presumably innocent. Doubt of guilt or illegality of conviction have always in the case of other people been grounds for discharge. For me it is thought proper to impose a painful degradation and humiliating servitude.

"This degradation I cannot escape, but I shall bear it bravely, buoyed by the belief that I have the sympathy and support of all lovers of justice and by the expectation of my early release and vindication.

"I shall forthwith petition the incoming governor to right this wrong, and I believe that his knowledge of the law, keen judgment of facts and love of justice and personal courage will enable me to prevail, and that he will soon set me free.

"My health is good except that I am worn out and tire very easily, but my mind is clear, and I have been and will be guided only by my own judgment."

Warden Johnson says that he has noticed no signs of any mental derangement in Patrick. He appears to him to be perfectly normal. Patrick, he says, is still the same self-reliant and clear-minded man that had been originally received at the prison. Head Keeper Connaughton is of the same opinion, and the guards who have done duty at the deathhouse say that Patrick appears anything but clouded in his mind.

These expressions were drawn out by a report that Patrick's mind had become unbalanced.

WILL NOT CAPITULATE

France Never Intended to Close the Catholic Churches

Paris, Dec. 22.—The government's new religious measure was received with enthusiasm in the chamber of deputies and the bill was rapidly voted with the overwhelming majority of 413 against 166. The supporters of the cabinet consider that the enactment of this legislation will greatly strengthen the position of the present ministry for the continuance of the struggle with the Vatican.

The discussion of the bill was very short. Premier Clemenceau did not participate in the debate. The attitude taken by Minister of Education Briand made a great impression, especially his statement that the government never intended to close the churches or interfere with the individual conscience, as this would permit the clergy to assume the attitude of being persecuted. The cabinet, it was explained, has decided to retain the formality of making a declaration to hold meetings because it was resolved not to capitulate to the Vatican, which was acting contrary to French law.

Will Submit to "Fair Separation"

Rome, Dec. 22.—The pope, speaking to some of the cardinals after the advent sermon, said: "The French government seems not to understand that certain conditions are not acceptable to us because they are inadmissible with the organization of the church. We are ready to submit to separation from the state, but it must be a fair separation, not subjection.

Suicide's Wish Fulfilled

New York, Dec. 22.—Before Lulu Grover committed suicide by the use of poison on Dec. 8, she expressed in writing the wish that the president should receive her personal property. She added the hope that Mr. Roosevelt would order the disposal of her body and take her pets, two Angora cats. It has just been learned that, although Mr. Roosevelt had never known the woman, her wishes were respected. Acting under the president's orders, the body was cremated and two pet Angora cats were forwarded to the White House.

A Bungling Execution

Houston, Mo., Dec. 22.—The hanging of Joda Hamilton, aged 20, for the murder of five members of the family of Barney Parsons, was unusually gruesome. The rope broke as Hamilton shot through the trap with a jerk. The spectators saw Hamilton drop to the ground and lie there writhing. He was picked up and carried a second time to the scaffold. The rope was hurriedly repaired and placed about the boy's neck, and five minutes after the first attempt the trap was sprung, the attempt being successful.

Plans to Relieve Famine

Washington, Dec. 22.—The famine in China was considered at a meeting of the American National Red Cross last night. It was concluded that whatever steps the society took would depend upon the action which the president will take. He will probably issue a proclamation on the subject today, and when this appeal is issued the society will go to work at once for the collection of funds and food supplies.

Keep Takes Kilburn's Place

New York, Dec. 22.—Charles H. Keep of Buffalo, since May, 1903, assistant secretary of the treasury of the United States, will succeed Frederick D. Milburn as state superintendent of banks for the state of New York. This announcement was made by Governor-elect Hughes, who said that he had decided to nominate Keep and that the latter had promised to accept.

Universal Suffrage For Austria

Vienna, Dec. 22.—The universal suffrage bill passed the upper house by a large majority after a sitting which lasted from 11 o'clock yesterday morning until 11:30 last night. The bill cannot be sanctioned by Emperor Francis Joseph until the second week in January, as the lower house must first pass certain new government measures.

Goldfield Miners on Strike

Goldfield, Nev., Dec. 22.—Most of the standard mines are closed and the quartz mills have temporarily suspended operations as the result of the strike of 3500 miners for an increase in wages to $4 from $5 a day. Pumps are working at all the closed mines. Lessees continue to work leased mines, paying $5 a day.

$100,000 For Jefferson Monument

New York, Dec. 22.—Those having the matter in hand announced last night that $100,000, or double the amount originally sought, had been pledged for a monument to the late Joseph Jefferson. Permission has been granted to erect the monument in Central Park.

Suspected of Killing Sister

Dayton, O., Dec. 22.—Collins Gilman, brother of the murdered Dora Gilman, was held by a magistrate to the grand jury for action on the accusation of complicity in the slaying of his sister. Fayne Gilman, another sister, was discharged at the preliminary hearing.

No Builders' Contract Trial

Norfolk, Dec. 22.—The battleship Kentucky has sailed out of the capes for a deep-sea trial. As the warship was built in the government yard, the usual trial to ascertain if she comes up to the builders' contract is not made. She will be outside three days.

Lynching Party Organized For Killing of a Negro

DRAGGED HIM FROM JAIL

No Opposition to Mob, Which Performed Its Work Close to Maryland State House--Students Were Perhaps Implicated

Annapolis, Md., Dec. 22.—A mob numbering 25 or 30 men broke down the door of the Annapolis jail, took out Henry Davis, the negro who criminally assaulted Mrs. John Reid, near Igleharts station, and lynched him. Davis confessed his guilt before being killed. Little or no resistance was offered to the mob by the officers at the jail and none whatever by the prisoner.

The negro was dragged from the jail to a vacant lot on College creek, a quarter of a mile distant, where he was strung up to a limb of a tree and half a dozen bullets fired into him. He is thought to have died instantly. As the body was being let down some one cried out: "Another white woman is avenged." On the way to the place of execution members of the lynching party kicked and cuffed Davis whenever opportunity was offered. His body was left lying under the tree which had served as the gallows. It was viewed by hundreds of persons during the day.

Later a coroner's jury was empanelled and, after hearing the testimony of witnesses, returned a verdict of death at the hands of persons unknown to the jury. The prison from which Davis was taken is only about 500 yards from the state house and the executive mansion of the governor.

The lynching party used Senior hall of St. John's college for its assembling place. This fact is taken to indicate that most of the men connected with the affair were Annapolitans and did not come from Igleharts, where Mrs. Reid lives. As early as 11 p. m., it appears, the mob began to collect on St. John's campus. Some time after 12 the crowd entered the lower floor of Senior hall. There its members proceeded to blacken their faces and some of them donned masks. They were quiet in their movements, but some of the students were awakened. These later came down and watched the proceedings, but did not interfere or give any alarm.

The college authorities strongly deny that any of the students were implicated in the lynching. Most of them are at their homes for the holidays. On its way to the jail, the mob stopped at the Annapolis gas plant and tried to enter, but failed to gain admittance. It is presumed that the intention was to cut off the town lights.

Decision Regarding Church Property

San Juan, Dec. 22.—The supreme court of Porto Rico, by a vote of 3 to 2, rendered a decision favorable to the Catholic church in the case regarding the ownership of certain properties. The court finds that properties valued at $500,000 belong to the church, and accrued rents and incomes since 1898, when the United States took the island from Spain, and amounting to $100,000, are declared to be due the plaintiff. The case will be appealed to the supreme court of the United States.

Deadlock Lasted Three Years

New York, Dec. 22.—The three years' deadlock over the granting of a franchise to the New York Connecting railroad was broken when Mayor McClellan and Third Vice President Rea agreed upon terms. This means that work on the $20,000,000 improvement, which is to unite the Pennsylvania and New Haven railroads by a belt line running around Brooklyn and Long Island City, will begin about Jan. 1. The railroad is to pay $1,237,500 for the 21-year franchise.

Big Claims Against Former Broker

New York, Dec. 22.—James F. Mansfield, 25 years old, was arrested last night on a supreme court order, growing out of alleged claims against him amounting to about $50,000. Mansfield opened a brokerage office a year and a half ago and continued in business three months. After leaving New York Mansfield, it is said, went to Montreal and from there to Paris. He recently returned to this city.

Too Late For Arbitration

New York, Dec. 22.—Michael J. Reagan, industrial mediator of the state board of arbitration, has tendered his good offices in the hope of averting a strike of 3000 yardmen against eight railroads with terminals in this city. He has, however, it is said, been told that the dispute has passed the point of possible arbitration and reached a crisis where it is to be a case of either back down unconditionally or fight.

Steamer Damaged by Big Wave

St. John, N. B., Dec. 22.—Steamer Governor Cobb, from Boston and Maine ports, reports being struck by the top of a huge wave off Mount Desert rock. Several windows of the dining room, a dining table and the purser's window were smashed. No one was hurt.

Wrangel In Touch With World

Seattle, Dec. 22.—Wrangel, on the southeastern coast of Alaska, yesterday was placed in telegraphic communication with the outside world for the first time. Short connections have been made by the United States cableship Burnside and the office is now open for business.

CHRISTMAS MUSIC

Will be Feature Of Sunday Services in The Churches

FIRST CHURCH.

An elaborate program for the children, parents and friends of First Church Sunday-school, is being prepared under the direction of the Supt. C. H. Johnson. Christmas Sunday the school will assemble in the chapel at four o'clock instead of the usual hour. Carols by the children and a talk on he life of Jesus, illustrated by forty colored views by use of the new stereopticon recently purchased for the school. Parents and friends cordially invited to this service.

Christmas eve the children will assemble in the church at 6.30 o'clock. Special Christmas service with carols and reading of Christmas story. The public is cordially invited to this service.

At seven o'clock the children will assemble in the chapel for their annual Christmas festival. A dialogue entitled "Christmas Exercise," by the children, a pantomine with beautiful scenery entitled "The Brownie's Christmas," followed by Christmas tree and distribution of presents to each member of the school. Special attention will be given to decoration of the chapel and all friends of the school are cordially invited.

First church has been trimmed with ropes and wreaths of laurel in observance of Christmas. Sunday morning at half past ten there will be a service appropriate to the season with special music by the church quartet. A communion service will be held after the regular morning service, when several will be admitted to church membership.

UNIVERSALIST CHURCH.

Rev. Dr. W. S. Perkins, pastor of the church will have an address appropriate to Christmas at the Sunday afternoon service at 2 30, and the musical program will be more elaborate than usual including:

Voluntary.
"Christmas Morn has Come,"
Full Chorus Choir of 25 voices
"Angels from the realms of glory,"
Chorus Choir
Soprano solo, Miss Carlson
"Angels of the Bells,"
Double trio of female voices
Baritone solo, Mr. Varney
"Christmas Song," Chorus of female voices
Contralto solo, Mrs. Richardson
Prayer Response, Quartet
Tenor solo, Mr. Peverly
"O Little Town of Bethlehem." Mixed Quartet
"Wonderful Night," Full chorus choir
"God be with you till we meet again,"
Congregation led by choir

There has been no sparing of either work or expense to make the service one to please all who are able to attend, and the hour coming as it does will enable those who attend other churches to also attend this service.

SWEDISH LUTHERAN.

The Swedish Lutheran church on Granite street, Rev. S. N. Elvin, pastor, will hold a service Christmas morning, —"Julotta"—at 5.15 o'clock. Extra songs and music. The church is decorated beautifully for the occasion.

The Sunday-school will have its festival Christmas evening at 7 o'clock sharp. A good program of recitals, song and music will be rendered. Christmas presents for the children will be distributed.

The Young People's Society will have its Christmas festival New Year's eve, Dec. 31, at 8 o'clock in the church, which will consist of a grand concert.

BETHANY CONGREGATIONAL.

At the Christmas service Sunday morning at 10.30 the following music will be rendered by the church chorus and soloists under the direction of Mrs. Ellen Beale Morey.

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS.

Keith's Theatre.

For Christmas week at Keith's a holiday show that should prove a record breaker both in pleasure to patrons and in results to the management has been prepared. As is always the case holiday weeks, particular pains have been taken to select a number of acts that will appeal strongly to the children, with Master Gabriel and his company as the leading feature. Gabriel will be seen as "Buster" in his laughable sketch, "Auntie's Visit." Almost every other act on the bill for the week will be of the comedy kind. Among them may be mentioned Cameron and Flanagan in "On and Off," a skit of stage life; Gillett's great dog and monkey act; Seymour and Hill, acrobatic humorists; Daisy Dumont, singing comedienne; Count De Butz and brother, knockabout cyclists; Kenny and Hollis two popular Boston entertainers, and the Kinetograph, showing the famous "Night Before Christmas" film. A special feature will be the appearance of Graham Harris, violinist, and Dorothy Harris, pianist, two extremely clever young musicians whose home is Lynn. As is usual Christmas weeks, Christmas trees with gifts for the children will be provided on all three floors of the theatre, while a special holiday souvenir has been prepared for both the young and the old.

Tremont Theatre.

No greater success has been chronicled in Boston in many years than the production of the new musical comedy, "Coming Thro' the Rye," which was seen for the first time at the Tremont Theatre, Monday night—from the beginning to the final curtain, the performance was wholly delightful, and encores and curtain calls were frequently and enthusiastically bestowed upon the many charming musical numbers and upon the clever work of the people in the company. The story of "Coming Thro' the Rye" is delightfully original, and it contains dialogue of the most brilliantly witty kind. The music is of the catchy, "jingling" sort which is quickly memorized, and between the acts and after the performance, snatches of songs were whistled and hummed in the lobbies of the theatre and on the streets. Much of the music is bound to become very popular. In the presenting company are a score or more of exceedingly talented people, among them being Frank Lalor, Stella Mayhew, Frank Doane, John Park, William Riley Hatch, Alma Youlin, Percival Jennings, Besse Gibson and Florence Townsend.

Castle Square Theatre.

The only authorized version of the Sherlock Holmes' detective stories ever prepared for the stage will be played at the Castle Square theatre next week, as a special Christmas offering, by arrangement with Conan Doyle, William Gillett and Charles Fromam, This will be the first opportunity ever given the Boston public to see this remarkable play at popular prices, and the advance sale of seats is going so strong that crowded houses are assured for every afternoon and evening performances. It should be remembered that matinee are given daily at the Castle Square. It is now a dozen years or so since Sherlock Holmes was first created by Conan Doyle, and ever since then he has been the literary wonder of the age. His adventures are familiar throughout the English speaking world, and for three years William Gillett's play was performed with astonishing success in both England and this country.

Positions of Trust

Every man is likely, at some time, to be called to fill a position of trust requiring a bond.

You may be appointed guardian of a minor, or executor of an estate; you may be elected to public office, or chosen treasurer of some organization; you may be offered a fiduciary position with a bank, or may wish to guarantee a contract—in all these circumstances, and many others, we will act as your surety.

Being the largest Company in the world whose business is restricted to furnishing Suretyship Bonds, we can give you an absolute guarantee, and save you from annoying obligations. Apply to

GOOD AFTERNOON.

We wish all our readers a Merry Christmas.

Mr. C. W. Guy, of this city, the author of "Whoa" and other stories for children, is obtaining national prominence because of his proclamation appointing Dec. 24 as "News boys benefit day." He suggest that everybody pay five cents or more on that day for two-cent papers.

For many years subscribers of the Patriot and Daily Ledger have remembered their newsboy at Christmas and New Years. The boys brave all kinds of weather, the heat and the cold, and generally can be depended on every day in the year. A slight remembrance is sure to be appreciated by them.

The publishers of the Quincy Patriot hereby designate Dec. 29 as News boys' benefit day, but for the Daily Ledger will fall in line with Mr. Guy who names Monday, Dec. 24.

The Christmas toasts proposed by M. A. De Wolfe Howe in the Youth's Companion, are admirable and timely in their way. They extend the best wishes of the season to almost everybody in five different classes.

To the Solitary,
the dwellers apart, by choice or by chance, with hearth fires that for one burn dull and for two would glow and sing—to all of these,
A Merry Christmas
And a Happy New Year!

To Them that are set in Families, where love, bestowed with on thought of its return, passes back and forth abundantly between open hearts—to all of these, parents, children, kinsmen, friends,
A Merry Christmas
And a Happy New Year!

To the Poor and the Rich,
envying each the other's freedom from the cares of too little and too much, yet learning year by year that without health and enthusiasm and faith and love, none can be rich, and with them none can be poor—to these,
A Merry Christmas
And a Happy New Year!

To the Workers,
the vast and fortunate majority, in humble places and in high, often baffled and disheartened, questioning if there is not somewhere for them a greater work with a greater reward; yet happy at the last, if they will have it so, in seeing the figure they have wrought in the fabric of living, a figure drawn by the great Designer for their weaving and none others—to all of these,
A Merry Christmas.
And a Happy New Year!

To Old and Young,
with the years behind and the years ahead, years that show but a span in the centuries since the Light first shone from Bethlehem upon the paths of service, humility and sacrifice, and gave to all the ages a spirit that has made them one; to Young and Old, treading with gladness, these lighted paths, even though not always knowing from whence the Light comes—to all,
A Merry Christmas
And a Happy New Year!

Stereopticon Address.

On Sunday Prof. James McConaughy of Mt. Hermon, the well known school for boys founded by Dwight L. Moody, will deliver a steriopticon address at the Men's Meeting of the Y. M. C. A. at 4 P. M. Mr. McConaughy is a well known lecturer, and should draw a good audience. His subject is — "Great Scenes in the Life of Christ"—the address will be supplemented by many fine views to be thrown on the screen by the stereopticon.

SANTA CLAUS

In Quincy Last Evening At Festival At Houghs Neck

The annual Christmas festival for the children of Houghs Neck was held last evening, and proved one of the most enjoyable affair ever held in that section of the city. It was an occasion where one and all united and did their best to make everybody have a good time.

In this they certainly succeeded. Through the kindness of Chief Litchfield the affair was held at the hose house, and it is doubtful if the house will ever present a more attractive appearance. Ample provision was made so that in case of fire the apparatus could be quickly gotten out.

In one corner was a large Christmas tree heavily laden with presents and bags of candy. There were presents for all, even the older people not being forgotten.

During the first part of the evening there was an entertainment as follows:

Piano duet by Miss Ella Acorn and Miss Ruby Hudson.

Vocal duet by Miss Edith Ryder and Miss Alice Ryder.

Buck and wing dancing by Charles Faxon.

Skirt dancing by Miss Teresa Slownwhite and Miss Ruby Hudson.

Addresses by Andrew A. Meyer and Frank Leonard.

Jewish impersonations by Frank Schultz.

Following this refreshments of ice cream, cake and coffee were served.

Then there came a jingle of bells, and with shouts of greeting from the children Old Santa Claus in the person of Mr. Knox entered.

Then came the distribution of presents, and the tree was soon stripped of the mysterous looking packages that had hung from its branches.

After the distribution of presents there was an impromptu dance.

The committee is charged of the affair were: Mrs. Stackpole, Miss, Brown, Mrs. J. L. Harvey, Mrs. Neal Regan, Mrs. Darell and Arthur H. Dunham. They were ably assisted by Mrs. Alfred LaBrecque, and Misses Katherine M. Caughlin, Elsie Nelson, Annie Morey, Ella Acorn Azalea Slownwhite, Ruby Hudson, Teresa Slownwhite, Alice Ryder and Miss Brown.

Chief Litchfield and Lieut Corcoran of the Central Fire station were present, and at the conclusion of the evening a rousing vote of thanks was extended to the Chief for use of the engine house.

Bridge or Subway At South Quincy

South Quincy people hope that when the grade crossings are abolished some provision will be made for a crossing, over or under the tracks, south of the Quincy Adams station near the sheds of Milne & Chalmers. There is no regular crossing at this point now, but hundreds of persons climb the fence and cross the tracks every day at this point.

It is an extremely dangerous point, and with the frequent passing of trains it is almost a miracle that some one has not been killed.

A regular crossing should be established at this point either under or over the tracks. If a street is not practical let it be a footway like the Warren avenue bridge.

A large number of men who live on the east side of the track find it almost a necessity to cross the tracks in going to and from their work, and a large number of children cross in going to and from school.

The people realize that they may be shut out entirely when the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R., abolishes the grade crossing at Water street, and establish four tracks through Quincy. So that they feel that now is the time to act.

A horse fell down on the Saville street railroad crossing this morning and it was a hustle to get him up before an inward train was upon him.

Local and City Brevities

Beneath the cedar and the pine,
And gleaming Christmas holly,
Our happy thoughts a wreath entwine,
Our silvern notes are jolly.
For in the home are charm and mirth,
And here were sadness, folly,—
Here, in the dearest spot on earth,
Beneath the Christmas holly.
—Katherine B. Johnson.

Frosty this morning.

It may be a green Christmas.

What a grand day for Christmas shopping.

Katherine Glover writes a Christmas story for the Daily Ledger today.

The Sunday services will be found today on one of the inside pages.

William H. Hayes of 58 Edison street has been granted an automobile license.

Dr. Frederick E. Jones was called to Orleans this morning on a professional visit.

Mr. A. F. Hayward has been called to mourn the loss of a brother and sister in less than two months.

Judge Pratt has been on the bench at the district court for a few days this week. Judge Avery being away.

The jewelry store of C. F. Pettengill in City Square is brim full of beautiful things that make acceptable Christmas gifts.

The Folsom Tea Co. on Granite street advertise a four hour reduction sale for next Monday. A rare chance to get bargains.

Today is an ideal day for Christmas shoppers and the local stores are having a big trade, as many have learned that it is cheaper in the long run to trade at Quincy stores.

It is rumored that the Sister house on the Atlantic bouvelard which has been occupied by Mrs. Tarr and daughter of Rockport, is again vacated and will soon be leased by Summer Hinkley of Boston.

The diminutive lady who has been holding court daily at "Thompsons," and who is to enter some happy household on Christmas morning, is being assisted in receiving by her blonde sister from Paris.

Mr. Youn Kay, the official Chinese interpreter for New England, a man who knows more about Chinamen of Boston then perhaps any other man, will speak at the Y. P. S. C. E. meeting in Bethany churh Sunday evening, Dec. 30.

At the First Presbyterian church Sunday evening, the Christian Endeavor meeting will begin promptly at 6 o'clock. A special program of solos, duets, and Christmas selections by the choir, has been arranged by the music committee. It is hoped that a goodly number will be present.

The regular monthly meeting of the Junior Auxiliary to the Y. M. C. A., was held in Association building, Friday afternoon. Miss Imogene Livermore had charge of the devotional exercises. Reports of the Fair were read and accepted, $80.71 was reported as being in the mite box. With a part of this it was voted to give to Y. M. C. A. several useful articles.

Basket Ball.

The Quincy Y. M. C. A. basket ball team play the team from the Gloucester Association tonight in the home gymnasium. There should be a very good game and one well worth seeing. Last week Quincy defeated Reading, and should prove a formidable opponent for all its rivals.

The home team will line up as follows: Morris and Duncan, forwards; Tirrell, center; Taylor and Farquhar, backs.

Gloucester has a good team and is playing a consistant game of ball.

Grade Crossing.

The Superior court has ordered a hearing for Jan. 7 on the petition of the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R., relative to abolishing the grade crossings at Saville street and Water street in this city. These are the only grade crossings on the main line of the railroad in Quincy. The railroad is planning for four tracks between Boston and Braintree.

Whist Party.

Last night at Poland's hall, Norfolk Downs, eighteen tables were in play at whist for two hours, and souvenirs were awarded to the following: Mrs. C. W. Nelson, Miss Jennie McCarthy, Mrs. Bertha McLeod, Mrs. C. J. Emerson, Mrs. J. G. Thomas, Mrs. L. G. Shay, Mrs. A. Phillips, Mrs. G. S. Murray, and Messrs. W. H. Bennett, James Thomas, Murray McLeod, D. Barnes, B. Veith, William L. Saunders and F. E. Burgess.

I. O. O. F. NOTICE.

THE Regular Meeting of Mt. Wollaston lodge, No. 80, I O. O. F.. will be omitted next eek, because the date falls on Christmas night.

BRAINTREE.

Died on Thursday at her home on Brookside road, Mrs. Fannie Richards, widow of the late Francis Richards, from heart disease. Mrs. Richards after the death of her husband took up the vocation of nursing the sick and was an efficient and helpful nurse. She was alway in demand for aid to the suffering and was respected and beloved by a wide circle of friends and patrons.

George J. Buckley of Oak street, East Braintree, is critically ill at the Homoeopathic hospital, Boston, and Master Edward Jordling of Middle street, Braintree, has a bruised knee and head, the result of an automobile accident last Wednesday afternoon.

At the meeting of the Penniman School association last Monday evening two names were added to the list of members. It was voted that the meetings be held in the future the third Tuesday of each month. Following the meeting Supt. John C. Anthony gave an interesting address on the duties of a superintendent of schools. Many questions were asked of him concerning manual training, writing, no school signals and medical inspection of pupils, and he proved himself efficient in every case.

To lovers of old landmarks, the absence of the town pump in the square comes as a sort of shock. That the trough still remains gives promise that another pump may be provided. Certainly the water proves very refreshing in the summer to many a citizen and traveller.

Leo Brett of Brown University, Providence, R. I., is spending the holidays with Dr. and Mrs. F. W. Brett of Summer street.

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Willis of Worcester have been guests this past week of Mr. and Mrs. Elisha Thayer of Crescent avenue. Mrs. Thayer is still in a serious condition after the relapse which she lately experienced.

An alarm from Box 24 was rung in on Tuesday evening about six o'clock for a fire on Elliot street East Braintree in the house purchased by Mr. Russell Worster and rented to two families.

The approaching celebration of the two hundredth anniversary of the founding of the First Church of Braintree is already awakening much interest among our elderly residents. Next May is the time when this event will be commemorated.

The children of grade A at the Union school enjoyed yesterday a Christmas tree which was very prettily laden with gifts and trimmings. There were also gifts for the teacher, Miss Pray and the janitor, Mr. Pearson. Sixteen mothers were present who can testify to the success of the affair.

Frederick H. Blake of Brantree, for conspiring to assault police officer James R. Qualey at Braintree, Feb. 9, 1906, was fined $200, in the Norfolk Superior court this week. Blake's companions in the alleged conspiracy were two Boston colored men, John Backus and John Alexander. They were before the April term of this court and on the 18th of the month, were put on probation.

Mr. and Mrs. Mills of Goffstown, N. H., who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Saulpaugh of Commercial street, returned to their home in the granite state on Sunday afternoon. They attended service on Sunday morning at Union church and heard Rev. R. H. Cochrane who remembered Mr. Mills having known him when at his first pastorate in New Hampshire.

Willard P. Sheppard was one of the students to receive academic distinctions in Harvard college during the past year. Announcements were made at a meeting held in Saunders theatre last Wednesday evening. Congressman Samuel W. McCall delivered the address.

Mrs. Fannie W. Richards widow of Francis W. Richards died at the residence of F. L. King on Brookside road Thursday aged 73. The funeral will take place this, Saturday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock.

F. W. Howe Of Bigelow St. Injured on Boston & Albany

Frederick W. Howe of Bigelow street was one of the injured passengers in the Boston & Albany wreck at Allston last night. Of late his business headquarters have been in New York and he was homeward bound to spend the holiday.

He was riding in the smoker, or second car, at the time, where most of the injured were. The train was about 50 minutes late and was running at a high rate of speed drawn by two engines.

The first knowledge that the passengers had of something wrong was when something thumped the car, the shock being a heavy one. Shortly after the car left the track, swayed furiously from side to side and slid several hundred yards, a part of the time without the trucks.

Had the cars taken fire loss of life must have resulted, as it took several minutes for the passengers to get out of the car. The lights went out, and the car was filled with gas. Finally the men escaped through the opening in the vestibule left after the steps were ripped away.

Mr. Howe's injuries consisted of a severe strain of the right knee and also the hip, and a general shaking up.

Mr. Howe carefully avoided the surgeons who were soon on the spot, not wishing to be taken to a hospital. When the relief train arrived he succeeded in getting aboard. He said it was torture for him to make the change in the Terminal station, but he finally reached the 11.27 train for Quincy.

At Quincy some friends secured a carriage for him and accompanied him home. About midnight his people were aroused. As soon as he entered the house he collapsed.

Dr. J. F. Welch was summoned and discovered the injuries. The nervous shock was a serious one, and the young man will be confined to the bed for several days.

THE

Young Men's Christian Association OF QUINCY, MASS.

(Legal Title – Incorporated 1892.)

The Directors of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.

Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.

The Treasurer, WILLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, ERNEST G. GAY, will be happy to answer inquiries.

OUR HOSPITAL

(Legal Title: City Hospital of Quincy)

INCORPORATED 1889

The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earnestly appeal for donations and bequests for the Endowment fund. This now amounts to over $60,000, but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed.

Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need, will be most gratefully received.

The Secretary, TIMOTHY REED, Adams St., Quincy, or the Treasurer, RICHARD D. CHASE, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad to confer with any one or to answer any inquiries.

COOLIE LABOR QUESTION

Of Particular Interest to Senator and Congressmen From California, Who Want to See Conditions as They Actually Are

New York, Dec. 22.—Ten congressmen and one senator sailed on the Illianca for Colon, for the purpose of making a five-day trip through the isthmus and learning for themselves the conditions of things relative to the digging of the canal.

The party consisted of Senator Flint of California and Congressmen McKinlay and Knowland of California, Fulkerson of Missouri, Dickson, Rives, McKinney and Smith of Illinois, Howell of Utah, Kincaid of Nebraska and Steenerson of Minnesota. A. C. McKinlay, son of Congressman McKinlay, went with the party as secretary.

Speaking of the objects of the expedition, Congressman McKinlay said:

"I was responsible for the getting together of the party, it having occurred to me that members of the senate and congress might like to see for themselves the conditions of things under which the gigantic work of digging the canal is being carried out. Myself and my two colleagues from California are more or less authorities on the Asiatic labor question, which at the present time has the west in a ferment.

"The question as to whether coolie labor shall dig the canal is of particular interest to the Pacific coast, and I, personally, shall pay special attention to the conditions of labor in Panama, as there is an intense feeling against Asiatic labor on the Pacific coast. I want to see for myself whether the objections to the employment of coolie labor in Panama are well founded or not."

Senator Flint said that he was going to find out for himself what is actually being done at the canal. He said at present he was neither in favor of or against the employment of Chinese at Panama, but when he came back he would have a definite view on the subject.

The party are visiting the canal zone at the invitation of Secretary Taft and the canal commissioners, and everything has been done to make their inspection as thorough as possible while on the isthmus.

Pets Well Provided For

Greenwich, Conn., Dec. 22.—By the will of Anna A. Marks, a former well known exhibitor of horses, her horses, dogs and all her life insurance and stock on the place are given equally to Barrett Jones and to Benjamin Davis, under the proviso that the animals shall be looked after carefully as long as they live, that they shall never be sold and that if they cannot be carefully looked after they shall be killed by the most painless method. The first issue of the animals is also included under the proviso.

Educated Jap a Suicide

New York, Dec. 22.—Akiru Kanamura, a Japanese silk salesman, committed suicide in his rooms last night. He had stuffed the crevices of the doors and windows in his room with rags and turned on the gas. The body was found lying upon the floor just beneath the picture of a beautiful American girl, which he had recently framed in fresh flowers. The suicide was an excellent scholar and spoke four or five languages.

Alleged Swindler In Custody

Providence, Dec. 22.—Guisippe Ricci, 20 years old, is under arrest in connection with a great many swindles in the past two weeks. Ricci went to different houses, it is claimed, and, stating that some member of the family was under arrest, secured money with which to pay the supposed fine. The police have been searching for the man for the past two months.

Firemen Had Long Drive

Orange, Mass., Dec. 22.—The satinet mills at Eagleville were burned last night. The fire is thought to have started from a hot journal bearing in the mill, but it was not discovered until it had gained much headway, and when the fire apparatus arrived from Orange, two miles away, the blaze was beyond control. The loss is $20,000.

The Business World

New York, Dec. 22.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says that weather conditions accelerated distribution of seasonable merchandise at retail, but increased traffic difficulties, freight blockades and the shortage of motive power not only retard business, but threaten serious results at some western points.

Prohibitory Law Endorsed

Portland, Me., Dec. 22.—At a conference of the leaders of the temperance organizations of the state resolutions were adopted endorsing the prohibitory law as the most practical way of dealing with the liquor traffic and opposing the resubmission of the prohibitory amendment.

Late Observance of Decree

Pekin, Dec. 22.—The city of Nan Ning, on the West river, is to be opened to foreign trade in January. The decree opening Nan Ning was issued in 1899, but it never was made operative.

JOKE ON COPYRIGHT LAW.

Twain Attaches Autobiography to New Editions to Prevent Piracy.

Mark Twain has the copyright law beaten to a frazzle, according to a Washington special dispatch to the New York Times. He has concluded his labors as a "professional, unsalaried lobbyist" and has done his best to boom the copyright extension bill, but whether it is passed by congress or not does not personally worry Mark. He has devised a scheme which very cleverly and adroitly circumvents the provisions of the present copyright law.

By Mr. Clemens' plan he will be enabled to keep a copyright alive eighty-four instead of forty-two years. He considers that the present act robs an author's children in the interest of the publisher. For years Mark Twain has been at work on his autobiography, and he purposes to use parts of this to carry out his plan to beat the present copyright law.

As soon as the copyright expires on one of his books Mark Twain or his executors will apply for a new copyright on the book, with a portion of the autobiography run as a footnote. For example, when the copyright on "Tom Sawyer" expires, a new edition of that book will be published. On each page a rule will be run about two-thirds of the way down the page, and below these lines will be printed the autobiography, or so much of it as is designed for publication in that volume. About one-third of his new edition of "Tom Sawyer" will be autobiography, separated from the old text only by the rules or lines. The same course will be followed with each book as the copyright expires.

So far as possible the part of the autobiography will be germane to the book in which it appears. For instance, the part which is printed with "Innocents Abroad" will be mostly that section which relates to the trip of the innocents and to Mark Twain's other European visits. The part printed with "Tom Sawyer" will be made up chiefly of Mark Twain's early life in the little Missouri town where he, the real Tom Sawyer, lived. The part printed with "Roughing It" will consist largely if not entirely of the author's life in the west.

All arrangements and provisions for the carrying out of this plan, which Mark Twain means as seriously as any man ever meant anything, have been made, and long after his death the autobiography will continue to appear in this form.

Of course it will not entirely prevent piracy, but Mark Twain figures that it will vitiate the sale of editions which do not contain the autobiography and make them worthless.

A SEA GATE MEMORIAL.

President Butler's Suggestion For a Robert Fulton Monument.

The Robert Fulton monument may take the form of a sea gate, says the New York Times. President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia university, who is a member of the monument association, has declared himself in favor of this plan, and the committee in charge is preparing to discuss it. Richard Delafield, president of the National Park bank and treasurer of the monument association, made this announcement recently:

"Dr. Butler seems to be of the opinion that it would be a very good thing if possible to establish a sea gate in connection with the monument and tomb, where distinguished foreign visitors coming by sea could land in the upper part of New York and not be compelled to traverse the lower part of the congested business district. This sea gate could also be used by the different yacht clubs and steamers paying a small amount for the privilege, which sum would go to make up the fund to insure the monument proper attention."

Mr. Delafield also announced that Governor Elect Hughes had consented to act on the site committee of the association.

Motor Cars at St. Bernard's.

The monks of Great St. Bernard have at last induced the authorities—after many experiments—to permit them to bring up their supplies by motor cars, says the London Chronicle. But there is a condition attached. "Motor trucks may be used," says the official, "but under no circumstances may they be allowed to appear on the road without a team of horses attached; otherwise a serious panic may be caused among the horses and mules using the road." And now the sly monks are thinking of putting the cart before the horse.

Gentle Josh From Senator Dubois.

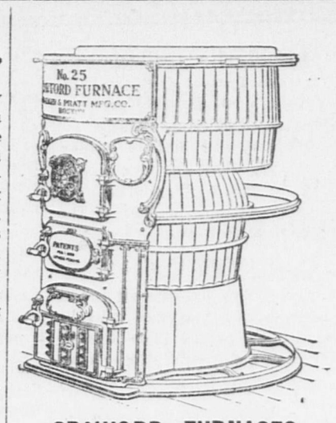

Senator Dubois of Idaho recently received a letter from a friend in New York inviting him to dinner and expressing many complimentary sentiments about the senator, says the New York World's Washington correspondent. The letter closed, "Trusting that you will believe me, your obedient," etc. The senator saw that the typewriter had omitted the comma after "will," but he also saw an opportunity for a gentle josh, so he replied, "Why should I believe you if you are scared at your own veracity?"

Public Interest

IS NOW CENTERED ON

The Pure Food Law.

WE Have Always Maintained that the best that money could buy was alway the cheapest in the end, because it is always the bargain hunters that have to pay the Doctor, buying as they do IMPURE foods of all kinds, FOODS that are UNFIT for ANY PERSON'S STOMACH, being mixed as they are with different kinds of PRESERVATIVES and SECRET PREPARATIONS to take the place of GOOD PURE FOODS. And some dealers selling these goods at a GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICE over the pure kind, GUARANTEE you NOTHING, but—"Poor Health to You and Your Family," and although you can buy the "just as good kind," you can save nothing as that kind is unhealthy and dangerous to the whole human family. Now our standard is to always sell the best of everything and the steady increase of our business year after year proves to us that we have the right idea, and we know it must be very satisfactory to our many customers to feel that what they buy at our store is ABSOLUTELY PURE and HEALTHFUL and the Food Laws are being strictly enforced by us. Our Goods are all GOVERNMENT INSPECTED and also carefully inspected by us before they are put on sale or sent to your homes, and although you pay perhaps a few cents more to us than some dealers charge, don't you think it is money well spent, considering all things?—YOUR HEALTH, which is the greatest blessing we can have,—think well about this and we know you will agree with us and do your trading where you know the goods can be depended upon to be absolutely Pure.

We have just received our season's pack of choice canned and bottled goods, FRESH and DRIED FRUITS, all kinds of Cereals, Ketchup, Pickles, Jams, Jellies, Prunes, Figs, Nuts, Dates, Table Raisins, Citron, Lemon and Orange Peel, Olives, Sardines,—in fact everything for your tastes and fancies. All the leading brands of FLOUR. Fancy New Orleans Molasses.

OUR MARKET is complete, AND REMEMBER, we sell nothing that has been doctored or filled with Preservatives to keep it. ABSOLUTELY NOTHING but Carefully Selected Meats are on sale at OUR STORE. Stamped with the Government Inspection Stamp, that insures to you and to us the point of perfection, which we are always striving to reach for the benefit of our trade.

We will have a grand display of that great National Bird, THE TURKEY, the same VERMONT KIND we have always sold you,—Chicken, Fowl and Duck, direct from WILLIAM R. DRAKE of Braintree, and he knows how to dress them so as to please the eye as well as the palate. They don't grow nicer than he has. Fruit and vegetables in abundance, and don't forget our famous LA TOURAINE COFFEE, no dinner complete without it.

DISCLAIMED PATERNITY

Brown's Will Leaves Nothing to the Children of Mrs Bradley

Salt Lake City, Dec. 22.—The will of the late ex-United States Senator Brown, who was shot and killed by Mrs. Bradley in Washington, disclaims the paternity of Mrs. Bradley's children and cuts them off absolutely. The document was written on Aug. 24, 1906.

"I do not devise, or give or bequeath anything to any of the children of Mrs. Anna M. Bradley," is the language of the will. "I do not think either, or any child born to Mrs. Anna M. Bradley is or are mine, but whether such child or children is or are not, I expressly provide that neither or any of them shall receive anything from my estate.

"I have never married Anna M. Bradley and never intend to. If she should pretend that any such relation ever existed between us to justify such inference, I direct my executor to contest any claims of any kind she may present and I direct that she receive nothing from my estate."

The testator bequeaths all of his property, valued at about $75,000, to two children by his second wife, Alice Brown and Max Brown. The children of Mrs. Bradley so specifically disinherited are Arthur, aged 7, and Mark, aged 3. There is scarcely a question that a contest will be instituted, as Mrs. Bradley is, or was a few months ago, in possession of letters signed with Brown's name in which the relationship with the children is acknowledged.

The Heyls Again In Public Eye

Milwaukee, Dec. 22.—Clara S. Heyl, daughter of the late Mrs. Lizette Schandein, and wife of Jacob Heyl, has begun suit for divorce in the circuit court of Milwaukee county. Jacob Heyl was the central figure in the celebrated Schandein will case, in which an estate valued at over $5,000,000 figured. Mrs. Heyl states various incidents of alleged cruel and inhuman treatment. The complaint recites that on two occasions Heyl threatened to kill her. Mrs. Heyl got about $3,000,000 outright of the Schandein estate and Heyl is alleged to have received $1,000,000 or thereabouts from Mrs. Schandein prior to her death.

Masqueraded as a Man

Phoenix, Ariz., Dec. 22.—A coroner's jury, summoned to investigate the death of Nicolai de Reylan, formerly assistant Russian consul at Chicago, returned the following verdict: "The person residing here since Nov. 4, 1906, as a male, under the name of Nicolai de Reylan, was, as a matter of fact, a female, and the body inspected at the morgue by this jury was that of the same person. Death was due to pulmonary tuberculosis." The body will be photographed and will probably be buried here, although this is not definitely decided yet.

Wants Dividends Stopped

Chicago, Dec. 22.—Sidney Mitchell, owner of 2000 shares of United Box Board and Paper company, filed a bill in the circuit court asking for an injunction restraining the company from paying dividends. He also demands an accounting of the affairs of the company. The allegation is contained in the application for the injunction that the directors of the company have entered into a conspiracy to wreck the corporation, which is capitalized at $14,000,000

Vermont Legislature Appropriations

Montpelier, Vt., Dec. 22.—An estimate just made of the amount voted by the state legislature just closed for the support of the government for the biennial period 1906-8 fixes the total at $1,169,737, though this does not include certain appropriations contingent upon events which may or may not requaire the expenditure of the sums voted. This is about $200,000 more than appropriations of previous legislatures.

Trying to Trace Missing Money

Toronto, Dec. 22.—Crown Attorney Corley has been advised from New York that many of the brokers with whom Charles McGill, manager of the Ontario bank, had accounts, refuse to tell what they know or allow their books to be examined. Crown officials here went to ascertain what became of $2,000,000 sent to New York by McGill for stock speculation purposes and how much of it is still an asset of the Ontario bank.

To Retain Old Officials

Providence, Dec. 22.—Edward G. Buckland, the new vice president of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company, has arrived here. He states that the officials of the Rhode Island company, whose street railway properties have just been acquired by the New Haven system, will be retained by the New Haven company.

Another Vesuvius Cavein

Naples, Dec. 22.—Another portion of the crater of Mount Vesuvius has fallen in and within the last two days the rim of the crater has been lowered about 80 feet. The rain of ashes continues over all the villages at the foot of the mountain, with the exception of Pompeii.

NEWS IN BRIEF

J. P. Morgan gave a $600,000 mansion to his son, J. P. Morgan, Jr., as a Christmas present. The young man has occupied the house known as the Isaac N. Phelps mansion, on the corner of Madison avenue and Thirty-seventh street, New York.

The syndicate which will erect a large pulp and paper plant in Quebec province is composed of Maine and New Hampshire capitalists. Nearly all of those interested are officials in the companies which own the pulp and lumber mills at Berlin, N. H., and in Maine.

Two Christmas Stories

By KATHERINE GLOVER

[Copyright, 1906, by Katherine Glover.]

"SHE ISN'T COMING."

IT was Christmas eve, and Carl's little bohemian restaurant was beginning to fill with gay, laughing folk, who sauntered in by twos and threes, the men slapping one another on the shoulders as they passed, bantering the little German proprietor and taking calm and easy possession of things, as if they were well used to the ways of the place. Shabby and ill kept most of them looked, but their faces were bright and their lips were bubbling with little snatches of song, overflowing evidently from hearts full of gayety.

At one table in a corner sat a man apart from the crowd and clearly oblivious to the life of the place, his eyes eagerly watching first the clock and then the door. Once or twice he started and half rose from his chair as some one entered, scanning a face closely, only to sink back with a long sigh. It was five minutes of 7 o'clock. "She isn't coming," he thought, and he let his chin fall heavily into his palm while he tried to gather his thoughts. At last, half conscious of some one approaching, he looked up and found a girl standing there, her hand outstretched. "I am late," she said hurriedly. "Have I kept you waiting long?"

"Yes, but it doesn't matter. Nothing matters now that you are here," he said warmly, taking her hand in both of his. "Sit down and let me look at you." He drew out her chair and seated himself opposite. Both were silent for a moment while they looked steadily into each other's eyes. The color rose slowly in the girl's cheeks, and she turned away.

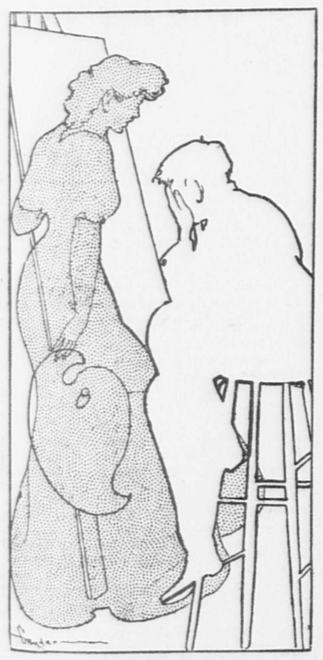

"It is almost like old times, isn't it?" she asked, with a nervous little laugh.

"Like all the best of the old times rolled into one," he said. "Heavens, how I have wanted to be back, Joyce!"

"We are both growing too old to be sentimental, Jack. I want you to tell me all about Paris and your success. I read about you and was very proud to be an old friend of the distinguished young American artist, Mr. John Hamilton Seawell."

They were interrupted by the waiter, an old friend of the two, who bowed and scraped an infinite number of times before they could stop him. "Tonight we are to have all the things we used to pretend we didn't like because the figures were too steep for our incomes, with a few of the more familiar things thrown in for auld lang syne," he said, scanning the menu card. Joyce nodded her head and smiled, and the order was finally given after a long conference of the three.

When the waiter brought the dinner, the table was heaped with little dishes of all sorts, more than they could possibly have eaten if they had been saving up for this one meal during all the time of their separation. In reality they were both too excited to be hungry, and their tongues went so fast that there was time only for spasmodic dips into the various dishes. When the dinner tapered off to coffee and cheese, however, they both fell into silence. The man lighted a cigar in the old easy way they were used to and said between puffs, "I want to tell you a story, Mlle. Joyce, if you will listen."

"SOMETIMES HER IMAGE WOULD STEAL BETWEEN HIM AND THE CANVAS."

"I shall be most happy," she said with assumed gayety. "But be sure to make it end well. I don't like sad stories on Christmas eve."

"I shall do my best not to make it end unhappily, but that isn't for me to say. Well, here goes:

"Once upon a time there lived a dear, foolish maiden and a stupid, struggling artist, whom she befriended. The maiden at least ought to have been very rich, possessor of stately mansions and all that sort of thing, if she had had her deserts, but, truth to tell, both of them were very, very poor—so poor that the maiden used to wear frayed skirts and cracked shoes sometimes, though she laughed and pretended she did it for fun, and the artist was so poor that—well, he was poorer than any really respectable person ever was before. The two lived next door neighbors high up in the same cheap boarding house in a busy little city called New York. For some unfathomable reason the maiden took pity on the artist and used to help him out of his domestic difficulties and try to patch up his moral snags and tears as well. She was his good angel and made the days of struggling worth while for the stupid artist. She used to write wonderful stories—much too wonderful to be appreciated by the earthy editors she had to submit them to. In spite of their poverty, they used to have good times together, those two. When things grew very somber they would help each other jeer at fortune. There was a little restaurant where they would have jolly dinners whenever the artist sold a sketch or two. Carl, the keeper of the restaurant, was their friend and served them good dinners seasoned with sage philosophy. The day dawned when the artist had an opportunity to go abroad and study his art under the great masters—the thing he had longed for all his life.

"When the chance came, however, it seemed a small thing compared to the loss of the maiden. There was not money enough for both to go, so he preferred to stay and make a little home for her in the busy, heartless city. But for once the maiden was cold and unyielding, telling him that she didn't care enough for him to share his home. She sent him away with a heavier heart than he had ever had before. He went to Paris, where he pitched deep into work to try to forget the maiden, but thoughts of her would creep in in spite of himself, and sometimes her image, a laughing, haunting image, would steal in between him and his canvas, and then he would have to give up work for that day. It was no use. He would go out on the streets and walk and walk and walk, trying to wonder if the maiden's answer was final, calling up little scenes of their days together, conjuring up her looks to see if he could not again read in her eyes and find something there that he wanted. He wrote her long letters telling her a great many things that were not always kind. Some of the letters he sent across the ocean to her; others he tore up and tried to forget. But there were only three letters from her in all the four years he was gone, and they all came on Christmas eve. Long friendly letters they were, just like the chats they used to have, but with no sign of the thing he wanted her to write above all else. The stupid artist worked so hard that he could hardly help winning some shadowy success in all that time. There was a picture or two in the salon; his instructors grew encouraging; there was a line now and then in the papers, all of which puffed him up mightily because he vainly hoped they might make some difference with the maiden.

THEY WERE INTERRUPTED BY THE WAITER.

"When four years had passed the artist thought he might return to his home in New York and start his work there. He told himself over and over again that he was going home to the maiden, and his heart beat absurdly with hope of seeing her and then sank heavily again at thought of the change the years might have made, of the estrangement they might have brought. During the time he had been away she had written many stories and had finally convinced the editors of their worth. He saw her name in the contents of a number of magazines. The old days were changed. He would no longer find her in the cheap boarding house. If she sent him away three years before, she probably had almost forgotten him in all this time, but the thought of the Christmas letters spurred him to write to her and tell her of his return. He would reach New York the day before Christmas, the anniversary of his leaving. Would she meet him that evening at half past 6 in the little restaurant? He would wait for her at their same table in the corner, and they would talk over old times. The artist arrived in New York on the day he expected, and all afternoon he wandered about, waiting for the hour of their engagement, yet half dreading it for fear she should not come. But the good fairy waved her wand for him this time, for the maiden really came, and she is just the same, dear, sweet maiden as in the old days, only the shabby clothes are replaced by new, well cut things, and there is a quiet air of prosperity about her. She looks just a little older, perhaps, and the eyes are a trifle more serious, but they are the same tender, splendid eyes, reflecting a big, sweet soul. The two talked over many things, but all the time the artist has searched the maiden's eyes to see if he could find there any sign of what he has longed for all these years, a different answer to the question he put to her four years ago. He is eager to offer again to make a home for her and to spend his life trying to make her the happiest woman in all the world."

He looked over at the girl. "It is for you to end the story," he said quietly.

Her cheeks were flushed, and she was toying with her spoon. She looked up at him a moment, and her eyes were shining. "I want to go back a little and change your story some. I shall begin where the artist had his opportunity to go abroad and study. When he told the maiden about the chance and offered to give it up for her it was the hardest thing she ever had to do in her life to refuse the sacrifice, but she had some small sense of right, and she knew what those years abroad would mean to his future, so she rebuffed him and made him do the thing she knew his head dictated, though his foolish, generous heart led him to offer the other. He thought it was hard for him, perhaps, but he had Paris, with all its diversions, and the spur of his new work, while she had only the lonely sense of his absence. She used to haunt the places where they had been together, and sometimes the days dragged so that only the thought of the millstone she would have been to him if she had acceded to his plan kept her from doing some desperate thing. Then there came his letters begging her for some line in return, and that was the hardest battle of all. She fought it steadily for three days before she won. She knew if she wrote to him her letters would keep her in his mind and that some time she might carelessly say something to bring him back sooner than he ought to come. It was hard not to yield to what her heart pleaded for, but she felt he could do his best work cut off from thoughts of her and then"—Joyce paused.

"SHE USED TO WRITE WONDERFUL STORIES."

"And then?" the man said quickly.

"She thought perhaps he might have fooled himself that he wanted to marry her while circumstances drew their lives so closely together. Now that he was seeing more of the world and meeting other women he would weigh the matter and would learn his mind. If he came back and still wanted her, she would know he meant it, and"—

"Yes?" the man broke in eagerly.

"That's all," she ended lamely, smiling up at him.

"No, not all. Together shall we try to end the stories with 'They lived happily ever after?'"

She reached out her hands to him for answer, and he closed them tenderly in his.

BLUEBEARD.

Two Different Stories as to Who Was the Original.

Like many of the other heroes of the nursery tales, Bluebeard once lived in the flesh and blood, if the old chronicler Holinshed, from whom Shakespeare got so much of his material, is to be believed. According to that writer, the original Bluebeard was Giles de Retz or de Raiz, marquis of Laval, who became marshal of France in 1429. He is described as an impious and debauched man, a devotee of the black art, who enticed young men and women to his castle and killed them in order to obtain innocent blood for his magical enchantments and who also murdered six or seven of his wives. His crimes were discovered, and he was burned at the stake in 1440 at Nantes.

According to an old French legend, however, the original Bluebeard lived in Britanny in the sixth century and was known as Count Conomer. After seven of his wives had disappeared he became enamored of Triphyna, the daughter of Count Guereck of Vannes. The wedding was celebrated at Vannes, and Conomer took his bride home.

Before a year had passed Triphyna noticed a change in her husband's manner, and, fearing the same fate that had met her predecessors, she fled from the castle, but was overtaken by Conomer, who struck off her head with a single blow. St. Gildas, by whom the unfortunate wife had been educated, happened to pass the spot soon after, and, seeing the body, he tenderly replaced the head and by prayer restored Triphyna to life. The story does not relate the end of Conomer.

PHYSICAL EXERCISE.

Effect of Boxing on the Mental and Moral Faculties.

Boxing is an exercise which is not only of the most marked benefit in a purely physical way, but it is of the utmost value as a means of training the mental and moral faculties. One of the most unfortunate whimsicalities of our very whimsical day is the prejudice against boxing as a sport and exercise. There is no sport in which there is provided such splendid exercise for body and mind and spirit as in boxing.

The physical influence of boxing is superb. Every muscle and organ is brought into active use. So far as mentality is concerned, the perception, imagination, judgment, discretion, self confidence, aggressiveness and will are all brought into active and rapid use. The boxer who fails in perceiving his opponent's intention, who misses in judging the power or reach of his blow, who is lacking in self confidence, will power or aggressiveness, who fails for one moment to remember all the weak points of the man against whom he is working—that boxer is likely to fail, to lose what we all value—that is, reputation, public confidence and income. Among the many sports and games which are of value in training the mind I place boxing as by all means the most valuable.—W. R. C. Latson, M. D., in Outing Magazine.

ENGINE AXLE BROKE

Express Train Wrecked, but Nobody Is Seriously Hurt

Boston, Dec. 22.—Three hundred passengers of the New York express over the Boston and Albany road, due at the South station at 9:30 o'clock, were thrown into a wild panic at 10:19 last night, when the train was wrecked about 200 yards this side of the Allston station.

The second engine of the double-header and eight cars were splintered. Windows were broken, trucks wrenched off, yet not a single passenger was seriously injured. One broken arm was reported, but slight bruises constituted the bulk of injuries.

The train was nearly an hour late, and was moving fast. Two big engines were rushing along, making up time, when, right at a switch connecting the inward and outward tracks, the axle of the rear driving wheel of the second engine broke off short. The wheel fell, the engine broke the switch and the whole train, with the exception of the engine in front, piled across and brought up with a crash.

Instantly there was confusion. Engineers Butler and Fay stuck to their posts and shut off the heat and light, thereby reducing the possibilities of fire.

Several women fainted and it was only by quick and vigorous headwork that a wild panic was stayed.

Over twisted platforms and bent steps brakemen assisted women first and then the men. There was danger all the time, but finally all the cars were emptied. Almost before the bewildered passengers could gather their wits, they were being whisked to Boston. The loss to rolling stock is expected to reach $100,000.

The Wolcott Memorial Statue

Boston, Dec. 22.—In observance of the sixth anniversary of his death, the memorial statue of former Governor Roger Wolcott was put in place at the state house. The date of the unveiling has not yet been definitely decided upon. The statue is a bronze figure of the governor sitting in the governor's chair in the council chamber. On his right is a panel showing a Massachusetts soldier in the war with Spain, while a similar panel on the left represents a sailor. The whole is surmounted by an inscription.

Confesses Crime and Surrenders

Boston, Dec. 22.—Penniless, friendless and hungry, his face bearing evidence of consumption, Frank H. Barbour, aged 22, gave himself up to the police to answer to the charge of larceny of $260 from the New York office of the Adams Express company, where he was formerly employed. Manager Birmingham of the Boston office of the express company said that Barbour was wanted in New York for stealing from the company. Barbour is held by the police pending instructions from New York.

Two Sleeping Cars Derailed

Shelburne, Vt., Dec. 22.—Two sleeping cars at the rear of the Montreal-New York night express on the Rutland railroad were derailed near here at 10:30 last night, but according to the railroad officials here no one was killed and no one severely injured, although both the derailed sleepers tipped over on the track. Several persons are said to have been slightly hurt, among them a negro porter, who received bruises and lacerations.

No Trace of Postoffice Thieves

Rutland, Vt., Dec. 22.—Since the robbery of the Rutland postoffice by two masked burglars the fact has developed that the two men attempted to hold up the mail wagon while it was on its way from the Union station to the postoffice about 5 o'clock last Monday morning. The driver of the wagon whipped up his horses and escaped. Efforts to trace the postoffice burglars resulted in no important clues.

No Further Increase In Wages

Lowell, Mass., Dec. 22.—The Cotton Manufacturers' association has sent a letter to the Textile Council declining to grant a 5 percent increase in addition to the 5 percent advance that went into effect this week. The mill managers state that there has been no reduction in Lowell since 1898, while there have been four advances, amounting to about 30 percent, above the schedule of that year.

Barred From the Bar

Bridgeport, Conn., Dec. 22.—Matthew E. O'Brien, candidate for governor on the Prohibition ticket last fall, has again been refused admission to the bar by the Fairfield County Bar association, the committee reporting adversely on his application and the association accepting the report.

Jury Disagreed Twice

Bridgeport, Conn., Dec. 22.—Leroy Butler of Stamford, who has twice been tried for murder in the first degree, the jury disagreeing in each case, has been liberated from the county jail on his own recognizance. Butler was accused of killing his stepfather with an axe two years ago.

Boston to Have New Theatre

Boston, Dec. 22.—Rollin H. Allen has had plans prepared for a theatre in the Back Bay district. The new theatre will occupy the site of the old Harvard Medical school, which was sold recently to Allen for $650,000. It will be the first theatre to be established in the Back Bay district.

Charged With Murder

Bridgeport, Conn., Dec. 22.—A true bill was returned by the grand jury in the superior court against Pasquale Esposito, charging him with the murder of Mrs. Victoria Mosco in Greenwich. The case will not be called for trial until the next term of the criminal court.

The regular meeting of the School Committee will be held tonight instead of next Tuesday night.

Mr. Edward Lyons has been seriously ill with pneumonia the past week at his home on Elm avenue.

Mayor Thompson is busy drafting his Inaugural address to be delivered Tuesday Jan. 7.

The first of the monthly suppers given each season by the ladies of First church is to be on Wednesday evening, Jan. 3.

Mr. Isaac M. Holt is on the sick list. He has been housed up most of the time for the past three weeks with heart trouble.

The Wollaston basket will be sent from the Public Library next week Wednesday to Boynton & Russell's store, 319 Newport avenue.

The venerable Samuel G. Babcock, Arch deacon of the Diocese of Massachussetts is to preach in St. Chrysostom's church Sunday morning at 10.30.

The County Commissioners have ordered a hearing for Jan. 22, 1907, on the petition of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company for a grade crossing on Howard avenue near their works.

There will be no meeting of the City Council next Monday evening, as it is the night before Christmas. An adjourned meeting, however, will be held next Thursday evening, at which time the Council of 1906 will probably adjourn without date.

Today the Daily Ledger raises the limit on its Christmas prize, as 75 were discovered on Thursday. A game of "Regdel" is offered to the one who will in a single issue of the Daily Ledger first find the word Christmas 100 times. Probably there are 100 today.

The Young People's Religious union of the First church will meet in the church parlors, Sunday evening, Dec. 23, at 7 o'clock. A very attractive Christmas program has been arranged. John R. Arnold will speak, "Christmas" being his subject. Mr. Arnold is a very entertaining speaker, and his talk will surely give some new views to the Christmas question. There will be special Christmas singing. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Miss Mildred Hill of Atlantic, while passing the 5 and 10 cent store on Washington street, Boston, on Thursday noon had her pocket picked by someone who made his escape immediately. Miss Hill carried her pocketbook in the outside pocket of her coat and was quite unconscience of her loss until some few minutes after the thief had made good his object. Miss Hill's loss in money was comparatively small, but she had several dollars' worth of tickets, necessary office keys and many personal valuables.

Concert and Dance.

There was a large crowd last evening at the concert and dance given at Hancock hall under the auspices of Court John Adams, Foresters of America.

The entertainment program which was nearly two hours long, included vocal selections by Richard Callahan, slack wire performances by Bernard Smith, soprano solos by Miss Margaret Guivens, clog and statue dances by Messrs Davy and Wise, Charles Dornan in handcuff and card tricks, Miss Elizabeth V. Breslin as contralto soloist.

The program concluded with a laughable comedy entitled "Dizzy's Dilemmas," the characters being impersonated by A. W. Russell, John M. Troupe, James R. Cowie and A. M. Pirie.

Fred Malcolm was stage manager and Harry McIntosh, accompanist.

Dancing was then in order until late.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Fell from Ice Wagon.

William Murray, aged 30 years, of Garfield street, a driver of an ice wagon, fell from his team on Adams street Saturday afternoon. The wheels of the team passed over him. Although he was severely bruised no bones were broken.

He was taken to the City Hospital but refused to be treated there, and was later removed to his home on Garfield street. Sunday afternoon Dr. Jones was called to Murray's house and took twenty stitches in a wound in his leg.

Christmas at Christ Church.

The Christmas festival at Christ church will begin this evening at 7 o'clock. The exercises will include a short address, carols and distribution of presents from an illuminated tree.

At 10 o'clock on Christmas day there will be a Christmas service, when the choir will sing the Te Deum. Holy communion a special service.

An Automobile Up a Derrick

Joseph Hall of Milton had a narrow escape from injury in City Square at 5 o'clock Saturday night. He was coming toward Quincy in a big touring car. Owing to the fog and the cars he was moving slowly.

Standing at the fountain in City Square was a team on which was loaded a long pole or derrick. The team stood in such a way that the pole blocked the street. Mr. Hall saw the team but did not see the pole sticking out behind. The result was that the end of the pole struck the glass front of the car.

The glass was shattered and the top forced back. The steering wheel was also put out of commission. Mr. Hall stopped his car instantly. He was cut in the face by flying glass and had one of his fingers put out of joint. The lady in the car escaped uninjured.

It was very fortunate that the car was going slowly at the time. Had it been moving fast, Mr. Hall would have certainly have been seriously injured.

The driver of the team upon which the pole was loaded did not stop to see what damage had been done, but drove on.

The automobile was taken to Penniman's stable.

Dangerous Combination.

Isaac Kiujunktai while under the influence of liquor on Saturday afternoon terrified the residents of Bates avenue, by rushing through the street like a wild man shooting off a revolver. He fired four shots before Officer Bradley placed him under arrest and locked him up for drunkenness.

Election of Street Railway Union

The annual meeting of the local branch of the Amalgamated Union of Street Railway Employes was held Saturday. The Australian ballot was used and the polls were open all day and until 11 o'clock at night.

The officers elected were: President,—William Walsh.

Vice president,—George Slavin.

Secretary,—Richard Little.

Financial secretary.—John B. McCormick.

Conductor,—John Slatzel.

Warden,—John Brady.

Sentinel,—Edward Myatt.

William Walsh who was elected President has already served three years in that office.

Christmas Sunday.

The Christmas services in the churches on Sunday were largely attended. Music was a prominent feature, and many anthems were beautifully rendered. The pastors preached from appropriate texts. Several of the Sunday schools held interesting festivals. Most of the churches were prettily decorated.

Gassett--Hall.

Ex-Councilman William G. Gassett and Miss Annie P. Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elijah G. Hall, a teacher at the Coddington school, were quietly married at Atlantic on Saturday evening by Rev. Jason G. Miller. After a brief trip Mr. and Mrs. Gassett will reside at Atlantic.

Heroism of Crew of Steamer Saved Many Lives

PART OF VESSEL ABLAZE

Engineers and Firemen Stuck to Their Posts Until Ill-Fated Craft Was Beached and Every Passenger Was Saved

Halifax, Dec. 24.—Word was received here from Port Dufferin, a small coast town 60 miles east of this city, of the destruction by fire of the passenger steamer Strathcona, bound from this port for Canso and Guysboro, calling at a number of small harbors along the shore. That no lives were lost is due principally to the heroism of the engineers and firemen, who stuck to their posts until the steamer was beached and every one of the 380 passengers landed. In less than an hour after the beaching of the Strathcona she was burned to the water's edge.

The Strathcona left here Saturday evening under command of Captain Reid. Most of the 380 passengers were returning to their homes along the east coast after a few days of Christmas shopping in Halifax. A few hours after leaving port fire was discovered in the after hold. Despite the efforts of the officers and crew, the flames spread rapidly and in a brief time the ocean for miles around was illuminated by the burning vessel.

When the cry of fire was raised the wildest confusion prevailed. The passengers, most of them clad only in their nightclothes, rushed on deck and made a dash for the lifeboats, but the crew prevented a panic. The boats were not launched, but were made ready to use in case the flames completely enveloped the steamer before land could be reached.

The terror-stricken passengers were huddled together in the bow of the ship, which was headed for Port Dufferin, the nearest place on the treacherous coast where the steamer could find a harbor. While the Strathcona was driven towards land at top speed the sailors tried to fight back the flames with streams of water. The draft caused by the steamer's rapid progress fanned the flames into greater fury and in a short time the entire after portion of the vessel was on fire.

Down in the engine room the engineers and firemen stuck bravely to their posts, although the flames began to surround them. Not until the keel of the steamer grated on a reef a mile from the entrance of the harbor did they abandon their dangerous posts and rush to the deck. The steamer had kept her heading until she reached the reef off Smiley's point. Then the boats were lowered and all of the passengers, together with the 13 members of the crew, found safety on shore.

Many of the passengers were students from Dalhousie university, Halifax, who were on their way to spend Christmas with their relatives and they say that the discipline of the crew equalled that of any ocean liner. Second Engineer Irwin was the last man to leave the stokehole, and he was almost unconscious when he reached the deck, having had to fight his way through smoke which was pouring from the exit. Before he left his post he arranged everything below so as to prevent the boilers from exploding.

Captain Reid remained on deck directing the operations of the crew in fighting the flames and he was the last man to step over the side of the burning ship. The passengers lost their effects, but are thankful at having escaped with their lives.

The Strathcona was only two years old, and was a vessel of 200 tons. In addition to the passengers, she carried a full general cargo of supplies and Christmas goods for delivery at various points along the east coast. She was valued at $44,000. Not long ago the Strathcona ran into and sank the sealing steamer Havana in Halifax harbor and was condemned to pay $30,000 damages.

Interested In Patrick

New York, Dec. 24.—The Medico-Legal society has addressed itself to Governor-elect Hughes on behalf of Albert T. Patrick. The society expresses its opinion on recent experiments which, it is claimed, tended to show that the effect of the embalming fluid ordinarily used was such as to make positive proof of ante-death poisoning impossible.

Hebrews Want to Run Schools

New York, Dec. 24.—Having failed to persuade the board of education to stop the celebration of Christmas in the public schools, rabbis and other Hebrews have decided to call a strike of schoolchildren of their race. If their plans are successful Hebrews will keep their children away from school today. The board does not regard the agitation as serious.

The Christmas Anthem

By ARTHUR J. BURDICK

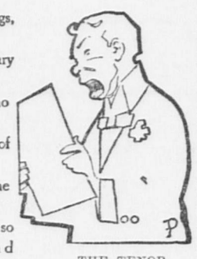

[Copyright, 1906, by Arthur J. Burdick.]

THE CONTRALTO.

IF there's one thing that this Christmas
More than others a desire,
'Tis to hear a Christmas anthem
By the old time village choir.
I may live to be a hundred,
But I never will forget
Christmas in the old home village
And the good old time quartet.

There was Liza Briggs, contralto;
The soprano, Mary Jones,
And the tenor who was noted
For the clearness of his tones.
But the basso was the stunner—
Had a voice so hoarse and strong
It would fairly knock the slivers,
So to speak, right off of song!

THE TENOR.

I can recollect the anthem
Always sung on Christmas day.
"Gloo-rye, gloo-rye, in the 'ighest!"
We could hear the tenor say.
Then the basso joined the effort.
"Pay-son airth, goo-dwill toe man;
Gloo-rye, pay-son, gloo-rye, pay-son"—
That's the way the anthem ran.

"AWNGILS SANG THE GLAWD REEF-RAIN."

Then the women gathered courage:
"Awngils sang the glawd reef-rain;"
And the basso followed after:
"Awngils, raff-rain," o'er again.
"Reef-rain," "raff-rain," "ruff-rain," "roof-rain,"
Shouted each; then all went back
And began again at "Gloo-rye,"
Sailing on another tack.

THE SOPRANO.

After various frantic efforts,
Going back from time to time,
Singly, doubly, all together,
In a climax quite sublime,
They all met at last in concert
On the anthem's final note
And, to peaceful silence sinking,
Let their voices gently float.

THE BASSO.

Twas a pleasure thus to listen
And to watch the vocal race.
Once again I'd like to hear them
And behold each well known face.
I may live to be a hundred,
But I never will forget
Christmas in the old home village
And that good old time quartet.

MORAN'S LEGAL OPINION

Will Only Be Accepted by Police Regarding Sunday Law

Boston, Dec. 24.—The stopping of the work yesterday on the Washington street tunnel by order of District Attorney Moran, who claimed that it was a violation of the Sunday law, brought forth a reply last night from Police Commissioner O'Meara, who issued a statement to the effect that hereafter the police department will decline to even discuss the requests of persons who wish to do work on Sunday, but who are doubtful of its legality under the Sunday law. Such persons, says the commissioner, will apply if they choose to Moran. Should Moran directly inform the police department that certain contemplated work is or is not illegal his opinion will usually be accepted as that of a competent lawyer. Work not specifically allowed by law upon which Moran has not communicated a favorable opinion to the police will be treated by them as illegal and those performing it will be compelled to convince a court that the work was of necessity or charity.

After Moran's notification to the Washington street tunnel contractors Saturday night that their work was illegal, Moran told another contractor that his work was all right and to fix it with the police.

When the contractor saw Superintendent of Police Pierce the latter replied that nothing could be fixed with the police and that by direction of the commissioner only the written opinion of Moran, given under his official title as district attorney, could be accepted.

Commissioner O'Meara also stated that the district attorney has no more authority than the police or the local postmaster to sanction Sunday work in advance, and a contractor with one of the district attorney's permits in his pocket might be prosecuted by the police.

The greater part of the work on the Washington street tunnel, begun two years ago, has been conducted between 6 o'clock Saturday night and 6 o'clock Monday morning. The big tunnel is, however, well along toward completion.

Greeks Tried to Kill One Another

Brunswick, Me., Dec. 24.—A throng of Christmas shoppers was thrown into a panic by a running fight between two Greeks. The quarrel started in a lodging house occupied by Greeks, but it ended on Main street, when Christof Dallas, who was bleeding from a stab wound in the leg, shot Stephen Daosis in the arm as the latter fled along Main street. Both men were placed under arrest. Neither is seriously hurt.

Some Will Be Disappointed

Boston, Dec. 24.—Sixty of the 71 hotels in this city which are permitted by the recently adopted act to apply for licenses to sell liquor in dining rooms until midnight have filed their applications with the excise commissioners, although under the new law only 30 can hold the coveted pieces of parchment costing $500 each.

Many "Lifers" In State Prison

Hartford, Dec. 24.—The arrival at the state prison of Charles M. Bishop, who murdered Mrs. Caroline E. Williams in Tolland county, brings the number of life convicts up to 71. This is the largest census of criminals ever undergoing life imprisonment at Wethersfield. Of the 71 life convicts three are women.

The Roosevelt Disabled

Newport, R. I., Dec. 24.—The Arctic steamer Roosevelt, Sydney, C. B., for New York, was sighted off here by Captain Kenyon of the Price's Neck life-saving station, with her foretopmast gone. The Roosevelt seemed to be making slow progress, having been 20 hours making about 30 miles.

Unions to Consider Wage Question

Lowell, Mass., Dec. 24.—The Textile Council has voted to refer the letter of the mill agents refusing an additional 5 percent increase in wages to the unions comprising the council. The operatives asked for an increase of 10 percent, but only 5 percent was given by the mill managers.

Father and Sons Burned

Washington, Pa., Dec. 24.—Four persons were burned, three fatally, as the result of a natural gas explosion in the home of John Carvel. The explosion was caused by gas escaping from a rubber hose which became detached from the stove. Carvel arose to get a drink of water and struck a match. His three sons were sleeping and before they knew what had happened were burned. All were taken to a hospital.

Macklin Will Recover

El Reno, Okla., Dec. 24.—No motive has yet been found for the shooting at Fort Reno of Captain Macklin, who will recover. The negro assailant is still at large. Officers at the fort are loath to believe that the negro who did the shooting was a discharged soldier who sought revenge. The testimony of Macklin in the Brownsville affair shows that he did not place the blame for it upon the members of his company.

Serious Industrial Crisis

Lodz, Poland, Dec. 24.—The town is practically controlled by Socialists without interference from the government. One-fourth of the population is without work or bread and unless the workmen abandon their excessive demands the employers have decided to close all manufactories this week.

College Domitory Burned

Tallahassee, Fla., Dec. 24.—The dormitory of the Florida female college was destroyed by fire. There were no casualties. The valuable collection of music, art and all the furniture was destroyed.

Brave Miner Emerges From the Valley of the Shadow

ENTOMBED F.FTEEN DAYS

Not Emaciated and Aided Himself at the Last Moment--Dangerous and Tedious Task Is Crowned With Success

Bakersfield, Cal., Dec. 24.—Lindsay B. Hicks, released from an entombment of 15 days in a caved in tunnel, appears well and happy after his gruesome experience, spending much time in receiving the congratulations of friends and neighbors to whom he related the feelings he underwent within the dark, close quarters of his tomblike prison near the dead bodies of five less fortunate companions while scores of men worked like beavers day and night for more than two weeks to save him from death by digging through many feet of earth and rock.

Hicks was once a soldier and he is said to carry some Indian blood in his veins. His bravery under the trying conditions won for him the admiration of hundreds of persons who watched the progress of his exhumation. Hicks was not emaciated at the finish. He was so strong that the stimulants that had been prepared for him were not needed.

It was 11:25 o'clock Saturday night when Hicks was released. The last cut on the drift was made at 11:12 o'clock and no sooner was the segment of debris removed and the way left open than Hicks began to scrape away the rocks and earth and crawl toward the opening. With arms in front of his head, he went into the miniature tunnel and began to work his way slowly through to the other side of a dumpcar near which he had remained during the excavating. When he had progressed about half way he stopped and Superintendent Miller, who stood at the tube at the mouth of the shaft, called and asked what was the matter.

"Oh, nothing," Hicks called back, "I'm just going to stop. I'm out of wind. My wind is very short, you know."

Then Hicks moved a few inches further toward freedom, and his arms were seized by Dr. Stinchfield and Miner Gents. The two pulled the miner into the main tunnel, where he was placed in a sitting posture. The blindfold that Hicks had been ordered to put on was removed, as the tunnel was only dimly lighted by a candle.

And, there, a hundred feet from the face of the mountain and within a few steps of the place where the miner had lain entombed for nearly 16 days, there occurred a pathetically joyful scene.

While working on a tunnel that was building by the Edison Power company near Bakersfield on Dec. 7, the vertical walls of a deep cut fell in on Hicks and five fellow workmen. It was at first thought that all had perished. Three days later a tapping on the iron rail of the little tramway running through the drift gave the first intimation that a man, still alive, was buried beneath the debris.

A 70-foot pipe two inches in diameter was immediately forced through the debris. It reached the spot where Hicks was entombed. A heavy dirt car had become wedged in the debris in such a way s to keep the immense weight from crushing him.

When Hicks pulled the wooden plug from the iron pipe and called to the men above him his voice sounded like one from the grave.

By means of the pipe Hicks kept in communication with a big force of rescuers. Milk was poured down the pipe. This was the only sustenance possible to give the man for nearly two weeks. During the first two days Hicks said he had been living on a plug of tobacco. He had just exhausted this when the pipe was forced into the crevice in which he was pinned.

It was thought at first that his rescue would at the most be only a matter of a few days, but as the work progressed it was seen that the task was a much more difficult one than was anticipated. In a narrow space under the car there was just room for Hicks to lie down. His prison did not allow of the slightest freedom of movement and for days the man lay on his back, not daring to move lest he might disturb the car overhead and bring down upon himself an avalanche of dirt that would mean his death. Through the pipe he directed the work of rescue, guiding the course of the tunnel the miners started toward his prison so that it would not by some chance disturb the equilibrium of the car which was all that lay between him and death. Before the end of the first week the stench from the decomposing bodies of those who had died in the cavein made his position almost unbearable.

It was found when the rescuers had reached to within a few feet of the entombed man that it would be impossible to reach him from above. Another tunnel had to be started, this time directly underneath the spot where he lay, so as not to risk bringing down the great pile of earth supported by the car. This work required the most delicate timbering and was slow.

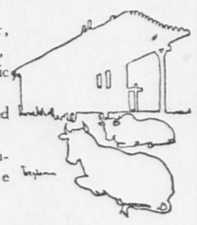

While the last steps were being taken in his rescue, Superintendent Cone, who led the rescue, called to Hicks and told him he was still on the payroll. He said: "You have been a most faithful man, Hicks; you have been on duty for 15 days and nights and never asked for a day off."

THE CHRISTMAS TREE

By FRANK H. SWEET

NLY a star, a shining star,
More glorious than our planets are,
But watched by wistful eyes and bright,
And longing hearts, that wondrous night.

Only a manger, shadow thronged,
That to some public inn belonged,
Where sweet breathed cattle quietly
For midnight slumber bent the knee.

Only the light of tapers small,
That on two tender faces fall,
Two tender faces—one divine—
That still through all the centuries shine

TWO TENDER FACES—ONE DIVINE.

From palace walls, from thrones of gold,
From churches, shrines, cathedrals old,
Where the grand masters of their art
Wrought faithfully with hand and heart.

Only a Babe, in whose small hand
Is seen no scepter of command,
But at whose name, with freedom's sword,
Move the great armies of the Lord.

Only a cross! But, oh, what light
Shines from God's throne on Calvary's height!
His birth, his life, the angels see
Written on every Christmas tree.

JINGLES AND JESTS.

Her Christmas Wreath.

"I would not wear the laurel," said the dear, coquettish maid.
"For of the pathway leading unto fame I am afraid;
The cedar is too somber, and the holly is too gay;
I will not wear the willow, and I cannot wear the bay;
The rose is out of season and the lily, too, and so
I think on Christmas eve I'll wear a wreath of mistletoe!"

Public Interest

IS NOW CENTERED ON

The Pure Food Law.

WE Have Always Maintained that the best that money could buy was alway the cheapest in the end, because it is always the bargain hunters that have to pay the DOCTOR, buying as they do IMPURE foods of all kinds, FOODS that are UNFIT for ANY PERSON'S STOMACH, being mixed as they are with different kinds of PRESERVATIVES and SECRET PREPARATIONS to take the place of GOOD PURE FOODS. And some dealers selling these goods at a GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICE over the pure kind, GUARANTEE you NOTHING, but—"Poor Health to You and Your Family," and although you can buy the "just as good kind," you can save nothing as that kind is unhealthy and dangerous to the whole human family. Now our standard is to always sell the best of everything and the steady increase of our business year after year proves to us that we have the right idea, and we know it must be very satisfactory to our many customers to feel that what they buy at our store is ABSOLUTELY PURE and HEALTHFUL and the Food Laws are being strictly enforced by us. Our Goods are all GOVERNMENT INSPECTED and also carefully inspected by us before they are put on sale or sent to your homes, and although you pay perhaps a few cents more to us than some dealers charge, don't you think it is money well spent, considering all things?—YOUR HEALTH, which is the greatest blessing we can have,—think well about this and we know you will agree with us and do your trading where you know the goods can be depended upon to be absolutely Pure.

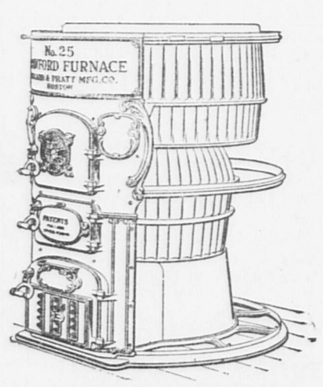

We have just received our season's pack of choice canned and bottled goods, FRESH and DRIED FRUITS, all kinds of Cereals, Ketchup, Pickles, Jams, Jellies, Prunes, Figs, Nuts, Dates, Table Raisins, Citron, Lemon and Orange Peel, Olives, Sardines,—in fact everything for your tastes and fancies. All the leading brands of FLOUR. Fancy New Orleans Molasses.

OUR MARKET is complete, AND REMEMBER, we sell nothing that has been doctored or filled with Preservatives to keep it. ABSOLUTELY NOTHING but Carefully Selected Meats are on sale at OUR STORE. Stamped with the Government Inspection Stamp, that insures to you and to us the point of perfection, which we are always striving to reach for the benefit of our trade.

We will have a grand display of that great National Bird, THE TURKEY, the same VERMONT KIND we have always sold you,—Chicken, Fowl and Duck, direct from WILLIAM R. DRAKE of Braintree, and he knows how to dress them so as to please the eye as well as the palate. They don't grow nicer than he has. Fruit and vegetables in abundance, and don't forget our famous LA TOURAINE COFFEE, no dinner complete without it.

EXONERATES HIS WIFE

Rochester Man Made Counterfeit Money Passed by the Woman

Rochester, Dec. 24.—Anton Winter, a photo engraver, was arrested on the charge of counterfeiting. His arrest followed that of his wife. She was charged with attempting to pass counterfeit money. It is claimed that the woman offered a bogus $2 bill at a store.

Complaints were made in November of counterfeit $2 bills being passed in small stores in this city. The secret service men say that about 50 bad bills were passed in all. When Winter's house was searched a powerful camera and a printing press were found. It is claimed that the bills were made by taking photographs of a genuine bill and transferring them to copper plates, from which the bills were printed.

Winter had just completed a letter to his wife, when arrested, in which he said he had made the counterfeit money to provide for her and their four children. He said in the letter that she was innocent of any knowledge of his wrongdoing. He told the police he was just on the point of committing suicide by taking cyannide of mercury when they arrested him.

Fake Mining Concerns In Mexico

Mexico City, Dec. 24.—United States Postmaster General Cortelyou is stirring up his department to run down fake promoters who put out wildcat mining companies to fleece the public, and the United States postoffice department is sending to Mexico a corps of trained men to go through the mining regions and find out how many Mexican mining companies promoted in the United States are genuine. The postoffice department says it has evidence that $50,000,000 has been invested in the last three years by Americans in worthless mining companies.

Exhausted by Hunger

New York, Dec. 24.—Frank K. Barbour, aged 22, who surrendered to the police of Boston, was brought here last night. Barbour was wanted here to answer a charge of grand larceny from the Adams Express company. On the train the prisoner fainted twice and later told the officer that he had not eaten in four days. At New London and at New Haven food was procured for him. Taken to police headquarters, however, he again collapsed and was placed in an ambulance and taken to a hospital.

Mrs Blaine Gets Divorce

Yankton, S. D., Dec. 24.—A divorce was granted Saturday night to Mrs. James G. Blaine, wife of the son of the former secretary of state, on grounds of non-support and desertion. The case began shortly before 7 o'clock and at 8 o'clock the decree had been granted and the divorced wife had taken a train for Washington. This breaks the record for the time consumed in a divorce hearing in South Dakota.

Earthquake Lasted Ninety Minutes

London, Dec. 24.—A big earthquake of nearly three hours' duration was recorded Saturday evening by the seismographs on the Isle of Wight and at Laibach, Bologna, and Florence—a distance of over 4000 miles. A dispatch from Kopal, Russian Turkestan, brings news of an extremely violent shock there Saturday evening, lasting 90 minutes. No details, however, are given.

Man and Woman Asphyxiated

Washington, Dec. 24.—Charles N. Turner, a carpenter of this city, 50 years old and married, and an unidentified woman were found dead in bed from asphyxiation at a small hotel, where they registered as "I. M. Minon and wife." The woman was of handsome face and figure. The couple had been drinking. The coroner expressed the belief that death was accidental.

Wanted Money For Beer

Chicago, Dec. 24.—William Woodrich, a teamster, 55 years old, asked his wife for a nickel to buy beer. Mrs. Woodrich had but 4 cents and offered them to her husband. He struck the coins from her hand and, after venting his rage verbally, shot her to death and committed suicide.

Planning Venezuelan Revolution

Trinidad, Dec. 24.—Advices from Venezuela are to the effect that the state of health of President Castro, who is at Macuto, is becoming more and more alarming. Rumors of a serious revolutionary movement in the western part of Venezuela continue to be circulated.

New York, Dec. 24.—Harry Diamond, who shot and killed his mother-in-law, Mrs. Bertha Cohen, and shot and wounded himself in an attempt at suicide, having pleaded guilty to manslaughter, was sentenced to serve 20 years in Sing Sing prison.

A Quick Endurance Test

Santa Barbara, Cal., Dec. 24.—During a straightaway run of four hours in her endurance test, the new cruiser South Dakota averaged 22.24 knots an hour. It was one of the speediest trials on record, the cruiser being in port only a trifle over 48 hours.

Criminally Assaulted Stepdaughters

Jeffersonville, Ind., Dec. 24.—Frank Harris, 45 years old, was found guilty in the circuit court of criminal assault on his twin stepdaughters. The jury returned a verdict of life imprisonment in the state penitentiary.

HOLIDAY NOTICE.

The office of the Daily Ledger will be closed all day tomorrow, no paper being issued. The editors extend a Merry Christmas to all readers, and the people of Quincy generally.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

Herbert A. Faulkner, the passenger agent of the Old Colony street railway company, will please accept thanks of the editor of the Daily Ledger for kind Christmas remembrance. We wish him a Merry Christmas, and a successful New Year for the company.

Strict building ordinances are not always of benefit to a city. The Herald says editorially: "There are large areas of Boston, chiefly the older districts, where population and business have so changed that radical development of real estate is needed. The building laws have prevented or retarded this, working hardship to owners and depriving the city of assessed valuations."

Quincy Coliseum.

Manager Lanworth has certainly got a big program for Christmas week. Tonight, the Howards, the marvels of the age, moving pictures, and also the Divine trio, America's greatest acrobatic, trick bicycle and unicycle riders, and slack wire performers. These gentlemen are without a doubt the most daring performers now before the public. They will appear every evening at 9 o'clock, and Christmas day afternoon at 4. Christmas day there will be skating all day and three races, one in the forenoon at 11, one in the afternoon at 3.30, and the big race at 8.30 in the evening. The band will give concerts in the afternoon and evening, so every body that enjoy this sport can have a good time and surely get their money's worth at the Coliseum all this week. A big Wild West race is in preparation.

N E C C Specialty Show

Ten trophies, twenty-six cups, twenty-six medals, and twenty-eight other articles ranging from a dog collar to an umbrella with $100 in gold, compose the very creditable and favorable list of special prizes gotten together by that band of earnest workers on behalf of the collie at the Specialty Show in Boston Jan. 15 and 16. Besides these there is the regular prize money in all classes amounting to about $400, and the superintendent says, "There is more to be heard from." Judging by the many requests for premium lists received by every mail, the entry for this show is bound to be much larger than the one held in 1905, by the Collie Club of America.

Too Many Dogs.

Something should be done by those in authority in regard to the numerous dogs that are running about in the streets. Many of them are without collars and their owners are unknown. Within a few days three dogs have been killed. All of these are declared to have had the rabbies. There is no knowing how many other dogs they have bitten, or how soon the other animals may develop symptoms.

At this season of the year the streets are full of children, and with so many dogs about it is a wonder that some one does not get bitten.

Until the present scare, at least, is over, dogs should be kept from the street, tied up or muzzled.

CARNEGIE ON WEALTH.

Steel King Would Impose Heavy Tax on Inheritances.

OPPOSES A LEVY ON INCOMES

He Would Make the Public Heir When Millionaire Dies—Says Riches Come From Community, and Most of It Should Be Returned—Indorses Gladstone's Sentiments on Tax That Makes a Nation of Liars.

Andrew Carnegie's view concerning the proper disposition of America's great fortunes attracted much attention at the recent meeting of the National Civic federation in New York during a discussion of a national inheritance tax and an income tax.

He believed with Gladstone, he said, that an income tax made a nation of liars. Men were like bees. They should not be interfered with while making the honey.

"My experience is," said he, "that I would as soon leave a curse to my boy as to leave him the almighty dollar." The subject of wealth distribution, he said, would not down. It was now obviously strangely unequal, and the sooner we discovered a sane method of distribution the better.

As to the income tax he said: "There is no tax so pernicious, not only from an economic, but from a moral point of view, because it is a tax that requires the struggling young business man, fearful whether the bank directors will pass his note for $1,000 tomorrow, to explain all his private business to some man in the community who may himself be a bank director or who is connected with the banks. It penetrates business to the core, and the nation will never regret anything so much as attempting to collect a tax upon men engaged in business."

To illustrate his argument in favor of the inheritance tax Mr. Carnegie drew a word picture of a farmer who, many years ago, gave to one son a farm on Manhattan Island, which eventually became city property and enabled his descendants to live without effort. Another son had received a farm farther up in Harlem, and his children were obliged to continue doing something to "justify the world in supporting them." As the generations came along these children became millionaires through the growth of the city.

"Who made that wealth?" asked Mr. Carnegie. "The community, the population, the people. Then you tell me wealth is sacred. I say the community was the leading partner that made that wealth. I am not in favor of touching the bee when it is making the honey. Let the bee work. But when he passes away, then I say the silent partner, the community that made that wealth, should receive its dividend—a large portion.

"We will suppose there is another son. He settles in New York. He is a bright boy and he sees that railroads are essential to the future of this metropolis, and he embarks in the work. He consolidates these railroads. He is a useful man. He does the state some service. But he soon sees that, with the population growing, the traffic so increasing, he could pay dividends on his stock and issue more stock, and he goes on and on and buys up the stock, gets a large interest in it, and he becomes one of that class which no other nation has. He is indigenous to America. Now he dies. His family all become millionaires.

"Who made that wealth? If New York had remained a village, if the western states had not developed, if the people of the United States had not increased in population and by their labors become well doing and did not wish to visit New York, did not wish to buy things in New York to ship back and forth, he would not have been a millionaire. There, again, wealth flows from the community. I think society makes a huge mistake if it ever interferes with an organizing man in his lifetime. As a rule a millionaire is not an extravagant man himself. The man who has made money can usually be trusted to keep it.

"Take another man, another brother, who has settled in Pittsburg. He sees that coking coal is there for smelting iron, and there [pointing to a man in the audience] is one of the men that did it very early in life, my partner, John Walker. Why, it was as plain as A B C that Pittsburg was the place where you could make a ton of steel cheaper than anywhere else in the world, and that young man and other bright, intelligent young fellows went to Europe and saw what Great Britain was doing. Britain was always ahead in steel manufacture. They found a lack of raw materials, of everything, and they bought up ore mines on Lake Superior.

"This country's demand for steel increased. Now, who made that growth? The growth of the American public. That is what that wealth came from And that is the partner in every enterprise where money is made honorably. And I say these men, when the time comes when they must die and lie down with their fathers, community fails in its duty and our legislators fail in their duty if they do not exact a tremendous share, progressive share—no idea of ever making his children paupers, no idea of interfering with his right to leave them a competence, but it is the enormous sum, those millions, which should really have a different name from property. When a man was a man of property in the old days it meant he had enough for himself and family to live well enough on, but now we are under changed conditions."

At First Church

There was a large attendance Sunday at all of the services at the First church. At the morning service the pastor, Rev. Ellery C. Butler preached a Christmas sermon and there was special music by the choir. At 4 o'clock the Sunday school gathered in the chapel and listened to an interesting and instructive talk on "Scenes from the life of Jesus," illustrated by 35 colored stereopticon views by Charles H. Johnson, the superintendent.

Who said a green Christmas?

Mark L. Reed has returned from a western business trip.

No Daily Ledger will be issued tomorrow—Christmas day.

The light house vessel Mayflower is undergoing repairs at the shipyard.

Green Christmases have been in a majority since 1870, but it looks like a white one this year.

Mr. and Mrs. John O. Hall, Jr., are guests of ex-Mayor and Mrs. Hall of Upland road for the holidays.

The street railway men and the letter carriers, as well as the newsboys and others are being remembered today.

The entertainment Committee of the Granite City club will serve a turkey supper at the club rooms tonight.

The heavy fall of snow Saturday night came as a surprise, and sleighs were out Sunday and today.

The Quincy Y. M. C. A. won at basket ball on Saturday evening from the Gloucester Y. M. C. A. team 47 to 16.

Albert Bruff, who has been in the west in the interest of the National Biscuit Co., returned to Quincy Saturday night.

Mrs. Frank S. Patch, who has been at the City Hospital, returned home Saturday. She is now on the road to recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Crain of Revere road are spending the holidays in visiting relatives and friends in New York and Washington.

The Crocker cup offered to players of the Wollaston Golf club was won on Saturday by D. E. Little who defeated C. M. Hart in the finals.

The Steamer Brunswick left the shipyard Saturday afternoon for New York. This vessel has undergone extensive repairs and is to run between New York and Cuba via. Brunswick, Georgia.

The Christmas noon temperature for ten years has ranged between 16 above in 1904 and 46 above in 1900. The average has been 30 plus, being below the freezing point five of the ten years.

The Wollaston Methodist Sunday school are to hold their Christmas exercises in the church vestry this evening at 7.45. There will be a short program and afterwards presents and candies will be distributed.

There was special music Sunday morning at First church, the quartet being assisted by a violinist. Rev. E. C. Butler preached a most helpful sermon on Peace. At the communion service several joined the church, the service being most impressive. The Sunday school met at four o'clock when there was a carol service and the story of the life of Jesus was illustrated by colored stereopticon views. The Y. P. C. BIG TEMPLE IN CHICAGO

Church, University and Dormitory at Cost of $5,000,000.

TO OCCUPY ALMOST ENTIRE BLOCK

Unique Scheme of Dr. George F. Hall Involves Erection of an Eighteen Story Building to Be Devoted to Religious, Educational, Lodge and Social Purposes—Some Matrimonial Business Too.

Dr. George F. Hall, "the business man preacher," who for the last five years has been pastor of the Bush Temple Independent Christian church in Chicago, without a salary, has planned a vision that he says will come true. A "$5,000,000 temple," comprising church, university and dormitory departments, will be started the 1st of May, Dr. Hall says, on a site bordering on Lincoln park. The plans have been drawn by two Chicago architects and are at Dr. Hall's office, says the Chicago Tribune.

Dr. Hall's worldly vocation is president of the Chicago-Texas Land and Lumber company. He has lived in Chicago the greater part of twenty-two years. The plans were recently made public by Dr. Hall in an address before the Social Economics club.

"My ultimate desire is to establish a great church and to give young men and women who work—that is, business men and women—advantages of proper social, intellectual and religious surroundings," he said. "Moral uplift in the slums is almost impossible. This institution will not be a charity institution and will not deal in slum work. Nor will it be a profit sharing affair. A New York firm has agreed to take the entire amount of bonds, myself retaining a controlling interest."

The building is to be eighteen stories above ground, with four basement floors, and will occupy almost an entire block. It will be fireproof and faced with Wisconsin granite. Dr. Hall says he expects to dedicate the edifice Thanksgiving day, 1908.

The building is to be divided as follows:

First floor—Bank, twenty miscellaneous stores, cafe, auditorium.

Second to sixth floors, inclusive—Hall university, with a capacity for 15,000 students, planned greatly after the Carnegie institute, with medical, law and night schools included.

Floors seven to sixteen—Dormitories that will accommodate 7,000 persons—3,500 rooms—to be rented for $2.50 and $3 a week. No married people will be housed. Certain floors will be for women and others for men.

Floor seventeen—Dining room.

Floor eighteen—Sleeping apartment for building employees.

Basement floors—Gymnasium, banquet hall that will seat 3,000, manual training school, kitchens, storage, heat and ice plants and private waterworks supplied by artesian wells.

The auditorium will seat 12,000, with a choir loft for 600 and orchestra box for fifty persons. The immense pipe organ will cost $100,000. The dome of the auditorium will reach the sixth floor. The entire court here will be a roof garden. Theaters will not be countenanced, the establishment being conducted on strict religious principles, but there will be weekly entertainments of musical and intellectual nature.

Dr. Hall will receive no salary further than interest on his bonded investment. He will be a chancellor and will preach each Sunday. Card parties and dancing will not be permitted, but there will be twelve lodge halls and numerous parlors for social diversion. Floating above the building will be banners bearing church mottoes.

Dr. Hall expects to do quite a matrimonial business, although that feature will be encouraged only by modest gatherings the social life will occasion. Dr. Hall's study will be on the second floor. After the twenty year bonds are paid off Dr. Hall says all profits of the concern will be used for church and mission purposes.

Dr. Hall has no fear but that the rooms will be occupied readily by desirable young people. All details have been figured out to a fine degree. As to the population of Chicago, with which the institution will deal, Dr. Hall cited that in the city there are 17,000 bookkeepers, 30,000 stenographers, 5,000 musicians, besides innumerable clerks and counting house employees.

"I have been at work on the undertaking for many years," said Dr. Hall. "The ambition of my life is to see it realized."

Missouri Negroes' Self Improvement.

Missouri negroes are in nearly every small town organizing clubs and associations and meeting to discuss in a careful and temperate way problems affecting their business and social life, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. A meeting arranged in Columbia by Professor J. B. Coleman and his co-teachers in the Fred Douglass negro school is one of the many that have been held. There is a large and well defined movement among Missouri negroes looking toward self improvement.

Call For Congressional Records.

Representative Watkins of Louisiana thinks he has about the most inconsistent constituent imaginable, says a Washington correspondent of the New York World. He sent him a full quota of garden seeds and received this letter in reply: "I received the seeds, but they are no good. Send me a set of Congressional Records. They amuse the children and make bully lamp lighters."

A BOLD PROJECT.

The Scheme by Which Malet Nearly Captured Paris In 1812.

A bold scheme was that engineered by Malet, a Frenchman. Malet had been a republican general, was ruined by the rise of Napoleon, betook himself to plotting, was arrested and finally put in a madhouse. During the emperor's absence in Russia in 1812 Malet escaped one night from his prison, obtained a general's uniform and with an accomplice dressed as an aid-de-camp made his way to the prison of La Force, where the unsuspecting governor released on his command two other ex-republicans, Generals Laborie and Guidal, prisoners on a like charge to his own. Together they proceeded to a neighboring barracks, announced to the commandant that Napoleon was dead and that they were acting by the decree of the senate, ordered the troops to be paraded and dispatched bodies of men upon various duties. Some arrested Savary, the minister of police; others the police prefect. Another battalion seized the Hotel de Ville. Everybody obeyed Malet implicitly, even the prefect of the Seine, and he would undoubtedly have gained possession of Paris had he not been recognized by Laborde, chief of the military police, as an escaped prisoner. He was arrested after a scuffle, the plot was unraveled, and in due course Malet, with twenty-three of his abettors, was shot.

HOW WATER ACTS.

Its Expansion and Contraction and Its Solvent Powers.

Water contracts as it falls from the normal boiling point, 212 degrees, until it reaches 39 degrees. Below that degree it expands, and at 32 degrees, the freezing point, it will expand enough to burst pipes and vessels holding it.

When the pressure of the air is below normal, water boils at a lower temperature than 212 degrees. This is noticed before a rain, when the barometer shows by a falling mercury a decreased air pressure. This also explains why water boils away more rapidly, quickly or at a lower temperature in the mountains, where the pressure of the air is less than on the seacoast or in the valleys. If sugar or salt is added to water the temperature of the boiling point is raised a few degrees. As a rule, as water is heated it will hold a greater amount of a substance in solution. A familiar exception is the fact that ice water will dissolve twice as much lime as boiling water. At the other extreme boiling water will dissolve seventeen times as much saltpeter as will cold water. But water varies in its solvent powers regardless of heat. One pound of water will hold two pounds of sugar in solution, but only two ounces of common salt.

Frankincense.

Frankincense is the purest of all incense. It is a gum resin from an Arabian terebinth. To obtain this a deep incision is made in the trunk and below it a narrow strip of bark peeled off. When the exudation has hardened, the incision is deepened. In about three months the resin has acquired a sufficient degree of consistency. It is gathered in large quantities and packed in goatskins. It was formerly believed that the trees which yielded frankincense were infested by winged serpents, and the only way to be rid of them and to get at the treasure was by burning gum styrax, an odoriferous balsam of aromatic smell. Frankincense was forbidden to be used for embalming, as it was sacred to sacrificial purposes. The Israelites were strictly prohibited from compounding it. Now it is used largely in Roman Catholic and high church ceremonies.

The Lay of the Hen.

Investigation of the capacity of hens to lay eggs results in the discovery that the egg production of hens decreases considerably after the age of four years. Thus a hen lays at the age of one year about 20 eggs; at the age of two years, about 120; at the age of three years, about 135; at the age of four years, about 115; at the age of five years, about 80, and at the age of six years, about 60. These figures go to show that hens should never be kept in the poultry yard more than four years, for after the lapse of this time they do not yield a proper return on the food they consume.

Great Value of Honey.

"Honey, one of the most nutritious and delicate of foods, should be eaten more than it is," writes a cooking expert. "Bought in the comb, it is bound to be unadulterated and will keep one free from sore throat and bronchial troubles. I know a number of ladies who use honey as a cosmetic. They apply it to the skin, rub it in well, then wash it off with hot water. The result is a finer complexion, a glowing color, a young, fresh look."—Birmingham Post.

Reassured.

"Did you hear that noise? What can it be?" demanded the janitor of the fashionable apartment house.

His wife went out into the hall and returned. "It was nothing but a rat," she said.

"Ah," sighed the janitor, greatly relieved, "I thought it was a child."—Bohemian.

A Close Fourth.

"My wife thinks a good deal of me."

"That's nice."

"Yes; next to the baby and the poodle and the rubber plant I'm all to the mustard with her."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

I wish I was as sure of anything as Tom Macaulay is of everything.—Lord Melbourne.

An Extraordinary Migration.

One of the greatest mysteries to scientists, one for which there seems to be no reasonable explanation, is that concerning the migration of the lemming, or Norway rat. Instead of taking place once a year, these migrations occur only once in eleven years. When the time comes for the exodus the little animals journey westward from Scandinavia, allowing nothing to stop their movements, which virtually amount to a headlong flight. They swim the lakes and rivers and climb the highest mountains in incalculable numbers, devastating the whole country through which they travel. Naturalists attribute the movement to some inherited memory of a flight to escape an expected cataclysm, but this seems somewhat far fetched.

An Old Roman Mint.

A completely equipped Roman mint was discovered in a cave in the neighborhood of Kayosovar, Hungary. Besides crucibles, which still contained bronze, there were three dies for the production of gold coins, dies of silver, bronze and iron ore and 300 coins. The investigation made showed that the workshop dated from the first century of the Christian era. A number of neatly worked earrings, bracelets and other objects of bronze, as well as tools, such as hammers and tongs, were also found.

The Yankee In German Eyes.

The Yankees are a joyous people. They are before everything optimists. Why should they not be? They dwell in a spacious land full of the treasures of the earth. They are not overladen with knowledge, but learn for practice, and during the greater part of the year a blue heaven stretches over them. For all those reasons the Yankees may well laugh. The Americans are, moreover, born humorists.—Berlin Woche.

Her Cost.

Young Jobson is of an exceedingly statistical turn of mind. He got married lately, and at the railway station he had his wife weighed; then he took out a little hand book and made some calculations, muttering: "Wedding expenses, ——; railway expenses, ——; divide by ——. I say, my dear, you have cost me exactly fourpence halfpenny a pound."—London Tit-Bits.

Not That Strap.

"Why don't you get up and give that seat to your father, Bobby?" reprimanded the woman. "Doesn't it pain you to see him reaching for a strap?"

"Not on a train," chuckled Bobby.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Traitors are hated even by those they favor.—Tacitus.

The Bellamy Storers

Remarkable Influence Exercised by a Former American Ambassador's Wife Over Two Presidents

Mrs. Bellamy Storer, Who is Involved In a Controversy Between Her Husband and President Roosevelt, Is a Woman of Very Artistic Tastes and Intensely Ambitious For Her Highly Cultivated Spouse—Human Side of an International Affair That Is Not Loaded

By ROBERTUS LOVE.

THE human race is full of human nature. That is why we are almost grateful for this fuss between President Roosevelt and the Bellamy Storers. It is so human. No matter how high a man may rise in official rank, whether he be a president or an ambassador, he still remains a mere man, controlled by the good old common qualities inherent in the human animal. The same is true of woman, even truer.

It is perhaps unfortunate that this somewhat undiplomatic controversy must be spread upon the records of our national life, and yet, save for the persons directly concerned, there is nothing really serious about it. An international affair it is in a sense, but it is not loaded. No international complications can result. The ultimate outcome will be simply silence after a little while. When the tumult and the spouting dies (the grammar is Mr. Kipling's) this ancient earth will continue to revolve upon its own axis. Its rate of revolution will be precisely that observed by scientists from Galilei up to date, the suns will rise and set, the moons will wax and wane, God will reign, and the republic at Washington and of Washington will still live!

So we need not approach a simple analysis of the story of the Storers with any apprehension or foreboding. It is just one of those unfortunate differences that may happen in the best regulated families, domestic or national, upon provocation fancied or real. Mr. Storer has been roundly criticised in some quarters for his part in the controversy. Mr. Roosevelt has been criticised in other quarters. On the whole, it is apparent that both men had a proper appreciation of the discretion of silence at first. About eight months elapsed after the removal of Ambassador Storer from the Austrian court by order of the president before the publication of the facts—alleged, admitted and otherwise considered—in the case.

It was pretty generally believed last April that the "separation from the diplomatic service" of Mr. Storer was due to what the president regarded as a too active interest manifested by Mrs. Storer in the politics of the Roman Catholic church, as expressed chiefly in her advocacy of the elevation of Archbishop Ireland to a cardinalate.

Private Letters Published.

Mr. and Mrs. Storer hold that Mr. Roosevelt in a certain manner commissioned them to speak to the pope in behalf of the archbishop. Mr. Roosevelt holds that he did not so commission them in any manner. Letters largely of a private and confidential nature have been published by both sides. These have revealed to the public how close were the friendly relations between the Bellamy Storers and the Roosevelts. "My Dear Maria," "My Dear Bellamy," "My Dear Theodore," "Love to Bellamy," and similar expressions of good old fashioned human friendship, it would seem, should not have been disenveloped and laid before the curious public eye in a matter of state. But they are so human that they furnish an interesting bit of "human interest" color for the serial story of the administration. It is sad that this tender friendship is thus rudely interrupted, that an affair between friends should take such a tangent.

Interest in the incident is enhanced by the fact that the Storers are highly interesting people. Another enhancing fact—and here is where human nature enters to demand a bit of family gossip—is that the estimable lady concerned in the affair is Nicholas Longworth's Aunt Maria and therefore related through marriage to the president.

Mrs. Storer was Miss Maria Longworth of Cincinnati. Her father was Joseph Longworth, famous for his wines and his wealth. She inherited from him $10,000,000. Her grandfather was Nicholas Longworth, founder of the great family fortune. Nicholas, a son of the first Nicholas, was the father of the Nicholas who married Miss Alice Roosevelt. Maria Longworth, who became first Mrs. George Ward Nichols and then Mrs. Bellamy Storer, was and is a woman of high artistic talents. Not only that, but she has put her talents to such use that she is entitled to be called an artist. In fact, her fame is international among those who know and appreciate beautiful and original creative work.

It was Mrs. Storer who founded the famous Rookwood pottery establishment at Cincinnati. Her father's country place was Rookwood; hence the name. In her charming and brilliant girlhood she had been a skillful decorator of china and porcelain. Her tastes were artistic from the outset, and when she met Mr. Nichols, a young artist, who also wrote poetry and who was poor, she fell in love with him. It is understood that her father, the pioneer wine producer of Ohio, was not particularly enamored of poetic artists, but the young couple were wedded nevertheless. Mr. Nichols died some years later, and the brilliant Cincinnati lawyer, Bellamy Storer, son of the noted Judge Bellamy Storer of that city, became her husband.

An International Triumph.

All the friends of the Bellamy Storers seem to agree that the couple is most happily mated. Both are well educated, highly cultivated and ambitious. Mrs. Storer at first was ambitious along artistic lines and later for the political preferment of her husband. At the Philadelphia centennial she first became intensely interested in pottery work. Suggestions received there caused her to devote much time to experiments with the pottery clays of Indiana and Ohio, with the result that she evolved a new and distinctively American branch of that art. Her Rookwood creations went abroad, where in turn they were ascribed to China, Germany, France and Spain. The Europeans scarcely could believe that America was capable of producing such beautiful and original work. It was an international triumph for the Cincinnati artist.

Later, when Mr. Storer was serving as United States minister successively at Brussels and Madrid, Mrs. Storer turned her attention to the production of artistic vases and other ornaments in brass and bronze, achieving such results that her fame was largely increased.

Very Ambitious For Her Husband.

But of late years this woman of unusual accomplishments has devoted her best energies to the advancement of her husband. While Mr. Storer undoubtedly is a man of large ability, many friends of the family give credit to Mrs. Storer for much of his advancement. "She is exceedingly ambitious for Bellamy," they used to say, and it cannot be denied that the recently published letters from Mrs. Storer to the president prove the truth of the statement.

For more than twenty years after his graduation from Harvard Mr. Storer practiced law in Cincinnati, following in the footsteps of his eminent father. Then he went to congress for two terms. Both he and Mrs. Storer were intimate friends of President McKinley, who appointed the Cincinnati man minister to Belgium in 1897. Since that time until his removal last spring Mr. Storer has been in the diplomatic service.

Several years ago Mrs. Storer achieved the brevet title of "the American ambassadress." By that title she was referred to at several of the European courts. This was due no doubt to her interest in church affairs, and it turned out to be unfortunate for the Storers. Diplomacy, as any person of only average discernment might perceive, must be diplomatic. There is a diplomacy of the state and a diplomacy of the church. When one is accredited to the state he is not supposed to represent the church, and vice versa. Church and state were separated a long time ago in this country, and it is not diplomatic to mix them.

The evidence in the Roosevelt-Storer case seems to have been introduced and argued with ability by both sides. Mr. Roosevelt has been somewhat at a disadvantage because his opponents are two, and one of them a woman. The evidence is largely documentary, the arguments largely uncomplimentary. The public is judge and jury. Everybody is entitled to his own verdict as to the preponderance of evidence. No doubt some will continue to believe that Mr. Roosevelt gave the Storers some measure of sanction for their appeals to the holy see in behalf of the American archbishop. On the other hand, the majority of Americans, Catholic and non-Catholic, are very apt to register deep down in their consciousnesses the opinion that an American diplomat becomes undiplomatic when he mixes church and state.

Church Versus State.

What a troublous proposition for centuries was that of church versus state! There were wars and massacres. Revolutions resulted. In both Catholic and Protestant countries the state church worked inexpressible woe. After the invention of printing and the diffusion of knowledge there grew up a diversity of religious beliefs. A small company of those who could not worship at home according to their belief crossed the ocean and landed upon a "rockbound coast." Their descendants founded and established the American republic. In the constitution of the republic they wrote a clause forever interdicting any state meddling with the church—any church. The constitution still stands, and many of us think it is a pretty good thing as it stands. It follows quite naturally that the president of the United States cannot "stand for" any such representations as the Storers aver that he made to them.

Some delicious titbits of state secrets have been uncanned by this controversy for the public to roll under its tongue. This is always so when there is a woman in the case. Mrs. Storer indignantly denies an alleged interview in which she was made to declare that through her influence with President McKinley the appointment as assistant secretary of the navy was given to Mr. Roosevelt, this advancement eventually leading to the presidency. Consequently we cannot look upon Mrs. Storer as a president maker. But in one of the Roosevelt letters to "My Dear Maria," written early in his first term, we find some highly interesting confessions of the president's opinions of the cabinet officers left over by Mr. McKinley and accepted by Mr. Roosevelt. In European countries it is the practice not to publish such correspondence until long after the death of all the parties concerned, when it comes out in bulky books entitled "Memoirs of Such-and-Such a Court."

Remarkable Influence Exercised.

After all is said and done and forgotten about, the fact must remain that the able daughter of Joseph Longworth has exercised a remarkable influence over the minds of two presidents of the United States. The letters of President Roosevelt to her and the undisputed friendly admiration of Mr. McKinley prove this. This revelation is something new in American politics and is interesting to that extent. Woman cannot vote except in Colorado and Utah, but she can influence. Along this topic our highly esteemed British contemporary the Pall Mall Gazette expresses some readable opinions, which an ungallant New York paper reprints under the caption "Petticoats In Politics." The Gazette says that the core and kernel of the controversy between the president and Bellamy Storer, not forgetting Mrs. Storer, appears to be whether Mr. Roosevelt authorized the ambassador to do his best with the pope to obtain the red hat for Archbishop Ireland. That, of course, is the way it looks to a man up a tree or on the ground in America. But our Pall Mall contemporary continues:

"There is, however, the further question of what the French would call 'l'ingerence feminine' and its influence upon the behavior of the ambassador. Unless Roosevelt has taken an altogether unbiased view of the conduct of Mme. l'Ambassadrice we must confess that the case is one which might fairly be quoted in justification of Herbert Bismarck's rather brutal 'no more petticoats in politics.' For the present, however, we will only murmur, with Mr. Turveydrop, 'Woman, lovely woman, what a sex you are!'"

From all of which we must assume that the story of the Storers, while painful to a very estimable lady and gentleman from Cincinnati, adds to the gayety of nations.

Christmas of Bulls and Bears

By JAMES ARTHUR

THE Christmas spirit is about the only thing traded in on Dec. 24 on Wall street, and the brokers have a celebration each year that literally jars things loose. The features of this ceremony vary, but the horseplay does not. The brokers let off the tension and have a good time generally. The festivities begin at noon and sometimes last for several hours. The galleries fill early, mostly with wives and sweethearts of the members on the floor. The Stock Exchange is liberally draped with green and red. The Seventh Regiment band is on hand and as the chairman sounds the gong begins playing "The Star Spangled Banner" or some other patriotic air. Sometimes an elaborate programme is arranged, made up of minstrel acts, coon songs, comic talks and similar performances. But, whatever the especial form of the entertainment, the bulls and bears conduct themselves in much the same way. They make Rome howl. Hats are smashed; bags of confetti are thrown at the ladies in the gallery, who in turn empty the contents over the heads and shoulders of the shouting brokers below.

If there happen to be new members they are "initiated" and are carried about the room in a yelling procession to the music of the band. On one such occasion an amateur football game was played in the great chamber of the Stock Exchange. Afterward the members indulged in a cakewalk for an immense forty pound cake, which was temptingly displayed on the chairman's balcony. One staid old financier played the piano, another strummed on a guitar, while the younger brokers cut pigeon wings about the floor. In older years a Christmas tree graced the Stock Exchange celebrations, all sorts of comic presents were handed out, and the carnival ended up by everybody telling jokes on everybody else. Of recent years this formal observance of the day has been abandoned. Now the ceremony is simply a small edition of pandemonium, a sort of frenzied Christmas, as it were.

The celebration of last year will give an idea of these Christmas eve frolics in Wall street. At five minutes before noon the whole floor seemed intent on business, pushing up U. P. and other stocks and hurling puts and calls back and forth like a game of battledoor and shuttlecock. Promptly at 12 the great gong sounded, and in the twinkling of an eye the scene was transformed. From somewhere appeared a band and began playing "Everybody Works but Father," and all the brokers howled in chorus. A rope was stretched across the room, and visitors crowded into the open space outside. Pads of paper and everything else that was loose were gathered up and hurled through the air, hats were used as missiles, great showers of colored paper were thrown here and there, and the din was greater than it is even in a panic. Dozens of young men formed circles about older men in the game of "bull in the ring."

At this moment appeared a great push ball, six feet in diameter, which was sent spinning across the floor, only to be hurled back again, bowling over men in its flight. To and fro went the great rubber sphere, while the shouting reached a pitch to drown out the band. Finally one broker was hoisted on to the ball, which promptly was kicked out from under him. But, though his legs were in the air, he was kept from falling and again regained his feet. Then the ball was rolled toward the high platform of the chairman, when another effort was made to whirl it out from under the broker's feet. Leaping, he caught an edge of the platform, scrambled over the railing and gravely shook hands with the venerable and dignified presiding officer. The hilarious ceremony was wound up by a collection being taken for the messenger boys and attendants, which mounted up to thousands of dollars.

Whatever new methods of playing horse will be introduced in high finance circles for the Christmas eve festivities this year, it is certain that the men who make and wreck fortunes will enjoy themselves.

"DANDROCIDE"

Dandruff is a scalp disease. "Dandrocide" is its cure. "Dandrocide" is a scalp food, and in ridding the dandruff, gives the hair cells natural life and healthy hair growth. Most hair tonics gloss the hair, but leaves the damaging dandruff.

"Dandrocide" removes the dandruff, thereby removing the evil. "Dandrocide" grows a bountiful supply of long and silky hair—a luxuriant growth of hair will come with the use of "Dandrocide."

FACE STARVATION

Millions of Chinese Are Hungry and Homeless

THEIR CROPS DESTROYED

Urgent Appeal For Assistance by United States to Famine Stricken People Voiced In Proclamation by President

Washington, Dec. 24.—President Roosevelt has issued a proclamation calling on the people of the United States to contribute funds for the relief of millions of famine sufferers in China, who are on the verge of starvation. The president says that he will ask congress for authority to use government transport vessels to carry food to the famine-stricken region. The proclamation says:

"There is an appalling famine in China. Throughout a district covering over 40,000 square miles and supporting a population of 15,000,000, the crops have been destroyed by floods and millions of people are on the verge of starvation; thousands of dwellings have been destroyed and their inmates are without homes. An urgent appeal has been made for the assistance of the United States.

"Our people have often, under similar conditions of distress in other countries, responded generously to such appeals. Amid our abounding prosperity and in this holiday season of good will to man assuredly we should do our part to aid the unfortunate and relieve the distressed among the people of China to whom we have been allied for so many years in friendship and kindness.

"I shall ask congress upon its next day of session for authority to use our transport vessels to carry flour and other food to the famine-stricken region.

"I recommend that contributions for the purchase of such food and for other appropriate relief be sent to the American National Red Cross, which will take care of the expenditures. Such contributions may be made either through the local Red Cross treasury or through the department of state, or may be sent directly to Charles H. Keep, Red Cross treasurer, United States treasury department, Washington."

A Supplementary Appeal

New York, Dec. 24.—An appeal has been given out by the New York branch of the American National Red Cross society for relief for the famine-stricken people of China.

"Contributions of money are desired with which to purchase flour and other appropriate foodstuffs to be shipped by the Red Cross to China for the relief of the famine sufferers in that country. Official reports obtained by the state department at the request of the Red Cross show that millions of people are on the verge of starvation. Assistance to be efficient must be prompt," says the appeal.

"Last February the Red Cross issued an appeal for the Japanese famine and a considerable sum of money was forwarded. This generosity of the American people helped to strengthen the already strong bonds of friendship between the two peoples. It is hoped and expected that similar generosity on this occasion will have a similar result in strengthening the kindly relations and mutual understanding between the United States and China."

Prisoners Break Jail

Cincinnati, Dec. 24.—Nine prisoners escaped from Hamilton county jail during church service hours yesterday by unlocking a door which leads to a narrow passage leading to the areaway between the outer wall and the cell block. A bar to the outer window was sawed and shoved aside. A spliced ladder was placed from the window ledge to the top of a one-story structure in the jailyard, from the roof of which the prisoners dropped 20 feet to the ground. Two of the men were recaptured.

Separate Schools Endorsed

San Francisco, Dec. 24.—At a mass meeting held under the auspices of the Japanese and Korean Exclusion league, formal protest in the form of resolutions were made against the unrestricted admission of Mongolians to the public schools of San Francisco. Mayor Schmitz defended the action of the San Francisco board of education.

Slashed to Death

Vineland, N. J., Dec. 24.—John Buglio, a glass worker, was found dead on a lonely path through the woods near this place. His throat had been cut from ear to ear. The authorities suspect that the murder may have been the result of Buglio's connections with some of the warring elements of Italian societies.

Plain Citizen as Ambassador

London, Dec. 25.—James Bryce has declined a peerage, according to The Daily Telegraph, and he will go to the United States as British ambassador without changing his name and thus be the first plain citizen to represent his country at Washington.

Mining Operations Suspended

Goldfield, Nev., Dec. 24.—Several leased mines have closed in connection with the strike of 3500 miners for an increase in wages from $4 to $5 a day. Comparatively speaking, mining in the Goldfield region is at a standstill.

WRECKAGE CAUGHT FIRE

Ten Persons Killed In Railroad Disaster In North Dakota

St. Paul, Dec. 24.—Ten persons are known to be dead, six others are fatally injured and at least 25 others were hurt in the wreck of an east-bound accommodation train at Enderlin, N. D. The engine was running at high speed in an endeavor to make up lost time when it collided head-on with a switch engine.

Both engines were wrecked and the passenger cars were thrown in confusion down an embankment at the side of the track. Several of the day coaches were turned bottom side up and the passengers pinned beneath the wreckage, which took fire from the car stoves.

The passenger train was heavily loaded with people. Most of the casualties occurred in the smoking car and first day coach, both of which were crushed. A rescue party was soon at hand endeavoring to release the imprisoned passengers. The roofs of the overturned cars were broken open and the dead and injured taken out as quickly as possible. It was a race between the rescuers and the flames, but by herculean efforts all of the injured were removed before the flames reached them.

Buffalo Woman's Marriage Failure

Buffalo, Dec. 24.—In 1902 Mrs. Abel Anderson of this city answered a matrimonial advertisement in a newspaper. It was signed A. Anderson and the advertiser wanted a wife with money. Soon after she married the man and she alleges she gave to him $10,000 to put in a bank. A little later he disappeared and a warrant was sworn out for the man's arrest. Upon complaint of Mrs. Anderson, the police yesterday arrested a man who gave his name as Melvin H. Gwyn. Mrs. Anderson thinks he is the man who married her. Gwyn says he never saw the woman before. The prisoner is being held for further identification.

Science Solves a "Miracle"

Rome, Dec. 24.—An interesting experiment was conducted here when Signor Giacci gave a visible and comprehensive demonstration of the yearly "miracle" of the liquefying of the blood of St. Gonnare, which is kept in a phial in the Church of St. Gonnare at Naples. Giacci showed that this change was effected by the use of a chemical combination known to the ancients for the preservation of blood and that blood treated with it liquefies at a certain temperature. He performed his experiment with calves' blood, adding thereto substances the nature of which he did not reveal.

Two Men and a Woman Frozen

New York, Dec. 24.—Several cases of suffering, three of which are likely to prove fatal, are reported as attendant upon yesterday's cold snap. Mrs. Helen Stacey, aged 60 years, was found unconscious on an East river dock last night and two unknown men were found senseless in a doorway on the East Side. The condition of the three patients is critical. Should the men survive they will probably lose their lower limbs.

Manual Labor For Indians

Washington, Dec. 24.—The annual report of Miss Estelle Reel, superintendent of Indian schools, indicates that manual training is becoming a feature of education among the Indians, and with entirely satisfactory results. The teaching of cooking and home laundry work now occupies a permanent place in the regular course. School gardens have increased in number and extent.

One Man Overcame Three

New York, Dec. 24.—A lone robber, masked and armed, entered an East Side lunch room and after intimidating the manager and two customers bound all three men, secured $100 in cash and escaped. Before leaving the man cut the telephone wires in the place and had secured a good start when the plight of the victims was discovered.

Continuous Rain In Nova Scotia

Halifax, Dec. 24.—Since Friday morning there has been a continuation of heavy rains in Nova Scotia. The meteorological station records nearly four inches of rain in all, causing freshets and washouts throughout the province and much loss and interruption of rilway traffic. A railroad bridge near Lunenburg was carried away.

NEWS IN BRIEF

An electric car slid into the rear of another car on account of a slippery rail on a hill at Peabody, Mass. The vestibule of the second car was smashed and Motorman Young suffered a leg fracture.

Aldin D. Puffer, the pioneer soda water manufacturer of this country, died suddenly of neuralgia of the heart at his home at Medford, Mass. Puffer, although 87 years of age, was a man of remarkable activity. He accumulated a fortune and retired from business several years ago.

Mrs. Anna McNeish, aged 71, was burned to death at Meriden, Conn., by the breaking of a lighted lamp. She was frightfully burned about the head and shoulders.

Davis & Farnham of Waltham, Mass., have been awarded a contract for furnishing four engines for the Ridgewood pumping station on Long Island, N. Y., at a cost of about $400,000.

John M. Harlan, associate justice of the supreme court of the United States, and Mrs. Harlan celebrated their golden wedding by giving a reception at their home at Washington.

Raymond Ellis of Norwood, Mass., aged 10, was drowned while skating on Ellis pond, which his father owns. The boy skated through a hole in the ice.

Latest News About the City

A Merry Christmas.

Today is the newsboys benefit day.

St. Margarets guild will have a Christmas party on Friday evening.

Several columns of illustrated Christmas stories on the inside pages today.

The call men of the fire department are being paid their yearly salary today.

There will be a sunlight dance at Music hall tomorrow afternoon, and a dance in the evening.

Miss Violet McConnell of Bromfield street is home from Dean academy for Christmas week.

Herbert A. Snow of Portland, Maine, is visiting his parents, Capt. and Mrs. E. A. Snow of West Elm avenue.

The hours for the masses at St. Johns church on Christmas day have been changed and they will be held at 7, 8, 9 and 10.30.

The Christmas tree exercises of the Sunday school of the West Quincy M. E. church will be held this evening at 7 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hines of Baltimore, Md., are spending their Christmas holidays with their neice Mrs. Harry Brooks of Chestnut street.

Mrs. Harry Stiles and son of Albany, New York, and Mr. and Mrs. Cole W. of Ashland, are spending the holidays with Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Grant of Rawson road.

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Bense and little daughter Eleanor of Bromfield street are spending the Christmas holidays with Mr. and Mrs. William H. Bense of Canton.

A theatre party was given at the Majestic on Saturday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Corprew, in honor of their guest Mr. C. S. Thomas. Supper was afterwards served at the Boylston cafe.

A rare opportunity to obtain ladies and gents furs in mink, sable, squirrel, Persian lamb, etc., at less than the price of raw skins, is offered by Charles H. McAnarney, as will be seen by an advertisement in today's Daily Ledger.

The Sunday school of First church will meet in the church tonight at half past six to sing carols. At seven o'clock a fine entertainment has been arraigned by Supt. Johnson and there will be trees full of presents and Santa Claus.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Sears and son, Russell, of Kemper street, while sleigh-riding with a friend Sunday afternoon, were precipitously thrown into the snow. A sharp turn at a lively gait, at the corner of Beach street and Rawson road, caused the overthrow. No damage was caused to the occupants, but the sleigh sustained a broken shaft and splintered body.

—Deputy Sheriff and Mrs. Willard Torrey of Norwell observed their golden wedding on Sunday.

A CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to express our deep gratitude to the many friends for their kindness and sympathy shown us in the loss of a beloved son and brother, and for the beautiful flowers sent.

Mourned by Many Young Friends

Many young friends of Alfred J. Ruxton were in attendance on Sunday afternoon at the funeral services held at the home of his parents Mr. and Mrs. George Ruxton on Hancock court. Rev. Dr. Hardy of Bethany Congregational church officiated, and a quartette from the church sang "Nearer My God to Thee," Shall We Meet by the River," and the "Vacant Chair."

The pall bearers were members of his Sunday school class: John Muirhead, Robert Everson, George Everson, Fred Williams, James Myers and Lee Brooks. The interment was in the family lot at Mt. Wollaston.

Among the floral tributes were:

Pillow of roses and lilies from parents.

Wreath of roses and carnations from brother and sister.

Spray of carnations from Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Campbell of Barre, Vermont.

Wreath of roses from clerks at Bond & Goodwins, Boston.

Mound of roses and carnations from Knights of Malta Commandery.

Standing wreath of roses from Quincy Associates.

Spray of hyacinths and narcissus from Mrs. M. Billings.

THE LAND OF ROMANCE.

Spain and the Peculiar Temperament of Its People.

If I were asked to sum up the dominant impression that the survival in Spain of the old world mediaevalism makes, I should say that Spain is in the precise and specific sense of the word the home of romance. The special character of the Spanish temperament and of Spanish developments in literature and in art is marked by a quality, rising and sinking with the rise and fall of Gothic, which we call the romantic spirit—a mixture, that is, of the mysterious and grandiose with the grotesquely bizarre of the soaringly ideal with the crudely real, a mixture which to us today has the cunning fascination of art, but was really on both sides the natural outcome of the experiences and feelings of the men who created it. This romantic spirit was once the common possession of all Christendom, but the Spanish temperament peculiarly lent itself to the romantic attitude, and it is in Spain today that we may catch its final vanishing echoes. It is the church, always the most powerful stronghold of tradition among any people, which enables the stranger most vividly to realize how well the romantic spirit has been preserved in Spain. Notwithstanding invasions from without and revolutions from within, especially during the early years of the last century, Spain is still the country where the mediaeval spirit of romantic devotion is most splendidly embodied and preserved.—Havelock Ellis in Atlantic.

THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

A Member May Drink There, but Is Not Allowed to Eat.

The British house of commons has its own code in regard to the partaking of liquid and solid refreshments. A member making a long speech may take a drink, and the house is liberal enough not to care whether the color of the contents of the glass is white or brown or black, whether, in fact, the glass holds water or whisky or beer. Mr. Gladstone's egg flips, which his wife carefully compounded for him and he brought to the house in a bottle, are classic.

But woe betide the man who scorns drink and must have meat. Contemporary recollection only recalls one member rash enough to disregard this rule. It was a number of years ago, in the stormy time of the home rule debates, that an Irish member, in the small hours of the morning, produced from his pocket a paper bag and drew out a bun, which he proceeded calmly to eat. The house was instantly in an uproar. There were loud cries of "Order! Order!" and that bun was never finished.

No member may read a newspaper in the house. If he had the temerity to smoke, the sergeant at arms would quickly place him under lock and key. —Appleton's Magazine.

Mexican Church Legends.

Queretaro was a town before the Spanish conquest and was made a city in 1655. A legend of Queretaro is that an Otomite chief, Fernando de Tapia by name, undertook to convert the city to Christianity in a way that seems novel to us, but was common enough to his day. He came from Tula with a challenge to the people of Queretaro to a fair stand up fight. If he won, the people surviving were to be baptized. The challenge was accepted, but while the fight was in progress a dark cloud came up and the blessed Santiago was seen in the heavens with a fiery cross, whereupon the people of Queretaro gave up and were baptized. They set up a stone cross to commemorate the event on the site of the present church of Santa Cruz. There is scarcely a church in Mexico which has not a legend of this kind attached to it.

Misjudged.

The manager of an office had advertised for an office boy. In consequence he was annoyed for an hour by a straggling line of boys of all sizes, claiming various accomplishments.

"Well," he said to a late applicant, "I suppose you can read anything, and write anything, and figure a little, and use the typewriter a little, and"—

"Naw!" interrupted the boy. "If I could do all them things I'd strike yer fer yer own job. I ain't nothin' but an office boy."

He got the position.—Bohemian.

Remedy For Excess In Eating.

A hint to those who may thoughtlessly at some time or other indulge in excess in eating. If this indiscretion is committed, especially in high seasoned things with rich sauces, a draft of cold water acidulated with lemon juice will take off the sense of weight at the stomach and assist the digestive process by moderating the alimentary fermentation.

Old English Elections.

As an illustration of the violence that was once common during political campaigns in England is a quaint bill from a lawyer after an election at Andover in 1768: "To being thrown out of the George inn, Andover, to my legs being thereby broken, to surgeon's bill and loss of time and business, £500."

A Loophole.

"But, Tommy," said his mother, "didn't your conscience tell you you were doing wong?"

"Yes'm," replied Tommy, "but I don't believe everything I hear."—Philadelphia Press.

The Purchasing Agent.

"Dad," asked Bobby, "what is biology?"

"Go ask your mother," replied dad curtly. "She spends the most money." —Harper's Weekly.

MANNERS AT TABLE.

The Etiquette of Eating In the Seventeenth Century.

An account of hospitality in 1629 gives a good idea of the manner in which a country gentleman of the period lived. Dinner and supper were brought in by the servants with their hats on, a custom which is corroborated by Fynes Moryson, who says that, being at a knight's house who had many servants to attend him, they brought in the meats with their heads covered with blue caps. After washing their hands in a basin they sat down to dinner, and Sir James Pringle said grace. The viands seemed to have been plentiful and excellent—"big pottage, long kale, bowe of white kale," which is cabbage; "brach soppe," powdered beef, roast and boiled mutton, a venison pie in form of an egg, goose. Then they had cheese, cut and uncut, and apples. But the close of the feast was the most curious thing about it.

The tablecloth was removed, and on the table were put a "towel the whole breadth of the table and half the length of it, a basin and ewer to wash, then a green carpet laid on, then one cup of beer set on the carpet, then a little long lawn serviter plaited over the corner of the table and a glass of hot water set down also on the table; then be there three boys to say grace—the first, the thanksgiving; the second, the Pater Noster; the third, prayer for a blessing of God's church. The good man of the house, his parents, kinfolk and the whole company then do drink hot waters, so at supper, then to bed, the collation which (is) a stoupe of all."—Scottish Review.

BRAIN QUALITY.

It Is of Just as Much Importance as the Quantity.

The brain of Daniel Webster weighed fifty-six or fifty-seven ounces, that of Napoleon Bonaparte about the same. This is about three pounds and a half. These were exceeded by the brain of Cuvier, the great French naturalist, which weighed between fifty-nine and sixty ounces, and that of the French surgeon Dupuytren, which weighed fifty-eight ounces. The average weight of the brain of man is about fifty ounces and of women forty-five ounces. The maximum weight of the healthy adult brain is about sixty-four ounces and the minimum thirty-one ounces. Men of great intellectual power have generally if not always possessed large brains. The quality of the brain is, however, quite as important as the quantity, so that a large brain does not of necessity constitute a great man. The size of the brain is not in proportion to the physical development of the body, either in animals or in man. The horse has a brain less in weight than the smallest adult human brain; that of a whale seventy-five feet long was found to weigh not quite twice as much as that of a man. Even in men there is no fixed relation between the size of the body and that of the brain. A small man may have a large brain and a big man a small brain.

Warship Models.

Paraffin wax models of all proposed British battleships are used by the admiralty for tests before the keels of the ships are laid down, the miniatures being tested in a great tank. The models are from twelve to twenty-four feet long, the tank being 400 feet long and twenty feet wide. The models are made of wax because it is a material which does not absorb water or change its weight, so that alterations can be easily made, and the material can be melted up and used again. The American naval authorities also have models of all their hulls constructed, but these are much more elaborate than the British, being formed of white pine and fitted with rudders, false keels, propeller shafts and all et ceteras.

Mixed Metaphors.

Sir Robert Purvis, addressing his old constituents at Peterborough in defense of an act of parliament under whose operation some of them had gone to prison for a week, said: "That, gentlemen, is the marrow of the education act, and it will not be taken out by Dr. Clifford or anybody else. It is founded on a granite foundation, and it speaks in a voice not to be drowned by sectarian clamor." In an address to the Kaiser Wilhelm's father a Rheinlander mayor said, "No Austria, no Prussia, one only Germany. Such were the words the mouth of your imperial majesty has always had in its eye."

London's Fogs.

November is London's worst month for fogs. During a good year the Londoner may have to breathe only fifty fogs. In a very bad year he may have to endure as many as eighty. London's countless coal fires, mingling soot with mist, concoct the Londoner's fog for him. The great majority of fogs in the metropolis begin to form between 7 and 8 in the morning, just when most fires are being lighted.

Changed.

"Hello, Pepper, old chap!" exclaimed a man to another. "You have altered—scarcely knew you."

"My name—haw—is not Pepper," protested the other haughtily.

"Ah," remarked the first speaker, in no way abashed, "then your name has altered too! By-by."—London Mail.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

OVERHEATED STOVE

Caused $2000 Loss at a Quincy Point Boarding House

The alarm from Box 73 at 8.04 this morning called the fire department to a what proved to be the most serious fire that has occurred for over a year. It was in the house of Herbert F. Larkin at 492 South street and entailed a loss estimated at $2,000.

There was no one at home at the time, but the fire is supposed to have started from an overheated stove in one of the boarder's room. The fire was a difficult one to handle for it worked behind the walls and between the floors burning the floor timbers so as to make them unsafe for the firemen to walk upon.

After nearly an hour's hard work, in which it was necessary to do a great deal of cutting to reach the fire, it was declared out.

The house, which is owned by E. G. Pierce of West Medford, is damaged $1,000 and the loss on the furniture is estimated at $1,000, upon which there is an insurance of $800.

Sudden Death

The death occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Angus MacKenzie, early Sunday morning of whooping cough of their beloved infant daughter, Margaret Kate. Many were the beautiful floral tributes sent by friends of the parents and from fraternal organizations for the funeral. These included:

Mound from L. O. L., wreath from Bay View lodge, sprays from Mr. and Mrs. Inman, Mr. and Mrs. A. MacPhee, Mr. and Mrs. W. Ross, and bouquets from Mr. and Mrs. George Main and Mr. and Mrs. Finlayson.

At First Church

There was a very large attendance Monday evening at the Christmas festival of the Sunday school of the First church. The school assembled in the main church at 6.30 and sang Christmas carols for half an hour. They then marched to the chapel which was prettily decorated for the occasion. The play "The Brownie's Christmas Tree" was given by members of the school. Then came the Christmas tree and distribution of presents to each member. In addition to the presents for the children, the pastor Rev. Ellery C. Butler, Superintendent Charles H. Johnson, Brooks Keyes, the secretary and treasurer, and William Dewhurst were remembered by the school.

Excessive Water Rates for Houses

Editors of the Ledger:

In last week's issue of the Ledger we were favored with an itemized list of a number of gallons of water received from the Metropolitan water system for each month of this year, aggregating about 37,000,000 gallons for the year. This should interest every property owner in our city.

Now let's figure a little. At 30 cents per thousand gallons, (the standard meter rate,) this water would sell for $101,000.00, or about the total cost for water and maintenance of our water plant. If half this water is used by industrial plants which pay from 10 1-2 to 12 cents per thousand gallons, who pays the balance of 18 to 20 cents per thousand gallons, necessary to make up the $101,000.00? Surly not the city by taxation, which is the benefited party by the existence of such plants, but our family consumers who pay not 30 cents per thousand gallons, but nearer 50 cents. Those who have meters can easily figure this out. We pay $18 per year for 60,000 gallons or less, and the average meter will show that you are not using half that amount, thus doubling the cost per thousand gallons to make up for the deficit caused by selling water to industrial plants, at one-third cost to the city.

I submit that this is not a square deal. Our industrial plants should receive every encouragement possible but any deficit thus incurred should be made good by the city instead of a few owners of modern houses who would increase taxable property by continued building, but are handicapped by excessive expenses for water, etc.

Quincy should build at least 200 houses per year but the fact stares us in the face, that we are building about one-third this amount, while Quincy capital is building houses in other suburban cities. Does not our building enterprise need encouragement quite as much as our industrial plants. Let's not kill the goose that lays the golden egg.

Christmas Party.

The Granite City club kept open house Monday evening and the members enjoyed a pleasant evening. In place of the usual Christmas tree, the entertainment committee served a turkey supper. Henry P. Furnald was the caterer, which was a sufficient guarantee that it was all right. There was a very large attendance of members and some few visitors. Hanley's orchestra was present, and from 8 until 11 o'clock they gave a fine concert. All the popular airs were included in its program, and as they played the musical, voices of the club singers joined in the choruses. At 10 o'clock the supper was served with all the "fixins." When the members left for home each had half a pound of chocolates stowed away in his pockets for the sweetheart at home.

New Year's Reception.

The Young Men's Christian Association is arranging for its annual New Year's reception to be held New Year's night at the association building.

The occasion is sure to be an enjoyable one in that it will afford the opportunity for the people of the city representing the various churches and sections to meet each other in a social way.

The social committee of the association and of the women's auxiliary are laying very complete plans for a large and successful affair.

The guests of the evening will be Dr. William Gallagher of Thayer Academy, and the clergymen of the city.

Next Tuesday will be New Year's day

The next holiday will be February 22, Washington's birthday.

Miss Corrinna Wilde of Billings street went to Jamaica Plain for the holiday festivities.

Christmas was like Thanksgiving, a day of family reunions. Love and good cheer prevailed.

The Quincy stores had an unusually good Christmas trade, particularly on Monday.

Miss Ruth Bassett of Walker street went to Roxbury for a Christmas eve party and Yuletide dinner.

The Elks club kept open house Monday evening and all day Christmas, and dispensed hospitality to all.

W. G. McConnell of Elizabeth, N. J., formerly of Quincy, was in town Monday night renewing acquaintances.

W. Rollins Abrams of the Colonial Inn at Concord was in town Monday, and was pleased to meet many friends.

The sunlight dance at Music hall on Christmas afternoon was well attended as was also the dance in the evening.

Over 300 editions of the Daily Ledger have been issued this year, and over 5000 editions since the paper was established.

Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Reed announce the engagement of their daughter, Jane Childs, to Dr. Francis Ramon Burke of Quincy.

An unusual number of arrests for drunkenness were made Monday night. The most of them were released in the morning.

Mrs. George Hill of Walker street who has been very ill for the past two weeks is much better and came down stairs on Christmay day.

There is nothing like the little electric light globes for decorating Christmas trees. They do away with the danger of fires that start from candles.

Mr. and Mrs. Donna Caswell and son Frederick, of Lawrence, enjoyed the holidays with Mrs. Caswell's mother, Mrs. Jacob Kolb of Clive street.

Arthur Gray and family of Botolph street enjoyed Christmas in Concord, where Mr. Gray's relatives have annual festivities at Yuletide.

At the Sailors' Snug Harbor at Germantown, Christmas was observed by an exchange of gifts among the old salts and at noon a turkey dinner was served.

Christmas at the National Sailors' Home was observed by the suspension of all but the necessary work. Some gifts were exchanged and a Christmas dinner was served at noon.

Christmas was observed in the usual manner at the Quincy Home. Some gifts were made the inmates, and at noon time a Christmas dinner, consisting of turkey and everything that goes with it, was served.

All of the ponds were covered with snow at Christmas and the boys and girls did not have an opportunity to see how their new skates worked. There was plenty of opportunity to try the sleds and all were found to be flyers.

Long and Perilous Voyage of Peary's Ship Is Completed

HOME TRIP UNEVENTFUL

Every Man That Started With Expedition Returned In Good Health--Propeller Is Disabled and Foretopmast Carried Away

New York, Dec. 26.—With practically all the members of the Arctic expedition which left in July, 1905, under command of Robert E. Peary on a voyage to discover the North Pole, the ship Roosevelt arrived in New York bay and anchored off West Forty-second street, almost in the place from which she started. Commander Peary has been in this city for some weeks, having left his vessel at Sydney, C. B.

The Roosevelt, although pretty well ice-covered, showed few signs of the wear and tear entailed on such a voyage, notwithstanding that her foretopmast had gone—lost in a gale of wind in Baffins' bay on her southern journey—and that she had to be towed to her anchorage from City island by a tug. That she had to be towed was due to the fact that of the four blades in her propellor, three were out of action, two being bent up in corkscrew fashion, while the third was missing, having been completely snapped off.

Every man that started out with the expedition returned in good health. Counting Peary, the party numbered 21 men, all told. On board also were 16 Esquimau dogs of the 220 with which the expedition started. There were also two sledges, one of them being the one which Marris K. Jesup fitted out and which is to be returned to him as a souvenir of the plucky attempt to reach the pole.

The trip down from Sydney, C. B., was uneventful, compared with the excitement of preceding events. The party stayed in Sydney for two weeks, and then went on to St. Peters, C. B., where rough weather compelled them to put in. The next stay was at Shelburne, N. S., for two days, and then the voyage was resumed to the Nantucket lightship, off which the Roosevelt anchored for one night. Last Thursday Vineyard Haven was made, and there again a delay was caused by the dense fog, and it was Saturday before Tarpaulin cove, Naushon island, was reached. That night the Roosevelt anchored and left Sunday morning, reaching City island Monday. There the crippled state of the propellor necessitated Captain Bartlett asking the aid of a tug.

All the way up the sound the Roosevelt was under sail, and, according to Bartlett, good use of the canvas was made all through the voyage northward and back home. During the voyage three rudders were used, the first one coming to grief on the outward journey, the other two being "home-made." The vessel suffered somewhat from leakages, which, according to Bartlett, "was to be expected." In fact, the captain said that these leaks were not more serious was a distinct compliment to the excellent way in which the boat was constructed.

Most of the crew are anxious to be among the next expedition, should Peary determine to make another dash, but one or two of the older members shook their heads negatively when asked if they would go back should the chance arise. They will remain on board the Roosevelt until arrangements have been completed to pay them off, which will be done during the next few days.

Christmas a year ago was spent by the Roosevelt people at Cape Sheridan, Grant Land. There were musk ox, hare and deermeat, canned plum pudding and prayers. Ross Marvin and Second Mate Murphy were the only two not at the feast. They, with a pair of Esquimau, were away on a hunting trip and kept Christmas playing cribbage in a snow house and refrained from hunting because there was no moon.

Sisters Perished In Blizzard

Helena, Mont., Dec. 26.—Clasped in each other's arms, the bodies of Gertie and Molythela Hoffman, aged 9 and 12 years, respectively, were found in a coulee just across the Canadian border, where they met death in a blizzard. The victims were daughters of a ranchman and strayed more than 20 miles from home across the international line in their efforts to evade the blizzard.

Woman Protector Murdered

Jacksonville, Fla., Dec. 26.—Charles Church had been drinking and while quarreling with his wife attempted to shoot her. She screamed for help. John N. Benjamin, who had a room in the same apartment house, rushed to her assistance. As Benjamin entered the door, Church fired four shots at him and killed him.

Army Officer In Disgrace

St. Petersburg, Dec. 26.—Lieutenant General Subbotich, ex-governor general of Turkestan, has been discharged from the army in further punishment for laxness displayed by him as governor general of Turkestan, from which he was recently removed.

Disturber Shot and Killed

Mansfield, Ga., Dec. 26.—Jim Key, a negro, was killed by Marshal Covander in defense of the latter's life in a murderous attack. Key had attempted to precipitate a riot among a party of negroes at a church celebration.

LIVED IN A SHANTY

Woman's Will Shows That She Possessed Quite a Fortune

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 26.—A story of remarkable interest is behind the suicide of Mrs. Mary E. Balfour, 55 years of age, whose body was dragged from the depths of East Park lake, where she had thrown herself. The woman lived alone in a shanty and was seen to enter the park unaccompanied Monday night.

In the suicide's handbag, on a torn envelope, there was scrawled, "M. E. Balfour, 417 Turner street. My will is in the little trunk on the table. I want to be cremated."

Following the directions, the will was found. In it the woman disposes of large amounts of money, which she gives to relatives and the poor. It provides that after the expenses of cremating her body are defrayed, her money in the Hibernania bank of San Francisco shall be distributed among the poor of San Francisco, preferably to fire victims; funds in the Copenhagen bank are willed to the citizens of Copenhagen and Nest Bed, the latter place being referred to as the birthplace of the woman.

An amount in the German bank of San Francisco and all other moneys are willed to the woman's four cousins in Denmark. She bequeaths considerable jewelry to her sister, who is in Nest Bed. The mayors of Copenhagen and Nest Bed are designated as executors of that portion of her estate and they are directed to give it to the poor. The will indicates that the woman passed through the San Francisco disaster and that the ordeal had affected her mind.

Briber's Fine Is Remitted

Akron, O., Dec. 26.—The county commission has remitted the $500 fine imposed upon ex-Councilman Amundsen for soliciting a bribe. Amundsen was also given a jail sentence, but this was suspended on condition that he pay the fine. Several prominent men petitioned for the convicted man, saying that the fact that he is a poor man with a large family would make it practically impossible for him to pay the fine. It has not been judicially determined whether the suspension of the jail sentence is now rendered inoperative.

More Negro Soldiers In Trouble

Leavenworth, Kan., Dec. 26.—Fourteen soldiers, the majority of whom are troopers of the Ninth cavalry (negro), were arrested in connection with a riot on a street car when a number of shots were fired into a loaded car and several passengers were slightly injured by broken glass. There is apprehension among the negro troops at the fort over the matter lest it assume some of the importance of the Brownsville affair. The affair has been reported to Washington.

Death Instead of Dinner

New York, Dec. 26.—Neil Florence, an actor, 45 years old, was found dead in his room at a boarding house here. The apartment was filled with illuminating gas which was escaping from two open jets. At the boarding house preparations had been made for a Christmas dinner, to which a number of actors had been invited. Florence was expected to preside. His lifeless body was found when a servant was sent to call him for dinner.

Christmas Candle Started Fire

New York, Dec. 26.—Mrs. Susan Kelley, aged 50, was burned to death, and her husband barely escaped with his life in a fire which destroyed their apartments and drove other shivering tenants from the building to the roof, from which they were carried to the street by firemen. It is supposed Mrs. Kelley's dress caught fire from the flame of a Christmas candle.

The Baylan Mystery

Washington, Dec. 26.—Baron Von Schlippenbach, Russian consul at Chicago, has arrived in Washington. The purpose of his visit is said to be to tell Ambassador Rosen what he knows of the mystery of Nickola de Raylan, the woman who, in the garb of a man, was for several years secretary to the consul. She died a few days ago in Arizona and her sex was revealed.

Lives Lost For a Dory

Digby, N. S., Dec. 26.—Leslie McDonald, aged 22, and Murray Gower, aged 18, two Westport fishermen, were drowned while returning from the fishing grounds. The men were part of the crew of a fishing sloop and lost their lives in attempting to recover a dory which had broken adrift from their vessel.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Maria Jose Fameto died at Madrid at the age of 125 years.

Henry Green, a Boston real estate dealer, filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy with liabilities of $462,300 and assets of $695, principally a piece of land in Florida.

Commander Alfred B. Canaga, in charge of the steam engineering department of the Boston navy yard, died suddenly of apoplexy.

The central school building at Mexico, Me., one of the largest school edifices in Oxford county, was destroyed by fire with a loss of $15,000. The fire is thought to have originated from the heating apparatus.

Rev. T. K. Crowley of St. Patrick's church, Denison, Tex., while putting on his vestments to celebrate high mass, dropped dead. He served as a chaplain in a New York regiment throughout the Civil war.

A loss of about $15,000 was caused by a fire that practically destroyed the Baker block, Milford, Mass. The origin of the fire is unknown. There were several stores and offices in the block.

Public Interest

IS NOW CENTERED ON

The Pure Food Law.

WE Have Always Maintained that the best that money could buy was alway the cheapest in the end, because it is always the bargain hunters that have to pay the DOCTOR, buying as they do IMPURE foods of all kinds, FOODS that are UNFIT for ANY PERSON'S STOMACH, being mixed as they are with different kinds of PRESERVATIVES and SECRET PREPARATIONS to take the place of GOOD PURE FOODS. And some dealers selling these goods at a GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICE over the pure kind, GUARANTEE you NOTHING, but—"Poor Health to You and Your Family," and although you can buy the "just as good kind," you can save nothing as that kind is unhealthy and dangerous to the whole human family. Now our standard is to always sell the best of everything and the steady increase of our business year after year proves to us that we have the right idea, and we know it must be very satisfactory to our many customers to feel that what they buy at our store is ABSOLUTELY PURE and HEALTHFUL and the Food Laws are being strictly enforced by us. Our Goods are all GOVERNMENT INSPECTED and also carefully inspected by us before they are put on sale or sent to your homes, and although you pay perhaps a few cents more to us than some dealers charge, don't you think it is money well spent, considering all things?—YOUR HEALTH, which is the greatest blessing we can have,—think well about this and we know you will agree with us and do your trading where you know the goods can be depended upon to be absolutely Pure.

We have just received our season's pack of choice canned and bottled goods, FRESH and DRIED FRUITS, all kinds of Cereals, Ketchup, Pickles, Jams, Jellies, Prunes, Figs, Nuts, Dates, Table Raisins, Citron, Lemon and Orange Peel, Olives, Sardines,—in fact everything for your tastes and fancies. All the leading brands of FLOUR. Fancy New Orleans Molasses.

OUR MARKET is complete, AND REMEMBER, we sell nothing that has been doctored or filled with Preservatives to keep it. ABSOLUTELY NOTHING but Carefully Selected Meats are on sale at OUR STORE. Stamped with the Government Inspection Stamp, that insures to you and to us the point of perfection, which we are always striving to reach for the benefit of our trade.

We will have a grand display of that great National Bird, THE TURKEY, the same VERMONT KIND we have always sold you,—Chicken, Fowl and Duck, direct from WILLIAM R. DRAKE of Braintree, and he knows how to dress them so as to please the eye as well as the palate. They don't grow nicer than he has. Fruit and vegetables in abundance, and don't forget our famous LA TOURAINE COFFEE, no dinner complete without it.

THE
Young Men's Christian Association
OF QUINCY, MASS.
(Legal Title – Incorporated 1892.)

The Directors of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.

Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.

The Treasurer, WILLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, ERNEST G. GAY, will be happy to answer inquiries.

OUR HOSPITAL

(Legal Title: City Hospital of Quincy)
INCORPORATED 1889

The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earnestly appeal for donations and bequests for the Endowment fund. This now amounts to over $60,000, but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed.

Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble Institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need will be most gratefully received.

The Secretary, TIMOTHY REED, Adams St., Quincy, or the Treasurer, RICHARD D. CHASE, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad to confer with any one or to answer any inquiries.

Appeal to Secretary Root to Use America's Moral Support In Calling to Account Creators of the Congo Government

New York, Dec. 26.—A letter signed by J. Pierpont Morgan, Dr. Lyman Abbott and other prominent citizens of this city has been addressed to Secretary of State Root, directing his attention to conditions in the Congo Free State, where, it is asserted, "flagrant inhumanity exists," and urging him on behalf of the American people to use the "moral support" of the United States government to correct the abuses. The communication reads:

"Over a year has passed since the report of the commissioners chosen by the chief executive and virtual owner of the Congo to investigate conditions in that state was published. In spite of their national desire to give all possible credit to their sovereigns, the commissioners felt constrained to report the existence of measures and practices of flagrant inhumanity. Among these measures and practices are the following:

"1—The exaction of a labor tax so oppressive that many natives on whom it falls have little, if any, freedom.

"2—Appropriation of land to such an extent that the natives are practically prisoners within their own territory.

"3—The employment under the authority of the government as sentries of cruel, brutish blacks, chosen from hostile tribes, who murder, pillage and rape the people for whose protection the government is avowedly established.

"4—The abuse of the natives by white representatives of officially recognized companies.

"5—The binding of little children to years of labor at uncertain wages by contracts they do not understand, and, even more serious, maltreatment of children supposedly under the immediate care of the government.

"6—Great injustice in the administration of the courts, so that the natives dread the name of Boma, as the place where the judicial system is centralized.

"7—The sending out of punitive expeditions, not for the purpose of establishing peace and order, but for the purpose of terrifying the natives into paying a tax which, as administered, even the commissioners regard as inhuman.

"It is to be remembered that these are not charges brought against the Congo government, but findings of the commission appointed by the chief executive of the government to investigate and report on the facts. Acting upon these findings, a second commission, also appointed by the king, has recommended measures of reform. No steps have been taken to adopt them. There is no evidence that the Congo government is undertaking seriously to remedy these evils. The powers which created the Congo government have clearly a right to call that government to account.

"Inasmuch as the United States gave its normal support to the establishment of the Congo government, it is justified in giving its moral support to any undertaking to secure conditions in the Congo that will not disgrace civilization. We wish to assure you that for any measure you may adopt in order to give the powers such moral support of the United States, you will have our earnest and urgent approval."

Touring Car Crushed Out Life

Washington, Dec. 26.—The 60-horse power touring car of Joseph Leiter, in which were riding Leiter, Mrs. Levi Z. Leiter and Franklin Remington and wife, ran down and killed Samuel West, a 14-year-old negro. Charles H. Raymond, the chauffeur, was arrested. The big machine was closely following a street car and the boy, who was riding on the car, jumped off and was almost immediately struck by the automobile.

Quarreled Over a Woman

Chicago, Dec. 26.—In the presence of the four troops of the Fort Sheridan squadron of the Ninth cavalry, who had just begun their Christmas dinner in the dining hall of the fort last night, Sergeant Griffin shot and almost instantly killed Corporal Taylor of the same troop. The men, who are negroes, quarreled over a woman and the shooting followed.

Four Days of Heavy Rain

Sydney, C. B., Dec. 26.—All trains on the Cape Breton section of the Intercolonial railway have been cancelled on account of numerous washouts. The roadbed has been washed away in a dozen places. A heavy rain has been in progress four days. In the outlying districts the roads are practically impassable.

Terrible Record of Tragedies

Birmingham, Ala., Dec. 26.—Seven murders, two suicides, one assault which may result fatally, one death by train and one accidental shooting which may be fatal occurred in this city within 48 hours.

TOLD A FALSEHOOD

Moran's Accusation Against Police Commissioner

LAUNCHES A BROADSIDE

Says O'Meara Took Position Without Being Qualified For It and City Is Paying For His Tuition In the Guise of Salary

Boston, Dec. 26.—The war of words between District Attorney Moran and Police Commissioner O'Meara reached an acute stage last night, when Moran hurled a verbal broadside intended to rake from stem to stern the position of his adversary.

Mr. Moran in his opening paragraph brands as a "falsehood" the statement of O'Meara that the district attorney knew of Sunday work being carried on at Stony Brook and in the subway. Then, as the piece de resistance of his argument, he seizes on the paragraph in O'Meara's previous statement which said: "The district attorney assumed his duties full armed; the police commissioner has been striving, humbly and patiently, to learn his, one by one."

"The police commissioner," retorts Moran, "thus confesses he did not know his duties; with no knowledge of law he assumed a position which requires a thorough knowledge of law."

Mr. Moran goes on to say that so far from being angry, as the police commissioner charged, he feels only "pity and amazement," and more especially pity for a "fellow-citizen who has not learned when or how to act, but in the blind helplessness of ignorance is striving to do something somehow." Continuing, Moran says:

"Mr. O'Meara was a brilliant newspaper man, for he had been trained to extend one sentence of fact to a column of space. This required exercise of the imaginative faculty, which abnormally developed now interferes with the commissioner even when he honestly attempts to state facts, and which enables him, when carelessly penning his thoughts, to mingle fact and fiction in such a manner as to almost deceive one who knows the one from the other.

"Not qualified when appointed, he has been and is now studying the laws in a commendable effort to become fully conversant with his duties before he, at the expiration of his term of office, will be relegated to private life. Meanwhile, the city pays his tuition in the guise of salary.

"To this confessed ignorance of the laws of his duties is probably due the fact that the commissioner assailed the district attorney when he requested the police superintendent to enforce the Sunday laws.

"That there was a Sunday law he probably knew, but exactly what it prohibited and what it permitted, he was doubtless as unconscious of as the most unsophisticated citizen.

"If unconsciously he impedes the course of justice and apparently encourages the violation of law, the district attorney will throw the mantle of charity over him, entertaining the hope that the commissioner will in time become so enlightened as to the laws and as to the duties that he will no longer be even in appearance opposed to the county prosecutor's efforts to enforce all laws.

"The district attorney desires to assure the commissioner that he meant no offense in declaring inferentially that the commissioner's English was not classic.

"The commissioner's English is newspaper English. Between it and classic English there is a wide difference, which the commissioner may overcome if he will humbly and patiently refrain from using the one and strive to learn the other."

French Church Closed by Mayor

Paris, Dec. 26.—The first instance of the closing of a church under the separation law occurred at Azay-Sur-Indre, where the mayor in writing ordered the cure to leave both the presbytery and the church edifice, which he declared the communal authorities would take over in pursuance of the law. The cure consequently quitted the edifice, which was closed. The question of the legality of the mayor's action is arousing a considerable controversy.

Missed Death by a Few Inches

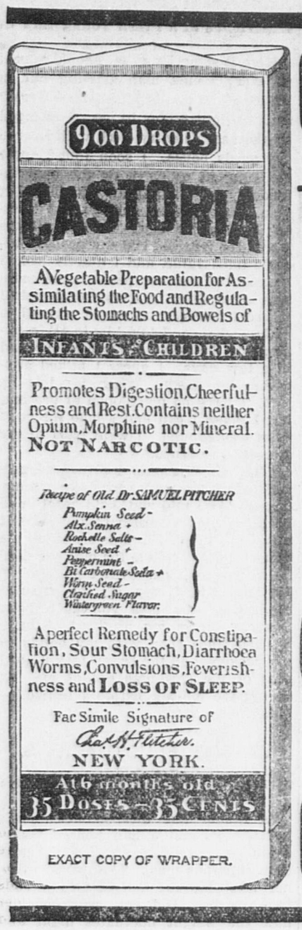

Pittsburg, Dec. 26.—Seven young people were coasting on a bobsled near McKeesport and upon reaching the foot of a hill struck the wheel of a moving freight train. The boy guiding the sled was hurled under the cars, but retained his presence of mind and rolled out of danger, practically unhurt. Four of those on the sled were slightly injured.

Turkeys For Striking Printers

Chicago, Dec. 26.—The 4000 printers who still are on strike in the United States for an eight-hour working day each received $2.50 from the International Typographical union in addition to his or her regular weekly strike pay. One condition went with the union gift—that the money was to be expended to purchase a Christmas turkey.

Robbers Held Up Gamblers

Goldfield, Nev., Dec. 26.—Two masked men held up occupants of the lobby barroom of the Columbia hotel. The robbers secured $825 from the gambling games, but overlooked $3000 which was in the safe. They backed out of the rear entrance and escaped, leaving no clue to their identity.

BRIDE MAY LOSE ARM

Unfortunate Result of "Serenade" at a Wedding Reception

Rutland, Vt., Dec. 26.—Andrew Farrell, a young farmer of Ira, nine miles from here, was arrested and brought to the house of correction in this city, where he is held pending a hearing on the charge of assault with attempt to kill on Mrs. Mary P. Gilmore at Ira on Monday night. Mrs. Gilmore had just been married and it was during a wedding reception that the shot was fired. Farrell denies all knowledge of the shooting, claiming that he did not have a gun in the vicinity of the scene of the shooting.

Mrs. Gilmore is said to be out of danger, but it is thought that her arm will have to be amputated above the elbow. Mrs. Henry Gilmore, a sister-in-law, was shot in the shoulder, but is comfortable.

No motive for the shooting has been found, and it is the general belief that the gun was discharged during a so-called serenade of the bridal couple and that the bullet had been left in the weapon through oversight.

Whole Family Almost Suffocated

Boston, Dec. 26.—Escaping coal gas from a range in a room that served both as kitchen and bedroom in the basement of a big apartment house came near ending the lives of Abram Goldman and his wife and five children, the timely call of a neighbor being responsible for the discovery of their condition. Mrs. Goldman, the mother, and the children were taken to the relief station after being attended by doctors. It is stated there that all will recover.

Stabbed In Terrible Manner

Bridgeport, Conn., Dec. 26.—With 14 knife wounds in his body and the broken blade of a knife sticking into his head behind the ear, Andrew Braschok, aged 20, a Pole, was arrested late last night and taktn to police headquarters as an intoxicated person. There his injuries were discovered and he was hurried to the Bridgeport hospital. No hopes are given for his recovery. Braschok refused to say how he received his wounds.

Signals Were Given Engineer

New Haven, Dec. 26.—George O. Devine, the engineer held under the coroner's finding as responsible for the fatal railroad wreck at Cedar Hill, was bound over to the superior court after a short city court trial. He is charged with manslaughter. The testimony showed that signals had been given Devine before the crash came, which resulted in the death of four laborers.

Women's Clothing Caught Fire

Middletown, Conn., Dec. 26.—Mrs. John Daley and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Nora Crowley, were severely burned by the explosion of a lamp which fell on the stairs as Mrs. Daley was assisting Mrs. Crowley upstairs last night. The clothes of both women took fire. Mrs. Crowley suffered more from the shock than from burns, but Mrs. Daley is in a critical condition.

Two Deaths From Falling

Holyoke, Mass., Dec. 26.—Two fatalities due to ice-covered doorsteps occurred in this city. John Ash, aged 45, fell on the back steps of his home and died of concussion of the brain. Richard Mackey, a milkman, slipped and fell on the veranda of a house. His neck was broken and death was instantaneous.

Bullet Through His Head

Waterbury, Conn., Dec. 26.—Guiseppe Valeria, an Italian, was shot through the head, and Dominico Presutto, who is alleged to have fired the shot, has disappeared. Friends of the men claim that Presutto thought the revolver was not loaded. Valeria is dying.

Death of Alleged Home Destroyer

Philadelphia, Dec. 26.—Frederick J. Schaffhauser, who was looked upon as the most important witness in the suit of the city to recover $5,000,000 from James P. McNichol on the filtration contracts, died yesterday from wounds received on Nov. 9 when he was shot in the city hall by Frederick Hornberger. Schaffhauser was a civil engineer in the water bureau. Hornberger was assistant engineer and said he shot Schaffhauser because the latter ruined his home. Hornberger, it is said, is demented.

Suicide of Church Worker

Readville, N. J., Dec. 26.—Miss Elizabeth Hill, 33 years old, organist at the Readville Presbyterian church and prominent in church work, committed suicide at her home by cutting her throat and then jumping into a cistern beneath the kitchen floor. Miss Hill's mother could give no reason for her daughter's suicide.

Shot Wife and Killed Self

New York, Dec. 26.—John J. O'Rourke, 28 years old, shot and seriously wounded his wife, aged 24, and then killed himself with the same weapon at their home in Richmond Hill, Long Island. The shooting, the police say, followed a quarrel between the couple. Mrs. O'Rourke may recover.

Marriage to Follow Divorce

Washington, Dec. 26.—Mrs. James G. Blaine, Jr., formerly Miss Martha Hichborn, who secured a divorce in South Dakota several days ago, announces that she will soon be married to Paul S. Pearsall of New York, a lieutenant in the regiment of Rough Riders during the war with Spain.

Burglars Started Fire

Atlanta, Dec. 26.—Five hundred horses and mules were burned in Harper Bros.' livery stable. The loss is about $100,000. The fire was started by safe blowers, who exploded the safe in the office, by overturning a lamp.

THREE NEGROES LYNCHED

Militia Arrived in Town After Trouble Had Subsided

Meridian, Miss., Dec. 26.—The two companies of state militia sent to Wahalak Monday night have returned to Meridian, their presence there apparently being unnecessary. After their arrival at Wahalak no disturbance occurred, although it is believed that three negroes, including George Simpson, had been lynched just before the arrival of the troops. The citizens of Wahalak, while not admitting the fact that the men were captured by a posse, say they were "lost in the swamp" while on their way to town.

Two sons of Simpson were shot to death in a fight. As near as can be ascertained at this time the casualties resulting from the troubles is as follows:

Officers of the companies state that on their arrival at Wahalak no county officials were on hand to which they could report and that during their stay there none of the county officials appeared among the troops. Colonel McCants, who was in charge of the troops, stated to the citizens that, while the soldiers were always ready to reply to a call of assistance, a real need should be apparent before they were called on. He forbade armed bodies of men riding through the country and would permit no acts which indicated violence. The soldiers state that they found armed men from other places in charge when they reached the scene.

Disturbances In Cuba

Havana, Dec. 26.—In consequence of complaints of many depredations by armed bands of ex-insurgent negroes in the province of Santa Clara four troops of cavalry and two companies of infantry left Camp Columbia this morning for Santa Clara to reinforce the cavalry already stationed there and thoroughly scout the disturbed district. The orders are to continue operations until there is a complete restoration of order and confidence in the province. It is not yet known whether the bands are revolutionists or merely bandits.

Employes Generously Remembered

Knoxville, Dec. 26.—H. K. McHarg, who recently sold his Virginia and Southwestern railway to the Southern, ran a Santa Claus special over the entire length of the road, "Santa Claus" being the conductor. To every employe who had been in the company's service for one year "Santa Claus" gave one month's salary as a Christmas present. To the head officials of the road McHarg presented one year's salary each. The gifts to subordinate employes will aggregate over $50,000.

Wife Murder and Suicide

New York, Dec. 26.—Otto Yogiesisky, 40 years old, a plumbing contractor, shot and instantly killed his wife and then committed suicide late last night. The couple had been living apart for several months and the tragedy occurred in an apartment where the woman resided. The man called and pleaded with his wife to return to his home in Brooklyn with him. Finding her obdurate, he opened fire on her with a revolver. He then sent a bullet through his brain.

Three Killed In Street Fight

Owensboro, Ky., Dec. 26.—Three men were killed and four probably fatally wounded in a fight between guards employed by the West Kentucky Coal company at Sturgis and the striking miners at that place. The fight occurred about one mile from the mine, but just what precipitated the fight is not known. The members of the Miners' union have been on strike for the past year. The coal company has been working non-union men under guards.

Used Revolver on Stepfather

Cincinnati, Dec. 26.—With money he had saved to give his mother as a Christmas gift, Henry Siebele, 16 years old, bought a revolver with which he shot and fatally wounded his stepfather, Henry Brinker, 64 years old. According to the boy, his stepfather attacked his wife with a hatchet. The boy was arrested.

Trolley Car Wrecked by Train

Ashtabula, O., Dec. 26.—An express train struck a trolley car on the Ashtabula rapid transit line at a grade crossing here and the street car was demolished. One person was killed and 14 injured. While crossing the tracks, the train struck the car almost in the middle and carried it nearly 300 feet.

Student Killed Nobleman

Tver, Russia, Dec. 26.—The assassin of Count Ignatieff has been identified as a student named Fidler, who was one of the leaders of last year's insurrection at Moscow. At that time he was bound over in $5000 bail for good behavior and this sum will now revert to the treasury.

Drunken Negroes Raise a Rumpus

Kansas City, Dec. 26.—Fifty negroes engaged in a drunken fight in this city last night, using clubs, knives and stones. Besides the injuries sustained by the participants, which consisted of broken heads and severe bruises, a policeman and a spectator were hurt.

Wrongfully Pawned Jewelry

New York, Dec. 26.—Charles Weber, charged with grand larceny in having fraudulently procured jewelry valued approximately at $7500 from two jewelers and pawning it, was committed to prison for trial in default of $7500 bail.

Elks Funeral Notice

Latest News About the City

Satisfaction in fruniture is assured at the big store of W. G. Shaw.

The Daily Ledger newsboys desire to thank many for Christmas remembrances on Monday.

The U. S. cruiser Des Moines, built at Quincy, sailed Monday from Guantanamo for Havana.

Miss Emma Hayden, a school teacher at West Hartland, Conn., is at home in Quincy for the holidays.

Quincy lodge of Elks will attend on Friday morning the funeral of John D. Coyle at Hingham.

The annual sing of the old Stoughton Musical Society will be held on New Years night at Randolph.

The name of Councilman Arthur C. Beal will head the roll call of the City Council of 1907. Four new members follow.

Mr. J. Fishberg of New York is spending the holidays as the guest of his daughter and husband Mr. and Mrs. B. Julius, of Gay street.

The letter carriers looked like Santa Claus when they started out Christmas morning. All of them were loaded down with bundles.

The members of the police department extend thanks to T. L. Williams the jeweller for a box of cigars sent to headquarters Christmas morning.

There were throngs in City Square on Monday night, and all the stores report good sales. This was one of the best years for trade that the stores ever had.

Relatives from Quincy and Braintree attended on Christmas day the 25th anniversary of the ordination into the priesthood of Rev. P. F. Billings of Abington.

F. M. Goodwin of Houghs Neck, who held the lucky number, 438, was given yesterday the large handsome doll that has been on exhibition at Thompson's waiting room, City Square.

The Sunday school of Christ church held its Christmas festival Monday evening. The school assembled early in the evening and marched about the church singing Christmas carols. They then entered the parish house where there was a Christmas tree and distribution of presents.

The patients at the City Hospital were made as happy as it was possible for them to be, away from their kindred at the Christmas season. A kind friend gave the matron money to buy gifts for all the patients, who were also remembered by their friends. The nurses also partook of the cheer-receiving boxes of candy, etc.

John A. Bates, who was well known among the stable men about the city, died at the City Hospital on Monday night of pneumonia. He was taken to the hospital last week, and it was thought that he would pull through. He had a weak constitution, however, and could not withstand the ravishes of the disease. His mother also died at the hospital with the same disease today

AMONG THE CLUBS.

Quite the oldest club in Quincy is the Pickwick, which on Jan. 2d will observe its 34th anniversary.

The January meeting of the Day Nursery association will be held on New Years afternoon at three o'clock at the clubhouse of the Quincy Women's club. All interested in the work are invited to attend.

The Social Science and Literary club of Atlantic is to have a New year meeting, the date of their next meeting being Tuesday January first. It will be held at the home of Mrs. Eastman, 357 Hancock street.

The Wollaston Alliance will meet on Jan. 2d for a sewing bee.

The annual meeting of the Hospital Aid association will be held tomorrow afternoon at the Women's club house, Goffe street. It is hoped there will be a large attendance. Any one interested is cordially urged to be present. The meeting is called for three o'clock.

Mothers meeting for January will be held in Bethany chapel on Wednesday afternoon, Jan 2d. Mrs. George E. Hatch will conduct the devotional exercises; Mrs. William H. Doble will read a paper and Mrs. Ernest D. Gourd will sing.

Mrs. Chandler W. Smith of Wollaston is hostess for the meeting of the Friday club on Friday afternoon, with Mrs. John F. Welch as chairman of the program which has for subjects, John Addington Symonds and Leslie Stevens.

It has seemed like a long recess for the Quincy Women's club as there have been no meetings since Dec. 11th. The next one will be on Jan. 8th and will be as usual a business meeting, followed by a speaker and music, closing with a tea and social. The Board of Directors meet Jan. 3d at 10 A. M.

The Junior Friday club again goes to Wollaston for their meeting as Mrs. William Whitney of South Central avenue will be the next hostess, the club meeting with her on Monday afternoon the 31st. Miss Abigail B. Wood has the program in charge, the study of the Concord group of writers being continued.

CLUB NOTES.

The Woburn Woman's club is to have a Valentine party on Feb. 14th, to raise money for philanthropic work in which the club is interested.

Pleasing features of the observance of the tenth anniversary of the Monday club of Weymouth was the gift of $100 to the proposed new hospital for that town, and also the exhibtion of a large case of books which will soon be sent on its rounds to clubs in want of good reading.

On Monday afternoon at three o'clock will be held the usual meeting of the New England Women's club when Miss Elsie Leighton Livermore will give original monologues and musical recitals.

The Thought and Work club of Salem is to have a gentlemen's night on Wednesday Jan. 2d with a reception and an entertainment. The Salem Cadet orchestra will furnish the music.

A Christmas party will be given in Boston on Saturday by the Junior Sons and Daughters of the Revolution, in the New Century building from 2 till 5. John Adams chapter of Quincy will have a representative in the receiving party.

The 24th annual exhibition of work done by the London Needle Work Guild was recently held at the Imperial institute and about 53,000 articles were examined before being sent to the sick and poor among the hospitals, institutions, missions, prisons, refuges and parishes in London. Even the little sons of the Prince of Wales made comforters for the guild, and their little sister spent many hours knitting and crocheting for it. The American Needlework Guild has its headquarters in Philadelphia. It requires of its members an annual contribution of two or more new garments suitable for the needs of the poor or sick, and the articles collected by groups are distributed from the centre from which it draws its supplies. Miss Abigail B. Wood is president of the Quincy branch.

A Boon to the Bilious

Are you compelled to deny yourself many wholesome foods because you think they make you bilious? Do you know that your condition is more to blame than the foods? Your liver and stomach need attention more than the diet. When you find yourself suffering with a bilious attack, take and all annoying symptoms will soon disappear. They settle the stomach, regulate the liver and exercise the bowels. Their good effects are felt immediately.

BEECHAM'S PILLS

Beecham's Pills mingle with the contents of the stomach and make easy work of digestion. The nourishing properties of the food are then readily assimilated and the residue carried off without irritating the intestines or clogging the bowels.

Beecham's Pills should be taken whenever there is sick headache, furred tongue, constipation, sallow skin or any symptoms that indicate an inactive liver.

Sold Everywhere. In boxes 10c. and 25c.

A Mild Laxative

Ask your doctor to name some of the results of constipation. His long list will begin with sick-headache, biliousness, dyspepsia, thin blood, bad skin. Then ask him if he would recommend your using Ayer's Pills for constipation. Just one pill at bedtime, a few times, that's all.

We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our preparations.

FOUND A HOLE FOR HIM.

Experience of a Fresh Young Man In His Start In Business.

Here is something that should appeal to every young man starting out in business: "When I came to New York," said a bright fellow to me, "I engaged by the year as entry clerk with a large dry goods house. I soon found out I couldn't get along with the superintendent, a dictatorial, domineering man. Being young and brash, I 'sassed' him, which made matters all the worse for me. At last my position became unbearable, and I quietly looked around for another place. The manager of a great grocery house asked where I worked and why I wanted to make a change. I told him in all frankness, and he asked me to come around in a few days. I guess I talked altogether too much. When I called he said, 'I have no place open at present, but I guess I can find a hole for you.' That was enough. I went back to my store and resigned.

"The next morning I presented myself before the manager of the grocery house. 'As I told you,' said he, 'I have no place open at present,' and walked away. 'But,' said I, 'didn't you tell me you would find a hole for me?' 'I did,' he answered back. 'Ain't you in it?' He then added, 'Mr. R., the superintendent of the firm you have been working for is my brother.' I have worked since then with my hands in my pockets, and the lesson took a good deal of the freshness out of me. It taught me to look before I leaped."—New York Press.

WEIGHT FLUCTUATIONS.

A Man May Gain and Lose Five Pounds In the Day.

"A dinner like this increases one's weight two and a half pounds," said a physiologist as he finished his more than generous meal. "An average dinner increases the weight two pounds two ounces. Did you ever consider how the weight fluctuates night and day?

"We lose in bed at night two pounds six ounces. Between breakfast and lunch we lose fourteen ounces. Between lunch and dinner we lose ten ounces more. Total loss, four pounds fourteen ounces. That goes on every day of our lives.

"At breakfast we gain one pound twelve ounces; at lunch, one pound; at dinner, as I said before, two pounds two ounces. Total gain, four pounds fourteen ounces.

"Thus, day by day, gaining nearly five pounds, our weight remains uniform. If we ate but a half or a third what we do, it is logical to suppose that our organs, digestive and so on, would have but half as much work to do and that our brains in consequence would be able to do twice as much. That is the logical supposition, and no doubt it is the correct one, but man is still too nearly animal to eat only what he needs. He insists upon eating till he can hold no more."

Saved by the Apostles' Creed.

The value of a religious education was once experienced by the skeptic Hume. He fell off a temporary bridge connecting old and new Edinburgh and sank in a bog. After many cries for assistance an old woman drew near and began to make preparations for saving him. But as soon as she saw who it was she would save she desisted and bade him stay where he was. "I am no atheist," protested Hume. "I assure you, good woman, you are mistaken." "Well, then, if you are not an atheist," she cried, "you can say your belief, and if you cannot do that I will be no aid to save an infidel." Hume accordingly, embogged in the swamp—de profundis—recited the Apostles' Creed and, having made no mistake in the recital, was duly saved by this severe Samaritan. If he had failed—

Exhibits In Law Cases.

What are known as "exhibits" in law cases range from sheets of paper to boilers and other large articles. At various times an omnibus, a motor car and a cab have been on view in the private roadway by the side of the London law courts, and as they could not be brought into the witness box the judge and jury have had to go out and inspect them in the open. One of the most ponderous "exhibits" of this kind was a large ship's boiler furnace, which was conveyed from Swansea for inspection.—London Standard.

Cool and Thoughtful.

"Yes," said the warden, "he was the coolest and most thoughtful convict who ever broke jail."

"You don't say!" exclaimed the visitor.

"Yes; he left behind him a note to the governor of the state beginning, 'I hope you will pardon me for the liberty I'm taking.'"—Catholic Standard and Times.

The Intention Was Good.

Governess—You're a naughty little girl, Christabel, to kick your cousin like that. Christabel—I didn't kick her. Governess—Oh, hush, dear! I saw you kick her several times. Christabel—I didn't. I missed her every time.—Punch.

Jumping at Conclusions.

"I see that the 'human ostrich' is no more. He's the chap who swallowed nails, needles and hatpins. And he chewed glass too."

"I see. He chewed so much glass that he got a pain."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Value Received.

"It costs more to live than it did years ago," said the man who complains.

"Yes," answered the man who enjoys modern conveniences, "but it's worth more."—Exchange.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

OCMULGEE LAUNCHED

No. 3 of the Fleet of Four Building for Brunswick Line

The Ocmulgee, the third steamship built by the Fore River Company for the Brunswick Steamship Company, was successfully launched this morning at 8.50. There was very little demonstration over the launch, but the steamship company was represented by C. L. Dimond, the vice president, and H. M. Dixon, the chief engineer.

The Ocmulgee was christened by Miss Lucy C. Hollis of Braintree.

The Satilla, the first of the fleet, launched Aug. 21, 1906, is now making regular trips between New York and Brunswick, Ga., and the Ogeechee, launched Nov. 5, 1906, will sail in a few days for New York.

Probate Court.

The following business was transacted at the Dedham session of the Norfolk county probate court on Wednesday:

Wills Allowed,—Of Mary R. Tower of Cohasset; James Finneran of Medway; Mary Degidan, otherwise Mary Dixon, otherwise Mary Dagidan of Brookline; Harriet W. Soule of Brookline; Julia F. Brett of Brookline, and Sarah H. Dunbar, of Brookline.

Administrations were granted on the estates of Dr. Robert W. Southgate, of Weymouth; William Jennings of Brookline; George C. McIntosh of Needham, and William S. Wilson of Wellesley.

Runaway.

There was a lively runaway on Washington street, Wednesday afternoon. T. Frank Drake was driving one of his high steppers attached to a sleigh. In attempting to turn about near Union street the sleigh was overturned and Mr. Drake thrown out. The sleigh then righted and the horse minus a driver started up Washington street, thence into Revere road and up Chestnut street where he was captured by William Cain. The only damage done was to Mr. Drake's feelings.

Boulevard Contract.

Newell & Snowling, whose contract for finishing the sub-grade of the boulevard expires December 31st, have already completed their work. John R. Rablin chief engineer of the Metropolitan Park Commission has given assurance that a contract for surfacing will be made as soon as work may be done in the spring.

HYDROPHOBIA PREVALENT

Seven Persons In the State Have Died of It During the Year

On Wednesday the chief of the cattle bureau, Dr. Austin Peters, received from Taunton the head of a dog which had been killed for rabies, or hydrophobia. Dr. Peters says that last week two dogs were killed in Quincy for the disease. One was a collie puppy; the other was a skye terrier, the pet dog of a woman.

Now, the neighbors have no way of knowing whether or not they live in the vicinity of a mad dog. The law is drawn so as to prevent it. It says that when an animal is quarantined, the inspector who does it shall report the fact at once to the chief of the cattle bureau, but to no other person.

It is said by a state employe that the law was drawn presumably for the protection of owners of cows which might be put into quarantine for tuberculosis, so that the owner, if he kept a dairy, might not lose his customers by reason of a scare at the idea of taking milk from tuberculous cows.

But the wording of the law applies to all animals without distinction and it is enforced so as to apply to mad dogs as well as tuberculous cows. Therefore though half of the dogs in Quincy might be quarantined because they had been bitten by a dog which was known to be mad, yet the inspector would be forbidden to tell any one of it, except the chief of the cattle bureau.

It is becoming highly important for the public to know the extent of the present epidemic of rabies, which is the worst on record in the state. Already seven persons have died in the state this year from being bitten by mad dogs, and it will be recalled that a few days ago, in Lowell, six persons were bitten by a dog in one day. The Boston papers today report mad dog scares and reigns of terror in Melrose, Winthrop, Beachmont, Malden and Chelsea.

The bites are not necessarily fatal, for the records show that about 17 per cent of persons bitten die of the malady. That was before the discovery of the celebrated French physician, Pasteur, and since then the fatality among those who take his treatment is less then one per cent. As far as is known at the office of the cattle bureau, there has been no instance where one person has communicated the disease to another. Dr. Peters says that the authorities hold that the saliva of herbivorous animals is not a means of carrying the poison, but that it is only the carnivorous, such as dogs and cats, which can do this.

Dr. Magrath, in the office of the state board of health, says that the germs of the disease is a very small animal parasite. It is smaller, much smaller, than a corpuscle of the blood. Nothing is known of its life history. In the case of dogs, it is found only in a particular convolution of the brain. That is why the head of suspected dogs are sent to the cattle bureau for analysis. The expert who makes the examination is Dr. Frothington, connected with the department of pathology of the Harvard medical school.

Experiments are being made frequently with rabbits. A portion of the brain of a dog which had the disease is pulverized, mixed with water and then injected into the rabbit. But there is a marked difference between the development of the disease in the rabbit and the dog. In the former case there is no violent stage, such as makes dogs dangerous, but the animal passes at once into the stage which is known as dumb rabies, which, in the case of dogs, occurs toward the end of the attack, when death is approaching.

Particular care needs to be taken in case of dogs, for they run long distances when in the violent stage. Fifty to sixty miles, says Dr. Peters, a mad dog will run when in the violent stage, snapping and biting at whatever comes in his course. Therefore it is no insurance of safety that no dogs in a neighborhood are suspected of having rabies, for a mad one may run into town at any hour.

The vicinity of Quincy, using the term to include the territory within a circle which a mad dog would traverse, has had quite a number of cases within a short time. Bridgewater, Whitman and Rockland, and the greater Boston towns above are in the list mentioned. Therefore it is evident that too much care cannot be exercised to protect the public from this serious danger of death.

Science is learning more about the disease, and, in one point of view, the new facts are not encouraging. Until recently it was believed that the period of incubation for the disease was three months and it has been the rule, in quarantining dogs, that if they were all right at the end of 90 days, they might be released with safety to the public. But it is now known that rabies may develop at least five months after the bite was inflicted, and Dr. Peters says now that practically they do not know how long a time may elapse between the time of the bite and the breaking out of the disease.

But one comforting fact established by science is the possibility of cure. There is a pasteur hospital in New York and only there, as far as this part of the country is concerned. But the Boston city hospital has arranged with the New York Pasteur hospital to send it daily by mail fresh packages of the serum which is used. There is need enough of it, for Boston has had 38 cases of mad dog during the present year.

At the state hospital in Tewksbury the serum is also received from New York, and some physicians, who wish to be prepared for anything in their private practice, also have the remedy sent to them.

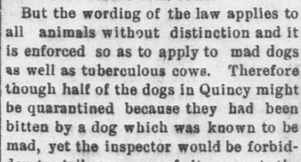

In the case of the two bitten persons from Lowell who went to New York last year for treatment and both died, the trouble was that they did not attend to the matter promptly enough. The same is true of the man and girl from Salem who died in the Tewksbury hospital this year.

Animals are particularly liable to suffer. In Rehoboth a herd of five cows were all bitten and four of them died of rabies. Three in Westfield were bitten and two of them died. Swine have died of it. Dr. Peters read today a statement from Connecticut saying that a flock of 60 hens had been killed at once because they had rabies, which was given to them by swine, and were making a noise something like a bark. But he never heard of a case among poultry, and he is disposed to doubt the accuracy of the story.

Cows lose their appetite, drool and the lower jaw hangs down. Though it is not known that they are ever dangerous, yet it is not certain that they may not have the disease in its violent form, as well as in the dumb form which is more common among them. Rabbits pass at once into the dumb stage and never have the violent form which is the most dangerous feature of its existence in dogs.

The Merrimac valley has been the most dangerous part of the state recently. Fitchburg has had an outbreak. Dogs are in quarantine in Lee and Pittsfield. A head was sent in the other day from Otis in Berkshire county, which was found to be a true case. Wales, in southern Hampden county, has just had a case, Connecticut and Rhode Island both seem to have much of the disease, and it is probable that some of the trouble in this state came originally from one or both of those states. To the north they are almost clear from it.

Dr. Peters says that cities and towns ought to be strict in the enforcement of muzzling orders. The Newton board of aldermen last week passed an order that all dogs shall be muzzled for the coming six months, or be restrained from running at large. This action was taken after consultation by a representative of the board with Dr. Peters, and the action represents his judgment of what ought to be done in the circumstances. There is no safety in any other course, and if stringent precautions are observed, the disease, as far as origin in this state is concerned, will be stamped out, but we can have no insurance against dogs coming here from other states.

Hyde Park Votes To Buy Water Works

Several important matters were before a special town meeting held in Hyde Park on Wednesday evening.

By a decisive vote of 231 to 12 it was voted to purchase the plant of the Hyde Park Water Company, and the following committee was appointed to confer with the company relative to the price: Edwin C. Jenney, A. L. Lovejoy, S. P. Winchenbaugh, F. C. Graham, John O'Connell, W. B. Kollock and Robert Martin.

It is thought that about $500,000 must be paid for the plant.

It was voted to issue new bonds of $32,500 for a fire engine house in place of bonds previously authorized.

The following committee on a new municipal building was elected: E. C. Jenney, Alonzo Dunbar, H. B. Miner, S. B. Newell, C. F. Morrison, John Griffin and William B. Foster.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

Now that the city has a building ordinance it would be a good thing to have an ordinance that would prohibit the erection of large and unsightly bill boards within a certain number of feet of a street. In many cases these large boards are erected on the street line. The larger part of the boards are owned by out-of-town parties who receive a large revenue for their use and care not whether they are unsightly or not. On Hancock street between City Square and Neponset there are several of these large boards which should come down or be moved further back from the street.

REPLY OF O'MEARA

Brought Out by the Latest Essay Written by Moran

SUBWAY SUNDAY WORK

Police Commissioner Thinks It Strange That District Attorney Knew Nothing of It and Speaks of Lack of Common Sense

Boston, Dec. 27.—Police Commissioner O'Meara has replied to the chapter which District Attorney Moran, through the medium of the papers, contributed to the wordy war which is engaging so much of the time of their stenographers. O'Meara explains why he does not ignore the district attorney, and remarks that an element which "represents not always law and not often common sense" exists in the district attorney's office which predecessors in the commissioner's chair did not have to contend with. O'Meara's remarks are in this wise:

"If Mr. Moran really did not know until last Saturday that Sunday work on the subway had been going on for a long time, he certainly is not under obligation to take legal steps against himself.

"This work has covered a period of 10 years, including a full year of Mr. Moran's service as district attorney. It has been watched Sunday after Sunday through half the length of the town by hundreds of thousands of people in the aggregate. A man could not go to a railroad station, to the postoffice, to the courthouse, could hardly ride to an important point in the city proper, and fail to see it. Yet it is Mr. Moran, a constant and watchful resident of Boston, always looking forward to the duties which at last fell to him, who never happened upon the work. And it is Mr. Moran who offers of all excuses the excuse that he did not know.

"The charge that my English is of the 'newspaper' rather than the 'classic' kind, and that my long service as an editor makes it hard for me to tell the truth, I hand over to the gentlemen of the journalistic profession. They should either deny that mine is 'newspaper' English or should come to its defense. They must either chide Mr. Moran or submit to his estimate of the small percentage of truth to be found in newspaper writing.

"Enforcement of the laws in a city of the size of Boston is always difficult. It is made especially so by the uncertainty which often exists as to the actual meaning of particular enactments. A police commissioner who does his full duty must combine law with common sense. It is the misfortune of the present commissioner that into that combination has entered within a year a third element which represents not always law and not often common sense. He can neither eject nor ignore it. It has an official standing which brings it into hourly relations with the police department, and the advice of those who say to the police commissioner that his best policy is to ignore it cannot be followed.

"The machinery for the enforcement of the laws, and in a measure the laws themselves, tie together the office of the district attorney for Suffolk county and the Boston police department, and the police commissioner has no choice in associates and very little choice in methods."

Declaring that District Attorney Moran yesterday committed the "meanest outrage ever perpetrated upon the Boston police department" in giving to the press the text of a letter to Police Superintendent Pierce, requesting that official to get evidence against eight houses named in a note accompanying the letter, for presentation to the January grand jury, Police Commissioner O'Meara last night stated that the action of Moran was based on a "malicious" letter, "dirty and anonymous," and that it was a "fair specimen of the spite from which the police must expect to suffer for the next year."

Mr. O'Meara charges that the only activity heretofore exhibited by the district attorney, where questionable houses were concerned, was to "release on bail after conviction, and without sentence, the most notorious and persistent keeper of such houses ever engaged in the business in Boston."

Life Sentence For Robber Who Wounded a Policeman

Boston, Dec. 27.—A life sentence in state prison for robbery, which involved the shooting of a police officer, was imposed upon George W. Everson in the superior court. Two of Everson's accomplices were also found guilty and one of them, Alfred D. Morse, received a sentence of not less than 19 nor more than 20 years in prison, but the third robber, Fred Sacketti, pleaded so effectively with the court, claiming that he was compelled to commit the crime by the others at the point of a revolver, that Judge Sherman postponed the judgment of the court until later.

The affair occurred in Charlestown on July 6 last, when three men entered the office of the Estabrook Coal company, just before the noon hour, held up Thomas Hickey, the clerk, and robbed him of $150. In making their escape the three robbers were seen by Officer Herman Shields, who pursued them until Everson turned and shot the officer in the leg. The three were subsequently arrested.

At the trial only the indictment charging robbery was pressed, but Everson's record was produced and Judge Sherman decided to send the man to prison for life. Sacketti took the stand and declared that the other two compelled him to help them under a threat of shooting him. Later Everson took the stand and denied Sacketti's story. Officer Shields has not yet recovered from his wound.

Troops Subdue Race Riots

Memphis, Dec. 27.—Advices from Scooba and Wahalak, Miss., where race rioting required the presence of troops, say that quiet prevails at both towns, as well as throughout the surrounding territory. The trouble is attributed to the actions of a reckless mob which, in searching for a negro who attacked Conductor Cooper aboard a train and shot and killed Constable O'Brien of Wahalak, killed three negroes and wounded several others. Feeling against the negroes was intensified by the killing by negroes of Conductor Harrison at Crawford.

Bryce Leaves Parliament

Aberdeen, Dec. 27.—James Bryce, who is to succeed Sir Mortimer Durand as British ambassador at Washington, has given his constituents here the first definite information of his selection for the Washington post in a letter which they have just received. The retirement of Bryce causes genuine regret, as his scholarly qualities made him peculiarly qualified to represent the constituency which has the reputation of being the most intellectual in the United Kingdom, as Aberdeen enjoys the unusual distinction of not having one illiterate voter.

Union Picketers Sent to Jail

Chicago, Dec. 27.—Under a decision handed down by the supreme court of Illinois, four members, including the president and secretary of Franklin Union of Pressfeeders, will be obliged to go to jail for periods ranging from 30 days to six months. The two officials of the union most also pay fines. This decision ends a fight in the courts which has lasted four years. During a strike in 1902 the four men violated an injunction making it unlawful for the picketing of the strike-bound establishments

Barely Escaped Drowning

New York, Dec. 27.—Fifteen visitors to the Arctic steamer Roosevelt narrowly escaped with their lives from a launch which had started for the ship yesterday afternoon. The launch was caught by the floes of drifting ice and was jammed against the ferry piles at West Forty-Second street. The ice stove a hole in the boat's side and she was on the point of sinking when a tug came alongside and saved the party.

Bad Case of Lovesickness

Detroit, Dec. 27.—Felipe Juaragui, aged 25, said to be the son of wealthy parents in Durango, Mex., and to have been expelled from that country for connection with a revolutionary movement, attempted to commit suicide here by firing three bullets into his breast. He is in a serious condition. He left a farewell letter written in Spanish in which he declared that he "succumbed to the ecstacies of love."

Explorers Perished In Desert

El Paso, Tex., Dec. 27.—The bodies of Professor Thomas Grindell and his followers, who left Douglas, Ariz., in June, 1904, on an exploring expedition to Tiburon island, in the Gulf of California, but who were never afterwards heard from, have been found in a desert in Sonora, where they perished evidently for want of water. Identification was made through a letter found with the bodies.

Awful Fall of Two Miners

Bessemer, Mich., Dec. 27.—Elias Leghtanen and Joseph Bardessono were instantly killed in the Colby mine here by falling 500 feet to the bottom of the shaft when a "skip" on which they were riding to the surface was dumped by striking on a projecting beam. Two other miners in the "skip" saved their lives by catching hold of the rope and clinging to it.

MAD DOG AT LARGE

Bites Eight Persons and Many Dogs In Suburbs of Boston

Boston, Dec. 27.—An apparently frenzied dog ran amuck through half a dozen towns and cities north of Boston, covering a distance of nine miles, and at 11 o'clock last night had bitten eight persons and was still at large with the police of a large number of the towns and cities on his trail. At one time he was cornered in Malden by two policemen, but in attempting to shoot him, Officer Nolan shot his companion, Sergeant Johnson, in the leg, while the dog escaped.

The dog was first seen in Winthrop yesterday afternoon, where he attacked and severely lacerated two children. An hour later he turned up at Beachmont, where he attacked five people before he disappeared in the direction of Malden. In Revere he chased several persons, but did not bite any one, but in Chelsea one person was bitten. Later in the afternoon he was seen by various people between Chelsea and Malden, but at that time he kept on to Melrose, where one person suffered from his teeth. During the early evening he apparently retraced his steps to Malden, where he had his encounter with the policemen. At 10 o'clock last night he was seen running off in the direction of Everett.

A general alarm was sent out last night to the police of all the cities and towns to the north and west of the city. The dog was described as a spaniel, and as several other dogs were bitten during the afternoon, stringent measures will be taken to ward off an epidemic of hydrophobia.

Woman Scalped by Machine

Newton, Mass., Dec. 27.—With her scalp from her eyebrows to the back of her head torn off, Miss Sarah Hughes lies in a precarious condition at the Newton hospital. Miss Hughes has been employed by the Metropolitan Laundry company of Watertown and while wiping off the oil box in the mangle room, had her scalp torn from her head by the revolving spindle. It was not until Dr. Mead arrived that the machinery was stopped and the hair taken from the spindle. Mead said that if the scalp had been sewn in place while still warm, the girl's chances of recovery would be much brighter than they are.

Clement Must Pay Judgment

Burlington, Vt., Dec. 27.—The slander suit of S. D. Wilson against Percival W. Clement, who was recently a candidate for governor of this state, reached its final stage when an application for stay of execution in the payment of the judgment of $1000 and costs by Clement was denied. The suit was brought by Wilson after a political campaign, during which it was alleged he was called a murderer by Clement in a stump speech.

Helpless to Save Husband

Everett, Mass., Dec. 27.—Elmer E. Fernald, 43, met his death by being burned in bed at his home, the fire being caused by sparks from his pipe, which he had been smoking. Fernald's wife was sleeping in a nearby room. She has been ill and was awakened by the screams of her husband. She was too weak to go to his aid and had to lie helpless while her husband succumbed in the flames. The fire then smouldered out.

License Commissioners Ousted

Pawtucket, R. I., Dec. 27.—License Commissioners Hosler and Davis of the town of Cumberland were dismissed from office at a hearing held before the town council. Hosler was charged with malfeasance in refusing to grant a liquor license to Patrick Casey, it being alleged that Casey had refused to pay him $130. Davis was charged with conspiring with Hosler to prevent the granting of the license.

Farrell Held For Grand Jury

Rutland, Vt., Dec. 27.—Andrew Farrell was arraigned before Justice Farnsworth, charged with assault with intent to kill on account of the shooting of Mrs. Charles Gilmore at Ira during a reception following the wedding of Mrs. Gilmore on Christmas eve. Farrell pleaded not guilty and was held without bail for the grand jury. Mrs. Gilmore's condition shows no improvement.

Women Fatally Burned

New Haven, Dec. 27.—Julia Stilletto, a servant employed at Bridgeport, attempted to light an alcohol stove when an explosion set fire to her clothes and she died soon afterward of her injuries. In Waterbury, Mrs. Julia Scadden set fire to her nightclothes while carrying a candle and was terribly burned all over her body. She died a few hours later.

Freight Trains In Collision

Buxton, Me., Dec. 27.—A rear-end collision of freight trains occurred at Bradbury station. No one was injured, but there was a bad mixup of rolling stock and the damage is estimated at $25,000. A dozen cars were piled up. The accident was said to have been due to a misunderstanding of orders.

Neck Broken by a Train

Middletown, Conn., Dec. 27.—The body of a man found with his neck broken, lying beside the railroad tracks in the snow, where, it is believed, he was tossed by a train, was identified as that of Frank Quinn, aged 37, of Lonsdale, R. I. He had been employed at a bridge works in East Berlin.

Bark Will Be a Total Loss

Midway Island, Dec. 27.—Bark Carrollton, from Newcastle, N. S. W., for Honolulu, struck the south reef off Midway island. All the members of the crew were saved. There is no hope of saving the vessel.

CLOSE TO A RIOT

Abrupt Termination of a Meeting of Russians at Boston

WROUGHT UP TO A FRENZY

Supposed Spies of Russian Government Objected to Fiery Utterances of Revolutionary Orators and Trouble Follows

Boston, Dec. 27.—A crowd of Russian revolutionary sympathizers, who crowded spacious Tremont temple to its doors, were wrought up to such a frenzy last night by a number of speakers, including Amdreyevich Gershuni, that when there was a slight demonstration against some of the most fiery sentiments of the orators on the part of half a dozen men the entire assembly arose and started to overwhelm them.

It was only by the utmost endeavors of two speakers standing on each end of the platform that the crowd was calmed, although the feeling ran so high against those who had interrupted the meeting and who were said to be Russian spies that the meeting broke up, but not before overr $1000 had been raised by auction to assist in fighting the regular troops of the empire.

The auction took place early in the evening, yet so excited had the audience become that when contributions for the auction were called for men and women rushed forward and passed up to the stage watches, bracelets, rings and other jewelry. A small gun metal watch was sold twice for over $30.

Gershuni arrived during the afternoon from New York, accompanied by Joseph Barodess, a labor leader of that city. The pair were met at the train by a large delegation and escorted to their hotel.

Alexander Kahn presided at the meeting and several local speakers opened the proceedings and succeeded in arousing the crowd to such a pitch that the auction which followed their remarks was a great success.

Dr. Antonette Konikow and Barodess added fuel to the flames until the whole audience was greatly excited when Gershuni came upon the stage. He was cheered wildly and responded with a speech in which he endeavored to describe the conditions in Russia, and said that the revolutionists wanted to raise enough money to equip 10 full regiments. He denied that he was a terrorist.

Just as he was concluding his remarks half a dozen men in the gallery rose up and one or two made some remarks in the nature of a protest to the words of the speaker. Instantly the entire assembly was in an uproar, and a strong tide of excited humanity began to flow in the direction of the gallery. Gershuni and Kahn shouted to the people to go back to their seats and by strenuous efforts managed to stem the current. The crowd was too excited to remain in their seats, so the meeting closed.

At the Revere house, after the meeting, Gershuni and several of the local speakers declared that the demonstration was made by men employed by the Russian government.

Attempt at Blackmail

Helena, Mont., Dec. 27.—Unknown persons wrote the Northern Pacific rilroad that unless $25,000 was forthcoming the St. Louis-Burlington express would be dynamited between Livingston and Billings. Instead of giving up the money, six detectives were placed on the train. A supposed accomplice was found in the baggage car, but as he made no move he was not molested. The train met with no unusual experience. Little plunder could have been procured had the train been dynamited.

Anxious Minds Are Relieved

Fargo, N. D., Dec. 27.—A coroner's jury relieved the minds of several prominent men by finding that Calvin Good, a negro pugilist, who died after suffering a knockout at the hands of James Gaines before a social meeting of the Elks' lodge, would have died of pneumonia in a short time anyway. In the eighth round Good fell unconscious and remained in that condition until he died. The coroner's jury attached no blame to anyone.

Jud e's Usefulness Impaired

Chicago, Dec. 27.—The judiciary committee of the Chicago Bar association, which has been investigating certain acts of Arthur Chetlain, superior court judge, charged with having been interested in various financial transactions which came under the jurisdiction of his court, found the jurist "guilty of grave infractions of conduct becoming a judge and that he has seriously impaired his usefulness as a judge."

Launch and Crew Missing

New York, Dec. 27.—Police launch No. 6, a small boat of the naphtha pattern, with three patrolmen aboard, is missing, and it is feared that the craft and its crew are lost. She was last seen off Sheepshead, battling with the ice floes and apparently trying to make the open water. It is thought that the craft might have been crushed by the ice and sank, or it may have blown up.

Troops Scouting For Marauders

Havana, Dec. 27.—No further advices have been received here regarding the disorders in Santa Clara province. The American troops which were sent into the district from Camp Columbia will scout through the province.

Public Interest

IS NOW CENTERED ON

The Pure Food Law.

WE Have Always Maintained that the best that money could buy was alway the cheapest in the end, because it is always the bargain hunters that have to pay the DOCTOR, buying as they do IMPURE foods of all kinds, FOODS that are UNFIT for ANY PERSON'S STOMACH, being mixed as they are with different kinds of PRESERVATIVES and SECRET PREPARATIONS to take the place of GOOD PURE FOODS. And some dealers selling these goods at a GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICE over the pure kind, GUARANTEE you NOTHING, but—"Poor Health to You and Your Family," and although you can buy the "just as good kind," you can save nothing as that kind is unhealthy and dangerous to the whole human family. Now our standard is to always sell the best of everything and the steady increase of our business year after year proves to us that we have the right idea, and we know it must be very satisfactory to our many customers to feel that what they buy at our store is ABSOLUTELY PURE and HEALTHFUL and the Food Laws are being strictly enforced by us. Our Goods are all GOVERNMENT INSPECTED and also carefully inspected by us before they are put on sale or sent to your homes, and although you pay perhaps a few cents more to us than some dealers charge, don't you think it is money well spent, considering all things?—YOUR HEALTH, which is the greatest blessing we can have,—think well about this and we know you will agree with us and do your trading where you know the goods can be depended upon to be absolutely Pure.

We have just received our season's pack of choice canned and bottled goods, FRESH and DRIED FRUITS, all kinds of Cereals, Ketchup, Pickles, Jams, Jellies, Prunes, Figs, Nuts, Dates, Table Raisins, Citron, Lemon and Orange Peel, Olives, Sardines,—in fact everything for your tastes and fancies. All the leading brands of FLOUR. Fancy New Orleans Molasses.

OUR MARKET is complete, AND REMEMBER, we sell nothing that has been doctored or filled with Preservatives to keep it. ABSOLUTELY NOTHING but Carefully Selected Meats are on sale at OUR STORE. Stamped with the Government Inspection Stamp, that insures to you and to us the point of perfection, which we are always striving to reach for the benefit of our trade.

We will have a grand display of that great National Bird, THE TURKEY, the same VERMONT KIND we have always sold you,—Chicken, Fowl and Duck, direct from WILLIAM R. DRAKE of Braintree, and he knows how to dress them so as to please the eye as well as the palate. They don't grow nicer than he has. Fruit and vegetables in abundance, and don't forget our famous LA TOURAINE COFFEE, no dinner complete without it.

LOVERS DIED TOGETHER

Sensational Double Suicide by Poison In a County Jail

Elmira, N. Y., Dec. 27.—While talking with Bessie Wells in the Elmira county jail last night, Frank Delaney suddenly passed a vial of carbolic acid to her through the bars of her cell and then pressed a second bottle to his own lips. A guard who was watching Delaney during his interview with the woman attempted to arrest the passage of the acid, but he was too late. Before a physician could reach the jail corridor both the woman and her interviewer were dead.

Bessie Wells occupied a cell in the women's dormitory, awaiting sentence which was to have been imposed Jan. 3 on a charge of abducting a young girl and harboring her for immoral purposes. Delaney, possessing a power of attorney from the woman, called at the jail and told the warden that he wanted to obtain the woman's signature to some papers.

Accompanied by a guard, he was taken to her cell. Suddenly Delaney handed a bottle of poison through the bars of the cell door and as the guard sprang forward placed a second bottle to his own mouth.

Delaney was 29 years old and a railroad man. He is said to have been the lover of Miss Wells.

Charges Are Piling Up

Pittsburg, Dec. 27.—An additional charge of forgery has been preferred against J. B. F. Rinehart, former cashier of the Farmers and Drovers' National bank of Waynesburg. In the information he is charged with forging the name of a Waynesburg man to a note for $5000. Rinehart gave bail for his appearance at the February term of the criminal court. Almost immediately following this three local contractors stated that they would immediately prefer charges against Rinehart, alleging that he had raised a note given by them from $500 to $5000.

An Unusually Heavy Snowfall

London, Dec. 27.—Christmas of 1906 will be memorable for the heaviest snowstorm the United Kingdom has experienced in many years. In the northern counties of England and in Scotland the snow was accompanied by great gales. There was an average fall of from four to six inches, which drifted badly and worked serious hindrance to locomotion of all kinds. There were many small wrecks along the coasts, but no serious loss of life is reported. The crews of nearly all the wrecked vessels were rescued by lifeboats.

Two Less Feudists

Lexington, Ky., Dec. 27.—Hiram Mullins and his son, William, were probably fatally wounded in a feud fight with Charles and Bud Little and John Brewer. There had been a feud of long standing between the Little and Mullins families. Yesterday the men met and the Littles fired on the Mullins, who made a running fight to their home, where they barricaded themselves. The house was riddled with bullets and the battle ceased only when both the Mullins were shot down. More than 200 shots were fired.

Further Evidence of Poisoning

Chicago, Dec. 27.—Traces of poison have been found in the body of another member of the Vzral family, and the police believe that they have secured additional evidence against Herman Belek, who is now in custody in connection with the deaths of several members of the family. Evidences of arsenic have now been found in all the bodies that have been examined.

Conductors Want More Pay

El Paso, Tex., Dec. 27.—The Mexican Central conductors are voting on a union strike. They now get from $110 to $125 a month gold. The increase asked amounts to about 15 percent. If the vote carries they will resign, effective on Jan. 1. A strike, as such, is a serious matter in Mexico and they will not attempt it, but the result will be the same.

Gave Detective the Slip

New York, Dec. 27.—Edward E. Loomis, formerly cashier of a drug store in Brooklyn, from which he is accused of the larceny of $2000, was captured in Oakland, Cal., and was being brought east by Detective Frederick E. Parker, who sent word from Olean, N. Y., that Loomis had escaped by jumping from a train near there.

Great Influx of Japanese

El Paso, Tex., Dec. 27.—Japanese are flocking to the Rio Grande border, attempting to get into the United States. Yesterday 54 were refused admission here. Later a number were smuggled over at Fort Hancock, Tex., but they were recaptured by immigration officials who are patrolling the entire border.

Herring Fishermen Fare Poorly

St. Johns, Dec. 27.—Because of the mild weather the outlook for frozen herring at Bay of Islands is unfavorable and a number of American vessels have been ordered home empty. A total of 70 vessels came from the United States this season. Half of the vessels may fail to secure cargoes.

Bomb Throwing at Barcelona

Barcelona, Dec. 27.—A bomb was exploded in the Rambla, one of the principal thoroughfares of this city. One man was wounded. Three anarchists have been arrested in connection with the affair.

UP TO PRESIDENT

Congress Will Make a Fight For Negro Troops

TO BE LED BY FORAKER

Ohio Senator Said to Have Reserve Ammunition Up His Sleeve and May Give Administration a Surprise or Two

Washington, Dec. 27.—The administration is preparing to give Senator Foraker a fight to the finish in his effort to compel the president to reverse his order discharging the negro soldiers of the Twenty-fifth infantry. Assistant Attorney General Purdy has been sent to Brownsville to get affidavits of evidence already obtained by Major Blocksom. If the senate shall pass a resolution questioning the word of Blocksom, as Senator Foraker has done, the president will be prepared with affidavits from the mayor of Brownsville and other citizens whom Blocksom interviewed, swearing that they did testify as Blocksom reported.

Reports reaching the war department show that the senate agitation appears to be having an unfortunate effect on the discipline of other negro troops in the service. Senator Spooner is expected to reply to Foraker when the senate reconvenes.

"I think the story of what the president intends to do in the matter is too silly to discuss. Please do not ask me to comment upon it," said Senator Foraker, when his attention was called to the report that President Roosevelt would veto any measure that congress might pass restoring to the service the negro members of the Twenty-fifth infantry who were discharged without honor from the army on a charge of engaging in riotous behavior at Brownsville, and that if such a measure were passed over his veto he would refuse to obey it, pending a decision by the United States supreme court.

Two interpretations may be placed on this statement of Foraker above quoted: First, that he doubts that the president has assumed the attitude he is said to have taken; and secondly, that it doesn't worry the Ohio senator much, even if the president's position has been accurately stated in the press reports. The Ohio senator is a fighting man. The controversy that has developed over the Brownsville incident gives him an opportunity to gratify his taste for battle.

Mr. Foraker absolutely declined to enter into any discussion of his intentions in connection with the case of the discharged soldiers when the senate reconvenes after the holiday recess. It is known, however, that he is making preparations for another speech on his pending resolution which provides for an investigation of the whole Brownsville matter by the senate committee on military affairs.

Indications are that the Foraker resolution will be passed early next month. There are intimations that Foraker didn't use all his ammunition in the speech he made last week concerning the Brownsville incident. His friends say that he may have a surprise or two in store for the administration.

It is expected in Washington that an ugly situation will develop as a result of the president's action and the utterances ascribed to him relating to the discharged negro infantrymen. The Foraker resolution promises trouble, and it is known that another move will be made in congress to test the temper of the president in the case. The president has declared time and again that in no circumstances would he consent to the restoration to the army of any of the discharged men unless conclusive evidence could be presented justifying such a step.

A test case will be made, it is understood, in behalf of Mingo Sanders, a sergeant in the Twenty-fifth, a veteran with a fine record, whose dozen or more honorable discharges bear testimony to his efficient service as a soldier and his character as a man. Sanders served in the army 25 years. He saw service in Cuba when Mr. Roosevelt was in the island as an officer of the famous Rough Riders, and it is related that on one occasion Sanders, at the solicitation of Colonel Roosevelt, furnished food of which the Rough Riders were very much in need.

It is said to be the program to introduce a bill providing that Sanders shall be cleared and his name restored to the rolls of the army. This will be putting the case up to the president with a vengeance. Nobody who knows the facts believes, however, that the president will make any exception for Sanders' benefit.

Trains Held Up by Maniac

Chicago, Dec. 27.—For six hours last night a maniac ran the railroad switch yards at Cavanaugh, Ind. He gained possession of the tower house, flagged every passenger and freight train that came along and with a coupling pin put to flight every train crew that made a protest. It was necessary to send a special train from Hammond with a score of deputy sheriffs to overpower the maniac.

Half of Town Destroyed

Santiago, Chile, Dec. 27.—Half of the town of Arica has been destroyed by an earthquake and other towns in that neighborhood have suffered more or less severely. With the recollection of the August disaster fresh in their minds, the people in the earthquake zone are greatly alarmed.

BLUEBEARD.

Two Different Stories as to Who Was the Original.

Like many of the other heroes of the nursery tales, Bluebeard once lived in the flesh and blood, if the old chronicler Holinshed, from whom Shakespeare got so much of his material, is to be believed. According to that writer, the original Bluebeard was Giles de Retz or de Raiz, marquis of Laval, who became marshal of France in 1429. He is described as an impious and debauched man, a devotee of the black art, who enticed young men and women to his castle and killed them in order to obtain innocent blood for his magical enchantments and who also murdered six or seven of his wives. His crimes were discovered, and he was burned at the stake in 1440 at Nantes.

According to an old French legend, however, the original Bluebeard lived in Britanny in the sixth century and was known as Count Conomer. After seven of his wives had disappeared he became enamored of Triphyna, the daughter of Count Guereck of Vannes. The wedding was celebrated at Vannes, and Conomer took his bride home.

Before a year had passed Triphyna noticed a change in her husband's manner, and, fearing the same fate that had met her predecessors, she fled from the castle, but was overtaken by Conomer, who struck off her head with a single blow. St. Gildas, by whom the unfortunate wife had been educated, happened to pass the spot soon after, and, seeing the body, he tenderly replaced the head and by prayer restored Triphyna to life. The story does not relate the end of Conomer.

PHYSICAL EXERCISE.

Effect of Boxing on the Mental and Moral Faculties.

Boxing is an exercise which is not only of the most marked benefit in a purely physical way, but it is of the utmost value as a means of training the mental and moral faculties. One of the most unfortunate whimsicalities of our very whimsical day is the prejudice against boxing as a sport and exercise. There is no sport in which there is provided such splendid exercise for body and mind and spirit as in boxing.

The physical influence of boxing is superb. Every muscle and organ is brought into active use. So far as mentality is concerned, the perception, imagination, judgment, discretion, self confidence, aggressiveness and will are all brought into active and rapid use. The boxer who fails in perceiving his opponent's intention, who misses in judging the power or reach of his blow, who is lacking in self confidence, will power or aggressiveness, who fails for one moment to remember all the weak points of the man against whom he is working—that boxer is likely to fail, to lose what we all value—that is, reputation, public confidence and income. Among the many sports and games which are of value in training the mind I place boxing as by all means the most valuable.—W. R. C. Latson, M. D., in Outing Magazine.

An Extraordinary Migration.

One of the greatest mysteries to scientists, one for which there seems to be no reasonable explanation, is that concerning the migration of the lemming, or Norway rat. Instead of taking place once a year, these migrations occur only once in eleven years. When the time comes for the exodus the little animals journey westward from Scandinavia, allowing nothing to stop their movements, which virtually amount to a headlong flight. They swim the lakes and rivers and climb the highest mountains in incalculable numbers, devastating the whole country through which they travel. Naturalists attribute the movement to some inherited memory of a flight to escape an expected cataclysm, but this seems somewhat far fetched.

An Old Roman Mint.

A completely equipped Roman mint was discovered in a cave in the neighborhood of Kayosovar, Hungary. Besides crucibles, which still contained bronze, there were three dies for the production of gold coins, dies of silver, bronze and iron ore and 300 coins. The investigation made showed that the workshop dated from the first century of the Christian era. A number of neatly worked earrings, bracelets and other objects of bronze, as well as tools, such as hammers and tongs, were also found.

The Yankee In German Eyes.

The Yankees are a joyous people. They are before everything optimists. Why should they not be? They dwell in a spacious land full of the treasures of the earth. They are not overladen with knowledge, but learn for practice, and during the greater part of the year a blue heaven stretches over them. For all those reasons the Yankees may well laugh. The Americans are, moreover, born humorists.—Berlin Woche.

Her Cost.

Young Jobson is of an exceedingly statistical turn of mind. He got married lately, and at the railway station he had his wife weighed; then he took out a little hand book and made some calculations, muttering: "Wedding expenses, ——; railway expenses, ——; divide by ——. I say, my dear, you have cost me exactly fourpence halfpenny a pound."—London Tit-Bits.

Not That Strap.

"Why don't you get up and give that seat to your father, Bobby?" reprimanded the woman. "Doesn't it pain you to see him reaching for a strap?"

"Not on a train," chuckled Bobby.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Traitors are hated even by those they favor.—Tacitus.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. VOTE OF THANKS

To Each Member Of City Council The Officers And Others

The last meeting of the year of the City Council of 1906 was held Thursday evening. It was also one of the longest sessions of the year. Debates were frequent and long. Parliamentary rules were brought up, points of order raised, and the ruling of the president frequently appealed from, and as frequently sustained by the Council. The meeting closed with the bestowing of bouquets upon everybody. Councilman Cannon was the only absentee.

JURORS.

The Mayor and City Clerk assisted by Councilman Bass, drew the following jurors: James P. Casey, George Sheppard, Arthur W. Stetson, Charles H. Scammell, John J. Hayes and James H. Cunningham.

JOURNAL READ.

Upon motion of Councilman Gilson the journal of the last meeting was read

Councilman Gilson then claimed that the names on votes by roll call should be recorded.

The President ruled that the records as read were correct.

Councilman Gilson appealed from the President.

The ruling of the President was sustained by the Council.

The records were then declared approved as read.

DOGS TO BE MUZZLED.

Mayor Thompson forwarded communications from the Inspector of Animals and from the cattle bureau relative to dogs that have the rabies. The Mayor recommended that the city comply with the suggestions of the bureau and inspector and order all dogs muzzled.

The communication was laid on the table until later in the evening when Councilman Bass offered an order that all dogs be restrained from running at large or be muzzled for a period of six months. Adopted.

The Committee on Streets reported reference to the next City Council on petition of the Electric Light Company for a location for poles. Adopted.

TELEPHONE SERVICE.

The Committee on Streets reported reference to the next City Council on various petitions of the Telephone Company for location for poles, attachments and underground conduits, with the following recommendations: "That no more petitions of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company be granted until such time as said company shall make a reduction in rentals charged for telephones for municipal purposes, give the subscribers of the Quincy exchange a five cent toll rate to the Boston exchanges, and improve the local service." Adopted.

The Committee on Public Grounds reported that it was inadvisable for the city to sell its salt marsh along the water front. Accepted.

SALARY OF FIREMEN.

Councilman Polk moved that order 253 be recalled from the Mayor. This is the order increasing salaries of permanent firemen.

Councilman Nichols thought it a new ruling if an order could go to the Mayor and then be recalled. He failed to see how such actions could be taken. He was unable to find any authority for such action. He asked the ruling of the chair.

President Piper ruled the order could be recalled.

Councilman Nichols appealed from the chair.

Councilman Bass endorsed the views of the last speaker. He believed it interfered with the Executive. The only way is by a request of the Mayor. He felt it a bad precedent to adopt.

Councilman Polk said that he had consulted the Mayor and it was with his approval.

Councilman Chase thought it in the power of Council to recall unless prohibited by the rules.

Councilman Bass this does not request the Mayor to return the order but demands it.

Mayor Thompson. The Chairman of the Finance Committee had communicated with him and said order did not conform to the vote of the committee. He had indicated his willingness that the order should be withdrawn. He felt that his consent had been given.

Councilman Nichols still believed the precedent to be a bad one.

Councilman Hull thought it seemed proper to recall the order. He asked the ruling of the City Solicitor.

City Solicitor Thomas ruled that the Council had no right to recall without the consent of the Mayor. A request to have the Mayor return the order would be proper.

By consent of the Council, Councilman Polk changed the form of his motion so as to read that the Mayor be requested to return the order.

The question was then on the appeal from the ruling of the President. The Council sustained the ruling.

The motion of Councilman Polk prevailed.

Councilman Gilson raised a point of order that the order could not be acted upon until the vote passing it had been reconsidered.

The chair ruled the order as properly before the Council.

Councilman Polk moved the vote passing the order be reconsidered.

Councilman McGilvary raised a point of order that the order could not be reconsidered.

The chair ruled the point well taken.

Councilman Polk then moved to suspend Rule 33. Voted.

Councilman Polk moved to reconsider the vote passing the order. Voted.

Councilman Polk then moved to amend by making the salary of the superintendent of fire alarm $17 instead of $19. His reason was that the Finance committee did not vote to increase the salary of this official, but in writing the report it had been increased. He merely wished the Council to have the facts of the matter.

Councilman Gilson raised a point that the motion could not be entertained.

The President ruled the point not well taken.

Councilman Gilson appealed from the ruling of the President.

The Council sustained the ruling.

Councilman Stone moved an amendment, to the amendment making the amount of salary $18. Voted.

The order was then passed to be ordained.

SIDEWALK ASSESSMENTS.

Upon motion of Councilman Polk, the communication from the Commissioner returning cost of permanent sidewalks was taken from the Finance committee. He then offered an order assessing the cost of one-half the sidewalks on abutters. Adopted.

SCHOOL PHYSICIANS.

Upon motion of Councilman Sawyer the order fixing the salary of school physicians was taken from the Committee on Ordinances. Councilman Sawyer moved the order be put on its passage. The order was then ordered to a second reading and it was given the reading. He then moved the rules be suspended. Voted.

Councilman McGilvray moved to amend by making the salary $200 instead of $100. He said that the physicians had to make from 160 to 240 calls a year and $200 was little enough.

Councilman Polk said the committee had considered this matter and it seemed best to make the amount $100 for the first year.

Councilmen Stone and Sawyer thought $100 all the city could afford.

Councilman Chase thought $100 too much. There was no absolute necessity for such medical attendance.

Councilman Hull believed the physicians would do all the work needed for $100.

The amendment of Councilman McGilvray was defeated.

Councilman Chase moved to amend by making the number of physicians two instead of five.

Councilman Polk thought two hardly enough.

Councilman McGilvray each physician has about 1,000 pupils to visit.

Councilman Spargo the opinion of the school committee was that there should be five.

Councilman Gross—Two is not enough to do the work.

Upon motion of Councilman Moir, Chairman Teasdale of the Board of Health appeared before the Council. In reply to questions he said that the matter had been fully considered. The physicians make ,two calls a week for forty weeks. They should receive compensation.

Dr. Whiton of the Board of Health appeared before the Council. He said there were no prescribed duties by the law. It was left to the Board of Health. The children who show any signs of sickness are sent to the physician ,when he calls. They were not allowed to treat them. Up to the present time they were doing the work free of charge.

Councilman Chase argued for two instead of five.

The motion to amend so as to make the number two was lost.

The order was than passed to be ordained, 16 voting in favor and three against as follows.

YES—Bass, Crane, Deacon, Donovan, Ferguson, Gelotte, Gilson, Gross, Hobbs, Hull, McGilvray, Moir, Polk, Sawyer, Spargo, Stone—16.

NO—Beal, Chase, Hunter—3.

ABSENT—Cannon, Flaherty, Nichols—3.

NOT VOTING—President Piper.

ORDERS PASSED.

Upon motion of Councilman Polk, order 275 refunding tax deed to Walter T. Fuller, was taken from the committee and passed.

Upon motion of Councilman Polk, order making transfer to the Police department was taken from the committee and passed.

Councilman Hobbs offered an order for $200 to make a skating pond on the Ward Six playground. Referred to the next Council.

COAL BILL.

Councilman Polk offered an order that the bills of C. E. Giles for coal furnished the Fire department, now in the hands of the City Auditor, be referred to the Mayor for settlement. He said that the bills were for $500 for coal furnished the Fire department in 1905. The Finance Committee were unable to get sufficient information as to the amount of coal and where delivered.

Councilman Hull from facts that he had been able to learn the bill was for coal delivered in 1906 but he had been told by those at the place where it was said the coal had been delivered, that none had been delivered.

Councilman Stone moved an amendment, that the order read that the bill be referred to the Mayor, striking out the words "for settlement."

Councilman Nichols—The amount of the bill is in excess of the appropriation for 1905. The bill stated that the coal was delivered between January 1, 1906, and February 1, 1906. The

JAPANESE CONTRACTS

Fore River Co At Work on Machinery for Battleships

The Fore River Shipbuilding Company has large contracts from the Japanese government which include the machinery for a first class battleship, and also for first class cruiser. Curtis turbines will be installed in these warships, showing the Japanese to be in advance of the United States.

Three inspectors from the Japanese navy are at the Quincy plant to inspect the work. The Herald comments as follows on these contracts:

While the dispatches from the East are variously estimating the extent of the war preparations which Japan is making in spite of her late war with Russia and the involved expense, the echo of these preparations can be heard within 20 miles of Boston. The United States is providing a large part of the armament for the Jap war vessels, and is shipping every month machinery for warships and other arts of the ocean fighting machines.

Down at the Fore River ship yards in Quincy the hammers sound on Japanese warship machinery and other parts of the war vessels of the Mikado's kingdom. Japanese officers oversee the work, Japanese apprentices are employed in the yards.

Admiral Francis T. Bowles, who is president of the Fore River yards, said Thursday night that the work there on Japanese machinery and the parts of war vessels had been going on for some time. The Japanese, of course, send men to see that it is done according to the wishes of the department at home, and a number of Japanese apprentices are employed in different parts of the yards.

The Tosu Maru, which arrived from Japan Thursday, brought the news that the sum of $100,000,000 was to be raised by special appropriations for new ships and the restoration of her present fleet. A great part of the armament to be used in building up the old fleet is made in America, under the same conditions as at the Fore River yards.

Moran's Ideas Embodied In Another Open Letter

NAMES SEVEN RESORTS

Says Present Method of Prosecution Is Equivalent to Semi-Annual License Fee--Wants Iron-Clad Law Enforced

Boston, Dec. 28.—Yesterday afternoon District Attorney Moran added a fresh chapter to his already voluminous correspondence with Police Commissioner O'Meara and the letter was given out for publication a few minutes after one of the district attorney's attaches had delivered the original at police headquarters. In his communication Moran requests Superintendent Pierce, to whom it is addressed, to take action against seven more questionable resorts, which he names on a separate sheet.

While the letter is addressed to Pierce, it really is meant primarily for the eye of the commissioner, the same as the others, all previous communications having been sent in the name of Pierce. In his letter Moran has this to say about the duties of the police:

"I do not dictate to you the policy you should pursue. I merely suggest what seems to me the duty of the police department. You are not to be deterred from performing your full legal duty, or from seeing that your subordinates perform their full duty, by the apparent disposition of certain men to rush into print in defense of the present deplorable condition of immorality existing in this city. Nor are you to be discouraged if the district attorney in the exercise of his judgment should determine to place on file or continue a case because of the age or illness of a defendant."

The district attorney goes on to suggest that the cases he refers to be prosecuted by the police under the so-called iron-clad law, which would requirement imprisonment for the first offense. He claims that most of the cases are now prosecuted on complaints under the nuisance act, which permits a fine instead of imprisonment, and that the fine usually is settled in the lower court.

The district attorney alleges that, in order to dodge imprisonment on the second offense, when another arrest is made, the real proprietor gets another to claim proprietorship. When a fine is imposed on the false proprietor the real proprietor settles. In this way imprisonment is avoided. This system is equivalent to a semi-annual license fee of $50, Moran states.

In concluding his communication, the district attorney says in part:

"To the end that all complaints should be acted on by the lower court under the so-called iron-clad law, I called on and conferred with Chief Justice Bolster of the municipal court.

"I suggested that you direct your subordinates to always ask for complaints under the so-called iron-clad law. Then imprisonment will be inevitable for the first offense. Should defendants appeal the district attorney's office will extend its fullest energies to co-operate with you in the prosecution and punishment of this class of offenders.

"No leniency will be shown in this class of cases except in cases of great age or illness, and then only when the district attorney is satisfied that the defendant has permanently abandoned the business, and that the ends of justice demand such leniency. If not interfered with by your superiors you ought to be able now to accomplish what your department did accomplish under the administration of General Martin."

Calling Moran "superficially brilliant," O'Meara last night announced that he had decided to follow the suggestion of Moran, for one week, in the attempt to get legal evidence against keepers of 15 houses whose integrity of conduct is under question by the district attorney, who says that he wants to give the grand jury next week information that may close up the alleged resorts.

Standard Controls Ohio Companies

Lima, O., Dec. 28.—The three defendant oil companies against which Attorney General Ellis filed ouster suits here have made answer, acknowledging that the Standard Oil company of New Jersey owns all but five shares of the capital stock of the Buckeye Pipe Line company, the Solar Refining company and the Ohio Oil company. Each company asks that the action be dismissed as to them.

Durand Is Congratulated

London, Dec. 28.—The departure from Washington of Sir Henry M. Supposed Heir to $50,000 Found In a Miserable Tenement

New York, Dec. 28.—Acting upon an anonymous letter, agents of the Children's society found a 5-year-old boy named Edmund Pullman, half starved and wrapped in rags, on the top floor of a tenement house here. The child's mother, who called herself Lillian Pullman, was taken to the children's court, where she declared that the boy was heir to a trust fund of $50,000.

She said that she had been married to George H. Pullman, whom she called a son of the palace car man, and that they had lived in Baltimore before coming to New York. Before the birth of the boy, Pullman, she said, arranged a trust fund for him of $50,000 which he was to have upon reaching the age of 21 years. Later, she continued, she had obtained a divorce from Pullman. She said she had been living with Cornelius Breslin, a bricklayer, about three years, but that he had been out of work lately.

The mother was released, but the boy was held in the custody of the society for further investigation. Those said to be familiar with the woman's history state that under the name of Lillian Mason, daughter of a physician of this city, she was about 10 years ago a stenographer in the employ of the National Red Cross society. George H. Pullman, said to be a nephew of the palace car man, was secretary of the society at that time, and Lillian Mason alleged that he married her in 1898. Subsequently, however, he successfully opposed this claim in the courts. Meantime the woman was dismissed from the Red Cross service.

Negro Soldier Assaults Woman

El Reno, Okla., Dec. 28.—A negro soldier of the Twenty-fifth infantry assaulted Mrs. T. S. Clifford, wife of a physician of this place, near the Rock Island station. Great excitement prevails and talk of lynching is heard on every hand. This is the same regiment of which three companies were dishonorably discharged by President Roosevelt. The negro viciously seized Mrs. Clifford around the waist and threw her into the street, exclaiming that the sidewalk belonged to him. Mrs. Clifford screamed and the assailant fled.

Posted on Japanese Question

Washington, Dec. 28.—United States District Attorney Devlin of San Francisco, who was called to Washington by Attorney General Bonaparte for a conference regarding the exclusion of Japanese pupils from the public schools of San Francisco, arrived in this city last night. He refused to discuss the Japanese question, declaring that any information given out would have to come from Bonaparte.

Concessions to Railroad Men

Cleveland, Dec. 28.—Beginning Jan. 1 the pay of all firemen on the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis railway (Big Four system) will be increased at an average raise of 7.77 percent. The new settlement contains important concessions to the men in addition to the wage increase. The new schedule provides that a day's work shall consist of 10 hours or of 100 miles of running.

Livestock Allowed to Suffer

Washington, Dec. 28.—Secretary Wilson has transmitted to the department of justice nine additional cases of alleged violation of the act of congress which provides that railroad companies shall not detain livestock on cars for a longer period than 28 hours without food and water, except with the consent of the owner of the stock, and then for no longer a time than 36 hours.

Roosevelt Family on Vacation

Charlottesville, Va., Dec. 28.--President Roosevelt and family and guests reached Pine Knot, Mrs. Roosevelt's cottage in the southern part of Albermarle county, at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Their outing will continue until Monday. The 12-mile drive from North Garden, which occupied nearly two hours, was a bracing one.

Race Row Has Subsided

Meridian, Miss., Dec. 28.—All the troops stationed at Scooba, the scene of the recent race troubles, returned yesterday afternoon in charge of Governor Vardaman, who went there to make a personal investigation of the situation. The condition there is reported quiet and all apprehension of further trouble has passed.

Bandit Raisuli to Lose Office

Tangier, Dec. 28.—It is persistently reported here that a letter from the sultan dismissing Raisuli from the governorship of the city will be read in the mosque. Troops marched yesterday to the residence here of Raisuli's representative and took over positions hitherto held by Raisuli's partisans, who departed without protest.

Servian Demonstration Likely

Belgrade, Dec. 28.—King Peter signed the loan bill yesterday. It is expected that next Sunday will witness a big public demonstration against this bill, which already has caused much political dissension.

SOCIETY AS A UNIT

Its Recognition Would Make a Fraternal Nation

ALL FOR COMMON GOOD

Lyman Abbott Tells How Labor and Capital May Rid Us of Individualism Which Has Inspired Our Country

Syracuse, N. Y., Dec. 28.—That the United States is passing from an age of individualism into one of fraternalism in which the government will take added responsibility for the welfare of the people, was the contention of Dr. Lyman Abbott of New York, who addressed the Associated Academic Principals in this city last night. He took for his subject "The Coming Age."

"In industrial activity," Dr. Abbott said, "we are moving from the principle of every man for himself toward what I call fraternalism, where the common good is the main consideration. Upon this country God has poured out untold wealth and we have said, 'Go in and get it,' and men have done it. A man of whom I knew put $60,000 into a gold mine and in two years, without doing a stroke of work or using his brain, took out $2,000,000

"This system is not just and we are going to leave it in the rear. When I say this I do not mean that we will leave it in the rear by socialism. Socialism assumes that all functions can be done by the government. This may be so, but it is not proven. We do not want the state to own all the tools of production, but we do want the democratization of industry and the control of industry by the people for their own good.

"A corporation is, in its essence, a democratic contrivance by which a large number of men combine their money and share in the distribution of profits. If a corporation was honestly administered it would be beneficial. The thing to do is not to destroy it, but to make it serve the purpose for which it was intended.

"What we want to do is to bring the corporations under the government control the same as we have the banks. A labor union is a fraternal organization. We want to make the unions broaden out and realize that labor and capital are partners in a common enterprise. The individualism which has inspired our country in the past has led to vices of self-conceit, self-will and greed. The remedy lies in the recognition of society as a unit.

"There are three streams running towards fraternalism—religion, government and industrial activity. Religion is not a purely personal affair as those who believe in individualism would have us believe. It is not true that a man's religion is no concern of his neighbor. Most of the Commandments have to do with the relations of men with others. Religion is social. Individualism has broken up the church into 300 denominations. We shall not get unity of the church of Christ by going back to the state where a few men determined our religion for us. That is paternalism in religion.

"In government, too, we are getting away from the old individualism. The old idea that the only function of government is to protect life and liberty and property is wrong. We no longer regard government as simply a night watchman. Municipal government owns water and lighting plants and exercises sanitary functions. The state educates the children; the federal government widens harbors and does many other things for the welfare of the people.

"The state is an entity which has a right to do for itself whatever it can do for the advantage of itself. The world has never seen a more inspiring sight than that of the education of all children by the state."

William McAndrews, principal of Washington Irving high school of New York, presented figures showing that the increase in wages during the past eight years had been 29 percent, and the general increase in the cost of living had been about 46 percent.

Gale Working Great Havoc

London, Dec. 28.—A terrific gale is raging off Holy Head and a number of vessels are reported in distress. The lifesaving service is busy in the work of rescue. The Japanese liner Awa Maru ran on the rocks off Redcar. The local lifeboats reached her after great difficulty and almost all of her crew of 120 men and the two passengers on board were landed safely after several hours of hard work.

Brownsville Inquiry Begun

Brownsville, Tex., Dec. 28.—M. D. Purdy, assistant United States attorney general, accompanied by Major Blocksom and W. W. Merchler, a confidential clerk to Secretary of War Taft, besides an official stenographer, have begun an investigation into the rioting of negro soldiers last August. It will probably require several weeks to complete the inquiry. The examination is conducted privately.

Buried In Tunnel Cavein

New York, Dec. 28.—Thomas Brown, a section foreman, is supposed to be buried under tons of sand in the Belmont East river tunnel. The laborers struck a fault in the earth and the inrush of water and sand drove them hurriedly from the shaft. Brown delayed to make sure of the escape of his men and was not seen after the accident.

BUT TWO CLASSES

Nation Composed of Very Rich and Miserably Poor People

WEALTH OF ROCKEFELLER

Assertion That It Is Not the Result of Natural Causes Is Replied To--Education and Training of American Citizens

New York, Dec. 28.—The concentration of wealth in the hands of comparatively few persons was vigorously denounced and just as earnestly defended at the opening sessions of the 57th annual meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. In a paper on "The Concentration of Wealth," Henry L. Call of Washington attacked the right of John D. Rockefeller to his fortune, asserting that it was not the result of natural causes, but had been created through the activity of corporations, which the speaker termed "vicious."

Mr. Call said that 50 years ago there were not to exceed 50 millionaires in the whole of the United States and their combined fortunes probably did not exceed $100,000,000, or 1 percent of the then aggregate wealth of the nation. Sixteen years ago the combined fortunes of this class were estimated at $36,500,000,000, or 56 percent of our national wealth. Today a bare 1 percent of our population, he said, owns practically 99 percent of the entire wealth of the nation.

"As a result of this wealth concentration," Call said, "industrial society is practically divided into the two classes of the enormously rich and the miserably poor. These conditions are not normal nor the result of natural law or causation, but are instead the result of a monopoly of land and mineral resources, of money, of transportation and other public utilities, as also of industry.

"The corporation should yet be made co-operative instead of, as now, the instrument of private greed. The ownership of public utilities, such as street railways, should be in the public, as also the control and distribution of money. The corporation principle and function should be extended to mines, as also to land in cities and elsewhere required for joint use and occupancy, with perhaps a reasonable restriction upon non-occupant ownership of land.

"Moreover, in the taking charge of these properties by condemnation proceedings, some restitution should be made to the public of these enormous and iniquitous accumulations of which it has been despoiled. In this complex situation manifestly the most just, as well as the most feasible solution, would be to fix some maximum limit as the amount which any man can be said to have acquired honestly or which he could have acquired under just conditions, all above such reverting to the public from the holdings in the corporations."

During a subsequent discussion of "The Evolution of Property" Louis G. McPherson, assistant to the late Samuel Spencer as president of the Southern railway, took occasion to reply to Call. He declared that Rockefeller had had his financial struggles and had done much good which was generally lost sight of in the criticism which success brought. He told of Rockefeller's early attempt to secure $25,000 with which to construct a pipe line for oil. One man, who refused aid, met the financier when the pipe line had been laid. To him Rockefeller said: "I built that pipe line to make oil cheaper, and I succeeded. I cut the cost more than half. And yet they find fault."

The feature of last night's session was the address of Dr. C. M. Woodward of St. Louis, the retiring president, who spoke on "The Science of Education."

Dr. Woodward agreed with Professor Huxley and others that there was no valid distinction between pure science and applied science, and pointed out that a healthy and timely growth and development of the brain was to be promoted by an education involving a great variety of activity, skillfully adjusted as to quality and quantity to the mental and physical status of the child.

"I see nowhere," he said, "in either ancient or modern times a people whose youth have been trained as our Americans should be trained. Neither Greece nor Rome, with their pinnacles of culture resting on the barbarous foundation of human slavery, nor the blooded aristocracies of modern times, can teach us how to educate, train and ordain an American citizen. We must not expect all our students to rule, nor yet all to be ruled; to direct, nor yet to be directed; to employ, nor to be employed. They must be capable of all these things.

"No narrow, selfish aim to prejudice or caste, no false claim of high culture which scorns service must mislead the growing, expanding minds. Give them a generous symmetrical training, open wide the avenue of usefulness, to happiness, to power, and this age of scientific progress and material wealth shall be also an age of high intellectual and social achievement."

Japanese Paupers Deported

El Paso, Tex., Dec. 28.—Immigration officers arrested five Japanese at Fort Hancock, out of a large number that was smuggled over, and all were deported to Mexico. Some of them had previously been rejected by immigration officers here, as all came under the pauper classification.

TORTURED DAY AND NIGHT

Rheumatism Crazes the Mind.

An Internal Blood Treatment Called Uric-O is Widely Recommended to Cure it.

Every sufferer from Rheumatism who wants to be rid of the sleepless nights, the nerve binding, muscle twisting hours of pain, should get at once a bottle of Uric-O, the marvelous specific for the cure of Rheumatism. It matters little how long one has suffered from the trouble nor how intense the suffering, Uric-O will cure it. It cures by its direct action upon the blood, muscles and kidneys; it neutralizes the rheumatic acid poison and drives it from the system. Druggists and Physicians everywhere are recommending Uric-O because they know that at last there has been a remedy prepared which actually cures the trouble and cures it to stay cured. It has stood all kinds of tests and never been found wanting. Uric-O is a cure for Rheumatism and for Rheumatism only. Mr. E. J. Murphy is the agent for Uric-O in Quincy, and he would be glad to meet all sufferers from the disease and explain the action of Uric-O on all forms of Rheumatism. The Smith Drug Co., of Syracuse, N. Y., are the makers of Uric-O, and will be glad to send any rheumatic a sample of this marvelous specific on request. They sometimes send a full sized bottle to people sending for samples.

Fate of All Suspicious Dogs In the Suburbs of Boston

Boston, Dec. 28.—The state cattle bureau chief, Dr. Peters, and the various city governments and boards of selectmen have taken prompt steps to end the careers of mad dogs, and to see that the long list of victims during the last two days, which was increased yesterday, receive proper treatment to prevent rabies. Already the first contingent has started for New York and the others follow today.

A post-mortem on the big St. Bernard killed in Wakefield Tuesday has shown that he had rabies in its worst form. Dr. Clark, the city veterinary, broke his knife and cut his hand during the dissection of the beast and he goes to New York, too, as it is feared the rabies-affected blood came in contact with his.

The police all over the metropolitan district are hunting for the Beachmont dog. The five children bitten there are to be treated by the Pasteur institute, at the expense of the town of Revere. Patrolmen there, as in Wakefield, Woburn, Melrose, Malden, Everett and other places in the Mystic valley, have been ordered to shoot on sight suspicious dogs.

Deer Raises Ructions

Lynn, Mass., Dec. 28.—A doe which ran into the center of the city from the outskirts caused much excitement last night. The doe, frightened by the pursuing crowd, jumped through a plate glass window in a tea and coffee store. Patrolman Linehan followed the animal in the store, which had been closed for the night, but the animal smashed a large number of crates of crockery and overturned many chests of tea and coffee before the crowd which had followed into the store through the broken window succeeded in holding the animal. A game warden took the doe to the Lynn woods and put it in care of a keeper there.

Flanagan Claims Immunity

Boston, Dec. 28.—A motion was filed in the superior criminal court to quash the indictment charging John W. Flanagan with keeping a common gambling house and a place to register bets on stock transactions, on the ground that Flanagan was immune from prosecution, as he had given evidence before a legislative committee during an investigation that incriminated himself. District Attorney Moran agreed with Flanagan's counsel and the matter was taken under advisement by Judge Sherman.

Suicide and Attempt at Murder

Boston, Dec. 28.—Fred L. Clark, aged 26, shot and probably fatally wounded his wife, Bertha, aged 22, at a lodging house at 1:30 o'clock this morning. Clark, thinking that he had killed the woman, killed himself with the revolver which he had used on his wife. Mrs. Clark was taken to a hospital and is in a critical condition. The couple recently arrived from Belfast, Me. Persons in the house where they were staying heard them quarreling just before the shooting occurred.

Complaint of Lumbermen

Manchester, N. H., Dec. 28.—The New Hampshire Lumbermen's association voted to secure counsel for the prosecution of alleged claims against the Boston and Maine railroad for overcharges said to aggregate $40,000. The action of the Lumbermen's association is based on a law passed in 1891, when it was provided that the railroad should not increase charges in the state for freight carrying, but should from time to time reduce them.

Dead Man's Name on Payroll

Boston, Dec. 28.—James P. Timility, a local politician, was fined $200 in the superior court for violating the civil service laws. The evidence showed that Timility, when foreman of the city paving division, carried the name of his father-in-law, William Craven, on the city payroll a year after Craven's death. Timility employed a relative to do Craven's work without undergoing a civil service examination.

To Penetrate Northern Maine

Bangor, Me., Dec. 28.—The full board of railroad commissioners met here for a hearing on the petition of the Bangor and Aroostook Railroad company to proceed with their survey of a new branch line. No remonstrants appeared and the commissioners granted the petition. The new branch will run from West Sebois for 145 miles to St. Francis, near the Canadian boundary.

Alleged Concealment of Assets

Boston, Dec. 28.—Charles D. Johnson, a former grocer and provision dealer, with three stores in Chelsea and one in Everett, was arrested on a charge of concealing assets from his trustee in bankruptcy. He was arraigned before Commissioner Hayes and pleaded not guilty. He was held in $1500 bail for a hearing. A brother furnished bonds.

Shot by Little Son

Baltic, Conn., Dec. 28.—The 6-year-old son of James B. Brown secured a 22-calibre revolver which had been left where he could get it and it was in some manner discharged, the bullet striking his mother in the head above the left ear. The ball was extracted and it is believed she will recover.

Wife Abandoned Civilized Life

Vienna, Dec. 28.—It is reported that Archduke Leopold of Austria, who abandoned his title and became Herr Woelfing in order to marry an actress, intends to secure a divorce. Leopold's wife has been a vegetarian. She finally joined a colony of "nature people," who live in caves, subsist upon uncooked vegetables, go practically without clothes and abstain from all civilized customs.

SEES IRREGULARITIES

Mayor of Boston Vetoes Order For New Telephone Franchise

Boston, Dec. 28.—Mayor Fitzgerald has filed with the city clerk his veto of the order passed by the board of aldermen giving a franchise to the Metropolitan Home Telephone company. The franchise permitted the company to extend its wires through all streets in the city, with the proviso that the company should give the city free service. The veto is based on the ground of irregularity in the matter of hearings and advertising, and on the failure to file maps and plans showing the exact location of poles and wires, also that it is against the public policy to grant such public franchise without some compensating feature.

The order giving the franchise passed the board of aldermen on Dec. 17 by a vote of 11 to 1. The mayor's veto will come up for action at the next meeting of the board, when a two-thirds vote of the 13 members will be necessary to pass the order, notwithstanding the adverse action of the mayor.

It is stated at city hall that should the aldermen pass the order over the mayor's veto the question of the legality of granting the franchise will be carried to the supreme court for a decision.

Ruined Crown Princess' Life

Brussels, Dec. 28.—Andre Giron, who achieved considerable notoriety three years ago by eloping with the then Crown Princess of Saxony, was married here to Joene Braem. Giron agreed to a pecuniary compromise with the family of the crown princess and then abandoned her. This elopement cost the crown princess the crown of Queen of Saxony, the loss of her children and expulsion from the imperial house of Hapsburg. Giron is 12 years younger than the woman he married yesterday.

Skipped While Under Bond

Newark, N. J., Dec. 28.—Carmine Comforti, wanted in Weymouth, Mass., on a charge of having attempted to murder his wife, had been at liberty under $1000 bail, pending the result of the extradition proceedings, and when the case was called in court yesterday he did not appear. His bond was declared forfeited and the authorities began a search for him. Two policemen from Weymouth had come here for the purpose of taking Comforti to Massachusetts.

Banker Sent to Jail

Chicago, Dec. 28.—W. J. Atkinson, proprietor of the defunct Lincoln bank, was sent to jail in default of $25,000 bonds. Attorney Ringer, acting for the receiver, and United States Marshal Hoy reported to Judge Landis that Atkinson had not given the receiver any material aid in adjusting the affairs of the bank and the marshal declared that his office could not spare a deputy to remain with Atkinson night and day.

Bryan Would Accept Nomination

Topeka Dec. 28.—In an interview here, William J. Bryan virtually admitted that he would be a candidate for the presidential nomination before the next national Democratic convention. "While I have not yet announced that I would be a candidate," said Bryan, "I have not stated that I would not be a candidate. Such a high honor as the presidential nomination is something that no American citizen should decline."

Black Hand Man Caught

New York, Dec. 28.—Police detectives who are making concerted efforts to break up the Black Hand gang operating so extensively in this city claim to have captured an alleged leader red-handed last night. Vincenzo Fote was arrested after receiving, according to the police, $250 which Giovanni Valentine, proprietor of a billiard room, had been frightened into giving him.

Scow Sunk With Human Freight

New York, Dec. 28.—A frail scow on which 15 Italian laborers started to cross the 75-foot canal at Lloyd's Neck, L. I., sank suddenly in midstream. One of the men was drowned and five others were revived with difficulty after they were rescued by crews of nearby craft. The remainder of the men on the scow swam ashore.

Want Food Without Working

Lodz, Dec. 28.—In view of the lockout which will begin in all the principal factories here tomorrow the Socialists are threatening to organize street fights and to compel citizens, at the point of the revolver, to feed and lodge the unemployed.

Used Carving Knife on Throat

New York, Dec. 28.—Mrs. Anna Klickehart, 52 years old, wife of a retired druggist, died in the apartments of the family last night, two hours after her throat had been cut with a carving knife. The wound is believed to have been self-inflicted.

Car Crashed Into Laborers

New York, Dec. 28.—A street car struck and overturned a truck filled with homeward-bound laborers in Harlem last night. One of the latter was killed outright and three others injured, two of them perhaps fatally.

Bishop Fined For Assault

Nancy, France, Dec. 28.—The correctional court here fined Bishop Turinaz $10 for striking a gandarme on the occasion of the former's expulsion from the Episcopal residence here.

Dickens Party.

An entertainment called a Dickens Party has been for some time in preparation and will be given in the Wollaston Unitarian vestry this evening under the auspices of the Alliance. The entertainment will include a reception given by Mr. and Mrs. Boffin, of "Our Mutual Friend," to a goodly number of well known characters from Dickens land. There will also be sketches from several of Dickens' works. Among those who take part are several old favorites who in years past have been prominent in theatricals and whom it is always a pleasure to see and hear, as well as many young people, new-comers and friends from Quincy and elswhere, who have kindly volunteered their help. The sketches given will include an abridged version of the "The Cricket on the Hearth," and scenes from Nicholas Nickleby, David Copperfield, Martin Chuzzlewit, Oliver Twist, and the Old Curiosity Shop.

Sudden Death At Wollaston

Miss Florence Buxton, a very estimable Wollaston young lady, died suddenly Thursday night at her home on Wayland street, aged 24 years. She was the daughter of Mrs. Susan Buxton.

The family formerly resided on Walker street, Atlantic, where Mr. Buxton died a few years ago.

Miss Buxton was a talented young lady, an accomplished violinist and singer, and proficient with the needle.

She enjoyed the social gatherings of the young people, and was engaged to to a popular young man of Wollaston. Her many friends mourn her untimely death.

Mrs. Flannigan.

The funeral of Mrs. Catherine Flannigan was held Thursday. In the morning a requiem mass was celebrated at St. Johns church by Rev. John J. Casey. The body was not taken to the church owing to the non arrival of a brother from St. Louis. In the afternoon the body was taken to the church where the commital service was held. The burial was at St. Mary's cemetery. The bearers were Angus McDonald, Alex McDonald, Angus McArthur, Lanshlin Steele, Dennis McCormick, James McInnis.

The funeral of Mrs. Plina, widow of Thomas C. Bates and her son, John T. Bates, who died within a day of each other, was held Thursday afternoon from Halls undertaking rooms. The services were conducted by Rev. Dr. E. N. Hardy. The burial was at Mt. Wollaston cemetery.

—Next Thursday will be Inauguration day at the State House.

Public Interest

IS NOW CENTERED ON

The Pure Food Law.

WE Have Always Maintained that the best that money could buy was alway the cheapest in the end, because it is always the bargain hunters that have to pay the DOCTOR, buying as they do IMPURE foods of all kinds, FOODS that are UNFIT for ANY PERSON'S STOMACH, being mixed as they are with different kinds of PRESERVATIVES and SECRET PREPARATIONS to take the place of GOOD PURE FOODS. And some dealers selling these goods at a GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICE over the pure kind, GUARANTEE you NOTHING, but—"Poor Health to You and Your Family," and although you can buy the "just as good kind," you can save nothing as that kind is unhealthy and dangerous to the whole human family. Now our standard is to always sell the best of everything and the steady increase of our business year after year proves to us that we have the right idea, and we know it must be very satisfactory to our many customers to feel that what they buy at our store is ABSOLUTELY PURE and HEALTHFUL and the Food Laws are being strictly enforced by us. Our Goods are all GOVERNMENT INSPECTED and also carefully inspected by us before they are put on sale or sent to your homes, and although you pay perhaps a few cents more to us than some dealers charge, don't you think it is money well spent, considering all things?—YOUR HEALTH, which is the greatest blessing we can have,—think well about this and we know you will agree with us and do your trading where you know the goods can be depended upon to be absolutely Pure.

We have just received our season's pack of choice canned and bottled goods, FRESH and DRIED FRUITS, all kinds of Cereals, Ketchup, Pickles, Jams, Jellies, Prunes, Figs, Nuts, Dates, Table Raisins, Citron, Lemon and Orange Peel, Olives, Sardines,—in fact everything for your tastes and fancies. All the leading brands of FLOUR. Fancy New Orleans Molasses.

OUR MARKET is complete, AND REMEMBER, we sell nothing that has been doctored or filled with Preservatives to keep it. ABSOLUTELY NOTHING but Carefully Selected Meats are on sale at OUR STORE. Stamped with the Government Inspection Stamp, that insures to you and to us the point of perfection, which we are always striving to reach for the benefit of our trade.

We will have a grand display of that great National Bird, THE TURKEY, the same VERMONT KIND we have always sold you,—Chicken, Fowl and Duck, direct from WILLIAM R. DRAKE of Braintree, and he knows how to dress them so as to please the eye as well as the palate. They don't grow nicer than he has. Fruit and vegetables in abundance, and don't forget our famous LA TOURAINE COFFEE, no dinner complete without it.

Yours Respectfully,

JOHNSON BROS., CITY SQUARE

1422 HANCOCK STREET. Quincy, Dec. 19-pl tf

committee called various persons before them and found that not a pound of coal had been delivered between the dates specified. Mr. Giles himself admitted that he delivered no coal between these dates. It was not the duty of the Council to ascertain if the bill was correct. Later in the year an amended bill was sent which specified that coal was delivered in 1905. He believed it was for the executive to find out if the coal was delivered then to apply to the city council for an appropriation if needed.

The amendment of Councilman Stone was adopted and the order adopted.

SALARIES.

Upon motion of Councilman Polk, the order increasing the pay of call firemen was taken from the committee and referred to the next City Council.

Upon motion of Councilman Chase the order fixing the salary of the inspector of buildings was taken from the committee.

The rules were suspended that the order might be put upon its passage.

Councilman Chase then moved the order be amended so as to make the salary $1000 instead of $500.

The amendment was lost.

The order was then passed to be ordained.

Upon motion of Councilman Polk, all matters before the committees of the Council were referred to the next Council.

Councilman Polk moved and it was voted that the thanks of the Council be extended to the President for the faithful and impartial manner in which he had presided over the Council for the past year.

Councilman Stone was called to the chair to put the motion.

President Piper then thanked the members of the Council for their vote. He had endeavored to act it in an impartial manner and he wished to thank all for their support.

Upon motion of Councilman Sawyer, a vote of thanks was extended to the clerk.

Upon motion of Councilman Polk, a vote of thanks was extended to the City Auditor.

Councilman Nichols moved a vote of thanks to the City Messenger which was voted.

Councilman Hull moved a vote of thanks to the retiring councilmen. Voted.

Councilman Sawyer moved a vote of thanks to the press. Voted.

Councilman Nichols moved a vote of thanks to each and every member of the Council. Voted.

Councilman Gilson moved a vote of thanks to the Mayor. Voted.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

The Social Realm

One year ago,—what loves,—what schemes,
Far into life!
What joyous hopes, what high resolves,
What generous strife!
One year,—one year,—one little year,
And so much gone!
And yet the even flow of life
Moves calmly on.
—Harriet Beecher Stowe.

HIGH SCHOOL

Furnishings May Cause Delay in Opening On Wednesday

There is but little question but what a number of rooms at the High school building will be ready for the occupancy of the pupils when schools reopen next Wednesday.

There are now eighteen rooms that are practically completed as far as the contractor is concerned. All of the walls are not tinted as yet but it is said they will be before Wednesday.

The floors in the corridors of the old part are down, the mosaic floors of the entrance hall are down, and the entrance doors are in place. The stair railing on the lower floor is in place and the contractor says that it will be but the work of an hour or more to have the others in place.

The electrical workers have not completed their work. For some reason there appears to be a delay here.

If the rooms are not ready for occupancy next Wednesday it will be on account of the furnishings. During the past few days several two horse loads have arrived each day, but it has not been put in place as yet. Mr. Lord, brother of the contractor, who is in charge of the building says that some one is slow in getting the furnishings in the building and in position.

Taking the building as a whole the rooms are well along toward completion. The assembly hall and gymnasium will be the last to be completed. Work on the assembly hall was held up over two months while trying to find some way to suspend the gallery.

The original plan called for the gallery to be suspended by iron rods running into a truss. When the time came to put in the rods, however, it was found that the plans were wrong, for the iron rods did not come anywhere near the trusses. It was necessary to devise some special scheme for holding up the gallery, and as noted above this caused a delay of that particular part.

During the past few days teams have been at work carting off the debris that had collected on the school grounds so that the pupils can get into the building without danger of falling over some object.

If the furnishings are in place school can be opened next Wednesday as contemplated. Pupils should read Monday's Ledger, as instructed, for notice of Superintendent of Schools.

The services at Bethany church on Sunday will be of special interest to the public. At the morning service the Christmas music will be repeated and Dr. C. H. Talmage of Taunton, a brilliant speaker, will preach. In the evening Dr. Hardy will speak, "The Ledger Book of Life."

DICKENS PARTY

Well Known Ladies and Gentlemen As Characters

The vestry of the Wollaston Unitarian church was transformed into Dickensland last evening, under the auspices of the Alliance and the direction of Mrs. H. G. Fay. The party was opened by a reception held by Mr. and Mrs. Boffin of "Our Mutual Friend" to a goodly number of well known characters from Dickens' works. Silas Wegg as Master of Ceremonies announced the guests with a ridiculous rigamorole which created much laughter.

The characters were all well represented and the costuming, acting and appearances carried us back to those good old times long ago as revealed by Mr. Dickens.

The characters were:

John and Bella Harmon,—Mr. Collyer and Miss E. Thayer.

Jennie Wren and Lizzie Hexam,—Miss Greene and Miss Bula Loud.

Nicholas and Kate Nickleby,—Mr. J. Simmons and Mrs. Gurney.

Crazy man and Mrs. Nickleby,—Mr. and Mrs. Simmons.

Mrs. Kenwigs and children,—Mrs. Lacey, Anna Weston and Theodosia Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Mantelini,—Mr. Chas. Seavey and Miss C. Thayer.

Esther Summerson and Lady Dedlock,—Mrs. Parlin and Mrs. Charles Crane.

Mr. Bumble and Mrs. Carney,—Mr. E. Boyce and Mrs. Boyce.

David Copperfield and wife,—Mr. Stearns and Miss Barnes.

Betsey Trotwood and Mr. Dick,—Mrs. Bennett and Mr. Lacey.

Mr. and Mrs. Micawber,—Mr. Chas. Baker and Mrs. Curtis.

Mrs. Gummidge and Mr. Traddles,—Mrs. Charles Baker and Mr. Clifton Baker.

Mrs. Dombey and her mother,—Miss Comins and Mrs. Comins.

Mrs. Leo. Hunter and Mr. Pickwick,—Mrs. Smith and Mr. George Weston.

Dick Swiveller and The Marchioness,—Mr. Greene and Mrs. Park.

Martin Chuzzlewit and Mary,—Mr. Fred Thayer and Mrs. Collyer.

Jonas Chuzzlewit and Merry Pecksniff,—Mr. Schumacher and Mrs. Bean.

Mr. Pecksniff and Cherry,—Mr. Emery Crane and Mrs. Chandler.

Sairey Gamp and Betsey Prig,—Mrs. Nickerson and Mrs. Jameson.

Dolly Varden and mother,—Miss Helen Barnes and Mrs. Barnes.

J. Perrybingle and wife,—Mr. Arnold and Miss Margaret Barnes.

Tilly Slowboy and Mr. Tuckleton,—Miss Marjorie Fay and Mr. Edward Hall.

Caleb Plummer and Bertha,—Mr. Loring and Miss Bates.

Stranger and May Fielding,—Mr. W. Weston and Miss Hall.

The sketches given included scenes from Oliver Twist, Nicholas Nickleby, David Copperfield, Martin Chuzzlewit and the Old Curiousity Shop.

An abridged version of the "The Cricket on the Hearth" was to have been given, but owing to the unexpected prolongation of the program it had to be omitted. It is hoped that it will be given as a special performance later, as the strong acting by the young people is always enjoyed.

The scenery was very good and effective, setting off the actors to the best advantage. The garden scene in "A Romantic Episode," needs especial mention. Music was rendered during the evening by Mrs. Leo Hunter and Mrs. C. W. Smith.

Dickens loved Christmas and Christmas festivities and that was one reason why this entertainment seemed particularly appropriate for the holiday season.

Exalted Ruler Daniel J. Deasy and members of Quincy lodge, B. P. O. Elks, attended yesterday morning the funeral of John D. Coyle. They preformed their burial service at the house at Nantasket previous to taking the body to the church at Hingham.

"PRUSSIAN LOAN"

Probe Results In Indictment of Perkins and Fairchild

ARE HELD FOR FORGERY

Grand Jury's Finding Was Under Strict Interpretation of the Law as Laid Down by Jerome --Alleged False Statements

New York, Dec. 29.—The grand jury which for the past month has been investigating the affairs of the New York Life Insurance company returned indictments charging forgery in the third degree against George W. Perkins, former vice president of the New York Life and a member of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., and Charles S. Fairchild, a former secretary of the treasury, president of the New York Security and Trust company (now out of existence) and a member of the finance committee of the insurance company.

Perkins was in court when the indictments were announced. He was formally arraigned, entered a plea of not guilty and gave bond in the sum of $10,000, his sureties being J. P. Morgan, Jr., and Cleveland H. Dodge. Fairchild is at present in Europe.

Six indictments were returned against each of the two defendants, but all are based on the one transaction known as the "Prussian loan," the specification under the charge of forgery being the falsification of bookkeeping entries. It is alleged that certain railway stocks were transferred by the insurance company to the Security and Trust company in order to comply with the Prussian law, but that the transfer was not bona fide.

The grand jury coupled with the indictments a presentment in which the jurors placed themselves on record as being convinced that in doing the acts charged against them Perkins and Fairchild were "influenced by a desire to benefit the policyholders." The grand jury further says the indictments were returned only under a strict interpretation of the law as it was laid down to them by District Attorney Jerome.

It had been an open secret for two days that Perkins would probably be indicted and his counsel had had several consultations with the district attorney. The indictment of Fairchild came as a complete surprise, for he had not been publicly connected with the present investigation.

It was said at the criminal courts building that the discharge of the December grand jury, which followed the presentment of the insurance indictments, does not end the law's inquiry into the affairs of the New York Life. The inquiry will probably be continued by the January grand jury.

The New York Security and Trust company, of which Fairchild was president, was, at the time of the "Prussian loan," controlled by the New York Life Insurance company, which held the majority of the stock. The railway shares were transferred by the New York Life to the Security and Trust company and it is contended that if a crime was committed Fairchild, as president of the trust company, must have been cognizant of it and therefore a party to the transaction.

The "Prussian loan" matter was developed during the Armstrong investigation. Some years ago the Prussian government adopted a law which excluded all American insurance companies from doing business in that country. The American Life Insurance companies were doing an extensive business in Prussia at the time and the law was a serious blow to them. They made an effort at once to re-establish themselves by a compliance with the new law. As a result of their efforts a Prussian commission was appointed and came to this country to investigate the various companies which wished to resume business in Prussia. Among these was the New York Life. The commission returned to Prussia with the recommendation that the companies be permitted to resume writing insurance upon compliance with the one demand that they should sell any and all stocks held by them as securities, it being a fundamental principle and theory of Prussian law that no insurance company should accept or hold as collateral any stock, no matter how well it might be secured. Only bonds were permissible.

To meet this demand the New York Life agreed to sell 10,000 shres of Chicago and Northwestern preferred and 5300 shares of Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, preferred, which it held. It is now charged that instead of selling this stock outright, the company merely transferred it to the New York Security and Trust company, a subsidiary concern, where it was held in trust, not being actually disposed of until about one year later, when it was sold on the Stock Exchange at a profit to the company of $155,000. The Chicago and Northwestern brought a profit of $250,000, while the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul stock showed a loss of $95,000.

Soldier on the Rampage

El Reno, Okla., Dec. 29.—Resisting an attempted holdup in his laundry last night, Lee Sung was shot and severely wounded by a negro who wore the uniform of the United States army. The assailant escaped. The numerous outrages perpetrated by negroes, believed to be discharged soldiers of the Twenty-fifth infantry, have aroused public sentiment to white heat.

OVER MAYOR'S VETO

Boston Aldermen Favor Granting New Telephone Franchise

Boston, Dec. 29.—By a vote of 11 to 2, the board of aldermen passed over the veto of Mayor Fitzgerald the order granting a franchise in this city to the Metropolitan Home Telephone company, an independent organization which is seeking to do business in Boston.

The original order granting a franchise to the Metropolitan Home Telephone company passed the board by a vote of 11 to 1, one member being either absent or not voting. On Thursday Fitzgerald sent his veto message to the members of the board, and at yesterday's meeting there were no absentees. Alderman Linehan, who originally opposed the order, voted to sustain the mayor's veto, and he was supported by Alderman Bangs, who had previously voted in favor of a franchise.

It is understood that the matter of a franchise will now be contested in the courts by interested parties.

Bound Arms and Drowned Himself

Marblehead, Mass., Dec. 29.—The body of Theodore Stone, past grand sachem of the Order of Red Men of Massachusetts, was found in the water off Marblehead neck. The corpse was standing upright in the water, the feet being imbedded in the mud, while the arms were bound close to the body with a clothesline, which left freedom of movement only to the wrists and hands. A note written by Stone was found at his home here, saying that he was about to commit suicide and bidding good-bye to his family. It is believed that in a fit of mental abherration he bound his own arms and walked into the water.

Faithful Service Rewarded

Boston, Dec. 29.—The Boston Elevated Railway company distributed about $60,000 in gold among its car service employes today as a special reward for good conduct and satisfactory service during the year 1906, nearly 4000 men receiving gold pieces. The rule of the company is that all employes who have been in the car service six months or longer will receive $15 each, provided that service has been satisfactory.

May Not Have Been Suicide

Providence, Dec. 29.—Mystery enters into the circumstances surrounding the death of Walter A. Bowen, aged 51. When found the gas was escaping from an open jet and appearances seemed to point to suicide, but the element of uncertainty is added to the case by a postive statement from Mrs. Mary McGrath, who lives down stairs in the house, that she heard footsteps in the tenement above.

Held Responsible For Wreck

Meriden, Conn., Dec. 29.—Probable cause was found against Engineer Easton, charged with manslaughter, and he was bound over to the superior court. Easton was held responsible for the wreck at Yalesville, which resulted in the death of Conductor Leahy, whose train was run into by two mogul engines driven by Easton. The accused man testified that no signal was set against him.

City May Have Own Ice Plant

Holyoke, Mass., Dec. 29.—The Holyoke water board has taken preliminary action for the establishment of a municipal ice plant as a result of the scarcity of ice and its high price last summer. It was voted that the board should introduce a petition in the legislature for the passage of an act enabling it to cut ice on public reservoirs and store and sell the same.

Wife Murder Charged

Putnam, Conn., Dec. 29.—The grand jury brought in a true bill of murder in the first degree against Najeeb Berberie, an Assyrian peddler, who is charged with having given his wife carbolic acid while she was in a stupor resulting from intoxicants and which caused her death. The case will probably be tried in February.

Burned to Death In His Home

Somersworth, N. H., Dec. 29.—Henry H. Brackett, aged 60, was found last night burned to death under a bed in his house, where he had lived alone since the death of his wife in April last. It is supposed that Brackett rolled under the bed in trying to smother flames which had communicated to his clothing from an upset lamp.

Serious Charge Against Doctor

Salem, Mass., Dec. 29.—Dr. O. G. Cilley, a Boston physician, was arrested on a charge of performing an illegal operation upon Mrs. Ora M. Shapleigh. Mrs. Shapleigh died Thursday. Dr. Cilley was brought here last evening by officers of the state police. He was held in $5000 for a hearing in the local court later.

Price of Coal Goes Up

Boston, Dec. 29.—The price of all grades of coal was advanced 25 cents a ton in this city yesterday. Dealers gave as a reason for the additional charge the keen demand and the difficulty they are experiencing in securing shipments promptly, owing to the congestion of freight on the railroads.

Cutting Ice on the Kennebec

Gardiner, Me., Dec. 29.—Twelve-inch cakes of ice of excellent quality are being harvested at Randolph, where the first extensive operations on the Kennebec river have begun. The fields at the other Kennebec houses are not in readiness.

Coroner's Finding In Shooting Case

Providence, Dec. 29.—The report of Coroner Lincoln on the death of Luigi Tedesco finds that Tedesco came to his death as a result of a bullet wound in the head from a revolver in the hands of Antonio Ricca.

PANAMA CANAL FLOOD.

Greatest Local Inundation Since 1879 Barely Stopped Work.

SUSPENDED FOR ONLY TWO DAYS.

Excavation for Miles Converted Into a Torrential Stream by the Obispo River — Everything Under Water. Prompt Measures Prevent Suffering Among Laborers — Digging Very Quickly Resumed.

Although the fact is little known and less appreciated in the United States, the Panama canal suffered on Dec. 3 last from the worst flood recorded on the isthmus since 1879, writes the New York Herald's Washington correspondent.

The great ditch between Empire and Las Cascadas which is the region where much of the great excavation will be done, was, by the overflow of the Obispo river, converted into a torrential stream. The Obispo poured into the canal in a volume 125 feet wide and 25 feet high, submerging all work tracks, surrounding every steam shovel so deeply as to cover the working machinery and bringing all work to a standstill.

Despite the violence of this flood, which came almost at the end of the rainy season, Chief Engineer John F. Stevens is congratulating himself on the manner in which the canal withstood nature's attack. The flood caused general suspension of the canal work for only two days, he said.

"The result," Mr. Stevens declares, "satisfies me the canal work is not likely to be seriously retarded by flood. This was the worst since 1879. Within thirty-six hours after its occurrence trains on the Panama railroad, which is necessary to the continuance of the work, were in motion. It is against the Panama railroad that the flood is most dangerous. The extent to which the canal can be damaged is only the extent to which the railroad can be injured."

The Obispo river runs very close to the canal at certain points. It is fed by rivers and creeks from the mountains and in the rainy season frequently rises to great heights. Such was the case on Nov. 3. The gap where the river broke into the canal cut during the president's visit was filled up with a mass of old French dump cars and earth, the whole forming a dam. The downpour of Dec. 2 and the early hours of Dec. 3 subjected this dam to a fearful strain. The dump cars, according to reports received in the canal commission offices at Washington, held together, but the pressure was so great that one end of the improvised dam was swept away, and the river poured into the canal cut.

The water thus emptied into the canal took a current of about twelve miles an hour toward Las Cascades, north of Empire, in the direction of Colon, the Caribbean terminal of the canal. The steam shovels were so far submerged that their great cranes stuck into the air like huge bowsprits on tugboats.

Chief Engineer Stevens received at his headquarters in Culebra on Monday evening, Dec. 3, reports from various points, which showed that the flood was unusual. Indications were that the torrent in the canal menaced life at various work villages along the line. Most of the labor quarters are located on high ground. The flood made it impossible to operate railroad trains between Empire and points farther north. Although the isthmus is only forty-seven miles wide, it was impossible on this day to traverse it.

Chief Engineer Stevens ordered a special train to be sent from La Boca, the Pacific terminal of the canal, carrying three whaleboats to Matachin. The master mechanic in charge of the great machine shops at that point had reported the entire plant was at least one foot under water and lives were endangered. By direction of Jackson Smith, superintendent of labor and quarters, food was prepared for a hundred men to be sent to the scene of the trouble.

Word was received by telegraph early the following morning that General Manager Beird of the Panama railroad had reached Bohio from Colon. Failing to progress farther by engine, he had utilized a skiff only eighteen feet long. With him in this frail craft were four men.

Chief Engineer Stevens ordered out his engine and flat car and pushed through the water north of Tabernilla for about two miles, the farthest point he could reach. A wait was made for Mr. Beird's boat, which when it finally arrived floated gently upon the floor of the flat car.

Within three hours after the cessation of the rain which caused the flood Division Engineer Bolich, in charge of the work in Culebra cut, made a trip through the flooded district. Although the unfettered Obispo was pouring its waters into the canal, the steam shovel crews had reported for work at the usual hour and were gathered on the banks of the cut at the points nearest to their respective shovels.

"There was not a single complaint," says a report received at the commission offices from Panama. "Every one was cheerful. All the exclamations and expressions seemed to be either of regret that the total 'yardage'—the amount of earth removed during a certain period—would be affected for the month of December or of determination that despite this disaster the 'yardage' should not be reduced. Of the twelve shovels placed out of commission all day Monday, Dec. 3, by reason of the flood six were at work late on Tuesday.

HISTORY OF 1906

The World's Chief Events and Tendencies of a Year Outlined In Orderly Array For Busy Readers Who Want to Be Well Informed.

By EDWIN S. POTTER,
Editor Universal News Analysis.

Higher and Higher Sweeps Prosperity's Tide

Look first at the enormous product won from the soil by the American machine-and-science-aided farmer. Secretary Shaw has figured that out for us within the past month—an output valued at $6,794,000,000, a total $324,000,000 bigger than last year's. In the crop realm corn was king at a valuation of $1,100,000,000. Agricultural exports reached the high water mark of $976,000,000.

All of the great railroad and industrial corporations have reported increased earnings, have paid higher dividends and increased capital stock, while many have cut luscious surplus melons—notably Hill's hundred million ore deal distribution, the Pullman $35,000,000, the United States and Wells Fargo Express companies' forced division. Even Steel common resumed a 2 per cent dividend.

Trusts have gobbled trusts, and, despite the rate law, rebate prosecutions and "Jungle" book exposures, the concentration of capital interests has gone forward, a new feature being the formation of huge holding companies in England, which was disclosed in the Findlay trial of the Standard Oil company and was reported in connection with the beef trust. The glucose trust was absorbed by the oil trust in January. The Amalgamated Copper company absorbed the Heinze interest, and two gigantic new trusts were formed—the American Farm Produce company, with $20,000,000 capital, and a $40,000,000 rubber company to exploit the Kongo concession—both financed and controlled by the Ryan-Whitney interests.

But it was especially in the railroad business that the movement toward centralization was evident, and here the dominant figure of the year was that of E. H. Harriman, who in January pushed a subsidiary line into Seattle, in July bought up the Baltimore and Ohio stock which the Pennsylvania people had dropped, in November triumphed over Fish by placing Harahan at the head of the Illinois Central and thus made himself master of a 29,000 mile transcontinental railway system almost without a competitor. In response to the law in Ohio and public opinion elsewhere the Pennsylvania inaugurated a two and a half cent fare and 2 cents on thousand mile tickets. The Erie, Lackawanna, New Haven and other lines followed suit.

E. H. Harriman.

Lawson's insurance attack took final shape in the formation of the International Policy Holders' committee, managed by Samuel Untermyer, and a costly campaign was waged with the existing management for control of these companies in the elections decreed by the new Armstrong law.

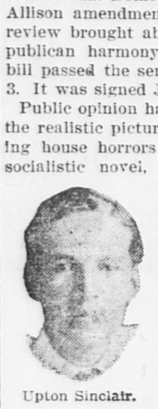

Whether you consider that labor has got its full share of prosperity or not, it is a fact that in nearly every industry wages have been advanced during the past year, sometimes on demand of the unions and sometimes voluntarily by employers. The dread of a great miners' strike which disturbed the business public when the year was young became acute in the Indianapolis conference of soft coal operators and miners FEB. 26, when the operators refused the demand of the men for a twelve and a half cent increase. At this point President Roosevelt appealed to both sides to get together, and when Robbins, the Pittsburg operator, agreed to a 5 per cent increase it was only a matter of time when all of the soft coal men had come to terms on the compromise of a 5.55 increase for two years, with certain concessions from the men. The hard coal trust, however, held out, and a strike was actually called APRIL 1, but after surrendering practically all of their demands in the interest of peace and under the leadership of President Mitchell the miners finally, MAY 7, agreed to a three year renewal of the arbitration board award on a basis that seemed to them a recognition of the union, which was, however, denied by the operators.

Another strike, which was begun JAN. 1 and which lasted through the year, was that of the job printers for an eight hour day. The lithographers struck for the same cause, AUG. 2. Alabama miners ended a two years' strike by referendum, AUG. 20. Fall River cotton mills restored twelve and a half cent wage cut JULY 1, and NOV. 26 submitted to a 10 per cent increase. During October and November the railroads, beginning with the Pennsylvania, agreed to a general wage increase in all classes of work, and this example was followed by the steel trust, the oil trust and other large corporations. The demand for labor in the west exceeded the supply. Chicago inaugurated its new freight subway, AUG. 15. The New York Central ran its first suburban electric train OCT. 1. The Colorado river was at last turned into its original channel, OCT. 24, but steps were taken to preserve the Salton sea as it is.

Federal Powers Extended By a Rooseveltian Congress

Hardly was the Fifty-ninth congress under full headway last January when it became apparent that much muck raking had prepared favorable soil for the propagation of remedies either conceived or adopted by President Roosevelt. His message had struck the keynote of the session by insisting on federal regulation of interstate railroad rates. A bill to this end, introduced by Hepburn of Iowa, was put through the house, FEB. 8, without Democratic opposition, the Democrats claiming priority in advocating the policy for which it stood. Aldrich and Foraker led the conservative opposition in the senate, securing numerous amendments and forcing the president to a virtual Democratic coalition. The Allison amendment for a broad court review brought about a degree of Republican harmony, however, and the bill passed the senate, FEB. 18, 71 to 3. It was signed JUNE 29.

Public opinion had been so stirred by the realistic picture of Chicago's packing house horrors in Upton Sinclair's socialistic novel, "The Jungle," that the president sent two experts, Messrs. Neill and Reynolds, to verify the fictionist's statements. Their report was so far confirmatory that it was first used as a secret lever to bring the senate to pass the Beveridge inspection bill and later was made public to force house action. Amended so as to place costs on government and omit label dates, the bill became a law.

Upton Sinclair.

One other important measure involving the use of new federal powers was the pure food bill.

Under the leadership of Speaker Cannon a Republican insurrection against joint statehood for Arizona and New Mexico was crushed. The bill finally emerged from conference under a compromise agreement providing for the admission of Oklahoma and Indian Territory as the state of Oklahoma and authorizing Arizona and New Mexico to hold a plebiscite on joint statehood next fall. This became a law JUNE 16.

Other important measures enacted were: To authorize the eighty-five foot lock canal across the isthmus, to authorize construction of the Lake Erie and Ohio ship canal, to place denatured alcohol on the free list.

Executive Activities In South and Central America

What the administration regarded as the crowning feature of a year of constructive statesmanship touching the public interest along numerous lines of action in the various executive departments was the spectacular South American journey of Secretary of State Root. At Rio Janeiro he was received with marked distinction by the Brazilian government and by the members of the pan-American congress. To all he bore testimony to the good will of the United States government and to the absence of any ambitious designs for territory or conquest.

When after election the president made his three days' personal inspection of the great isthmian canal work he was mightily pleased with what had been done. It was the first time that the chief executive had left American territory. The new commission appointed JULY 2 consisted of Messrs. Shonts, Stevens, Magoon, Hains, Endicott and Harrod. It came to the conclusion that it would be advisable to employ a certain number of Chinese laborers on the canal and that it would not be practicable to apply the eight hour regulation to the canal zone. On his return voyage the president visited Porto Rico.

An executive order on SEPT. 19 extended the eight hour law to all public works, whether conducted in government shops or otherwise. The civil service rules also were extended to include all laborers in the government employ.

The part played by the interstate commerce commission was extensive and varied, beginning with the execution of the order of congress to investigate the coal carrying railroads and the great oil combine. The examination of Pennsylvania railroad officials shocked the public by its disclosure of numerous official holdings of stock in coal companies, which was open to no other construction than that of bribery to secure railroad favors. Newly appointed members of the enlarged commission were F. K. Lane, John S. Harlan and E. E. Clark. When the rate law went into effect on AUG. 24, for the first time in the history of the country all interstate commerce was under the control of this commission.

The entire navy was reviewed by the president at Oyster Bay SEPT. 3.

The army in the Philippines had several important engagements, the chief of which was the battle of Mount Dajo MAY 6, where 600 Moros were slain in their mountain retreat. American loss, fifteen.

When the Palma government of Cuba failed to check the rebellious elements President Roosevelt stood resolutely against the policy of annexation, although Palma's resignation appeared to compel the establishment of a temporary provisional government.

The sensational sequel to the dismissal of Bellamy Storer as ambassador to Austria, APRIL 2, came early in December, when Storer retaliated by charging the president with going back on his word as to the request for the pope's promotion of Archbishop Ireland. The president retorted, denying Storer's statement and accusing him of deceit.

Ide was inaugurated governor of the Philippines, APRIL 2.

Secretary Hitchcock ordered the withdrawal of all public coal and oil lands from sale or settlement, OCT. 8.

Cabinet changes were Bonaparte to be attorney general, Moody to the supreme court bench, Metcalf to the navy, Oscar S. Straus, the New York merchant, commerce and labor; Ambassador Von L. Meyer to be postmaster general, Cortelyou to the treasury, Garfield secretary of the interior, Hitchcock and Shaw retiring.

Justice Moody.

Treasury surplus was $26,187,150. The secretary estimated that the per capita circulation was $32.42. During the year he successfully stimulated gold imports by depositing cash with importing banks pending arrival of bullion. To increase bank note circulation he released $18,000,000 bonds for other securities.

The president issued an order, AUG. 24, that in all executive papers the 300 words of the simplified spelling board's list be adopted, a proposition which caused much confusion in the government printing office. Congress in December decided to retain the dictionary spellings, and the president acquiesced.

Radical Policies Run Through Party Lines

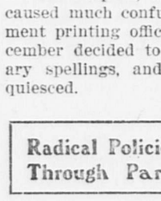

More than in any previous year men of all parties have been unwilling to tolerate the leadership of tainted politicians or untried aspirants for office. Insurance exposures, rebate prosecutions and increased cost of living, despite the continuance of great business activity, all combined to stiffen the popular demand for square deal politics and anti-monopoly legislation, however people differed as to particular ways and means.

On the Republican side President Roosevelt voiced this sentiment with his successful call for the rate, pure food, meat inspection and industrial alcohol laws and through his open opposition to the beef, railroad, coal, sugar and other trusts, culminating in challenge to mortal combat with the financial aggregation headed by John D. Rockefeller. At the same time that the president called a halt on the expose writers in his "muck rake" speech, APRIL 14, he startled the conservative by hinting at the idea of a progressive federal tax on "swollen fortunes," which in his recent annual message to congress, DEC. 4, was definitely urged for legislative action as "the antidote for Socialism."

In spite of or by virtue of these positions the personal following of the president, plus good crops and continued industrial prosperity, were in the main factors in the re-election of a Republican congress, NOV. 6, although the opposition, aided in some districts by the labor vote, was able to reduce the Republican majority to fifty-eight. The keynote of the campaign was to stand pat on the tariff and prosperity.

The entry of organized labor into a candidate-quizzing campaign under the leadership of President Gompers was called a failure by its enemies. Gompers himself said he was well satisfied, and his re-election by the federation showed that the unions shared his opinion.

On the other hand, the Democratic ranks were so full of corporation hatred and solialistic inclinings that a new prophet rode forth on the yellow panoplied steed of syndicated newspaper publicity and obtained a tremendous following. Although Editor Hearst was unhorsed as the Democratic-League candidate in his combat with Insurance Inquisitor Hughes for the New York governorship, the rest of the Hearst ticket in New York actually won out. The Roosevelt's estimate of the danger in his home state was measured just before election by the sending of Secretary of State Root to deliver the terrific broadside against Hearst contained in his Utica speech. The effect of the unique campaign thus begun has created a new political force known as "Hearstism."

William R. Hearst.

Hearst thus became a presidential possibility and a claimant for the Democratic radical leadership, but he was still a local figure compared to that cut once more by the Nebraska statesman, Bryan, who on returning from his world tour, JUNE 28, received a series of worshipful welcomes all the way from New York to Lincoln and from St. Louis and Louisville through the south. In state after state he had been indorsed by the Democrats unanimously for 1908. At the very height of his triumph in his first speech in Madison Square Garden, New York, Bryan dared fate and repulsed many conservative Democrats by frankly advocating a system of federal and state owned railroads.

With one or two exceptions the states east and west that have gone Republican usually were found in line, the Democrats carrying Rhode Island, Minnesota, Oregon and Nevada, controlling Oklahoma's constitutional convention and recovering some lost ground in Missouri.

Under the stress of much radical talk in both the older parties the Socialists didn't make so big a showing as they expected, especially in view of the impetus given to their movement by such notable accessions as Chicago's young millionaire, Joseph Medill Patterson, who resigned MARCH 9 as Mayor Dunne's commissioner of public works, and J. G. Phelps Stokes, the wealthy New York settlement worker. The conference of radicals at the Stamford (Conn.) Phelps-Stokes home in March is likely to be a landmark in the history of American socialism. The official count indicated a gain.

Joseph Medill Patterson.

Municipal ownership was voted in by Seattle and Omaha. Chicago voted for the municipal ownership, but not operation, of her street car lines.

A post election problem which the new year inherits is California's separate school plan for Japanese, against which the president has taken strong ground in his message to congress.

Another issue was raised by the president's dismissal of three companies of negro soldiers for shielding men charged with murderous riots at Brownsville, Tex. On motion of Senators Penrose and Foraker the papers in the case were called for.

Texas Democrats made it warm for Bailey because of his alleged oil trust connections.

Liberal Aspirations Sway Governments of the Old World

A survey of the various nationalities shows a decided drift toward liberal institutions and standards.

ENGLAND.—To begin with, the election of a new British parliament last January resulted in an overwhelming victory for the Liberal party, qualified only by the sudden rise of a powerful labor party. Campbell-Bannerman in Balfour's place organized a strong composite ministry of self made men. The parliament stood with 377 Liberals, 156 Unionists, 83 Nationalists and 50 Laborites. When the king's speech frankly declared for a radical home rule policy in Ireland the opposition mustered only eighty-eight votes. A nonconformist education bill passed by the commons APRIL 22 was opposed by the lords. England set a biggest battleship pattern with the launching of the Dreadnought, FEB. 10, a pattern which Germany, America, Russia, Japan and others were not slow to follow.

FRANCE.—Clement Armand Fallieres was elected president JAN. 17. Troubles over the church inventory began in February, and a coalition of Clericals and Socialists defeated the Rouvier ministry in March, M. Sarrien becoming premier. Troops were necessary to quell the serious mine strike riots after the fatal explosion at Courriers, in which more than 1,000 men lost their lives. Here was felt the strong hand of M. Clemenceau, then minister of the interior, who successfully headed off a labor revolt when the general strike was declared, MAY 1. In the succeeding elections the government was sustained, and on OCT. 19 Clemenceau succeeded Sarrien as premier and brought Colonel Picquart vindication by making him war minister. The condemnation of Dreyfus had been finally annulled by the supreme court, JULY 12, and he had been restored to the army, with command of a division. Clemenceau's great crisis came, DEC. 11, when with firm hand he proceeded to execute the separation law, sending the pope's ambassador to the frontier and taking forcible possession of the church property. Passive resistance was urged by the church leaders.

M. Clemenceau.

RUSSIA.—The czar announced on APRIL 24 a constitution, the purpose of which was to retain his control of the army and navy, to declare his right to dissolve the douma and to give the upper house, or council of state, the right to pass upon all legislation. Thus circumscribed, the first Russian parliament was opened at St. Petersburg MAY 10 by the czar in person. The Constitutional Democrats were in a large majority, and there was a large peasant representation. A strong address demanding political amnesty, universal suffrage, land for peasants and legislative independence of the douma was adopted, but it was rejected by Premier Goremykin. After talking continuously for two months and eleven days without tangible result the douma suddenly was dissolved by the czar JULY 23.

The repressive measures which had been used against the liberal classes by Minister of the Interior Durnovo were now intensified under the premiership of M. Stolypin, thousands of intellectuals being banished to Siberia and many serious Hebrew massacres resulting, the worst of which were at Bialystok on JUNE 17 and at Siedlce on SEPT. 8. Repression was answered by terrorism and assassination, and a series of peasant uprisings beginning JULY 20 destroyed many fine estates and spoiled the crops.

On JULY 30 in anticipation of the long expected general strike there began a number of bloody mutinies at Sveaborg, Finland, at Cronstadt, at Reval and on the Black sea. Mutinies also occurred frequently in the army, even the czar's guard regiment being affected. The bulk of the army and navy remained loyal, however, and these sporadic revolts were crushed with a stern hand. The general strike, too, proved ineffective. Famine is Russia's winter guest.

GERMANY.—Barring the costly colonial war in southwest Africa, which caused the dissolution of the reichstag DEC. 13, the kaiser's people had a busy and prosperous year. The effect of the treaty signed at Algeciras, Spain, APRIL 7, providing a joint international control in Morocco, was proof enough that the Anglo-French alliance could not ignore Germany. A grandson to the kaiser was born JULY 4.

SPAIN.—Two events within the Spanish realm commanded the attention of the world. One was the international conference at Algeciras. The other was the bomb-punctured wedding ceremony of King Alfonso and Princess Ena at Madrid MAY 31.

NORWAY.—At Norway's ancient capital, Trondhjem, JUNE 22, the newly elected King Haakon VII. and Queen Maud were crowned.

PERSIA.—The age-long hypnotic spell of absolutism which had held back progress in Persia gave way at last before the influence of Russia's terrific ferment. The leading merchants and mullahs voiced the aspiration for self government, and the shah convoked a representative assembly to be known as the house of justice JAN. 24 and granted a constitution AUG. 15.

SPANISH AMERICA.—President Palma of Cuba began his second term MAY 20, with the island republic apparently making good progress toward security, opposition of the defeated Liberals having subsided, but suddenly, about the middle of August, a number of Liberal leaders were arrested, and General Pino Guerra headed a strong force of rebels in Pinar del Rio. An offer of amnesty was rejected and martial law declared. Several fatal clashes occurred before an armistice was arranged by Messrs. Taft and Bacon, sent by President Roosevelt, SEPT. 19. The abdication of Palma when he found that the American government was not disposed to intervene in his favor compelled Taft to proclaim himself provisional governor, SEPT. 29, and to call for sufficient naval and military support to overawe the warring factions. Later Taft was succeeded by Magoon.

Pino Guerra.

Panama and Colombia made a treaty of peace AUG. 1. Since January Venezuela and France have ceased diplomatic relations. President Castro quit office, a sick man. All the South and Central American countries were represented at the pan-American congress at Rio de Janeiro in August. They favored a general arbitration convention to be enacted by The Hague conference and approved the Drago doctrine.

JAPAN.—After getting her grip on the Chinese trade Japan condescended to open the door into Manchuria in March, and the new world power of the orient was engaged in May in making a new tariff law with retaliatory and protective features. A most amazing feature of Japan's progress was the nationalizing of all her industries.

CHINA.—Even the Chinese pulse appears at last to be throbbing with the common aspiration for individual expression under popular government, and by the decree of the aged empress a commission of distinguished Chinamen visited western nations and returned to begin the creation of a constitution for China.

KONGO.—The Belgian management of the vast Kongo estate became an acute international issue late in the year when the British government suggested the possibility of intervention in the name of humanity. Leopold's lobby at Washington was exposed, and the senate was expected to act on the Lodge resolution.

State and Federal Decisions Antagonize Trusts

Missouri, whose attorney general was pressing certain telling questions upon officials of the Standard Oil company at New York in the first week of the year, was the state and St. Louis the city in which the federal attorney general began formal proceedings, NOV. 15, to dissolve this same huge corporation with thinly veiled threats of criminal action against its creator, Rockefeller, and his official associates. This suit was the culmination of the investigations authorized by congress and conducted by Garfield and the commerce commission. The Garfield report had brought with it the president's official denunciation of the Standard's illegal practices, MAY 4, and the challenge from the nation's chief was boldly accepted by the Standard officials in a statement denying the charges and rebuking the president.

But it remained for Ohio to take the brunt of the year's legal battle against the oil trust. At Findlay in July a suit was started under the state anti-trust law, and John D. Rockefeller was summoned. Through counsel he pleaded not guilty, and on OCT. 9 the state began a broadside case against the Standard Oil Company of Ohio on the charge of conspiracy to restrain trade, all the officials being summoned. On OCT. 19 the jury adjudged the company guilty, and the sentence of $5,000 a day, retroactive, was imposed by Judge Banker. The case was appealed.

The New York Central railroad was prosecuted for rebating to the sugar trust and fined $108,000, while the sugar trust was fined $168,000 for receiving the rebates.

Prior to the oil prosecutions the big beef packers brought to trial at Chicago on criminal charges had gone scot free on the decision of Judge Humphrey, holding that they were immune because their testimony had been given confidentially to Garfield. At Kansas City JUNE 12 four of the packers—Armour, Swift, Cudahy and Morris—were found guilty of accepting rebates from the Burlington.

In nearly all of the larger cities combinations of ice companies were attacked for conspiracy in forcing up prices, the most promptly successful prosecution being against the five Toledo dealers, who were not only fined but who began their jail sentences, but later got out on bond and appealed. At Philadelphia the indicted ice men got off with a nominal fine, but were warned against a second offense.

District Attorney Jerome of New York reported that he could find nothing on which to base a case against the Mutual, but the New York Life was still under scrutiny, and the cases against the Burnhams and Eldridge of the Mutual Reserve came to trial in December, George Burnham, Jr., being convicted of larceny.

Supreme court decisions were:

Holding it to be illegal for railroads to deal in any commodities which they haul; that the railroads may select through routes; upholding the Michigan ad valorem railroad tax; refusing Missouri's appeal against the Chicago drainage canal; upholding the suspension of Chicago street railway charters for ninety-nine years, but not the contract rights thereunder.

Circuit courts at St. Louis and Cincinnati held that an illegal trust could not collect bills by legal process.

In February the arrest of President Moyer and Secretary Haywood of the Western Federation of Miners, together with a member, Pettibone, at Denver, on the charge of having planned the murder of ex-Governor Steunenberg in December, 1905, and their hasty imprisonment in Idaho without extradition formalities caused widespread resentment among labor and Socialist classes. Pending their trial a habeas corpus appeal was carried up to the supreme court and there refused DEC. 2.

Negro racial animosities were intensified by the increasing frequency of lynchings in various sections, a tendency which took the form of wholesale mob murders in several cases, notably at Springfield, O., FEB. 27; at Springfield, Mo., APRIL 12, and at Atlanta, Ga., where riots extending over three days, SEPT. 22-25, resulted in twenty-two violent deaths, mostly of negroes against whom no charge lay. At Salisbury, N. C., AUG. 6, six negroes accused of murder were lynched, and promptly two of the mob were tried and sentenced to fifteen years' imprisonment.

Dumont and Peary Take Scientific Honors

After centuries of dreaming and experimentation it was the privilege of the year 1906 to see man's first mechanical navigation of the air from a standing start in a screw propelled aeroplane. This was accomplished by M. Santos-Dumont at Paris, SEPT. 13, and in a later flight he won the $10,000 prize by flying over a kilometer from a standing start. Lieutenant Lahm, an American, won the international balloon race from Paris, OCT. 1.

M. Santos-Dumont.

In popular estimation no work of the year ranks higher than that of Robert E. Peary, who carried the stars and stripes through the lonesome polar night to the eighty-seventh parallel and found a way to reach the pole next trip. Wellman got his big airship ready at Dane's island, but deferred a start till next year.

Unity was again the keynote of religious and philanthropic effort. On MAY 24 the union of the Presbyterian and Cumberland Presbyterian churches was completed, although a minority of the latter began a dissenting legal fight. Congregationalists, Methodists and United Brethren planned a union. In Canada the merging spirit embraced all Protestant denominations.

Two national gatherings, at Washington and at Philadelphia, were held in the interest of uniform divorce laws. Mrs. Parsons' book mentioning the idea of trial marriage in the distant future caused a great outcry of disapproval. State supervision of marriage was talked of.

The bureau of labor said the cost of living had gone up nearly a third.

In the long list of accidents and disasters three of nature's convulsions stand out in calamitous relief—namely, the fiery upheaval of Vesuvius, APRIL 7, and the Pacific coast quakings which resulted in the tumbling down and burning of the greater portions of San Francisco, APRIL 17, and of Valparaiso, Chile, AUG. 16. A storm, SEPT. 27, swept the gulf coast, taking over 100 lives and doing a million's damage.

Death's choicest harvest included Harper, educator; Wheeler, soldier; Curie, scientist; Schurz, reformer; Anthony, suffragist; Ibsen, dramatist; Seddon, premier; Christian, king of Denmark; Cragie, novelist; Martin, black pope.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ It was the New England shipper, greedy for gold at any cost, who carried the blacks to the South, planting the tree of slavery in our soil. And now it is the Northern money-grubber who is grafting upon our civilization a new and more terrible slavery. This new slavery of the mills is worse than the old slavery of the cotton fields. For the negro of the old days was well fed and sure of shelter; he did his work under the open sky, singing as he toiled, and finding time to weave out of his mystic brain a wild balladry and a poetic folklore. But the slavery of the white women and children sucks life dry of all vigor and all joy. These white workers are stunted, slow and sad; their lives are emptied of passion and poetry. The young negro, not cunning enough to speed the spindle, is spared. It is now the white child who is in bondage, while the little darky is out in the cotton fields under the open heavens. These white children often begin work in the mill with no fragment of education. And often after a year of this brain-blasting labor they lose the power to learn even the simple art of reading. The labor commissioner of North Carolina reports that there are two hundred and sixty-one cotton mills in that state, in which nearly forty thousand people are employed, including nearly eight thousand children. The average daily wage of the men is fifty-seven cents, of the women thirty-nine cents, of the children twenty-two cents.—Edwin Markham in September Cosmopolitan.

New Year's Reception.

The Mandolin, Banjo and Guitar club will play at the first Annual New Year's Reception to be given under the joint auspices of the Y. M. C. A. and Ladies' Auxiliary in the Association building, 61 Washington street. Refreshments will be served by the ladies of the Auxiliary, from whose number the corps of ushers will also be chosen. JONAS SHACKLEY

Death of G. A. R. Veteran Ex-Councilman And Builder

A busy and eventful life was closed at West Quincy yesterday when Jonas Shackley, the carpenter and builder, Civil war veteran, Sunday School Superintendent, an ex-Councilman, and old member of the Masonic fraternity passed away after a long illness at the age of 75 years.

Jonas Shackley was born in Alfred, Maine, July 13, 1831. At the age of 16 he came to Malden and began work in a brickyard. He became a member of the Methodist Episcopal church under the pastorate of Gilbert Haven, afterwards bishop.

Mr. Shackley learned the carpenter's trade in Milton, where also he became acquainted with Adelaide A. Williams, who became his wife Jan. 1, 1854. Four years later, Mr. Shackley came to West Quincy and built for himself one of the first houses on Hall place, the one now numbered 7.

After four years at his trade, he enlisted as a Union soldier in the Civil war. Early in September, '62, found him in Washington and then at the front. His diary was of material assistance in preparing the history of the Fifth Massachusetts battery, from which many interesting notes may be culled. He was in the battles of Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville, Gettysburg, the Wilderness series, and the campaign against Petersburg, besides many minor engagements.

At Gettysburg, where one of the horses on the gun carriage was killed, Corporal Shockley removed the harness and put it upon another horse only to see the new horse killed before he had finished harnessing him. At this time Corporal Shackley was slightly injured. He wrote home at this time: "We have had two days of as hard fighting as has been done in this war; but as long as I have health I will not grumble." On Sept. 19, '64, Corporal Shackley was discharged from the 5th Mass. Battery to be promoted to a 2d Lieutenancy in the 4th Mass. Heavy Artillery. On Nov. 3d he became 1st Lieutenant.

After the war, Lieut. Shackley returned to West Quincy and Mr. Shackley, resumed the duties of a private citizen. Though no new house was built in West Quincy for nine years after the war, he found work in neighboring towns, and later contracted for, and built many of the dwellings that prosperity caused to be erected hereabouts.

In 1874 he made a large addition to the "old" Willard school house. In 1876 he raised the Coddington school house one story, and the writer thinks he also enlarged the Adams school house in 1879. He also completed in 1891 after the failure of the contractors, the new Willard school house.

Mr. Shackley has been closely connected with the West Quincy M. E. church from its inception. Going to Nathaniel Beals in 1871, to ask for a contribution toward building a church in West Quincy, the latter said, "My barn yonder was originally a church: it's too bad to have to use it for a barn; take that and make use of it." Mr. Shackley took down the churchly barn and transported it to the ground donated by Joseph Robertson and erected the present edifice.

Of this church Mr. Shackley has always been a trustee, being the president of that organization, also a steward, some years treasurer of the board. For more than 20 years he was superintendent of the Sunday School. He last attended church in January, 1906, and had not been away from the house many times since.

Mr. Shackley was one of the oldest members of Rural lodge of Masons, having been admitted to the order March 9, 1865.

Mr. Shackley always took an active part in town affairs of Quincy, being a speaker at town meetings and a member of many committees. He was one of those who did not favor the change from the town to the city form of government, and never changed his views. His only office under the town government was constable. In 1892 under the city government, at the age of 62, he was elected a Councilman at large, and was twice reelected. During those years the Mayors were Hon. William A. Hodges and Hon. Charles F. Adams, 2d, and Councilman Shackley served on the committees on Public Buildings and Grounds as chairman, Water and Sewers.

His Grand Army friends were surprised to see him on last Memorial Day; but his iron will enabled him to be present on that occasion.

Mr. Shackley had two shocks early in 1903, though he had retired from business three years before this. Ever since then he has been failing. Mrs. Shackley died Feb. 27, 1903. Five sons and daughters have died. Those living are Albert J. Shackley, Joseph W. Shackley, and Mrs. Emma J. Hoxie of Brooklyn; and Annie L. Newcomb and Flora M. Shackley of West Quincy.

There are two brothers and a sister residing in Indiana.

The servic will be at the Methodist Episcopal church; Sunday, at 2 P. M. The interment will be at Mt. Wollaston.

Ask Reduction In Telephone Rates

The Quincy Citizens' Association was represented at a meeting of the delegates from various associations of the Metropolitan district at the American House, Boston, last evening.

Plans were formulated for the conducting of a hearing on the question of reduced telephone tolls between the city of Boston and the suburbs. This hearing, the first one on the question, will be before the Highway Commissioners, 15 Ashburton place, January 9, 1907, at 10 A. M. All citizen of Quincy who are interested, are requested to attend the hearing. The following petition is now being circulated:

To the Massachusetts Highway Commission,
15 Ashburton place, Boston.

Respectfully represent your petitioners that they are residents of Boston and of cities and towns within the Suburban Exchange system of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Co., a company engaged in the transmission of intelligence by electricity, and said petitioners further represent that they are customers of said company.

That your petitioners complain as follows:—

That on telephonic communications between the suburban exchanges, so called, and the exchanges within a restricted area of the City of Boston, called the Metropolitan exchanges, said company charges certain classes of its subscribers on party lines, ten cents for each call not exceeding five minutes.

Wherefore your petitioners ask that a hearing be given them and the said company in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 433 of the Acts of 1906, and that after such hearing such action be taken in the matter by your board as may appear to you to be appropriate.

And your petitioners further represent that said toll charge of ten cents for a five minutes call between the said Metropolitan and Suburban Exchanges is an unreasonable and excessive charge and should be reduced to five cents, and that a correspondiug reduction should be made for conversation exceeding five minutes in time.

The Christmas music will be repeated on Sunday at Christ church, when the solos will be sung by Charles Prout, Arthur Peverly and William Davy.

The Misses Wright, now of Atlantic, formerly of South Braintree, are to give a concert in Atlantic Music hall Thursday evening, Jan. 17. They will be assisted by the Berkeley Male quartette and Miss Maud H. Benjamin, reader.

The Japanese May Inspect

A Washington dispatch to the Herald says President Roosevelt has given special permission to the Japanese officers stationed on inspection work at the works of the Fore River Ship & Engine Company at Quincy, Mass., to inspect as far as they like the submarines, four in number, now being completed at these works.

The occasion for the permit arose several weeks ago when the little boats were being given their try-out. The American naval inpectors noticed that the manœuvres were being closely followed by the Japanese in a chartered yacht and promptly requested the latter to desist in their observations. They complied, but took the matter up with their embassy, with the result stated.

In an interview Rear Admiral Francis T. Bowles, president of the Fore River Ship & Engine Company said last night that the president's order has not yet reached him.

"I think, however, that the Japanese have been very scrupulous during their stay in the yard. You may say for me that there has been no prying into our government's agairs, as far as I personally have been able to accertain."

The Disputed Coal Bills

Mayor Thompson says that the bills of C. E. Giles, over which there was some discussion in the City Council Thursday night, did not pass through his hands. The bills came through the regular channels to the City Auditor, bearing the stamp and signature of approval of Chief Engineer Peter J. Williams of the year 1905.

The City Auditor finding that there was no money to pay the bills sent them to the City Council with that statement, and the City Council in turn sent them to the Finance Committee.

The Mayor therefore had no opportunity to verify the bills, or to learn wherein they were inaccurate.

OVER 44 HOURS

Required for The Council Meeting of The Year 1906

The City Council of 1906 which closed its business of the year on Thursday night has been a busy one and considerable money was appropriated.

In all, the Council held 33 meetings, varying in duration from 15 minutes to 2 hours and 50 minutes.

PRESIDENT PIPER.

The shortest session of the year was on May 7, when but 15 minutes was required to transact the business. The largest session was July 2 when 2 hours and 50 minutes were required, or about ten minutes longer than the last session of the year.

In all, the Council was in session 44 hours and 14 minutes, the average length of meetings being 1 hour and 12 minutes.

During the year the Council received 90 communications, 105 petitions and the number of orders introduced was 283.

When the Council of 1907 comes in it will find that the Council of 1906 has willed to it 36 petitions and 27 orders.

Boston Water Rates To Manufacturers

Since writing on water question, I interviewed the Whittier Machine Co., one of Boston's larger industrial plants, and copy from their water bill water rates to industrial plants:

20,000 cubic feet or less, 14 cents per 100 cubic feet.

40,000 cubic feet, 13 cents per 100 cubic feet.

Minimum rates for largest amounts, 12 cents per 100 cubic feet.

One hundred cubic feet is equivalent to 750 gallons, the lowest charge for 1,000 gallons being 16 cents.

The reason is here plainly shown, how Boston can sell water to families one-third less than Quincy, and two and three family houses less than half. Our rates to manufacturing plants are below cost. A. L. Baker.

To Accommodate Park and Downs

To provide Public Library advantages for the Norfolk Downs residents, a library basket has been placed in the store of Mr. W. T. Moran, No. 392 Hancock street.

Residents of this district appreciate this courtesy of Mr. Moran, and also the interest of Miss Edith M. Tarbell, chairman of the Library Extension Committee of the Social Science and Library club, by whose painstaking efforts every detail has been arranged.

Persons desiring to avail themselves of the convenience of this service, must have a public library card, which can be secured only by application to the library at Quincy centre. Card slips for books, or books to be returned, may be left in the basket on any Thursday, commencing January 3, 1907. The basket will be returned from the library on Fridays.

Readers desiring a classified list of books may apply for the same through the basket.

The Australian ballot will be used on Sunday at the annual election of St. Francis court of Foresters. A double list of officers has been nominated.

BRAINTREE.

At the South Congregational church next Wednesday evening the English Glee club of Quincy will give a concert of Christmas carols. There will be 25 voices in the chorus and the concert, which is free to all, will be given at 7.30 o'clock. Supper will be served at 0.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Porter of Pearl street entertained friends from Quincy, Randolph, Braintree and South Braintree on Christmas.

The Good Will society will meet next Friday afternoon at two o'clock with Mrs. A. J. Dyer of Hancock street.

S. of V. Auxilary No. 16 held their annual election of officers at G. A. R. hall last Wednesday evening, Camp 32 S. of V. and S. of V. Auxilary No. 16 will hold a joint installation on Tuesday evening, Jan. 8.

Little Miss Doris Fisher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Fisher of Franklin street, has been very ill with acute indigestion. She showed signs of recovery at the last report of her condition.

Added to the list of those afflicted with grip, we have the names of Clifton Bestick and Thomas J. Cain. It is hoped they may both have a very light attack and will soon be about again.

H. Willie Simonds of Tremont street was taken sick Christmas night with congestion of the lungs. He is reported to be much better. Mrs. Simonds too is quite ill with the grip. Upstairs, Bernard Simonds is also reported to be ill with the same dread disease. It is hoped this stricken household may soon be restored to health.

There will be a meeting in the parish parlor of All Souls church next Monday evening, at eight o'clock, to organize a men's club. The outcome of this meeting will be some very enjoyable gatherings.

Mrs. Nathaniel Hunt of Quincy avenue was called to New Hampshire last week by the severe illness of her father. His death occurred at the home of his son where he had been an invalid for some time.

Mr. T. A. Watson of Quincy avenue gave a most interesting account of his travels in Alaska before the Weymouth Historical society on Wednesday evening.

Don't blame Post Master Hammond or Messrs. Torrey and Minchin for the advance in price of lock mail boxes. They are simply obeying orders. Let them know however your opinion.

The Victor Metal Works will start up again next Monday.

Louis F. Bates has purchased the land on Brookside road bordering on the smelt brook and facing Commercial street. We understand he intends improving the lot and will erect stores.

Rev. John L. Crane and family arrived from Rumney, N. H., on Tuesday afternoon for a few days visit during holiday week.

A decided innovation at the Christmas tree at Union church was the real live pony and sleigh with sleigh-bells, pack and Santa Claus. The pony was little Clifton Harlow's pet and as he spoke "Hark! Hark! I hear Old Santa now!" the bells rang gaily out and behold there was the pretty pony and sleigh. Fred Tarbox was Santa Claus.

Mrs. Sarah Thompson of Allen street, who fell and broke her arm sometime ago is now able to be around again.

Mrs. Hattie F. wife of Frederick L. Rimback, who died of pneumonia last Wednesday the twenty-sixth at her home in Arlington, had many relatives and friends in Braintree who first knew her as Hattie Williams. Rev. C. F. Hill Crathern of South Braintree officiated at the funeral Friday, he having married them in Charlestown thirteen years ago. Mrs. Rimback leaves a devoted husband and three young sons; also an aged mother and a brother in Arkansas.

MILTON.

William C. Houston of Milton, who in 1886 was attacked by thugs and has been an invalid since, died on Christmas day at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. C. Fairchild.

Communion services were held at the Mission of Our Saviour church on Christmas morning.

There were many people from out of town in Milton for the holidays.

A Christmas tree and festival was held at the East Milton Congregational church Christmas eve.

The doll at the Hodges' pharmacy was won by Katherine Curran, and the train of cars by John Walsh and James Parks.

The sixteenth annual concert and ball of the Milton Firemen's Relief association will be held Jan. 23, at the Town hall.

Rev. W. E. Gardner of Christ church will exchange Sunday morning with Rev. Reginald H. Howe D. D., of the Church of our Saviour at Longwood. Dr. Howe was rector in Quincy from 1871 to 1877.

H. B. Irving's Boston Engagement.

The first appearance of Henry B. Irving, the talented son and namesake of the great English actor, Sir Henry Irving, whose present American tour, under the direction of Messrs. Nixon & Zimmerman, has been a series of artistic triumphs, and have served to establish the fact a worthy son is fittingly pursuing a great dramatic work laid down by his father, will be made in Boston at the Colonial Theatre in the week beginning January 7. The engagement will continue for a fortnight, during which time Mr. Irving will essay to reveal every phase of his remarkable art.

The repertoire for the first week of his engagement has been selected as follows: On Monday night Mr. Irving will appear in two plays. The first of these will be "Markheim," a brief but fascinating drama. The second will be a modern English comedy, produced in Paris about a year ago under the title of "Jeunesse." The plays of the Monday night bill will be repeated at the Saturday matinee.

On Thursday, Tuesday and Saturday nights, Mr. Irving will give his remarkable impersonation of the dual roles in "The Lyons Mail," the thrilling old melodrama with which Sir Henry was wont to fascinate his audiences.

"The Lyons Mail" is preceded at each performance by an idyllic one-act romance, entitled "King Rene's Daughter," arranged for the stage by Sir Henry Irving. In this piece Miss Baird is seen without Mr. Irving, interpreting the role of a blind princess, and she is said to do it beautifully.

For the Wednesday and Friday performances, Mr. Irving and Miss Baird will be seen together in a fine presentation of W. G. Wells' historical drama, "King Charles I."

The sale of reserved seats for the Irving engagement will open at the box office of the Colonial on Thursday morning next, and there will be no advance in prices during the engagement.

A whist party held Thursday evening by Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Carman at Colonial hall and souvenirs were awarded to: Mrs. H. W. Tirrell, Mrs. A. C. Merritt, Mrs. Williams, Mrs. M. Carmen, Miss Florence Holton, and Messrs. D. Phelan, Arthur C. Merritt, John G. Thomas and Isaac I. McNeil.

REFORMS TO STAY

France Won't Yield to Vatican's "Desire For Persecution"

BRIAND STATES POSITION

Says Church Refused Liberty as Its Worst Enemy--Catholic Hierarchy Cannot Control the Internal Affairs of France

Paris, Dec. 29.—The senate has concluded the general debate on the new church measure and the principle of the bill was voted by 187 ayes and 87 noes. There only remains the discussion of the details of the various sections and it is expected that this will be completed today.

In the course of the debate Minister of Education Briand called forth repeated salvos of applause by assurances of the government's determination not to enter upon superfluous negotiations with Rome, not to sacrifice its dignity by abandoning the proposed reforms, and not to accede to the Vatican's evident desire for persecution, to which the government had replied with an offer of legislation more liberal than pertains in any other country.

The Vatican, however, declared Briand, had refused liberty as its worst enemy. The bill did not violate the spiritual influence of the hierarchy, continued the minister, and proof of this statement was to be found in the fact that many bishops, clergymen and influential laymen considered the law of 1905 acceptable, but were compelled to refrain from submission thereto because of their obedience to Rome, which the speaker described as resembling slavery. The government had offered the church the full benefits of the common law, hitherto demanded by the pope, but it would not accord especial rights to the Catholic hierarchy which implied foreign control in the internal affairs of the French republic.

The church's loss of property was her own fault, continued the minister. The present bill would place the church within the law in spite of herself and oblige the pope, if he desired to continue resistance, to resort to private worship, and this measure never would be accepted by the Catholics of France. The cessation of public worship, if it came about, would emanate from Rome, Briand averred, and this would be clearly understood by the country at large.

The senate has ordered that Briand's speech be placarded throughout France.

Bishop Insulted Policeman

Lille, France, Dec. 29.—While a number of seminary students were being expelled from their building here, Bishop Delamaire was arrested for alleged insult to the commissary of police. He was tried in a police court, fined $5 and then released.

Russian Charity--and Diplomacy

St. Petersburg, Dec. 29.—Taking advantage of the famine in Russia, the government is making great efforts to stimulate colonization to Siberia on a scale hitherto never attained. The minister of finance has decided to place $3,000,000 at the disposal of the colonization office, which has 200,000 homestead lots in readiness for settlers. These lots are situated largely in the sparsely settled provinces along the Amur river, where the government is eager to strengthen its hold.

Burnham's Plea Is Rejected

New York, Dec. 29.—Justice O'Gorman, in the supreme court, denied the application of George Burnham, Jr., for a certificate of reasonable doubt on the conviction of Burnham for grand larceny growing out of the affairs of the Mutual Reserve Fund Life Insurance company. Burnham was counsel and vice president of the insurance company and was convicted of the crime of grand larceny and sentenced to serve two years in state prison.

Durand Thanks Americans

New York, Dec. 29.—Sir Henry M. Durand, the retiring British ambassador, arrived in New York at 9:55 last night, accompanied by his wife. They immediately boarded the Umbria. To the newspaper men who met him Durand said: "Please convey to the American people for me my sincere recognition of the many kindnesses that have come to me and my family."

Bribery In a Court Case

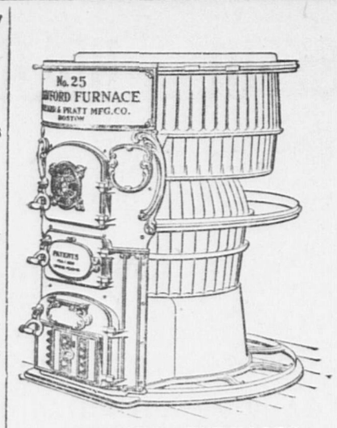

New York, Dec. 29.—Herbert S. Mase, for many years a clerk in the court of special sessions, was held in $2000 bail on a charge of accepting a bribe. It is alleged that Mase, who has been relieved of his position since the charge was made against him, for a consideration of $160 falsely endorsed an indictment.

Jeffries and Squires Matched

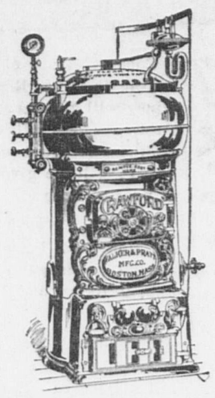

San Francisco, Dec. 29.—Articles have been signed for a fight for the heavyweight championship of the world and a $30,000 purse at Rhyolite, Nev., next April between James J. Jeffries and William Squires of Australia. The fight is to be with five-ounce gloves under Marquis of Queensberry rules.

New York Central's Acquisition

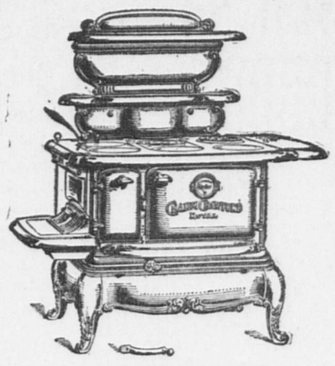

Kalamazoo, Mich., Dec. 29.—The New York Central and Hudson River Railroad company has purchased the Chicago, Kalamazoo and Saginaw railroad. The consideration is said to be in the neighborhood of $1,000,000. The road extends from Hastings to Woodbury, 100 miles.

Public Interest

IS NOW CENTERED ON

The Pure Food Law.

WE Have Always Maintained that the best that money could buy was always the cheapest in the end, because it is always the bargain hunters that have to pay the DOCTOR, buying as they do IMPURE foods of all kinds, FOODS that are UNFIT for ANY PERSON'S STOMACH, being mixed as they are with different kinds of PRESERVATIVES and SECRET PREPARATIONS to take the place of GOOD PURE FOODS. And some dealers selling these goods at a GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICE over the pure kind, GUARANTEE you NOTHING, but—"Poor Health to You and Your Family," and although you can buy the "just as good kind," you can save nothing as that kind is unhealthy and dangerous to the whole human family. Now our standard is to always sell the best of everything and the steady increase of our business year after year proves to us that we have the right idea, and we know it must be very satisfactory to our many customers to feel that what they buy at our store is ABSOLUTELY PURE and HEALTHFUL and the Food Laws are being strictly enforced by us. Our Goods are all GOVERNMENT INSPECTED and also carefully inspected by us before they are put on sale or sent to your homes, and although you pay perhaps a few cents more to us than some dealers charge, don't you think it is money well spent, considering all things?—YOUR HEALTH, which is the greatest blessing we can have,—think well about this and we know you will agree with us and do your trading where you know the goods can be depended upon to be absolutely Pure.

We have just received our season's pack of choice canned and bottled goods, FRESH and DRIED FRUITS, all kinds of Cereals, Ketchup, Pickles, Jams, Jellies, Prunes, Figs, Nuts, Dates, Table Raisins, Citron, Lemon and Orange Peel, Olives, Sardines,—in fact everything for your tastes and fancies. All the leading brands of FLOUR. Fancy New Orleans Molasses.

OUR MARKET is complete, AND REMEMBER, we sell nothing that has been doctored or filled with Preservatives to keep it. ABSOLUTELY NOTHING but Carefully Selected Meats are on sale at OUR STORE. Stamped with the Government Inspection Stamp, that insures to you and to us the point of perfection, which we are always striving to reach for the benefit of our trade.

We will have a grand display of that great National Bird, THE TURKEY, the same VERMONT KIND we have always sold you,—Chicken, Fowl and Duck, direct from WILLIAM R. DRAKE of Braintree, and he knows how to dress them so as to please the eye as well as the palate. They don't grow nicer than he has. Fruit and vegetables in abundance, and don't forget our famous LA TOURAINE COFFEE, no dinner complete without it.

MORAN O'MEARA FIGHT

It Results In an Order to Close the Lid Tight on Sunday

Boston, Dec. 29.—Blue law Sundays for Boston, beginning tonight, are promised as the outcome of the fierce controversy which has raged for some days between District Attorney Moran and Police Commissioner O'Meara. Following closely on a letter addressed to Superintendent Pierce by Moran, O'Meara issued an order to the superintendent to strictly enforce the Sunday law, and to see that the police take note of all work not expressly permitted by the statute.

This shutting down of the Sunday lid by O'Meara is brought about, he says, from three statements of the district attorney, one "official," the other two "practically official," which "make it necessary that the police, in the enforcement of the Sunday law, should govern their action strictly by the provisions of chapter 98, Revised Laws, and the amendments thereto."

Under the enforcement of the Sunday laws tomorrow there are a number of things that cannot be done, among which can be mentioned work on the subway and on the streets, repairing on the surface lines or on the L, the letting of automobiles and scores of other things.

In the letter addressed to Pierce by the district attorney last evening he makes the fiercest attack so far in the controversy on the police commissioner. He alludes to O'Meara's letters to the newspapers as "public ranting," and tells Pierce not to be misled by the "false statements of the law published by persons who are mere amateurs in legal knowledge." But the worst fling of all is contained in the paragraph which alludes to O'Meara as the "irresponsible vanity of personified loquacity."

Twelve Killed In Atlanta Riots

Atlanta, Dec. 29.—A committee appointed at the time of the September riots in this city to investigate the facts connected with the troubles at the time has made its report. It shows that 12 persons were killed and 70 wounded. Of the dead, two were whites and 10 negroes. Of the wounded, 10 were whites and 60 negroes. The report says: "As 12 persons were killed and 70 were murderously assaulted, and as a number took part in each assault, it is clear that several murderers or would-be murderers are at large in this community."

Railroad Disaster In Scotland

Dundee, Scotland, Dec. 29.—In a railroad collision near Arbroath 16 persons were killed and over 30 injured. The accident is attributed to the heavy fall of snow, owing to which trains from London for Aberdeen were held up at Arbroath. The line was finally cleared, and one train proceeded for Dundee. It stopped at Elliot junction, but the danger signals failed to act, through being clogged up with snow, or from some other cause not yet ascertained, and an express train dashed into the rear of the waiting train.

Arctic Blast Strikes Europe

London, Dec. 29.—It is many years since central Europe generally has suffered so severely from an Arctic visitation as it has this week. From France, Belgium, Switzerland, Germany and Austria-Hungary the same tale is repeated of heavy snowstorms, the interruption of railroad, vehicular and telegraphic communication, the loss of life and general discomfort and inconvenience.

Bonaparte and Devlin Confer

Baltimore, Dec. 29.—Attorney General Bonaparte and United States Attorney Devlin of San Francisco had a conference here regarding the San Francisco school trouble. At its conclusion Devlin returned to Washington, where a further consultation will be held. Neither Bonaparte nor Devlin would discuss the meeting beyond stating its purpose.

May Test Anti-Bucket Shop Law

Atlanta, Dec. 29.—The Boykin anti-bucket shop law, which goes into operation Jan. 1, has caused nearly every wire exchange in Georgia to close out business. At present there remain in Atlanta four wire houses, two of which will close with today's business day. It is reported that the other two will remain and test the constitutionality of the law.

Not Guilty of Perjury

New York, Dec. 29.—The jury in the case of William D. Mann of Town Topics, charged with perjury, returned a verdict of acquittal. While his counsel was summing up the defendant, for the first time during the trial, gave way to his feelings and for a time sobbed convulsively.

Grover Cleveland Sick

Princeton, N. J., Dec. 29.—Former President Grover Cleveland is confined to his home here suffering from an attack of acute indigestion. His physician says the attack was brought on through lack of exercise. His condition is not serious.

THE
Young Men's Christian Association
OF QUINCY, MASS.
(Legal Title - Incorporated 1892.)

The Directors of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.

Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.

The Treasurer, WILLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, ERNEST G. GAY, will be happy to answer inquiries.

OUR HOSPITAL

(Legal Title: City Hospital of Quincy)
INCORPORATED 1889

The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earnestly appeal for donations and bequests for the Endowment fund. This now amounts to over $60,000, but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed.

Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need, will be most gratefully received.

The Secretary, TIMOTHY REED, Adams St., Quincy, or the Treasurer, RICHARD D. CHASE, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad to confer with any one or to answer any inquiries.

SAFETY OF NATION

Endangered by the Spread of Child Slavery

GREED VERSUS HUMANITY

Hundreds of Thousands of Degenerates Swell Our Population Each Year--Senator Beveridge Offers a Remedy

Lincoln, Neb., Dec. 29.—Senator Beveridge last night addressed the Nebraska Teachers' association. He was introduced by William J. Bryan. The senator spoke particularly of child labor.

"Nothing," he said, "shows how greed forgets humanity as the child slavery in certain sections of this country. There is something wrong with a prosperity which is so immense that it finally comes to feed upon the lives of little children. Men who make money by working infants are making too much money.

"There are, at a low estimate, half a million children under 14 years of age at work in cotton mills, glass factories, sweat shops, mines and other like industries. Those whom such toil does not kill are literally ruined for citizens. We are turning out, at a low estimate 200,000 adult London hooligans every year, and these become in turn the parents of hundreds of thousands of other degenerates. And so this civic pestilence riots and spreads.

"It has got to be stopped—if not for the sake of these children themselves, then for our own sakes; if not for the sake of common humanity, then for the sake of the republic's safety, for this republic is based on citizenship. We cannot sow to the winds without reaping the whirlwind tomorrow.

"If everybody, including the most earnest advocate of state's rights, could agree on a national quarantine law to keep out yellow fever, which does not kill 20 people in 20 years, how much more should we agree on a national child labor law to stop a practice that actually kills thousands of children every year and irreclaimably ruins tens of thousands every year.

"However, the theory of state's rights is not affected by the child labor bill pending in the senate. It cures the evil without touching state's rights. The bill affects child labor only in factories, mines and sweat-shops. That is as far as it should go at present. It does not touch any healthful employment of children anywhere in the republic. It only cuts out the cancer of murderous and debasing child slavery and that is all."

The association voted unanimously to ask Nebraska's senators and representatives in congress to support Beveridge's child labor bill.

"Liberty With Sword and Gun"

San Juan, P. R., Dec. 29.—R. M. Cintron, speaker of the house of delegates and leader of the Unionist party, has published an article in which he criticises the message of President Roosevelt containing references to Porto Rico. Cintron says that to grant Porto Ricans citizenship without self-government would be equal to saying to the world that the terms "American citizenship" and "serviture" are synonymous. Should the idea become a fact, Cintron says, that would be the hour to say to the people of Porto Rico: "Prepare yourselves to win liberty with sword and gun."

Police Commissioner to Resign

New York, Dec. 29.—It is stated that William L. Mathot, third deputy police commissioner, has tendered his resignation to Police Commissioner Bingham. There have been frequent rumors that Mathot would resign since his prosecution of Eurico Caruso for annoying women in Central Park. At the time Mathot said that the police records would show that many prominent men had laid themselves liable to charges similar to the one preferred against Caruso. The statement called forth many protests.

Alleged Overcharges For Light

New York, Dec. 29.—Corporation Counsel Ellison announces that he is preparing to bring court proceedings against the several companies which have been supplying this city with electric light for the past six years. The action will be with a view of recovering about $3,600,000, the alleged excess paid by the city over what the total cost would have been had the city been charged with the rate made to individual consumers.

Children Deliberately Killed

Chicago, Dec. 29.—Herman Belek, Jr., son of the man now under arrest in connection with the six deaths in the Vzral family, has informed the police that he saw Mrs. Vzral turn on the gas in their home with the intention of suffocating two of the children, Ella and Bertha. The boy said he heard his father give Mrs. Vzral directions for the act. The girls afterward died and chemical analysis has found arsenic in the bodies of both.

Yaquis Killed Sixteen Americans

Phoenix, Ariz., Dec. 29.—Business men of Sonora, Mex., who recently arrived here, say that within the last two months 16 Americans have been killed by Yaqui Indians at one point or another in Mexico. Most of the victims were settlers, who believed that the railroad building had progressed to a point where they would be protected from the murderous raids of Yaquis.

SLUGGED BOOKKEEPER

Robbers Supposed to Have Then Set Fire to Valuable Plant

Dover, N. H., Dec. 29.—The large brickmaking plant of Fiske & Co., Inc., at Dover Point was burned last night by a fire which is believed to have been started by two men who robbed the assistant bookkeeper. Charles Goldthwaite, aged 19, who was knocked unconscious by a blow on the head. The police believe that the robbers, fearing that they had killed Goldthwaite, deliberately set fire to the building to conceal the crime or else tipped over a lamp accidentally in making their escape. Goldthwaite was found lying face downward outside the building.

Late last night Goldthwaite recovered from his dazed condition and was closely questioned regarding the assault. He said he was alone in the private office at about 5:15 with only a lantern for a light. He had climbed on a stool and was about to light a hanging lamp when he heard two men talking outside. Before he had lighted the lamp a man appeared in the private office and struck him over the head with a sandbag or some similar weapon.

After that Goldthwaite said he remembered nothing until he found himself surrounded by flames in the private office. He rushed out to the main office and, discovering that the outer door was locked, opened a window and jumped to the ground. Just then Frank Foss drove along and, taking Goldthwaite into his carriage, carried him to Dover Point hotel. Goldthwaite said he lost his gold watch and $25 in money, and Engineer Perry of the brick plant, who was one of the first to reach the office after the fire alarm was given, said he found the door of the safe open. The safe is said to have contained about $50.

The gatekeeper at the railroad crossing a short distance away from the door of the office said he saw no one around there at the time just previous to the discovery of the fire, and Foss, who drove along the street by the mill toward the crossing, said he met no suspicious looking characters. He also said that he noticed no sign of fire at the office when he took Goldthwaite into his vehicle, and did not smell smoke.

Justice Tempered With Mercy

New York, Dec. 29.—Judge Cowing suspended sentence in the case of William W. Bridgeman, aged 60, who had pleaded guilty to the larceny of $20,000. Bridgeman, while a clerk in the employ of John Hankin, became involved in investments and two years ago store from his employer. Such was the general faith in the aged clerk, however, that he secured employment after being indicted and his present employers defrayed the cost of his defense and yesterday announced that he would continue in their employ. Since the theft Bridgeman repaid Hankin $5000. The assistant district attorney recommended mercy.

Good Holiday Business

New York, Dec. 29.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says that less than the customary dullness in general business followed the holiday, and Christmas week made a favorable comparison with previous years as to the volume of trade. Final reports of holiday business equal the most sanguine preliminary statements.

Treaty Ready For Signature

Madrid, Dec. 29.—With the arrival here of the official notification that the United States had ratified the Algeciras convention regarding Moroccan reforms, notices of ratification from all the powers concerned have been received. The treaty will be signed by the plenipotentiaries of the nations concerned on Dec. 31.

Noted Financier Dead

Philadelphia, Dec. 29.—Alexander J. Cassatt, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, and one of the foremost railroad men and financiers in the country, died suddenly at his residence in this city. Cassatt, who was 67 years of age, was stricken with heart disease and died before assistance could be given him.

Hustling For Herring

St. Johns, Dec. 29.—The fishing grounds are again free from ice, and 40 American vessels are making especial efforts to secure cargoes of herring before the floes again blockade the seaboard. The weather here is warm, the thermometer registering 62 degrees.

A Five Percent Advance

Jersey City, N. J., Dec. 29.—The public service corporation, which operates trolley lines on an extensive scale in northern New Jersey, announces that beginning Jan. 1 its 3000 motormen and conductors will be granted an increase in wages averaging about 5 percent.

The Loan of "a Quarter"

[Original.]

It was in the early days before the iron horse had permeated "the plains" farther than Cheyenne that a stagecoach lumbered along a road not far from the then village of Denver. There was a St. Louisian going out to look at mines on Clear creek and a Chicago merchant going to establish a branch somewhere, anywhere—he was not particular. A Methodist minister (very lean) and an Englishman (very fat) completed the men. The only woman was a schoolteacher, with large, angular features.

"They say," remarked the St. Louisian, "that there's a robbery every day on some of the roads in Colorado, and notwithstanding the fact people continue to travel with valuables on their persons. I never use anything but drafts for my expenses. When I reach Denver I'll have to borrow a quarter for a glass of beer to wash the dust out of my throat."

"Is there no law in the country?" asked the Englishman.

"Law?" exclaimed the Chicagoan. "You English people are always talking about law. Of course there's no law away out here. Do you take this for a suburb of London?"

"If we are attacked," said the minister, "I shall attempt to influence the robbers by prayer."

"You might as well attempt to make them druuk on soda water," snapped the Chicagoan.

At this point the stage stopped, and the driver was heard talking to a horseman he had met in the road. The horseman said he had been robbed a mile farther on. He did not know whether the robbers had ridden away or were waiting for the stage, but it made no difference to the travelers, for if the stage did not go on to the robbers the robbers—if they chose—could come back to the stage. After some discussion as to what to do the driver decided the matter by going on. Then the conversation among the passengers became animated. What was to be done with the valuables?

"Such things can only occur in a country like this, where there's no respect for the law," growled the Englishman, whose face was very hot and whose eyes were very anxious.

"You never had highwaymen in England, did you?" retorted the St. Louisian.

"Let's give our valuables to the parson here," said the Chicagoan. "Perhaps after it's all over he can pray them out of purgatory for us."

The schoolteacher said nothing, but, pulling up her skirts on the right, where she was protected from observation by the side of the coach, tied her purse in her handkerchief and hung it to her waist.

"Take mine," said the Chicagoan. "They won't search a woman."

"And mine," said the minister.

Every man in the coach deposited his valuables in the same safe place except the St. Louisian, who had declared that he traveled only with drafts. Lifting up the cushion of the seat, he placed his valuables under it, then lowered it and sat on it.

Meanwhile the coach rolled on and was now near the place where the robbery had been committed. A clatter of horses' hoofs was heard coming from the rear.

"They're going to take us fore and aft," said the St. Louisian. "We'll hear a shot in front in a moment."

But there was no shot. A horseman overtook the coach, and a number of white faces peering from the window saw the man who had been robbed. He called to the driver to stop, and when he did so the horseman jerked out a brace of revolvers and covered the people in the coach. At the same time the schoolteacher opened the door next her and stepped down on the road.

"Got 'em?" asked the man who had been robbed.

"All but one. That galoot," pointing to the St. Louisian, "is sitting on his plunder. It's under the seat." The voice was a man's.

The St. Louisian was ordered to arise and produce his valuables, which he did with great alacrity. The horseman opened the pocketbook accompanying them and took out a goodly number of crisp bills.

"I knew he had the big haul of the lot by the way he talked," said the schoolteacher. "We'll see what's here."

Without the slightest sign of modesty he pulled up his skirts, displaying corduroy trousers stuck in his boots, and about his waist dangled the pocketbooks of the passengers, the circle ornamented here and there by a gold watch. Opening one pocketbook after another, he took out the contents and threw the pocketbooks away. Then, laying all the bills together, he rolled them in a wad and thrust them in his trousers pocket. His next move was to divest himself of his feminine apparel, which he rolled in a bundle and handed to the horseman.

"Where's my critter?" he asked of his confederate.

"At the crossroads back there."

"It's two miles, but I'll have to walk it or delay these confiding people by taking one of their horses. But this would make me a horse thief, which is beneath any gentleman. Goodby, my friends. I wish you a pleasant journey."

The confederates took their departure and the stage drove on. The Chicagoan turned to the St. Louisian and said:

"Lend me a quarter for a glass of beer when we get to Denver."

A grim smile appeared on the face of each passenger.

Latest News About the City

Friends of Wallace S. Rice of South Central avenue regret to learn of his continued illness.

Eight united with First church on Sunday morning at the Christmas communion service.

There will be a box lunch of the Fragment Society in the chapel of the Unitarian church next Wednesday from 10 to 3.

The Point Church is to have a week of special services commencing, Sunday Dec. 30 and continuing through Jan. 6th.

The night for the supper of First church has been changed to Thursday, Jan. 3d, and will be at half past six as usual, in the chapel.

"Our church and the future," will be the subject of Rev. A. B. Tyler's sermon at the West Quincy M. E. church Sunday morning.

Rev. L. P. Atwood has been called to Westfield, Vt., to assist his former parish, in the dedication of the new Congregational church building.

Subscriptions are being received for the annual assembly by the patronesses, and ushers also by Mrs. N. S. Hunting of Hancock street and Mr. D. E. Wadsworth.

Some of the people at Wollaston Park had to wait until after Christmas for their gifts as the letter carriers were unable to cover the route. It was disappointing but it is better late than never.

Headmaster Bently of the Coddington school has become a resident of Quincy having recently purchased the house on Putnam street lately occupied by Mr. C. F. Harper. He moved in during the holidays.

The site is staked out for a residence on Fairmont way, Presidents hill, for Miss M. Flora Underwood of 1155 Hancock street, from plans by Architect J. Lovell Little, Jr., of Beacon street, Boston.

The workmen at the shipyard in launching the Ossabaw on Thursday established a new record for the Fore River plant. The Satilla, a sister ship, was launched from the same slip on which the Ossabaw was built on Aug. 21, 1906. This means that the Ossabaw has been built on the ways and completed in about four months; a fine record.

Friday morning there passed away one of the older generation, Miss Caroline M. Beal whose home on Adams street has been one of the landmarks for many years. She was of a kindly and charitable disposition, especially interested in the City Hospital, opening her house for fairs and responding generously to appeals. Miss Beal was eighty-five years of age and the last of her family.

The people of Quincy Point are to hold a Watch-Night service at the Church, Dec. 31st, to which the people from all other churches will be welcome. Commencing at 9 P. M. there will be a social service in charge of the young men; there the public installation of the Y. P. S. C. E. officers; there refreshments (free) served by the ladies Aid society and Pilgrim Fraternity; then the religious service with several pastors as speakers.

Wolcott Memorial.

Next Monday forenoon the memorial to ex-Governor Wolcott and the men from Massachusetts who fought in the war with Spain, will be unveiled at the State House. Mrs. Wolcott has requested that the ceremonies be simple and brief, and this request will be honored,

Wednesday afternoon Lieutenant Governor Draper, chairman of the councillor committee on the dedication, received word that Bishop Lawrence would offer the prayer and give the benediction. The memorial will be presented to the Commonwealth by Lieutenant Governor Draper, and Governor Guild will make the address of acceptance. It is expected that Captain Walker of the Spanish War Soldiers and Sailors, to whom, jointly with the late governor the memorial is erected, will speak. The workmen have finished their labors and the memorial is practically ready to be unveiled.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Christmas Cheer At Pond Home

A large number of friends, who filled the the parlors to overflowing, gathered at the Pond Home for the aged of Norfolk County Wednesday to celebrate the Christmastide. The six old ladies and two old gentlemen, who live there, were made as happy as children by the entertainment of music, readings and refreshments, followed by gifts distributed to each from a beautiful tree bearing numerous tokens of kind thoughts. It was indeed a privilege to see these aged people, bereft of husbands and property when no longer able to care for themselves, so truly grateful for a home which provides not only the necessaries of life but the comforts of personal ministrations and love.

The house is full, but plans are completed for a $5000 addition which will make provision for most of the eighteen who are anxiously awaiting an opportunity to enter.

The King's Daughters of the county, who establishes and maintain this home are desirous of obtaining the necessary funds to begin this addition directly. The first and last $1000 are promised and an amount of about $1800 besides, already raised. An effort will be made shortly to provide the necessary balance.

Gone West.

The Washington Street Congregational church, in common with the Bethany church is being depleted of its bachelors in order that these eligible ones may escape the proposed state tax. Some have married—one, Mr. Charles N. Bosworth left for Southern California in time to spend Christmas in the land of the golden poppies. If Mr. Bosworth likes the climate, he will make that state his home. He severed his connection with the White Star Steamship Co. December first. He is at present located at Highland, San Bernardino Co., at the orange grove of the Foye Bros., former Quincy people, who have some one hundred and fifty acres under cultivation. We wish him success.

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS.

KEITH'S THEATRE.

New Year's week will find another big holiday show at Keith's with Master Gabriel and his company as the leading feature. For the second and last week of his engagement "Buster" will be seen in a new version of "Auntie's Visit." While the same characters will appear in the story, there will be a number of new incidents added, all of a humorous nature. Of course, "Buster" and "Spike" will have some new bits of mischief to get mixed up in. Two turns that will be of special interest to the children are the Kitamura Japanese Troupe and San Watson's Farmyard. The Kitamuras are wonderful tumblers, wire walkers, equilibrists and top spinners, while Watson introduces ordinary animal inhabitants of the farmyard most astonishingly trained.

Patrons desiring them will be given copies of "The Keith A B C for Children," the surprise souvenir prepared for this season's holidays.

Houdini will commence his engagement the week of January 7th.

PARK THEATRE.

Kyrle Bellew has a most congenial role in "Brigadier Gerard" in which he will appear next week at the Park Theatre. It is a dramatization by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle of that most charming creation of his fertile fancy, the Gascon soldier whose bravery and blundering getting into and out of all manner of escapades, thrilling situations and exciting affairs of both heart and sword. It seems to be the general opinion of critics who have seen Mr. Bellew in this later role that he has never been given a better opportunity for love making, in which he certainly has no equal upon the stage and for swordsmanship in which he is indisputably without a peer upon the stage and has but few equals off the stage. The comedy is based upon historical incidents in the most desperate period of Napoleon's carreer before the end of Waterloo. By reason of imperative engagements elsewhere Mr. Bellew's stay at the Park will be limited to one week, with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

The ever popular drama of Revolutionary days, "Janice Merideth" will be given at the Castle Square Theatre next week. It is a dramatization of Paul Leicester Ford's novel of the same name and its four acts present a series of scenes that are both interesting and exciting. American patriots and British soldiers give color and life and sensation to its plot, and there is of course, a heroine who performs valorous feats in the interest of her country. The action of the play takes place in New Jersey, and at Yorktown, and the famous crossing of the Deleware by Washington, the battle of Trenton and the great American victory at Yorktown form an important part of the play. The cast will include Mr. Hansel, Miss Lawton and the entire Castle Square Stock Company. A week from next Monday there will be a great Shakespearean production of "Twelfth Night" at the Castle Square and on the 15th of January, Leah Kleschna, Mrs. Fiske's famous play will

NOON TEMPERATURE

The Maximum And Minimum For Each Month Of the Year 1906

A review or the noon temperature of the year as kept by the Daily Ledger may be of interest. The maximum was 93 on Aug. 7, not a very hot day. The minimum was 16, at noon on Feb. 7 and Dec. 7, 8 and 9.

The maximum temperature for ten years was 101 and the lowest noon temperature just 2 above zero.

In one month only was a record broken, January having a warmer day than usual. February also had one as warm as the maximum record of 1900 and 1903.

In every month of the year except December, it will be seen, that Quincy had at least one day of 60 degree temperature. The summary of noon temure for the year, and for ten years follows, showing the maximum and minimum:

	During year 1906.		During 10 years.
	Highest.	Lowest.	Highest.	Lowest.
January,	68	24	68	4

Basket Ball At Y. M. C. A.

In the Quincy Y. M. C. A. gymnasium Saturday afternoon the Intermediate Basket Ball team won an easy victory from Braintree High school.

For Quincy, McKenzie and Tupper played a star game, and for Braintree, Cuff played a fast game. This was the Intermediates first game at home this season and they showed up in their old time form.

QUINCYS	BRAINTREES

Next Saturday at 3.30 they play Newton Y. M. C. A. at Quincy and a fast game is expected. The team will play at home every Saturday this month and lovers of the sport can see some good basket ball games.

All those who were present in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium on Saturday evening had the pleasure of seeing the Quincy team defeat the North Abington Y. M. C. A., team in a fast and closely played game. The contest proved to be one of the best of the season, only a few points separated the contestants at any time, but Quincy held the lead at all times, and won 23 to 18.

The line-up was as follows:

QUINCY		ABINGTON
Duncan, r. f.,		l. b. H. A. Chamberlain
Morris, l. f.		r. b. Orcutt
Tirrell, c.		c. Calkine
Taylor, l. b.		r. f. Wilkes

Referee, Long. Scorer, Walker. Attendance, 150.

Car Shortage.

Barre, Vt., is suffering from a shortage of cars and unless something is done to relieve the situation it may result in a complete shut down of the granite quarries and sheds. According to the Barre Times of Saturday there were 125 Barre cars loaded with stock on the Central Vermont track waiting to be unloaded.

Still Alarm.

An attempt was made late Saturday night to burn the stone sheds of Milne & Hector at South Quincy. The fire was discoved by a woman in the neighborhood who aroused the men who quickly extinguished the flames.

Irwin---Gallagher Wedding Today.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Gregory's church, Milton, this morning when Miss Nellie A. Gallagher, a well known and popular East Milton young lady, became the bride of John E. Irwin. The ceremony was performed by Rev. William H. Fitzpatrick and was followed by a nuptial mass.

During the mass Miss Ethel Smith sang "Salve Regina," Miss Sarah Phillips sang "Ave Maria" and Thomas A. Murphy sang "O'Salutarus," The organist was P. J. Maden, who played Lohengrin as the bridal party entered the church, and Mendelssohn's march as they departed.

Miss Maria Curran of Dorchester was bridesmaid, and Francis E. Gallagher best man.

The bride wore a suit of blue velvet with hat to match, and the bridesmaid a suit of pearl gray.

A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride at 23 Pierce street after the ceremony.

Masons and G. A. R. Attend

The funeral of ex-Councilman Jonas Shackley was held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the West Quincy Methodist Episcopal church, with which he had been identified most of his life as an officer.

The services were very largely attended. Aside from many of the residents of West Quincy, Paul Revere Post 88, G. A. R., and Rural lodge, A. F. and A. M., were present in a body.

There was a mass of beautiful flowers mutely testifying to the esteem in which he was held by all.

The services were conducted by Rev. A. B. Tyler, pastor of the church, assisted by Rev. E. W. Virgin of Dedham, a former pastor. Both spoke eulogistically of the departed one. After the regular services the burial service of the Grand Army and Masons took place.

The burial was at Mt. Wollaston cemetery where the squad from the Grand Army fired three volleys as the body was lowered into the grave.

Died at Soldiers' Home.

Richard H. Fisher, a veteran of the Civil war, died on Friday at the Soldiers' Home at Togus, Maine, aged 73 years. He served in Co. H., 39th Mass. Infantry. He leaves a daughter, Mrs. John R. Graham of Bangor, Me. The burial was in Mt. Wollaston cemetery at Quincy today.

Imported Granite.

The duty on granite is not high enough to shut out foreign granites. Last week the steamer Corinthian from Glasgow brought to Boston 4 cases of granite for the Aberdeen Granite Co., 12 cases of granite for Burton Preston, 17 cases of granite for Knauth & Co., and 63 cases of granite for H. & A. Allan; also chilled iron and iron sand.

Her Purpose.

He—Mother thinks you'll make me a good wife.

She—Indeed? You tell your mother I'll make you a good husband.

New Year's Reception

To-morrow night the Y. M. C. A. holds its first annual New Years reception in the Association paslors. This the first event of its kind in the history of the local Association is given jointly by the Association and the Ladies Auxiliary.

The master of Thayer Academy, Dr. Gallagher, and the clergymen of the city will compose the receiving party. The corps of ushers will be composed of members of the Ladies Auxiliarg, and of gentlemen representiny the various local churches.

The newly formed Y. M. C. A. Banjo, Mandolin, and Guitar club will render selections during the evening, and the auxiliary will serve refeshments.

A basket ball game will be played in the gymnasium between the Seniors and the Intermediates, and gymnastic features will be enjoyed.

Tidbits from All Wards of City

Appearances about the High school look a little more inviting now that the debris in front of the building is being removed.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis C. Zippernick, after an absence of several weeks at East Braintree, returned to their home, 68 Washington street, last week.

The regular meeting of the Citizens' Association will be held in the rooms of the Granite Manufacturers' Association, Tuesday evening, Jan. 8.

Mrs. Florence Peltier Pope of Newbury avenue has gone to New York for three weeks. During the latter part of her stay she will be with her son Clifton.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Merritt will give a whist party at their home on Elm place on Thursday evening. All are cordially invited to help the A. T. U. S.

The funeral services for Miss Florence Buxton, who died suddenly last Thursday, were held privately at her home on Wayland street Saturday afternoon. The interment was at Salem.

The funeral of Harry T. Nicholsen was held Sunday from his late residence at 33 Payne street. The services were conducted by Rev. William E. Gardner of Christ church. The burial was at Mt. Wollaston cemetery.

Next Saturday evening the Harvard University Gymnastic team gives an exhibition at the Quincy association. This event should prove a great attraction especially as one of our local boys, Wallace Bryant, is a member of the team.

Frank Bristol, son of Rev. Frank Bristol of New York, formerly pastor of Atlantic Memorial church, has joined the marines and is stationed in in Charlestown. Mr. Bristol is tall and well built and wears his blue uniform with a military bearing that does credit to Uncle Sam.

Maple lodge, K. and L. of H., at its meeting in Wilson's hall on Wednesday evening, will work the degree on several candidates, install its newly elected officers, entertain Silsby lodge of Brockton, and other members of the order. At the close of the business a social and general good time will be enjoyed, as the committee in charge are preparing quite an entertainment.

Conditions Are Not Yet Ideal At the New High School Building

Supt. Parlin visited the new High school building this morning and reports to the Daily Ledger that there is not one room that is ready for occupancy for school purposes. Really, he says the pupils should not enter the building this week.

However, a great effort is being made by the Commissioner of Public Works to have some of the rooms suitable for use, and the pupils have been so long without a school home, that the opening of the new building cannot longer be delayed.

Supt. Parlin wishes the Daily Ledger to announce that the new building will be reopened on Wednesday, Jan. 2, 1907 for all pupils. Those who have attended the Woodward building will report at 8.15 A. M. Those who have attended the "Old High" on High School avenue will report at 11 A. M.

For a while at least it will be necessary to continue the school in two sections, as there are not sufficient rooms available to accommodate the 700 pupils It is hoped it will not be necessary to continue such an arrangement long, as work is progressing toward completion on other rooms.

Just what arrangements will be made for the present is left to Headmaster Harper, but pupils will report on Wednesday as directed above at 8.15 and 11 A. M.

Some pupils have been so anxious to learn what the announcement was, that they sought the editor of the Daily Ledger early this morning, and their inquiries were amusing:

Are we to have a longer vacation?

How long a session will there be on Wednesday?

Shall we be prepared with lessons?

When will the gymnasium be ready?

Will the Governor be invited to the dedication?

Why was not the building completed before?

Who caused the delay?

New Inspector.

Roger Welles, Jr., lieut commander U. S. N., a Connecticut man, who for two years was stationed on the training ship Enterprise, has been assigned to duties as inspector of equipment at the Fore River shipyard this city. Commander Welles after a long stay at the Asiatic station, where he was attached to the flagship Ohio, has just returned and reported for duty on Wednesday last. At the time of the Spanish war in the Cuban waters he was on board the gun boat Wasp.

Masonic Funeral

The funeral of Howard Pool, President of the Weymouth Cooperative bank, was held Sunday from the Union Congregational church, East Braintree. Delta lodge A. F. and A. M., Pantalpha Chapter, R. A. M., South Shore Commandery, K. T., and Delphi lodge, K. of P., were present in a body.

The services were conducted by Rev. R. H. Cochrane assisted by Rev. M. S. Nash. After the regular service the services of the Knights of Pythias and Knights Templar was performed. The burial was at the Village cemetery.

New Parish

A new Catholic parish will be established at South Weymouth, tomorrow, to be known as St. Francis Xavier, and Rev. John A. Butler of the Church of the Assumption of Brookline has been appointed as its first pastor.

The church at South Weymouth has up to the present time been a mission of the church of the Sacred Heart at Weymouth Landing. It has a desirable church edifice, and is well organized.

PLEDGE IS BROKEN

France Is Accused of Violating International Law

RIGHTS TRAMPLED UPON

Boston Catholics Denounce the Action of "Counterfeit Government" In Relation to the Churches--Free Masonry Hit

Boston, Dec. 31.—At a mass meeting of Boston Catholics last evening, which considerably exceeded the limits of Faneuil hall, speeches were made and a set of resolutions were adopted, a copy of which were sent to the pope, protesting against the action of the French government toward the church in that country. Archbishop Coadjutor O'Connell presided and an address was delivered by Dr. Thomas Dwight of the Harvard Medical school.

The meeting, which is the first of its kind to be held in this country, was under the auspices of the Catholic Union of this city. Archbishop O'Connell said in part:

"We are assembled to enter our solemn protest against the tyranny which seeks to destroy the true liberty of religion and the freedom of those who represent it, and against a despotism which tramples upon the rights of humanity. The faction which usurps the government of France today has defiantly and wantonly insulted the august pontiff of our holy religion.

"France broke her promised pledge and violated every canon of international law. Until France has atoned for this crime, no government can respect her word or expect her to keep her pledges. America blushes to behold her sister's shame, and we citizens of this true democracy denounce this counterfeit government.

"Let America sound a solemn warning, the echoes of which will reach not only France, but all the nations; a warning that where the rights of God and humanity are ruthlessly violated the final victory must come not to might, but to the eternal right."

Dr. Dwight spoke for nearly two hours, giving an historical review of the events which led up to the present situation. In speaking of the Free Masonry issue, Dwight said:

"To many in this community the connection of Free Masonry with the opposition of the church will seem a little short of outrageous, accustomed as we are to meet Masons in everyday affairs without the suspicion of any hostility. But so far as outsiders can judge, the tendency of the order in English speaking countries is by no means what it is on the continent of Europe. There it avows openly its hatred to Christianity. Unfortunately it is very powerful in France."

Dr. Dwight referred to a message from the grand master of an Italian lodge to the grand orient in Paris, in which the former says that the latter has fought and conquered. The speaker held that this was a complete proof of the attitude of the body toward the church in France. "We see liberty that is license to the side that is up," he said, "and tyranny to the side that is down. The less said of equality and fraternity the better, with these facts before our eyes."

While Archbishop O'Connell was speaking the crowd outside the doors of the hall became so large that an overflow meeting was arranged in the market place. The resolutions which had already been read and adopted inside the hall were read again to those outside and adopted. The resolutions were as follows:

"Whereas, by an unwarrantable breach of contract with the holy see, the French government is guilty of an act of international perfidy;

"Whereas, by the confiscation of property of which the church is the rightful owner, and by the repudiation of the state's just debt to the church, the government of France has acted in defiance of common human rights;

"Whereas, by imposing conditions upon the church absolutely opposed to her constitution, the French government virtually and effectively prohibits freedom of worship; and,

"Whereas all these unjust laws enacted by a government calling itself a republic are totally against the free spirit of true democracy; Therefore, be it resolved,

"First—That we citizens of this true republic denounce as a gross violation of international law this breach of public faith of France with the holy see.

"Second—That we protest vehemently against the robbery of the church's property to which the state has no just claim, and against the arbitrary repudiation of the state's just debt to the church as a flagrant violation of common human rights.

"Third—That we denounce the whole series of oppressive French legislation against the church as a fierce and defiant persecution of Christianity.

"Fourth—That as citizens of a true republic, which respects and defends the rights of conscience, we look with horror upon this perversion of power today exercised in France as utterly unworthy of the name of democracy and characterize it as simple despotism and tyranny.

"Fifth—That we profess our profound admiration of the stand taken by Pius X in defense of the sacredness of human rights.

"Sixth—That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the President of these United States."

THE WAGES OF SIN

Aged Man's Young Wife and Clandestine Lover Fatally Shot

New York, Dec. 31.—A young woman, who, with her companion, was shot while both were guests at the Hotel Knickerbocker on the East Side early Sunday, died yesterday afternoon. Not until told by the physician in attendance that her recovery was impossible did she admit her identity and a statement subsequently made was unfinished when she lapsed into unconsciousness.

The woman was Mrs. Eva I. Totten, the wife of John Totten of Tottenville, S. I. She was 23 years of age and her husband is in his 83d year. They were married two years ago.

Her companion at the hotel was Sidney Kaufman, aged 30 years, and the son of wealthy parents living in this city. Kaufman died last night.

When convinced that she could not recover Mrs. Totten told the police that Kaufman and she were in love and that he desired her to marry him. He was asked to wait until she had secured a divorce. Over this they had quarreled. In the statement made to the police Mrs. Totten said:

"It was a love affair. Sidney insisted that I marry him, and I tried to make him understand how impossible that would be under the present circumstances. He said, as near as I can recall: 'I want you to marry me, Eva, without further delay. If you don't you'll have to take the consequences.' I was expostulating with him when I heard a pistol shot and felt a stinging sensation in the pit of my stomach. I thought I heard a hundred shots fired after that. But he insisted on my marrying him. And I kept telling him—" At this point in her story the woman's voice failed her.

Mysterious Murder of Rich Man

Kansas City, Dec. 31.—Thomas Fanning, aged 80 years, a wealthy property owner, was murdered at his home. The head was horribly hacked with a hatchet. The crime was reported to the police by William Fanning, the murdered man's nephew and heir. Fanning was arrested and later released. Robbery apparently was not the motive of the crime, as $2700 was found by the police in the room where the body was discovered. The old man wore a gold watch and in his pockets was $13 in money. Fanning had been living alone since Dec. 21, when his wife died. He was supposed to be worth $100,000.

Operator's Vivid Imagination

Spartanburg, S. C., Dec. 31.—A sheriff's posse which went to Mount Zion, a block telegraph station on the Southern railway six miles from here, in response to the appeal for help sent out by Operator Porter at that station, returned and expressed the opinion that no negroes had attacked the station. Porter declared that at the time he sent the message he was penned up in the station by a mob of drunken negroes who fired into the station. The sheriff's party attributed the excitement to fright of the operator.

Aked Accepts New York Call

Liverpool, Dec. 31.—At a meeting of Pembroke chapel last night a communication from Rev. C. F. Aked, the pastor, was read, to the effect that he had decided to accept the call to the Firth Avenue Baptist church of New York, and he therefore placed his resignation in their hands. Since a recent illness the work at Pembroke chapel, Aked said, had been too heavy for him, and but for the breakdown he should not have dreamed of leaving Liverpool.

Japanese Feeling Against America

Victoria, B. C., Dec. 31.—Advices by steamer Teucer, from Yokohama, say that considerable opposition is developing as a result of an Americanphobic feeling in Japan over the proposed visit of a Japanese fleet to the Jamestown Exposition and other United States ports. An influential member of the house of peers is quoted as stating that the proposed outlay of $400,000 to send the fleet to the United States must not be approved.

A Protest From Washington

Washington, Dec. 31.—A monster mass meeting of citizens of Washington was held here last night and resolutions condemning the action of the French government in confiscating the property of the Catholic church and imposing restrictions on the Catholics in France were adopted.

Was Jealous of Wife

Homestead, Pa., Dec. 31.—Believing his wife, whom he shot three times, was dead, Robert Ford, 40 years old, fired a bullet into his own brain, dying instantly. His wife was not fatally injured. Ford, who was extremely jealous, accused his wife of infidelity.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Rev. Joseph H. Mansfield, formerly a presiding elder of several districts of the Methodist Episcopal church and superintendent of the Boston Missionary and Church Extension society, died at his home at Brookline, Mass., aged 50.

General Marcus T. Miller, U. S. A., retired, died at Fort Barrancas, Fla., of heart disease, aged 71.

Two persons were killed and several others seriously injured in a wreck on the Southern railway near Danville, Va.

Jules Cambon, the French minister to Spain, will be transferred from Madrid to the post at Berlin, replacing M. Bihourd, who retires.

Rev. Fr. William Orr, pastor of St. Paul's Roman Catholic church, Cambridge, Mass., died of pneumonia, aged 76. St. Paul's is the church which the Catholic students at Harvard university attend and during his pastorate of more than 30 years Orr has come in contact with thousands of Harvard men.

A LIFE WELL SPENT

Death at Last Summons Baroness Burdett-Coutts

HUSBAND WAS AMERICAN

Queen to Humblest Citizen Will Mourn Loss of One of England's Foremost Women, Who Gained Fame as Philanthropist

London, Dec. 31.—Baroness Burdett-Coutts, who had been ill at her residence in London since Christmas eve, died yesterday. She was conscious to the very last moment and able to recognize all the older members of her household, to each of whom she gave a handshake as they came to bid her a last farewell. She died peacefully.

The death of the baroness, occurring at the age of 92 years, besides depriving the country of one of its greatest and most famous philanthropists, removes from London a unique personality and an interesting social figure. As a link with the almost forgotten past, her life beginning during the reign of Emperor Napoleon, she lived during the reigns of five British sovereigns. Inheriting an immense fortune, she so used it as to die beloved by the whole nation, from the queen to the humblest citizen.

The baroness' illness had its origin in a cold, which developed into acute bronchitis. In recent years she had led rather a secluded life, passing her time either at her town residence or at her country place on the outskirts of London near Highgate, where she formerly entertained largely. She was a great patroness of art, science and literature, interfering little in politics. Until quite recently she was a well known figure to Londoners, driving her donkey chaise in the vicinity of her home.

Baroness Burdett-Coutts was the first peeress created in her own right and the first woman presented with honorary citizenship in London. She was an intimate and lifelong friend of the late Queen Victoria and one of the richest women in England. Her wealth was used principally to carry on her work to improve the condition of the poor, and as a philanthropist her name was world wide. She was particularly beloved by the people of the Whitechapel district, London, whose condition she had done much to improve.

Twenty-five years ago the baroness became the wife of William A. Bartlett, then a young man in the diplomatic service, and at present a member of parliament for Westminster. He was born at Plymouth, Mass., and upon becoming the husband of the baroness, assumed the surname of Burdett-Coutts.

To have known William IV, to have been presented at Queen Victoria's coronation, to have intimately associated with Charles Dickens, and to have spent over £1,000,000 in charity form a unique chapter of experiences in the baroness' life.

King Edward once said that, after his own mother, the baroness was the most remarkable woman in England and unquestionably "the second lady in the land." By repute the baroness was more than a millionaire in English sovereigns and the principal partner in the famous old banking house of Coutts & Co., which for many years has acted as the private bank of most of the royal houses of Europe.

As a rule the baroness lived in a large mansion on the edge of Hempstead heath, a stone's throw from the celebrated old World inn known as the Spaniard's place, where, it is said, highwayman Dick Turpin, after his memorable ride from York to London, took refuge.

The baroness was a great lover of animals, and had almost a menagerie at her favorite home, Holly Lodge. The pets included horses, dogs, goats, pigs, fowls, cockatoos, llamas and other animals. The lodge is surrounded by gardens, where every kind of flower that grows in England is to be found.

Rockefeller Says He Is Misunderstood

New York, Dec. 31.—Discussing the subject of centralization in business, John D. Rockefeller said: "It is natural that a man who drove the stage coach should be antagonistic to the railroad, and that the man who used to keep the small inn should look with disfavor upon the magnificent hotels. But it was progress; it had to come. I am sorry that I am so misunderstood, but I have the best feelings for everybody. I bear ill-will to no one."

Mikado Decorates Warriors

Tokio, Dec. 31.—The emperor yesterday personally invested a number of high military and naval commanders with decorations for distinguished services in the Russo-Japanese war. Field Marshal Oyama, Generals Kuroki and Nogi and several other generals, together with Admiral Togo, received the first-class decoration of the Golden Kite.

Drank Poison by Mistake

New York, Dec. 31.—Madeline, the 16-year-old daughter of Samuel Strauss, a corset manufacturer, died from drinking poison. The girl mistook a glass containing a metal polish for one in which she had brought water to her room.

CRASHED IN A FOG

Passenger and Empty Trains Collide Near Washington

THIRTY-EIGHT ARE DEAD

Injured Number Half a Hundred--Engineer Unable to See Signal--Accident at Isolated Suburb and Aid Was Tardy

Washington, Dec. 31.—An appalling disaster, resulting in the death, so far as can be ascertained, of 38 persons and the injury of about 50 more, occurred last night at Terra Cotta, a suburb of Washington. Frederick City, Md., local train No. 66, on the point of starting from the station, was run into by a train made up of eight empty passenger coaches, bound from the west for Washington.

It is said that the engineer of the empty train had failed to see the red signal, indicating that another train was in the block and plunged ahead on its mission of death.

A dense fog and a drizzling rain prevailed, and to the inability of the engineer of the rear train to see the signal showing that another train was in the block is attributed the cause of the accident. The grade at the place where the tragedy occurred is downward and the tracks were slippery.

The Frederick train, which is run on Sundays only, is largely for the accommodation of those who go to the suburbs on Sunday and for the benefit of churchgoers who desire to attend services in Washington at night, and presumably a number of the latter were on the train. It leaves Frederick at 4:05 in the afternoon and is scheduled to reach Terra Cotta about 6:15 o'clock. The train was about on time when the crash came.

Traffic was delayed by the accident and it was after midnight before the bodies of the dead could be brought to the city. Many pathetic scenes were enacted in the vicinity of the wreck as relatives searched amid the fog and darkness for the bodies of their loved ones whom they feared were in the wreck.

From the appearance of the bodies it is believed that nearly all the victims were killed outright, or died within a few minutes after the accident. Of the dead bodies some were buried beneath debris.

District Commissioners West and MacFarland, Chief of Police Sylvester and Coroner Nevitt hurried to the scene of the wreck as soon as they heard of the accident. An inquest into the cause of the disaster will be conducted here, as Terra Cotta is within the District of Columbia. The wreckage did not take fire.

Terra Cotta is a station about three miles from the city boundary. It is a small station with a very few houses, mainly the homes of laborers employed at the terra cotta works, which form the only industry in the place. The nearest point from which aid of any kind could be summoned was Brookland, a small suburban town a mile from the scene of the wreck, the main communication with Terra Cotta being by walking along the tracks or by a roundabout country road, which, because of recent rains, was in bad condition. Ambulances, patrol wagons and fire engines were hastily summoned from Brookland and Washington, but it was with great difficulty and delay they were able to reach the place.

In Memory of Rizal

Manila, Dec. 31.—The 10th anniversary of the execution in 1896 by the Spanish of Dr. Rizal, who was charged with fomenting a rebellion, was celebrated here with enthusiasm. There was a parade and addresses were delivered at the spot where Rizal was executed. The native speakers expressed confidence in the future independence of the Filipinos. Governor General Smith, in an address, eulogized Rizal.

Convent Robbers Repulsed

St. Petersburg, Dec. 31.—A band of armed robbers attacked the convent of Mamonoffka, in Nizhui Novgorod, ordering the nuns to deliver up the money in their possession. The tocsin was rung and the villagers came to the rescue. Shots were exchanged and nine of the robbers were killed and five wounded. The others made their escape.

Horse Stricken With Rabies

Bristol, R. I., Dec. 31.—The discovery that a valuable horse, which was bitten by a dog several weeks ago, was suffering from rabies made it necessary to have the animal shot yesterday. At the time the horse received the injury two men were also bitten by the dog, which was afterward killed.

Caboose Stove Overturned

Hartford, Dec. 31.—The first section of a Boston to New York passenger express train ran into the rear of a slowly moving freight train about a mile below this city. The jar overturned a stove in the caboose, which, with the rear freight car, caught fire, both being burned. No one was injured.

Steamer Sunk in Collision

London, Dec. 31.—Snowstorms continue in various parts of England, but with less severity. The Swedish steamer Orion, in leaving Grimsby, was run down in the River Humber by steamer Idaho. The Orion sank in five minutes, but the crew was saved by the Idaho.

BLUE LAWS ENFORCED

Boston Police Take the Names of All Alleged Violators

Boston, Dec. 31.—A puritanical wave of strict observance of all Sunday laws, set in motion throug a long drawn out controversy between District Attorney Moran and Police Commissioner O'Meara, swept over this city yesterday, and while no arrests were made, the police took the names of several hundred alleged violators of the laws and summonses will be asked from the courts today.

Only business of a necessary or charitable character was permitted and, in the interpretation of the law, the police took the names of all expressmen, proprietors of small restaurants, fruit stands and workers on a small section of the subway.

The enforcement of the laws began shortly after midnight with the holding up of expressmen transporting theatrical baggage to the railroad stations. Work on the Washington street tunnel ceased at midnight, with the exception of a short section near the head of State street, which the transit commissioners ordered should be carried on, as the construction is dangerous and haste is necessary.

In South Boston the names of all the postal clerks in the sub-station were taken, as well as those employed in the public library, which was opened for a few hours during the afternoon.

Proposed Labor Legislation

Boston, Dec. 31.—At a meeting of officials of the state branch of the American Federation of Labor it was decided that legislation to be requested in 1907 will be overtime, picketing and public opinion bills, in exactly the same form as was requested last year; bills to perfect the eight-hour law, for less hours for street motormen, to limit power of courts in industrial disputes, to make election day a holiday, for a barbers' license law, for better and more adequate boiler inspection and for an increase of the inspection force not only for boilers, but to enforce the factory, sanitary and child labor laws.

Man's Life Saved Just In Time

Pawtucket, R. I., Dec. 31.—Mrs. Thomas Finn, aged 50 years, was found dead in her home at 15 John street, a victim of asphyxiation by gas. Her husband, barely escaping a like fate, was found lying in an unconscious and starving condition by rescuers just in time to save his life. The asphyxiation occurred on Christmas eve. There was a partly opened gas jet in the room, but as the supply of gas was regulated by a "quarter meter," the gas had long since ceased to flow, a fact to which the husband undoubtedly owes his life. The medical examiner decided that the asphyxiation was accidental.

Spring Gun Caused Death

Franklin, Mass., Dec. 31.—After a hearing in the district court, E. O. Woodbury of South Bellingham, in the cellar of whose home C. A. Proctor received fatal wounds from a spring shotgun, was held for the grand jury in bonds of $1000, which were furnished. He pleaded not guilty and waived examination. A loaded gun was set as a trap in the cellarway of the Woodbury residence and when Proctor attempted to enter the cellarway the gun was discharged.

Proctor's Case Before High Court

Boston, Dec. 31.—The bill of exceptions in the case of Robert G. Proctor, former private secretary of United States Senator Lodge, who was convicted on a charge of larceny of $225, was allowed by Judge De Courcy, which means that the supreme court will be asked to pass judgment upon the exceptions. Should the supreme court refuse a new trial Proctor will be obliged to serve his 10 months' sentence unless Governor Guild should interpose his pardoning power.

Meetings of Railroad Men

Boston, Dec. 31.—The locomotive engineers of the Boston and Maine railroad held a "system" meeting in Boston, at which the desires for the coming year were discussed. The greatest secrecy prevailed over the meeting, but it is known that all matters were referred to a general system committee to represent all the men. The conductors and trainmen of the same road also met and listened to an address by Grand Master Morrissey of the trainmen's brotherhood.

Ladderman Has Bad Fall

Milford, Mass., Dec. 31.—As the result of the burning of a block owned by Enrico Tasineri, William J. Williams, a ladderman, fell from the second story of the building to the ground and received internal injuries, besides fracturing two ribs and cutting his head severely. He is in a critical condition. Two other firemen were less seriously injured by the overturning of a hose wagon while it was speeding to answer the alarm. The loss by the fire was $2000.

Alleged Illegal Operation

Salem, Mass., Dec. 31.—Dr. J. F. Lambert of Boston was arrested and brought to this city to answer to a charge to being being a principal and accessory in an alleged illegal operation performed upon Mrs. Cora Shapleigh. Local officers had previously arrested Dr. O. G. Cilley of Boston on a charge of performing the operation. Both physicians will be arraigned in the local court.

To Receive Pasteur Treatment

Boston, Dec. 31.—Four children and a woman who were bitten last week in Revere and Chelsea by a dog which was subsequently found to be suffering from rabies were taken to the state hospital yesterday for treatment according to the Pasteur method. A special messenger was sent to New York to obtain fresh virus.

AN ALLEGED RIOTER

Vermont Publisher Wanted by New Jersey Authorities

Barre, Vt., Dec. 31.—The silk dyers' riots in Paterson, N. J., in 1902 had an echo yesterday in the arrest in this city of Luigi Gallioni, the editor of a weekly paper here, by two officers from Paterson armed with approved requisition papers charging Gallioni with rioting, an atrocious assault and battery and malicious mischief in Paterson in June, 1902. Gallioni was lodged in jail and will probably leave today for Paterson.

Gallioni has been in Barre for the past three years and has been actively engaged in publishing a weekly paper, the editorials of which have shown strong socialistic tendencies. It was known among many of the Italians working in the quarries that Gallioni came from Paterson, but the local authorities were not aware that he was wanted there to answer to any charge.

The Paterson officers state that shortly after the riots in Paterson, five years ago, indictments were returned against Gallioni, Adolph Grossman and William McQueen. Grossman gave bail for $5000, but disappeared before his case reached a trial and is still at large. McQueen is serving a five-year sentence at the present time.

It was learned that after the riots in Paterson Gallioni went to Canada, where he remained a little more than a year. He came here in 1903 and shortly after began the publication of the Italian paper.

He was very much depressed over his arrest and wept continually for several hours.

Death of Ex-Senator Caffery

New Orleans, Dec. 31.—Former United States Senator Donelson L. Caffery died last night. During the Civil war Caffery earned a reputation for daring. He first came into political prominence as one of the framers of the constitution of this state. In 1892 he was appointed to the United States senate to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Gibson, and was later elected by the Louisiana legislature. His nomination for the vice presidency by the Gold Democrats in 1900 was the last event of importance in his political career.

Raisuli May Make Further Trouble

Tangier, Dec. 31.—It is reported here that the German flag is about to be hoisted over Raisuli's stronghold at Zinat. It is said to be the bandit's intention to endeavor to embroil the powers in the meantime by joining forces with the pretender. When he learned of his expulsion from Morocco, Raisuli sent his family and fortune to the inaccessable mountainous headquarters of the Bani Arros tribe, while he remained at Zinat, prepared to follow at any moment in the event of an attack.

Trade With Panama Growing

Washington, Dec. 31.—The remarkable growth in the export trade of the United States with Panama within the past two years is shown in a statement issued by the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor. From a little more than $2,500,000 in exports to Panama two years ago, American trade with that country for the present year will show an export trade aggregating more than $14,000,000.

Miquelon Islanders Emigrating

St. Johns, Dec. 31.—Louis Legasse, a fish merchant, was re-elected as delegate from Miquelon to the French superior council for the colonies. He will make a special effort to induce the French ministry to take measures to arrest the depopulation of the Miquelon islands, 20 percent of which is estimated to have emigrated to Canada during the year.

Laundry and Tenement Burned

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 31.—The University City laundry, together with a three-story tenement adjoining, were nearly destroyed by fire, the loss being estimated at $35,000. The fire started in the laundry and within a few minutes had assumed vast proportions. There were four families in the tenement and there were a number of narrow escapes.

Mutinous Soldiers In Russia

St. Petersburg, Dec. 31.—The mutiny at Tambov is the most serious since that at Sebastopol last July. A colonel, three lieutenant colonels, 12 other officers and a mass of non-commissioned officers and privates of the Seventh cavalry and also the Tambov military prefect, Colonel Borissoff, have been arraigned for dereliction in duty.

Shah Preparing For the End

Teheran, Dec. 31.—The shah is very weak. He has taken no solid food since Saturday. The shah and the crown prince signed the constitution yesterday. The crown prince signed a separate document in which he promised not to dissolve the present parliament for two years.

Brakes Were Defective

Cincinnati, Dec. 31.—At least 30 persons were injured, one of whom, Daniel Kernan, a passenger, died, in the wreck of an electric car on Warsaw avenue hill, which ran away for five blocks, struck a telegraph pole and turned over. The brakes had failed to work.

—If people ate more fruit they would need less medicine and would have better health. Fruit eaten early in the morning on an empty stomach serves as a stimulant to the digestion, and apples and oranges eaten at any time in the day are good for biliousness. Stewed prunes and figs are also healthful at any time.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Mortgagee's Sale.

BY Virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed, given by Caleb F. Billings to William H. Quincy, dated August 5, 1891, and recorded with Norfolk Deeds, Libro 659, Folio 152, and assigned by said Quincy to the Quincy Savings Bank, assigned by the said bank to Mary R. Billings, assigned by Mary R. Billings to Deborah W. Billings and assigned by Deborah W. Billings to Fred W. Wood, and for breach of the conditions of said mortgage, will be sold at public auction on the premises hereinafter described on TUESDAY, the 22d day of January, 1907, at two o'clock in the afternoon, all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed and not heretofore released therefrom, and therein described substantially as follows, viz:

A certain lot of land lying in the northerly part of Quincy, Massachusetts, together with the buildings thereon, bounded and described as follows, viz: Commencing at the easterly corner at a stake at land now or formerly of heirs of Lemuel Billings and of lot numbered 38 on a plan drawn by L. Briggs & Co., dated June 10, 1872, and recorded with Norfolk Deeds, Libro 426, Folio 317, and running in a southwesterly direction twenty (20) rods and twenty-two (22) links to land formerly of J. J. Glover, deceased, thence running northerly on land late of said J. J. Glover twelve (12) rods and five (5) links to Glover Avenue, thence turning and running northeastwardly fifteen (15) rods and fourteen (14) links on said Glover Avenue to a stake, thence running southeastwardly eleven (11) rods on lot No. 38 on said plan to the point of beginning. Said lot containing one and a fourth acres more or less. Being the same premises conveyed to Caleb F. Billings by Lydia Billings by her deed dated October 13, 1869, and recorded with Norfolk Deeds, Libro 385, Folio 251.

Said premises will be sold subject to the unpaid taxes for the year 1906 and to the unpaid sewer apportionments. Five hundred dollars of the purchase money to be paid at the time and place of sale and the balance in ten days from said sale on delivery of the deed, at 15 School Street, Boston, Mass.

FRED W. WOOD, Assignee
And present holder of said mortgage.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE BELIEF.

Some Opinions on a Much Discussed Religious Body.

While not counted among the disciples of Christian Science, we would not be slow to recognize and admire the earnestness, devotion and Christian spirit of its people, says the Independent. Men may differ as to its underlying philosophy, but none can question the deep faith of its adherents in God, their true discipleship of Jesus Christ and the religious vitality of their church.

They are unfaltering believers in the Christian religion. To their science they give the designation Christian because they are first Christians. Like all of us, they give their own interpretation to the Bible, more literal than we would allow, and they much value that interpretation and that system of philosophy taught them by Mrs. Eddy. Accordingly they have the same right as other Christians to unite in an organization and have their own ministers and churches.

It is to their credit that their faith shows itself in their works. We do not refer so much to the generosity of their gifts to build noble places of worship, although such a temple as that in Boston might well excite admiration. We have in mind rather that fervor of their faith which reaches the roots of life and death and makes them fully trust God and their doctrine of the nature of disease and health when they are sick. To those of other training their confidence has seemed fantastic and presumptuous, but in multitudes of cases it has seemed justified, so that the only recourse of their critics has been to refer such cures to the effects of imagination, for the cures cannot be denied.

Nor is their philosophy ignorant and thoughtless. It has appealed ever since philosophy has been studied to many wise men. It is the full development of a great school of philosophy which makes mind and thought the basis of fact rather than matter. It finds good and evil wholly in the mind and so addresses its efforts for physical health as well as for character to the mind.

Holding these views in philosophy and religion and representing unblemished moral and Christian character, it is to their credit that during their lifetime they honor their teacher, Mrs. Eddy. Just as after their death other Christian bodies venerate Loyola and Luther, Calvin and Aquinas, St. Francis and John Wesley, so the person and writings of Mrs. Eddy are almost but not quite sacred in the eyes of her disciples. They honor her while she lives, and it pleases them that under the system she has taught her life is lengthened out to an extreme old age. Such respect for their great teacher is a beautiful impulse and deserves honor.

And the faith which they hold appeals to a good class in the community, to those who have a high moral character and are capable of high ideals and possess the potential of loyalty. They are of those who wish to look beneath the surface of things and who can rise above the low levels of coarse matter into the higher spaces of spirituality. There are among them many people of high general intelligence and wealth.

The Christian Scientists have been much spoken against because they prefer their own method of healing and because people sometimes die under their treatment. But the courts have acquitted them, and we do not see how when every other sort of healing is allowed as legal that which makes much of the influence of the mind may not be allowed its place for those who believe in it as well as systems that depend on water or electricity or massage or infinitesimals.

We are not here defending the philosophy or the system of Christian Science. We only defend its liberty of faith and recognize the multitude of its adherents, their moral earnestness, their spiritual fervor and the frequent success of their efforts through the mind to heal the ills of the body.

"AUTOMATIC REPORTER."

Easily Carried Graphophone That Talks Over the Telephone.

An "automatic reporter" is the latest invention for newspaper men, students and business men, says a Chicago dispatch. The new invention consists of a small graphophone, which can be easily carried. When the newspaper man wants a verbatim interview he springs his little graphophone on his victim and proceeds to ask his questions. At a distance of fifteen feet the machine will register all that is said. The record is next attached to a slow device, so that the whole can be easily transferred on a typewriter.

There is an adjustment to connect with a telephone on which the matter can be sent. The machine can be attached to the telephone receiver and a verbatim record of all conversations taken while the person to whom the conversation is addressed hears it from the receiver.

Monograms For Street Gloves.

With the good, wholesome winter a new fad has crept in with the girls who can be sensible—that is, to a certain degree, where fashions are concerned, says the New York Press. These young women, who don't believe that jeweled bracelets will keep their wearers warm or their hands a lovely ivory white, unreddened by the cold, have ceased to remain elbow sleeved girls any longer and are making up by wearing monograms on their heavy street gloves. The letters are of silver and, having a substantial little pin attached, can be transferred to different gloves.
